986/4

NEWARK PUBLIC LIBRARY

SEP 1 4 1987

U. S. GOVT. PUBS.
DEPOSITORY 376

CLASSIFIED INDEX

of

NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD

DECISIONS

and

RELATED COURT DECISIONS

DECEMBER 1986

LR 1.8/6:

READEX FICHE best copy available

PREFACE

The Board and court decision classifications and scope notes in this classified index have been prepared by the Board's Legal Research and Policy Planning Branch, Division of Advice, Office of the General Counsel, as a selective index to decisions issued by the Board and to related court decisions. They are in no sense official rulings or pronouncements of the Board, nor are they to be viewed as official interpretations of Board or court decisions.

The classification system used is that established by the Classification Outline for Decisions of the National Labor Relations Board and Related Court Decisions. As the format of this index publication renders it unsuitable for direct access to classification headings, reference should be made to the Classification Outline for the subject matter headings desired for research and for their associated numerical code identification. Instructions for the use of the Outline and this Index are contained in the preface of the Outline.

This publication covers Board decisions issued from January 1, 1985, through December 31, 1986 (part of Volume 273 through part of Volume 282) and contains court decisions issued during this period. No unreported court decisions are included. The index entries supplement those published in the publication of this same title dated June 1974, December 1976, December 1979, December 1982, and December 1984, which are available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Board decisions are cited by volume and folio number. Court decisions are cited by official reporter citation where available and by other commercial services when not available. JD references refer to Administrative Law Judge's decisions adopted by the Board under section 10(c) of the National Labor Relations Act, as amended, and section 102.48 of the Board's Rules and Regulations. DS references refer to Decisions by Stipulation issued by the Board upon approval of formal settlement agreements in unfair labor practice proceedings.

Copies of Decisions by Stipulation and Administrative Law Judge Decisions are available upon request directed to the Freedom of Information Officer, N.L.R.B., Washington, D.C. 20570, subject to payment of fees in accordance with the Agency fee schedule. Such requests should specify the case name, the date of issuance and the case number for each document requested. These decisions will also be available for inspection in the public reading room of the National Labor Relations Board, 1717 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20570. Copies will be available to any member of the public upon a payment of direct duplication costs.

For sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office
Washington, DC 20402

ABBREVIATIONS

affd	Affirmed
affg	Affirming
ALJ	Administrative Law Judge
ans	Answer
br	Brief
Bd	Board
C	Complaint
c/d	Cease and desist
c/d/b	Cease doing business
CongRec	Congressional Record
ct	Court
distg	Distinguished
D/O	Decision and order
E	Employer
Ee	Employee
enf/rev	Enforcement and review proceedings
Gc	General Counsel
inj	Injunction
LMRA	Labor Management Relations Act, as amended
mtn	Motion
NMB	National Mediation Board
opn	Opinion
P&M	Production and Maintenance
ptn	Petition
qcr	Question concerning representation
R	Representation
RD	Regional Director
R/O	Remedial order
R/R	Rules and Regulations
SCt	Supreme Court
SIC	Standard Industrial Classification
TRO	Temporary restraining order
U	Union
Us	Unions
ULP	Unfair labor practice(s)
w/o	Without
w/i	Within

TABLE OF CONTENTS

100 NLRA AS AMENDED
111 Constitutionality of NLRA 1
122 Purpose and Policy of NLRA 3
133 Relationship to Other Statutes and Public Policy. 4
144 Construction. 10
155 Amendments of NLRA. 11
166 Separability of Provisions. 12
177 Statutory Definitions 13
188 Authority and Structure of NLRB as Agency 38

200 NLRB JURISDICTION
201 Generally 40
220 Statutory Jurisdiction. 41
240 Discretion in Exercise of Jurisdiction. 45
260 Standards for Assertion of Jurisdiction 64
280 Enterprises Over Which the Board Did or Did Not Assert Jurisdiction 68

300 INVESTIGATION AND CERTIFICATION OF REPRESENTATIVE
301 Generally 73
308 Who May Raise Question of Representation. 74
316 How Question of Representation Is Raised. 75
324 Showing of Interest in Representation 76
332 Disclaimer of Interest in Being Representative. 77
339 Who May Act As Representative 78
347 Bars to Conduct of Election 80
355 Types of Elections. 83
362 Eligibility to Participate in Election. 84
370 Mechanics of Election 89
378 Conduct Interfering With Election Choice. 93
385 Post-Certification and Unit Clarification Issues. 115
393 Procedure in Representation Proceedings 118

400 BARGAINING UNITS
401 Generally 125
420 Factors Relevant to Determination of Scope Or Composition of Unit 128
440 Determination of Scope Unit 132
460 Determination of Composition of Unit. 139
470 Health Care Institution Units 143
480 Postal Service Units. 146

500 UNFAIR LABOR PRACTICES
501 Generally 147
506 Employee Rights 153
512 Employer Interference With Employee Section 7 Rights. 174
518 Employer Domination, Assistance, or Support or Labor Organization 255
524 Employer Discrimination in Employment 262
530 Employer Obligation to Bargain. 355
536 Union Coercion of Employees (8(b)(1(A)) 464
542 Union Coercion of Employer in Selection of Representatives. 504
548 Union Causation of Employer Discrimination. 510
554 Union Obligation to Bargain 527
560 Prohibited Strikes and Boycotts 534
566 Excessive or Discriminatory Membership Fees (Sec. 8(b)(5)) 554
572 Payment for Service Not Performed (Sec. 8(b)(6)). 555
578 Picketing for Recognition and Bargaining. 556
584 Agreements to Cease Doing Business. 560
590 Prehire Agreements Section 8(f) 568
593 Picketing and Strikes at Health Care Institutions 570
596 Procedure in ULP Proceedings. 571

600 REMEDIAL ORDER PROVISIONS
601 Generally 614
625 Orders Against Employers. 621
650 Orders Against Unions 665
675 Proceedings to Determine Backpay Liability. 672

700 GENERAL LEGAL PRINCIPLES
712 Agency Principles 681
725 Contract Law. 692
737 Evidence. 698
750 Res Judicata. 715
762 Laches. 718
775 Waiver. 719
787 Estoppel. 725

800 COURT PROCEEDINGS
817 Proceedings for Enforcement or Review of Board Decisions and Orders. 728
833 Proceedings on Contempt of Court Judgment 747
850 Proceedings Ancillary to Board Proceeding 748
867 Proceedings Collateral to Board Proceeding. 755
883 Proceedings Under Other Statutes. 762

111 CONSTITUTIONALITY OF APPLICATION OF NLRA

0100 GENERALLY

Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 1328 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[federal statutes are to be construed to avoid doubt of their constitutionality, and, if statutory interpretations proposed by Bd would give rise to serious constitutional questions, the affirmative intention of Congress clearly expressed must first be identified]

5000 FIRST AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION

Tony & Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ———U.S.——— (U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)

[application of FLSA's minimum wage requirements to nonprofit religious foundation operating commercial businesses held not to interfere w/free exercise of religious beliefs of associates working in commercial businesses and receiving payment in form of benefits instead of wages; First Amendment does not require exemption from government program unless, at minimum, inclusion in program actually burdens claimant's freedom to exercise religious beliefs; and application of FLSA, which does not require payment of cash wages, will work little change in associates' receipt of payment in form of benefits]

Tony & Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ———U.S.——— (U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)

[application of FLSA's minimum wage requirements to nonprofit religious foundation operating commercial businesses held not to interfere w/free exercise of religious beliefs of associates working in commercial businesses and receiving payment in form of benefits instead of wages; even if foundation were to pay wages in cash, or if associates' beliefs precluded them from accepting statutory amount, associates are not prevented from returning amounts to foundation, if done voluntarily]

Tony & Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ———U.S.——— (U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)

[application of FLSA's record keeping requirements to nonprofit religious foundation operating commercial businesses held not to violate First Amendments by inhibiting religious activity and fostering excessive government entanglement in religion, since FLSA's requirements apply only to commercial activities undertaken with business purpose and would have no impact on foundation's evangelical activities or on individuals engaged in volunteer work for other religious organizations; and bear no resemblance to kind of government surveillance ct has previously held unlawful!]

Sure-Tan, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. ———U.S.——— (US S.CT, June 1984)

[Es' contention that S.Ct's decision in Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. mandates conclusion that their request to INS to enforce INA against their illegal alien Ees was an aspect of their First Amendment right to ptn the Government for a redress of grievances and may not be burdened under guise of enforcing NLRA, rejected; the right protected in that case was right of access to cts for 'redress of alleged wrongs', and Es herein did not invoke INS administrative process for such purpose; moreover federalism concerns are not at stake here as in that case]

Ellis et al. v. Railway Clerks, et al. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.Ct, Apr. 1984)

[where agency-fee-paying nonmembers in U shop objected to use of their contributions to particular U activities, ct held there was no constitutional barrier to allowing U to use their contributions for U's national conventions, U's social activities, and its monthly publication; U shop countenances significant infringement on First Amendment rights, and such interference is justified by governmental interest in industrial peace]

Ellis et al. v. Railway Clerks, et al. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1984)

[where agency-fee-paying nonmembers in U shop objected to making contributions to U's social activities on basis of First Amendment rights, ct held it need not determine whether contributing money to such affairs is an act triggering First Amendment protection; to the extent it is, communicative content is not inherent in the act but stems from U's involvement in it; since the objection is that these are Union social hours, fact that Ee is forced to contribute does not increase infringement of First Amendment rights already resulting from compelled contributions to U]

Ellis et al. v. Railway Clerks, et al. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1984)

[where agency-fee-paying nonmembers in U shop objected to making contributions to publication of U's monthly magazine and to U's national conventions on basis of First Amendment rights, ct held that, while both have direct communicative content and involve expression of ideas, there was little infringement of First Amendment rights beyond that already accepted, and none that is not justified by governmental interests behind U shop itself; expenses involved relate to U's collective bargaining work; and governmental interest in overcoming free-rider problem requires flexibility in U's use of compelled funds]

Ellis et al. v. Railway Clerks, et al. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1984)

[where agency-fee-paying nonmembers in U shop objected to particular U contributions they were required to make, ct held fact that objecting Ees invoked First Amendment was insufficient reason to impose heightened standard of clear and convincing standard of proof rather than preponderance of evidence proof normally applicable in civil suits for damages; ct has held that U bears burden of proving what proportion of expenditures went to activities that could be charged to objecting Ees, and that no heightened standard is appropriate in such a situation]

Trustee of St. Joseph's College 282 NLRB No. 009

[Bd declined jurisdiction over E (4 year college) founded by religious Order since College's mission is inextricably interwoven with indisputably religious mission of the Order because: (1) College is financially dependent on Order; (2) Order exercises considerable administrative control over E; and (3) Bishop of Portland possesses significant degree of control over E. Pervasiveness of Order's influence on teaching of E, even as to secular subjects, is apparent in certain requirements imposed on faculty of E. Very process of inquiry by Bd, would present substantial liklihood that rights guaranteed by constitution may be inpinged]

Trustee of St. Joseph's College 282 NLRB No. 009

[to extent that Barber-Scotia College, 245 NLRB 406 (1979) and similar cases stand for proposition that Catholic Bishop of Chicago, 440 U.S. 490 (1979), does not apply to colleges and universities they are overruled]

Passaic Daily News t/a The Herald News 276 NLRB No. 078

(Bd revised original remedy which ordered newspaper to publish a column prepared by Ee in order to avoid any First Amendment problem by ordering newspaper to restore Ee immediately to column writing duties and decide whether to publish Ee's column upon factors other than U or protected activity; such order does not compel publication or thrust Bd into editorial decision-making process and involves only an inquiry into E's motive, an inquiry which is constitutionally permissible)

Florida Gulf Coast Building Trades Council, AFL-CIO (The Edward J. Debartolo Corporation) 273 NLRB No. 172

(contention that First Amendment protected U's handbilling of secondary Es to coerce them to c/d/b with other secondary Es and force those secondary Es to c/d/b with primary E rejected, since literal language of statute and applicable case law required finding a violation; further, Bd would not consider First Amendment issued since the Act prohibited the handbilling, and Bd presumed constitutionality of the Act it administered, and S.Ct had not asked Bd to consider the First Amendment issue)

Universidad Central De Bayamon v. N.L.R.B. 793 F.2d 383 (C.A. 1, June 1986)

[divided en banc ct denied enforcement of Bd's bargaining order against church-operated university and w/drew prior enfg. opn (778 F.2d 922); ct divided over interpretation of Catholic Bishop (440 U.S. 490), withholding jurisdiction from secondary schools; 3 judges supported denial of enforcement based on risk of church/state entanglement, and other limitations on Bd's jurisdiction over university teachers; 3 judges suggested enforcement based on difference between teachers in pre-college schools and faculty at universities and because religious function here was subordinate to that of providing secular education]

5000—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. The Salvation Army of Massachusetts Dorchester Day Care Center ———F.2d——— (C.A. 1, May 1985)

[Bd properly asserted jurisdiction over day care center operated by Salvation Army, notwithstanding E's contention that to assert jurisdiction would pose significant risk that its First Amendment rights would be infringed, since day care center served purely secular function where function was primarily to provide care for children, not education, day care involved no religious instruction or indoctrination and teachers, children and parents were not chosen according to their religious affiliation]

Truck Drivers Local Union No. 807, Teamsters v. N.L.R.B. (Wells Fargo Armored Service Corp.) 755 F.2d 5 (C.A. 2, Feb. 1985)

(contention that Sec. 9(b)(3), when interpreted, as here, to allow E to withdraw recognition after expiration of contract and rejection of its final offer from voluntarily recognized U representing guards and nonguards, violated U's and its member guards' First Amendment rights, rejected, since, balanced against the public interest, as found by Congress, infringement was minimal and their rights were not abrogated but simply made less attractive)

Volunteers of America, Los Angeles v. N.L.R.B. 777 F.2d 1386 (C.A. 9, Dec. 1985)

[Bd did not err in asserting jurisdiction over nonprofit religious alcohol detoxification center, since there was no significant risk the first amendment would be infringed where center was essentially secular, center's religious views were not imposed upon its Ees, Ees did not propagate E's religious doctrine and further, E's contention that its social programs were expressive of a religious philosophy and thus there was excesive entanglement, rejected, since the center's programs were carried out in a secular fashion]

Hospital & Service Employees Union, Local 399 v. N.L.R.B. ———F.2d——— (C.A. 9, Oct. 1984)

[ct declined to examine First Amendment issue as to U's handbills and newspaper ads directed at secondary E; ct must first address preliminary issue of coercion, resolution of which must await Bd's clarification of issue on remand; constitutional issues here are novel and complex, involving use of handbilling; constitutionality of restriction on handbills is more suspect than restraint on picketing which involves elements of conduct as well as communication of ideas; and application of 8(b)(4) to facts herein may infringe on other constitutional guarantees, freedom of press and freedom of association]

Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 1328 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[handbilling is protected by First Amendment even when designed to pressure others to act, but government has interest in certain forms of economic regulations, e.g. secondary boycotts and picketing, notwithstanding effects on rights of speech and association, as part of Congress' striking delicate balance between U's freedom of expression and neutral Ea', Ees', and consumers' freedom from coerced participation in industrial strife]

Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 1328 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[although labor picketing is entitled to less First Amendment protection than pure speech, because it involves patrolling a particular locality and may induce action, and communication which is merely a threat of retaliation based on misrepresentation and coercion is w/o First Amendment protection, handbilling herein, which was peaceful and orderly and involved none of non-speech elements justifying restrictions on picketing but instead relied entirely on persuasive force of idea it presented and left recipient free to act or not, was protected]

Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 1328 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[peaceful and orderly handbilling at mall entrance urging consumers to boycott all mall tenants because of allegedly substandard wages paid by one tenant's building contractor, not violation, since, absent non-speech elements permitting restrictions on labor picketing and in view of First Amendment protection afforded handbilling, construing Sec. 8(b)(4)(ii)(B) to prohibit handbilling raises serious constitutional questions requiring clearly expressed intent of Congress to prohibit nonpicketing labor publicity, which is not shown by legislative history of Sec. 8(b)(4) amendments]

5800 FIFTH AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION

In re Martha R. Kave 760 F.2d 343 (C.A. 1, Mar. 1985)

(privilege against self incrimination does not depend on nature of proceeding in which testimony is used, but rather on purportedly incriminatory nature of the interrogation; to invoke privilege, it is enough if there is reasonable possibility of prosecution, and if testimony, although falling short of proving crime in its entirety, will tend to conviction when combined with evidence from other sources)

In re Martha R. Kave 760 F.2d 343 (C.A. 1, Mar. 1985)

(alleged contemnor held entitled to full protection of fifth amendment against interrogation that was directed towards implicating her, through her own testimony, with acts that could lead, quite realistically, to her own criminal prosecution)

In re Martha R. Kave 760 F.2d 343 (C.A. 1, Mar. 1985)

(fifth amendment protects against compulsory surrender of (1) personal business records, (2) in possession of sole proprietor or practitioner, (3) only with respect to testimonial acts implicit in surrender itself)

In re Martha R. Kave 760 F.2d 343 (C.A. 1, Mar. 1985)

(sole practioner's refusal to produce personal business records held protected under fifth amendment, where production of records, which were in her possession, could have constituted incriminatory testimonial acts)

6300 TENTH AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION

7500 FOURTEENTH AMENDMENT TO CONSTITUTION

122 PURPOSE AND POLICY OF NLRA

0100 GENERALLY

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. ——— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[basic purpose of Act is to preserve industrial peace]

3300 LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc., et al., A Joint Venture Known as Tenn-Tom Constructors 279 NLRB No. 068

[Ee's participation in U disciplinary proceeding against E's supervisor, held protected activity, notwithstanding proceeding may have violated 8(b)(1)(B) of the Act, since Ee was engaged in Sec. 7 activity of assisting U by participating in U meeting and was not a perpetrator of the proceeding; rather, U officials had initiated the proceeding; Congress's intent was that generally labor organizations and their agents, but not individual Ees, should be responsible for the unlawful practices of labor organizations]

Building Material and Dump Truck Drivers, Local 420, Teamsters (Gregg Industries) 274 NLRB No. 085

(U's offers to waive or lower initiation fees for Ee's who joined prior to election, violative of Sec. 8(b)(1)(A), since clear from legislative history Sec. 8(b)(1)(A) was intended to proscribe U solicitation of membership with threats of exacting higher fees later when maintenance of membership may be condition of employment, and Bd also relied on Savair Mfg. Co., 414 U.S. 270, in concluding that conduct had reasonable tendency to coerce Ees who desired to refrain from joining or assisting U at time when they were w/i their Sec. 7 rights to do so and thus was w/i proscription of 8(b)(1)(A))

Moving Picture Projectionists Local No 150, Stage Employees IATSE (Dynasty Theater, Inc. d/b/a Garfield Theater) 274 NLRB No. 006

(legislative history indicates purpose of Sec. 8(b)(5) is to prevent Us, by exorbitant initiation fees, from circumventing prohibition against closed shops; in attempting to achieve such purpose, Bd has determined that relevant wages are starting wages since Ees who pay initiation fees are those in lowest wage bracket; but Bd has never determined a standard ratio and, rather, has concluded in each case to decide whether under all circumstances, with due consideration for practices and customs, initiation fees required are either excessive or discriminatory)

Production Workers Union of Chicago and Vicinity, Local 707; etc. (Checker Taxi Company, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 148

(in enacting 8(b)(4), Congress was concerned with dual objectives of preserving right of labor organizations to bring pressure to bear on offending Es in primary labor disputes and of shielding unoffending Es and others from pressures in controversies not their own, and mere fact that language of this Section comprehends familiar patterns of a labor dispute, does not inexorably dictate that it excludes all variations from those patterns)

N.L.R.B. v. BASF Wyandotte Corp. 798 F.2d 849 (C.A. 5, Sept. 1986)

[Legislative histor of Section 8(a)(2) of NLRA makes clear that Congress intended it, much as Section 302 LRRA, to be provision prohibiting bribery and company dominated Us, not prohibiting kind of labor-management cooperation necessary to collective bargaining as giving paid time to U steward for performance of U duties]

N.L.R.B. v. Construction and General Laborers' Union Local No. 534, Laborers 778 F.2d 284 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

[although Sec. 8(b)(1)(A) was modelled after Sec. 8(a)(1), its legislative history shows prohibition of interference with Ees' Sec. 7 rights was deleted lest any conversation or persuasion urging Ees to join U be found a ULP and has been interpreted by S.Ct to reach such reprehensible practices as violence, intimidation, reprisals and threats thereof, rather than methods of peaceful persuasion, and distinction between coercion and persuasion is explicitly legislated in Sec. 8(c)]

6700 SAVINGS PROVISION

133 RELATIONSHIP TO OTHER STATUTES AND PUBLIC POLICY

0100 GENERALLY

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118

[in connection with its refusal to find discharge for reporting safety violation to government agency unlawful, since not concerted activity, Bd stated that although it was its duty to construe labor laws so as to accomodate purposes of other federal statutes, Bd was not intended to be forum in to assist in enforcing other statutes and rectifying all injustices in workplace]

0600 SECTION 301 - SUITS FOR VIOLATION OF CONTRACT

0650 SUITS BY UNIONS

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ———F.2d———

(C.A. 9, June 1985)

[where, following contract's expiration and no new agreement, U filed state claim in district ct against E's labor relations consultants for tortious interference with prospective contractual relationship, ct held district ct improperly denied consultants' mtn to dismiss; 301(a) did not give district ct jurisdiction on ground implied contract existed because of past bargaining relationship; bargaining agreements expire according to own terms and, in view of 8(d) and national labor policy, parties have no implied obligation to enter into new agreement]

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ———F.2d———

(C.A. 9, June 1985)

[in reversing and remanding decision to district ct found not to have jurisdiction under 301(a) over U's state law contractual tort claim which was found to be preempted, ct held that U's expired contract could not serve as basis for proper exercise of jurisdiction under 301(a), and that any obligation that E had to continue paying wages and making contributions while negotiating resulted from 8(a)(5) proscription against unilateral changes, and not from contract w/i definition of 301(a)]

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ———F.2d———

(C.A. 9, June 1985)

[in reversing and remanding decision to district ct found not to have jurisdiction under 301(a) over U's state law contractual tort claim which was found to be preempted, ct declined to accept district ct's assumption of jurisdiction under 301(a) on ground that its operative language should be construed broadly to include w/i its scope tort action alleging prospective contractual relations]

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ———F.2d———

(C.A. 9, June 1985)

[ct rejected U's attempt to justify district ct's exercise of 301(a) jurisdiction over U's state law claim on ground E used labor consultants to negotiate agreements and 301(a) should be interpreted broadly to alleviate problems arising from use of consultants to keep companies U-free; ct expressed no opinion as to legitimacy of U's claim concerning consultant problem and stated resolution thereof is best left to legislative and not judicial branch]

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ———F.2d———

(C.A. 9, June 1985)

[ct rejected U's attempt to justify district ct's exercise of 301(a) jurisdiction over U's state law claim against E's labor consultants on ground consultants were independent third parties, and not E s agents, when they induced E to terminate long relationship with U; even if U's third party argument is valid, conduct which constituted essential element of U's state claim was very same conduct Bd had considered in rejecting U's ULP claim and, consequently, conduct is arguably covered by Act and state claim is preempted]

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ———F.2d———

(C.A. 9, June 1985)

[in finding that district ct had no 301(a) jurisdiction over U's state law claim, ct held that, unlike case involving state claim arising from malpractice charge against U's counsel, whose resolution depended on standard of care attorney owes client and not on evaluation of conduct arguably covered by Act, U's state claim herein against E's labor consultants for tortious interference with contractual relationship between E and U involved element dealing with intricacies of bargaining process better left to Bd's exclusive jurisdiction]

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ———F.2d———

(C.A. 9, June 1985)

[in finding that district ct did not have 301(a) jurisdiction over U's state claim, ct rejected U's contention that, even if conduct complained of in its state claim was arguably covered by Act and therefore preempted, state's interest in preventing tortious interference with contractual relationships warranted exception to exclusive jurisdiction rule; such interference is not so deeply rooted in local law that state's interest in enforcing it overrides interference with labor law that prosecution of state action would entail]

Bakers Union Local No. 4 of Greater St. Louis v. Schnuck Baking Company, Inc. ———F.Supp.———(DC E.D. MO, July 1985)

[mtn to dismiss Sec. 301 suit brought to compel E to submit to contract's grievance arbitration procedure dispute assertedly over E's manning of bakery operation, granted, where dispute involved whether bakery department Ees were an accretion to existing warehouse store unit, a representational issue that formed basis of ULP charge filed by U that was dismissed by RD w/o appeal]

0675 SUITS BY EMPLOYEES

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ———U.S.———

(U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[E's insurance claim, pursuant to self-funded (by E) disability plan in collective-bargaining agreement which established disability grievance procedure culminating in final and binding arbitration, dismissed for failure to make use of grievance procedure in agreement; questions relating to what parties to agreement agreed and what legal consequences were intended to flow from breaches of agreement, must be resolved by reference to uniform federal law rather than state tort law]

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ———U.S.———

(U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[Sec. 301 (of NLRA) does not grant parties to collective-bargaining agreement ability to contract for what is illegal under state law; questions of contract interpretation, therefore underlie any finding of tort liability, regardless that state ct may choose to define tort as independent of any contract question; Congress has mandated that federal law govern meaning given contract terms in order to have unified federal body of labor-contract law]

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ———U.S.———

(U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[since nearly any alleged willful breach of contract can be restated as tort claim for breach of good faith obligation under contract, arbitrator's role in every case could be bypassed if Section 301 is not understood to pre-empt such tort claims; rule that permitted individual to sidestep available grievance procedures would cause arbitration to lose most of its effectiveness]

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ———U.S.———

(U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[when resolution of state-law claim is substantially dependent upon analysis of terms of agreement made between parties in labor contract, that claim must either be treated as Section 301 claim, or dismissed as pre-empted by federal labor-contract law; complaint in instant case (tort action for breach of duty to act in good faith brought in state ct) should have been dismissed for failure to make use of greivance procedure established in collective-bargaining agreement]

0675—Cont.

1200 SECTION 302(a) - RESTRICTIONS ON PAYMENTS TO EMPLOYEE REPRESENTATIVES

Imperial House Condominium, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 154

[ALJ rejected E's defense to failure to contribute to Ees' health benefit funds on ground payments would have been illegal under 302(a) because contract had expired and statutory written agreement requirement for making payments lawful was not met; to accept such argument would ignore policy considerations underlying enactment of 302 and 8(a)(5) and would deter rather than enhance bargaining process]

Independent Stave Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 089

[Sec. 302 no defense to withholding prize from winner of Ee contest because his grievances were subject of Bd charges, since it did not apply, and, if it did, matter would be exempt under Sec. 302(c)]

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 276 NLRB No. 175

(it is appropriate for Bd to consider arguments concerning Section 302 of LMRA to extent they support, or raise possible defense to, ULP allegations)

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 274 NLRB No. 147

(ALJ properly considered whether E's grant of privileges to U was violative of Section 302 of LMRA, which generally makes it illegal for E to pay money or other things to U or U officer, notwithstanding Bd has no authority to enforce Section 302; Bd is not precluded, in course of determining whether ULP has occurred, from considering arguments, to extent they support, or raise possible defense to ULP allegations, since if Bd refused to consider such arguments, Bd would risk placing party in position of being required to comply with conflicting statutory mandates)

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 274 NLRB No. 147

(since both Section 302 and NLRA are enompassed in LMRA, it would be incongreous for Section 8 to be interpreted in isolation from Section 302, which is not so remote from matters dealt with by Bd that it is beyond Bd's competence to interpret)

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 274 NLRB No. 147

(E's grant of privileges to U chairman which included 4 hours of paid time each workday for conducting U business including processing of grievances, use of office, telephone and copying machine, not violative of Section 302 of LMRA, thus not illegal subject of bargaining justifying unilateral withdrawal of privileges since w/i exception set forth in Section 302 (c)(1) in that privileges were granted by reason of chairman's service as Ee of E, nor did such grant of privileges amount to bribery of Ees' representatives at which Section 302 was aimed)

N.L.R.B. v. BASF Wyandotte Corp. 798 F.2d 849 (C.A. 5, Sept. 1986)

[Legislative history of Section 8(a)(2) of NLRA makes clear that Congress intended it, much as Section 302 LRRA, to be provision prohibiting bribery and company dominated Us, not prohibiting kind of labor-management cooperation necessary to collective bargaining as giving paid time to U steward for performance of U duties]

N.L.R.B. v. BASF Wyandotte Corp. 798 F.2d 849 (C.A. 5, Sept. 1986)

[test of illegality of payment by E to representative of its Ees as proscribed by Sction 302 of LMRA is not whether services for which paid were engaged in during paid period directly benefit E, but whether are to be engaged in by one who is bona fide Ee of E]

N.L.R.B. v. BASF Wyandotte Corp. 798 F.2d 849 (C.A. 5, Sept. 1986)

[E's unilateral discontinuance of allowing U steward 4 hours per day of paid company time, office and telephone in order to conduct U business, unlawful, since grant of company time and facilities to U mandatory subject of bargaining and bargaining agreement provided for reasonable amount of paid time for U business and practice over last 5 years had been to grant above priviledges to steward; E's contentions that privileges were personal to predecessor steward, that contract provision illegal under Sec. 302 of LMRA and Sec. 8(a)(2) of NLRA, and that at any rate, there was only contract violation, rejected]

1400 SECTION 302(c) - EXEMPTION FROM APPLICABILITY OF 302(a)

Independent Stave Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 089

[Sec. 302 no defense to withholding prize from winner of Ee contest because his grievances were subject of Bd charges, since it did not apply, and, if it did, matter would be exempt under Sec. 302(c)]

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 276 NLRB No. 175

(Bd rejected E's argument that paid release time violates Section 302 of LMRA where factually similar case held that paid release time granted by E to U officials or committeemen administering contract did not violate Section 302, as it came w/i exception for payments made by reason of one's services as Ee)

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 274 NLRB No. 147

(E's grant of privileges to U chairman which included 4 hours of paid time each workday for conducting U business including processing of grievances, use of office, telephone and copying machine, not violative of Section 302 of LMRA, thus not illegal subject of bargaining justifying unilateral withdrawal of privileges since w/i exception set forth in Section 302 (c)(1) in that privileges were granted by reason of chairman's service as Ee of E, nor did such grant of privileges amount to bribery of Ees' representatives at which Section 302 was aimed)

N.L.R.B. v. BASF Wyandotte Corp. 798 F.2d 849 (C.A. 5, Sept. 1986)

[test of illegality of payment by E to representative of its Ees as proscribed by Sction 302 of LMRA is not whether services for which paid were engaged in during paid period directly benefit E, but whether are to be engaged in by one who is bona fide Ee of E]

N.L.R.B. v. BASF Wyandotte Corp. 798 F.2d 849 (C.A. 5, Sept. 1986)

[Section 302(c)(1) exception of Section 302(a) of LMRA which permits payment by E to representative of its Ees when that person is Ee of E, and payment is compensation for services as Ee, is not limited to face to face meetings with management]

2500 LABOR MANAGEMENT REPORTING AND DISCLOSURE ACT

Frye v. Steelworkers 767 F.2d 1216 (C.A. 7, July 1985)

(issues underlying member's allegation that U violated his rights under Title I of LMRDA were fully and fairly litigated in earlier NLRB proceeding, and judgment on those issues was reached in a manner that would not have affected decision; thus, collateral estoppel precluded relitigation of issues where allegations made by GC in NLRB action were same as made by member in LMRDA action, ALJ in NLRB action reviewed all claims of procedural error raised in LMRA claim, as well as claims based on merit, or alleged lack thereof of charges and rendered decision no different than one that would be rendered by district ct in suit under LMRDA)

3000 MARITIME LAWS

Sea-Land Service, Inc. (Sea Operations) 280 NLRB No. 084

[ship's captain, responsible for transmitting all communications from ship, interrogating and discharging radio officer about message he sent at sea requesting local Bd's phone number, violative, notwithstanding legitamacy of captain's inquiry in asking whether radio was used in unauthorized manner, repeated inquiries as to why dischargee asked for Bd's phone number were not relevant to captain's responsibilities regarding communication equipment. Basis for discharge did not distinguish between specific questions asked so that lawful and unlawful motives cannot be separated]

3400 SURFACE TRANSPORTATION ASSISTANCE ACT OF 1982

3500 EXECUTIVE ORDERS

3600 OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH ACT

Hercules Incorporated 281 NLRB No. 130

[prior OSHA investigation does not preempt Bd consideration of charge that E violated 8(a)(5) by refusal to allow U access to plant to investigate health and safety matters]

3700 URBAN MASS TRANSPORTATION ACT OF 1969

3800 INTERSTATE COMMERCE ACT

3900 IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION ACT

Sure-Tan, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. ———U.S.——— (US S.CT, June 1984)

[Bd's enforcement of NLRA as to undocumented aliens found reconcilable with present Immigration and Nationality Act (INA), since the INA does not make employment of undocumented aliens illegal; application of NLRA also found to serve INA's purpose of preserving jobs for American workers, since, if Es realize that there will be no advantage under NLRA in preferring illegal aliens to legal resident workers, their incentive to hire illegal aliens is lessened, and aliens may have fewer incentives to enter the country in violation of INA]

3900—Cont.

Sure-Tan, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. ——U.S.——
(US S.CT, June 1984)

[Es' contention that S.Ct's decision in Bill Johnson's Restaurants, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. mandates conclusion that their request to INS to enforce INA against their illegal alien Ees was an aspect of their First Amendment right to ptn the Government for a redress of grievances and may not be burdened under guise of enforcing NLRA, rejected; the right protected in that case was right of access to cts for 'redress of alleged wrongs', and Es herein did not invoke INS administrative process for such purpose; moreover federalism concerns are not at stake here as in that case]

Local 512, Warehouse and Office Workers' Union, Ladies Garment Workers v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 705 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[ct remanded to Bd for modification of its order which denied backpay to undocumented aliens who had not left U.S. during backpay period nor were subject of deportation proceedings. Ct held Bd erred when it interpreted Sure-Tan 467 U.S. 883, which deemed undocumented alien discriminatees who had left U.S. to be unavailable for work, and not entitled to packpay, and conditioned reinstatement on legal reentry, to mean that undocumented aliens never entitled to backpay and would require compliance officer to determine legality of each alien discriminatee's presence in U.S.]

Local 512, Warehouse and Office Workers' Union, Ladies Garment Workers v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 705 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[undocumented aliens are entitled to protection of Act and when remaining in U.S. during backpay period, entitled to backpay. To deny undocumented aliens Bd remedies would encourage unscrupulous Es to hire undocumented workers; Congress intended to protect collective bargaining rights by ensuring that there is no subclass of workers nor would allowing backpay to aliens who work during backpay period encourage illegal entry or reentry to U.S.]

Local 512, Warehouse and Office Workers' Union, Ladies Garment Workers v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 705 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[Bd exceeded its authority and expertise where its order would require compliance officers to determine immigration status of individual alien discriminatees, since would involve interpretation of complex immigration laws, a matter peculiarly w/i expertise of INS. Further, in view of significant procedual differences between deportation hearing and Bd compliance proceedings, if Bd's determination entitled to collateral estoppel in subsequent INS deportation proceeding, alien discriminatee could raise serious due process objections to compliance proceeding]

Local 512, Warehouse and Office Workers' Union, Ladies Garment Workers v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 705 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[Bd remedy which would deny backpay to discriminatees who were undocumented aliens would make hiring undocumented workers more attractive to unscrupulous Es thus undermining two major goals of Immigration Act i.d. prevention of loss of American workers' jobs, and protection of American workers' wage rates and working conditions]

Local 512, Warehouse and Office Workers' Union, Ladies Garment Workers v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 705 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[undocumented aliens entitled to protection of Act and are entitled to backpay when remaining in U.S. and available for work during backpay period, notwithstanding illegal entry into U.S. and contention such illegal aliens suffered no harm since they were not legally entitled to work]

4000 EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT INCOME SECURITY ACT OF 1974

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[ct declined to decide whether state's prohibition of U's administration of its pension or welfare funds as sanction against U for noncompliance with state criteria concerning qualifications of casino industry U officials was preempted by ERISA; since state commission, in its discretion, chose not to impose sanction, ct was not presented with concrete application of state law and issue was not ripe for review; consequently, ct of appeals' holding that ERISA preempted state sanction is vacated]

5000 FEDERAL SERVICE CONTRACT ACT OF 1965

5600 PRIVACY ACT

U.S. Postal Service 280 NLRB No. 080

[Privacy Act constitutes a defense to request for information under Section 8(a)(5) and (1) of Act unless disclosure of (requested) record would be for routine use]

U.S. Postal Service 280 NLRB No. 080

[information in E's records (in instant case) may be disclosed under NLRA, to U as a routine use exception to Privacy Act in view of E's own acknowledged, published routine use exception under Privacy Act and its (E's) specific warning to applicants]

5800 FEDERAL WIRETAPPING STATUTE

6200 FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT (SEE 883-2500)

7000 EQUAL ACCESS TO JUSTICE ACT

7200 ANTITRUST STATUTES

7300 FEDERAL MOTOR VEHICLE INFORMATION AND COST SAVINGS ACT

7500 ECONOMIC STABILIZATION ACT OF 1971

7600 DAVIS BACON ACT

7700 FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT

Mario Saikhon, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 166

[Ees engaged in field packing operation are Ees and not agricultural laborers w/i meaning of Act and Bd has jurisdiction over them. Definition of harvesting, cannot be stretched to encompass packing operation just because it is being performed in field because moving it to field has not changed nature of work. Bd guided by Dept. of Labor's interpretation of Section 3(f) of FLSA, in determining whether individual is Agricultural laborer. It is nature of work, and not identity or purpose of E, that is controlling]

7900 DECLARATORY JUDGMENT ACT

8100 RAILWAY LABOR ACT

Sky Cap, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 116

[jurisdiction over E engaged in business of providing passenger baggage handling services under contract with eight airlines at Metropolitan Airport, asserted by National Mediation Board under provisions of Railway Labor Act]

Ground Handling, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 142

[Bd dismissed ptn on jurisdictional grounds where E provided ground fleet services to air carriers through contract with county where, pursuant to Bd's request, National Mediation Bd advised Bd that, in view of nature of E's activities traditionally performed by Ees of carriers in airline industry, and degree of control exercised by airlines which E serves, activities and Ees performing such activities are subject to Railway Labor Act]

Ground Services, Inc., A Wholly-Owned Subsidiary of ARA Services, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 006

(ptn to represent Ees of E providing ground fleet service to air carriers, dismissed for lack of jurisdiction, where Bd advised by National Mediation Board that Ees sought by petitioner were subject to Railway Labor Act)

8200 BANKRUPTCY STATUTES

N.L.R.B. v. Bildisco & Bildisco, Debtor-in-Possession, et al. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1984)

[Bd is precluded from, in effect, enforcing terms of collective-bargaining agreement by filing ULP charges against debtor-in-possession for violating Sec. 8(d) of NLRA by modifying or terminating unexpired labor agreement. Though Bd's action is nominally one to enforce Sec. 8(d), practical effect of enforcement action would be to require adherence to terms of agreement, but filing of ptn in bankruptcy means that agreement is no longer enforceable. Consequently, Bd enforcement under these circumstances would run directly counter to express provisions of Bankruptcy Code]

N.L.R.B. v. Bildisco & Bildisco, Debtor-in-Possession, et al. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1984)

[debtor-in-possession does not need to comply with mid-term contract modification procedures set forth in Sec. 8(d) because bargaining agreement is not enforceable contract w/i meaning of 8(d); therefore, because modification accomplished by operation of law (Bankuptcy Code) and not by unilateral action of E, it follows that debtor-in-possession need not comply with provisions of Sec. 8(d) prior to seeking Bankruptcy Ct's permission to reject agreement]

N.L.R.B. v. Bildisco & Bildisco, Debtor-in-Possession, et al. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1984)

[debtor-in-possession does not commit ULP when, after filing bankruptcy ptn but before Bankruptcy Ct approved rejection of bargaining agreement, it unilaterally modifies or terminates one or more provisions of contract, notwithstanding contract provided that it was binding on parties or successors even though bankruptcy should supervene]

8200—Cont.

Otten Truck Line; United Star Express, Inc.; and Claude Hayes, an Individual 282 NLRB No. 073
[modifications of NLRB v. Bildisco & Bildisco, contained in Bankruptcy Amendments and Federal Judgeship Act of 1984 do not apply to instant case since ptn (for bankruptcy) was filed prior to their legislative enactment]

Antoine's Inc., A California Corporation, d/b/a Antoine's of Beverly Hills 280 NLRB No. 142
[mtn for summary judgment granted where respondent's answer to Notice to Show Cause stated it had filed bankruptcy ptn but failed to deny committing ULP or explain failure to contact Regional Office about answer or extension of time to file answer, and instituting bankruptcy proceedings does not deprive Bd of jurisdiction or authority to process ULP case to final disposition; Bd proceedings fall w/i 11 USC Sec. 362(b)(4) and (5) exception to automatic stay provision for governmental unit proceedings to enforce its police or regulatory powers]

Michele Rena, and Its Alter Ego, Rite Style Merchandising, Inc., T/A Rite Style Fashions 280 NLRB No. 072
[fact Respondent had filed chapter 11 bankruptcy reorganization ptn did not constitute good cause for its failure to file timely answer to complaint, thus mtn for summary judgment granted since allegations of complaint deemed to be admitted]

J & B Smith Company, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 057
[contention made first time in exception to ALJ's decision that ptn in bankruptcy triggered automatic stay and that Bd's enforcement of ALJ's D/O would be in derogation of Bankruptcy Code's protection of respondent, rejected since Bd proceedings fall w/i exceptions to automatic stay provisions]

Can-Do, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 108
[while mindful that recently enacted bankruptcy statute modified S.Ct's Bildisco decision, Bd held statute did not apply to cases such as that herein where intervening bankruptcy ptn was filed in summary judgment proceeding prior to its enactment]

Rebel Coal Company, Inc., and Richlands Supply Corp. 279 NLRB No. 022
[E's mtn to dismiss C on grounds that Bankruptcy Ct had discharged E of all liabilities except those approved by ct, of which liability for ULPs was not one, denied since nothing in Order of Bankruptcy Ct precluded E from proceeding further in matter]

Evans Plumbing Co. 278 NLRB No. 089
[service company found successor to plumbing company where it took over latter's operations, hiring a majority of its Ees from plumbing company's Ees with knowledge of latter's ULPs; successor's obligations not affected by predecessor's bankruptcy proceeding]

Evans Plumbing Co. 278 NLRB No. 089
[allegations of gross backpay found true and accurate where E failed to specifically deny backpay specification and state basis for disagreement or to bring inaccuracy to ALJ's attention at hearing when given opportunity to do so, relying instead on its mtn to dismiss because its filing of ptn in bankruptcy allegedly operated as stay to backpay proceeding]

P.J. Hamill Transfer Company, and Robert Blackwell, Trustee in Bankruptcy, alter ego and/or successor, and Brennan Express, Inc., alter egos 277 NLRB No. 39
(contention bargaining order violated automatic stay of Bankruptcy Code, 11 U.S.C. Sec. 362)

Ohio Container Service, Inc.; Myron E. Wasserman, Trustee in Bankruptcy 277 NLRB No. 025
(trustee in bankruptcy of Respondent E ordered to remedy stipulated violations of Sections 8(a)(1) and (3) by Respondent; nothing in Bildisco 104 S.Ct 1188 which would preclude ordering this remedy, since Bildisco was concerned with alleged Section 8(a)(5) contractual violations)

Ohio Container Service, Inc.; Myron E. Wasserman, Trustee in Bankruptcy 277 NLRB No. 025
(trustee in bankruptcy's mtn to stay ULP proceedings pursuant to Bankruptcy code, rejected, since Bd's jurisdiction to hear and determine charges of ULPs is exempted from automatic stay of provisions of Bankruptcy Act under exception of 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(4))

Herbert Rogers, Esquire, Trustee In Bankruptcy To Bristol Clothing Manufacturing Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 111
(GC's mtn to strike answer of trustee in bankruptcy to second amended C and mtn for summary judgment based on E's failure, as debtor-in-possession, to answer such C, and on trustee's answer's failure to meet Bd's R/R requirements, denied, where, although trustee, rather than E, filed ans to second amended C, E's answer to first amended C answered allegations in second amended C containing substantially same allegations as those in first, and E's ans thus raised litigable issues; and denial was appropriate in view of special role of trustee)

Tucson Yellow Cab, Inc., A Debtor In Possession 275 NLRB No. 032
(no violation, where E unilaterally failed to make payments into U's pension trust fund after it had filed ptn in bankruptcy, in view of NLRB v. Bildisco and Bildisco 104 S.Ct 1188, 115 LRRM 2805)

Edwin Odum d/b/a The Phoenix Company 274 NLRB No. 146
(Congress nullified Bildisco, 104 S.Ct 1188, which held that filing Chapter 11 ptn renders collective-bargaining agreement unenforceable by enacting the Bankruptcy Amendments and Federal Judgeship Act of 1984, Pub. L. 98-353, July 10, 1984)

Lake Castings, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 040
(mtn for summary judgment granted, in view of E's trustee in bankruptcy failure to file answer, insofar as complaint alleged violation of Sections 8(a)(5) and (1) by failing to make premium payments for medical insurance for unit Ees prior to filing of bankruptcy ptn; however, mtn denied and that portion of complaint remanded to RD which alleged violation by failure to make insurance premium payments on or after date of filing bankruptcy ptn in view of Bildisco 104 S.Ct 1188, which held debtor-in-possession does not committ ULP when it unilaterally rejects or modifies bargaining agreement before bankruptcy ct approves formal rejection)

Maruldo Asphalt Paving, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 018
(mtn for default judgment denied, notwithstanding E's failure to answer backpay specification which alleged E's liability for fringe benefit contributions for second half of 1982 and third quarter of 1983 and which stated that E had filed for bankruptcy August 3, 1983, and case remanded for investigation into circumstances surrounding bankruptcy ptn filing, since E's liability for contributions for third quarter of 1983 could not be determined in absence of indication that E had formally accepted contract after filing the ptn and that Bankruptcy Ct had permitted E's rejection of the contract)

Edward Cooper Painting, and Cooper and Cooper Painting, An Alter Ego 273 NLRB No. 224
(Respondent Corporation required to enforce terms and conditions of applicable (labor) contract only until date on which Respondent Corporation filed its ptn for bankruptcy. See NLRB v. Bildisco & Bildisco, 104 S.Ct. 1188 (1984). Contractual backpay remedy, awarded by Bd, fully restores status quo prior to filing of bankruptcy ptn)

Edward Cooper Painting, and Cooper and Cooper Painting, An Alter Ego 273 NLRB No. 224
(Bankruptcy amendments and Federal Judgeship Act of 1984, enacted by Congress on 10 July 1984, does not apply to cases in which bankruptcy ptn was filed prior to its enactment)

Frontier Linen Supply, Inc., Debtor in Possession and Raymond Foley, Its Alter Ego JD-(NY)-6-86
[issue of whether Sec. 8(d) may be used to enforce post-bankruptcy ptn contract should be determined by analyzing policies and provisions of Bankruptcy Code. Code treatment of transactions between debtor-in-possession and third parties after bankruptcy ptn filed supports view that Code favors enforceability both with respect to assumed pre-petition contracts and contracts negotiated post-ptn. Code favors enforceability of post ptn contracts as a means of establishing confidence in debtor-in-possession and encouraging third parties to do business with debtor]

Frontier Linen Supply, Inc., Debtor in Possession and Raymond Foley, Its Alter Ego JD-(NY)-6-86
[upon reconsideration in light of NLRB v. Bildisco, 459 U.S. 1145, debtor-in-possession's changes in provisions in regard to permanent replacement of strikers after expiration of contract, but prior to filing of bankruptcy ptn, unlawful since debtor-in-possession had assumed contract post ptn]

Frontier Linen Supply, Inc., Debtor in Possession and Raymond Foley, Its Alter Ego JD-(NY)-6-86
[upon reconsideration in light of NLRB v. Bildisco, 459 U.S. 1145, debtor-in-possession unilateral changes in provisions regarding U's access to plant and wages and benefits prior to expiration of contract, and prior to filing of bankruptcy ptn, unlawful, since debtor in possession assumed contract post ptn]

Richard Burgett, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Burgett & Son Masonry and its Alter Ego Consumers Energy Savings System, Inc. JD-25-86
[where E unlawfully refused to execute extension agreement negotiated by multi-E association and filed ptn in bankruptcy but continued its business under guise of alter ego company, ALJ held that since ptn was filed after effective date of enactment of Bankruptcy Amendments and Federal Judgeship Act, extension agreement was enforceable against E; moreover, since E's alter ego company was not shown to have been brought into that proceeding; any remedy pertaining to it was unaffected]

Mark Manufacturing Corp. JD-373-85
[E's failure to give pay raises and checkoff U dues, on grounds that pending bankruptcy litigation and NLRB v. Bildisco, 104 S.Ct. 1188 allowed its actions, violative, since E abrogated bargaining agreement before bankruptcy ptn was filed and did not submit any proposal to the U, after filing ptn, to modify bargaining agreement, as required by Bankruptcy Amendments of 1984]

8200—Cont.

Metro Force Security, Ltd.; and Metro Force Security, Ltd., Debtor in Possession — JD-(NY)-130-85

[violation, where debtor-in-possession failed to comply with bargaining agreement provisions as to wages, contributions to welfare fund, payment for sick days, and remission of U dues and initiation fees deducted from Ees' wages, since default occurred after passage of 1984 Bankruptcy Amendments, PL 98-353, which provides that debtor-in-possession may not unilaterally alter bargaining agreement, but must first comply with notice and other requirements set forth therein]

Indianhead Truck Line, Inc. — JD-271-85

(E unlawfully refused to bargain over effects of closure of its freight operations where U's secretary-treasurer stated to E we have to sit down and work out a closing agreement, and E replied that agreement had to be worked out by bankruptcy ct, since E is not relieved of its obligation to bargain over effects of its decision because it has become debtor-in-possession under Bankruptcy Act and believes it would be unable to meet U's financial demands; E's subsequent invitation to U to bargain did not bar finding of violation and ordering remedy for prior violation)

Ambassador Convalescent Center, Inc. Debtor-In-Possession In Bankruptcy — JD-319-85

(refusing to grant wage increase as required by executed agreement, violative, notwithstanding E's argument that agreement was void because E, debtor-in-possession, did not seek or obtain approval of bankruptcy ct where ct was not required to approve agreement)

U. S. Truck Company, Inc. — JD-111-85

(unilateral changes by E, who was debtor-in-possession, after effective date of bankruptcy ct order authorizing rejection of bargaining agreement, not unlawful, under NLRB v. Bildisco and Bildisco, 104 S.Ct 1188. However, E had obligation to bargain regarding new contract)

U. S. Truck Company, Inc. — JD-111-85

(1984 amendments to Bankruptcy Act which modified Bildisco, 104 S.Ct 1188, in regard to debtor-in-possession's rejection of bargaining agreement do not apply to cases where bankruptcy ptn filed prior to enactment of amendments)

E. G. Sprinkler Corporation and its alter ego Goodman Piping Products, Inc. — JD-168-85

(Bd enforcement proceeding in ct of appeals has been held to be proceeding by governmental unit to enforce its regulatory power w/i meaning of provisions of Bankruptcy Act, and hence is not subject to automatic stay provision of that Act; and instant backpay proceeding is part and parcel of process leading to enforcement ptn filed in ct of appeals and, hence, falls under same exemption)

N.L.R.B. v. Superior Fowarding, Inc. — 762 F.2d 695 (C.A. 8, May 1985)

(bankruptcy ct had discretion and authority to enjoin federal regulatory proceedings when those proceedings would threaten debtor's estate, and when ct has jurisdiction over ptn in bankruptcy under 28 U.S.C. Sec. 1471)

N.L.R.B. v. Superior Fowarding, Inc. — 762 F.2d 695 (C.A. 8, May 1985)

(expenses incurred in defending against ULP charges held to constitute threat to assets of debtor's estate given the time and effort of management to defend 52 ULP charges)

N.L.R.B. v. Superior Fowarding, Inc. — 762 F.2d 695 (C.A. 8, May 1985)

(bankruptcy ct can enjoin Bd from filing or processing ULP charges arising from modification of contract since, if Bd can neither file charges against nor find debtor-in-possession guilty of ULP for unilaterally rejecting or modifying contract, certainly it cannot proceed with hearings on ULP charges arising under that contract)

N.L.R.B. v. Superior Fowarding, Inc. — 762 F.2d 695 (C.A. 8, May 1985)

(whether alleged ULP stems from debtor's rejection or modification of bargaining agreement or from debtor's failure to bargain over terms of new contract, is question of contract construction, one of law, to be determined by bankruptcy ct when debtor petitions ct to enjoin Bd proceedings notwithstanding contention that Bd is exclusive forum for determining whether conduct falls w/i Bildisco protected conduct)

Shanrod Construction and John Shane (Debtor) — _____ F.Supp._____ (BC W.D. NY, Aug. 1985)

[Bankruptcy Ct (ct) stayed Bd from holding ULP hearing filed against debtor-in-possession (debtor) before debtor filed ptn under Chap. 11, holding that under 11 U.S.C. Sec. 1113 ct and only ct had authority to determine issue of whether debtor could reject collective bargaining agreement, an executory agreement]

8300 FOREIGN SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY ACT OF 1976

8400 FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS ACT

8500 FEDERAL ANTI-INJUNCTION STATUTE

8600 FEDERAL TAX CODE

8700 STATE STATUTES

8701 GENERALLY

Baker et al. v. General Motors Corp. et al — ____ U.S. ____ (U.S. S.Ct, July 1986)

[state law denying unemployment compensation to laid-off Ees who, by paying U dues, financed strikes at other locations that led to their layoffs, not pre-empted by federal law, notwithstanding right to make such payments is protected by Sec. 7; Ees found to have voluntarily caused own unemployment, as there was meaningful connection between Ees' decision to pay dues, ensuing strikes and their own layoffs, and layoffs were untainted by any unlawful conduct by E; histories of NLRA and Title IX of SSA show that Congress intended to allow such conflict between federal law and state unemployment compensation law]

Baker et al. v. General Motors Corp. et al — ____ U.S. ____ (U.S. S.Ct, July 1986)

[state may either refuse or provide unemployment compensation to strikers responsible for own unemployment, or to workers laid off by reason of labor dispute in which they have no interest or responsibility whatsoever]

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck — ____U.S.____ (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[E's insurance claim, pursuant to self-funded (by E) disability plan in collective-bargaining agreement which established disability grievance procedure culminating in final and binding arbitration, dismissed for failure to make use of grievance procedure in agreement; questions relating to what parties to agreement agreed and what legal consequences were intended to flow from breaches of agreement, must be resolved by reference to uniform federal law rather than state tort law]

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck — ____U.S.____ (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[Sec. 301 (cf NLRA) does not grant parties to collective-bargaining agreement ability to contract for what is illegal under state law; questions of contract interpretation, therefore underlie any finding of tort liability, regardless that state ct may choose to define tort as independent of any contract question; Congress has mandated that federal law govern meaning given contract terms in order to have unified federal body of labor-contract law]

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck — ____U.S.____ (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[when resolution of state-law claim is substantially dependent upon analysis of terms of agreement made between parties in labor contract, that claim must either be treated as Section 301 claim, or dismissed as pre-empted by federal labor-contract law; complaint in instant case (tort action for breach of duty to act in good faith brought in state ct) should have been dismissed for failure to make use of greivance procedure established in collective-bargaining agreement]

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company — 275 NLRB No. 186

(in determining that assistant manager at coal mine was not supervisory, ALJ relied on Sec. 2(11) of Act rather than state's coal mining law which assertedly should be basis for considering Ee supervisory)

8733 RIGHT TO WORK STATUTES

Dubose Masonry, Inc. — 279 NLRB No. 125

[Ees in Texas, a Right to Work state, may not be required to maintain U membership in order to work for particular E]

8900 FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

M. J. Santulli Mail Services, Inc. — 281 NLRB No. 170

[FRCP are not applicable to Bd's administrative hearings which are governed by APA]

Shrewsbury Motors, Inc. — 281 NLRB No. 081

[applicant's mtn for sanctions under rule 11 of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, based on contention that GC's position in EAJA proceeding misrepresented position of memorandum issued by GC's Division of Advice on which withdrawal of complaint based in underlying case, which memorandum was previously unavailable to applicant and that GC's position unsupported by law or fact, rejected, since rule not applicable to Bd proceedings]

Starlite Cutting, Inc. and Its Alter Ego Petal Pink Novelty, Inc.; and Joseph Fornaro, an Individual — 280 NLRB No. 120

[although rule that backpay held in escrow for unavailable discriminatee be returned to respondent if discriminatee not located w/i 1 year may result in forfeiture, discriminatee has no entitlement to backpay, since it is a remedy that is public, not private right, and discriminatee has no property right in award pending his receipt of it; also on his showing by preponderance of evidence compelling reasons for not coming forward timely, Bd would find exception and let him claim award, so that rule is flexible and consistent with federal practice in class actions]

8900—Cont.

9000 TITLE VII OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT

United States Postal Service 281 NLRB No. 138

[Sec. 9(a)'s guarantee of U's opportunity to be present at adjustment of grievances by E and Ee must prevail over EEO administrative regulations providing for anonymity of aggrieved Ee at precomplaint stage of proceedings, where same matters were subject of EEO precomplaint and grievance, and EEO regulations' purpose of protecting identity of aggrieved Ee from E was not served by preventing U from being present at meeting concerning settlement of EEO precomplaint involving same subject matter as grievance which U was responsible for adjusting]

United States Postal Service 281 NLRB No. 139

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056

[E's mtn to take judicial notice of, or reopen record to consider, decisions of EEOC and Oklahoma Human Rights Commission finding of no reasonable cause to believe E had discriminated against Ee, denied, since decisions were rendered under statutes with different definitions, policies, and purposes from those of NLRA, and E did not show that either agency considered or could have considered E's allegedly unlawful layoff of Ee; additionally, E did not explain its delaying until September the filing of decisions issued in June by the above governmental bodies]

9100 SOCIAL SECURITY ACT-MODEL CITIES PROGRAM

9500 MINE SAFETY AND HEALTH ACT

9600 CIVIL SERVICE REFORM ACT OF 1978

Springfield Transit Management, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 124

[E's claim of constitutional disability on part of RD to issue C because of Civil Service Reform Act establishing Senior Executive Service, rejected, since E did not overcome presumption that RD, like other judicial or quasi-judicial officers, are unbiased, nor was it specifically shown that there was either inherently or demonstrably conflict of interest in application of Civil Service Reform Act to RDs, or in impact of that Act on their decisions]

Sandpiper Convalescent Center and Sandpiper Village 279 NLRB No. 147

[constitutionality of Senior Executive Service as applied to NLRB RDs' performance of their duties upheld, notwithstanding contention Senior Executive Service injected substantial personal, financial, and other irrelevant and impermissible interests into administration and enforcement of Act by RD so as to offer possible temptation to decide with bias for or against any issues presented to average person performing quasi judicial or administrative prosecutial function]

N.L.R.B. v. Ohio New and Rebuilt Parts, Inc. and/or Mel's Battery, Inc. 760 F.2d 1443 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1985)

[record in instant case did not support blanket allegation of Es that Bd's appraisal system offered incentive to RDs to perform their duties with bias toward outcomes that would enhance their opportunity to receive performance award; provisions of Civil Service Reform Act of 1978, creating Senior Executive Service and applied to RDs, are valid constitutional enactments and Es did not establish that they had been deprived of due process or equal protection of law in ULP proceedings]

9700 ALL WRITS ACT

144 CONSTRUCTION

5000 LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc., et al., A Joint Venture Known as Tenn-Tom Constructors 279 NLRB No. 068

[Ee's participation in U disciplinary proceeding against E's supervisor, held protected activity, notwithstanding proceeding may have violated 8(b)(1)(B) of the Act, since Ee was engaged in Sec. 7 activity of assisting U by participating in U meeting and was not a perpetrator of the proceeding; rather, U officials had initiated the proceeding; Congress's intent was that generally labor organizations and their agents, but not individual Ees, should be responsible for the unlawful practices of labor organizations]

Production Workers Union of Chicago and Vicinity, Local 707; etc. (Checker Taxi Company, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 148

(Bd has jurisdiction over U picketing on behalf of independent contractors for improved leasing arrangement with E notwithstanding U's contention that such picketing was not labor dispute since Bd's jurisdiction is not defined or limited by 2(9), and term labor dispute does not appear in 8(b)(4) so as to limit Bd's jurisdiction over illegal boycotts; further, neither language of 8(b)(4) nor legislative history confined scope of that Section to labor disputes, and Congress, recognizing that illegal boycotts take many forms, intended prohibition to reach broadly)

Truck Drivers Local Union No. 807, Teamsters v. N.L.R.B. (Wells Fargo Armored Service Corp.) 755 F.2d 5 (C.A. 2, Feb. 1985)

(where local U representing only E's guards and other guards in armored car industry was merged into local U representing guards and nonguards, and E voluntarily recognized latter U, E's withdrawing recognition after contract had expired and U had rejected E's final offer, not violative; Sec. 9(b)(3) language and legislative history provide sufficient support for Bd's conclusion that Congress knowingly decreased stability of bargaining relationships involving such Us to protect guards from potential for division of loyalty between E and fellow U members)

Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 1328 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[federal statutes are to be construed to avoid doubt of their constitutionality, and, if statutory interpretations proposed by Bd would give rise to serious constitutional questions, the affirmative intention of Congress clearly expressed must first be identified]

Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 1328 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[peaceful and orderly handbilling at mall entrance urging consumers to boycott all mall tenants because of allegedly substandard wages paid by one tenant's building contractor, not violation, since, absent non-speech elements permitting restrictions on labor picketing and in view of First Amendment protection afforded handbilling, construing Sec. 8(b)(4)(ii)(B) to prohibit handbilling raises serious constitutional questions requiring clearly expressed intent of Congress to prohibit nonpicketing labor publicity, which is not shown by legislative history of Sec. 8(b)(4) amendments]

Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 1328 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[legislative history of Sec. 8(b)(4) and amendments contains no clearly expressed intent of Congress to prohibit distribution of handbills urging secondary boycott]

7500 COURT INTERPRETATION OF STATUTORY PROVISIONS

N.L.R.B. v. Longshoremen's ILA ———U.S.——— (S.CT, June 1985)

[in finding Rules on Containers agreement in shipping industry and its enforcement by U as having lawful work preservation objective in face of technological changes involving containerized cargo, ct followed normal presumption of stare decisis in cases of statutory interpretation, where Congress had not altered statutory provisions at issue in 18 years since ct first ruled thereon, no new evidence was offered regarding Congress original intent, and management and labor have relied on work-preservation doctrine to guide their bargaining]

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[Sec. 301 (of NLRA) does not grant parties to collective-bargaining agreement ability to contract for what is illegal under state law; questions of contract interpretation, therefore underlie any finding of tort liability, regardless that state ct may choose to define tort as independent of any contract question; Congress has mandated that federal law govern meaning given contract terms in order to have unified federal body of labor-contract law]

N.L.R.B. v. Bildisco & Bildisco, Debtor-in-Possession, et al. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1984)

[Bd is precluded from, in effect, enforcing terms of collective-bargaining agreement by filing ULP charges against debtor-in-possession for violating Sec. 8(d) of NLRA by modifying or terminating unexpired labor agreement. Though Bd's action is nominally one to enforce Sec. 8(d), practical effect of enforcement action would be to require adherence to terms of agreement, but filing of ptn in bankruptcy means that agreement is no longer enforceable. Consequently, Bd enforcement under these circumstances would run directly counter to express provisions of Bankruptcy Code]

N.L.R.B. v. Bildisco & Bildisco, Debtor-in-Possession, et al. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1984)

[debtor-in-possession does not need to comply with mid-term contract modification procedures set forth in Sec. 8(d) because bargaining agreement is not enforceable contract w/i meaning of 8(d); therefore, because modification accomplished by operation of law (Bankuptcy Code) and not by unilateral action of E, it follows that debtor-in-possession need not comply with provisions of Sec. 8(d) prior to seeking Bankruptcy Ct's permission to reject agreement]

Carpenters, Local 1597 (W. G. Clark Construction Co.) JD-(SF)-155-85

(Bd's reservoir doctrine that every supervisor is a potential reservoir from which his or her E may in need draw collective bargaining and grievance-handling services, not decided by S.Ct as to whether doctrine is compatible with Contressional purpose underlying Section 8(b)(1)(B))

Adventist Living Centers, Inc. d/b/a River Pines Communicty Health Center v. N.L.R.B. ———F.Supp.———(DC N.D. IL, Mar. 1985)

[claim of denial of a constitutional right which is not transparently frivolous can be asserted in a district ct notwithstanding Section 10 of Act, as means of obtaining judicial review of Bd rulings]

155 AMENDMENTS OF NLRA

2000 CONSTITUTIONALITY OF AMENDMENTS

Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 1328 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[federal statutes are to be construed to avoid doubt of their constitutionality, and, if statutory interpretations proposed by Bd would give rise to serious constitutional questions, the affirmative intention of Congress clearly expressed must first be identified]

Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 1328 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[peaceful and orderly handbilling at mall entrance urging consumers to boycott all mall tenants because of allegedly substandard wages paid by one tenant's building contractor, not violation, since, absent non-speech elements permitting restrictions on labor picketing and in view of First Amendment protection afforded handbilling, construing Sec. 8(b)(4)(ii)(B) to prohibit handbilling raises serious constitutional questions requiring clearly expressed intent of Congress to prohibit nonpicketing labor publicity, which is not shown by legislative history of Sec. 8(b)(4) amendments]

4000 EFFECTIVE DATE OF APPLICATION

6000 RETROACTIVE APPLICATION

8000 EFFECT OF AMENDMENTS

166 SEPARABILITY OF PROVISIONS

177 STATUTORY DEFINITIONS

0800 PERSON

1600 EMPLOYER

1633 PERSONS FOUND TO BE EMPLOYERS

Richard Burgett, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Burgett & Son Masonry and its Alter Ego Consumers Energy Savings System, Inc. JD-25-86

[where E, in total control of his business as sole proprietor, continued business through new company, which was E's own business creation, ALJ held new company was alter ego to E and was merely disguised continuance of E's sole proprietorship used by E in effort to avoid its duties under U contract]

1633-2500 Separate employers

Miscellaneous, Drivers Helpers & Public Employees Local Union No. Local 610, a/w Teamsters (Lin Rol Labor Industries, Inc.) JD-86-85

(trucking firm and company leasing drivers to trucking firm held neither single nor joint E where trucking firm neither affected nor codetermined, together with leasing company, any essential terms and conditions of employment of drivers; rather, both companies were indivddual, unrelated Es and persons for purposes of 8(b)(4))

1633-5000 Combinations of employers

1633-5017 Independent contractors

Associated General Contractors of California, Inc.; et al., Teamsters Local Union Nos. 94, et al. (California Dump Truck Owners Association) 280 NLRB No. 082

[general agency principles, paramount among which is the right-to-control, apply to determination whether individual is Ee or independent contractor]

1633-5050 Parent and subsidiary

Ryder System, Inc.; Ryder Distribution Systems, Inc.; and DPD, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 118

[jurisdiction asserted over E found joint-E with its subsidiaries and affiliated companies since E co-determined terms and conditions of employment where E's director of labor relations negotiated unlawful agreement for other Es and other Ee had otherwise conceded all necessary jurisdictional facts]

1633-5073 Double-breasted operations

Crest Floors & Plastics, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 185

(sole proprietorship of president of family-owned corporation to which outside craftsmen were transferred to avoid high unionized labor costs found single E with, and alter ego of, the corporation in view of common ownership and management, closely related operations, centralized labor relations, and proprietorship's functioning as adjunct of corporation's previously established business)

N.L.R.B. v. DMR Corp. and Harrill Electric Contractors, Inc. 795 F.2d 472 (C.A. 5, July 1986)

[double-breasted cases relied on by E in its attack on order were distinguished by Bd's finding of U animus; Es did not constitute double-breasted operation: two companies operating in different economic climates, one U and one non U]

1633-5075 Single integrated enterprise

Pan American Grain Company, Inc. and Bulk Terminal Operations, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 019

[E selling grains and feed nonretail and E providing stevedoring services found single integrated business enterprise and single E in view of common ownership, officers and directors, control of labor relations, shared offices, and interrelationship of operations where stevedoring E was operated as department of other E]

G.M. Trimming, Inc., et al., Debtor-In-Possession, and George Marks 279 NLRB No. 121

[manufacturer of garments which delivered cut goods to affiliated contractors for assembly and then made delivery of finished products to customers and contractors held single integrated enterprise in view of common ownership ultimately vested in individual who exercised day to day control over operations and labor relations of all companies, physical integration, fact payroll checks drawn on which ever company's account convenient, and funds of different corporation intermingled, and all companies had same bookkeeper]

15th Avenue Iron Works, Inc., and Abitat Builders and Management Corp. 279 NLRB No. 091

[two companies, one engaged in manufacture and installation of ornamental iron and structual steel items, and other in masonry and concrete construction, constituted single integrated enterprise where at same address, same individuals served as officers of both corporations, joint insurance on officials of both companies, one E worked only one job at which other company played no part, one company did renovation for other company at cost, one company issued checks to other company's suppliers and subcontractors, and paid that company's bills if it was short of funds]

David A. Morrow & Associates, Inc. and Ryan Electric, Inc., Alter Ego and/or Single Employer JD-380-85

[unionized company and newly formed non-U company held single integrated E and latter held alter ego and disguised continuance of old company, where both companies were in same business with centralized control of labor relations; they had common ownership, management, business, purpose, equipment, premises, telephone number, customers, and suppliers; they operated with same supervisor of field operations; and owner of old company transferred his business to his daughter with no reasonable semblance of negotiations or formalities, and joined her in operating more profitable non-U company]

St. Charles Interiors Inc.; d/b/a GML Drywall, etc. JD-447-84

(although terms single integrated enterprise and alter ego are sometimes used interchangeably, Bd and cts understand distinction between them; thus, to determine whether 2 companies are integrated involves consideration of whether there is common ownership, common management, interrelation of 2 companies, and centralized control of labor relations; and whether 2 companies are alter ego normally involves finding something more, such as one being distinguished continuance of the other)

15th Avenue Iron Works, Inc. JD-(NY)-141-84

(manufacturer of structural steel items and general contractor found single, integrated enterprise where steel manufacturer was organized by general contractor, had same officers and shareholders, employed Ees who were transferred from general contractor and looked to it for advice on labor relations and work performance, performed tasks interrelated with those of general contractor, and performed only one job in which general contractor played no role)

Quality Plastic Molds, Inc., and Titan Enterprises, Corp. JD-(NY)-143-84

(designer and manufacturer of plastic molds found single integrated enterprise and single E in view of common ownership, control, management, business purpose and premises, centralized labor relations, and high degree of integration)

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[although appropriateness of unit is distinct issue from that of scope of E's operation, factors involved in evaluating each question substantially overlap; thus, finding that Es are single integrated E is relevant to assessment of functional integration in determining appropriateness of unit]

1633-5091 Employer associations

The Big East Conference 282 NLRB No. 050

[E basketball conference composed of nine member schools found not joint E with its member schools nor multi-E bargaining association where member schools did not select or contract with officials whose representative status was at issue herein; since member schools did not employ referees, E did not act as multi-E association]

1633-7500 Employer alter ego

Landhill Press, Inc., and Rotary Business Systems, Inc., its Alter Ego and Successor 282 NLRB No. 058
[2 companies found to be alter egos, notwithstanding they did not utilize same plant, where they had substantially identical management, same business purpose, operations, substantially same equipment, same customers, identical supervisory staff, common ownership, and purpose of activating second E was to avoid dealings with U]

Oklahoma City Eastern Express, Inc., and its alter ego, B & B Lines, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 125
[overlapping ownership of 19.8% and 100% in original entity and one alleged to be alter ego, respectively is too insignificant to render corporate ownership substantially identical]

Hawg-N-Action, Inc. & J. L. Excavating, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 013
[substantially identical ownership of two Es established for purpose of finding them alter egos of each other where same individual owned 50-percent of one E and 100-percent of other E]

Automobile Mechanics Local No. 701, Machinists (Avis Rent A Car System, Inc.) 280 NLRB No. 149
[E found not alter ego and disguised continuance of former E where former E's discontinuance was bona fide and there was no substantial identity of ownership and managerial control between former E and E]

Hiysota Fuel Co., Inc., Debtor-In-Possession, et al. 280 NLRB No. 089
[corporation operating coal mine and related corporation engaged in processing and nonretail sale of coal held not alter egos, in view of both corporations' lack of common business purpose, operations, supervision, equipment, premises and customers, and absence of evidence of unlawful motivation; Bd noted that showing of unlawful motivation is not essential to finding of alter ego status; rather, presence or absence of unlawful motivation is but one factor that Bd considers in weighing circumstances of any particular case]

Alabama Metal Products, Inc., and Its Alter Ego Delta Laminating, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 123
[newly formed company manufacturing products utilized by cabinet manufacturing company held not alter ego of latter company where, although having substantially identical ownership, companies had separate management, supervision, and business purpose, as well as operation, equipment, and customers]

Amateyus, Ltd., d/b/a Volk & Huxley, and Vulcan Typography Co. 280 NLRB No. 021
[non-unionized corporation held alter ego of unionized corporation owned by its owner's older brother, since it was formed to avoid obligations of U contract where younger brother was under 20 years and only ostentsible owner, Ees were recruited from U company on condition that they work on non-U basis, new corporation was located in adjacent building, and some same individuals that had been associated with unionized company hired by new company as management and supervisors]

G.M. Trimming, Inc., et al., Debtor-In-Possession, and George Marks 279 NLRB No. 121
[debtor in possession and individual in whom ownership of companies ultimately vested and who was in control of their labor relations and day to day operations held alter ego of companies, which were deemed to be single integrated enterprise, and individual held personally liable, where there was attempted concealment of integrated nature and control of corporations under control of individual]

Las Villas Produce, Inc. and Carmelo P. Caldero, Individually 279 NLRB No. 120
[individual held alter ego of E where he was E's sole owner, was its principal operating chief, and formulated and executed all labor relations policies]

Jo-Vin Dress Company, Inc. and Villa Fashions, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 073
[company formed to purchase E which was in financial difficulties held alter ego of seller E, notwithstanding lack of identical ownership, since sale was sham for purpose of allowing seller to operate non-U and repudiate bargaining obligations, where seller's owner remained as manager and vice-president under terms of very favorable 5 year contract and oversaw operations, seller furnished buyer working capital and guaranteed obligations of buyer's corporation, and new company operated with substantially same Ee complement and supervisors, in same building with same equipment, and served same customers]

Woodline Motor Freight, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 152
[lease agent who operated truck terminal formerly operated by other Respondent in trucking business held alter ego of other Respondent, since deemed disguised continuance of Respondent, not withstanding separate ownership, workman's compensation, pay and benefits; in view of anti-U motivation in decision to turn operation of terminal over to agent, substantial support given to lease agent by other Respondent in that no down payment required, counseling given on customers which lease agent continued to serve exclusively, lease agent's awareness equipment to be sold to another lease agent, trucks bore same logo, and same internal procedures used]

Woodline Motor Freight, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 152
[identical ownership not required as condition since qua non to support finding of alter ego. Substantial identical ownership along with similar showing in other relevant factors may reveal it. Bd will address as pertinent to that issue, apparent relationship between the two entities, operation itself, equipment, Ees and supervision. Each case must rest on own facts]

Elevator Sales and Service, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 094
[new family business was alter ego of old E, where there was common ownership, management, operation and control by family members, common business purpose, customers and Ees, and significant business dealings between them which were not bona fide arm's length transactions]

Evans Plumbing Co. 278 NLRB No. 009
[service company found alter ego of plumbing company in view of common management control w/i small family corporation, common business purpose, premises, and equipment, carryover of supervisors and certain Ees, and closely held stock]

Mar-Kay Cartage, Inc. and Contemporary Delivery Systems, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 152
(trucking firm held alter ego of firm which had terminated operations, since purpose of termination and formation of new company was to avoid dealing with U, firms both performed delivery services in same geographical area for essentially same customers, same individual who was son of owner of one firm and husband of owner of other firm had supervision over labor relations of both firms, worked full time at both companies while owners only worked part-time, made substantial contribution to purchase of equipment, and his and family's sole income was from company, thus making him in effect owner)

P.J. Hamill Transfer Company, and Robert Blackwell, Trustee in Bankruptcy, alter ego and/or successor, and Brennan Express, Inc., alter egos 277 NLRB No. 39
(Co. incorporated 3-1/2 years previously, but only became operational, at same facility and with same management as Respondent after Respondent's bank account garnisheed in satisfaction of judgment obtained by U pension fund, held not alter ego of Respondent E, notwithstanding similarities in management, business purposes, and equipment, where there were critical differences in ownership, albeit there were family relationships, nature of operations, and customers; further, all work was performed by owners, and no Ees of Respondent employed)

Rogers Cleaning Contractors, Inc. and Its Alter Ego, Olmsted Cleaning Contractors, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 053
(cleaning company found alter ego of defunct cleaning business in view of substantially identical ownership and control at time of formation and common business purpose, management, operations, equipment, customers, and supervision)

Leslie Oldsmobile, Inc., Leslie Volkswagen, Inc., and Dupage Leslie Oldsmobile, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 148
(E found alter ego where, following termination of predecessor E's automobile dealership franchise agreement, directors, officers and stockholders were essentially same and similarities existed in regard to supervision, management and operation)

Tamaha Local No. 1329, Mine Workers; District 21, etc. (Alpine Construction Corp.) 276 NLRB No. 046
(purchaser held not alter ego of seller, notwithstanding contention that departures from normal business procedures would indicate less than arms-length relationship where, although both Es had common business purpose and arguably common customers, there was no common ownership, no common management or supervision, and no common premises and equipment; and it could in no way be deemed that purchaser, a going operation for over 6 years at time of purchase, was created so as to enable seller to evade its responsibilities under Act at present time)

O. Voorhees Painting Co. and O.V. International, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 114
(two Es, held not alter egos notwithstanding common ownership with substantially same officers and directors and occupying same premises where they had no common business purpose, as shown by one E's business, remodeling, being broader than that of other E, painting and also E involved in remodeling, operated on nation-wide basis in contrast to stricktly local operation of E involved in painting)

Dunmyre Motor Express, Inc. and/or Dunmyre Motor Express, Inc., Debtor-In-Possession 275 NLRB No. 044
(debtor and debtor in possession held alter egos where both entities were authorized by Bankruptcy Ct to operate same concern and were alike in all respects)

Crest Floors & Plastics, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 185
(sole proprietorship of president of family-owned corporation to which outside craftsmen were transferred to avoid high unionized labor costs found single E with, and alter ego of, the corporation in view of common ownership and management, closely related operations, centralized labor relations, and proprietorship's functioning as adjunct of corporation's previously established business)

1633-7500—Cont.

Contee Sand and Gravel Company, Inc. and its alter egos Calan Concrete Corp. and Tycon, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 082

(two companies spun off by E engaged in mining sand and gravel and producing ready-mix concrete, to which E transferred its ready-mix concrete operations and tractor-trailer operations respectively, found successors to, single E with, and alter egos of transferring E in view of their common financial control, chief executive officer, centralized labor relations, interrelation of operations and management, and fact same work was done by same Ees using same equipment in same location for same ultimate customers)

L & J Equipment Company, Inc. and Willow Tree Coal Company 274 NLRB No. 005

(notwithstanding entity controlled by parents furnished financial and material assistance and assumed much of risk involved in entity established by their children, no alter ego or single E relationship found as entities were totally independent with respect to their operations and control of labor policies)

David A. Morrow & Associates, Inc. and Ryan Electric, Inc., Alter Ego and/or Single Employer JD-380-85

[purpose behind creation of alleged alter ego must be considered; however, anti-U motivation is not sine qua non for finding alter ego status, but intent to evade U obligations has invariably been present in decisions where Bd has found alter ego status]

David A. Morrow & Associates, Inc. and Ryan Electric, Inc., Alter Ego and/or Single Employer JD-380-85

[unionized company and newly formed non-U company held single integrated E and latter held alter ego and disguised continuance of old company, where both companies were in same business with centralized control of labor relations; they had common ownership, management, business, purpose, equipment, premises, telephone number, customers, and suppliers; they operated with same supervisor of field operations; and owner of old company transferred his business to his daughter with no reasonable semblance of negotiations or formalities, and joined her in operating more profitable non-U company]

Hillcrest Packing Co., Inc. Larry Waslow, Assignee and Gold Star Meat Packers, Inc. JD-331-85

[E, engaged in meat packing and processing, which was incorporated to effect change of name, and minimize damage to Respondent's reputation after its suppliers were convicted of shipping diseased cancerous meat, held alter ego of Respondent and liable for backpay, where it engaged in same operations at same facility, provided essentially same services to same customers, with substantially same management, supervision, and where sole owner of Respondent owned 50% of purported alter ego, and made most decisions regarding business of purported alter ego]

Hillcrest Packing Co., Inc. Larry Waslow, Assignee and Gold Star Meat Packers, Inc. JD-331-85

[Respondent's Assignee for benefit of creditors liable for backpay to same extent trustee in bankruptcy would be liable in same situation. But assignee not held alter ego or successor E since not given full authority to operate business and exercise all powers necessary to administration of business]

Stroman Construction Company JD-367-85

[construction and excavating companies found alter egos in view of same incorporators, stockholders, officers, directors, and director of labor relations, interchange of Ees and equipment, one firm's performance of work awarded to other firm, payment of one firm's Ees from other firm's payroll, and absence of legitimate purpose for formation of second firm, creating inference that purpose was to evade contractual obligations]

LeRic Floor Covering, Inc., and Richard E. Fackler d/b/a REF Carpet Service and Installation Alter Egos JD-79-85

(unionized and non-U E not alter egos of each other, since they have separate identities, customers, creditors, debtors, resources, and sources of labor, and their Ees lack sufficient community of interest to constitute a single appropriate unit where the regularity of employment, conditions of employment, and kind of work done for the two Es differs)

Thomas Sheet Metal Co., Inc.; et al. JD-(ATL)-86-84

(newly formed corporation held alter ego of bankrupt E where ownership and control of both companies, involving members of same family, were substantially identical; new corporation constituted little more than change in name of bankrupt E, and relationship between both was anything but at arm's length; bankrupt E's official was founding principal of new corporation, and purported ownership and control by one family member was pure subterfuge; business purpose and customers of both Es were substantially identical, and substantial difference in size of Es' operations did not preclude finding of alter ego status)

St. Charles Interiors Inc.; d/b/a GML Drywall, etc. JD-447-84

(although terms single integrated enterprise and alter ego are sometimes used interchangeably, Bd and cts understand distinction between them; thus, to determine whether 2 companies are integrated involves consideration of whether there is common ownership, common management, interrelation of 2 companies, and centralized control of labor relations; and whether 2 companies are alter ego normally involves finding something more, such as one being distinguished continuance of the other)

St. Charles Interiors Inc.; d/b/a GML Drywall, etc. JD-447-84

(three companies held alter egos of each other, where, after 1 of the companies went of business, 2 other companies were created so that family business could be continued in more profitable fashion by paying unit Ees piece rates instead of contractual rate, and by not contributing to fringe benefits; nothing in 3 companies' relationship was at arms' length; and neither of created companies was ever an independent entity)

Coal Systems, Inc. and W. Julian Scalf Engineering & Construction Co., Inc. JD-452-84

(corporation engaged as subcontractor at construction job held alter ego of the subcontractor who formerly performed such work, where sole owner of predecessor held controlling interest in other corporation with his wife, was president of both companies, and controlled labor relations policies and business operations of both companies; it was sole owner of predecessor who terminated predecessor's activity on job, laid off its Ees and then installed the second company on same jobsite, using same equipment and Ees who were recently laid off by predecessor to continue where predecessor had left off)

Goodman Piping Products, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 741 F.2d 10 (C.A. 2, June 1984)

[nonU company started by owner of unionized company which went out of business found alter ego of unionized business although first company was owned by the husband and second company by his wife, where the companies had substantially identical management, supervision, customers, business purpose and ownership]

Walter N. Yoder & Sons, Inc. 754 F.2d 531 (C.A. 4, Feb. 1985)

(with regard to alter ego question, ct's inquiring focuses on whether the two enterprises have substantially identical management, business purpose, operation, equipment, customers, supervision and ownership)

N.L.R.B. v. Allcoast Transfer, Inc. and Ward Moving and Storage, Inc. 780 F.2d 576 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1986)

[factors relevant to finding of alter ego status include whether two enterprises have substantially identical management, business purpose, operation, equipment, customers, supervision and ownership]

N.L.R.B. v. Allcoast Transfer, Inc. and Ward Moving and Storage, Inc. 780 F.2d 576 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1986)

[moving and storage company held alter ego of company that organized it where two enterprises had identical management and supervision, centralized control of operational and labor relations policies, substantially identical business purpose and operations as well as substantially identical equipment and Ees; circumstances so strongly supported finding of alter ego status that Bd could infer that E intended to avoid U obligations w/o further inquiry into E intent]

N.L.R.B. v. Edward Cooper Painting, Inc., and Cooper & Cooper Painting, an alter ego 804 F.2d 934 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1986)

[ct enforced Bd's order against partnership as alter ego of corporation where all aspects of corporation were carried over to partnership which began operations before corporation filed for bankruptcy, and only differences between corporation and partnership were that partnership did not hire U Ees, and one individual had ownership interest in partnership while another individual was sole owner of corporation]

N.L.R.B. v. Dane County Dairy, et al. 795 F.2d 1313 (C.A. 7, July 1986)

[alter ego doctrine, involving 2 nominally separate business entities treated as though single, continuous E, is applied to prevent E from gaining unearned advantage in labor activities simply by altering corporate form as in disguised continuance of old E, etc.; alter ego relationship has been based on substantially identical business purposes, equipment, type of customers, etc.; also, alter ego criteria have been equated with basic indicia for finding single E, although more must be shown for alter ego status; and alter ego relationship can exist even absent evidence of common ownership]

N.L.R.B. v. Dane County Dairy, et al. 795 F.2d 1313 (C.A. 7, July 1986)

[since ct review of Bd decisions is deferential, Bd's finding that affiliated companies are alter ego of E must be upheld if it is reasonable and supported by substantial evidence on record as a whole; ct may not displace Bd's choice between 2 fairly conflicting views, even though ct would justifiably had made different choice had matter been before it de novo]

N.L.R.B. v. Dane County Dairy, et al. 795 F.2d 1313 (C.A. 7, July 1986)

[affiliated companies held alter ego of E in view of (1) familial control constituting common ownership and control; (2) individual's control and management of all affiliates and control of their labor relations; (3) existence of integrated enterprise with identical purpose, operating out of same facility, sharing and exchanging equipment and Ees, having common administrative staff, and having same customers serviced with same equipment; and (4) improper motivation as evidenced by individual's hostility to U and Bd, involvement in other ULPs, and attempt to rid himself of U]

1633-7500—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Dane County Dairy, et al. 795 F.2d 1313 (C.A. 7, July 1986)

[affiliated companies held alter ego of E, notwithstanding contention that enterprises involved were separate and distinct entities having no connection with each other, where respondents failed to present evidence rebutting GC's deposition and documentary evidence either with their mtn in opposition to summary judgment or with their mtn to reconsider; and allegations of alter ego status in C were deemed to be admitted as true by respondents' failure to file timely answer]

N.L.R.B. v. Electrical Workers Local Union #46 793 F.2d 1026 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[alter ego situation arises when E creates entity through which it channels its operations with purpose of avoiding obligations of bargaining agreement; and alter ego E will be bound by bargaining contract entered into by parent and U]

1642 SINGLE EMPLOYER

Georjan, Inc. and/or Fort Mason Enterprises, Inc. and/or Latrobe Speedway 281 NLRB No. 129

[three Es held single-E where one individual was in charge of all operations, employed Ees, supervised them and paid Ees, albeit from different bank accounts]

Pan American Grain Company, Inc. and Bulk Terminal Operations, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 019

[E selling grains and feed nonretail and E providing stevedoring services found single integrated business enterprise and single E in view of common ownership, officers and directors, control of labor relations, shared offices, and interrelationship of operations where stevedoring E was operated as department of other E]

Hiwasta Fuel Co., Inc., Debtor-In-Possession, et al. 280 NLRB No. 089

[corporation operating coal mine and related corporation engaged in processing and nonretail sale of coal held single E, in view of common ownership, common management, centralized control of labor relations, and interrelationship of their operations]

Alabama Metal Products, Inc., and Its Alter Ego Delta Laminating, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 123

[manufacturing company and newly formed company providing products utilized by manufacturing company held not single E where of 4 factors to be evaluated in determining whether 2 companies constitute single E, common management and centralized control of labor relations, with latter factor considered critical to single E finding, were absent; factors of common ownership and, assuming it existed, interrelationship of operations were insufficient to establish single E status]

B & P Trucking, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 092

[meat processor and distributer and trucking operation found single E in view of common ownership and management, centralized control of labor relations, and interrelationship of operations]

Rebel Coal Company, Inc., and Richlands Supply Corp. 279 NLRB No. 022

[E engaged in strip mining and sale of coal found single E with seller of supplies where they shared common ownership and management and common control of labor relations; there was complete interrelation of operations between two, and there was complete absence of arm's length relationship between them]

American Stores Packing Company, A Division of Acme Markets, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 190

[two companies, one of which was wholly owned subsidiary of other, held single E in view of their common ownership and management, interrelated operations and centralized control of labor relations]

Midwestern Mining & Reclamation, Inc., A Subsidiary of Midwestern Fuels Systems, Inc., etc. 277 NLRB No. 001

(coal strip mining company and its wholly owned subsidiary providing reclamation services to company at its mining site held single E, since relationship between both companies fell far short of being arms length dealing, where there was complete integration of mining company's administrative, management, and financial resources with subsidiary's operation at every level; and labor relations of both companies were determined solely by mining company's officials)

Chaim Babad, et al., A Co-Partnership, d/b/a Tilden Arms Management Co. and Toby Estates, Inc., a Single Employer 276 NLRB No. 117

(six partnerships which were interrelated as to ownership, operations, management and control of labor relations for apartment building and functioning as single enterprise with one chief operating manager found single E)

Leslie Oldsmobile, Inc., Leslie Volkswagen, Inc., and Dupage Leslie Oldsmobile, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 148

(E and its alter ego E together with third E found single E where members of same family owned all three businesses, all of which had virtually identical corporate management, and one member of family was overall manager of Es and responsible for formulating and implementing personnel and labor relations policies)

Victor Block, Inc. and Syracuse Sand and Gravel, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 070

(two Es found single E in view of shared office, telephone, and office Ees, ownership by same family, same president/manager who made personnel decisions for both, and interrelation of operations as shown by one E's Ees performing work for which other E had obtained the contract)

National Metalcrafters, Inc. and National Lock Corp. and Keystone Consolidated Industries, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 014

(parent company and its 2 subsidiaries held single integrated E where all 3 companies had common officers and same individuals as members on boards of directors; parent controlled business of subsidiaries, approved and funded relocation of subsidiaries, and parent and subsidiaries were held out to customers, stockholders, Ees and general public as one E)

Glover Bottled Gas Corp. 275 NLRB No. 096

(E selling, servicing, and leasing material-handling equipment, E converting motor vehicles and selling propane gas wholesale and retail, E selling bottled gas, and parent corporation found single E where 3 Es had principal offices at same address, 3 subsidiaries were owned by parent, officers and directors of all Es were substantially identical, grievances were brought to persons involved in management of all Es, corporate administrator of all Ees was involved in hiring and firing, credit management and health and welfare program administration were centralized, and 1 E's Ees served accounts and made deliveries and repairs of another E's customers)

Ozark Properties, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn 274 NLRB No. 096

(two motels which were sole proprietorships, held single E, where they were owned and operated by single individual who was also the sole shareholder, motels were centrally operated through use of computer system, payroll account and bookkeeping system and sole shareholder set general wage rates and performance standards for both motels)

Conte Sand and Gravel Company, Inc. and its alter egos Calan Concrete Corp. and Tycon, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 082

(two companies spun off by E engaged in mining sand and gravel and producing ready-mix concrete, to which E transferred its ready-mix concrete operations and tractor-trailer operations respectively, found successors to, single E with, and alter egos of transferring E in view of their common financial control, chief executive officer, centralized labor relations, interrelation of operations and management, and fact same work was done by same Ees using same equipment in same location for same ultimate customers)

L & J Equipment Company, Inc. and Willow Tree Coal Company 274 NLRB No. 005

(notwithstanding entity controlled by parents furnished financial and material assistance and assumed much of risk involved in entity established by their children, no alter ego or single E relationship found as entities were totally independent with respect to their operations and control of labor policies)

Chaim Babad, Bernard Steinmetz and Emanuel Steinmetz, A Co-Partnership d/b/a J.R.R. Realty Co. 273 NLRB No. 189

(six partnerships which owned apartment buildings held single E where they were sufficiently interrelated in operations, management, and control of labor relations)

David A. Morrow & Associates, Inc. and Ryan Electric, Inc., Alter Ego and/or Single Employer JD-380-85

[unionized company and newly formed non-U company held single integrated E and latter held alter ego and disguised continuance of old company, where both companies were in same business with centralized control of labor relations; they had common ownership, management, business, purpose, equipment, premises, telephone number, customers, and suppliers; they operated with same supervisor of field operations; and owner of old company transferred his business to his daughter with no reasonable semblance of negotiations or formalities, and joined her in operating more profitable non-U company]

Miscellaneous, Drivers Helpers & Public Employees Local Union No. Local 610, a/w Teamsters (Lin Rol Labor Industries, Inc.) JD-86-85

(trucking firm and company leasing drivers to trucking firm held neither single nor joint E where trucking firm neither affected nor codetermined, together with leasing company, any essential terms and conditions of employment of drivers; rather, both companies were individual, unrelated Es and persons for purposes of 8(b)(4))

1642—Cont.

Quality Plastic Molds, Inc., and Titan Enterprises, Corp. JD-(NY)-143-84
(designer and manufacturer of plastic molds found single integrated enterprise and single E in view of common ownership, control, management, business purpose and premises, centralized labor relations, and high degree of integration)

Walter N. Yoder & Sons, Inc. 754 F.2d 531 (C.A. 4, Feb. 1985)
(relevant facts considered by cts on single E issue are (1) interrelation of operations, (2) common management, (3) centralized control of labor relations and (4) common ownership)

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[Bd's determination that separate cable TV systems and their managing company constituted single E was supported by finding that effective control over labor relations was centralized in managing company, notwithstanding that system managers had day-to-day control over labor relations at worker level]

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[separate cable TV systems and company conducting management and administrative activities for them held single E, in view of common ownership, central control of significant aspects of their labor relations and operations, and company's direction of their management]

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[under deferential substantial evidence standard, ct affirmed Bd's determination that Es constituted single E, since it was reasonable to conclude that there was absence of arm's length relationship between Es]

1642-0100 Generally

Ironworkers Local 433, a/w Ironworkers (United Steel) 280 NLRB No. 152
[owner of neutral E who was member of U held person w/i meaning of subsection (ii) of Section 8(b)(4) of Act, and U fining him, violative, since purpose is to induce Ee to withhold services from neutral E for unlawful secondary objective; i.e. force neutral to c/d/b with primary; further, fining individual as owner is also violative as natural consequence of fine imposed on him was to force him, as neutral E to c/d/b with other Es with whom U had dispute]

Kenneth L. Hand Sr. d/b/a Neighborhood Roofing and Contracting, and Kenneth L. Hand Jr. and Sylvia Hand d/b/a Farrand Park Services 276 NLRB No. 081
(notwithstanding that two E entities were not commonly owned, fact that both operations were managed by son of owner of one entity [close family connection) and that one operation was wholly the fiscal creature of the other, as well as absence of arm's length relationship between involved entities support finding that two involved entities were a single E)

Tamaha Local No. 1329, Mine Workers; District 21, etc. (Alpine Construction Corp.) 276 NLRB No. 046
(Us' request for remand to ALJ, who had found no alter ego or successorship status presented as 8(b)(7)(C) defenses by U, on ground ALJ had failed to consider Us' further defense that Es involved were single E or joint Es, denied; indicia for finding single E are same as those on which ALJ based determination regarding alter ego status; and, in order to establish that Es were joint Es, it must be shown that they codetermined matters concerning essential terms and conditions of employment which Us failed to do)

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[ct considered 4 relevant factors enunciated by Bd for determining single E status of multiple Es: (1) interrelation of operations, (2) common management, (3) centralized control of labor relations, and (4) common ownership, noting that Bd has stressed first 3 factors, in particular presence of control of labor relations because such factors tend to show operational integration; while no one factor is controlling, presence of all 4 factors is not necessary to finding single E status; and ultimate determination of such status depends on all circumstances of case]

1650 JOINT EMPLOYERS

The Big East Conference 282 NLRB No. 050
[E basketball conference composed of nine member schools found not joint E with its member schools nor multi-E bargaining association where member schools did not select or contract with officials whose representative status was at issue herein; since member schools did not employ referres, E did not act as multi-E association]

Ryder System, Inc.; Ryder Distribution Systems, Inc.; and DPD, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 118
[jurisdiction asserted over E found joint-E with its subsidiaries and affiliated companies since E co-determined terms and conditions of employment where E's director of labor relations negotiated unlawful agreement for other Es and other Ee had otherwise conceded all necessary jurisdictional facts]

La Salle Investment Co., Ltd., d/b/a Cafe La Salle 280 NLRB No. 043
[separate enterprises consisting of partnerships and proprietorship, having some interrelationship on ownership, partnership, and work performance level held not joint E, where enterprises exerted no significant control over same Ees by sharing or codetermining essential terms and conditions of employment of Ees in question]

Island Creek Coal Company and Langley and Morgan Corporation, Joint Employers 279 NLRB No. 116
[operator of coal mine and E engaged in construction work for mining company not joint Ees absent common ownership or management, where normal functions of E such as hiring, firing processing of grievances, negotiation and administration of contract, granting of vacations and leaves of absence were never performed by mining company for construction company, nor did mining company exercise any control over how construction work was done]

Emeryville Trucking, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 153
[joint E relationship found between E that leased trucks and licensed common carrier where first E had control over dispatch and discipline of drivers]

Pacific Mutual Door Company 278 NLRB No. 120
[E, wholesaler and distributor of millwork, found joint E with E from which it leased drivers where wholesaler and distributor shared sufficient control over drivers provided by leasing E to drive its trucks and deliver its merchandise, to evidence joint E status]

O. Voorhees Painting Co. and O.V. International, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 114
(two companies held joint Es of unit Ees at projects in one local area where same Ees worked for and were paid by both companies)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(E supplying temporary Ees and related administrative paperwork, skill qualifying, interviewing, reference, verification, payroll, and insurance for E's reinstituted night shift under subcontracting agreement found agent of E, rather than joint E with E)

Clinton's Ditch Cooperative Co., Inc. 274 NLRB No. 103
(joint E relationship found between E which utilized drivers of another E and the other E, where first E effectively disciplined drivers and gave orders directly to drivers which directly affected their wages)

Rainey Security Agency, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 041
(E operating security agency in one state who obtained contract to provide guard services in another state but had no license from such state to do so, and E operating security agency w/i state with whom out-of-state E entered into written agreement to lease former E's corporate name and use of shoulder patches for specified period and for specified sum of money, held not joint Es, where in-state E did not in any manner share or determine with out-of-state E those matters governing essential terms and conditions of employment)

LeRic Floor Covering, Inc., and Richard E. Fackler d/b/a REF Carpet Service and Installation Alter Egos JD-79-85
(unionized and non-U Es not joint Es where they do not share control over labor relations, Ee tenure, wages, benefits, working conditions, equipment, resources, supplies, or finances, comprise separate business entities, and were not shown to have compensated Ees for work done for unionized E by paycheck of non-U E as alleged)

Miscellaneous, Drivers Helpers & Public Employees Local Union No. Local 610, a/w Teamsters (Lin Rol Labor Industries, Inc.) JD-86-85
(trucking firm and company leasing drivers to trucking firm held neither single nor joint E where trucking firm neither affected nor codetermined, together with leasing company, any essential terms and conditions of employment of drivers; rather, both companies were individual, unrelated Es and persons for purposes of 8(b)(4))

Clinton's Ditch Cooperative Co., Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 132 (C.A. 2, Dec. 1985)
[U's contention that E was joint-E with subcontractor who took over E's trucking operations and E had duty to bargain when it chose another subcontractor, rejected and E's unilateral decision to change subcontractors not violative, since E did not have sufficient control over Ees of first subcontractor where E did not continue to play any role in hiring or firing, E did not directly administer discipline to drivers, subcontractor provided almost all benefits to drivers and E had only indirect, limited connection to problems of pay and other aspects of labor relations]

N.L.R.B. v. Longshoremen's, etc., Local 333 (Rukert Terminals Corporation, etc.) 764 F.2d 234 (C.A. 4, June 1985)
(ct found no basis for U's contention that Es should be considered joint E of crane operators, since one E did not exercise any control over Ees of other E operating crane and operations of the Es were not functionally integrated)

1650—Cont.

Carrier Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 768 F.2d 778 (C.A. 6, July 1985)

](w)here two or more Es exert significant control over the same Ees--where from the evidence it can be shown that they share or co-determine those matters governing essential terms and conditions of employment - they constitute joint Es' w/i the meaning of the NLRA)

1650-0100 Generally

District Council of Painters and Allied Trades No. 36 (J. A. Stewart Construction Co.) 278 NLRB No. 138

[U's contention that original contractor and replacement contractor were allies or joint Es and that therefore disputed clause had no secondary object or effect, rejected where job taken over by replacement contractor was not given to it by original contractor, but rather was awarded to it by general contractor after original contractor lost job; fact that replacement contractor succeeded original contractor on project and that they were part of same multi-E bargaining unit did not make them joint Es]

Tamaha Local No. 1329, Mine Workers; District 21, etc. (Alpine Construction Corp.) 276 NLRB No. 046

(Us' request for remand to ALJ, who had found no alter ego or successorship status presented as 8(b)(7)(C) defenses by U, on ground ALJ had failed to consider Us' further defense that Es involved were single E or joint Es, denied; indicia for finding single E are same as those on which ALJ based determination regarding alter ego status; and, in order to establish that Es were joint Es, it must be shown that they codetermined matters concerning essential terms and conditions of employment which Us failed to do)

M. L. Witcher Communications Construction Company, Inc. and Manna Steel Corporation, Joint Employers JD-74-86

[in joint E situations Bd standard is whether two Es ...share or codetermine those matters governing essential terms and conditions of employment. Hiring and supervision were basic legal considerations in establishment of joint E concept in instant case]

1667 SUCCESSOR EMPLOYERS

Shoreline South Intermediate Care, Inc.; Inland Pacific, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 095

(notwithstanding factors indicating successorship, Bd held no successorship existed, where E retained only 16 of former E's Ees in total complement of 58 Ees, several of whom were never in bargaining unit or were on probation)

Renaissance West Community Mental Health Center 276 NLRB No. 050

(private, nonprofit corporation held successor to operation providing mental health services under contract with city-county mental health board in specified geographic area, where corporation performed same services for same clients in same area as predecessor did, using all Ees and supervisors of predecessor, and performed such services at same business address w/o any hiatus)

Louis Pappas' Homosassa Springs Restaurant, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 213

(E held successor notwithstanding major thrust of operations changed from hotel, attraction park, and bait store with restaurant only incidental to total operations under previous E, to restaurant under new E since successorship obligations are not defeated by mere fact that only portion of former U-represented operation is subject to sale or transfer to new owners so long as Ees in conveyed portion constitute separate appropriate unit, and they comprise majority of unit under new operation)

Louis Pappas' Homosassa Springs Restaurant, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 213

(date for determining U majority status is date new E commences full scale operations with representative complement of Ees whether or not hoped for expansion has been fully achieved. Here, E, with no hiatus, immediately began full scale operations at restaurant employing majority of Ees who were formerly unit members. Changes to menu and remodeling facilities not so significant as to change date)

Chaim Babad, Bernard Steinmetz and Emanuel Steinmetz, A Co-Partnership d/b/a J.R.R. Realty Co. 273 NLRB No. 189

(E held successor notwithstanding E did not continue at least majority of Ees of predecessor in its workforce, where E continued same business as its predecessor and E's failure to hire predecessor's Ees was because of their U affiliation)

Szabo Food Service, Inc. JD-434-84

(E held successor, notwithstanding E did not continue with at least majority of Ees of predecessor in its work force, where employment industry remained same and former Ees of predecessor would have constituted majority of successor E's work force in absence of E's discriminatory hiring policy)

N.L.R.B. v. Fall River Dyeing & Finishing Corp. 775 F.2d 425 (C.A. 1, Oct. 1985)

[purchaser of company's equipment who did not assume predecessor's liabilities or acquire trade name and which operated out of one of company's buildings, held successor, notwithstanding hiatus of 7 months, change from three shifts to two, reduction in number of supervisors, and fact purchaser operated exclusively as commission dryer of fabric and did not continue converter work performed by seller, since both types of work involved essentially same production process and reduction in size of operation was not essential change in employing enterprise]

N.L.R.B. v. Jeffries Lithograph Company, a subsidiary of Ticor Printing Group, Inc. 752 F.2d 459 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1985)

(in determining when new E has achieved substantial and representative compliment of ees, Bd considers 5 factors, no one controlling: 1) whether job classifications designated for operations were filled or substantially filled; 2) whether operation was in normal or substantially normal production; 3) size of complement on date of normal production; 4) time expected to elapse before substantially larger complement would be at work; and 5) relative certainty of E's expected expansion)

1667-0100 Generally

Automobile Mechanics Local No. 701, Machinists (Avis Rent A Car System, Inc.) 280 NLRB No. 149

[E held neither Burns nor Golden State successor to predecessor E where owner-operators and nonowner drivers working for E were not Ees of E]

Bay Breeze Industries, Inc., d/b/a Lloyd Flanders 280 NLRB No. 133

[so long as predecessor Ees at alleged successor's plant are majority of Ees in successor unit, alleged successor may properly be considered to be successor E]

Bay Breeze Industries, Inc., d/b/a Lloyd Flanders 280 NLRB No. 133

[in finding successor, Bd did not consider material factor the fact that successor employed only half the number of supervisors that predecessor employed or that only one of the employed supervisors came from predecessor, or that job classifications substantially reduced, in light of same products produced in same plant with same equipment even though on much reduced scale]

American Press, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 109

[new owner's failure to hire its predecessor's Ees will not defeat claim of successorship if such failure is shown to have been motivated by former Ees' U affiliation]

IMS Manufacturing Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 079

[E held successor E and obligated to bargain with U upon demand, where E operated plant for same purpose as predecessor, purchased 80% of predecessor's equipment, utilized same manufacturing procedures, albeit with minor modifications, served essentially same customers as predecessor, hired majority of predecessor's Ees and there was only 11 day hiatus in operations]

Tamaha Local No. 1329, Mine Workers; District 21, etc. (Alpine Construction Corp.) 276 NLRB No. 046

(purchaser held not successor to seller since one of the requirements under Burns doctrine is that for the representative period majority of successor's E's Ees be composed of Ees from former E's work force, and such requirement had not been met herein)

Tamaha Local No. 1329, Mine Workers; District 21, etc. (Alpine Construction Corp.) 276 NLRB No. 046

(U's contention that purchaser was successor E under Bd cases which hold that E can be found successor even w/o majority of purchaser's Ees being composed of predecessor's Ees, if purchaser has established hiring policy in order to keep from becoming Burns successor, rejected, since all other factors for finding successorship must be present before proceeding to question of illegal hiring policy)

Tooling and Equipment International Corporation, Successor to Automotive Pattern Company JD-334-85

(hiatus in operations only one factor in overall analysis of successorship status. However, only significant when other substantial changes exist and it bears on Ees' desire for continued representation. Successorship finding defeated if during hiatus, successor totally dormant, engaged in activities associated with termination of operations, or engaged in totally dissimilar activities)

Abramo Fish Co. Ltd. JD-222-85

(in case involving purchaser's alleged refusal to recognize and bargain with U representing seller's Ees, date when purchaser took effective control of business, rather than date of formal title transfer almost a month later, was date on which successorship, if any, should be based)

Abramo Fish Co. Ltd. JD-222-85

(in considering continuity of employment as factor in determining successorship, ALJ held Ees, who worked during period from date purchaser effectively assumed control of seller's business to date purchaser became formal owner of business about a month later, were Ees of purchaser and not of seller, and therefore purchaser did not retain substantially same work force as formerly employed by seller)

1667-0100—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Jarm Enterprises, Inc., d/b/a Blu-Fountain Manor 785 F.2d 195 (C.A. 7, Mar. 1986)

[there is, and can never be, a formal definition of successor. Factors can be identified, but the determination in each case involves the facts and the labor policy at issue]

N.L.R.B. v. Jeffries Lithograph Company, a subsidiary of Ticor Printing Group, Inc. 752 F.2d 459 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1985)

(successorship law does not focus on whether new E has become bigger and better business; instead law focuses on whether business operations, as they impinge on U membership, remain essentially same after the transfer of ownership. Standing alone, magnitude of change is irrelevant)

1667-5000 Same employing industry

Concom of Missouri 282 NLRB No. 037

[E found successor, notwithstanding E's changes in working conditions that it implemented with its takeover of predecessor, since changes did not effect continuation of employing enterprise]

Cal-Am Partners d/b/a Amscot Coal 281 NLRB No. 027

[E found successor to joint venture, notwithstanding bankruptcy of joint venture and hiatus in operations, where joint venture had not lost control over its existence in bankruptcy, hiatus was for one season only, work was not materially altered, E was 50 percent owned by predecessor and employed same supervisors and Ees to perform same operations on new equipment and produce same product for same customers in same plant at same location, and Ees showed continued desire for continued U representation by paying dues during hiatus]

Big R Distributors, Inc. d/b/a Shoppers Choice 280 NLRB No. 148

[purchaser of inventory and fixtures of store held successor and obligated to recognize and bargain with U, where it continued in same business, employed same manager and assistant manager, Ee complement performed same functions and 3 out of 5 Ees hired by purchaser when it took over operations were represented by U when Ees of seller, notwithstanding 2 out of 3 of those hired were in layoff status from seller, where they had reasonable expectation of recall]

Aquabrom, Division of Great Lakes Chemical Corp., as Successor to Bromine Division, Drug Research, Inc.; Tesco Chemicals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 066

[on ct remand, Bd held that E was successor where changes in E's operations had no effect on Ees' job classifications, skills, or duties except in one minor respect involving 6 Ees; moreover, other long term changes, establishing absence of successorship status, occurred well after E hired representative complement of Ees]

American Stevedoring Company 280 NLRB No. 088

[E which contracted to perform delivery services for retailer held successor to E which had previously furnished service to stores, and obligated to bargain with U which had represented Ees of predecessor, since making same deliveries, using same trucks which retailer's parent company had brought from previous contractor, notwithstanding predecessor was licensed carrier that supplied full carier service and owned vehicles that were making deliveries while successor had contract only to supply drivers for one E's trucks and was not carrier, and that successor hired no Ees of predecessor, since refusal to hire was because of Ees' U membership]

American Stevedoring Company 280 NLRB No. 088

[E which contracted to perform delivery service for retailer held successor to E which had previously furnished service to stores, and obligated to bargain with U which had represented Ees of predecessor, notwithstanding no Ees of successor had been Ees of predecessor, where successor did not inform Ees of predecessor it was hiring Ees to perform their former jobs and sought applicants through newspaper ad which concealed E's identity, thus out of successor's initial work force of 21 only 9 Ees of predecessor applied, and none were hired inasmuch as E specifically refused to hire because of U membership]

American Press, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 109

[E-purchaser held successor E in view of being in same business as seller, servicing substantial number of seller's former customers, using same plant, machinery, equipment, and methods of production as was used by seller, offering same product formerly manufactured by seller, and having same jobs and working conditions w/i unit as existed under seller]

Croley Coal Corporation and South Harlan Coal Co., Inc. 280 NLRB No. 104

[E purchased predecessor's stock, ran the business two or three weeks before stock transfered, and retained all predecessor's foremen and Ees w/o their submitting job applications]

Amateyus, Ltd., d/b/a Volk & Huxley, and Vulcan Typography Co. 280 NLRB No. 021

[E held successor to company whose assets it purchased and obligated to honor contract predecessor had with U, where there was continuity of operation with same Ees and working conditions, and purchaser made contributions to U's benefit and productivity funds, and while it complained about what it believed to be onerous provisions of contract, never indicated it would not abide by contract]

Plateau Coal Sales, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 156

[employing industry not substantially same notwithstanding new E engaged in same business, at same facility, with essentially same equipment, Ees have requisite skills to perform work of new E, 1 supervisor from old hired as superintendent of new operation, and new E committee itself to hire from pool of Ees of old E since new E did not operate preparation plant which was 90% of primary operation of old E, new E set up to handle output of owners' mines only, 1 shift instead of 2 formerly, no contractual arrangement between Es (new E acquired lease from 3rd party) and hiatus of 2-1/2 months from shutdown of old to startup of new operation]

H.H.H. Enterprises, Inc., d/b/a Stephenson Haus 279 NLRB No. 139

[purchaser who assumed operation of restaurant w/o hiatus and w/o charge of name until some months later held successor E, and obligated to bargain with U, which represented Ees of predecessor E where upon assumption of operation, it hired all Ees of predecessor E w/o change of working conditions]

Cutter Dodge, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 083

[purchaser of auto dealership held successor of seller and obligated to recognize U which had represented Ees of seller since at time U requested recognition buyer had employed substantial and representative complement of its work force, majority of which had previously worked for respondent E's predecessor in appropriate unit notwithstanding E's contention that determination of its majority status should be delayed because it had not yet commenced its own new car preparation operation nor hired Ees to operate it]

Kou Fu, Inc. d/b/a Peng Teng 278 NLRB No. 050

[buyer which operated restaurant on same premises as seller using part of same name used by seller, with same chef and manager, serving essentially same clientele, and advertised its reopening after renovation as return, held successor E to seller, notwithstanding majority of its Ees were not Ees of seller, since buyer refused to hire some Ees of seller based on its U animus; nor was ALJ bound by fact U acceded to buyer's demand that it be treated as new E and thus buyer was able to insist on freedom to choose Ees]

District 30, Mine Workers and Local 1834 (TCH Coal Company) 278 NLRB No. 045

[no successorship where Energy Co. reactivated coal mine previously operated by coal company since Energy Co. had no financial dealings with predecessor company, hired none of predecessor's Ees, utilized different process employing its own machinery and equipment to extract coal, and utilized entirely different supervision to operate coal companymine]

Matlack, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 036

[E providing hauling services for distributor held successor to distributor's predecessor hauler, where successor continued same hauling operation with mere change in ownership w/o any essential change in working conditions, with virtually all of predecessor's Ees still performing unit work]

Evans Plumbing Co. 278 NLRB No. 009

[service company found successor to plumbing company where it took over latter's operations, hiring a majority of its Ees from plumbing company's Ees with knowledge of latter's ULPs; successor's obligations not affected by predecessor's bankruptcy proceeding]

Cuello Industries, Inc., d/b/a Scroll Casual A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Sunline Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 005

[purchaser of metal patio furniture manufacturer's assets, name, materials, accounts, machinery and equipment, successor E where it continued to manufacture same product in same location with some of same Ees using same machinery and equipment in same way after shutdown in operations of only a few weeks]

Taylor Stone d/b/a Eastone of Ohio, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 187

[E held successor and obligated to bargain with U which had represented Ees of another E, in view of substantial continuity of employing enterprise, where, at time U requested recognition, all of its unit Ees had been employed by other company, it was engaged in same busiess at same plant, using same equipment and methods of production to manufacture same product, and majority of its suppliers and customers were same as those of other company, notwithstanding U's failure to negotiate contract with predecessor E, subsequent 2 month strike and 6 month close of plant]

Radok Enterprises, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 101

(E who purchased commission routes from predecessor E (father), held successor, where majority of Ees hired worked for predecessor; products in main were purchased from predecessor and bore its label as before; delivery trucks, though purchased from predecessor, continued to bear logo of predecessor and continued to be parked, fueled and serviced by predecessor; and notwithstanding successor did not engage in dairy processing or wholesale, delivery as did predecessor since change in scale of operation must be extreme before it will alter finding of successorship)

1667-5000—Cont.

Presidents Island Steel and Wire, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 005
(purchaser of companies' assets including plant and equipment held successor and obligated to bargain, notwithstanding purchase of additional equipment in order to expand volume of business, where w/o significant hiatus purchaser engaged in same business operation at same location, selling same product to substantially same customers, and where majority of its Ees were Ees of company whose assets it purchased)

Chaim Babad, et al., A Co-Partnership, d/b/a Tilden Arms Management Co. and Toby Estates, Inc., a Single Employer 276 NLRB No. 117
(six partnerships which constituted single E as to business of operating apartment house found successor E to prior owner in view of continuity of business operation of same facility with same work force doing same jobs under same supervisor using same equipment and operating methods and offering same services; work force found same although several of predecessor's Ees were unlawfully bribed by successor to quit and were not rehired by successor)

Trucking Water Air Corporation 276 NLRB No. 158
(E engaged in interstate and intrastate transportation of freight found successor to E previously engaged in same business using same facilities at same locations, serving same customers, employing substantially same work force to perform same duties using same office and shop equipment and same motor vehicles; although successor reduced amount of space it used, it initially used same amount as predecessor and further paid nothing for use of vehicles and equipment for first six months)

Tamaha Local No. 1329, Mine Workers; District 21, etc. (Alpine Construction Corp.) 276 NLRB No. 046
(purchaser held not successor to seller, even though much of same machinery and equipment was used with same production methods, and same product was produced, since employing industry did not remain substantially the same after purchase, where purchaser did not use same plant, same jobs did not exist under same working conditions, and same supervisors were not employed)

Royal Vending Services, Ltd. 275 NLRB No. 173
(purchaser of company's assets found successor E in view of continuity of operations where w/o hiatus company employed same Ees to provide same services to same customers using same equipment at same location; purchaser's contention that it was not successor because Ee turnover rendered Ee complement unrepresentative, it intended to change locations, and it lost customers rendering it less able to fulfill obligations to bargain with U, rejected)

Inland Container Corporation 275 NLRB No. 60
(E held successor notwithstanding 2 1/2 month hiatus between closing of predecessor and commencement of successor E's operations, where hiatus may have been necessary at least inpart because of E's discriminatory hiring policies and plant renovations; however, renovations E made were insufficient to negotiate substantial continuity of employing enterprise as new machinery was introduced and work done did not alter machinery's fundamental character but was in nature of long overdue repairs)

Eastern Connecticut Health Services, Inc. d/b/a New London Convalescent Home 274 NLRB No. 204
(successorship found where E admittedly purchased another E's property and business, continued to operate same business at same location providing same services w/o interruption and employing Ees, a majority of whom had been Ees of the other)

Conte Sand and Gravel Company, Inc. and its alter egos Calan Concrete Corp. and Tycon, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 082
(two companies spun off by E engaged in mining sand and gravel and producing ready-mix concrete, to which E transferred its ready-mix concrete operations and tractor-trailer operations respectively, found successors to, single E with, and alter egos of transferring E in view of their common financial control, chief executive officer, centralized labor relations, interrelation of operations and management, and fact same work was done by same Ees using same equipment in same location for same ultimate customers)

Abramo Fish Co. Ltd. JD-222-85
(purchaser of business held not successor to seller where factors indicating successorship did not outweigh factors indicating that there was substantial change in continuity of employing industry, in view of change in operations comprising substantial alteration in nature of employing industry; expansion of operating capacity to almost 4 times that of seller; purchaser's different methods of production, substantially different customers, and expansion from local to long-distance market; and fact that purchaser did not employ majority or substantial number of seller's Ees)

Flexible Foam Products, Inc. JD-100-85
(purchaser of E's equipment for producing one product which lessed 10% of E's space and hired a very few of E's Ees, not successor to E where, despite similarities of work force, location, supervision and product, there was no continuity of employing industry in view of four-month hiatus between operations, Ers' lack of expectations of employment with purchaser, substantial difference in scope of operations in areas affecting Ees' desires about U representation, namely size of work force, working conditions, and nature of jobs)

Flexible Foam Products, Inc. JD-100-85
(sublessor of one kind of E's equipment and a fourth of its space not successor since, although sublessor used some of same equipment, supervisors, and Ees, there was no continuity of employing industry because there was a five-month hiatus between operations, no expectation of re-employment by Ees, and difference in basic product resulting in significant change in size of work force and nature of jobs)

Great Plains Furniture Industries, Inc. JD-14-85
]in order to determine whether E is successor w/i meaning of successorship doctrine, Bd has traditionally looked to the following criteria to determine existence of continuity of in employing enterprises: (1) business operations, (2) plant, (3) work force, (4) jobs and working conditions, (5) supervisors, (6) machinery, equipment, and methods of production and (7) product or service)

Great Plains Furniture Industries, Inc. JD-14-85
(purchaser held successor E and obligated to bargain with U which represented Ees of seller, notwithstanding purchaser had begun to derive income from distributing other products which it did not manufacture, changed quality and cost of its product line, as well as suppliers, where at time of bargaining demand majority of purchaser's Ees had been employed by seller, Ees were doing same work in virtually same job classifications, using same equipment and machinery in same plant under same working conditions and suprvision, in order to make same product)

Aquabrom, Division of Great Lakes Chemical Corp., as Successor To Bromine Division, Drug Research, Inc. Tesco Chemicals v. N.L.R.B. 746 F.2d 334 (C.A. 6, Oct. 1984)
[where Bd had ordered present E to bargain based on prior E's refusal to do so w/o deciding whether present E was prior E's successor and asked ct to hold present E in contempt for not complying with ct order enforcing Bd's bargaining order, ct decided that, despite special master's hearing on successorship, Bd was proper forum to determine successorship and remanded case to Bd to determine successorship and whether E's claimed structural changes in operations rendered it not liable as successor]

N.L.R.B. v. Jeffries Lithograph Company, a subsidiary of Ticor Printing Group, Inc. 752 F.2d 459 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1985)
(ct uses two-part test to determine if successor or not: 1) Does E conduct essentially same business as former E; and 2) is majority of work force former Ees or would have been absent refusal to hire because of U animus. As to part 1, one factor considered by Bd is use of old plant for 10 months by new E, and notwithstanding E in process of refurbishing new, larger facility which it planned to move into, new E's use of old plant was factor in finding successor)

N.L.R.B. v. Jeffries Lithograph Company, a subsidiary of Ticor Printing Group, Inc. 752 F.2d 459 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1985)
(hiring only supervisor of old operation is indicia that E conducting essentially same business as former E notwithstanding E also hired additional supervisors)

Food and Commercial Workers, Local 152 v. N.L.R.B. 768 F.2d 1463 (C.A. D.C., July 1985)
]even entirely new E at given place of employment may be required to recognize and bargain with previously recognized or certified bargaining representative of Ees of that place of employment if substantial continuity of employing industry. In such circumstances, new E is deemed successor and may escape duty to recognize and bargain only if genuine doubt as to whether U has majority support in unit)

Food and Commercial Workers, Local 152 v. N.L.R.B. 768 F.2d 1463 (C.A. D.C., July 1985)
(in determining whether E is successor, and obligated to recognize and bargain with U; essential inquiry is whether operations, as they impinge on U members, remains essentially same after transfer of ownership. Focus of analysis is not on continuity of business structure in general, but rather on particular operations of business as they affect members of relevant bargaining unit)

Food and Commercial Workers, Local 152 v. N.L.R.B. 768 F.2d 1463 (C.A. D.C., July 1985)
(purchaser of stock of meat packing company which operated portion of sellers facilities after hiatus of year and half, held successor and obligated to recognize and bargain, notwithstanding hiatus, reduction to single shift and consequent reduction in Ees, change to strictly kosher products and in top management after stock transfer, since none of these changes resulted in substantial transformation of operations, affected Ee's attitude towards repesentation or E's obligation towards U)

1672 BANKRUPTCY TRUSTEE OR DEBTOR-IN-POSSESSION

N.L.R.B. v. Bildisco & Bildisco, Debtor-in-Possession, et al. ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1984)

[debtor-in-possesion is same entity which existed before bankruptcy ptn (not new entity or alter ego) but empowered to deal with its contracts and property in manner it could not have done w/o filing ptn]

Hiysota Fuel Co., Inc., Debtor-In-Possession, et al. 280 NLRB No. 089

[debtor-in-possession held empowered with full authority to continue business of E in bankruptcy, and to constitute the same entity as E]

Ohio Container Service, Inc.; Myron E. Wasserman, Trustee in Bankruptcy 277 NLRB No. 025

(debtor-in-possession is viewed as same entity which existed before filing of bankruptcy ptn)

Dunmyre Motor Express, Inc. and/or Dunmyre Motor Express, Inc., Debtor-In-Possession 275 NLRB No. 044

(debtor and debtor in possession held alter egos where both entities were authorized by Bankruptcy Ct to operate same concern and were alike in all respects)

Frontier Linen Supply, Inc., Debtor in Possession and Raymond Foley, Its Alter Ego JD-(NY)-6-86

[issue of whether Sec. 8(d) may be used to enforce post-bankruptcy ptn contract should be determined by analyzing policies and provisions of Bankruptcy Code. Code treatment of transactions between debtor-in-possession and third parties after bankruptcy ptn filed supports view that Code favors enforceability both with respect to assumed pre-petition contracts and contracts negotiated post-ptn. Code favors enforceability of post ptn contracts as a means of establishing confidence in debtor-in-possession and encouraging third parties to do business with debtor]

1683 STATUTORY EXCLUSIONS FROM EMPLOYER STATUS

1683-5000 State or political subdivision

The Big East Conference 282 NLRB No. 050

[jurisdiction asserted over E, basketball conference composed of nine member schools, notwithstanding two of its nine member schools were public institutions, where their designated representatives on conference Board could not control operations of E and E was not created directly by state]

Cape Girardeau Care Center, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 143

[Bd applies two-part test to determine whether E is a political subdivision; (1) whether E was created directly by state, so as to constitute department or administrative arm of government, or (2) whether E is administered by individuals who are responsible to public officials or to the general public]

Cape Girardeau Care Center, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 143

[jurisdiction asserted over E, a not-for-profit corporation operating mnursing home, where (1) neither state nor any of its political subdivision or agencies created E; instead, E sought county approval to obtain tax-exempt bonds to finance sale of nursing home, and (2) E's policy-making officials had no accountability to public inasmuch as county did not appoint E's directors but simply gave ministerial approval to their appointment which was further effort to insure tax-exempt financing of sale of nursing home]

Cape Girardeau Care Center, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 143

[in asserting jurisdiction over E, a not-for-profit corporation operating nursing home found not to constitute political subdivision, Bd noted, among other things, that county lacked control over E, E was not county nursing home and county provided no funds or other support to E, and E determined its own fee schedules and budgets and was not required to submit such documents to county]

Cape Girardeau Care Center, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 143

[in asserting jurisdiction over E, a not-for-profit corporation operating nursing home found not to constitute political subdivision, Bd noted, among other things, that county had no control over E's daily operations or its labor relations policies, E's board of director's and Ees were not on county payroll and had different health insurance and pension plans from those of county Ees, and E had no power of eminent domain or subpoena power and paid property taxes to county]

St. Jude Industrial Park Board v. N.L.R.B. 760 F.2d 223 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1985)

(Bd, with S.Ct approval, has limited political subdivision exemption to entities that are either: (1) created by state, so as to constitute departments or administrative arms of the government, or (2) administered by individuals who are responsible to public officials or to the general electorate)

St. Jude Industrial Park Board v. N.L.R.B. 760 F.2d 223 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1985)

(Park Board set up to manage industrial park held not political subdivision notwithstanding City ratified its creation by adopting ordinance, since Park Board not create to constitute department or administrative arm of city government but was more in nature of business arrangement and city has retained very little control over Park Board affairs; further, Park Board is not administered by individuals who are responsible to public officials or general electorate as half of members are appointed by company in park and who cannot be removed by City)

St. Jude Industrial Park Board v. N.L.R.B. 760 F.2d 223 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1985)

(City did not exercise sufficient control over labor relations of Park Board where Park Board Ees received higher wages than City Ees and terms of employment and work supervision of Ees of Park Board are effectively controlled by lessee-appointed members of Park Board)

1683-6200 Nonprofit hospitals

Renaissance West Community Mental Health Center 276 NLRB No. 050

(jurisdiction asserted over private, nonprofit corporation under contract with city-county mental health board to provide mental health services in specified geographic area, where corporation was health care institution w/i meaning of Act; its receipt of federal funds, coming from out-of-state sources, demonstrated that its operation had substantial impact on commerce; and, since it had complete control over its personnel and labor relations, it was engaged in commerce w/i meaning of Act)

1683-7500 Persons subject to Railway Labor Act

Sky Cap, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 116

[jurisdiction over E engaged in business of providing passenger baggage handling services under contract with eight airlines at Metropolitan Airport, asserted by National Mediation Board under provisions of Railway Labor Act]

ARA Ground Services, Inc. 280 N.L.R.B. No. 062

[R ptn involving E engaged in business of providing ground services to air carriers at airport, dismissed, since National Mediation Bd advised Bd that, based on nature of activities and degree of control by airlines, activities and Ees performing them were subject to Railway Labor Act]

Ebon Services International, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 136

(Bd asserted jurisdiction over E engaged in providing cleaning services to four airlines at international airport, where National Mediation Board advised Bd that E was independent company that was not owned or controlled by any carrier subject to Railway Labor Act)

2400 EMPLOYEE (SEE 440-1760 AND 460-5000 FOR DEFINITION OF EMPLOYEE TYPES AND CATEGORIES)

2401 GENERALLY

Dave Castellino & Sons 277 NLRB No. 050

(demonstrators picketing E at construction site held statutory Ees engaged in protected activity, where demonstrators included members of working class and unsuccessful applicants for employment with E, and were demonstrating in protest of E's alleged failure to comply with statutory duty and contractual commitment to provide work force composed of 50 percent of area residents, thereby protesting or seeking to influence E's hiring policies and practices)

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)

[coercion of former Ee, violation where he had been laid off unlawfully and was therefore considered Ee under the Act, which states that an employee includes any individual whose work has ceased as a consequence of, or in connection with. . . any unfair labor practice]

2401-5000 Any employee other than those specifically exempted

Sure-Tan, Inc., et al. v. N.L.R.B. ——U.S.—— (US S.CT, June 1984)

[undocumented aliens held to come w/i broad statutory definition of Ee under NLRA, since they are not among workers expressly exempted by Congress; categorizing them as protected Ees furthers NLRA's purpose of encouraging and protecting collective bargaining process, as their acceptance of jobs on substandard terms can depress terms for other workers, and to exclude them from participation in U activities and protections against E intimidation would create a subclass of workers w/o a comparable stake in legally resident co-workers' collective goals, thereby eroding Ee unity and impeding effective collective bargaining]

2401-6600 Entitlement of relatives of management to protection of Act

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[ct held E's reliance on Sec. 2(3) which excludes from Act's definition of employee any individual employed by his parent or spouse, in support of position that Bd had no authority to exclude Ee-relatives from unit, was misplaced; such person is completely outside scope of statute and may not invoke its protection; family members who fall w/i Act's broad definition of employee, however, have no statutory right to be included in units under

2401-6600—Cont.

Sec. 9(b); and Bd is free to exclude from unit persons who are statutory employees otherwise protected by Act]

2401-6700 Entitlement of managerial employees to protection of the Act

Airport Distributors, Inc. — 280 NLRB No. 091

[Ee holding 10 percent of E's stocks and assertedly discharged for violating E work rule held not divested of protection of Act by his stock ownership which was not determinative factor of unprotected status; rather, degree of participation in management and/or labor policy was relevant; here, there was no evidence that individual received any preference because of his stock ownership or that he participated in formulation of any policies involving management or Ee relations]

2401-6750 Tests for managerial status

The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art — 273 NLRB No. 214

(faculty members at professional educational institution found not managerial in part because they constituted numerical minority on most of the governance committees and constituted something less than voting majority on about half of them; and proportion of faculty members who voted on committees is further reduced in some cases by administrators' voting on committees in contravention of terms of governance)

The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art — 273 NLRB No. 214

(faculty members at professional educational institution found not managerial in part because faculty's role on administrative committees was not indicative of extensive faculty authority where each committee is chaired by dean who sets agenda and may prevent committee from meeting, as dean once did, for 4 years; administrative committees played extremely limited role in personnel, financial, and other nonacademic matters; and full-time faculty members constituted voting minority on one school's administrative committee)

The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art — 273 NLRB No. 214

(faculty members at professional educational institution found not managerial in part because, while faculty exercises considerable authority in number of academic areas, such authority is not only not absolute, but frequently has been made ineffective by administration in such areas as creation and/or elimination of entire degree or special admissions programs w/o faculty input, approval, or over faculty opposition; exclusion from academic governance of large proportion of faculty for number of years; amendment of governances w/o faculty vote; and administrators' chairing of, and active participation in, committees)

The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art — 273 NLRB No. 214

(in finding faculty members at professional educational institution not managerial, Bd held that, unlike Yeshiva faculty and faculties involved in subsequent Bd decisions, faculty herein lacked substantial input into nonacademic matters such as budget, facilities planning, and personnel decisions; in this regard Bd noted particularly that decisions on hiring, promotion, tenure, and retention of teaching staff were frequently made in absence of faculty recommendations, and when they were made following faculty recommendations, those recommendations were frequently rejected)

2401-6750-3300 Is aligned with management so as to be in potential conflict with fellow employees

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. — ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[Bd considers variety of factors in deciding whether Ee's familial ties are sufficient to align his interests with management and thus warrant his exclusion from unit; for instance, Ee who resides with or is financially dependent on relative who owns or manages business is typically excluded; and the greater the family involvement in ownership or management, the more likely Ee-relative will be viewed as aligned with management and hence excluded]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. — ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[in deciding whether Ee's familial ties are sufficient to align his interests with management and thus warrant his exclusion, Bd is always concerned with whether Ee receives special job-related benefits such as high wages or favorable working conditions; when other criteria satisfy Bd that Ee-relative's interests are aligned with management, however, he may be excluded even though he enjoys no special job-related benefits]

N.L.R.B. v. The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art — 783 F.2d 29 (C.A. 2, Jan. 1986)

[faculty members of private, non-profit, educational institution, Ees rather than managers or supervisors, where they were not aligned with management and did not effectively recommend or exercise control over academic or nonacademic affairs, and administration implemented changes in such core academic areas as curriculum and unilaterally revised governances and terms and conditions of employment]

2401-6750-6700 Engages in employer's policy making or exercises independent discretion in performance of duties

American International College — 282 NLRB No. 016

[unit of full-time faculty at college held inappropriate, as faculty was managerial and excluded from coverage of Act, since it made effective decisions in majority of critical areas relied on by S.Ct in Yeshiva University (144 U.S. 672), where faculty, through their participation on faculty committees, as departmental chairpersons, and as members of faculty as a whole, effectively determined curriculum and academic policies and standards of college and exerted significant influence in decisions regarding hiring, tenure, and evaluation of their fellow faculty members]

Marymount College of Virginia — 280 NLRB No. 050

[in unit clarification proceeding, E's contention that new position of program coordinator should be excluded from unit as managerial or supervisory, rejected, since program coordinators did not exercise control over areas indicative of managerial or supervisory status where they performed only informal and casual recommendations for hire of faculty, did not determine courses to be taught, did not evaluate faculty members and were not involved in financial or economic planning]

Marymount College of Virginia — 280 NLRB No. 050

[in unit clarification proceeding, E's contention that professional librarians should be excluded from existing unit as managerial or supervisory, rejected, since they did not exercise control over areas indicative of managerial or supervisory status where none of the librarians had authority to evaluate Ees, establish salaries, grant time-off, hire or fire personnel or otherwise engage in the management of the library]

David Walcott Kendall Memorial School a/k/a Kendall School of Design — 279 NLRB No. 042

[ptn for clarification of unit of faculty members at art and technical school seeking to have them declared managerial Ees dismissed, since faculty did not formulate or effectuate management practices, particularly in view of fact individual faculty members' did not make decisions regarding their own classes, including determining course content and text, take field trips, cancel class, or substitute teacher w/o obtaining permission. Service on committees which made recommendations with varying results not indicia of managerial status since administration retained tight control of committees]

David Walcott Kendall Memorial School a/k/a Kendall School of Design — 279 NLRB No. 042

[chairpersons at technical school held not managerial Ees and included in unit of faculty members, notwithstanding sat on dean's council which ostensibly had authority to make decisions not made in regular committee structure, evaluated faculty, decided whether teachers from other departments might teach in their departments, prepared schedules, budgets, made recommendations on hiring, since not clear what use made of faculty evaluations, chairpersons had no greater role in curriculum committee than othan other members, control over their departments and time spent in functions other than teaching limited]

U.S. Pollution Control, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 042

[pollution control specialist employed by E engaged in hazardous waste disposal, not managerial, notwithstanding he bid on work for E, since he did not exercise significant independent discretion and authority where he consulted with corporate headquarters before making bid]

The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art — 273 NLRB No. 214

(faculty members at professional educational institution found not managerial in part because faculty's role in negotiating reintegration of humanities faculty into degree-granting schools was not indicative of strong faculty involvement in institutional policy making; rather, creation of separate humanities faculty, its persistence as isolated group for 4 years, followed by its reintegration into system, is more illustrative of ability of administration to effectively resist faculty pressure than of faculty's active participation in institution-wide decision making)

The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art — 273 NLRB No. 214

(in finding faculty members at professional educational institution not managerial, Bd held fact that faculty members are actively involved in making more routine academic decisions such as substitution of one course for another and admission of individual applicants to one of the schools, did not rise to level of representing management interests by taking or recommending discretionary policy, or formulating and effectuating management policies by expressing and making operative decisions of their E w/i meaning of Yeshiva)

N.L.R.B. v. The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art — 783 F.2d 29 (C.A. 2, Jan. 1986)

[faculty members of private, non-profit, educational institution, Ees rather than managers or supervisors, where they were not aligned with management and did not effectively recommend or exercise control over academic or nonacademic affairs, and administration implemented changes in such core academic areas as curriculum and unilaterally revised governances and terms and conditions of employment]

2401-6750-6700—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Louisville Gas & Electric Company 760 F.2d 99 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1985)

(data records analyst at utility company who simply monitor pollution findings, flag violations and draft possible remedial solutions, held nonmanagerial, as they have no authority to make fundamental decisions about whether or how company will comply with Clean Air Act; thus, their duties do not reflect level of discretionary action or decision making consistent with S.Ct's decision in Yeshiva University, 444 U.S. 672 (1980))

Maccabees Mutual Life Insurance Company v. N.L.R.B. 757 F.2d 767 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1985)

(insurance company's contention that RD should have clarified unit to exclude as managerial E's claims representatives, whose positions replaced those of E's former claims examiners, rejected, and Bd bargaining order enforced where RD, contrary to E's contention, did consider degree of representatives' discretion and found it somewhat illusory, and, although RD did apply older cases, as contended, he did note that the tasks of E's representatives were not essentially unlike those of claims adjusters in earlier insurance company cases)

N.L.R.B. v. Lewis University 765 F.2d 616 (C.A. 7, June 1985)

(fact that expired contract contained management rights clause reserving to management all power, right, authority, duty and responsibility to and for management and operation of university and therefore faculty members merely exercise independent professional judgment but that college policies are established and implemented pursuant bargaining agreement with university's administration dominating decision making process by virtue of management rights clause, rejected, as faculty members formulate and implement major educational policies almost all of which are adopted by administration)

N.L.R.B. v. Lewis University 765 F.2d 616 (C.A. 7, June 1985)

(faculty members at university held managerial where as faculty convened they approved proposals and recommendations emanating from faculty committees regarding student admission policies, graduation requirements, grading guidelines, faculty tenure, workloads, promotions, hiring and final budget notwithstanding administration had veto power over recommendations as overwhelming majority of these proposals were adopted and implemented; thus faculty members clearly represent management interests by taking or recommending discretionary actions that effectively control or implement educational policies of college)

N.L.R.B. v. Lewis University 765 F.2d 616 (C.A. 7, June 1985)

(assertion that decisions of full-time faculty members not managerial, but rather independent judgments exercised in faculty members' own interest, rejected, since faculty's professional interest-as applied to governance at a university-cannot be separated from those of the institution)

N.L.R.B. v. Lewis University 765 F.2d 616 (C.A. 7, June 1985)

(assertion that because final authority invested not in faculty, but in administration and therefore faculty members not managerial, rejected, as ultimate authority has never been thought to be prerequisite to supervisory or managerial status. Relevant consideration is effective recommendation or control rather than final authority)

Noranda Aluminum, Inc. 751 F.2d 268 (C.A. 8, Dec. 1984)

(nurses at aluminum plant not managerial, where they primarily treat Ees' injuries and illnesses, administer routine physical examinations, and maintain records under direction of nursing services supervisor and part-time physician; they had no independent authority to purchase medicine and equipment, their discretion was limited to applying their professional medical skills, any conflict of interest between their responsibilities and loyalty to the U was insufficient to exclude them from coverage, and they had access to personnel and medical records but did not help set labor relations)

2401-6800 Confidential employee

Local No. 980, Automobile Workers (Local 32, Office Employees) 280 NLRB No. 161

[*labor nexus*requirement not met and secretary to U found not to be confidential Ee, notwithstanding U's contention that she had labor relations duties concerning U's members, where she played no role with respect to labor relations between U and its own Ees]

Terraillon Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037

[secretary to vice-president and highest U.S. official of E, who handled E's correspondence with NLRB and labor attorneys, held not confidential Ee and eligible to vote where vice-president was not responsible for formulating labor relations or personnel policies, which were established by his superiors abroad, nor was secretary present at conferences with labor counsel; found not significant was her occasional typing of letters to or filing of letters from labor counsel]

Intermountain Rural Electric Association 277 NLRB No. 003

(secretary to director of engineering department held not confidential Ee with labor nexus, where director's duties consisted of no more than occasional contribution to possible management decision-making which was inadequate to show responsibility or regular involvement in labor policy function; director's relationship to secretary did not exhibit any evidence of sharing of management policy or entrusting her with information relative to labor relations formulation; and single instance of note-taking at management meeting and typing 3 memos of uncertain labor policy content are inadequate basis for finding confidential status)

2401-8700 Foreign nationals or illegal aliens

Local 512, Warehouse and Office Workers' Union, Ladies Garment Workers v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 705 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[ct remanded to Bd for modification of its order which denied backpay to undocumented aliens who had not left U.S. during backpay period nor were subject of deportation proceedings. Ct held Bd erred when it interpreted Sure-Tan 467 U.S. 883, which deemed undocumented alien discriminatees who had left U.S. to be unavailable for work, and not entitled to packpay, and conditioned reinstatement on legal reentry, to mean that undocumented aliens never entitled to backpay and would require compliance officer to determine legality of each alien discriminatee's presence in U.S.]

Local 512, Warehouse and Office Workers' Union, Ladies Garment Workers v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 705 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[undocumented aliens are entitled to protection of Act and when remaining in U.S. during backpay period, entitled to backpay. To deny undocumented aliens Bd remedies would encourage unscrupulous Es to hire undocumented workers; Congress intended to protect collective bargaining rights by ensuring that there is no subclass of workers nor would allowing backpay to aliens who work during backpay period encourage illegal entry or reentry to U.S.]

Local 512, Warehouse and Office Workers' Union, Ladies Garment Workers v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 705 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[undocumented aliens entitled to protection of Act and are entitled to backpay when remaining in U.S. and available for work during backpay period, notwithstanding illegal entry into U.S. and contention such illegal aliens suffered no harm since they were not legally entitled to work]

2401-9000 Professional union organizers

Pillod of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 117

(Ee who was also paid U organizer at time of hire held employee w/i meaning of Act)

2401-9900 Other

Tony and Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ———U.S.——— (U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)

[associates working in various commercial businesses operated by religious foundation, who receive no cash wages but are provided with food, clothing, shelter, and other benefits held Ees w/i meaning of FLSA, notwithstanding protestation of associates themselves that their work in commercial businesses was voluntary performance of services for foundation, since test of employment under FLSA is one of economic reality, and fact that compensation was primarily in form of benefits, rather than cash, is immaterial inasmuch as such benefits are wages in another form]

Dave Castelliro & Sons 277 NLRB No. 050

(demonstrators engaged in picketing E held to fall w/i statutory definition of Ee, where demonstrators included members of working class generally and unsuccessful applicants for employment with E)

2414 INDICIA OF EMPLOYEE STATUS

2414-2200 Control and supervision of methods, terms, and conditions of work

La Salle Investment Co., Ltd., d/b/a Cafe La Salle 280 NLRB No. 043

[individual performing work at E's commercial building held independent contractor rather than Ee, where E retained only right to control result and not means used by individual in obtaining result; manner of doing work listed by E was up to individual who had right to work whenever he chose to do so outside normal business hours; he was paid flat rate, could subcontract janitorial work, and had no state and federal taxes withheld from his pay; and E's furnishing of cleaning supplies did not outweigh factors establishing independent contractor status]

Mission Foods Corporation 280 NLRB No. 026

[E's jobbers (route salesmen) held Ees and not independent contractors since, although the Jobbers agreement with E, on its face is indicative of independent contractor arrangement, record clearly establishes that E retains rights of control over manner and means by which jobbers perform their jobs, and jobbers' arrangement with E lacks any of basic entrepenurial characteristics found in true independent contractor relationships. E alone sets and adjusts jobbers' routes, sets prices, customers to be serviced, disciplines jobbers, have no proprietary interest in routes as they cannot sell them and E can charge them unilaterally]

2414-2200—Cont.

H & H Pretzel Company — 277 NLRB No. 143
(dealers of snack food distributor found Ees rather than independent contractors, where dealers lack investment or proprietary interest in business, using E's supplies and vehicles leased through E; E can unilaterally terminate their contract, prohibits their selling other Es' goods, compels them to attend meetings, transfers money in their business, performs their obligations when they do not, and determines their workweek, frequency of customer calls, cleanliness, or carrying unapproved advertising)

Allbritton Communications Co., The News Printing Co., Inc. and The Hudson Dispatch v. N.L.R.B. — 766 F.2d 812 (C.A. 3, July 1985)
(E's agent's Ees, held Ees of E rather than agent, since Ees were subservants of agent and agent was in turn a servant of E where E exerted control over agent by providing all operating expenses of agent, by establishing number of Ees to work each shift, by establishing all work schedules for Ees and by handling all grievances arising from Ees)

2414-3300 Right of control, not exercise thereof, is determinative

Associated General Contractors of California, Inc.; et al., Teamsters Local Union Nos. 94, et al. (California Dump Truck Owners Association) — 280 NLRB No. 082
[general agency principles, paramount among which is the right-to-control, apply to determination whether individual is Ee or independent contractor]

H & H Pretzel Company — 277 NLRB No. 143
(dealers of snack food distributor found Ees rather than independent contractors, where dealers lack investment or proprietary interest in business, using E's supplies and vehicles leased through E; E can unilaterally terminate their contract, prohibits their selling other Es' goods, compels them to attend meetings, transfers money in their business, performs their obligations when they do not, and determines their workweek, frequency of customer calls, cleanliness or carrying unapproved advertising)

Pierre's Vending Company, Inc. — 274 NLRB No. 184
(in determining whether individuals are Ees or independent contractors, Bd applies common law right-of-control test (control only results to be achieved then person is independent contractor or if in addition E controls means to be used in attaining result then individual is Ee). Here evidence concerned results to be achieved (truck repairs by experienced mechanic) rather than exercise of right-to-control means of achieving them)

2414-5500 Control of equipment furnished by employer

H & H Pretzel Company — 277 NLRB No. 143
(dealers of snack food distributor found Ees rather than independent contractors, where dealers lack investment or proprietary interest in business, using E's supplies and vehicles leased through E; E can unilaterally terminate their contract, prohibits their selling other Es' goods, compels them to attend meetings, transfers money in their business, performs their obligations when they do not, and determines their workweek, frequency of customer calls, cleanliness or carrying unapproved advertising)

2414-9900 Other

Airport Distributors, Inc. — 280 NLRB No. 091
[Ee holding 10 percent of E's stocks and assertedly discharged for violating E work rule held not divested of protection of Act by his stock ownership which was not determinative factor of unprotected status; rather, degree of participation in management and/or labor policy was relevant; here, there was no evidence that individual received any preference because of his stock ownership or that he participated in formulation of any policies involving management or Ee relations]

2428 CONTINUATION OR LOSS OF EMPLOYEE STATUS

2428-2500 Individuals whose work has ceased as result of labor dispute

U.S. Mineral Products Co. — 276 NLRB No. 022
(permanently replaced economic strikers' entitlement to reinstatement is limited to being put on preferential hiring list with E not being required to reinstate economic striker unless and until his former job or its equivalent comes open by termination or expansion. However, once striker accepts permanent employment elsewhere, he ceases to be Ee of E and is no longer entitled to reinstatement rights)

2428-2550 Obtained regular and substantial employment elsewhere

2428-2550-2500 Before reinstatement denied

Lone Star Industries, Inc. — 279 NLRB No. 078
[E's obvious failure to discharge its burden in establishing that Ee had obtained comparable employment as basis for excluding him from possible recall made E's action violative, since E disqualified for reinstatement those Ees it deemed on basis of insufficient information to have obtained comparable employment where basis was whether Ee was employed in same type of job, with competitor, but no further check as to wages, benefits, job assignments, etc.]

2428-5000 Individuals whose work has ceased as result of ULP

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. — 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)
[coercion of former Ee, violation where he had been laid off unlawfully and was therefore considered Ee under the Act, which states that an employee includes any individual whose work has ceased as a consequence of, or in connection with. . . any unfair labor practice]

2428-7500 Individuals whose work has ceased as result of nondiscriminatory interruption or termination of employment

Thomas Steel Company — 281 NLRB No. 060
[former Ee included in term employee defined under Sec. 2(3) of Act]

2456 STRIKERS

2456-5000 ULP strikers

Radio Electric Service Company — 278 NLRB No. 078
[strike motivated, in part, by E's refusal to grant Ees their Christmas bonus held ULP strike]

Wilder Construction — 276 NLRB No. 104
(E's withdrawal of recongition from U when Ees went out on economic strike because E and U were unable to reach full agreement on terms of collective-bargaining agreement, violative and strike, subsequently was ULP strike, since E foreclosed possibility of entering into collective-bargaining agreement)

Morning Star International, Inc. — JD-209-86
[while there was no orderly meeting at which Ees had voted upon formal motion to strike because of specific ULPs, Ees who joined strike held ULP strikers where it was clear E's ULPs caused strike as evidenced by Ees' testimony that E's anti-U speech, work rules issued by E, and its failure to recognize U prompted strike; and at least 1 picket sign gave E's commission of ULPs as reason for strike]

2456-6700 Economic strikers

Rockwood & Company and W. H. Gonyea Trust No. 1--17 d/b/a Timber Products Co. — 281 NLRB No. 117
[Ees who were on layoff status prior to strike held economic strikers where they received E's solicitation to return to work during strike and manifested their intent to join strike by engaging in picketing; fact that E may not have been aware of Ees' picketing did not detract from finding that picketing constituted reasonable notice that Ees were striking since such over action, which reasonably would make E aware, did not depend on E's actual knowledge and was controlling]

Wilder Construction — 276 NLRB No. 104
(E's withdrawal of recongition from U when Ees went out on economic strike because E and U were unable to reach full agreement on terms of collective-bargaining agreement, violative and strike, subsequently was ULP strike, since E foreclosed possibility of entering into collective-bargaining agreement)

U.S. Mineral Products Co. — 276 NLRB No. 022
(permanently replaced economic strikers' entitlement to reinstatement is limited to being put on preferential hiring list with E not being required to reinstate economic striker unless and until his former job or its equivalent comes open by termination or expansion. However, once striker accepts permanent employment elsewhere, he ceases to be Ee of E and is no longer entitled to reinstatement rights)

2456-8300 Replaced economic strikers

Medallion Kitchens, Inc. — 277 NLRB No. 175
[economic strikers should not be equated to laid-off Ees because economic strikers enjoy statutory right to reinstatement with no time limit set on exercise of reinstatement rights]

2484 STATUTORY EXCLUSIONS FROM EMPLOYEE STATUS

2484-1200 Any individual employed as an agricultural laborer

2484-1201 Generally

2484-1201-2500 FLSA Sec. 3(f) sole criterion for defining 'agricultural laborer'

Mario Saikhon, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 166
[Ees engaged in field packing operation are Ees and not agricultural laborers w/i meaning of Act and Bd has jurisdiction over them. Definition of harvesting, cannot be stretched to encompase packing operation just because it is being performed in field because moving it to field has not changed nature of work. Bd guided by Dept. of Labor's interpretation of Section 3(f) of FLSA, in determining whether individual is Agricultural laborer. It is nature of work, and not identity or purpose of E, that is controlling]

2484-1201-2500—Cont.

2484-1225 Tests

2484-1225-2500 Nature of work alone not test

Mario Saikhon, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 166

[Ees engaged in field packing operation are Ees and not agricultural laborers w/i meaning of Act and Bd has jurisdiction over them. Definition of harvesting, cannot be stretched to encompass packing operation just because it is being performed in field because moving it to field has not changed nature of work. Bd guided by Dept. of Labor's interpretation of Section 3(f) of FLSA, in determining whether individual is Agricultural laborer. It is nature of work, and not identity or purpose of E, that is controlling]

2484-1275 Activities not exempt as agricultural

2484-1275-5000 Growing, packing and/or distributing produce or horticultural products

Mario Saikhon, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 166

[Ees engaged in field packing operation are Ees and not agricultural laborers w/i meaning of Act and Bd has jurisdiction over them. Definition of harvesting, cannot be stretched to encompass packing operation just because it is being performed in field because moving it to field has not changed nature of work. Bd guided by Dept. of Labor's interpretation of Section 3(f) of FLSA, in determining whether individual is Agricultural laborer. It is nature of work, and not identity or purpose of E, that is controlling]

2484-3700 'Any individual employed by his parent or spouse'

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056

[Ee listed as sec/traffic/billing/news/Disc Jockey at country music radio station excluded from unit of announcers where she did no announcing work, had had only one 30-second report that she called in broadcast, and was not a statutory Ee but an individual employed by (her) parent, her father being president and sole stockholder of E]

B.R.B. Iron Works, Inc. JD-(NY)-84-85

(son of 50% co-owner of closed corporation (E) not eligible to vote in Bd election, since he is not Ee w/i meaning of Act)

2484-5000 Independent contractor

2484-5033 Indicia of status

2484-5033-0100 Generally

The Big East Conference 282 NLRB No. 050

[basketball officials held independent contractors where they invested time and money in advancing their careers, sold their skill and expertise and had some control over their own earnings]

Precision Bulk Transport, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 060

[Bd uses common law right of control test to determine whether individuals are Ees or independent contractors]

Precision Bulk Transport, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 060

[owner-operators who leased their equipment to E held independent contractor notwithstanding lease provides leased equipment shall be exclusively possessed and controlled by E and used in E's business and that E shall be responsible for operation of such equipment, (above language consistent with lease requirements mandated by I.C.C.) and will not be used for any purpose other than conducting E's business w/o E's permission, where other evidence showed that owner-operators enjoy certain freedoms and bear certain risks consistent with operation of independent business and E giving up right-to-control performance of their services]

Precision Bulk Transport, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 060

[despite lease language that gives E control beyond that imposed by law and limits owner-operators who leased equipment to E of their entrepreneurial freedom, owner-operators held independent contractors where they purchased and owned their rigs, paid higher percentage of gross than Ee, paid for own fuel and maintenance at place of their own choosing, determine own work schedules and delivery rates, can accept or reject trips, negotiated trip leases with other Es, not promised any set number of trips, must obtain required licenses, E did not provide FICA, unemployment or workers' compensation contributions on their behalf or impose discipline]

Operating Engineers, Local No. 701, etc. (Howard S. Lease Construction Co. & Associates) 276 NLRB No. 077

[in determining whether individuals are Ees or independent contractors under Act, Bd is required to apply common law agency principles. Under this approach, there is no shorthand formula, or magic phrase that can be applied to find answer, but all incidents of relationship must be assessed and weighed with no one factor being decisive)

Don Bass Trucking, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 163

(fact that state regulations substantially dictate terms of employment can not constitute E control over drivers)

Pierre's Vending Company, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 184

(fact that E did not withhold state or Federal taxes, although not determinative, is nonetheless relevant to determination of independent contractor status)

Pierre's Vending Company, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 184

(mechanic-Ee held independent contractor notwithstanding he prepared checklist of completed repairs as work was not inspected which showed concern was over results achieved rather than exercise of right to control means of achieving them)

2484-5033-0133 Amount of control reserved by person for whom work is done

Automobile Mechanics Local No. 701, Machinists (Avis Rent A Car System, Inc.) 280 NLRB No. 149

[in finding tractor lessors were independent contractors, Bd overruled Robbins Motor Transportation, Inc. 225 NLRB 761 (1975); Mitchell Bros. Truck Lines, 249 NLRB 476 (1980); and Radicks Interstate, Inc. 255 NLRB 1073 (1980), to extent that they may indicate that control stemming from governmental requirements is determinative factor in assessment of independent contractor versus Ee status]

Mission Foods Corporation 280 NLRB No. 026

[E's jobbers (route salesmen) held Ees and not independent contractors since, although the Jobbers agreement with E, on its face is indicative of independent contractor arrangement, record clearly establishes that E retains rights of control over manner and means by which jobbers perform their jobs, and jobbers' arrangement with E lack any of basic entrepenurial characteristics found in true independent contractor relationships. E alone sets and adjusts jobbers' routes, sets prices, customers to be serviced, disciplines jobbers, have no proprietary interest in routes as they cannot sell them and E can charge them unilaterally]

Precision Bulk Transport, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 060

[where one for whom services are performed retains right to control manner and means by which result is to be accomplished, relationship is one of employment; while, on other hand, where control is reserved only as to result sought, relationship is that of independent contractor. Resolution of this question depends on facts of each case and no one factor is determinative]

Operating Engineers, Local No. 701, etc. (Howard S. Lease Construction Co. & Associates) 276 NLRB No. 077

(owner-operators of excavation equipment with whom general contractor had agreement to perform foundation excavation work held independent contractors, since general contractor retained no control over manner in which work performed, but merely informed them of lines and grades for excavation, owner operators determined own hours of operation, whether to hire own Ees, made all arrangements for acquisition and maintenance of own equipment, assumed liability for operations; further, general contractor made no withholdings or payments for workmen's compensation, unemployment or social security

Pierre's Vending Company, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 184

(in determining whether individuals are Ees or independent contractors, Bd applies common law right-of-control test (control only results to be achieved then person is independent contractor or if in addition E controls means to be used in attaining result then individual is Ee). Here evidence concerned results to be achieved (truck repairs by experienced mechanic) rather than exercise of right-to-control means of achieving them)

Atlantic Interstate Messengers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 171

(owner-operator drivers for interstate delivery service found Ees rather than independent contractors where they are disciplined for insubordination, fined for improper recordkeeping, must wear uniforms, may not grow beards, must keep records not required by government agencies, cannot refuse job assignments, and may not deviate from the order or pickups and deliveries established by the dispatcher)

Ace Cab Company, d/b/a Checker Cab Company, Marcella Cab Company and Manchester Cab Company 273 NLRB No. 186

(notwithstanding long term usuage of words employer-employee in describing their relationship and number of E restrictions over drivers (sale of vehicles, attire, variety of dischargeable offenses and widespread use of dispatch system by drivers), drivers held independent contractors since most of rules drivers operated under dictated by either insurance or city regulations, E doesn't pay wages, withhold taxes or keep records regarding hours, and only income of E is flat fee drivers pay to display E emblem and use dispatch system)

Castricone Contractors, Inc. JD-(NY)-80-85

(Ee not independent contractor notwithstanding he signed paper stating he was being paid for subcontract work where evidence shows E directed Ee's work on a day to day basis, Ee's hours, and supplied and controlled any necessary equipment)

2484-5033-0133—Cont.

Allbritton Communications Co., The News Printing Co., Inc. and The Hudson Dispatch v. N.L.R.B. 766 F.2d 812 (C.A. 3, July 1985)

(E's agent's Ees, held Ees of E rather than agent, since Ees were subservants of agent and agent was in turn a servant of E where E exerted control over agent by providing all operating expenses of agent, by establishing number of Ees to work each shift, by establishing all work schedules for Ees and by handling all grievances arising from Ees)

ARA Leisure Services, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 782 F.2d 456 (C.A. 4, Jan. 1986)

[tableheads--venders of novelty items at concessions at sports areana who had ehlpers who assisted them--held supervisors in employ of E which operated concessions under lease agreement, rather than independent contractors, where leaseholder/operator made payroll dedictions for taxes, social security and workmens' compensation, tableheads completed employment application, signed in and out, abided by company rules, were subject to discipline by E; leaseholder/operator which retained right to control tablehead/helper relationship and received 90% of gross receipts]

2484-5033-0167 Lessee status

Automobile Mechanics Local No. 701, Machinists (Avis Rent A Car System, Inc.) 280 NLRB No. 149

[in finding tractor lessors were independent contractors, Bd overruled Robbins Motor Transportation, Inc. 225 NLRB 761 (1975); Mitchell Bros. Truck Lines, 249 NLRB 476 (1980); and Redicks Interstate, Inc. 255 NLRB 1073 (1980), to extent that they may indicate that control stemming from governmental requirements is determinative factor in assessment of independent contractor versus Ee status]

2484-5067 Specific operations

2484-5067-2000 Contract drivers

Mission Foods Corporation 280 NLRB No. 036

[E's jobbers (route salesmen) held Ees and not independent contractors since, although the Jobbers agreement with E, on its face is indicative of independent contractor arrangement, record clearly establishes that E retains rights of control over manner and means by which jobbers perform their jobs, and jobbers' arrangement with E lacks any of basic entrepenurial characteristics found in true independent contractor relationships. E alone sets and adjusts jobbers' routes, sets prices, customers to be serviced, disciplines jobbers, have no proprietary interest in routes as they cannot sell them and E can charge them unilaterally]

Precision Bulk Transport, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 060

[owner-operators who leased their equipment to E held independent contractor notwithstanding lease provides leased equipment shall be exclusively possessed and controlled by E and used in E's business and that E shall be responsible for operation of such equipment, (above language consistent with lease requirements mandated by I.C.C.) and will not be used for any purpose other than conducting E's business w/o E's permission, where other evidence showed that owner-operators enjoy certain freedoms and bear certain risks consistent with operation of independent business and E giving up right-to-control performance of their services]

Precision Bulk Transport, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 060

[despite lease language that gives E control beyond that imposed by law and limits owner-operators who leased equipment to E of their entreprenurial freedom, owner-operators held independent contractors where they purchased and owned their rigs, paid higher percentage of gross than Ee, paid for own fuel and maintenance at place of their own choosing, determine own work schedules and delivery rates, can accept or reject trips, negotiated trip leases with other Es, not promised any set number of trips, must obtain required licenses, E did not provide FICA, unemployment or workers' compensation contributions on their behalf or impose discipline]

Don Bass Trucking, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 163

(fact that state regulations substantially dictate terms of employment can not constitute E control over drivers)

Don Bass Trucking, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 163

(owner-drivers held independent contractors where they own their own trucks which they purchase privately, maintain and repair own trucks, purchase own fuel, pay E to park trucks on E's premises, may reject assignments from E, determine own work schedules and routes and are free to perform services for other carriers when not engaged by E)

General Teamsters and Food Processing Local 87, Teamsters (Harry Shain, an Individual) 273 NLRB No. 225

(owner operates of trucks held independent contractors where they had substantial financial investment, had opportunity to make profit based on own initiative, often worked for several contractors, and absent E's retention of right to reject owner-operators vehicles which failed to meet standards)

2484-5067-3500 Delivery drivers

Atlantic Interstate Messengers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 171

(owner-operator drivers for interstate delivery service found Ees rather than independent contractors where they are disciplined for insubordination, fined for improper recordkeeping, must wear uniforms, may not grow beards, must keep records not required by government agencies, cannot refuse job assignments, and may not deviate from the order or pickups and deliveries established by the dispatcher)

2484-5067-4700 Owner-operators

Automobile Mechanics Local No. 701, Machinists (Avis Rent A Car System, Inc.) 280 NLRB No. 149

[in finding tractor lessors were independent contractors, Bd overruled Robbins Motor Transportation, Inc. 225 NLRB 761 (1975); Mitchell Bros. Truck Lines, 249 NLRB 476 (1980); and Redicks Interstate, Inc. 255 NLRB 1073 (1980), to extent that they may indicate that control stemming from governmental requirements is determinative factor in assessment of independent contractor versus Ee status]

Precision Bulk Transport, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 060

[owner-operators who leased their equipment to E held independent contractor notwithstanding lease provides leased equipment shall be exclusively possessed and controlled by E and used in E's business and that E shall be responsible for operation of such equipment, (above language consistent with lease requirements mandated by I.C.C.) and will not be used for any purpose other than conducting E's business w/o E's permission, where other evidence showed that owner-operators enjoy certain freedoms and bear certain risks consistent with operation of independent business and E giving up right-to-control performance of their services]

Precision Bulk Transport, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 060

[despite lease language that gives E control beyond that imposed by law and limits owner-operators who leased equipment to E of their entreprenurial freedom, owner-operators held independent contractors where they purchased and owned their rigs, paid higher percentage of gross than Ee, paid for own fuel and maintenance at place of their own choosing, determine own work schedules and delivery rates, can accept or reject trips, negotiated trip leases with other Es, not promised any set number of trips, must obtain required licenses, E did not provide FICA, unemployment or workers' compensation contributions on their behalf or impose discipline]

Operating Engineers, Local No. 701, etc. (Howard S. Lease Construction Co. & Associates) 276 NLRB No. 077

(owner-operators of excavation equipment with whom general contractor had agreement to perform foundation excavation work held independent contractors, since general contractor retained no control over manner in which work performed, but merely informed them of lines and grades for excavation, owner operators determined own hours of operation, whether to hire own Ees, made all arrangements for acquisition and maintenance of own equipment, assumed liability for operations; further, general contractor made no withholdings or payments for workmen's compensation, unemployment or social security

2484-5067-6000 Taxicab drivers

Ace Cab Company, d/b/a Checker Cab Company, Marcella Cab Company and Manchester Cab Company 273 NLRB No. 186

(notwithstanding long term usuage of words employer-employee in describing their relationship and number of E restrictions over drivers (sale of vehicles, attire, variety of dischargeable offenses and widespread use of dispatch system by drivers), drivers held independent contractors since most of rules drivers operated under dictated by either insurance or city regulations, E doesn't pay wages, withhold taxes or keep records regarding hours, and only income of E is flat fee drivers pay to display E emblem and use dispatch system)

2484-5067-7000 Newspaper dealers

Drukker Communications, Inc., and Its Wholly Owned Subsidiary The Daily Advance, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 032

(on remand delivery contract holders at newspaper who purchased papers for resale and delivered individual papers and bundles of papers to remote areas, held to be independent contractors, where no E insignia on contract holders' vehicles, not required by E to obtain insurance, submit reports on time and mileage, or instructed when or where to pick up papers; E did not accept return of papers or withhold taxes for contract holders; notwithstanding E provided them weekly stipend, required delivery at reasonable hours, noted customer complaints, and required customer lists be submitted)

2484-5067-8400 University faculty

Trustees of Boston University 281 NLRB No. 113

[department chairmen and faculty at university held managerial Ees under Yeshiva standard, where faculty had absolute authority over grading, teaching methods, graduation requirements, and student discipline; also, faculty almost always effectively controlled matriculation requirements, curriculum, academic calendars, and course schedules, and played effective and determinative role in recommending faculty hiring, tenure, promotions, and reappointments, and, in particular, had authority to effectively veto curriculum and personnel decisions, all of which enumerated matters were important facets of university policy]

2484-5067-8400—Cont.

Trustees of Boston University 281 NLRB No. 115
[in determining that department chairmen and faculty at university were managerial Ees under Yeshiva standard, Bd held fact that ultimate authority for decision making at university rested with president and board of trustees did not alter fact that, in practice, faculty decisions on all those policy matters were effected in great majority of instances; nor did fact that administration occasionally made and implemented policy decisions w/o faculty input detract from collegial managerial authority exercised by faculty]

2484-7500 'Any individual employed by an employer subject to Railway Labor Act'

Ground Services, Inc., a Wholly-Owned Subsidiary of ARA Services, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 006
(ptn to represent Ees of E providing ground fleet service to air carriers, dismissed for lack of jurisdiction, where Bd advised by National Mediation Board that Ees sought by petitioner were subject to Railway Labor Act)

3200 'REPRESENTATIVE'

3900 'LABOR ORGANIZATION'

3925 PREREQUISITES

3925-2000 Employee participation--organization need not be composed exclusively of employees

Texas Bus Lines, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 075
(Ee committee found to constitute labor organization where it was elected by Ees, met and dealt with E concerning wages and other terms and conditions of employment, and dealt with E concerning two grievances)

3925-4000 Purpose of dealing with employers with regard to employee working conditions

Texas Bus Lines, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 075
(Ee committee found to constitute labor organization where it was elected by Ees, met and dealt with E concerning wages and other terms and conditions of employment, and dealt with E concerning two grievances)

Renaissance West Community Mental Health Center 276 NLRB No. 050
(U held labor organization where it had bargaining agreements with 41 private nonprofit Es; it represented Ees covered by such agreements which had provisions relating to wages, hours, and conditions of employment; and at duly conducted U meetings Ees represented by U discussed terms and conditions of agreements before ratifying them)

Sears, Roebuck and Co. 274 NLRB No. 055
(communications committee instituted by company manager, without knowledge of U campaign, which met with E to increase company efficiency held not labor organization where committee was not Ee representative or advocate, committee did not deal with E on behalf of Ees and Ees on committee were not selected by their fellow Ees; all of Ees, on rotation basis, were to participate on committee)

Production Workers Union of Chicago and Vicinity, Local 707; etc. (Checker Taxi Company, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 148
(U held labor organization and subject to proscriptions of 8(b)(4) applicable to labor disputes, notwithstanding activities were on behalf of independent contractors rather than statutory Ees, since U admitted in ans it was albor organization w/i meaning of Act, and fact that U's ultimate objective was improved leases for group of independent contractors, rather than mere customary union objectives, cannot shield U if conduct is otherwise unlawful)

3950 TYPES OF LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

3950-7200 Organizations dominated, assisted, supported, or instigated by employer

Sears, Roebuck and Co. 274 NLRB No. 055
(communications committee instituted by company manager, without knowledge of U campaign, which met with E to increase company efficiency held not labor organization where committee was not Ee representative or advocate, committee did not deal with E on behalf of Ees and Ees on committee were not selected by their fellow Ees; al! of Ees, on rotation basis, were to participate on committee)

3950-7700 Organizations subject to influence, domination or control by supervisors

North Shore University Hospital 274 NLRB No. 188
(on ct remand, Bd vacated prior D/O, dismissed C and revoked Certification of Representative and found that nurses association should not be considered differently from other labor organizations regarding conflict of interest engendered by supervisors' active participation in association, lack of insulation of collective-bargaining process from governance of organization and lack of mechanism to assist Es from violating Sec. 8(a)(2) through supervisory Ees participation in association's affairs)

3975 SUCCESSOR LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

Arizona Pork Products, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 167
[E's rejecting U's request for recognition and bargaining violation, notwithstanding allegedly inadequate assurance of ballot secrecy in U predecessor's merger election involving U's properly becoming successor to benefits of certification]

Hotel & Restaurant Employees, Local 2 v. N.L.R.B. 735 F.2d 1152 (C.A. 9, June 1984)
[where Bd had found no violation by E's refusal to bargain with local U into which six local Us had been merged, because resulting local was not successor to the six locals involved and thus there was no continuity of representation, where members of only one local were shown to have had the opportunity to vote on the merger, ct remanded case to the Bd to focus on significance of fact all six local memberships had voted approval of merger negotiations and consider whether this approval implied approval of the merger itself so as to support finding of successorship and violation]

3987 EFFECT OF DISAFFILIATION, AFFILIATION, OR MERGER

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[U did not cease to exist when it became independent of int'l U of which it was a division and accepted separate charter from AFL-CIO, where such action taken under provisions of its constitution and approved by referendum, notwithstanding unit Ees did not vote in any type of election on this disaffiliation or acceptance of charter, since unit members not members of petitioner's U at that time, and no changes have been made in how petitioner handles grievances, administers and negotiates contracts, organizing Ees, etc.; thus, no change in essential identity of bargaining representative which would require vote on question of continuity of representation]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)
[in determining whether U involved in affiliation has remained esenetially the same or has changed so substantially as to require new R election depends on number of factors which Bd generally considers, including structure, administration, officers, assets, membership, autonomy, by-laws, size, and it looks for changes in the rights and obligations of U's leadership and membership, and in relationships between putative bargaining agent, its affiliate, and E]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)
[E unlawfully refused to bargain with independent U after it affiliated with international, since affiliation did not significantly change U's identity where bargaining unit and officers, as well as those responsible for negotiating and processing grievances, remained the same; retention of such key personnel was important since continuity is then likely to be preserved; and U stated that it will honor any existing contractual commitments to E and that its activities will continue to be governed for most part by its own constitution and by-laws]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)
[notion that qcr is created simply by increase in local U's bargaining power as result of its a/w larger U has no express basis in Act and has been rejected by Bd; and S.Ct's decision in Financial Institution likewise suggests that increase in U's bargaining power is not, standing alone, determinative of whether affiliation raises qcr, since there may be variety of reasons why local U might seek to affiliate, and S.Ct has noted that Bd has recognized that U must remain largely unfettered in its organizational quest for financial stability and aid in the negotiating process]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)
[in finding that E unlawfully refused to bargain with independent U after it a/w international, ct held that determination of whether continuity exists is fact-specific determination to be made by Bd in first instance after considering particular effect of orgnizational change; and S.Ct has explicitly rejected argument that affiliation by itself necessarily changes U's identity and results in Ees being represented by different organization; rather, S.Ct asserted that unless qcr is raised affiliation vote is purely internal U affair]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)
[where substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that affiliation of independent U with international did not raise qcr, ct held that, since Congress has entrusted Bd with authority to interpret and implement Act, ct has generally allowed Bd wide latitude to construe its provisions and to determine how best to effectuate Act's policies, especially in areas implicating, as here, agency expertise; and thus such Bd decision should be sustained as long as it is not irrational or inconsistent with Act]

3987—Cont.

Hotel & Restaurant Employees, Local 2 v. N.L.R.B. 735 F.2d 1152 (C.A. 9, June 1984)

[where Bd had found no violation by E's refusal to bargain with local U into which six local Us had been merged, because resulting local was not successor to the six locals involved and thus there was no continuity of representation, where members of only one local were shown to have had the opportunity to vote on the merger, ct remanded case to the Bd to focus on significance of fact all six local memberships had voted approval of merger negotiations and consider whether this approval implied approval of the merger itself so as to support finding of successorship and violation]

4700 COMMERCE

Tony and Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ————U.S.———— (U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)

[in suit brought under FLSA by religious foundation operating various commercial business, ct held admixture of religious motivations did not alter business's effect on commerce; as found by lower ct, foundation's businesses competed with ordinary commercial enterprises and payment of substandard wages would give foundation and similar organizations an advantage over their competitions, which is kind of unfair method of competition FLSA was intended to prevent]

5500 AFFECTING COMMERCE

Jim Miller, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Action Drywall JD-(SF)-136-86

[Bd asserted jurisdiction over dry wall constractor at housing project for military personnel located on military base, notwithstanding E did not meet Bd's administrative direct or indirect outflow or inflow standards, since w/i Bd's statutory jurisdiction inasmuch as commerce of base included in determination of effect on commerce where work was performed on military base and involved work necessary for providing on base housing, thus labor dispute arising in situation would enmesh base operations, and also E meets Bd's discretionary national defense standard since E's work exerted substantial impact on national defense]

6200 UNFAIR LABOR PRACTICE

7000 LABOR DISPUTE

7067 STRIKE

7067-3300 Economic strike

Service Electric Company 281 NLRB No. 107

[economic strike did not end despite U giving E notice to that affect, because strikers dis not offer to return to work, and because no evidence that any striker, personally or through their bargaining representative, ever took action that could be said to evidence an abandonment of their statutory right to future employment with E with result E had to continue employing replacements]

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 073

(strike to protest failure to reach bargaining agreement held not ULP strike, and E's permanent replacement of strikers not unlawful, where failure to reach agreement was not due to alleged unlawful surface bargaining on part of E, but to lawful hard bargaining)

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152

(strike held economic rather than ULP strike since no connection between E's ULPs, absent discussion of ULPs at strike vote, or other evidence ULPs were contributing cause to strike, but rather Ees told that vote to reject E's contract proposals which included 15% reduction in pay would be vote for strike)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120

(strike found economic, rather than ULP, strike, since there was no causal connection between E's only two ULPs and the strike, the strikers' testimony indicated that they struck because E had not agreed to a contract, their picket signs indicated that they were striking for better wages and working conditions, and U's strike settlement proposal dealt with economic issues, rather than resolution of ULPs)

7067-3350 Conversion to ULP strike

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066

[in accord with Trading Port, Inc. 219 NLRB 298 and Drug Package Co., 222 NLRB 108, ALJ held strike, basically economically motivated when called but occurring following withholding of recognition, was ULP strike]

Ashe Brick Company 280 NLRB No. 162

[economic strike converted to ULP strike by E's unlawful withdrawal of recognition which precluded possibility of parties entering into bargaining agreement]

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171

[hiring replacements rather than recalling economic strikers from preferential hiring list converted strike to ULP strike]

Forest Grove Lumber Company 275 NLRB No. 144

(economic strike not converted to ULP strike since strike prolonged only by economic differences of parties; no causual connection between E's unlawful bypassing of U by dealing directly with Ees which did not have any impact upon bargaining process, and prolongation of strike)

New Hope Industries, Inc., and Its Alter Ego and Owner Emil Brandt Thiac JD-(ATL)-61-85

(Ees striking to protest E's failure to meet scheduled pay dates held protected activity and further, Ees continuation of that strike in protest over their discharges for striking converted strike from economic strike to ULP strike)

N.L.R.B. v. Charles D. Bonanno Linen Service, Inc. 782 F.2d 7 (C.A. 1, Jan. 1986)

[economic strike converted to ULP strike when strike continued after E unlawfully refused to execute multi-E bargaining agreement; causal link between ULP and strike evident where upon reaching of agreement between U and multi-E bargaining group, thus meeting Ees' economic demands, all striking Ees in industry except Ees of E, which refused to sign agreement, ended strike]

N.L.R.B. v. Jarm Enterprises, Inc., d/b/a Blu-Fountain Manor 785 F.2d 195 (C.A. 7, Mar. 1986)

[economic strike by predecessor's Ees converted to ULP strike by predecessor's refusal to provide U financial information and successor E held liable therefor, where successor E had knowledge of ULP and since strike was motivated primarily because of wages, predecessor's ULP evidenced had faith bargaining which had effect of precluding settlement of strike which could have expedited settlement of the wage issue]

7067-6700 Unfair labor practice strike

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 073

(strike to protest failure to reach bargaining agreement held not ULP strike, and E's permanent replacement of strikers not unlawful, where failure to reach agreement was not due to alleged unlawful surface bargaining on part of E, but to lawful hard bargaining)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039

(strike caused by E's unlawful threats, no-solicitation rule, collection of U authorization cards, unilateal changes, refusal to recall laid off Ees, and refusal to supply requested information, ULP strike)

Tectonic Industries, Inc. JD-(NY)-100-84

(strike held ULP strike where E, but its unilateral action in changing conditions and terms of employment, secured what it had been unable to secure at bargaining table, i.e. total control over E's operations and therefore did not enter into negotiations with sincere desire to reach agreement, and failure to do so was due to E's pattern of bargaining in bad faith)

7067-6750 Causal relation of ULP must be shown

St. John's General Hospital of Allegheny County--- ADR Center 281 NLRB No. 157

[strike held ULP shtrike where in protest of E's refusal to recognize and bargain with U certified to represent its Ees]

Port Plastics, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 050

[strike held ULP strike, where strike was precipitated by e's bad faith bargaining conduct and thus strike was caused in whole or in part by E's ULP]

Dayton Auto Electric, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 080

[strike held ULP strike since caused and prolonged by E's unlawful layoffs and refusal to recognize U]

Radio Electric Service Company 278 NLRB No. 078

[strike motivated, in part, by E's refusal to grant Ees their Christmas bonus held ULP strike]

Bozzuto's, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 100

(strike held ULP strike where ULPs, which commenced before strike vote, had pronounced impact)

Washington Materials, Inc., t/a Buffalo Concrete; et al. 276 NLRB No. 040

(strike held ULP strike since strike was caused in part by Es' refusal to provide U with information during bargaining concerning any possible double-breasted operations where U negotiator told Ees at time strike vote was taken that he could not justify recommending acceptance of Es' proposals until information was supplied and Ees responded by rejecting proposals and voting to strike)

Gatliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 060

(strike due to mass layoff of Ees, ULP strike)

Forest Grove Lumber Company 275 NLRB No. 144

(economic strike not converted to ULP strike since strike prolonged only by economic differences of parties; no causual connection between E's unlawful bypassing of U by dealing directly with Ees which did not have any impact upon bargaining process, and prolongation of strike)

7067-6750—Cont.

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(strike found economic, rather than ULP, strike, since there was no causal connection between E's only two ULPs and the strike, the strikers' testimony indicated that they struck because E had not agreed to a contract, their picket signs indicated that they were striking for better wages and working conditions, and U's strike settlement proposal dealt with economic issues, rather than resolution of ULPs)

Workroom For Designers, Inc. and Sidney H. Sisselman, an Individual 274 NLRB No. 115
(strike which was begun in protest against discriminatory discharge of fellow Ee for U activity and was prolonged and aggravated by respondents' continuing ULPs found ULP strike)

N.L.R.B. v. Charles D. Bonanno Linen Service, Inc. 782 F.2d 7 (C.A. 1, Jan. 1986)
[economic strike converted to ULP strike when strike continued after E unlawfully refused to execute multi-E bargaining agreement; causal link between ULP and strike evident where upon reaching of agreement between U and multi-E bargaining group, thus meeting Ees' economic demands, all striking Ees in industry except Ees of E, which refused to sign agreement, ended strike]

N.L.R.B. v. Jarm Enterprises, Inc., d/b/a Blu-Fountain Manor 785 F.2d 195 (C.A. 7, Mar. 1986)
[economic strike by predecessor's Ees converted to ULP strike by predecessor's refusal to provide U financial information and successor E held liable therefor, where successor E had knowledge of ULP and since strike was motivated primarily because of wages, predecessor's ULP evidenced bad faith bargaining which had effect of precluding settlement of strike which could have expedited settlement of the wage issue]

7084 DISPUTES NOT WITHIN STATUTORY DEFINITION

7084-7500 Dispute regarding independent contractors' leasing arrangement

Production Workers Union of Chicago and Vicinity, Local 707; etc. (Checker Taxi Company, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 148
(Bd has jurisdiction over U picketing on behalf of independent contractors for improved leasing arrangement with E notwithstanding U's contention that such picketing was not labor dispute since Bd's jurisdiction is not defined or limited by 2(9), and term labor dispute does not appear in 8(b)(4) so as to limit Bd's jurisdiction over illegal boycotts; further, neither language of 8(b)(4) nor legislative history confined scope of that Section to labor disputes, and Congress, recognizing that illegal boycotts take many forms, intended prohibition to reach broadly)

Production Workers Union of Chicago and Vicinity, Local 707; etc. (Checker Taxi Company, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 148
(U held labor organization and subject to proscriptions of 8(b)(4) applicable to labor disputes, notwithstanding activities were on behalf of independent contractors rather than statutory Ees, since U admitted in ans it was albor organization w/i meaning of Act, and fact that U's ultimate objective was improved leases for group of independent contractors, rather than mere customary union objectives, cannot shield U if conduct is otherwise unlawful)

Production Workers Union of Chicago and Vicinity, Local 707, et al. v. N.L.R.B. (Checker Taxi Co., et al.) 793 F.2d 323 (C.A. D.C., June 1986)
[Bd properly asserted jurisdiction in case involving U picketing of general contractors on behalf of independent contractors for better leasing agreement terms, since Bd's jurisdiction is not circumbscribed by Sec. 2(9) which merely defines labor dispute as it appears elsewhere in Act, and Bd's task was not to identify conventional labor dispute but was, instead, to measure U's conduct against specific provisions of Act defining ULPs]

7800 'NATIONAL LABOR RELATIONS BOARD'

8500 'SUPERVISOR'

8501 GENERALLY

B & W Machine & Welding Company JD-(SF)-107-86
[burden of proving supervisory status rests on party asserting such status]

8501-2000 Existence of statutory power controlling

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer 281 NLRB No. 161
[individual need not actually exercise any given authority to qualify as a supervisor, it is the authority to act independently that is determinative rather than the exercise of that authority]

Opelika Foundry 281 NLRB No. 121
[individual with statutory supervisory authority does not lose his/her status simply because they infrequently exercise their authority]

8501-4000 Functions, duties, and authority, rather than titles significant

Terraillon Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037
[clerical did not become supervisor and ineligible to vote upon her promotion to office manager, where her actual duties did not change; her taking calls regarding Ees' absences and keeping leave records were merely ministerial functions, and she had no authority to grant time off or arrange schedules, nor did she hire and fire or effectively recommend doing so]

Iron Mountain Forge Corp. 278 NLRB No. 038
[titles and symbols do not constitute a person supervisor, but use of title is probative evidence of supervisory title]

Midwestern Mining & Reclamation, Inc., A Subsidiary of Midwestern Fuels Systems, Inc., etc. 277 NLRB No. 001
]demotion of supervisors to position of leadmen held not to have converted them into rank-and-file Ees, where supervisors continued to possess and exercise same functions and responsibilities they previously had; and mere change in title was not controlling in determining whether their functions satisfied statutory definition of supervisor)

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(Ee's title of face boss at coal mine held not controlling in determining his supervisory status)

B & W Machine & Welding Company JD-(SF)-107-86

8501-6000 Voting in election not conclusive

Programming & Systems, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 157

8501-7000 Performance of unit work not controlling

Midwestern Mining & Reclamation, Inc., A Subsidiary of Midwestern Fuels Systems, Inc., etc. 277 NLRB No. 001
(fact that supervisors at coal strip mining site operated equipment along with Ees held not to alter their supervisory status, where situation was due to shutting down of mining operations in order to devote all efforts to performance of delinquent reclamation work which state agency had ordered to be done; and situation was temporary one which can be analogized to supervisors performing unit work during strike or lockout)

8520 INDICIA OF SUPERVISORY STATUS

8520-0100 Generally

Opelika Foundry 281 NLRB No. 121
[statutory indicia in Section 2(11) of Act are in disjunctive and only one need exist to confer statutory status on individual]

Feralloy West Corporation and Pohang Steel America d/b/a Feralloy West Company 277 NLRB No. 114
(possession of any one of Sec. 2(11) indicia suffices to confer supervisory status, provided that authority is exercised with independent judgment on behalf of management and not in routine manner; thus, exercise of some supervisory authority does not confer supervisory authority on an Ee)

N.L.R.B. v. Chicago Metallic Corporation 794 F.2d 327 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[Ee who technically may not satisfy statutory criteria of Sec. 2(11) nevertheless may be accorded supervisory status when he is perceived to be supervisor by other Ees]

8520-0800 Authority to hire, discipline, assign, etc.

Ballou Brick Co. 277 NLRB No. 009
(Ee held supervisor rather than leadman-Ee since he had authority to assign work which required use of independent judgment where Ee instructed Ees to run machines, told them when to start and stop and did not consult with management in exercising these functions)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(sole Ee in dairy department at E's grocery store, held supervisory, where his actions were exercise of supervisory authority and not merely advice of senior Ee, in view of numerous instances in which he disciplined, assigned, and responsibly directed Ees)

People's Transportation Service, Inc. and Minute Man Transit, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 047
(fact that Ee sometimes would talk to certain Ees about their deficiencies did not constitute discipline so as to make Ee a supervisor where conduct was only a relay of supervisor's instruction and such discipline was never made part of any Ee's personnel file)

Uptilt, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 065
(individual from whom Ees had been instructed to take orders, who had issued written reprimands, and had authority to terminate Ees)

8520-0800--Cont.

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(dispatcher's at trucking firm authority to hire not established by his hiring of temporary Ees, since he called from list of equally qualified drivers at random)

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(power to discipline not established where verbal warning by purported supervisor had no effect on Ee's record)

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(authority to transfer not established by merely informing Ees of their assignments)

Steffer Brothers JD-269-86
[dispatcher at excavation, demolition, and trucking operation who, although lacking some of the other supervisory indicia, had authority over mechanic, overseeing his work and repirmanding him at will, held supervisory]

N.L.R.B. v. KDFW-TV, Inc., A division of times Mirror Corporation 790 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 5, June 1986)
[directors, producers, associate producers and assignment editors employed by TV station, not supervisors, because they possessed none of enumerated statutory powers. Nor did these Ees responsibly direct other Ees exercising independent judgment in doing so. Though incumbents did direct other Ees, to do so responsibly means to be held fully accountable and responsible for work product and performance of other Ees which they were not. Any directions they gave other Ees were in nature of routine technical or aesthetically motivated commands executed by Ees acquainted with production plans]

8520-1600 Power 'effectively to recommend'

Iron Mountain Forge Corp. 278 NLRB No. 038
[leadmen held supervisors, notwithstanding no authority to hire, fire or discipline Ees, where they received higher wages, responsible for safety program, exercised independent judgment in preparing evaluations which constituted effective recommendation as to treatment of Ees, exercised independent judgment in directing Ees, assigned work to Ees including deciding which Ees would be temporarily transferred, and in view of fact if leadmen not held supervisors there would be disproportionate number of Ees to supervisors; further, continuing use of term supervisor for leadmen in Ee handbook and on evaluation form held leadmen out to Ees as supervisors]

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(sole Ee in dairy department at E's grocery store, held supervisory, where his actions were exercise of supervisory authority and not merely advice of senior Ee, in view of numerous instances in which he effectively recommended hire and discharge of Ees)

The Mower Lumber Company and/or Its Subsidiary Newera Resources Corp. 276 NLRB No. 086
(Ees from whom E sought opinions as to skills and qualifications of prospective Ees, held not supervisory or agents of E, where there was no evidence that these opinions were the only source of information E relied on in making its hiring decisions; however, even if E relied solely on opinions of these Ees, no evidence that these Ees considered prospective Ees' U activity in formulating their recommendations or that E requested Ees to consider U activity in their recommendations)

George C. Foss Company v. N.L.R.B. 782 F.2d 1407 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1985)
(individual held Ee and not supervisor where he did not exercise authority to hire, fire, transfer, suspend or discharge Ees or adjust grievances notwithstanding he assigned workers to particular jobs w/i project and participated in E's decisions to promote or layoff Ees as work assignments did not involve exercise of independent judgment (received daily instructions from superiors and general contractor) and his alleged effective recommendations about layoffs and promotions were informal discussions with and suggestions to those superiors)

8520-2400 Responsible direction

Iron Mountain Forge Corp. 278 NLRB No. 038
[leadmen held supervisors, notwithstanding no authority to hire, fire or discipline Ees, where they received higher wages, responsible for safety program, exercised independent judgment in preparing evaluations which constituted effective recommendation as to treatment of Ees, exercised independent judgment in directing Ees, assigned work to Ees including deciding which Ees would be temporarily transferred, and in view of fact if leadmen not held supervisors there would be disproportionate number of Ees to supervisors; further, continuing use of term supervisor for leadmen in Ee handbook and on evaluation form held leadmen out to Ees as supervisors]

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 203
(although change in functions and duties of forman chief operators may not have been substantial, in instant case, specific vesting of greater authority and use of independent judgment to direct Ees is sufficient to show jobs (of 3 shift supervisors) were supervisory w/i meaning of Act)

B.R.B. Iron Works, Inc. JD-(NY)-84-85
(Ee, son of co-owner of E, who is highest paid Ee, views himself, and is viewed by Ees, as supervisor, has more than routine discretion in assigning work, held supervisor, notwithstanding Ee had no authority to hire, fire, suspend, discipline or give Ees permission to leave early or take time off)

N.L.R.B. v. KDFW TV, Inc., A division of times Mirror Corporation 790 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 5, June 1986)
[directors, producers, associate producers and assignment editors employed by TV station, not supervisors, because they possessed none of enumerated statutory powers. Nor did these Ees responsibly direct other Ees exercising independent judgment in doing so. Though incumbents did direct other Ees, to do so responsibly means to be held fully accountable and responsible for work product and performance of other Ees which they were not. Any directions they gave other Ees were in nature of routine technical or aesthetically motivated commands executed by Ees acquainted with production plans]

Carrier Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 768 F.2d 778 (C.A. 6, July 1985)
(dispatcher at trucking company held supervisor since he responsibly directed drivers by giving drivers their schedules and for routing and re-routing drivers when necessary and exercised independent judgment by sometimes departing from customer priority listing of E)

8520-3200 Training, instruction and inspection functions

Uptilt, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 065
(individual from whom Ees had been instructed to take orders, who had issued written reprimands, and had authority to terminate Ees)

8520-3900 Adjustment of grievances

People's Transportation Service, Inc. and Minute Man Transit, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 047
(fact that Ee reported driver complaints over paycheck discrepancies to management did not constitute grievance resolution so as to make Ee a supervisor)

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(authority to adjust grievances not established by couple of attempts by purported supervisor to pacify complaining Ees or U)

8520-4700 'Independent judgment' in exercise of authority

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer 281 NLRB No. 161
[individual need not actually exercise any given authority to qualify as a supervisor, it is the authority to act independently that is determinative rather than the exercise of that authority]

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[test of responsible direction does not depend on complexity or difficulty of the work, but rather that alleged supervisor exercises independent judgment w/o consultation with higher management]

Iron Mountain Forge Corp. 278 NLRB No. 038
[leadmen held supervisors, notwithstanding no authority to hire, fire or discipline Ees, where they received higher wages, responsible for safety program, exercised independent judgment in preparing evaluations which constituted effective recommendation as to treatment of Ees, exercised independent judgment in directing Ees, assigned work to Ees including deciding which Ees would be temporarily transferred, and in view of fact if leadmen not held supervisors there would be disproportionate number of Ees to supervisors; further, continuing use of term supervisor for leadmen in Ee handbook and on evaluation form held leadmen out to Ees as supervisors]

People's Transportation Service, Inc. and Minute Man Transit, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 047
(fact that Ee advanced credit to drivers was not evidence of managerial authority since such conduct was done pursuant to established E-policy and involved no discretion on Ee's part)

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 203
(although change in functions and duties of forman chief operators may not have been substantial, in instant case, specific vesting of greater authority and use of independent judgment to direct Ees is sufficient to show jobs (of 3 shift supervisors) were supervisory w/i meaning of Act)

N.L.R.B. v. KDFW-TV, Inc., A division of times Mirror Corporation 790 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 5, June 1986)
[directors, producers, associate producers and assignment editors employed by TV station, not supervisors, because they possessed none of enumerated statutory powers. Nor did these Ees responsibly direct other Ees exercising independent judgment in doing so. Though incumbents did direct other Ees, to do so responsibly means to be held fully accountable and responsible for work product and performance of other Ees which they were not. Any directions they gave other Ees were in nature of routine technical or aesthetically motivated commands executed by Ees acquainted with production plans]

8520-4700—Cont.

George C. Foss Company v. N.L.R.B. 752 F.2d 1407 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1985)
(individual held Ee and not supervisor where he did not exercise authority to hire, fire, transfer, suspend or discharge Ees or adjust grievances notwithstanding he assigned workers to particular jobs w/i project and participated in E's decisions to promote or layoff Ees as work assignments did not involve exercise of independent judgment (received daily instructions from superiors and general contractor) and his alleged effective recommendations about layoffs and promotions were informal discussions with and suggestions to those superiors)

8520-6200 Substitution for supervisor

Latas De Aluminio Reynolds, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 147
(substituting for supervisor while supervisors were on vacation or away receiving training for 2 weeks in one year and 4 to 5 months in following year, held Ee rather than supervisor and challenge overruled, in absence of regularity of substitution, since sporadic assumption of supervisory duties, during vacation periods of supervisor is not sufficient to establish supervisory status; further, unlike supervisor, Ee was paid on weekly basis, received shift differential, punched timecard, and was assigned toolbox)

8520-7000 Ostensible authority

Wilco Business Forms, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 154
[receiving and inventory clerk at plant that manufactures, sells and distributes business forms, held supervisor, notwithstanding he spent one-third of time doing nonsupervisory work, had no authority to hire, fire, discipline, suspend, layoff, recall, promote or evaluate Ees, where he directed Ees in their work, was held out as supervisor by upper management, Ees believed he attended supervisory meetings, knew about decisions by management before rank-and-file did, granted time off and signed time cards]

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(sole Ee in dairy department at E's grocery store, held supervisory, where his actions were exercise of supervisory authority and not merely advice of senior Ee, in view of fact that he gave appearance of supervisory status in eyes of Ees by having keys to store, access to manager's office, inclusion in management meetings, authority to approve customer's personal checks and rainchecks, and on 2 nights closed store and for last several hours of day was highest person in authority present)

Willie Abernathy and Michael Abernathy d/b/a Abernathy Scrap Metal JD-(SF)-172-85
(individual who had been employed by E and had participated in hiring of 2 Ees, held supervisor, and his actions during time he was on disability compensation imputed to E where he had title superintendent, was present on E's property during period of disability, supervised construction on E's premises, gave orders to Ees, and thus reasonable to assume that individual was receiving compensation in some form from E during this period)

B.R.B. Iron Works, Inc. JD-(NY)-84-85
(Ee, son of co-owner of E, who is highest paid Ee, views himself, and is viewed by Ees, as supervisor, has more than routine discretion in assigning work, held supervisor, notwithstanding Ee had no authority to hire, fire, suspend, discipline or give Ees permission to leave early or take time off)

8520-7800 Ratio to supervised employees

Harold Weine; et al., A Co-Partnership d/b/a Sands Motel and AMM, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 013
[E's unilateral reclassification of its (motel) desk clerks to supervisory positions, violative, where conduct, coupled with E's other ULPs and coinciding with other violative layoffs effectuated decimation of unit. Evidence discloses no justifiable reason for such conduct and record evidence suggests there would be 1:1 ratio of supervisors to unit Ees]

Iron Mountain Forge Corp. 278 NLRB No. 038
[leadmen held supervisors, notwithstanding no authority to hire, fire or discipline Ees, where they received higher wages, responsible for safety program, exercised independent judgment in preparing evaluations which constituted effective recommendation as to treatment of Ees, exercised independent judgment in directing Ees, assigned work to Ees including deciding which Ees would be temporarily transferred, and in view of fact if leadmen not held supervisors there would be disproportionate number of Ees to supervisors; further, continuing use of term supervisor for leadmen in Ee handbook and on evaluation form held leadmen out to Ees as supervisors]

8520-9200 Unless found supervisor, shop without supervisor

Rapid Armored Truck Corp. 281 NLRB No. 057
[account executive at armored truck delivery company who was salaried, whose responsibilities included solicitation of new accounts, pricing contracts, and opening vault, who set up drivers' routes, resolved Ees' problems, and was only responsible official present during 4 to 4-1/2 hours per day and on weekends, thus if he was found not to be supervisor, E would be w/o supervision during those periods]

People's Transportation Service, Inc. and Minute Man Transit, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 047
(E's contention that Ee must be found supervisory or there would be no supervisor over E's night operations, rejected, where E's operation was loosely run w/o supervisors during certain times of the day and day supervisor handled all emergency problems that occurred at E's facility during the night)

Oil Field Construction Company JD-(SF)-104-86

N.L.R.B. v. KDFW-TV, Inc., A division of times Mirror Corporation 790 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 5, June 1986)
[directors, producers, associate producers, and assignment editors held not supervisors notwithstanding if disputed classifications held nonsupervisory would mean TV station left unsupervised at night and on weekends, since other admitted supervisors are generally available for consultations at such times; moreover, many decisions regarding after hours operations are made during weekdays; and finally it is reasonable to conclude that highly skilled technical Ees employed at TV station did not require constant or close supervision]

8520-9300 Attendance at supervisors' meetings

Wilco Business Forms, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 154
[receiving and inventory clerk at plant that manufactures, sells and distributes business forms, held supervisor, notwithstanding he spent one-third of time doing nonsupervisory work, had no authority to hire, fire, discipline, suspend, layoff, recall, promote or evaluate Ees, where he directed Ees in their work, was held out as supervisor by upper management, Ees believed he attended supervisory meetings, knew about decisions by management before rank-and-file did, granted time off and signed time cards]

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[since attendance at supervisors' meetings is indicia of supervisory status, failure to attend supports finding of nonsupervisory status]

8540 TYPES OF EMPLOYEES FOUND SUPERVISORY (BY SIC)

8540-1500 Building construction - general contractors and operative builders

United Electrical & Mechanical, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 034
[leadman over pipefitting crew for electrical and mechanical contractor in building and construction industry]

United Electrical & Mechanical, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 034
[leadman over plumbing crew for electrical and mechanical contractor in building and construction industry]

Electrical Workers, Local No. 428 (Kern County Chapter, National Electrical Contractors Association) 277 NLRB No. 048
(foremen for general building contractors, supervisory where they had authority to exercise independent judgment and management perogatives, including responsibility for first step in adjusting grievances and ability to effectively recommend increase in crew size and termination of Ees who did not respond to their discipline or verbal warnings)

8540-1700 Construction - special trade contractors

Plumbers, Local 469 (Valley Mechanical, Inc.) 281 NLRB No. 089
[field superintendant for plumbing contractor]

15th Avenue Iron Works, Inc., and Abitat Builders and Management Corp. 279 NLRB No. 091
[foreman at manufacturer and installer of structual and ornamental iron and steel items who received higher wages than other individuals employed by E, directed Ees, assigned overtime, granted permission to leave work early and discharged Ees]

Aztec Concrete, Inc. and E.M.L. Construction Company, Joint Employers 277 NLRB No. 142
(alleged salesman of concrete construction contractor, supervisory where he was in charge of rectifying E's failure to comply with Davis-Bacon wage and job classification requirements on federal military installation)

Aztec Concrete, Inc. and E.M.L. Construction Company, Joint Employers 277 NLRB No. 142
(superintendent on all projects of concrete construction contractor, supervisory where he exercised authority to hire and fire Ees on project, assigned them work, and responsibly directed their work utilizing independent judgment)

Aztec Concrete, Inc. and E.M.L. Construction Company, Joint Employers 277 NLRB No. 142
(project superintendent of concrete construction contractor, supervisory where he assigned Ees work, informed them that he was running the project for E, and ordered them to stop working because job, allegedly, was shutting down)

MacDonald Miller Company 277 NLRB No. 079
(individual found construction foreman, rather than service mechanic, and thus supervisory where he assigned a journeyman and observed his work, attended weekly construction meetings, had independent authority to purchase material and order certain equipment, received foreman's wages, and was directed by U business representative to resign his U stewardship upon being promoted to foreman)

8540-1700—Cont.

Jim Miller, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Action Drywall JD-(SF)-136-86
[foreman for drywall subcontractor on housing project where he used independent judgment in exercising power to discharge Ees]

Steffer Brothers JD-269-86
[dispatcher at excavation, demolition, and trucking operation who, although lacking some of the other supervisory indicia, had authority over mechanic, overseeing his work and repirmanding him at will, held supervisory]

N.L.R.B. v. Electrical Workers, Local 340 780 F.2d 1489 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1986)
[alleged working foreman employed by electrical contractor found supervisor in view of his job assignment duties and layoff decisions]

8540-2300 Apparel and other finished products made from fabrics and similar materials

Country Crest Creations, Ltd. JD-271-86
[floor manager of bedding manufacturer, supervisory in view of power to effectively recommend wage increases and discharge of new hires and authority to responsibly direct and transfer Ees]

8540-2700 Printing, publishing, and allied industries

Wilco Business Forms, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 154
[receiving and inventory clerk at plant that manufactures, sells and distributes business forms, held supervisor, notwithstanding he spent one-third of time doing nonsupervisory work, had no authority to hire, fire, discipline, suspend, layoff, recall, promote or evaluate Ees, where he directed Ees in their work, was held out as supervisor by upper management, Ees believed he attended supervisory meetings, knew about decisions by management before rank-and-file did, granted time off and signed time cards]

Interchecks Incorporated, A Subsidiary of United Graphics, Inc. JD-(SF)-23-85
(lead operator at company engaged in printing of bank checks, supervisory)

8540-2800 Chemicals and allied products

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 203
(although change in functions and duties of forman chief operators may not have been substantial, in instant case, specific vesting of greater authority and use of independent judgment to direct Ees is sufficient to show jobs (of 3 shift supervisors) were supervisory w/i meaning of Act)

8540-3000 Rubber and miscellaneous plastics products

Ro-Lab Rubber Co., Inc. 279 NLRB No. 057
[working foreman employed by producer of rubber products]

Reeves Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 153
[leadmen of E engaged in manufacture of chemical foam products]

8540-3400 Fabricated metal products, except machinery and transportation equipment

Opelika Foundry 281 NLRB No. 121
[individual in charge of pattern department at manufacturer of cast iron and plastic screws and type curb, valve and roadway boxes, who interviewed and effectively recommended hiring applicants, effectively recommended wage increases for several Ees, assigned and oversaw work of department, decided priorities of jobs, was considered by Ees in department to be supervisor, held supervisor, notwithstanding he had not promoted, disciplined any Ees, or dealt with any grievances]

Evans St. Clair, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 065
[temporary shift supervisor of E manufacturing weather stripping parts, supervisor where he was salaried, understood that he was to run the shift, and testified that E's written description of production supervisor accurately reflected his duties]

8540-3700 Transportation equipment

General Motors Corporation, Truck and Coach Division JD-108-85
(foreman at manufacturer of trucks and busses who put Ee on notice, i.e. first step of disciplinary alert, was salaried and did not punch time clock)

8540-4200 Motor freight transportation and warehousing

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(dispatcher at trucking company, since he exercised no independent judgment in direction of drivers, had no authority to transfer, hire or discipline drivers; contention that his refusal to grant Ees time off and had cards printed which stated his title was vice-president of operations, were indicia of supervisory status, rejected)

Spencer Trucking Corporation 274 NLRB No. 206
(dispatcher of trucking corporation who is also son-in-law of E's owner, supervisory where he in effect, determined drivers wages through trip assignment direction for which Ees were paid portion of tariff)

Carrier Corporation v. N.L.R.B. 768 F.2d 778 (C.A. 6, July 1985)
(dispatcher at trucking company held supervisor since he responsibly directed drivers by giving drivers their schedules and for routing and re-routing drivers when necessary and exercised independent judgment by sometimes departing from customer priority listing of E)

8540-4700 Transportation services

Atlantic Interstate Messengers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 171
(dispatcher for interstate delivery service, supervisory)

N.L.R.B. v. Sherwood Trucking Company 775 F.2d 744 (C.A. 6, Oct. 1985)
[director of operations for drayage subcontractor of air freight business]

8540-4800 Communication

KBMS, Inc., A Subsidiary of Century Broadcasting Corporation 278 NLRB No. 118
[Radio Station Assistant Program Director]

8540-5100 Wholesale trade - nondurable goods

Coamano Brothers, Inc. d/b/a Ethnic Produce 275 NLRB No. 038
(manager of corporation engaged in non-retail sale of produce, supervisory)

8540-5300 General merchandise stores

Heck's Inc. 277 NLRB No. 098
]department manager at retail store held supervisor, notwithstanding had no authority to hire, fire or discipline Ees and fact primary duties were checking, pricing and stocking merchandise, where he trained Ees and also assigned and delegated work using own judgment, participated in scheduling of hours and vacation periods, attended supervisors' meetings; further, department managers had different benefits, always worked daytime schedule, and received paid sick leave)

8540-5400 Food stores

Superior Warehouse Grocers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 010
(frontline manager at store selling groceries and sundries)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(sole Ee in dairy department at E's grocery store, held supervisory, where his actions were exercise of supervisory authority and not merely advice of senior Ee, in view of numerous instances in which he disciplined, assigned, and responsibly directed Ees)

Save Mart of Modesto, Inc. JD-(SF)-25-85
(meat department manager at one of E's chain of grocery stores)

8540-5800 Eating and drinking places

Berkeley Marina Restaurant Corporation d/b/a HS Lordships, A Subsidiary of Specialty Restaurant Corporation 274 NLRB No. 178 ]bar manager at bar-restaurant, notwithstanding arguable whether he ever formally accepted promotion to bar manager and spent almost entire workday performing work of bartender, where upon being offered position he assumed additional duties and was accorded privileges, possessed some authority over Ee grievances, oversaw work of Ees and effectively recommended wage increase)

Bombay Palace of Westchester, Inc. JD-(NY)-81-85
[wife of sole owner of restaurant, supervisory where she has authority to hire, grants promotions, authorizes vacations, give instructions to staff, criticizes and compliments their performance, and meets with them to discuss their grievances and problems]

Riverview 5 P's, Inc., t/a Riverview Inn JD-54-86
[chefs, head cooks, and other personnel bearing executive titles in eating and/or hotel establishments]

Statewide Industrial Catering, Inc. JD-(NY)-139-85
[kitchen manager for E engaged in business of providing catering services to public schools]

8540-5900 Miscellaneous retail

Glover Bottled Gas Corp. 275 NLRB No. 096
(sales manager for bottled gas service company who had same authority as when she was office manager, supervisory)

ARA Leisure Services, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 782 F.2d 456 (C.A. 4, Jan. 1986)
[tableheads--venders of novelty items at concesstions at sports areana who had ehlpers who assisted them--held supervisors in employ of E which operated concessions under lease agreement, rather than independent contractors, where leaseholder/operator made payroll dedictions for taxes, social security and workmens' compensation, tableheads completed employment application, signed in and out, abided by company rules, were subject to discipline by E; leaseholder/operator which retained right to control tablehead/helper relationship and received 90% of gross receipts]

8540-6500 Real estate

8540-6500—Cont.

Concourse Village, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 004
(superintendents of individual buildings in cooperative apartment complex, supervisory where they exercise authority to issue disciplinary warnings to maintenance Ees having definite and severe effect on Ees' employment status)

Concourse Village, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 004
(assistant maintenance director of cooperative apartment complex where building superintendents, found supervisory herein, report to him, and he issues disciplinary warnings to maintenance Ees which may result in discharge)

8540-7000 Hotels, rooming houses, camps, and other lodging places

D & D Development Co., Inc. d/b/a Anaheim Town and Country Inn 282 NLRB No. 034
[bookkeeper-assistant manager at company engaged in operating hotel]

Operating Engineers Local 501 (Summa corp. d/b/a Desert Inn Hotel, et al.) 281 NLRB No. 065
[assistant chief engineer employed by E at its hotel and gambling casino held supervisor, since he is in charge of E s operating engineers]

Riverview 5 P's, Inc., t/a Riverview Inn JD-54-86
[chefs, head cooks, and other personnel bearing executive titles in eating and/or hotel establishments]

Youngstown Hospitality Co., d/b/a Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge JD-3-86
[supervisor at motel]

Youngstown Hospitality Co., d/b/a Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge JD-3-86
[night auditor/management trainee at motel]

Knott Hotel Corporation, d/b/a Viscount Hotel at Lax JD-(SF)-92-85
(swing shift supervisor in coffee shop at hotel)

8540-7200 Personal services

The Royal Sonesta, Inc. d/b/a Royal Laundry 277 NLRB No. 085
]supervisors at laundry facility)

8540-7300 Business services

Rapid Armored Truck Corp. 281 NLRB No. 057
[executive vice-president of armored truck company who was in effect in charge of E's overall operations]

Rapid Armored Truck Corp. 281 NLRB No. 057
[account executive at armored truck delivery company who was salaried, whose responsibilities included solicitation of new accounts, pricing contracts, and opening vault, who set up drivers' routes, resolved Ees' problems, and was only responsible official present during 4 to 4-1/2 hours per day and on weekends, thus if he was found not to be supervisor, E would be w/o supervision during those periods]

Rapid Armored Truck Corp. 281 NLRB No. 057
[individual who handled public relations and was sales representative for armored truck delivery company held supervisor, notwithstanding never sole manager present at facility at any given time, since he had authority to assign, reassign, transfer and reprimand Ees, where gave orders to Ee drivers as to their stops and schedules, resolved Ee's security problems and reprimanded Ees for deficiences in performance]

Burns International Security Services, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 070
[lieutenants in guard service held supervisors, and excluded from unit, based on their authority to suspend guards, notwithstanding they had no authority to hire or fire]

Burns International Security Services, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 070
[sergeants in guard service held supervisors, since they played significant role in evaluating and disciplining guards where they trained, retrained, evaluated probabtionary guards, have authority to give oral and writtenreprimands, notwithstanding no authority to suspend Ees]

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(individuals at E engaged in direct mail marketing services who presented Ees with job orders, reported tomanagement on status of jobs, reviewed Ees' work, and during period of U organization were clothed with apparent authority and so positioned by E to be recognized by Ees as its agents with respect to personnel matters, particularly with respect to U organizing efforts)

8540-7500 Automotive repair, services, and garages

Budget Rent A Car of Washington, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 032
(lot supervisor for car rental agency)

Tomco Carburetor Company 275 NLRB No. 001
(foreman at plant which rebuilt carburetors, supervisory, where he made all work assignments, was salaried and paid substantially more than hourly employees, and effectively recommended personnel actions)

8540-7800 Motion pictures

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(advertising coordinator at facility engaged in management of motion picture theaters)

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(assistant to manager of accounts payable for E engaged in management of mtn picture theaters)

Motion Picture Projectionists, Local 150, Stage Employees (Landmark Theatre Corporation) JD-(SF)-36-86
[assistant manager at motion picture theater]

8540-7900 Amusement and recreation services, except motion pictures

Operating Engineers Local 501 (Summa corp. d/b/a Desert Inn Hotel, et al.) 281 NLRB No. 065
[assistant chief engineer employed by E at its hotel and gambling casino held supervisor, since he is in charge of E's operating engineers]

Pioneer Hotel and Gambling Hall, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 072
(lieutenant of security at hotel and gambling casino operation)

Pioneer Hotel and Gambling Hall, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 072
(sous chef at hotel and gambling casino operation)

James Nederlander d/b/a Ned West, Inc., d/b/a Pacific Amphitheatre 276 NLRB No. 008
(treasurer of box office at outdoor concert theater)

American Federation of Musicians; Miami Federal of Musicians, Local 655 (Royal Palm Dinner Theatre, Ltd.) 275 NLRB No. 097
(music director for dinner theatre)

8540-8000 Health services

8540-8050 Nursing and personal care facilities

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[lead housekeeper or homemaker at nursing home]

8540-8060 Hospitals

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[assistant administrator at hospital]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[department heads at hospital]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[obstetrics supervisor at hospital]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[supervisor of emergency room at hospital]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[supervisor of nurses in medical/surgery department at hospital]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[supervisor of ICU-CCU at hospital]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(hospital's clinical coordinators, supervisory where they routinely assigned Ees under hospital's team nursing system, were in charge during their supervisor's absence, were paid at higher rate than nurses, received no overtime pay, evaluated staff for discharge and promotion, and assigned staff activities and responsibilities)

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(hospital's chief anesthetist, supervisory where she effectively supervised ten full-time anesthetists and had discretionary authority to assign them)

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(hospital's assistant director, staff development, supervisory where she effectively recommended Ees for discipline or promotion)

West Florida Hospital, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 177
(evening coordinator in operating room)

8540-8200 Educational services

Programming & Systems, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 157
(department heads, at private educational institution held supervisors where they have and exercise authority in interest of E, control over teachers' lesson plans, conduct in classrooms and affectively recommend retention of teachers in their respective departments)

Programming & Systems, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 157
(part-time data processing teacher held supervisor where he transferred teachers from one assignment to another when necessary, reprimanded teachers and evaluated teachers)

8540-9200 Justice, public order, and safety

Sebco Security Co., Inc. JD-50-85
(position of sergeant at security service)

8560 INDICIA OF NONSUPERVISORY STATUS

8560-0100 Generally

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company — 275 NLRB No. 186

(in determining that assistant manager at coal mine was not supervisory, ALJ relied on Sec. 2(11) of Act rather than state's coal mining law which assertedly should be basis for considering Ee supervisory)

8560-1000 Routine direction derived from skill and experience

Sonat Marine, Inc., Interstate Oil Transportation Co., Mariner Towing Co., IBC Co. — 281 NLRB No. 020

[assistant engineers employed by E engaged in business of transporting petroleum products by tug and barge along East Coast of U.S. not supervisors, since only control they exercise over other Ees or cadets is that derived from their superior experience, and such control does not show supervisory status]

N.L.R.B. v. KDFW-TV, Inc., A division of times Mirror Corporation — 790 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 5, June 1986)

[directors, producers, associate producers and assignment editors employed by TV station, not supervisors, because they possessed none of enumerated statutory powers. Nor did these Ees responsibly direct other Ees exercising independent judgment in doing so. Though incumbents did direct other Ees, to do so responsibly means to be held fully accountable and responsible for work product and performance of other Ees which they were not. Any directions they gave other Ees were in nature of routine technical or aesthetically motivated commands executed by Ees acquainted with production plans]

N.L.R.B. v. Health Care Logistics, Inc. — 784 F.2d 232 (C.A. 6, Feb. 1986)

[assistant shop supervisor employed by manufacturer of medical cabinets, nonsupervisory where he worked alone, his discretion was unrelated to work of fellow Ees, and he passed on routine instructions to Ees or advised them on basis of his seniority and experience also to count him as supervisor would create out of balance supervisor-to-Ee ratio]

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. — 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[2 alleged to be supervisors because of their seniority and engineering experience found to be only leadmen since they do not make assignments in a supervisory capacity. E pays them by the hour and they spend most of their time working with their tools alongside their fellow engineers]

N.L.R.B. v. Island Film Processing Co., Inc., d/b/a Kahala Kai Photo Service — 784 F.2d 1446 (C.A. 9, Mar. 1986)

George C. Foss Company v. N.L.R.B. — 752 F.2d 1407 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1985)

(individual held Ee and not supervisor where he did not exercise authority to hire, fire, transfer, suspend or discharge Ees or adjust grievances notwithstanding he assigned workers to particular jobs w/i project and participated in E's decisions to promote or layoff Ees as work assignments did not involve exercise of independent judgment (received daily instructions from superiors and general contractor) and his alleged effective recommendations about layoffs and promotions were informal discussions with and suggestions to those superiors)

8560-1500 Lack of authority to hire, discipline, assign, etc.

Terraillon Corp. — 280 NLRB No. 037

[clerical did not become supervisor and ineligible to vote upon her promotion to office manager, where her actual duties did not change; her taking calls regarding Ees' absences and keeping leave records were merely ministerial functions, and she had no authority to grant time off or arrange schedules, nor did she hire and fire or effectively recommend doing so]

U.S. Pollution Control, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 042

[pollution control specialist employed by E engaged in hazardous waste disposal not supervisor, notwithstanding he interviewed and recommended hiring casuals who assisted him, where his supervisor made final hiring decision after independent review of casuals' applications, and his role was to ensure personal compatability with casuals assisting him]

Feralloy West Corporation and Pohang Steel America d/b/a Feralloy West Company — 277 NLRB No. 114

]production supervisor at flat-rolled steel processing plant held not supervisory, where he signs and issues written and oral reprimands, but only on plant manager's authority)

Feralloy West Corporation and Pohang Steel America d/b/a Feralloy West Company — 277 NLRB No. 114

]production supervisor at flat-rolled steel processing plant held not supervisory, where he lacked authority to assign overtime work independent of plant manager who decided when and if overtime was to be worked; and in manager's absences, Ee used preestablished seniority list and overtime signup list to make assignments)

Alamo Cement company — 277 NLRB No. 108

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant — 276 NLRB No. 087

(long-time purported head busboy at restaurant who did more than other busboys by serving as interpreter for E and restaurant personnel with Mexican Ees held to have position analogous to that of leadman rather than supervisor; while in some instances he obtained and assessed applicants for busboy positions making incidental and advisory recommendations, he had nothing to do with hiring of several, if not most, busboys, and his additional duty arising from his English and Mexican language ability did not elevate him to supervisory status)

N.L.R.B. v. KDFW-TV, Inc., A division of times Mirror Corporation — 790 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 5, June 1986)

[directors, producers, associate producers and assignment editors employed by TV station, not supervisors, because they possessed none of enumerated statutory powers. Nor did these Ees responsibly direct other Ees exercising independent judgment in doing so. Though incumbents did direct other Ees, to do so responsibly means to be held fully accountable and responsible for work product and performance of other Ees which they were not. Any directions they gave other Ees were in nature of routine technical or aesthetically motivated commands executed by Ees acquainted with production plans]

N.L.R.B. v. Island Film Processing Co., Inc., d/b/a Kahala Kai Photo Service — 784 F.2d 1446 (C.A. 9, Mar. 1986)

8560-2000 Absence of subordinates

Heck's Inc. — 277 NLRB No. 098

(individual held not supervisor during period in which he worked alone in department after individuals he had supervised had been removed)

N.L.R.B. v. Health Care Logistics, Inc. — 784 F.2d 232 (C.A. 6, Feb. 1986)

[assistant shop supervisor employed by manufacturer of medical cabinets, nonsupervisory where he worked alone, his discretion was unrelated to work of fellow Ees, and he passed on routine instructions to Ees or advised them on basis of his seniority and experience also to count him as supervisor would create out of balance supervisor-to-Ee ratio]

8560-2800 Performance of duties directed toward quality of patient care

Eskaton Sunrise Community — 279 NLRB No. 012

[persons in health care jobs who give direction to other Ees and perform tasks in exercise of their professional judgment incidental to treatment of patients are not statutory supervisors]

Beverly Enterprises d/b/a Beverly Manor Convalescent Centers — 275 NLRB No. 131

(LPN charge nurses held not supervisors where they perform tasks involving patient care including direction of aides that are technical in nature involving use of independent judgment. In exercising such judgment, LPNs are not aligned with management but with Ees since such direction as contingent and accessory to exercise of professional care in treating patients which is not exercise of authority motivated by E's interest. Furthermore, they only call in Ees to work pursuant to formulated policies)

8560-3000 Direction of occasional or temporary helpers

George C. Foss Company v. N.L.R.B. — 752 F.2d 1407 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1985)

(individual held Ee and not supervisor where he did not exercise authority to hire, fire, transfer, suspend or discharge Ees or adjust grievances notwithstanding he assigned workers to particular jobs w/i project and participated in E's decisions to promote or layoff Ees as work assignments did not involve exercise of independent judgment (received daily instructions from superiors and general contractor) and his alleged effective recommendations about layoffs and promotions were informal discussions with and suggestions to those superiors)

8560-4000 Relaying of orders and information; assignment of work

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation — 278 NLRB No. 014

[assisting supervisor by intermittedly getting work for Ees who needed it, ministerial, routine function]

Feralloy West Corporation and Pohang Steel America d/b/a Feralloy West Company — 277 NLRB No. 114

]production supervisor at flat-rolled steel processing plant held not supervisory, where his assignment of work did not require use of independent judgment but involved routine and clerical duties, merely serving as conduit for management instructions)

8560-4000—Cont.

Feralloy West Corporation and Pohang Steel America d/b/a Feralloy West Company 277 NLRB No. 114
[production supervisor at flat-rolled steel processing plant held not supervisory, since his assignment of work was exercised sporadically and irregularly in routine manner involving no use of independent judgment, where he had limited authority, in plant manager's rare absences, to fill position of absent Ee or to transfer Ees to higher paying position for short periods)

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(temporary manager at coal mine not supervisory where he was mere conduit in relaying manager's orders)

Beverly Enterprises d/b/a Beverly Manor Convalescent Centers 275 NLRB No. 131
(LPN charge nurses held not supervisors where they perform tasks involving patient care including direction of aides that are technical in nature involving use of independent judgment. In exercising such judgment, LPNs are not aligned with management but with Ees since such direction as contingent and accessory to exercise of professional care in treating patients which is not exercise of authority motivated by E's interest. Furthermore, they only call in Ees to work pursuant to formulated policies)

N.L.R.B. v. KDFW-TV, Inc., A division of times Mirror Corporation 790 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 5, June 1986)
[assignment editors at TV station not supervisors, though able to change assignments, since they could only do so in absence of their supervisor, and supervisor could subsequently overrule change]

8560-5000 Limited or sporadic exercise of supervisory power

Opelika Foundry 281 NLRB No. 121
[individual with statutory supervisory authority does not lose his/her status simply because they infrequently exercise their authority]

Williamson Piggly Wiggly, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 125
[office manager at retail grocery store who performed bookkeeping work, and occassionally filled in for supervisors, where she had no authority to hire, fire, transfer, suspend, or discipline Ees; nor did her occassional exercise of supervisory authority when filling in for supervisors make her supervisor under Act]

Latas De Aluminio Reynolds, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 147
(substituting for supervisor while supervisors were on vacation or away receiving training for 2 weeks in one year and 4 to 5 months in following year, held Ee rather than supervisor and challenge overruled, in absence of regularity of substitution, since sporadic assumption of supervisory duties, during vacation periods of supervisor is not sufficient to establish supervisory status; further, unlike supervisor, Ee was paid on weekly basis, received shift differential, punched timecard, and was assigned toolbox)

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant 276 NLRB No. 087
(Ee who acted as hostess-cashier at restaurant held not supervisory where she acted in that capacity irregularly and sporadically, approximately once or twice a month)

Beverly Enterprises d/b/a Beverly Manor Convalescent Centers 275 NLRB No. 131
(LPN charge nurses held not supervisors where they perform tasks involving patient care including direction of aides that are technical in nature involving use of independent judgment. In exercising such judgment, LPNs are not aligned with management but with Ees since such direction as contingent and accessory to exercise of professional care in treating patients which is not exercise of authority motivated by E's interest. Furthermore, they only call in Ees to work pursuant to formulated policies)

Blue Island Newspaper Printing, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 208
(individual found nonsupervisory where she occasionally and on an irregular, rather than a scheduled, basis substituted for absent supervisors but did not spend a regular and substantial portion of her working time performing supervisory tasks)

8560-6000 Substitution for supervisor

Williamson Piggly Wiggly, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 125
[office manager at retail grocery store who performed bookkeeping work, and occassionally filled in for supervisors, where she had no authority to hire, fire, transfer, suspend, or discipline Ees; nor did her occassional exercise of supervisory authority when filling in for supervisors make her supervisor under Act]

Alamo Cement company 277 NLRB No. 108

Alert Steel Products Company JD-39-85
(substitute for supervisor during latter's vacation who performed no duties peculiar to supervisors, not supervisory)

8560-8000 Making of factual reports

Feralloy West Corporation and Pohang Steel America d/b/a Feralloy West Company 277 NLRB No. 114
[production supervisor at flat-rolled steel processing plant held not supervisory, where he did not make effective recommendations to discipline Ees but instead performed essentially clerical function of keeping record of absences and tardiness which he submitted to plant manager who, while making no independent investigation, reviewed submitted records and approved issuance of reprimands; thus, Ee's recommendation of discipline amounted to nothing more than relaying of information to manager)

8560-9000 Recommendations reviewed by supervisors

Feralloy West Corporation and Pohang Steel America d/b/a Feralloy West Company 277 NLRB No. 114
[production supervisor at flat-rolled steel processing plant held not supervisory, where he did not make effective recommendations to discipline Ees but instead performed essentially clerical function of keeping record of absences and tardiness which he submitted to plant manager who, while making no independent investigation, reviewed submitted records and approved issuance of reprimands; thus, Ee's recommendation of discipline amounted to nothing more than relaying of information to manager)

N.L.R.B. v. KDFW-TV, Inc., A division of times Mirror Corporation 790 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 5, June 1986)
[assignment editors at TV station not supervisors, though able to change assignments, since they could only do so in absence of their supervisor, and supervisor could subsequently overrule change]

George C. Foss Company v. N.L.R.B. 752 F.2d 1407 (C.A. 9, Jan. 1985)
(individual held Ee and not supervisor where he did not exercise authority to hire, fire, transfer, suspend or discharge Ees or adjust grievances notwithstanding he assigned workers to particular jobs w/i project and participated in E's decisions to promote or layoff Ees as work assignments did not involve exercise of independent judgment (received daily instructions from superiors and general contractor) and his alleged effective recommendations about layoffs and promotions were informal discussions with and suggestions to those superiors)

8580 TYPES OF EMPLOYEES FOUND NONSUPERVISORY (BY SIC)

8580-1200 Bituminous coal and lignite mining

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(temporary manager at coal mine)

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(individual at coal mine holding title of mine manager and mine examiner)

8580-1700 Construction - special trade contractors

Cherokee Heating and Air Conditioning Co. 280 NLRB No. 044
[head of sales service department of heating and air conditioning company, not supervisor, notwithstanding her override commission on department sales and fact she was held out to Ees as supervisor, where she received same pay as other sales representatives, her record keeping, reporting, and expense reimbursement authorizations were routine and ministerial, and she was granted no specific supervisory authority]

The Zack Company 278 NLRB No. 134
[foreman of sheet metal subcontractor at construction site]

McEver Engineering, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 128
(leadman for company engaged in engineering and construction business)

Local Union No. 246, Plumbers (Ray M. Marlin, a sole proprietor d/b/a Marlin Mechanical) JD-(SF)-23-86
[journeyman plumber for plumbing contractor in building construction industry]

8580-2000 Food and kindred products

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84
(individual who acted as interpreter during hiring of Spanish speaking individuals and who was used as conduit to convey instructions to Spanish speaking Ees, but exercised no control over Ees and possessed none of the indicia of supervisor)

8580-2300 Apparel and other finished products made from fabrics and similar materials

Polymer Prints Ltd. Formerly Known as Subliflex, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 068
[printing machine operator at manufacturer of custom prints in garment industry]

8580-2300—Cont.

Judy Hornby Designs, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 168
[machinist at garment manufacturer, notwithstanding paid higher than other machinists, and assisted other Ees, since she had no authority to hire or fire nor exercised independent judgment]

8580-2700 Printing, publishing, and allied industries

Bowne of Houston, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 132
[assistant foreman in composing department of E engaged in legal and financial printing]

8580-3000 Rubber and miscellaneous plastics products

Reeves Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 153
[technician for E engaged in manufacture of chemical foam products]

8580-3200 Stone, clay, glass, and concrete products

Alamo Cement company 277 NLRB No. 108
(assistant chief chemist at cement manufacturing plant, nonsupervisory where he spent most of his time doing unit work, lacked authority to hire and discharge or other supervisory authority, and, although he substituted for chief chemist in latter's absence, merely acted as experienced operator helping less experienced Ees)

Alamo Cement Company 277 NLRB No. 034
(control operators at cement plant, nonsupervisory where they had been so found in prior Bd case, their duties remained the same, and, with one exception, all material evidence was available and could have been litigated in prior proceeding; moreover, evidence showed them only as experienced technical Ees giving directions to Ees who were not directly responsible to them)

Marion Center Supply, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 026
(individual employed by E which sells ready-mix concrete, pre-cast concrete products and other building supplies and hauls coal and related products, and works 4-1/2 days out of 5 as a driver, mechanic, batch plant operator and yard worker, non-supervisory)

8580-3300 Primary metal industries

Feralloy West Corporation and Pohang Steel America d/b/a Feralloy West Company 277 NLRB No. 114
[production supervisor at flat-rolled steel processing plant)

8580-3400 Fabricated metal products, except machinery and transportation equipment

Chicago Metallic Corporation 273 NLRB No. 207
(assistant leadman employed by E engaged in manufacture and distribution of cross-T's and main runners for acoustic ceilings, nonsupervisory)

B & W Machine & Welding Company JD-(SF)-107-86
[most senior machinist at machine shop]

N.L.R.B. v. Chicago Metallic Corporation 794 F.2d 527 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[assistant production leadman and maintenance leadman for manufacturer of steel superstructure for ceilings]

8580-3500 Machinery, except electrical

Gatliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 060
(dispatcher of technicians for E engaged in selling, servicing, and renting business copying machines, nonsupervisory where her direction of and assignment of work to technicians was routine, her inquiries as to their arrival were made at direction of an officer, and her reports were compilations of statistics about technicians' operations w/o conclusions as to quality of their work)

Gatliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 060
(director of technical services for E engaged in selling, servicing, and renting business copying machines, nonsupervisory notwithstanding fact that he, as well as managers, interviewed technicians applying for jobs and once effectively recommended hiring one of them, since these actions reflected his seniority and experience rather than supervisory responsibility in absence of other supervisory authority)

8580-3700 Transportation equipment

Advance Development & Manufacturing Corporation 275 NLRB No. 036
(foreman at machine shop for E specializing in producing launching and arresting gear for aircraft carriers)

Zemco Manufacturing Company JD-446-84
(quality control inspector who was also shipping clerk for manufacturer of truck chassis parts)

Zemco Manufacturing Company JD-446-84
(setup men who were leadmen in fittings department of manufacturer of truck chassis parts)

Zemco Manufacturing Company JD-446-84
(welder who was leadman for manufacturer of truck chassis parts)

Zemco Manufacturing Company JD-446-84
(setup and maintenance man for manufacturer of truck chassis parts)

8580-3900 Miscellaneous manufacturing industries

Gull, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 127
[lead man at plant manufacturing indicators and other electronic instruments for military and commercial aircraft]

8580-4200 Motor freight transportation and warehousing

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(assistant dispatcher at trucking company who fulfilled dispatcher's duties in absence of dispatcher, held not supervisor, inasmuch as dispatcher was held not to be supervisor)

8580-4400 Water transportation

Sonat Marine, Inc., Interstate Oil Transportation Co., Mariner Towing Co., IBC Co. 281 NLRB No. 020
[assistant engineers employed by E engaged in business of transporting petroleum products by tug and barge along East Coast of U.S. not supervisors, since only control they exercise over other Ees or cadets is that derived from their superior experience, and such control does not show supervisory status]

McAllister Brothers Inc. and Outreach Marine Corporation, Alter Egos 278 NLRB No. 091
[tugboat captains held Ees w/i meaning of Section 2(3) of the Act where over 90% of their work was performed w/i a harbor where captains maintained constant radio contact with shore-based supervisors]

8580-4800 Communication

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[production director of commercials to be broadcast by country music radio station, not supervisor where he prepared commercials himself or assigned their preparation to other individuals by whom he was assisted but for whose work he was not responsible, since he lacked any supervisory indicia and did not even routinely direct them]

KBMS, Inc., A Subsidiary of Century Broadcasting Corporation 278 NLRB No. 118
[Radio Station News Director]

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121
(shop manager employed by E engaged in sale, leasing and servicing of communication devices)

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121
(head bookkeeper employed by E engaged in sale, leasing and servicing of communication devices)

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121
(office manager employed by E engaged in sale, leasing and servicing of communication devices)

N.L.R.B. v. KDFW-TV, Inc., A division of times Mirror Corporation 790 F.2d 1273 (C.A. 5, June 1986)
[directors, producers, associate producers and assignment editors employed by TV station, not supervisors, because they possessed none of enumerated statutory powers. Nor did these Ees responsibly direct other Ees exercising independent judgment in doing so. Though incumbents did direct other Ees, to do so responsibly means to be held fully accountable and responsible for work product and performance of other Ees which they were not. Any directions they gave other Ees were in nature of routine technical or aesthetically motivated commands executed by Ees acquainted with production plans]

8580-4900 Electric, gas, and sanitary services

U.S. Pollution Control, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 042
[pollution control specialist employed by E engaged in hazardous waste disposal not supervisor, notwithstanding he interviewed and recommended hiring casuuals who assisted him, where his supervisor made final hiring decision after independent review of casuals' applications, and his role was to ensure personal compatability with casuals assisting him]

The Detroit Edison Company 275 NLRB No. 158
(group leader under meter-reading supervisor at electric utility)

8580-5100 Wholesale trade - nondurable goods

C & L Warehouse & Distributing Corp. 275 NLRB No. 148
(warehouse checker of E engaged in warehousing and distributing of wearing apparel nonsupervisory notwithstanding family relationship to management)

8580-5400 Food stores

Williamson Piggly Wiggly, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 125
[office manager at retail grocery store who performed bookkeeping work, and occassionally filled in for supervisors, where she had no authority to hire, fire, transfer, suspend, or discipline Ees; nor did her occassional exercise of supervisory authority when filling in for supervisors make her supervisor under Act]

8580-5400—Cont.

Williamson Piggly Wiggly, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 125
[produce manager at retail grocery store who never bargained with suppliers, did not set prices on produce, had no authority to schedule, nor hire, transfer, fire, authorize raises or effectively recommend any of the above]

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(meat department managers at grocery stores)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
]stock manager or head stock clerk at grocery store who was nothing more than glorified stocker)

8580-5800 Eating and drinking places

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant 276 NLRB No. 087
(hostess-cashier at restaurant)

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant 276 NLRB No. 087
(purported heal busboy at restaurant)

Bonanza Sirloin Pit 275 NLRB No. 54
(assistant manager at public restaurant)

8580-5900 Miscellaneous retail

Glover Bottled Gas Corp. 275 NLRB No. 096
(senior clerk in collection department of bottled gas service company who declined E's offer of position of credit manager, nonsupervisory)

N.L.R.B. v. Island Film Processing Co., Inc., d/b/a Kahala Kai Photo Service 784 F.2d 1466 (C.A. 9, Mar. 1986)
[part-time checker for E selling souvenir photographs to tourists, nonsupervisory, notwithstanding his alleged pre-election conversion to salaried manager, where he never took action in unusual circumstance w/o consulting E as to how to proceed, never effectively recommended hiring, firing, or increasing pay of Ees, and testified that he became an on call Ee]

8580-6500 Real estate

Concourse Village, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 004
(handymen who substitute for building superintendents who are supervisors, found nonsupervisory, since they assume none of the superintendents' supervisory authority when substituting for them)

Chaim Babad, Bernard Steinmetz and Emanuel Steinmetz, A Co-Partnership d/b/a I.R.R. Realty Co. 273 NLRB No. 189
(superintendent at apartment building)

8580-7000 Hotels, rooming houses, camps, and other lodging places

Joseph A. Perry d/b/a Holiday Inn-Glendale 277 NLRB No. 145
(assistant housekeepers in hotel found nonsupervisory where they had to consult with higher management when any problems arose)

Youngstown Hospitality Co., d/b/a Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge JD-3-86
[sales representative at motel]

8580-7300 Business services

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[lead computer operator at E who provided computerized data processing and related services, where he continued to punch time clock whereas supervisors did not, was not given any pay differential]

Tecom, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 038
]support section work leader at E engaged in providing maintenance services to U.S. National Emergency Training Center)

8580-8000 Health services

8580-8050 Nursing and personal care facilities

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[persons in health care jobs who give direction to other Ees and perform tasks in exercise of their professional judgment incidental to treatment of patients are not statutory supervisors]

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[mere evaluation by licensed vocational nurse employed at nursing home of lower care practitioners held not sufficient to establish supervisory status]

Beverly Enterprises d/b/a Beverly Manor Convalescent Centers 275 NLRB No. 131
(LPN charge nurses held not supervisors where they perform tasks involving patient care including direction of aides that are technical in nature involving use of independent judgment. In exercising such judgment, LPNs are not aligned with management but with Ees since such direction as contingent and accessory to exercise of professional care in treating patients which is not exercise of authority motivated by E's interest. Furthermore, they only call in Ees to work pursuant to formulated policies)

Beverly Enterprises d/b/a Beverly Manor Convalescent Centers 275 NLRB No. 131
(LPN charge nurses performing minor admonitory role by making verbal corrections does not rise to level of participation in disciplinary action to confer supervisory status and neither does handling grievances by relying on personal relationships to Ees to resolve problems informally where, if not so resolved, problems are reported to higher authority)

8580-8060 Hospitals

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(hospital's infection control coordinator, nonsupervisory where she effectively recommended changes but lacked authority to direct or discipline Ees or correct their mistakes)

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(hospital's staff development instructor, nonsupervisory where she assisted in the supervising of activities of educational programs and teaching but was not shown to have supervisory authority otherwise)

Western Medical Enterprises, Inc., d/b/a ARA Living Center, Verdugo Vista Convalescent Hospital JD-(SF)-54-85
(individual employed as assistant director of nursing who screened applicants for employment, made changes in Ees' work schedules and had authority to grant overtime, held not statutory supervisor, since screening of applicants was routine clerical function, changing work schedules was simply ministerial task of following policy set by E and individual had never exercised authority to grant Ees overtime)

8580-8200 Educational services

Programming & Systems, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 157
(student counselor, who checked students' attendance records with aid of 2 clerks not supervisor, since evidence presented that Ee never exercised any supervisory authority but merely worked with clerks in order to better serve needs of students at E school)

N.L.R.B. v. The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art 783 F.2d 29 (C.A. 2, Jan. 1986)
[faculty members of private, non-profit, educational institution, Ees rather than managers or supervisors, where they were not aligned with management and did not effectively recommend or exercise control over academic or nonacademic affairs, and administration implemented changes in such core academic areas as curriculum and unilaterally revised governances and terms and conditions of employment]

8580-8900 Miscellaneous services

Volt Information Sciences, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 047
(self-taught technician servicing camera equipment and leads who passed on supervisor's orders, assigned work and did some preliminary interviewing of applicants for E engaged in providing information sciences field services found nonsupervisory)

9300 'PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYEES'

9700 HEALTH CARE INSTITUTIONS

9701 GENERALLY

Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 121
(primary focus of legislative debates surrounding 1974 health care amendments was the need to avoid interruptions in the delivery of health care services and towards this end, Congress provided in 8(g) that special strike notice provisions be applicable and cautioned Bd not to allow undue proliferation of bargaining units; Congress further indicated that term health care institution should be construed broadly, Albany Medical College 239 NLRB 853, overruled)

9712 HOSPITALS

Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 121
(contention that Ees of hospital share community of interest separate from college and unit limited to hospital Ees is only appropriate unit, rejected and appropriate unit includes Ees of hospital and college, since hospital and college combined is health care institution w/i meaning of 2(14) of Act where Ees in several departments serve both hospital and college in highly integrated manner and because a strike among any group of Ees would have profound effect upon functioning of hospital, policy dictates that no lone between college and hospital be drawn; Albany Medical College, 239 NLRB 853, overruled)

188 AUTHORITY AND STRUCTURE OF NLRB AS AGENCY

0100 GENERALLY

2000 ADMINISTRATIVE PROCEDURE ACT REQUIREMENTS

Iron Workers, Local No. 111 v. N.L.R.B. 792 F.2d 241 (C.A. D.C., June 1986)

[primary purpose of APA requirement that agency's decisions include reasons or basis for its conclusions on all material issues of law is to impose discipline upon agency itself, assuring that it has undergone process of reasoned decision-making rather than haphazardly reached result that could (on one or another basis of analysis) be sustained; to achieve primary purpose, post hoc rationalization of why agency could have come out the way it did will not suffice]

Iron Workers, Local No. 111 v. N.L.R.B. 792 F.2d 241 (C.A. D.C., June 1986)

[in finding that Bd failed to meet APA requirement that agency's decision include its reasons or basis for its conclusions, ct held case herein was not one where legal issue raised is not substantial, e.g., there is no apparent conflict in earlier cases or reasons for departure therefrom are clear so that issue would not be material w/i meaning of APA, or failure to address it would come w/i meaning of APA's exemption of harmless error]

4000 RELATIONSHIP TO OTHER GOVERNMENTAL AGENCIES

Louton, Inc., t/a/ The Original Oyster House 281 NLRB No. 154

[Bd to furnish IRS with copy of supplemental decision in view of claimant's income tax disclosures contrary to factual findings concerning his tip income]

4050 OTHER FACTFINDING AGENCIES

4050-3300 Board not bound by findings of state unemployment compensation tribunal

Garrison Valley Center, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 164

(state agency's decision (Maryland Dept. of Employment and Training Board of Appeals) which found Ee quilty of gross misconduct, not controlling (on Bd), since determination rendered under statute with different definitions, policies, and purpose from NLRA; Bd decision, as well as that of ALJ must be based upon independent consideration and evaluation of the evidence received in this ULP proceeding)

Rayglo Corporation d/b/a The Dirt Digger, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 157

(unemployment compensation decision, in claim resulting from same picketing protesting change of working conditions involved in ULP charge and which held that Ees had voluntarily quit, not determinative of what constitutes quit under NLRA, and although decision admitted into evidence, not controlling on issue of whether Ees quit or were discharged)

6000 THE BOARD

6001 GENERALLY

6001-5000 Responsible for development of national policy under NLRA

Operating Engineers Local 501 (Summa corp. d/b/a Desert Inn Hotel, et al.) 281 NLRB No. 065

[where conflict exists between Bd's and ct decision, ALJ must follow Bd]

Glaziers Local Union 558 v. N.L.R.B. 787 F.2d 1406 (C.A. 10, Mar. 1986)

[Bd has authority to apply general presumptions as part of its responsibility to formulate rules to fill interstices of broad statutory provisions of the Act; however, only if presumption is rational and consistent with the Act and its application is supported by substantial evidence on the record as a whole will an order of the Bd be enforced]

6033 AUTHORITY UNDER STATUTE

6033-2000 Conduct elections and certify results

N.L.R.B. v. Rhone-Poulenc, Inc. 789 F.2d 188 (C.A. 3, Apr. 1986)

[Rules with respect to filing objection to election conduct and mentod of investigating them, are all Bd made rules. Bd has discretion to interpret those rules as requiring strict compliance. NLRA confers on Bd, not on cts, responsibility for supervising choice of bargaining representative]

Smith and Smith Aircraft Company v. N.L.R.B. ———F.2d——— (C.A. 10, May 1984)

[Congress has entrusted Bd with wide degree of discretion in establishing procedure and safeguards necessary to insure fair and free choice of bargaining representatives by Ees]

6033-4000 Adjudicate ULP allegations

6033-4001 Generally

Thomas Steel Company 281 NLRB No. 060

[E's request for award of attorney's fees and costs in responding to the General Counsel's bad faith exceptions in ULP case, denied, since such claim can only be filed under EAJA]

N.L.R.B. v. Local 1131, Local 1161, Auto Workers 777 F.2d 1131 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

[determination of what circumstances justify discrimination inherent in any award of superseniority, w/i Bd's discretion]

Adventist Living Centers, Inc. d/b/a River Pines Community Health Center v. N.L.R.B. ——— F.Supp.———(DC N.D. IL, Mar. 1985)

[developing a factual record in a labor dispute is a task peculiarly w/i the competence of the Bd]

6033-4050 Not affected by other means of adjustment or prevention

Wolverine Porcelain Enameling Company and Gregory Crampton, Its Trustee in Bankruptcy Under Chapter 7 of The Bankruptcy Act JD-299-85

(Bd has authority to adjudicate acts alleged to be ULPs that occurred prior to petition for bankruptcy)

6033-6000 Prescribe remedies

6033-6001 Generally

Ohio Container Service, Inc.; Myron E. Wasserman, Trustee in Bankruptcy 277 NLRB No. 025

(GC's issuing of backpay specification prior to entry of Bd's order directing payment of backpay or ct decree enforcing such order, upheld since parties had reached stipulation on amounts of backpay, which they would have been free to do even absent backpay specification)

John Cuneo, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 012

(U did not have right to challenge failure of GC to include additional claimant in backpay specification; Bd had delegated to GC authority to carry out its intent that its orders be properly implemented and U failed to take timely appeal to Bd from GC's determination)

N.L.R.B. v. Local 1131, Local 1161, Auto Workers 777 F.2d 1131 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

[U's contention that its filing of a grievance cannot be basis for ULP charge, rejected, since Bd is fully empowered to enjoin pursuit of a grievance where its object is enforcement of illegal contractual provision such as that he rein granting U officials superseniority solely because of their status]

6033-6001-6700 Authority under Section 10(c)

Martin J. Barry Company 278 NLRB No. 056

[order directing E, who was admitted Burns successor, to execute and implement contract agreed to by predecessor and make Ees whole for failure to so implement, contravened 10(c) of the Act and Bd was w/o remedial autority to so order, since, under principles of H.K. Porter, 397 U.S. 99 (1970), Bd lacks remedial authority to impose contractual terms involuntarily on either party to a collective bargaining agreement]

6033-8000 Rulemaking authority

6033-8050 Specific rules (see also subject matter affected by rule)

6033-8050-2118 Rule 102.118

Malta Construction Company 276 NLRB No. 171
(Rule 102.118(a) clearly provides GC with obligation to refuse to disclose certain evidence unless excepted by Sec. (b) or (c))

6067 DELEGATION OF AUTHORITY

6067-6000 To Regional Directors

Coastside Scavenger Company 273 NLRB No. 198

Telephone Commerical Employees Union v. Arthur Eisenberg, RD (NLRB) 587 F.Supp. 546 (DC E.D. IL, July 1984)
[Section 3(b) of the Act provides Bd may review any action of RD delegated to him]

6067-7000 To executive secretary

National Brands of Ft. Lauderdale, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 089
(mtn for summary judgment in ULP proceeding granted, notwithstanding E's argument that Bd's Associate Executive Secretary had no standing, in underlying R case, to deny mtn to reopen record on alleged misrepresentations in pre-election letter, since Associate Executive Secretary, who signed denial of mtn, did so by direction of the Board

6067-8000 To General Counsel

John Cuneo, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 012
(U did not have right to challenge failure of GC to include additional claimant in backpay specification; Bd had delegated to GC authority to carry out its intent that its orders be properly implemented and U failed to take timely appeal to Bd from GC's determination)

Coastside Scavenger Company 273 NLRB No. 198

7500 QUORUM REQUIREMENTS

8000 THE GENERAL COUNSEL

8033 STATUTORY AUTHORITY

8033-3300 Final authority to investigate charges and issue complaints

Worcester Steel Erectors v. N.L.R.B. ———F.2d——— (C.A. 1, Jan. 1986)
[decision not to issue C is unreviewable by cts]

8033-3301 Generally

Dubose Masonry, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 125
[notwithstanding charge filed against E and U for latter demanding and former discharging Ee for not being member of U in right to work state and RD issued C against E only, independent resolution of instant C against E proper and appropriate, since there is no showing, in instant case that RD has improperly failed to issue C in pending charge against U or that it has improperly failed to seek consolidation of these matters for hearing]

Coastside Scavenger Company 273 NLRB No. 198

8033-3375 Dismissal of charge not reviewable by courts

John J. Fuller v. N.L.R.B. ——— F.Supp.———(DC MA, Mar. 1986)

8033-6700 Exclusive authority to prosecute complaint

John J. Fuller v. N.L.R.B. ——— F.Supp.———(DC MA, Mar. 1986)

John J. Fuller v. N.L.R.B. ——— F.Supp. ——— (DC MA, Mar. 1986)

8033-6733 Controls theory of case

Suburban Transit Corp. and Suburban Trails, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 005
(charging party though he raised allegation of alter ego in charge cannot advance this theory to ALJ as GC did not allege such status in C, at trial or posthearing briefs and GC controls theory of case)

8033-6767 Sole authority to amend complaint

Suburban Transit Corp. and Suburban Trails, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 005

Save Mart of Modesto, Inc. JD-(SF)-25-85

200 NLRB JURISDICTION

201 GENERALLY

3300 POLICY OF BOARD

6700 EFFECT OF PRIOR DECISIONS

Imperial House Condominium, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 154

[E's contention in case involving issue of Bd's jurisdiction over E's operation that prior Bd decision extending jurisdiction to include operation similar to that of E did not constitute precedent because E and U therein agreed that Bd should assert jurisdiction, rejected]

6750 PRIOR DECISIONS NOT CONTROLLING

Trustee of St. Joseph's College 282 NLRB No. 009

[to extent that Barber-Scotia College, 245 NLRB 406 (1979) and similar cases stand for proposition that Catholic Bishop of Chicago, 440 U.S. 490 (1979), does not apply to colleges and universities they are overruled]

N.L.R.B. v. Wayne Transportation, A Division of Wayne Corporation, and Auto Workers, UAW Local 721 776 F.2d 745 (C.A. 7, Nov. 1985)

[ct cases decided before adoption of new rule by Bd are not controlling on cts concerning legality of new rule]

Kenneth P. Prill v. N.L.R.B. 755 F.2d 941 (C.A.D.C., Feb. 1984)

(it is not responsibility of cts to second-guess lawful judgments of Bd which has been granted broad authority to construe Act in light of its expertise and, in appropriate circumstances, Bd may even elect to abandon or modify established precedent; however, judicial deference is not accorded Bd decision when it acts pursuant to erroneous view of law and, as a consequence, fails to exercise discretion delegated to it by Congress)

8300 TIMELINESS OF RAISING ISSUE

220 STATUTORY JURISDICTION

0100 GENERALLY

Volunteers of America, Los Angeles v. N.L.R.B. 777 F.2d 1386 (C.A. 9, Dec. 1985)

[Bd is empowered to prevent the commission of ULPs by any persons...affecting commerce, and since the Act does not specifically exempt nonprofit charitable organizations, the Bd has held that it has jurisdiction over such Es]

2500 PREEMPTION OF JURISDICTION OVER SUBJECT MATTER REGULATED BY ACT

2525 BOARD HAS EXCLUSIVE JURISDICTION IN ENFORCING ACT

2525-0100 Generally

N.L.R.B. v. Superior Fowarding, Inc. 762 F.2d 695 (C.A. 8, May 1985)

(whether alleged ULP stems from debtor's rejection or modification of bargaining agreement or from debtor's failure to bargain over terms of new contract, is question of contract construction, one of law, to be determined by bankruptcy ct when debtor petitions ct to enjoin Bd proceedings notwithstanding contention that Bd is exclusive forum for determining whether conduct falls w/i Bildisco protected conduct)

2525-2000 Centralized administration necessary to obtain uniform national labor policy

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[E's insurance claim, pursuant to self-funded (by E) disability plan in collective-bargaining agreement which established disability grievance procedure culminating in final and binding arbitration, dismissed for failure to make use of grievance procedure in agreement; questions relating to what parties to agreement agreed and what legal consequences were intended to flow from breaches of agreement, must be resolved by reference to uniform federal law rather than state tort law]

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[Sec. 301 (of NLRA) does not grant parties to collective-bargaining agreement ability to contract for what is illegal under state law; questions of contract interpretation, therefore underlie any finding of tort liability, regardless that state ct may choose to define tort as independent of any contract question; Congress has mandated that federal law govern meaning given contract terms in order to have unified federal body of labor-contract law]

2525-4000 Not subject to other means of adjustment or prevention established by agreement, laws, or otherwise

Retail Delivery Drivers, Driver-Salesmen, and Helpers Local 278, a/w Teamsters (Labor Management Services, Inc. d/b/a L.M.S. Company) JD-(SF)-61-85

(U insisting upon application of bargaining agreement, including U-security provisions, to E's Ees at new location, violative, as this same issue was subject of UC proceeding in which RD held there was no accretion. E under no obligation to go to arbitration after UC proceeding though contract provides for arbitration)

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)

[Bd has statutory duty to enforce Act and exclusive jurisdiction to decide ULPs; Bd may not avoid this responsibility through far reaching deferral policy which apparently presumes that ULP claim has been resolved through arbitration]

2525-6000 Board jurisdiction not ousted because suit also arises under section 301(a)

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[E's insurance claim, pursuant to self-funded (by E) disability plan in collective-bargaining agreement which established disability grievance procedure culminating in final and binding arbitration, dismissed for failure to make use of grievance procedure in agreement; questions relating to what parties to agreement agreed and what legal consequences were intended to flow from breaches of agreement, must be resolved by reference to uniform federal law rather than state tort law]

Longshoremen's ILA, Local 32 v. Pacific Maritime Association and Cresent City Marine Ways and Drydock Company, Inc. (NLRB) 773 F.2d 1012 (C.A. 9, Oct. 1985)

[there was no reasonable basis in law for U's grievance and Sec. 301 suit, since it is well established that the supremacy doctrine bars arbitrator from making award inconsistent with Bd's 10(k) determination]

2525-7000 Board proceedings not stayed pending bankruptcy proceeding involving respondent

N.L.R.B. v. Bildisco & Bildisco, Debtor-in-Possession, et al. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1984)

[Bd is precluded from, in effect, enforcing terms of collective-bargaining agreement by filing ULP charges against debtor-in-possession for violating Sec. 8(d) of NLRA by modifying or terminating unexpired labor agreement. Though Bd's action is nominally one to enforce Sec. 8(d), practical effect of enforcement action would be to require adherence to terms of agreement, but filing of ptn in bankruptcy means that agreement is no longer enforceable. Consequently, Bd enforcement under these circumstances would run directly counter to express provisions of Bankruptcy Code]

Rector Engineering and Development Corporation; Rector Engineering and Development Corporation, Debtor-in-Possession 281 NLRB No. 146

[E's contention in ULP proceeding on GC's mtn for summary judgment, that bankruptcy ptn excused its failure to file ans and nevertheless, Bd was obligated to file claim with bankruptcy ct rather than litigate ULP, rejected; E's uncertain financial condition does not constitute good cause for failure to file ans and it is well established that ULP proceedings are exempt from automatic stay provisions of bankruptcy law]

Haug-N-Action, Inc. & J. L. Excavating, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 013

[C alleging 8(a)(5) violations during pendency of bankruptcyy proceedings of E which continued to do business until proceedings were converted to Chapter 7 liquidation, dismissed as to that E, since, for that relevant period Bd had no jurisdiction over its obligations under executory contract absent evidence it did not agree to assume the contract in Chapter 11 proceedings; however, absent evidence that E's alter ego was brought w/i bankruptcy proceedings' jurisdiction, Bd adopted that part of ALJ's recommended order that alter ego recognize and bargain with U]

Antoine's Inc., A California Corporation, d/b/a Antoine's of Beverly Hills 280 NLRB No. 142

[mtn for summary judgment granted where respondent's answer to Notice to Show Cause stated it had filed bankruptcy ptn but failed to deny committing ULP or explain failure to contact Regional Office about answer or extension of time to file answer, and instituting bankruptcy proceedings does not deprive Bd of jurisdiction or authority to process ULP case to final disposition; Bd proceedings fall w/i 11 USC Sec. 362(b)(4) and (5) exception to automatic stay provision for governmental unit proceedings to enforce its police or regulatory powers]

Michels Rena, and Its Alter Ego, Ritz Style Merchandising, Inc., T/A Ritz Style Fashions 280 NLRB No. 072

J & B Smith Company, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 057

[contention made first time in exception to ALJ's decision that ptn in bankruptcy triggered automatic stay and that Bd's enforcement of ALJ's D/O would be in derogation of Bankruptcy Code's protection of respondent, rejected since Bd proceedings fall w/i exceptions to automatic stay provisions]

2525-7000—Cont.

Edwin Odum d/b/a The Phoenix Company 274 NLRB No. 146
(institution of bankruptcy proceedings does not deprive Bd of jurisdiction or authority to entertain and process ULP case to its final disposition. Bd proceedings fall w/i exception to automatic stay provision for proceedings by governmental unit to enforce its police or regulatory powers)

E. G. Sprinkler Corporation and its alter ego Goodman Piping Products, Inc. JD-168-85
(filing of ptn in bankruptcy did not automatically stay backpay proceeding before Bd)

E. G. Sprinkler Corporation and its alter ego Goodman Piping Products, Inc. JD-168-85
(Bd enforcement proceeding in ct of appeals has been held to be proceeding by governmental unit to enforce its regulatory power w/i meaning of provisions of Bankruptcy Act, and hence is not subject to automatic stay provision of that Act; and instant backpay proceeding is part and parcel of process leading to enforcement ptn filed in ct of appeals and, hence, falls under same exemption)

N.L.R.B. v. Edward Cooper Painting, Inc., and Cooper & Cooper Painting, an alter ego 804 F.2d 934 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1986)
[Bd's order against E in bankruptcy proceeding held not void because Bd failed to ptn bankruptcy ct for relief from automatic stay under Bankruptcy Act before proceeding against E; governmental unit which determines that its police powers or regulatory proceeding is excepted from automatic stay under 362(b)(4) of Bankruptcy Act is not required to ptn bankruptcy ct for relief from stay prior to continuing its proceeding, and legislative history of Bankruptcy Act evinces congressional intent to such effect]

N.L.R.B. v. Edward Cooper Painting, Inc., and Cooper & Cooper Painting, an alter ego 804 F.2d 934 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1986)
[Bd, acting on belief that its ULP proceeding was excepted from operation of automatic stay under Bankruptcy Act, held to have permissibly proceeded with ULP hearing w/o obtaining relief from stay in bankruptcy ct; however, Bd proceeded at its own risk and, if it was later determined that proceeding was not excepted from automatic stay, entire Bd proceeding would be void ab initio; nonetheless, exercise of governmental unit's police or regulatory powers is not void merely because used in belief that its action was excepted from automatic stay]

N.L.R.B. v. Edward Cooper Painting, Inc., and Cooper & Cooper Painting, an alter ego 804 F.2d 934 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1986)
[Sec. 362 of Bankruptcy Act does not require that Bd ptn bankruptcy ct for permission to proceed with ULP proceeding, and legislative history of 362 shows that when action is excepted from automatic stay, trustee is required to move ct into action, rather than requiring stayed party to request relief from stay; however, Bankruptcy Act empowers bankruptcy ct to stay proceedings that are excepted from operation of automatic stay if assets of debtor's estate are threatened]

N.L.R.B. v. Edward Cooper Painting, Inc., and Cooper & Cooper Painting, an alter ego 804 F.2d 934 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1986)
[Bd's ULP proceeding held excepted from operation of automatic stay of 362(b)(4) of Bankruptcy Act and not attempt to enforce money judgment, and therefore subject to automatic stay by operation of 362(b)(5), since Bd's adjudication that E violated federal labor law was not proceeding for primary purpose of protecting government's claim to entitlement to pecuniary interest in debtor's estate, and Bd was engaged in enforcing nation's labor laws in exercise of police or regulatory powers placing it w/i 362(b)(4) exemption to automatic stay]

N.L.R.B. v. Edward Cooper Painting, Inc., and Cooper & Cooper Painting, an alter ego 804 F.2d 934 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1986)
[Bd's determination that E in bankruptcy owed backpay to its former Ees held excepted from automatic stay by operation of 362(b)(4) of Bankruptcy Act; accordingly, entry of money judgment affirmed but not enforced, since governmental units are allowed to fix amount of penalties up to and including entry of moeny judgment, and only attempts to enforce money judgments are subject to automatic stay]

N.L.R.B. v. Superior Fowarding, Inc. 762 F.2d 695 (C.A. 8, May 1985)
(ct should deny debtor's mtn to enjoin Bd proceedings on charge if ULP charge stems from debtor's failure to bargain in good faith over terms and conditions of new contract)

Armour Oil Company v. N.L.R.B. ———
F.Supp.————(BC C.D. CA, June 1985)
[in action brought in bankruptcy ct to enjoin ULP hearing on grounds that filing of bankruptcy ptn automatically stays ULP hearing, ct held that Bd is governmental unit and ULP proceeding is an action by the Bd to enforce its regulatory power, therefore, Bd's ULP proceeding is not automatically stayed by filing of ptn]

2550 COURTS WITHOUT CONCURRENT JURISDICTION TO REDRESS UNFAIR LABOR PRACTICES

2550-0900 Failure to obtain relief under Act immaterial

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ————F.2d————
(C.A. 9, June 1985)
[ct rejected U's attempt to justify district ct's exercise of 301(a) jurisdiction over U's state law claim on ground E used labor consultants to negotiate agreements and 301(a) should be interpreted broadly to alleviate problems arising from use of consultants to keep companies U-free; ct expressed no opinion as to legitimacy of U's claim concerning consultant problem and stated resolution thereof is best left to legislative and not judicial branch]

2550-1800 Doctrine of primary jurisdiction requires judicial abstention

Waggoner, et al. v. Dallaire, etc. ————F.2d————
(C.A. 9, July 1985)
[ct of appeals held that it could not reach merits of appellants' argument that district ct's interpretation of parties' short form agreement was erroneous on grounds that it was inconsistent with requirements of Sec. 8(d) of NLRA, since federal cts lack jurisdiction to consider claims based on violation of Sec. 8 of NLRA]

2550-2700 Enforcement of private rights not proper basis for jurisdiction

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ————F.2d————
(C.A. 9, June 1985)
[in reversing and remanding decision to district ct found not to have jurisdiction under 301(a) over U's state law contractual tort claim which was found to be preempted, ct declined to accept district ct's assumption of jurisdiction under 301(a) on ground that its operative language should be construed broadly to include w/i its scope tort action alleging prospective contractual relations]

2550-3600 Injunctive powers of courts do not include jurisdiction to determine existence of and redress unfair labor practices

Shanrod Construction and John Shane (Debtor) ———
F.Supp.————(BC W.D. NY, Aug. 1985)
[Bankruptcy Ct (ct) stayed Bd from holding ULP hearing filed against debtor-in-possession (debtor) before debtor filed ptn under Chap. 11, holding that under 11 U.S.C. Sec. 1113 ct and only ct had authority to determine issue of whether debtor could reject collective bargaining agreement, an executory agreement]

2550-4500 Arguable existence of unfair labor practice precludes assumption of jurisdiction by court

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ————F.2d————
(C.A. 9, June 1985)
[in reversing and remanding decision to district ct found not to have jurisdiction under 301(a) over U's state law contractual tort claim which was found to be preempted, ct held that U's expired contract could not serve as basis for proper exercise of jurisdiction under 301(a), and that any obligation that E had to continue paying wages and making contributions while negotiating resulted from 8(a)(5) proscription against unilateral changes, and not from contract w/i definition of 301(a)]

2550-6300 Section 301(a) court jurisdiction to enforce agreements between labor organizations restricted by policy to leave representation matters to Board

Bakers Union Local No. 4 of Greater St. Louis v. Schnuck Baking Company, Inc. ———
F.Supp.————(DC E.D. MO, July 1985)
[mtn to dismiss Sec. 301 suit brought to compel E to submit to contract's grievance arbitration procedure dispute assertedly over E's manning of bakery operation, granted, where dispute involved whether bakery department Ees were an accretion to existing warehouse store unit, a representational issue that formed basis of ULP charge filed by U that was dismissed by RD w/o appeal]

2550-8100 Garmon preemption doctrine applicable

2550-8100—Cont.

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[presumption of federal preemption, based on primary jurisdiction of Bd, admits to exception when unusually deeply rooted local interests are at stake, since federal system and rational allocation of functions belie any inference that Congress intended to drprive State of jurisdiction over such matters; however, if state law regulates conduct that is actually protected by federal law, preemption follows not as matter of protecting primary jurisdiction, but as matter of substantive right, and federal law must prevail over state law]

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ——F.2d——
(C.A. 9, June 1985)

[ct rejected U's attempt to justify district ct's exercise of 301(a) jurisdiction over U's state law claim against E's labor consultants on ground consultants were independent third parties, and not E's agents, when they induced E to terminate long relationship with U; even if U's third party argument is valid, conduct which constituted essential element of U's state claim was very same conduct Bd had considered in rejecting U's ULP claim and, consequently, conduct is arguably covered by Act and state claim is preempted]

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ——F.2d——
(C.A. 9, June 1985)

[in finding that district ct had no 301(a) jurisdiction over U's state law claim, ct held that, unlike case involving state claim arising from malpractice charge against U's counsel, whose resolution depended on standard of care attorney owes client and not on evaluation of conduct arguably covered by Act, U's state claim herein against E's labor consultants for tortious interference with contractual relationship between E and U involved element dealing with intricacies of bargaining process better left to Bd's exclusive jurisdiction]

2575 STATE AGENCIES WITHOUT CONCURRENT JURISDICTION TO REDRESS UNFAIR LABOR PRACTICES

Terraillon Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037

[no deferral of charge of wrongful discharge to decision of state department of labor, since Bd in exercise of its jurisdiction to decide ULP cases pursuant to Section 10(a) of Act will not be bound to defer to decisions of other administrative agencies; E's analogy to arbitration deferral cases, rejected, since parties in those cases had agreed to be bound by arbitrator's decision, and Section 201 of Act encourages arbitration]

2587 STATE REGULATION OF PREEMPTED SUBJECT MATTER

2587-2500 State statute

Baker et al. v. General Motors Corp. et al —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, July 1986)

[state law denying unemployment compensation to laid-off Ees who, by paying U dues, financed strikes at other locations that led to their layoffs, not pre-empted by federal law, notwithstanding right to make such payments is protected by Sec. 7; Ees found to have voluntarily caused own unemployment, as there was meaningful connection between Ees' decision to pay dues, ensuing strikes and their own layoffs, and layoffs were untainted by any unlawful conduct by E; histories of NLRA and Title IX of SSA show that Congress intended to allow such conflict between federal law and state unemployment compensation law]

Baker et al. v. General Motors Corp. et al —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, July 1986)

[state may either refuse or provide unemployment compensation to strikers responsible for own unemployment, or to workers laid off by reason of labor dispute in which they have no interest or responsibility whatsoever]

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[E's insurance claim, pursuant to self-funded (by E) disability plan in collective-bargaining agreement which established disability grievance procedure culminating in final and binding arbitration, dismissed for failure to make use of grievance procedure in agreement; questions relating to what parties to agreement agreed and what legal consequences were intended to flow from breaches of agreement, must be resolved by reference to uniform federal law rather than state tort law]

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[state law establishing disqualification criteria for casino industry U officials held not preempted by NLRA, since Congress' enactment of LMRDA, defining U officials' qualifications, disclaimed preemption of state laws and preserved operation of state laws concerning U officials' qualifications; and since governmental machinery was not effective in policing abuses at local level and in stamping out crime and corruption in Us, ct presumed Congress would allow state to adopt different and more stringent requirements for U officials to effectuate such goal]

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[state law establishing disqualification criteria for casino industry U officials held not preempted by Act in view of ct's prior decision in case involving waterfront Ees that Act does not exclude every state policy that may restrict freedom of group of Ees to designate representatives of their own choosing, and Congress apparently concluded that where states are confronted with public evils of crime, corruption, and racketerring more stringent state regulation of U officials is not incompatible with national labor policy embodied in Sec. 7]

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[state law establishing disqualification criteria for casino industry U officials held not preempted by Act, since Sec. 7 does not conflict with every state regulation that may restrict Ees' right to select U officials, nor do disqualification criteria, obstruct objectives of Congress which has indicated that Ees do not have unqualified right to choose their U officials and that disqualification requirements are compatible with Sec. 7 when used to vindicate compelling state interest in combating local crime infesting particular industry]

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[ct emphasized that its conclusion that state's regulation of casino industry U officials was not preempted by Act did not implicate Ees' Sec. 7 right to select particular U as their representative but only their subsidiary right to select U officials; Congress has distinguished between the two and has accorded less than absolute protection to Ees' right to choose U officials; and casino industry Ees' freedom to select U as their representative was not affected by state's qualification criteria for U officials]

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[ct declined to decide whether dues collection ban imposed on U by state to effect removal of disqualified casino industry U officials was preempted by Act because ban would prohibit U from functioning as Ees' representative thereby abridging Ees' Sec. 7 rights; since U's factual allegations regarding financial impact of dues collection ban upon its functioning as Ee represntative were never addressed by cts below, ct remanded to district ct to make findings of fact whether ban will so incapacitate U as to prevent it from functioning as Ee representative]

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[ct declined to decide whether state's prohibition of U's administration of its pension or welfare funds as sanction against U for noncompliance with state criteria concerning qualifications of casino industry U officials was preempted by ERISA; since state commission, in its discretion, chose not to impose sanction, ct was not presented with concrete application of state law and issue was not ripe for review; consequently, ct of appeals' holding that ERISA preempted state sanction is vacated]

2587-7500 State court action for damages against employer

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[Sec. 301 (of NLRA) does not grant parties to collective-bargaining agreement ability to contract for what is illegal under state law; questions of contract interpretation, therefore underlie any finding of tort liability, regardless that state ct may choose to define tort as independent of any contract question; Congress has mandated that federal law govern meaning given contract terms in order to have unified federal body of labor-contract law]

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)

[when resolution of state-law claim is substantially dependent upon analysis of terms of agreement made between parties in labor contract, that claim must either be treated as Section 301 claim, or dismissed as pre-empted by federal labor-contract law; complaint in instant case (tort action for breach of duty to act in good faith brought in state ct) should have been dismissed

2587-7500—Cont.

for failure to make use of greivance procedure established in collective-bargaining agreement]

Lumber Production Industrial Workers Local #1054, et al. v. West Coast Industrial Relations Association, Inc. ———F.2d———

(C.A. 9, June 1985)

[in finding that district ct did not have 301(a) jurisdiction over U's state claim, ct rejected U's contention that, even if conduct complained of in its state claim was arguably covered by Act and therefore preempted, state's interest in preventing tortious interference with contractual relationships warranted exception to exclusive jurisdiction rule; such interference is not so deeply rooted in local law that state's interest in enforcing it overrides interference with labor law that prosecution of state action would entail]

5000 STATUTORY CRITERIA OF JURISDICTION

7500 TERRITORIAL JURISDICTION

7517 EXTRA-TERRITORIAL APPLICATION

Edgar Mantha and Kathleen Mantha, A Partnership, d/b/a Hopkins Hardware; et al. 280 NLRB No. 146

[Bd has jurisdiction over backpay proceeding since it had jurisdiction over underlying ULP proceeding involving U.S. business, notwithstanding Respondent E's owners were Canadian citizens who returned to Canada in the interim]

7700 BOYCOTT OF FOREIGN PRODUCTS

7900 BOYCOTT OF FOREIGN OWNED MODES OF TRANSPORTATION

240 DISCRETION IN EXERCISE OF JURISDICTION

0100 GENERALLY

0150 DISCRETION TO DECLINE TO EXERCISE JURISDICTION

0150-2500 Where subversion of statute would result

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)

[Bd's decision in Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, does not protect sufficiently Ee's rights granted by Act; by presuming, until proven otherwise, that all arbitration proceedings confront and decide every possible ULP, Olin Corp. gives away too much of Bd's responsibility under Act]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)

[Bd's decision under Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, that deferral is proper in all cases unless it is affirmatively demonstrated that some unusual circumstances require that ALJ conduct independent inquiry into grievant's statutory claims cannot be reconciled with need to protect statutory rights, as expressed by S.Ct; Olin Corp. ignores those instances where contract and statutory issues may be factually parallel but involve distinct elements of proof and questions of factual relevance]

0150-7500 To enforce grievance settlement under contract

Alpha Beta Company 273 NLRB No. 194

(deferral to grievance settlement agreement over issue of discharge of sympathy strikers, appropriate, where proceedings fair and regular, all parties agreed to be bound, including Ees, and though themselves not involved in negotiations, Ees authorized Us to accept settlement on their behalf knowing it contained no backpay, settlement not palpably wrong under law, particularly since it resulted from negotiations, U could waive Ees statutory rights here, and result not repugnant to Act notwithstanding Ees authorized acceptance of settlement solely because they wished to pursue backpay issue before Bd)

Marie E. Darr v. N.L.R.B. (Cone Mills Corp.) 801 F.2d 1404 (C.A. D.C., Sept. 1986)

[ct remanded case to Bd to articulate its policy and reasons thereof on deferrals where arbitrator held that under contract Ee was fired w/o just cause for taking unscheduled break and engaging in protest, but Ee also guilty of insubordination in not leaving plant when ordered; under NLRA, discharge was unlawful as primary cause of discharge was her protected activity of protesting E's conduct; therefore, arbitrator ordered reinstatement but w/o backpay which is contrary to Bd's practice]

0167 JURISDICTION MAY BE EXERCISED UPON STATUTORY BASIS ONLY

0167-1700 To maintain protection of employees where jurisdiction previously asserted

Edgar Mantha and Kathleen Mantha, A Partnership, d/b/a Hopkins Hardware, et al. 280 NLRB No. 146

[Bd has jurisdiction over backpay proceeding since it had jurisdiction over underlying ULP proceeding involving U.S. business, notwithstanding Respondent E's owners were Canadian citizens who returned to Canada in the interim]

1700 BOARD AUTHORITY TO ESTABLISH SCOPE OF DISCRETIONARY JURISDICTION

2500 ADVISORY OPINIONS AS TO JURISDICTION (FOR JURISDICTIONAL HOLDINGS SEE 280)

2501 GENERALLY

In The Matter of David Landau, d/b/a Century Assets 279 NLRB No. 083

[Bd unable to conclude whether it would assert jurisdiction where ptn indicated combined gross annual revenues from petitioner's ventures but merely described general nature of its business as real estate, and Bd has different jurisdictional standards for different real estate operations]

Chieppo Bus Company and Its Alter Egos, Comfort Coach and Nicholas Chieppo d/b/a G. R. Coach and Chieppo Bus Company 278 NLRB No. 071

[ptn for advisory opinion to determine whether Bd would assert jurisdiction over petitioning Es, dismissed where there was outstanding ULP proceeding in which binding adjudication of jurisdictional issue could be obtained, no other considerations suggested need for earlier determination of the issue, and Bd's confining itself to statutory proceeding before it would better serve advisory opinion procedure's underlying purpose and avoid unnecessary duplication and possible confusion]

2550 LIMITED TO DETERMINATION OF APPLICABILITY OF DISCRETIONARY STANDARDS

The Penson Corporation 275 NLRB No. 079

(Advisory Opinion that Bd would assert jurisdiction over E engaged in business as management agent for residential apartment buildings where E's gross annual rent revenues exceeded $500,000 and it purchased goods and services in interstate commerce in excess of $50,000)

2900 DECLARATORY JUDGMENTS AS TO JURISDICTION

3300 BOARD DEFERENCE TO OTHER MEANS OF ADJUSTMENT

3333 BOARD AUTHORITY UNDER STATUTE

3333-3300 Authority under section 10(a)

Marie E. Darr v. N.L.R.B. (Cone Mills Corp.) 801 F.2d 1404 (C.A. D.C., Sept. 1986)

3333-6700 Discretion to defer

Veronica Lewis v. N.L.R.B. 800 F.2d 818 (C.A. 8, Sept. 1986)

[Bd has discretion to decline to exercise its authority to adjudicate dispute before it when purposes and fundamental aims of Act are served by deferral; encouragement of dispute resolution under bargaining agreement through arbitration is fundamental aim of Act and is matter of public policy]

Veronica Lewis v. N.L.R.B. 800 F.2d 818 (C.A. 8, Sept. 1986)

[deferral policy is proper and reasonable exercise of Bd's discretion where proceeding appears to have been fair and regular all parties have agreed to be bound and decision is not clearly repugnant to Act]

N.L.R.B. (Steven R. Lovell, etc.) v. Electrical Workers, Local 11 772 F.2d 571 (C.A. 9, Sep. 1985)

(Bd has considerable, though not unlimited, discretion to respect or disregard an arbitration decision. In exercising its discretion, Bd must balance policy in favor of settling labor disputes by arbitration with its statutory duty and authority to prevent ULPs)

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)

[Bd has statutory duty to enforce Act and exclusive jurisdiction to decide ULPs; Bd may not avoid this responsibility through far reaching deferral policy which apparently presumes that ULP claim has been resolved through arbitration]

3333-7800 Discretion to retain jurisdiction during deferral

3333-7500—Cont.

Combustion Engineering Inc. 274 NLRB No. 172
(as Bd decision deferring to arbitration award that found E liable for unilateral changes to absenteeism and tardiness system only involved two Ees, GC's mtn for reconsideration contending that Bd's order was not adequate because it did not provide remedy to numerous other Ees adversely affected by E's conduct, granted and jusisdiction retained to review, upon mtn, grievance proceedings or awards arising from E's unlawful action, where arbitrator had no authority to remedy violation he found)

T.L.B. Plastics Corporation 273 NLRB No. 223

United States Postal Service 273 NLRB No. 217
(where Bd deferred to parties' grievance-arbitration procedure, jurisdiction was retained for purpose of entertaining mtn for further consideration on showing that either (a) allegations in charge have not been resolved through grievance-arbitration, or (b) grievance procedure has not been fair and regular or has been resolved with result repugnant to Act)

3367 CIRCUMSTANCES OF DEFERRAL

3367-0100 Generally

Transport Service Company 282 NLRB No. 011
[deferral of 8(a)(5) charges, which concerned transfer of work, use of non-unit personnel, and failure to comply with contract provisions, appropriate under standards of United Technologies Corp. 268 NLRB 557 (1984), where dispute before Bd turned on interpretation of contract, broad arbitration clause in bargaining agreement clearly encompassed matters at issue, E asserted its willingness to arbitrate dispute, and parties had stable bargaining relationship]

Transport Service Company 282 NLRB No. 011
[deferral of 8(a)(5) allegations appropriate, notwithstanding they involved alleged unilateral changes in contract's terms and alleged refusals to furnish information necessary for grievance processing, and despite ALJ's findings that E unilaterally bypassed U in bargaining directly with Ees and threatened to retaliate against Ee if he did not withdraw grievance, where E's unilateral actions did not rise to level of total repudiation of contract or rejection of bargaining, and its interference with grievance processing was isolated]

Arizona Portland Cement Company, A Division of California Portland Cement Company, A Division of Calmat 281 NLRB No. 030
[deferral inappropriate as to issue of who may be U representative at grievance meeting absent contract under which parties were mutually bound by agreed-upon grievance-arbitration procedure]

Burroughs Interstate Services Credit Union 280 NLRB No. 034
[issues involving compliance with order, inappropriate for determination by arbitrator]

Burroughs Interstate Services Credit Union 280 NLRB No. 034
[where result in 2 related cases turned in part on resolution of same factual and legal issues, deferral of 1 of cases inappropriate, notwithstanding cases arose from separate C allegations]

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)
[Bd's wide discretion in deciding which situations merit deferral to arbitration is tempered by its adoption of administrative rules or guidelines governing such decisions, and while it may alter or amend them, it cannot ignore them or lightly change them on case by case basis]

N.L.R.B. v. Local 1131, Local 1161, Auto Workers 777 F.2d 1131 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)
[deferral of grievance over E's failure to grant superseniority in layoff to U official pursuant to contractual clause, inappropriate where E charged that U's effort to enforce illegal contractual clause constituted ULP]

3367-0113 Purpose of fostering and facilitating existing collective-bargaining relationship

Allis-Chalmers Corp. v. Lueck ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Apr. 1985)
[since nearly any alleged willful breach of contract can be restated as tort claim for breach of good faith obligation under contract, arbitrator's role in every case could be bypassed if Section 301 is not understood to pre-empt such tort claims; rule that permitted individual to sidestep available grievance procedures would cause arbitration to lose most of its effectiveness]

U.S. Postal Service 280 NLRB No. 080
[deferral concerning U's information request for names of U officers and stewards who had applied for supervisory positions (with E), held inappropriate, since U has sought information which is relevant to performance of its statutory function as Ees' bargaining representative]

Anderson Prestress Division Anderson Sand and Gravel Company 277 NLRB No. 127
]by adopting broadly based arbitration policy as enunciated in Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, Bd endorses national labor policy favoring arbitration and achieves one of the primary objectives of Act-to encourage collective bargaining. Deferral recognizes that parties have accepted possibility that arbitrator might decide particular set of facts differently than would Bd. This possibility, however, is one which parties have voluntarily assumed through collective bargaining)

N.L.R.B. (Steven R. Loveall, etc.) v. Electrical Workers, Local 11 772 F.2d 571 (C.A. 9, Sep. 1985)
(Bd has considerable, though not unlimited, discretion to respect or disregard an arbitration decision. In exercising its discretion, Bd must balance policy in favor of settling labor disputes by arbitration with its statutory duty and authority to prevent ULPs)

3367-0150 Spielberg standard of fairness

Texaco, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 163
[deferral to arbitration decision regarding suspension of Ees for alleged strike misconduct, appropriate, since arbitrator had complied with Spielberg standards inasmuch as he had adequately considered ULP issue where he was presented with evidence of alleged actions of Ees, nor was his decision which held that Ees did engage in strike misconduct and ordered reinstatement, but no backpay, repugnant to purposes and policies of Act]

Ryder/P.I.E. Nationwide, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 109
[deferral of alleged discharge ULP to joint committee award, inappropriate, since it was repugnant to the Act because committee was not presented with evidence of protected activities responsible for E's discriminatory treatment, and absence of that evidence precluded finding that contractual and statutory issues were factually parallel]

Earl C. Smith, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 100
[deferral to joint committee award, inappropriate, since award was palpably wrong and therefore clearly repugnant to the Act, and could not have resolved E's 8(a)(5) violations alleged in C, where award merely ordered E to comply with a contract that was neither at issue nor in effect at time of E's conduct, which included its refusal to bargain with U, its direct dealing with Ees, and its unilateral modification of earlier contract]

Drummond Coal Company, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 177
[Bd deferred to grievance arbitration award concerning issue of whether E provided U advance notice for effects bargaining over shop's closure, since question was coextensive with those that would be considered by Bd in decision on whether E complied with agreed upon arrangement for effects bargaining over layoffs. Only U excepted to judge's decision deferring to arbitral award and U failed to allege award did not meet standards set forth in Spielberg Mfg. Co., 112 NLRB 1080 (1955). U failed to meet burden of affirmatively demonstrating defects in arbitral process or award]

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-(SF)-78-85
(dispute involving E's refusal to produce photocopies of supervisory reports necessary for processing grievances not deferable under Spielberg since joint U-management committee did not consider statutory issue nor did it purport to rule on meaning of contract language, nor was statutory issue of right to pre-arbitration access factually parallel to question apparently ruled upon by body)

Veronica Lewis v. N.L.R.B. 800 F.2d 818 (C.A. 8, Sept. 1986)
[deferral policy is proper and reasonable exercise of Bd's discretion where proceeding appears to have been fair and regular all parties have agreed to be bound and decision is not clearly repugnant to Act]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[ct vacated and remanded to Bd its decision which held that GC had not met its burden of affirmatively demonstrating that ULP had not received adequate consideration by arbitration committee; remand required Bd to reconsider its decision in light of ct's disapproval of Bd's standard for deferral under Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573]

3367-0175 Adequate representation of Employee rights

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[Bd's decision in Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, does not protect sufficiently Ee's rights granted by Act; by presuming, until proven otherwise, that all arbitration proceedings confront and decide every possible ULP, Olin Corp. gives away too much of Bd's responsibility under Act]

3367-0175-3300 Where substantial harmony exists

Veronica Lewis v. N.L.R.B. 800 F.2d 818 (C.A. 8, Sept. 1986)
[contrary to Ee's assertion that Bd deferral to grievance procedure of issue of her discharge was improper because Ee's interests were adverse to those of U which had made decision not to proceed further with Ee's grievance, ct held Bd's decision to defer was reasonable since interests were not competing but harmonious in view of E.'s voluntary invocation of contractural dispute resolution mechanism and U's active role in negotiating for favorable treatment of Ee's grievance]

3367-0175-6700 Where substantial conflict exists

Local Union No. 896, a/w Teamsters (Anheuser-Busch, Inc.) 280 NLRB No. 076
[no deferral to arbitration decision regarding discharge of charging party where C alleged U's breach of duty of fair representation as no contractual issues involved in ULP case, and absent evidence arbitration encompassed issues of U representation and U's providing of information to grievant raised in ULP case; further, interests of charging party and U were in conflict in view of antagonism between U representatives and charging party, U's refusal to take her prior discipline to arbitration or to argue her lack of knowledge of system on the failure to adhere thereto caused her discharge]

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 039
[deferral of alleged ULPs committed by E to contractual grievance procedures not warranted, since E has not indicated willingness to utilize arbitration to resolve dispute and since subject Ee was active dissident in U, there is possibility that his interests might not be adequately represented by (U) incumbents during arbitral process]

Teamsters Local Union #519 (Rust Engineering Co.) 276 NLRB No. 094
(deferral of U's alleged unlawful failure to refer dissidents, inappropriate, since uncertain dissidents would get fair hearing before U executive board where members of board same U officials involved in alleged unlawful operation of hiring hall on executive committee)

Union Local 20408, United Warehouse, Industrial and Affiliate Trades Employees Union (Dubovsky & Sons, Inc., et al.) JD-(NY)-54-86
[no deferral to arbitrator's decision upholding discharges of rival U adherents, where Bd C alleged incumbent U threatened Ees with discharge if they supported rival U; thus, interests of Ees in conflict with those of U and E and hostility present as shown by Ees declining U's offer of representation. Further U and E had expressed hostility to Ees over their support of rival U]

N.L.R.B. (Steven R. Loveall, etc.) v. Electrical Workers, Local 11 772 F.2d 571 (C.A. 9, Sep. 1985)
(Bd may decline to defer to an arbitration decision in which there is an apparent conflict of interest between the Ee and the U representing him)

N.L.R.B. (Steven R. Loveall, etc.) v. Electrical Workers, Local 11 772 F.2d 571 (C.A. 9, Sep. 1985)
(Bd did not abuse its discretion by failing to defer to arbitration decision where there was conflict of interest between Ees and U)

3367-0193 E's attitude toward Ee or U's statutory rights

3367-0193-6700 Pattern of union animus

Union Local 20408, United Warehouse, Industrial and Affiliate Trades Employees Union (Dubovsky & Sons, Inc., et al.) JD-(NY)-54-86
[no deferral to arbitrator's decision upholding discharges of rival U adherents, where Bd C alleged incumbent U threatened Ees with discharge if they supported rival U; thus, interests of Ees in conflict with those of U and E and hostility present as shown by Ees declining U's offer of representation. Further U and E had expressed hostility to Ees over their support of rival U]

3367-0400 Bars to deferral in advance of arbitration

Local 814, a/w Teamsters (Beth Israel Medical Center) 281 NLRB No. 153
[deferral inappropriate in case involving Ee's discharge since the interests of Ee were in direct conflict with both the U and E where Ee had filed charge against U alleging breach of duty of fair representation and E, who had discharged Ee, had refused to allow filing of untimely grievance; further, C alleged U had interfered with Ee's access to Bd and such questions have always been solely w/i Bd's province to decide]

3367-0401 Generally

Pacific Coast Metal Trades District Council 282 NLRB No. 041
[deferral of issue whether or not contract had been modified by parties' subsequent mid-term modification agreement held inappropriate under Anaconda Co., 224 NLRB 1041; moreover, since contract may not properly limit parties in modifying it, contract need not be interpreted by arbitrator to determine binding nature of subsequent agreement]

Pacific Coast Metal Trades District Council 282 NLRB No. 041
[when compliance with prior Bd order is at issue, deferral to arbitration is inappropriate]

O. Voorhees Painting Co. and O.V. International, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 114
(deferral inappropriate, where none of charging parties' allegations and none of issues raised in case, involved interpretation over any terms or meaning of bargaining agreement, and E refused to furnish requested information, preventing U from filing grievance which fully set out alleged contractual violations, and C raised issues arbitrator was w/o power to remedy)

Griffith-Hope Company 275 NLRB No. 073
(deferral of issue regarding E's change in insurance carriers w/o bargaining with U, appropriate, since it is contrary to basic principles of Act for Bd to intervene prior to honest attempt by parties to resolve their dispute through machinery culminating in final and binding arbitration; here, parties met on matter covered by contract and resolved dispute through grievance machinery pursuant to which U, by meeting with E after it filed grievance over insurance, accomplished everything it was seeking)

3367-0407 Deferral of charges involving employee's access to the Board inappropriate

Ryder/P-I-E Nationwide, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 028
[Bd refused to defer to arbitration 8(a)(4) allegation involving discharge for resorting to Bd's processes and ordered RD to set case down for hearing notwithstanding settlement agreement executed by parties and approved by RD provided for such arbitration]

Northern California District Council of Laborers, Local Union No. 294 (Hayward Baker Company) 275 NLRB No. 048
(deferral of complaints that local U had filed internal charges with district council against Ees and district council had tried them because they had filed ULP charges with Bd, inappropriate, because complaints involve question of Ees' access to Bd processes, an issue solely w/i province of Bd to decide)

3367-0415 Deferral which would result in two-tier arbitration inappropriate

Clinchfield Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 189
(deferral of E's obligation to provide information concerning subcontracting out unit work that was relevant and necessary to U's collective bargaining responsibilities, inappropriate since it would result in two-tiered arbitration that would not be consistent with national labor policy favoring voluntary and expeditious resolution of disputes through arbitration)

United States Steel Corporation JD-176-85
(deferral of 8(a)(5) charge involving E's refusal to furnish information regarding processing of contracting-out grievances, inappropriate in view of Bd's historical and recent reluctance to apply deferral policy to information disclosure disputes alleged to constitute violation of 8(a)(5))

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-(SF)-78-85
(deferral of 8(a)(5) charge involving E's refusal to furnish information requested by U, held inappropriate, where E had proposed that U must first either suspend or compromise its pursuit of certain grievances while it attempted to vindicate its claim of right to information, and to return to merits of underlying grievances only after its claims to information were resolved)

3367-0420 Adequacy of representation of employee rights

3367-0420-3300 Where substantial harmony exists

Alpha Beta Company 273 NLRB No. 194
(deferral to grievance settlement agreement over issue of discharge of sympathy strikers, appropriate, where proceedings fair and regular, all parties agreed to be bound, including Ees, and though themselves not involved in negotiations, Ees authorized Us to accept settlement on their behalf knowing it contained no backpay, settlement not palpably wrong under law, particularly since it resulted from negotiations, U could waive Ees statutory rights here, and result not repugnant to Act notwithstanding Ees authorized acceptance of settlement solely because they wished to pursue backpay issue before Bd)

Veronica Lewis v. N.L.R.B. 800 F.2d 818 (C.A. 8, Sept. 1986)
[contrary to Ee's assertion that Bd deferral to grievance procedure of issue of her discharge was improper because Ee's interests were adverse to those of U which had made decision not to proceed further with Ee's grievance, ct held Bd's decision to defer was reasonable since interests were not competing but harmonious in view of Ee's voluntary invocation of contractural dispute resolution mechanism and U's active role in negotiating for favorable treatment of Ee's grievance]

3367-0420-6700 Where substantial conflict exists

Local 814, a/w Teamsters (Beth Israel Medical Center) 281 NLRB No. 153
[deferral inappropriate in case involving Ee's discharge since the interests of Ee were in direct conflict with both the U and E where Ee had filed charge against U alleging breach of duty of fair representation and E, who had discharged Ee, had refused to allow filing of untimely grievance; further, C alleged U had interfered with Ee's access to Bd and such questions have always been solely w/i Bd's province to decide]

Carpenters, Local Union No. 1243 (Northern Alaska Associated General Contractors) 281 NLRB No. 015
[deferral inappropriate where members' interests are patently adverse to U as issue was whether U referred members out of sequence]

3367-0420-6700—Cont.

Shopmen's Local Union No. 539 (Zurn Industries, Inc.) 278 NLRB No. 024
[deferral of issue of Ees' U dues obligation after resignation from U, inappropriate, where contract contained no procedure for disputes between U and Ees, interests of Ees were diametrically apposed to those of U, E was not party to proceeding and was under no obligation to represent Ees in adjunct arbitration proceeding, nor was there any reason to believe E would be willing to bear cost of having issue herein considered by arbitrator]

Northern California District Council of Laborers, Local Union No. 294 (Hayward Baker Company) 275 NLRB No. 048
(deferral of complaints that U unlawfully filed internal charges and tried and refused to refer Ees because they had filed charges with Bd and conditioned referral on their voting for incumbent U officers, inappropriate because of conflict of interest of U between representing Ees and defending itself)

Graphic Arts International Union, Local 280 (Belzer-Shapes Litho Plate Company) 274 NLRB No. 119

Operating Engineers Local Union No. 3 (Arthur R. Cole, an Individual) JD-(SF)-113-85
(no deferral to internal U-management tribunal, of charges that U discriminated against member in operation of its hiring hall, since there would be inherent conflict of interest by virtue of fact that U sits as both judge and defendent and even E members could be hostile to grievant because of E's potential liability)

Laborers , Local 324 (The Associated General Contractors of California, Inc.) JD-(SF)-90-85
(deferral of C alleging that U refused to refer Ee for nonpayment of dues at time when Ee was not obligated to pay dues, inappropriate in view of conflict of interest between U and Ee)

3367-0430 Inhibition of access to grievance procedure

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 276 NLRB No. 175
(deferral to arbitral process of cases that were types of disputes that probably should have been disposed of under grievance-arbitration clause, inappropriate where E refused to accept and process grievances)

A. N. Electric Corp. 276 NLRB No. 092
(no deferral to alleged settlement of E's liabilities to discharged Ees where there was discrepancy between amounts Ees testified they received and figures in settlement; circumstances suggested that settlement figures had been tampered with; agreement was apparently to settle E's Davis-Bacon Act liabilities, not its ULP liabilities; and alleged settlement did not rise w/i framework of established grievance-arbitration procedures)

3367-0440 Timeliness of request to defer

KCW Furniture Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 100
(Bd deferred issue of whether suspension of Ees violated terms of then-existing contract, and amount of backpay due them, where E suspended Ees under its unilaterally implemented proposals for new agreement authorizing suspensions; in earlier proceedings Bd and ct found original contract automatically renewed itself and was in effect when suspensions took place; since suspensions were not alleged as separate ULP in prior proceeding, E was not remiss in not raising deferral issue at that time; and E's unlawful implementation of new contract proposals did not make suspensions part and parcel of 8(a)(5) violation)

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 276 NLRB No. 110
(ALJ properly found that E untimely raised issue of deferral by doing so only in its brief, where E had not affirmatively agreed, either at hearing or in its exceptions, to waive any timeliness provisions of its grievance-arbitration clause or to arbitrate dispute at all)

Griffith-Hope Company 275 NLRB No. 073
(E's contention that ULP matter should be deferred to parties' grievance-arbitration system, not addressed in any of E's exceptions and raised in brief before Bd, rejected, since E never argued before ALJ that he should defer dispute to arbitration)

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 072
(E properly raised deferral defense at appropriate stage in case where, unlike cases concerning requested deferral for the first time in posthearing brief to ALJ or in exceptions to the Bd, E affirmatively pled deferral in its ans and in its supplemental posthearing brief to ALJ)

3367-0460 Willingness of parties to arbitrate

M. J. Santulli Mail Services, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 170
[although dispute arising from E's unilateral discontinuance of payments to health and welfare fund was clearly encompassed by contract's grievance-arbitration clause and there was no time limit for E to waive, deferral held inappropriate where E, who sought deferral, never indicated willingness to arbitrate but asked for dismissal of C; dismissal and deferral are distinct remedies, and by asking that C be dismissed, E rejected possibility of arbitration]

Burroughs Interstate Services Credit Union 280 NLRB No. 034
[deferral inappropriate, where E specifically reserved its right to raise before arbitration questin whether U's claim was arbitrable under agreement and thus did not credibly assert its willingness to resort to arbitration]

Ryder/P-I-E Nationwide, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 028
[Bd refused to defer to arbitration 8(a)(4) allegation involving discharge for resorting to Bd's processes and ordered RD to set case down for hearing notwithstanding settlement agreement executed by parties and approved by RD provided for such arbitration]

Victor Block, Inc. and Syracuse Sand and Gravel, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 070
(deferral of charge of refusal to abide by contract, inappropriate where E maintained that contract had been terminated and had not specifically agreed to arbitrate or indicated willingness to waive the time limit for filing a grievance, which had expired)

Spann Building Maintenance Co. 275 NLRB No. 135
(Bd deferred to grievance-arbitration procedure notwithstanding U exhausted steps of their grievance procedure prior to arbitration, neither U nor E wants to go to arbitration though U has not communicated such to E, U was attempting to obtain more generous terms of purported settlement, since arbitration option still open as U has not waived nor exercised right to go to arbitration, and Bd not limited to precise legal theory (settlement agreement) proferred by E in support of deferral since E raised deferral and cited United Technologies, 268 NLRB 557, Bd may consider whether deferral appropriate)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours & Company 275 NLRB No. 103
(deferral appropriate where grievance and ULP issues of whether implementation of E's new program violated the contract or Sec. 8(a)(5) of the Act as unilateral change w/o bargaining were factually parallel, turned on presence or absence of contractual authorization of E's new program, and could be resolved by evidence of parties' prior contracts, bargaining history, and past practice; further, E's alleged direct dealing with Ees to enlist them as candidates for its new program was not alleged as independent ULP)

Alpha Beta Company 273 NLRB No. 194
(deferral to grievance settlement agreement over issue of discharge of sympathy strikers, appropriate, where proceedings fair and regular, all parties agreed to be bound, including Ees, and though themselves not involved in negotiations, Ees authorized Us to accept settlement on their behalf knowing it contained no backpay, settlement not palpably wrong under law, particularly since it resulted from negotiations, U could waive Ees statutory rights here, and result not repugnant to Act notwithstanding Ees authorized acceptance of settlement solely because they wished to pursue backpay issue before Bd)

Asociacion Hospital Del Maestro, Inc. JD-68-86
[deferral of issue of unilateral decision to replace unit Ees with nonunit Ees and transfer unit work to them, appropriate where parties agreed during hearing to proceed to binding arbitration]

3367-0480 Availability of arbitration

3367-0480-2500 Effect of prior arbitration

Drummond Coal Company, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 177
[no deference to arbitral awards which did not consider merits of grievance or substantive aspects relating to possible ULP since procedural obstacles (time-bar of notice and res judicata) caused dismissal of grievance by arbitrator and prevented parties from resolving their disputes on merits through grievance-arbitration process]

3367-0480-5000 Non-arbitrable issue

Pacific Coast Metal Trades District Council 282 NLRB No. 041
[when compliance with prior Bd order is at issue, deferral to arbitration is inappropriate]

3367-0480-7500 Remedial power of arbitrator

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86
[U's contention that arbitration award, which included finding that E had violated Act, was repugnant to Act because arbitrator did not issue c/d order mandated under Sec. 10(c), rejected; arbitrators are private citizens lacking power to issue c/d orders or to remedy public wrongs; they can only determine private rights and grant specific remedy for breach of private agreement; and novel issue herein, involving arbitrator's finding that E violated Act, is properly to be passed upon by Bd or reviewing ct, not by ALJ]

My Buddy Products, A Division of S&T Industries, Inc. JD-114-85
(deferral inappropriate in matter regarding health insurance contributions where, based on silence of contract on subject, arbitrator found himself w/o authority to rule on grievance presented to him; therefore, there is nothing to which to defer)

3367-0600 Availability of arbitration proceedings

Veronica Lewis v. N.L.R.B. 800 F.2d 818 (C.A. 8, Sept. 1986)
[deferral of issue of whether Ee was unlawfully discharged held proper where requirements of Bd's deferral policy had been met and matter remained to be decided under agreed upon dispute resolution procedure since, absent formal withdrawal of arbitration request or processing through arbitration matter was not final; and w/o deferral, parties would be encouraged to circumvent contractual grievance and arbitration procedures for possible favorable resolution of ULP charges before Bd]

3367-0800—Cont.

3367-0825 Scope of grievance and arbitration contract provisions

Amoco Oil Company 278 NLRB No. 003
[deferral of charge involving alleged violations of Ees' Weingarten rights, inappropriate, where contract limited grievances only to alleged contractual violations and no Weingarten rights were given Ees under the contract and no party had attempted to invoke contractual grievance procedure]

Eagle Discount Supermarkets, Midwestern Food Division, Lucky Stores, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 204
(E's request to defer to arbitration denied since request was academic where grievance and arbitration procedures by agreement were not available, and neither party brought matter to arbitration)

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[Bd's decision under Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, that deferral is proper in all cases unless it is affirmatively demonstrated that some unusual circumstances require that ALJ conduct independent inquiry into grievant's statutory claims cannot be reconciled with need to protect statutory rights, as expressed by S.Ct; Olin Corp. ignores those instances where contract and statutory issues may be factually parallel but involve distinct elements of proof and questions of factual relevance]

3367-0825-3300 Provisions arguably encompassing dispute

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 203
(issue of whether E's unilaterally promoting 3 chief operators in one of its 5 buildings at its plant to shift supervisor w/o bargaining in good faith with U properly deferred to arbitrator's award finding that contract's management rights clause gave E authority to direct its Ees, and neither recognition clause nor any other provision restricted this right. Bd, in this case, would have determined E's unilateral action to be not violative since award is susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act. Also ULP and contractual issues are factually parallel)

T.L.B. Plastics Corporation 273 NLRB No. 223
(deferral under grievance-arbitration provisions of bargaining agreement appropriate as to issues of whether E violated Act by: (1) issuing 2 disciplinary notices to one Ee, (2) refusing to pay Ee holiday pay, (3) suspending Ee for 3 days, (4) discharging that Ee and (5) discharging other Ees (U adherents) who allegedly were released for engaging in work stoppage, or wild cat strike in violation of plant rule and no-strike clause of collective bargaining agreement. Contractual and ULP issues were factually parallel and Ees involved had faith in fairness of grievance-arbitration machinery as well as efforts of present U steward)

United States Postal Service 273 NLRB No. 217
(deferral appropriate where issue arose when E announced and unilaterally implemented policy requiring U to process and file grievances during specified period of each day as such dispute encompasses definition of grievance contained in contract, contract provides for final and binding arbitration and there is management rights clause. Therefore, contract and its meaning in present circumstances lie at heart of dispute)

Central Transport, Inc. JD-114-86
[deferral to grievance procedure of issues raised in C of whether respondent E covered by supplement or rider to national agreement and consequently which of these supplements it reverts to upon rejection of proposed addendum, since provisions of procedure broad enough to encompass issues raised, where issue w/i scope of procedure and fully cognizable for determination under parties grievance procedure and can be disposed of by resolution of pending grievance on same issue]

Letraset Manufacturing, Inc. JD-(NY)-57-85
(deferral inappropriate, where parties' contract did not provide for arbitration in very broad range of disputes and did not clearly encompass dispute at issue)

My Buddy Products, A Division of S&T Industries, Inc. JD-114-85
(deferral inappropriate in matter regarding health insurance contributions where, based on silence of contract on subject, arbitrator found himself w/o authority to rule on grievance presented to him; therefore, there is nothing to which to defer)

3367-0833 Prompt resolution of grievance

The E. W. Buschman Company 277 NLRB No. 021
(deferral of issue of legality of E's failure to provide requested financial and production information because of its alleged confidential nature, inappropriate, since U needed former to determine possibility of early resolution of the grievance and latter to determine accuracy of E's records by checking them with Ees; grievance concerned cancellation of bonus due to E's alleged lack of cash flow)

3367-0837 Availability to either party

Sawin & Co., Inc. 277 NLRB No. 044
(deferral appropriate where E and U agreed to be bound by arbitrator's decision, charging party and other alleged discriminatees testified in their own behalf, proceeding was fair and regular notwithstanding that E relied on affidavits rather than presenting witnesses inasmuch as neither U nor alleged discriminatees sought to compel attendance of affiants at, or protested any facet of, arbitration proceeding)

3367-0850 Availability to charging party

Clinchfield Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 189
(deferral inappropriate where E was unwilling to waive U's failure to comply with contract's timeliness provision as defense)

3367-0887 Repudiation of contract by party

Transport Service Company 282 NLRB No. 011
[deferral of 8(a)(5) allegations appropriate, notwithstanding they involved alleged unilateral changes in contract's terms and alleged refusals to furnish information necessary for grievance processing, and despite ALJ's findings that E unilaterally bypassed U in bargaining directly with Ees and threatened to retaliate against Ee if he did not withdraw grievance, where E's unilateral actions did not rise to level of total repudiation of contract or rejection of bargaining, and its interference with grievance processing was isolated]

Victor Block, Inc. and Syracuse Sand and Gravel, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 070
(deferral of charge of refusal to abide by contract, inappropriate where E maintained that contract had been terminated and had not specifically agreed to arbitrate or indicated willingness to waive the time limit for filing a grievance, which had expired)

Ambassador Convalescent Center, Inc. Debtor-In-Possession In Bankrupicy JD-319-85
(deferral inappropriate where E's defense to 8(a)(5) charge was not based on claim of contractual privilege but rather on argument that no contract was formed, and arbitration provision in expired agreement only allowed arbitrator to decide questions which arose under bargaining agreement, not whether contract existed)

3367-1200 Willingness of parties to arbitrate

Local 814, a/w Teamsters (Beth Israel Medical Center) 281 NLRB No. 153
[deferral inappropriate in case involving Ee's discharge since the interests of Ee were in direct conflict with both the U and E where Ee had filed charge against U alleging breach of duty of fair representation and E, who had discharged Ee, had refused to allow filing of untimely grievance; further, C alleged U had interfered with Ee's access to Bd and such questions have always been solely w/i Bd's province to decide]

United States Postal Service 281 NLRB No. 032
[deferral inappropriate where E engaged in direct dealing with Ee and unilaterally adjusted Ee's grievance concerning pending dismissal from job, even though E expressed its willingness to arbitrate issue of Ee's discipline by reactivating his grievance, since E's request for deferral did not specifically encompass underlying issue of its direct dealing and unilateral grievance adjustment, and therefore ULP issue would remain unresolved]

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 039
[deferral of alleged ULPs committed by E to contractual grievance procedures not warranted, since E has not indicated willingness to utilize arbitration to resolve dispute and since subject Ee was active dissident in U, there is possibility that his interests might not be adequately represented by (U) incumbents during arbitral process]

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 276 NLRB No. 175
(deferral to arbitral process of cases that were types of disputes that probably should have been disposed of under grievance-arbitration clause, inappropriate where E refused to accept and process grievances)

KCW Furniture Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 100
(where E unilaterally instituted terms and conditions of employment inconsistent with existing contract, status quo ante held best resolved by deferring to contractual method for resolving dispute involving Ees' suspensions, where contract provided multistep grievance procedure culminating in decision by adjustment board or arbitration, and E was willing to cooperate in processing grievances since Bd and ct had determined its applicability)

Victor Block, Inc. and Syracuse Sand and Gravel, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 070
(deferral of charge of refusal to abide by contract, inappropriate where E maintained that contract had been terminated and had not specifically agreed to arbitrate or indicated willingness to waive the time limit for filing a grievance, which had expired)

3367-1200—Cont.

Eagle Discount Supermarkets, Midwestern Food Division, Lucky Stores, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 204
(E's request to defer to arbitration denied since request was academic where grievance and arbitration procedures by agreement were not available, and neither party brought matter to arbitration)

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 072
(deferral of 8(a)(1) and (3) charges involving E's suspension of U steward on two occasions and E's instructions to Ees to remove buttons they wore in protest over those suspensions, held appropriate, where contract between the parties established multistep grievance procedure with final and binding arbitration and anti-discrimination clause in contract provided for resolution of disputes involving alleged discrimination under the Act; further, E had expressed willingness to arbitrate dispute and impiedly waived any timeliness objections)

T.L.B. Plastics Corporation 273 NLRB No. 223
(deferral under grievance-arbitration provisions of bargaining agreement appropriate as to issues of whether E violated Act by: (1) issuing 2 disciplinary notices to one Ee, (2) refusing to pay Ee holiday pay, (3) suspending Ee for 3 days, (4) discharging that Ee and (5) discharging other Ees (U adherents) who allegedly were released for engaging in work stoppage, or wild cat strike in violation of plant rule and no-strike clause of collective bargaining agreement. Contractual and ULP issues were factually parallel and Ees involved had faith in fairness of grievance-arbitration machinery as well as efforts of present U steward)

United Food Management Service, Inc. Alabama 273 NLRB No. 201
(deferral of issue of whether E had contractual duty to inform new hires that they would be subject to discharge for failure to join U w/i 45 days, appropriate in view of contract interpretation issue-- where contract lacked express notification provision,-- and evidence that deferral would not be futile where parties had used grievance-arbitration procedure to resolve other disputes, E was willing to arbitrate, and U had initiated grievance procedure; U's election not to proceed to arbitration on grievance did not preclude deferral decision)

Advance Manufacturing Corp. JD-9-86
[no deferral to arbitration of alleged unlawful discharge, where U's undisputed explanation for not processing grievance regarding discharge to arbitration, lack of funds, did not appear contrived and E did not require or request arbitration]

3367-1700 Nature of proceeding

3367-1712 Proceeding established by contract

3367-1712-7500 Grievance procedure with joint-committee

Earl C. Smith, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 100
[deferral to joint committee award, inappropriate, since award was palpably wrong and therefore clearly repugnant to the Act, and could not have resolved E's 8(a)(5) violations alleged in C, where award merely ordered E to comply with a contract that was neither at issue nor in effect at time of E's conduct, which included its refusal to bargain with U, its direct dealing with Ees, and its unilateral modification of earlier contract]

3367-1762 State authorities

Terraillon Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037
[no deferral of charge of wrongful discharge to decision of state department of labor, since Bd in exercise of its jurisdiction to decide ULP cases pursuant to Section 10(a) of Act will not be bound to defer to decisions of other administrative agencies; E's analogy to arbitration deferral cases, rejected, since parties in those cases had agreed to be bound by arbitrator's decision, and Section 201 of Act encourages arbitration]

Port Plastics, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 050
[deferral to decision of State deputy labor commissioner regarding merits of discharge, inappropriate]

3367-1775 Court suit

M. J. Santulli Mail Services, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 170
[E's defense to unlawful unilateral discontinuance of payments to health and welfare fund on ground C should be dismissed because U instituted ct action to collect monies due to fund, rejected, since it is not Bd law to defer or to dismiss due to pendency of ct action]

Inner City Broadcasting Corporation 281 NLRB No. 162
[request for deferral to district ct in which same issue was raised as to whether contract existed, declined, on basis of Bd precedent, even though issues before ct and Bd were identical]

3367-1787 Non-Board settlement by parties

Service Merchandise Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 023
[Bd upheld ALJ's refusal to approve settlement of allegations of unlawful discharge of its drivers and subcontracting of driving operations, since proposed out of Bd lump sum settlement was not computed in accordance with Bd's packpay formulae, proposed settlement wholly inadequate for effectuating policies of Act in that Bd monitoring of parties' conduct would be required after approval of withdrawal of charge, approval also inappropriate in that would require Bd sanction of release of Respondent from any or all liabilities arising out of Ees' employment or cessation of employment, and sanction of waiver of reinstatement over objections of Ees

River Grain Elevators, Inc. and Cooper Stevedoring Co., Inc. JD-185-86
[proposed non-Bd settlement agreement in which U and discriminatees were reinbursed for dues and lost wages, respectively approved, where all but 2 of 13 alleged discriminatees signified their assent to settlement agreement. Of 2 remaining discriminatees, one has since joined other alleged discriminatees in signifying his approval to non-Bd settlement while one other discriminatee has not responded to Judge's Order to Show Cause. Approval is compatible with policies and purposes of Act which are— in the public interest and not in vindication of private rights]

3367-1787-5000 Strike-settlement agreement

Texaco, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 164
(RD erred in refusing to permit withdrawal of charge alleging E unlawfully withheld accident and sick benefits from Ees who were receiving such benefits prior to economic strike, where parties had reached strike settlement agreement under which U agreed to end strike, withdraw charges, and each Ee was to receive at least $150 in settlement of outstanding contractual claims, since benefits withheld no more than contractual term subsequently negotiated away in good faith, no other ULPs extant and no Ee objected; primary interest served by continual rights of a few Ees rather than public rights)

3367-3300 Authority of tribunal making determination

3367-3310 Over the parties

District 1199E, Hospital Employees (Greater Pennsylvania Avenue Nursing Center, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 173
(Bd deferred to arbitration award over issue of subcontracting and U's refusal to bargain notwithstanding subcontractor not party to arbitration proceeding since there was contractual privity between contractor and subcontractor)

3367-3320 Binding nature of determination

Communications Workers (Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, et al.) 280 NLRB No. 009
[deferral to arbitration not appropriate where bargaining agreement did not provide charging parties with access to grievance-arbitration procedure i.e. no right to compel binding arbitration, and to allow Respondent to waive this procedural defect would fundamentally alter existing dispute procedures]

Alpha Beta Company 273 NLRB No. 194
(deferral to grievance settlement agreement over issue of discharge of sympathy strikers, appropriate, where proceedings fair and regular, all parties agreed to be bound, including Ees, and though themselves not involved in negotiations, Ees authorized Us to accept settlement on their behalf knowing it contained no backpay, settlement not palpably wrong under law, particularly since it resulted from negotiations, U could waive Ees statutory rights here, and result not repugnant to Act notwithstanding Ees authorized acceptance of settlement solely because they wished to pursue backpay issue before Bd)

3367-3340 Identity of issues

3367-3340-5000 ULP proceedings

Armour and Company 280 NLRB No. 096
[no deferral to decision of arbitrator on issue of waiver by U of right to request bargaining regarding allocation to specific periods of severance and vacation pay to Ees being terminated, since contract issue resolved by arbitrator was not factually parallel to statutory issue presented to Bd, where question of U waiver never presented to nor considered by arbitrator, and arbitrator considered waiver only to extent that he found no evidence to indicate E bargained away or waived its right to allocate separation pay under state employment law]

Texaco, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 163
[deferral to arbitration decision regarding suspension of Ees for alleged strike misconduct, appropriate, since arbitrator had complied with Spielberg standards inasmuch as he had adequately considered ULP issue where he was presented with evidence of alleged actions of Ees, nor was his decision which held that Ees did engage in strike misconduct and ordered reinstatement, but no backpay, repugnant to purposes and policies of Act]

Texaco, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 163
[contractual and ULP issues factually paralel, and deferral to arbitration appropriate, where essence of each proceeding was whether E was justified in disciplining on Ees for alleged strike misconduct, and arbitrator adequately considered ULP issue and decided just cause for discipline existed. Each forum has its own analytical framework. Thus arbitrator decided whether just cause for discipline existed while resolution of ULP would require decision on whether Ees by their misconduct forfeited protection of Act. These analytical differences however are endemic to relative forums and do not detract from congruent issue of whether Ees misconduct justified discipline

3367-3340-5000—Cont.

Sachs Electric Company 278 NLRB No. 121
[deferral to Labor Management Committee's decision that concluded that Ee was not selected for layoff because of his activities as U steward, appropriate where issue of Ee's status as steward before Committee was factually parallel with issues herein and Committee was presented with many of same facts presented herein and relevant to resolving issue of Ee's occupying position of steward]

Sachs Electric Company 278 NLRB No. 121
[deferral to Labor Management Committee for decision as to whether Ee had been selected for layoff as result of his complaining to E's general foreman, and subsequently to U's business manager about foreman's failure to allocate available overtime work to other Ees as required under contract, appropriate where contractual and statutory issues were clearly factually identical, facts needed to resolve ULP question were generally presented to Committee, and statutory issue was adequately considered by Committee]

Desota, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 114
[deference to arbitral award that E's closing plant and transferring work to its other facilities violated contract, inappropriate where issue presented to Bd was broader than issue presented to arbitrator and neither party sought deferral to award]

Donald Brown d/b/a Bailey Distributors 278 NLRB No. 017
[deferral to arbitral award that E did not discriminatorily pay grievant less than helper's contractual wage and did not discharge him for requesting payment at contractual rate, appropriate where contractual and statutory issues turned on whether grievant was ever employed by E as a helper and GC failed to demonstrate that arbitrator was not generally presented with facts relevant to statutory issue]

Garland Coal & Mining Co. 276 NLRB No. 102
(Bd held U, as party opposing deferral, did not sustain its burden of proving that arbitrator did not consider ULP involving discharge of U official, where (1) arbitrator was required to determined whether official was discharged for just cause under contract which was issued factually parallel to Bd's consideration of question whether discharge was statutorily unlawful; and (2) arbitrator was presented generally with facts relevant to resolving ULP charge and made specific findings of fact based on evidence essentially same as that which was necessary for determination of merits of ULP charge)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(Bd deferred to arbitration award holding that contractual no-strike provision encompassed sympathy strikers and therefore E was free to discipline sympathy strikers where award was not clearly repugnant to Act since broad no-strike clause bans all strikes, including sympathy strikes, absent clear evidence that parties intended otherwise; no party contended arbitration proceeding failed to satisfy other Spielberg criteria; contractual issue was factually parallel to ULP issue; and parties presented arbitration panel with facts relevant to resolving issues)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours & Company 275 NLRB No. 103
(deferral appropriate where grievance and ULP issues of whether implementation of E's new program violated the contract or Sec. 8(a)(5) of the Act as unilateral change w/o bargaining were factually parallel, turned on presence or absence of contractual authorization of E's new program, and could be resolved by evidence of parties' prior contracts, bargaining history, and past practice; further, E's alleged direct dealing with Ees to enlist them as candidates for its new program was not alleged as independent ULP)

United Food Management Service, Inc. Alabama 273 NLRB No. 201
(deferral of issue of whether under the contract E could tell Ees that they would not be terminated if they did not join the U, appropriate, since Ees' obligation to join U as condition of employment was a matter of interpretation of a certain article of the contract, and its resolution would determine whether or not E's statement was contrary to that contractual provision; ALJ had found E's statement violative of 8(a)(1))

The Stroh Brewery Company a/k/a Joseph Schlitz Company 273 NLRB No. 200
(deferral to arbitral award, appropriate, since arbitrator adequately considered alleged ULP where ULP and contractual issues both involved Ee's discharge, and arbitrator's finding that discharge was for insubordination, rather than U activities, was not palpably wrong or repugnant to the Act where arbitrator had before him all evidence of Ee's U activities, including fact insubordination occurred while Ee was transacting U business)

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86
[U's complaint to Bd that arbitrator, in finding violation of 8(a)(1) and (3), failed to order posting of award whereas Bd in similar circumstances would require posting of its usual notice held insufficient basis for setting aside arbitrator's award, since there is no requirement under Bd law for posting of arbitration awards]

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86
[U's contention that arbitration award, which included finding that E had violated Act, was repugnant to Act because arbitrator did not issue c/d order mandated under Sec. 10(c), rejected; arbitrators are private citizens lacking power to issue c/d orders or to remedy public wrongs; they can only determine private rights and grant specific remedy for breach of private agreement; and novel issue herein, involving arbitrator's finding that E violated Act, is properly to be passed upon by Bd or reviewing ct, not by ALJ]

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86
[ALJ held U's objection to arbitrator's award, finding 8(a)(1) and (3) violation, as being insufficient because arbitrator did not issue c/d order is one which is properly to be passed upon by Bd or reviewing ct, not by ALJ]

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86
[although normally deferral is not warranted where, as here, issue before arbitrator was not based on interpretation or application of contract, deferral to arbitrator's award, finding no 8(a)(5) violation, appropriate, where ALJ had granted chargin, U's request to hold C case in abeyance pending outcome of arbitration proceeding but, upon receipt of unsatisfactory award, U returned for decision from ALJ in face of GC's mtn to dismiss C, and thereby impermissibly trifled with Bd processes; nor was public interest compromised by deferral since GC, as public autority, acted in public interest]

Ambassador Convalescent Center, Inc. Debtor-In-Possession In Bankruptcy JD-319-85
(deferral inappropriate where E's defense to 8(a)(5) charge was not based on claim of contractual privilege but rather on argument that no contract was formed, and arbitration provision in expired agreement only allowed arbitrator to decide questions which arose under bargaining agreement, not whether contract existed)

Coos-Bend, Inc., d/b/a The Sawmill Restaurant & Lounge JD-(SF)-156-85
(E's mtn to stay ULP proceeding pending grievance it had filed, denied since processing of grievance would not resolve all of issues in proceeding; further, E had acted in total disregard of its bargaining obligations by its failure to execute written contract containing terms verbally agreed to)

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)
[deferral to arbitral determination, appropriate where grievance that Ee was paid substandard wages was factually parallel to ULP charge that as non-U member he was discriminatorily paid subcontractual wages and benefits, and arbitrator was presented with facts necessary to make that determination]

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)
[deferral of ULP charge concerning constructive discharge by conditioning employment as helper on acceptance of substandard wages, inappropriate where charge was not factually parallel with grievances of receipt of substandard wages as helper or improper termination of position as driver; further, arbitrator was not presented with facts necessary resolve charge where arbitral decision did not mention incident constituting alleged discharge, counsel and E testified that issue was not raised, and Ee failed to tell counsel why he refused conditioned employment offer]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[Bd's decision under Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, that deferral is proper in all cases unless it is affirmatively demonstrated that some unusual circumstances require that ALJ conduct independent inquiry into grievant's statutory claims cannot be reconciled with need to protect statutory rights, as expressed by S.Ct; Olin Corp. ignores those instances where contract and statutory issues may be factually parallel but involve distinct elements of proof and questions of factual relevance]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[ct vacated and remanded to Bd its decision which held that GC had not met its burden of affirmatively demonstrating that ULP had not received adequate consideration by arbitration committee; remand required Bd to reconsider its decision in light of ct's disapproval of Bd's standard for deferral under Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[deferral inappropriate where it was not shown that arbitration committee considered statutory ULP issue]

3367-3360 Adequacy of decision

E. I. Dupont De Nemours & Company 275 NLRB No. 103
(deferral appropriate where grievance and ULP issues of whether implementation of E's new program violated the contract or Sec. 8(a)(5) of the Act as unilateral change w/o bargaining were factually parallel, turned on presence or absence of contractual authorization of E's new program, and could be resolved by evidence of parties' prior contracts, bargaining history, and past practice; further, E's alleged direct dealing with Ees to enlist them as candidates for its new program was not alleged as independent ULP)

3367-3360—Cont.

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86

[U's complaint to Bd that arbitrator awarded only 6 percent interest on backpay remedy whereas Bd would have required payment of interest at 12 percent held insufficient basis for setting aside arbitrator's award and granting standard Bd remedy, since difference between 6 percent and 12 percent per annum on one day's pay, even for 48 Ees, involved herein, was de minimis]

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86

[U's complaint to Bd that arbitrator, in finding violation of 8(a)(1) and (3), failed to order posting of award whereas Bd in similar circumstances would require posting of its usual notice held insufficient basis for setting aside arbitrator's award, since there is no requirement under Bd law for posting of arbitration awards]

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86

[ALJ held U's objection to arbitrator's award, finding 8(a)(1) and (3) violation, as being insufficient because arbitrator did not issue c/d order is one which is properly to be passed upon by Bd or reviewing ct, not by ALJ]

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[deferral to arbitral determination, appropriate where grievance that Ee was paid substandard wages was factually parallel to ULP charge that as non-U member he was discriminatorily paid subcontractual wages and benefits, and arbitrator was presented with facts necessary to make that determination]

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[deferral of ULP charge concerning constructive discharge by conditioning employment as helper on acceptance of substandard wages, inappropriate where charge was not factually parallel with grievances of receipt of substandard wages as helper or improper termination of position as driver; further, arbitrator was not presented with facts necessary resolve charge where arbitral decision did not mention incident constituting alleged discharge, counsel and E testified that issue was not raised, and Ee failed to tell counsel why he refused conditioned employment offer]

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[contention that Ee should be barred from challenging deferral to arbitral award on basis that arbitrator failed to address ULP issue of constructive discharge as helper because Ee purposely did not raise issue at arbitration hearing over improper termination from driver's position because he wanted to be reinstated to driver's position only, rejected, since, regardless of blame, ULP issue was not raised at arbitration hearing and facts necessary to resolve it not presented, so that deferral to arbitral award would be abuse of discretion]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)

[deferral inappropriate where it was not shown that arbitration committee considered statutory ULP issue]

3367-3380 Jurisdiction pre-empted by federal statute

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)

[Bd's decision under Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, that deferral is proper in all cases unless it is affirmatively demonstrated that some unusual circumstances require that ALJ conduct independent inquiry into grievant's statutory claims cannot be reconciled with need to protect statutory rights, as expressed by S.Ct; Olin Corp. ignores those instances where contract and statutory issues may be factually parallel but involve distinct elements of proof and questions of factual relevance]

3367-5000 Fair and regular nature of proceeding

3367-5001 Generally

Anderson Prestress Division Anderson Sand and Gravel Company 277 NLRB No. 127

[where Respondent shows that arbitration concerning matter before Bd has already occured, burden is on GC to demonstrate that there are deficiencies in arbitral process requiring Bd to ignore determination of arbitration and subject case to de novo review]

Sawin & Co., Inc. 277 NLRB No. 044

(arbitration proceeding at which E relied on affidavits rather than presenting witnesses held fair and regular; Bd does not require that strict standard of Bd hearing be met in order that arbitration award be honored)

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[burden is on party requesting Bd to ignore earlier arbitration decision to establish inadequacy of that proceeding]

3367-5050 Adequate procedures

Sawin & Co., Inc. 277 NLRB No. 044

(deferral appropriate where E and U agreed to be bound by arbitrator's decision, charging party and other alleged discriminatees testified in their own behalf, proceeding was fair and regular notwithstanding that E relied on affidavits rather than presenting witnesses inasmuch as neither U nor alleged discriminatees sought to compel attendance of affiants at, or protested any facet of, arbitration proceeding)

Sawin & Co., Inc. 277 NLRB No. 044

(GC's contention that arbitrator's award in favor of E was based on arbitrator's disbelief of alleged discriminatees' denial that they had engaged in strike misconduct for which E had refused to reinstate them, and that such disbelief did not provide basis for finding that misconduct had occurred, rejected; it cannot be assumed, w/o supporting evidence, that arbitrator was so derelict in his duties so as not to require E to meet burden of proof in discharge and discipline cases; and GC did not meet his burden of establishing existence of such deficiencies)

Alpha Beta Company 273 NLRB No. 194

(deferral to grievance settlement agreement over issue of discharge of sympathy strikers, appropriate, where proceedings fair and regular, all parties agreed to be bound, including Ees, and though themselves not involved in negotiations, Ees authorized Us to accept settlement on their behalf knowing it contained no backpay, settlement not palpably wrong under law, particularly since it resulted from negotiations, U could waive Ees statutory rights here, and result not repugnant to Act notwithstanding Ees authorized acceptance of settlement solely because they wished to pursue backpay issue before Bd)

Hotel and Restaurant Employees, Local 54 (Boardwalk Regency Corp-d/b/a Caesars Atlantic City) JD-104-86

[no deferral to award made w/o regard for due process where award rested on facts found w/o benefit of parole or documentary testimony of witnesses, litigation, confrontation, cross-examination, or opportunity to present counter-proof]

3367-5075 Result not repugnant to Act

Ryder/P.I.E. Nationwide, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 109

[deferral of alleged discharge ULP to joint committee award, inappropriate, since it was repugnant to the Act because committee was not presented with evidence of protected activities responsible for E's discriminatory treatment, and absence of that evidence precluded finding that contractual and statutory issues were factually parallel]

Earl C. Smith, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 100

[deferral to joint committee award, inappropriate, since award was palpably wrong and therefore clearly repugnant to the Act, and could not have resolved E's 8(a)(5) violations alleged in C, where award merely ordered E to comply with a contract that was neither at issue nor in effect at time of E's conduct, which included its refusal to bargain with U, its direct dealing with Ees, and its unilateral modification of earlier contract]

Drummond Coal Company, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 177

[if the reasoning behind an award is susceptible of two interpretations, one permissable and one impermissable, it is simply not true that the award was clearly repugnant to the Act]

Anderson Prestress Division Anderson Sand and Gravel Company 277 NLRB No. 127

]by adopting broadly based arbitration policy as enunciated in Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, Bd endorses national labor policy favoring arbitration and achieves one of the primary objectives of Act-to encourage collective bargaining. Deferral recognizes that parties have accepted possibility that arbitrator might decide particular set of facts differently than would Bd. This possibility, however, is one which parties have voluntarily assumed through collective bargaining)

Brewery Workers Joint Local Executive Board, Teamsters, and Local 153, et al. (Anheuser-Busch, Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 118

(arbitrator's award applying multi-E unitwide seniority system held not clearly repugnant to purpose and policy of Act, as found by ALJ, since test under Olin is not whether award is totally consistent with Bd precedent, but whether award is susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act; and if requirement is met, award is not palpably wrong and Bd will defer)

Garland Coal & Mining Co. 276 NLRB No. 102

(deferral inappropriate where arbitrator's award, upholding disciplining of U official for being insubordinate in refusing to sign E's memorandum threatening discharge if grievance and safety committee members interfered in any activity outside their own unit was repugnant to Act, since to find that official was insubordinate for engaging in support of U's interpretation of contract is not consistent with Act; and it is unlawful for E to discipline Ees for engaging in protected activities as U representatives)

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 203

(issue of whether E's unilaterally promoting 3 chief operators in one of its 5 buildings at its plant to shift supervisor w/o bargaining in good faith with U

3367-5075—Cont.

properly deferred to arbitrator's award finding that contract's management rights clause gave E authority to direct its Ees, and neither recognition clause nor any other provision restricted this right. Bd, in this case, would have determined E's unilateral action to be not violative since award is susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act. Also ULP and contractual issues are factually parallel)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(Bd deferred to arbitration award holding that contractual no-strike provision encompassed sympathy strikers and therefore E was free to discipline sympathy strikers where award was not clearly repugnant to Act since broad no-strike clause bans all strikes, including sympathy strikes, absent clear evidence that parties intended otherwise; no party contended arbitration proceeding failed to satisfy other Spielberg criteria; contractual issue was factually parallel to ULP issue; and parties presented arbitration panel with facts relevant to resolving issues)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours & Company 275 NLRB No. 103
(deferral appropriate where grievance and ULP issues of whether implementation of E's new program violated the contract or Sec. 8(a)(5) of the Act as unilateral change w/o bargaining were factually parallel, turned on presence or absence of contractual authorization of E's new program, and could be resolved by evidence of parties' prior contracts, bargaining history, and past practice; further, E's alleged direct dealing with Ees to enlist them as candidates for its new program was not alleged as independent ULP)

1115, Nursing Home and Hospital Employees Union, A Division of 1115 Joint Board 275 NLRB No. 045
(U's filing ptn in S.Ct of N.Y. to confirm that portion of arbitrator's award determining that U gained majority support of Ees in several previously unrepresented departments of E, violative, since award was based on tainted authorization cards, obtained by supervisors' assistance removing them as basis for attaining majority support; no deferral as decision of arbitrator palpably wrong as it seeks to achieve prohibited objective and lacks reasonable basis in fact and law)

1115, Nursing Home and Hospital Employees Union, A Division of 1115 Joint Board 275 NLRB No. 045
(findings of arbitrator not disturbed where he found that U acted in good faith when it obtained uncoerced card majority w/i two of E's departments. Collective-bargaining agreement (between E and U) provided for inclusion of units where U obtains uncoerced majority and arbitrator's award relating to these two group met Spielberg criteria in all respects)

I. A. R. Electric, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 099
(deferral appropriate since result of joint conference committee's decision to uphold discharge was not repugnant to Act, where discharged Ee who was grievant was contractually protected job steward and committee was presented with conflicting claims as to reason for discharge: one, performance of steward responsibilities, the other, non-production and insubordination; it was decided that the latter was true cause of discharge and decision was clear and unambiguous and ULP issue was identical with issue decided by committee)

Martin Redi-Mix, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 079
(deferral appropriate in case involving alleged 8(a)(1) discharge where statutory and contractual issues were factually parallel, i.e. what prompted Ee to depart from jobsite and whether Ee was voluntary quit, arbitrator was presented with evidence necessary for determination of ULP charge, i.e. circumstances surrounding Ee's departure from work; fact that GC and ALJ would have decided contractual issues differently does not change result since Bd will not substitute its judgment for that of the arbitrator but rather, Bd will inquire only whether arbitrator adequately considered issues; Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, followed)

Alpha Beta Company 273 NLRB No. 194
(deferral to grievance settlement agreement over issue of discharge of sympathy strikers, appropriate, where proceedings fair and regular, all parties agreed to be bound, including Ees, and though themselves not involved in negotiations, Ees authorized Us to accept settlement on their behalf knowing it contained no backpay, settlement not palpably wrong under law, particularly since it resulted from negotiations, U could waive Ees statutory rights here, and result not repugnant to Act notwithstanding Ees authorized acceptance of settlement solely because they wished to pursue backpay issue before Bd)

The Stroh Brewery Company a/k/a Joseph Schlitz Company 273 NLRB No. 200
(deferral to arbitral award, appropriate, since arbitrator adequately considered alleged ULP where ULP and contractual issues both involved Ee's discharge, and arbitrator's finding that discharge was for insubordination, rather than U activities, was not palpably wrong or repugnant to the Act where arbitrator had before him all evidence of Ee's U activities, including fact insubordination occurred while Ee was transacting U business)

Cone Mills Corporation-White Oak Plant 273 NLRB No. 188
(Bd reiterated Olin Corp. clearly repugnant standard that it would not require arbitrator's award to be totally consistent with Bd precedent; unless GC sustains his burden of proof that award is palpably wrong, i.e., that arbitrator's decision is not susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act, Bd will defer)

Cone Mills Corporation-White Oak Plant 273 NLRB No. 188
(arbitrator's award reinstating discharged U steward but w/o backpay held to have met Olin Corp. clearly repugnant standard that Bd would not require award to be totally consistent with Bd precedent; failure to give complete make-whole remedy does not render award clearly repugnant; in issuing award, arbitrator may consider relative merit of positions of parties and may determine to give complete award or partial award, depending on how he assesses merit of the situation)

Cone Mills Corporation-White Oak Plant 273 NLRB No. 188
(deferral appropriate where arbitrator's award reinstating discharged U steward but w/o backpay was not repugnant to Act and GC has not carried his burden of proving award palpably wrong; steward, who engaged in U and/or protected activities, was discharged for refusing to leave plant when instructed to do so by E and which arbitrator found constituted insubordination; it is essential nature of arbitration process to balance competing claims of parties by adjusting equities involved to reach harmonious result, and that is what parties had agreed upon as acceptable resolution of their labor-management dispute)

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86
[U's complaint to Bd that arbitrator, in finding violation of 8(a)(1) and (3), failed to order posting of award whereas Bd in similar circumstances would require posting of its usual notice held insufficient basis for setting aside arbitrator's award, since there is no requirement under Bd law for posting of arbitration awards]

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86
[U's contention that arbitration award, which included finding that E had violated Act, was repugnant to Act because arbitrator did not issue c/d order mandated under Sec. 10(c), rejected; arbitrators are private citizens lacking power to issue c/d orders or to remedy public wrongs; they can only determine private rights and grant specific remedy for breach of private agreement; and novel issue herein, involving arbitrator's finding that E violated Act, is properly to be passed upon by Bd or reviewing ct, not by ALJ]

N.L.R.B. v. Wolff & Munier, Inc. 747 F.2d 156 (C.A. 3, Oct. 1984)
[where Bd assertedly refused to defer to joint committee's findings that dischargees were foremen and could be discharged at will for lack of evidence that the committee considered the ULP issue of whether they were discharged due to E's antiU motivation, ct remanded case to Bd to determine whether the committee findings resolved the statutory issue by deciding that the foremen were supervisors and not protected by the Act and whether the committee's findings were repugnant to the Act]

3367-5076 Consideration of unfair labor practices

United States Postal Service 281 NLRB No. 032
[deferral inappropriate where E engaged in direct dealing with Ee and unilaterally adjusted Ee's grievance concerning pending dismissal from job, even though E expressed its willingness to arbitrate issue of Ee's discipline by reactivating his grievance, since E's request for deferral did not specifically encompass underlying issue of its direct dealing and unilateral grievance adjustment, and therefore ULP issue would remain unresolved]

Armour and Company 280 NLRB No. 096
[no deferral to arbitration award of complaint alleging unlawful refusal by E to bargain regarding allocation of severance and vacation payments to Ees being terminated to specific periods, since ULP issues not considered by arbitrator, where Respondent had argued that arbitrator had no authority to exapnd nature of grievance filed or federal or state matters raised by U at arbitration hearing, and arbitrator concluded he had no authority to decide ULP issues raised by U]

Armour and Company 280 NLRB No. 096
[no deferral to decision of arbitrator on issue of waiver by U of right to request bargaining regarding allocation to specific periods of severance and vacation pay to Ees being terminated, since contract issue resolved by arbitrator was not factually parallel to statutory issue presented to Bd, where question of U waiver never presented to nor considered by arbitrator, and arbitrator considered waiver only to extent that he found no evidence to indicate E bargained away or waived its right to allocate separation pay under state employment law]

Toyota of San Francisco 280 NLRB No. 093
[deferral to arbitration of allegation that E who was party to bargaining agreement with most favored nation clause, which provided that any more favorable terms agreed to by U with any other E would automatically become part of agreement, had acted unlawfully when it invoked provision and applied wage rate paid pursuant to agreement with another dealer to strike replacements and paid its Ees who worked during strike at its final offer rate, where arbitrator considered separately both implementation of most favored nation rates and of E's final offer, provided remedy for each, and retained jurisdiction to determine E's liability to Ees]

Toyota of San Francisco 280 NLRB No. 093
[no deferral to arbitration decision of allegation that E unlawfully implemented terms of its final offer, where matter was not before arbitrator]

3367-5076—Cont.

Texaco, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 163
[deferral to arbitration decision regarding suspension of Ees for alleged strike misconduct, appropriate, since arbitrator had complied with Spielberg standards inasmuch as he had adequately considered ULP issue where he was presented with evidence of alleged actions of Ees, nor was his decision which held that Ees did engage in strike misconduct and ordered reinstatement, but no backpay, repugnant to purposes and policies of Act]

Desota, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 114
[deference to arbitral award that E's closing plant and transferring work to its other facilities violated contract, inappropriate where issue presented to Bd was broader than issue presented to arbitrator and neither party sought deferral to award]

Ryder/P.I.E. Nationwide, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 109
[deferral of alleged discharge ULP to joint committee award, inappropriate, since it was repugnant to the Act because committee was not presented with evidence of protected activities responsible for E's discriminatory treatment, and absence of that evidence precluded finding that contractual and statutory issues were factually parallel]

Earl C. Smith, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 100
[deferral to joint committee award, inappropriate, since award was palpably wrong and therefore clearly repugnant to the Act, and could not have resolved E's 8(a)(5) violations alleged in C, where award merely ordered E to comply with a contract that was neither at issue nor in effect at time of E's conduct, which included its refusal to bargain with U, its direct dealing with Ees, and its unilateral modification of earlier contract]

Donald Brown d/b/a Bailey Distributors 278 NLRB No. 017
[deferral to arbitral award that E did not discriminatorily pay grievant less than helper's contractual wage and did not discharge him for requesting payment at contractual rate, appropriate where contractual and statutory issues turned on whether grievant was ever employed by E as a helper and GC failed to demonstrate that arbitrator was not generally presented with facts relevant to statutory issue]

Drummond Coal Company, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 177
[Bd deferred to grievance arbitration award concerning issue of whether E provided U advance notice for effects bargaining over shop's closure, since question was coextensive with those that would be considered by Bd in decision on whether E complied with agreed upon arrangement for effects bargaining over layoffs. Only U excepted to judge's decision deferring to arbitral award and U failed to allege award did not meet standards set forth in Spielberg Mfg. Co., 112 NLRB 1080 (1955). U failed to meet burden of affirmatively demonstrating defects in arbitral process or award]

Drummond Coal Company, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 177
[no deference to arbitral awards which did not consider merits of grievance or substantive aspects relating to possible ULP since procedural obstacles (time-bar of notice and res judicata) caused dismissal of grievance by arbitrator and prevented parties from resolving their disputes on merits through grievance-arbitration process]

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corporation 277 NLRB No. 160
(deferral to arbitral award that discharge was for cause, inappropriate where facts necessary to resolution of unfair labor practice were not presented)

Anderson Prestress Division Anderson Sand and Gravel Company 277 NLRB No. 127
(deferral to arbitration decision upholding discharge for violation of no-strike clause, proper, where contractual and statutory issues were factually parallel, and arbitration panel presented generally with facts relevant to resolving ULPs, notwithstanding absence of any rationale in award to indicate panel considered ULPs, and failure of parties to raise issue at hearings, since GC has not shown arbitration panel was lacking evidence relevant to determination of nature of obligation imposed by no-strike clause, nor was award repugnant to purposes and policies of Act)

Anderson Prestress Division Anderson Sand and Gravel Company 277 NLRB No. 127
]arbitrator has adequately considered ULP issue if (1) contractual issue is factually parallel to ULP issue, and (2) arbitrator was presented generally with facts relevant to resolving ULP]

Anderson Prestress Division Anderson Sand and Gravel Company 277 NLRB No. 127
(Bd's standard of review does not contemplate substitution of its judgment for that of arbitrator, but only that arbitrator adequately consider ULP issues)

Liquid Carbonic Corporation 277 NLRB No. 091
(Bd held that contract clause requiring E to have its Ees employed by whomever E may choose to subcontract unit work to, and which required any subcontractor employing E's Ees to agree to entire contract covering unit Ees, was not violative on its face of Section 8(e); therefore, C was dismissed and deferral was appropriate to arbitrator's finding that E violated contract by subcontracting unit work since arbitrator expresly considered allegations of C)

A. N. Electric Corp. 276 NLRB No. 092
(no deferral to alleged settlement of E's liabilities to discharged Ees where there was discrepancy between amounts Ees testified they received and figures in settlement; circumstances suggested that settlement figures had been tampered with; agreement was apparently to settle E's Davis-Bacon Act liabilities, not its ULP liabilities; and alleged settlement did not rise w/i framework of established grievance-arbitration procedures)

Garland Coal & Mining Co. 276 NLRB No. 102
(Bd held U, as party opposing deferral, did not sustain its burden of proving that arbitrator did not consider ULP involving discharge of U official, where (1) arbitrator was required to determined whether official was discharged for just cause under contract which was issued factually parallel to Bd's consideration of question whether discharge was statutorily unlawful; and (2) arbitrator was presented generally with facts relevant to resolving ULP change and made specific findings of fact based on evidence essentially same as that which was necessary for determination of merits of ULP charge)

Cotter & Company 276 NLRB No. 075
(deferral to arbitrator's award inappropriate, in view of C allegations that E discriminated against Ees in failing to consider them for transfer to new facility because of their U activity, where arbitrator, in finding E did not violate contract by refusing recognition at new facility, based decision only on the terms of the contract and did not in any way consider E motive, a fact which clearly was the basis of the instant C)

Laborers Local Union No. 380 (Mautz & Oren, Inc.) 275 NLRB No. 167
(deferral to arbitration award, rejected, since award involved interpretation of unlawful superseniority clause which was not addressed or resolved by arbitrator which leaves award not susceptible to an interpretation consistent with Act)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(Bd deferred to arbitration award holding that contractual no-strike provision encompassed sympathy strikers and therefore E was free to discipline sympathy strikers where award was not clearly repugnant to Act since broad no-strike clause bans all strikes, including sympathy strikes, absent clear evidence that parties intended otherwise; no party contended arbitration proceeding failed to satisfy other Spielberg criteria; contractual issue was factually parallel to ULP issue; and parties presented arbitration panel with facts relevant to resolving issues)

Paper Manufacturers Company 274 NLRB No. 070
(deferral to arbitrator's decision finding that group of represented Ees who were relocated had accreted to unit of Ees represented by another U, inappropriate, since arbitrator's decision was in no way consonant with Board's standards where arbitrator gave no consideration to Bd precedent which clearly proscribes reliance on relocation as excuse for evading consequences of certification and failed to consider whether the certification of U representing relocated Ees survived their transfer to new location)

United Parcel Service, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 093
(deferral to joint committee award appropriate, where proceedings were fair and regular, parties agreed to be bound, contractual and ULP issues were factually parallel, and panel was presented with facts relevant to resolving ULP issue of whether Ee's refusing to tap his horn as directed lest he break the law was concerted, protected activity or grieving would have been a reasonable alternative, and whether he should have been disciplined for insubordination; GC has failed to show that award was palpably wrong or provide basis for not giving binding effect to award)

Martin Redi-Mix, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 079
(deferral appropriate in case involving alleged 8(a)(1) discharge where statutory and contractual issues were factually parallel, i.e. what prompted Ee to depart from jobsite and whether Ee was voluntary quit, arbitrator was presented with evidence necessary for determination of ULP charge, i.e. circumstances surrounding Ee's departure from work; fact that GC and ALJ would have decided contractual issues differently does not change result since Bd will not substitute its judgment for that of the arbitrator but rather, Bd will inquire only whether arbitrator adequately considered issues; Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, followed)

United Parcel Service, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 066
(C dismissed where GC's evidence which augmented that (ULP evidence) presented to arbitration panel, is not of such probative value as to necessitate conclusion that arbitration panel did not have before it essential facts as to issues (Ee's discharge etc.) litigated. GC failed to carry his burden of proof for rejection of arbitration decision)

United States Postal Service 273 NLRB No. 217
(where Bd deferred to parties' grievance-arbitration procedure under United Technologies, 268 NLRB No. 83 inasmuch as bargaining agreement contained broad grievance-arbitration agreement provision clearly encompassing dispute, but record did not establish issues alleged as ULPs were fully considered in course of processing grievance, E must waive any timeliness provisions of grievance-arbitration clauses since Technologies does not preclude U from filing second grievance specifically covering ULP)

3367-5076—Cont.

Coos-Bend, Inc., d. b/a The Sawmill Restaurant & Lounge JD-(SF)-156-85
(E's mtn to stay ULP proceeding pending grievance it had filed, denied since processing of grievance would not resolve all of issues in proceeding; further, E had acted in total disregard of its bargaining obligations by its failure to execute written contract containing terms verbally agreed to)

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)
[deferral to arbitral determination, appropriate where grievance that Ee was paid substandard wages was factually parallel to ULP charge that as non-U member he was discriminatorily paid subcontractual wages and benefits, and arbitrator was presented with facts necessary to make that determination]

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)
[deferral of ULP charge concerning constructive discharge by conditioning employment as helper on acceptance of substandard wages, inappropriate where charge was not factually parallel with grievances of receipt of substandard wages as helper or improper termination of position as driver; further, arbitrator was not presented with facts necessary resolve charge where arbitral decision did not mention incident constituting alleged discharge, counsel and E testified that issue was not raised, and Ee failed to tell counsel why he refused conditioned employment offer]

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)
[contention that Ee should be barred from challenging deferral to arbitral award on basis that arbitrator failed to address ULP issue of constructive discharge as helper because Ee purposely did not raise issue at arbitration hearing over improper termination from driver's position because he wanted to be reinstated to driver's position only, rejected, since, regardless of blame, ULP issue was not raised at arbitration hearing and facts necessary to resolve it not presented, so that deferral to arbitral award would be abuse of discretion]

N.L.R.B. v. Wolff & Munier, Inc. 747 F.2d 156 (C.A. 3, Oct. 1984)
[where Bd assertedly refused to defer to joint committee's findings that dischargees were foremen and could be discharged at will for lack of evidence that the committee considered the ULP issue of whether they were discharged due to E's antiU motivation, ct remanded case to Bd to determine whether the committee findings resolved the statutory issue by deciding that the foremen were supervisors and not protected by the Act and whether the committee's findings were repugnant to the Act]

Charles E. Lewis v. N.L.R.B. (United Parcel Service, Inc.) 779 F.2d 12 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)
[deferral to arbitral decision denying grievance, appropriate where record showed that ULP of discharge allegedly for filing numerous grievances had been presented and considered, notwithstanding decisions' failure to fully set forth that fact, since ct will not require evidence that ULP charge was presented and considered be in written form]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[Bd has statutory duty to enforce Act and exclusive jurisdiction to decide ULPs; Bd may not avoid this responsibility through far reaching deferral policy which apparently presumes that ULP claim has been resolved through arbitration]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[Bd's decision in Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, does not protect sufficiently Ee's rights granted by Act; by presuming, until proven otherwise, that all arbitration proceedings confront and decide every possible ULP, Olin Corp. gives away too much of Bd's responsibility under Act]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[Bd's decision under Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, that deferral is proper in all cases unless it is affirmatively demonstrated that some unusual circumstances require that ALJ conduct independent inquiry into grievant's statutory claims cannot be reconciled with need to protect statutory rights, as expressed by S.Ct; Olin Corp. ignores those instances where contract and statutory issues may be factually parallel but involve distinct elements of proof and questions of factual relevance]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[ct vacated and remanded to Bd its decision which held that GC had not met its burden of affirmatively demonstrating that ULP had not received adequate consideration by arbitration committee; remand required Bd to reconsider its decision in light of ct's disapproval of Bd's standard for deferral under Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573]

Taylor, Melvin D. v. N.L.R.B. (Ryder Truck Lines, Inc.) 786 F.2d 1516 (C.A. 11, Apr. 1986)
[deferral inappropriate where it was not shown that arbitration committee considered statutory ULP issue]

3367-5090 All affected parties taking part in proceeding

Donald Brown d/b/a Bailey Distributors 278 NLRB No. 017
[deferral to arbitral award that E did not discriminatorily pay grievant less than helper's contractual wage and did not discharge him for requesting payment at contractual rate, appropriate where contractual and statutory issues turned on whether grievant was ever employed by E as a helper and GC failed to demonstrate that arbitrator was not generally presented with facts relevant to statutory issue]

Donald Brown d/b/a Bailey Distributors 278 NLRB No. 017
[deferral not inappropriate due to unfair and irregular nature of proceeding because of conflict between U's and grievant's attorneys and ineffective presentation of grievant's case, since animosity between attorneys was overcome, grievant was represented by independent counsel who did not object or add to evidence presented, grievant and both attorneys had adequate opportunity to present evidence, U attorney was experienced practicioner, and grievant's attorney witnessed arbitration w/o objecting to manner of presentation or evidence presented]

Sawin & Co., Inc. 277 NLRB No. 044
(deferral appropriate where E and U agreed to be bound by arbitrator's decision, charging party and other alleged discriminatees testified in their own behalf, proceeding was fair and regular notwithstanding that E relied on affidavits rather than presenting witnesses inasmuch as neither U nor alleged discriminatees sought to compel attendance of affiants at, or protested any facet of, arbitration proceeding)

Alpha Beta Company 273 NLRB No. 194
(deferral to grievance settlement agreement over issue of discharge of sympathy strikers, appropriate, where proceedings fair and regular, all parties agreed to be bound, including Ees, and though themselves not involved in negotiations, Ees authorized Us to accept settlement on their behalf knowing it contained no backpay, settlement not palpably wrong under law, particularly since it resulted from negotiations, U could waive Ees statutory rights here, and result not repugnant to Act notwithstanding Ees authorized acceptance of settlement solely because they wished to pursue backpay issue before Bd)

District 1199E, Hospital Employees (Greater Pennsylvania Avenue Nursing Center, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 173
(Bd deferred to arbitration award over issue of subcontracting and U's refusal to bargain notwithstanding subcontractor not party to arbitration proceeding since there was contractual privity between contractor and subcontractor)

3367-6700 Stage to which contract enforcement proceeding has progressed

3367-6712 Procedure available under contract, but no recourse

3367-6712-8200 Willingness of parties to invoke procedure

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 039
[deferral of alleged ULPs committed by E to contractual grievance procedures not warranted, since E has not indicated willingness to utilize arbitration to resolve dispute and since subject Ee was active dissident in U, there is possibility that his interests might not be adequately represented by (U) incumbents during arbitral process]

Spann Building Maintenance Co. 275 NLRB No. 135
(Bd deferred to grievance-arbitration procedure notwithstanding U exhausted steps of their grievance procedure prior to arbitration, neither U nor E wants to go to arbitration though U has not communicated such to E, U was attempting to obtain more generous terms of purported settlement, since arbitration option still open as U has not waived nor exercised right to go to arbitration, and Bd not limited to precise legal theory (settlement agreement) proferred by E in support of deferral since E raised deferral and cited United Technologies, 268 NLRB 557, Bd may consider whether deferral appropriate)

Advance Manufacturing Corp. JD-9-86
[no deferral to arbitration of alleged unlawful discharge, where U's undisputed explanation for not processing grievance regarding discharge to arbitration, lack of funds, did not appear contrived and E did not require or request arbitration]

3367-6725 Contract procedure initiated, but withdrawal by one party

Veronica Lewis v. N.L.R.B. 800 F.2d 818 (C.A. 8, Sept. 1986)
[contrary to Ee's assertion that Bd deferral to grievance procedure of issue of her discharge was improper because Ee's interests were adverse to those of U which had made decision not to proceed further with Ee's grievance, ct held Bd's decision to defer was reasonable since interests were not competing but harmonious in view of Ee's voluntary invocation of contrac-

3367-6725—Cont.

tural dispute resolution mechanism and U's active role in negotiating for favorable treatment of Ee's grievance]

3367-6762 Arbitration or joint-committee proceedings

3367-6762-6700 After decision

Arthur Eisenberg, etc., et al. v. Tubari, Ltd., Inc. ——— F.Supp.———(DC NJ, July 1985)

[in 10(j) proceeding, ct held reasonable cause existed for belief that arbitrator's award, finding that suspension and subsequent discharge of Ee, were lawful and not based on Ee's protected activity, did not meet Bd's requirements for deferral]

3367-8300 Issues for which deference is sought

3367-8301 Generally

3367-8301-2500 Issues legality of contract provision

Sheet Metal Workers, Local 208 (Paul Mueller Company) 278 NLRB No. 087

[no deferral to arbitration of allegation of unlawful bringing of charges and fining by U of members who crossed picket line after resigning from U and of one member who had not resigned prior to crossing picket line, since legality of U's actions involved determination of threshold question of legality of provision in U's constitution prohibiting acceptance of resignation proffered in anticipation of or during pendency of U charges, or during strike or lockout, and thus decision of arbitrator regarding meaning of contract or no retaliation in strike settlement agreement would not settle basic issue]

3367-8301-3300 Issues of contract meaning or application

Transport Service Company 282 NLRB No. 011

[deferral of 8(a)(5) charges, which concerned transfer of work, use of non-unit personnel, and failure to comply with contract provisions, appropriate under standards of United Technologies Corp. 268 NLRB 557 (1984), where dispute before Bd turned on interpretation of contract, broad arbitration clause in bargaining agreement clearly encompassed matters at issue, E asserted its willingness to arbitrate dispute, and parties had stable bargaining relationship]

Brewery Workers Joint Local Executive Board, Teamsters, and Local 153, et al. (Anheuser-Busch, Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 118

(Bd deferred to arbitrator's award requiring E under multi-E unitwide seniority system to place Ees, seeking employment with E after voluntarily resigning from employment with another E-member, on E's seniority list and to employ them as regular Ees in place of casual Ees, since GC failed to meet Olin burden of showing that arbitrator's analysis was palbably wrong, where arbitrator, upon construing language of contract, properly concluded that application of seniority provisions neither encouraged U membership nor restrained Ees' exercise of their statutory rights)

Brewery Workers Joint Local Executive Board, Teamsters, and Local 153, et al. (Anheuser-Busch, Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 118

(arbitrator's award applying multi-E unitwide seniority system held not clearly repugnant to purpose and policy of Act, as found by ALJ, since test under Olin is not whether award is totally consistent with Bd precedent, but whether award is susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act; and if requirement is met, award is not palpably wrong and Bd will defer)

Iron Workers, Local No. 587 (The Ornamental Iron Works Company) 276 NLRB No. 076

(deferral of dispute over effect of E's notice to terminate contract and of follow-up letter to same effect, appropriate, where case primarily involved contract interpretation with respect to whether contract was validly terminated by E's notice to terminate, and whether service of notice to steward was valid in light of contractual limitations placed upon his authority)

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 203

(issue of whether E's unilaterally promoting 3 chief operators in one of its 5 buildings at its plant to shift supervisor w/o bargaining in good faith with U properly deferred to arbitrator's award finding that contract's management rights clause gave E authority to direct its Ees, and neither recognition clause nor any other provision restricted this right. Bd, in this case, would have determined E's unilateral action to be not violative since award is susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act. Also ULP and contractual issues are factually parallel)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132

(Bd deferred to arbitration award holding that contractual no-strike provision encompassed sympathy strikers and therefore E was free to discipline sympathy strikers where award was not clearly repugnant to Act since broad no-strike clause bans all strikes, including sympathy strikes, absent clear evidence that parties intended otherwise; no party contended arbitration proceeding failed to satisfy other Spielberg criteria; contractual issue was factually parallel to ULP issue; and parties presented arbitration panel with facts relevant to resolving issues)

E. I. Dupont De Nemours & Company 275 NLRB No. 103

(deferral appropriate where grievance and ULP issues of whether implementation of E's new program violated the contract or Sec. 8(a)(5) of the Act as unilateral change w/o bargaining were factually parallel, turned on presence or absence of contractual authorization of E's new program, and could be resolved by evidence of parties' prior contracts, bargaining history, and past practice; further, E's alleged direct dealing with Ees to enlist them as candidates for its new program was not alleged as independent ULP)

Ohio Edison Company 274 NLRB No. 128

(deferral to arbitration panel's finding that E had just cause for imposing disciplinary suspension on grievants who refused to cross another U's picket line and perform work as ordered held appropriate, where panel's determination that bargaining agreement waived Ees' right under Act to honor another U's picket line turned on interpretation of no-strike clause and panel's determination of waiver was not in conflict with purposes and policies of Act)

Central Transport, Inc. JD-114-86

[deferral to grievance procedure of issues raised in C of whether respondent E covered by supplement or rider to national agreement and consequently which of these supplements it reverts to upon rejection of proposed addendum, since provisions of procedure broad enough to encompass issues raised, where issue w/i scope of procedure and fully cognizable for determination under parties grievance procedure and can be disposed of by resolution of pending grievance on same issue]

3367-8301-5000 Validity of contract

Inner City Broadcasting Corporation 281 NLRB No. 162

[request for deferral to district ct in which same issue was raised as to whether contract existed, declined, on basis of Bd precedent, even though issues before ct and Bd were identical]

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[deferral to arbitral determination, appropriate where grievance that Ee was paid substandard wages was factually parallel to ULP charge that as non-U member he was discriminatorily paid subcontractual wages and benefits, and arbitrator was presented with facts necessary to make that determination]

Local 33, Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, and James C. Harmon, Executive Secretary, etc. v. Marine and Shipbuilding Workers ——— F.Supp.———(DC MD, May 1984)

[Bd has traditionally not deferred to parties' expedited contractual grievance procedures where issue is whether new agreement was properly entered into and, therefore, valid]

3367-8301-6700 Issues of contract enforcement

Food and Commercial Workers (Dierberg's Markets, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 068

[whether under contract E could require Ees to work overtime at time and a half or had to negotiate with U]

N.L.R.B. v. Local 1131, Local 1167, Auto Workers 777 F.2d 1131 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

[deferral of grievance over E's failure to grant superseniority in layoff to U official pursuant to contractual clause, inappropriate where E charged that U's effort to enforce illegal contractual clause constituted ULP]

3367-8312 Unit or representative status issues

3367-8312-4200 Unit determination

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86

[U's contention that arbitrator's ruling that parties had bargained to impasse over question of merged seniority resulted in issue of unit placement which was nondeferrable qcr, rejected, since there was no unit placement issue before arbitrator inasmuch as unit placement had been accomplished by parties' agreement, and arbitrator passed not upon qcr but on contract dispute over terms and conditions of employment, principally question of merged v. separate seniority]

N.L.R.B. v. Paper Manufacturers Company, et al. 796 F.2d 163 (C.A. 3, Mar. 1986)

[no deferral to arbitration of whether separate unit of medical packaging products division Ees to be represented by U which had been certified as representative of that division prior to its relocation to same facility in which E's other packaging products manufactured, or whether medical packaging Ees to be deemed accretion to Ees in other packaging division who were represented by another U, since accretion is representation issue and not subject to resolution by contract interpretation]

3367-8312-5600 Unit clarification

Retail Delivery Drivers, Driver-Salesmen, and Helpers Local 278, a/w Teamsters (Labor Management Services, Inc. d/b/a L.M.S. Company) JD-(SF)-61-85

(U insisting upon application of bargaining agreement, including U-security provisions, to E's Ees at new location, violative, as this same issue was subject of UC proceeding in which RD held there was no accretion. E under no obligation to go to arbitration after UC proceeding though contract provides for arbitration)

N.L.R.B. v. Magna Corporation 734 F.2d 1057 (C.A. 5, June 1984)

[deferral inappropriate to arbitrator's decision which held that Ee employed in new job classification did not share community of interest with plant clerical unit, since determination of questions of representation, accretion and appropriate units do not depend on contract interpretations but involve application of statutory policies and thus are matters for the Bd, not an arbitrator]

3367-8312-8400 Accretion

Paper Manufacturers Company 274 NLRB No. 070

(deferral to arbitrator's decision finding that group of represented Ees who were relocated had accreted to unit of Ees represented by another U, inappropriate, since arbitrator's decision was in no way consonant with Board's standards where arbitrator gave no consideration to Bd precedent which clearly proscribes reliance on relocation as excuse for evading consequences of certification and failed to consider whether the certification of U representing relocated Ees survived their transfer to new location)

N.L.R.B. v. Paper Manufacturers Company, et al. 786 F.2d 163 (C.A. 3, Mar. 1986)

[no deferral to arbitration of whether separate unit of medical packaging products division Ees to be represented by U which had been certified as representative of that division prior to its relocation to same facility in which E's other packaging products manufactured, or whether medical packaging Ees to be deemed accretion to Ees in other packaging division who were represented by another U, since accretion is representation issue and not subject to resolution by contract interpretation]

3367-8320 Backpay

Donald Brown d/b/a Bailey Distributors 278 NLRB No. 017

[deferral to arbitral award that E did not discriminatorily pay grievant less than helper's contractual wage and did not discharge him for requesting payment at contractual rate, appropriate where contractual and statutory issues turned on whether grievant was ever employed by E as a helper and GC failed to demonstrate that arbitrator was not generally presented with facts relevant to statutory issue]

Alpha Beta Company 273 NLRB No. 194

(deferral to grievance settlement agreement over issue of discharge of sympathy strikers, appropriate, where proceedings fair and regular, all parties agreed to be bound, including Ees, and though themselves not involved in negotiations, Ees authorized Us to accept settlement on their behalf knowing it contained no backpay, settlement not palpably wrong under law, particularly since it resulted from negotiations, U could waive Ees statutory rights here, and result not repugnant to Act notwithstanding Ees authorized acceptance of settlement solely because they wished to pursue backpay issue before Bd)

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86

[U's complaint to Bd that arbitrator awarded only 6 percent interest on backpay remedy whereas Bd would have required payment of interest at 12 percent held insufficient basis for setting aside arbitrator's award and granting standard Bd remedy, since difference between 6 percent and 12 percent per annum on one day's pay, even for 48 Ees, involved herein, was de minimis]

3367-8325 Jurisdictional disputes

Longshoremen's Union, Local 32 v. Pacific Maritime Association, et al. (NLRB) F.Supp.——————(DC W.D. WA, Sep. 1984)

[U's mtn in district ct to enforce arbitral award based on U's contract with E--of disputed work and time-in-lieu payments to it's members for period when they had not performed disputed work dismissed, since ct found that the award was in conflict with Bd's 10(k) determination that members of another U were entitled to disputed work and that Bd's determination was controlling]

3367-8331 Section 8(a)(4) alleged violations

Grand Rapids Die Casting Corp. 279 NLRB No. 093

[deferral of charges alleging violations of 8(a)(1), (3) and (4), inappropriate, where 8(a)(1) and (3) allegations were closely intertwined with 8(a)(4) allegations and 8(a)(4) allegations may not be delegated to the parties or an arbitrator]

Ryder/P-I-E Nationwide, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 028

[Bd refused to defer to arbitration 8(a)(4) allegation involving discharge for resorting to Bd's processes and ordered RD to set case down for hearing notwithstanding settlement agreement executed by parties and approved by RD provided for such arbitration]

Roadway Express, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 052

(deferral of 8(a)(1), (3), and (4) issues, inappropriate, since Bd will not defer alleged violations of 8(a)(4) to arbitration inasmuch as questions concerning access to Bd processes have always been held solely w/i Bd's province to decide; and where, as here, alleged 8(a)(1) and (3) violations are closely intertwined with 8(a)(4) allegations, deferral of those issues is equally inappropriate)

Dubovsky and Sons, Inc. JD-(NY)-47-86

[alleged violation of Section 8(a)(4) of Act raises questions which must be resolved by Bd and cannot be deferred to arbitration]

3367-8332 Section 8(b)(1)(A) violation by interfering with employee's access to the Board

Local 814, a/w Teamsters (Beth Israel Medical Center) 281 NLRB No. 153

[U's failure to take Ee's discharge to arbitration, violated its duty of fair representation and such inaction was something more than mere negligence where U was completely unaware of contractual time limits for pursuing grievance and did nothing to pursue Ee's grievance w/i those time limits, U handled grievance in perfunctory manner by assuring Ee they would arbitrate discharge while at same time U had decided internally not to pursue grievance and when Ee went to Bd, U refused to pursue grievance further and said Bd was now taking care of it]

Northern California District Council of Laborers, Local Union No. 294 (Hayward Baker Company) 275 NLRB No. 048

(deferral of complaints that local U had filed internal charges with district council against Ees and district council had tried them because they had filed ULP charges with Bd, inappropriate, because complaints involve question of Ees' access to Bd processes, an issue solely w/i province of Bd to decide)

3367-8337 Membership obligations under contract

Shopmen's Local Union No. 539 (Zurn Industries, Inc.) 278 NLRB No. 024

[deferral of issue of Ees' U dues obligation after resignation from U, inappropriate, where contract contained no procedure for disputes between U and Ees, interests of Ees were diametrically apposed to those of U, E was not party to proceeding and was under no obligation to represent Ees in adjunct arbitration proceeding, nor was there any reason to believe E would be willing to bear cost of having issue herein considered by arbitrator]

3367-8343 Unlawful assistance

Arthur Eisenberg, etc., et al. v. Tubari, Ltd., Inc. F.Supp.——————(DC NJ, July 1985)

[in 10(j) proceeding, ct held issues arising in 8(a)(2) cases, especially when assistance to favored U is rendered in connection with organizing drive by rival U, cannot be delegated to arbitration since it would impact on Ees' choice of bargaining representative, a matter exclusively w/i expertise of Bd]

3367-8350 Discharge, layoffs or disciplinary action, or threats thereof

United States Postal Service 281 NLRB No. 032

[deferral inappropriate where E engaged in direct dealing with Ee and unilaterally adjusted Ee's grievance concerning pending dismissal from job, even though E expressed its willingness to arbitrate issue of Ee's discipline by reactivating his grievance, since E's request for deferral did not specifically encompass underlying issue of its direct dealing and unilateral grievance adjustment, and therefore ULP issue would remain unresolved]

Texaco, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 163

[deferral to arbitration decision regarding suspension of Ees for alleged strike misconduct, appropriate, since arbitrator had complied with Spielberg standards inasmuch as he had adequately considered ULP issue where he was presented with evidence of alleged actions of Ees, nor was his decision which held that Ees did engage in strike misconduct and ordered reinstatement, but no backpay, repugnant to purposes and policies of Act]

Grand Rapids Die Casting Corp. 279 NLRB No. 093

[deferral of charges alleging violations of 8(a)(1), (3) and (4), inappropriate, where 8(a)(1) and (3) allegations were closely intertwined with 8(a)(4) allegations and 8(a)(4) allegations may not be delegated to the parties or an arbitrator]

Ryder/P.I.E. Nationwide, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 109

[deferral of alleged discharge ULP to joint committee award, inappropriate, since it was repugnant to the Act because committee was not presented with evidence of protected activities responsible for E's discriminatory treatment, and absence of that evidence precluded finding that contractual and statutory issues were factually parallel]

3367-8350—Cont.

Amoco Oil Company 278 NLRB No. 003
[deferral of charge involving alleged violations of Ees' Weingarten rights, inappropriate, where contract limited grievances only to alleged contractual violations and no Weingarten rights were given Ees under the contract and no party had attempted to invoke contractual grievance procedure]

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corporation 277 NLRB No. 160
(deferral to arbitral award that discharge was for cause, inappropriate where facts necessary to resolution of unfair labor practice were not presented)

Anderson Prestress Division Anderson Sand and Gravel Company 277 NLRB No. 127
(deferral to arbitration decision upholding discharge for violation of no-strike clause, proper, where contractual and statutory issues were factually parallel, and arbitration panel presented generally with facts relevant to resolving ULPs, notwithstanding absence of any rationale in award to indicate panel considered ULPs, and failure of parties to raise issue at hearings, since GC has not shown arbitration panel was lacking evidence relevant to determination of nature of obligation imposed by no-strike clause, nor was award repugnant to purposes and policies of Act)

Sawin & Co., Inc. 277 NLRB No. 044
(deferral appropriate since arbitrator adequately considered ULP where issue whether E unlawfully refused to reinstate alleged discriminatees because of misconduct during strike was factually parallel to ULP issue as to whether alleged discriminatees engaged in strike misconduct serious enough to remove them from protection of Act; and GC failed to carry burden of establishing that facts generally relevant to alleged ULP were not presented to arbitrator at some time during arbitration proceeding)

Sawin & Co., Inc. 277 NLRB No. 044
(GC's contention that arbitrator's award in favor of E was based on arbitrator's disbelief of alleged discriminatees' denial that they had engaged in strike misconduct for which E had refused to reinstate them, and that such disbelief did not provide basis for finding that misconduct had occurred, rejected; it cannot be assumed, w/o supporting evidence, that arbitrator was so derelict in his duties so as not to require E to meet burden of proof in discharge and discipline cases; and GC did not meet his burden of establishing existence of such deficiencies)

Sawin & Co., Inc. 277 NLRB No. 044
(deferral appropriate to arbitrator's award that E's refusal to reinstate alleged discriminatees because of strike misconduct was proper, where parties agreed to be bound by arbitrator's award, statutory issue and issue before arbitrator were factually parallel, there was insufficient evidence to establish that facts generally relevant to ULP were absent from record before arbitrator, and arbitrator's award was not palpably wrong)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(Bd deferred to arbitration award holding that contractual no-strike provision encompassed sympathy strikers and therefore E was free to discipline sympathy strikers where award was not clearly repugnant to Act since broad no-strike clause bans all strikes, including sympathy strikes, absent clear evidence that parties intended otherwise; no party contended arbitration proceeding failed to satisfy other Spielberg criteria; contractual issue was factually parallel to ULP issue; and parties presented arbitration panel with facts relevant to resolving issues)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(pursuant to Bd's United Technologies decision Bd deferred case alleging 8(a)(1) and 8(a)(3) violations involving disciplining of sympathy strikers under contractual no-strike provision to parties' grievance-arbitration provisions)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(Bd held deferral to arbitration award upholding disciplining of sympathy stirkers under contractual no-strike provision appropriate, even though award did not involve Ees named in instant Bd proceeding, since award involved same contractual issue relevant to such Ees)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(in deferring to arbitration award upholding disciplining of sympathy strikers under contractual no-strike provision, Bd directed E to waive any timeliness provisions of grievance-arbitration clause of contract so that U's grievance may be processed)

Teamsters Cannery Local No. 670 a/w Teamsters (Stayton Canning Company Cooperative) 275 NLRB No. 127
(U's mtn to reopen record to receive additional evidence concerning whether instant cases should be deferred to arbitration, denied, since question was untimely raised. U first raised issue in its posthearing brief. Issue not litigated at hearing. Evidence concerning deferral immaterial to issues under consideration in present ULP hearing)

West Penn Power Company 274 NLRB No. 173
(Bd deferred to arbitration decision sustaining discharge of U president and reducing discharge of U vice-president to 30-day suspension where, in view of language of no-strike provision, arbitrator had reasonable basis for finding that management clearly had authority to discipline officials for failure to terminate unauthorized work stoppage and to have work resumed; arbitrator's contractual interpretation was not clearly repugnant to S.Ct's Metropolitan Edison decision that U may waive right of its officials to acquiesce in unprotected work stoppage)

West Penn Power Company 274 NLRB No. 173
(in deferring to decision of arbitrator who, on basis of language of no-strike provision, sustained harsher discipline imposed on U officials for failure to terminate unauthorized work stoppage than that accorded Ees engaged in stoppage, Bd pointed out that statutory and contractual issues were not factually dissimilar, facts generally relevant to ULP issue were not absent from record made before arbitrator, and GC failed to show that arbitrator's decision was not susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act)

Martin Redi-Mix, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 079
(deferral appropriate in case involving alleged 8(a)(1) discharge where statutory and contractual issues were factually parallel, i.e. what prompted Ee to depart from jobsite and whether Ee was voluntary quit, arbitrator was presented with evidence necessary for determination of ULP charge, i.e. circumstances surrounding Ee's departure from work; fact that GC and ALJ would have decided contractual issues differently does not change result since Bd will not substitute its judgment for that of the arbitrator but rather, Bd will inquire only whether arbitrator adequately considered issues; Olin Corp., 268 NLRB 573, followed)

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 072
(deferral of 8(a)(1) and (3) charges involving E's suspension of U steward on two occasions and E's instructions to Ees to remove buttons they wore in protest over those suspensions, held appropriate, where contract between the parties established multistep grievance procedure with final and binding arbitration and anti-discrimination clause in contract provided for resolution of disputes involving alleged discrimination under the Act; further, E had expressed willingness to arbitrate dispute and impiedly waived any timeliness objections)

United Parcel Service, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 066
(C dismissed where GC's evidence which augmented that (ULP evidence) presented to arbitration panel, is not of such probative value as to necessitate conclusion that arbitration panel did not have before it essential facts as to issues (Ee's discharge etc.) litigated. GC failed to carry his burden of proof for rejection of arbitration decision)

T.L.B. Plastics Corporation 273 NLRB No. 223
(deferral under grievance-arbitration provisions of bargaining agreement appropriate as to issues of whether E violated Act by: (1) issuing 2 disciplinary notices to one Ee, (2) refusing to pay Ee holiday pay, (3) suspending Ee for 3 days, (4) discharging that Ee and (5) discharging other Ees (U adherents) who allegedly were released for engaging in work stoppage, or wild cat strike in violation of plant rule and no-strike clause of collective bargaining agreement. Contractual and ULP issues were factually parallel and Ees involved had faith in fairness of grievance-arbitration machinery as well as efforts of present U steward)

Alpha Beta Company 273 NLRB No. 194
(deferral to grievance settlement agreement over issue of discharge of sympathy strikers, appropriate, where proceedings fair and regular, all parties agreed to be bound, including Ees, and though themselves not involved in negotiations, Ees authorized Us to accept settlement on their behalf knowing it contained no backpay, settlement not palpably wrong under law, particularly since it resulted from negotiations, U could waive Ees statutory rights here, and result not repugnant to Act notwithstanding Ees authorized acceptance of settlement solely because they wished to pursue backpay issue before Bd)

Cone Mills Corporation-White Oak Plant 273 NLRB No. 188
(deferral appropriate where arbitrator's award reinstating discharged U steward but w/o backpay was not repugnant to Act and GC has not carried his burden of proving award palpably wrong; steward, who engaged in U and/or protected activities, was discharged for refusing to leave plant when instructed to do so by E and which arbitrator found constituted insubordination; it is essential nature of arbitration jrkcass tk ibalanca coktletinc claims of parties by adjusting equities involved to resch harmonious result, and that is what parties had agreed upon as acceptable resolution of their labor-management dispute)

Cone Mills Corporation-White Oak Plant 273 NLRB No. 188
(arbitrator's award reinstating discharged U steward but w/o backpay held to have met Olin Corp. clearly repugnant standard that Bd would not require award to be totally consistent with Bd precedent; failure to give complete make-whole remedy does not render award clearly repugnant; in issuing award, arbitrator may consider relative merit of positions of parties and may determine to give complete award or partial award, depending on how he assesses merit of the situation)

Union Local 20408, United Warehouse, Industrial and Affiliate Trades Employees Union (Dubovsky & Sons, Inc., et al.) JD-(NY)-54-86
[no deferral to arbitrator's decision upholding discharges of rival U adherents, where Bd C alleged incumbent U threatened Ees with discharge if they supported rival U; thus, interests of Ees in conflict with those of U and E and hostility present as shown by Ees declining U's offer of representation.

3367-8350—Cont.

Further U and E had expressed hostility to Ees over their support of rival U]

Timothy Nevins v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 14 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[deferral of ULP charge concerning constructive discharge by conditioning employment as helper on acceptance of substandard wages, inappropriate where charge was not factually parallel with grievances of receipt of substandard wages as helper or improper termination of position as driver; further, arbitrator was not presented with facts necessary resolve charge where arbitral decision did not mention incident constituting alleged discharge, counsel and E testified that issue was not raised, and Ee failed to tell counsel why he refused conditioned employment offer]

Charles E. Lewis v. N.L.R.B. (United Parcel Service, Inc.) 779 F.2d 12 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

[deferral to arbitral decision denying grievance, appropriate where record showed that ULP of discharge allegedly for filing numerous grievances had been presented and considered, notwithstanding decisions' failure to fully set forth that fact, since ct will not require evidence that ULP charge was presented and considered be in written form]

Veronica Lewis v. N.L.R.B. 800 F.2d 818 (C.A. 8, Sept. 1986)

[deferral of issue of whether Ee was unlawfully discharged held proper where requirements of Bd's deferral policy had been met and matter remained to be decided under agreed upon dispute resolution procedure since, absent formal withdrawal of arbitration request or processing through arbitration matter was not final; and w/o deferral, parties would be encouraged to circumvent contractual grievance and arbitration procedures for possible favorable resolution of ULP charges before Bd]

Veronica Lewis v. N.L.R.B. 800 F.2d 818 (C.A. 8, Sept. 1986)

[contrary to Ee's assertion that Bd deferral to grievance procedure of issue of her discharge was improper because Ee's interests were adverse to those of U which had made decision not to proceed further with Ee's grievance, ct held Bd's decision to defer was reasonable since interests were not competing but harmonious in view of Ee's voluntary invocation of contractural dispute resolution mechanism and U's active role in negotiating for favorable treatment of Ee's grievance]

Arthur Eisenberg, etc., et al. v. Tubari, Ltd., Inc. ———— F.Supp.———— ——(DC NJ, July 1985)

[in 10(j) proceeding, ct held reasonable cause existed for belief that arbitrator's award, finding that suspension and subsequent discharge of Ee, were lawful and not based on Ee's protected activity, did not meet Bd's requirements for deferral]

3367-8351 Adverse action with regard to employee's job status

KCW Furniture Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 100

(where E unilaterally instituted terms and conditions of employment inconsistent with existing contract, status quo ante held best resolved by deferring to contractual method for resolving dispute involving Ees' suspensions, where contract provided multistep grievance procedure culminating in decision by adjustment board or arbitration, and E was willing to cooperate in processing grievances since Bd and ct had determined its applicability)

KCW Furniture Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 100

(Bd deferred issue of whether suspension of Ees violated terms of then-existing contract, and amount of backpay due them, where E suspended Ees under its unilaterally implemented proposals for new agreement authorizing suspensions; in earlier proceedings Bd and ct found original contract automatically renewed itself and was in effect when suspensions took place; since suspensions were not alleged as separate ULP in prior proceeding, E was not remiss in not raising deferral issue at that time; and E's unlawful implementation of new contract proposals did not make suspensions part and parcel of 8(a)(5) violation)

Cotter & Company 276 NLRB No. 075

(deferral to arbitrator's award inappropriate, in view of C allegations that E discriminated against Ees in failing to consider them for transfer to new facility because of their U activity, where arbitrator, in finding E did not violate contract by refusing recognition at new facility, based decision only on the terms of the contract and did not in any way consider E motive, a fact which clearly was the basis of the instant C)

3367-8353 Harassing or discriminatory action

The Trustees of Columbia University in the City of New York 279 NLRB No. 019

[Bd dismissed 8(a)(3) allegation that E unlawfully withdrew non-contractual tuition benefit plan in retaliation for U's successfully pursuing grievance over similar contractually required fund where proof of 8(a)(3) allegation depended on proof of 8(a)(5) allegation that Bd dismissed in deferring to arbitrator's award finding that E did not have to provide both benefits]

Donald Brown d/b/a Bailey Distributors 278 NLRB No. 017

[deferral to arbitral award that E did not discriminatorily pay grievant less than helper's contractual wage and did not discharge him for requesting payment at contractual rate, appropriate where contractual and statutory issues turned on whether grievant was ever employed by E as a helper and GC failed to demonstrate that arbitrator was not generally presented with facts relevant to statutory issue]

Teamsters Local Union #519 (Rust Engineering Co.) 276 NLRB No. 094

(deferral of U's alleged unlawful failure to refer dissidents, inappropriate, since uncertain dissidents would get fair hearing before U executive board where members of board same U officials involved in alleged unlawful operation of hiring hall on executive committee)

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 072

(deferral of 8(a)(1) and (3) charges involving E's suspension of U steward on two occasions and E's instructions to Ees to remove buttons they wore in protest over those suspensions, held appropriate, where contract between the parties established multistep grievance procedure with final and binding arbitration and anti-discrimination clause in contract provided for resolution of disputes involving alleged discrimination under the Act; further, E had expressed willingness to arbitrate dispute and impiedly waived any timeliness objections)

3367-8362 Bargaining obligation

Earl C. Smith, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 100

[deferral to joint committee award, inappropriate, since award was palpably wrong and therefore clearly repugnant to the Act, and could not have resolved E's 8(a)(5) violations alleged in C, where award merely ordered E to comply with a contract that was neither at issue nor in effect at time of E's conduct, which included its refusal to bargain with U, its direct dealing with Ees, and its unilateral modification of earlier contract]

Drummond Coal Company, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 177

[Bd deferred to grievance arbitration award concerning issue of whether E provided U advance notice for effects bargaining over shop's closure, since question was coextensive with those that would be considered by Bd in decision on whether E complied with agreed upon arrangement for effects bargaining over layoffs. Only U excepted to judge's decision deferring to arbitral award and U failed to allege award did not meet standards set forth in Spielberg Mfg. Co., 112 NLRB 1080 (1955). U failed to meet burden of affirmatively demonstrating defects in arbitral process or award]

Drummond Coal Company, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 177

[no deference to arbitral awards which did not consider merits of grievance or substantive aspects relating to possible ULP since procedural obstacles (time-bar of notice and res judicata) caused dismissal of grievance by arbitrator and prevented parties from resolving their disputes onmerits through grievance-arbitration process]

Teamsters Cannery Local No. 670 a/w Teamsters (Stayton Canning Company Cooperative) 275 NLRB No. 127

(U's mtn to reopen record to receive additional evidence concerning whether instant cases should be deferred to arbitration, denied, since question was untimely raised. U first raised issue in its posthearing brief. Issue not litigated at hearing. Evidence concerning deferral immaterial to issues under consideration in present ULP hearing)

E. G. & G. Florida, Inc. JD-108-86

[although normally deferral is not warranted where, as here, issue before arbitrator was not based on interpretation or application of contract, deferral to arbitrator's award, finding no 8(a)(5) violation, appropriate, where ALJ had granted charging U's request to hold C case in abeyance pending outcome of arbitration proceeding but, upon receipt of unsatisfactory award, U returned for decision from ALJ in face of GC's mtn to dismiss C, and thereby impermissibly trifled with Bd processes; nor was public interest compromised by deferral since GC, as public autority, acted in public interest]

3367-8362-1000 Repudiation of agreement

Rappazzo Electric Co., Inc. 281 NLRB No. 075

[deferral on issue of whether bargaining agreement still existed or whether E had repudiated agreement, inappropriate where other alleged violations of 8(a)(5) were closely intertwined and deferral of only one of allegations would not serve purposes of Act]

Victor Block, Inc. and Syracuse Sand and Gravel, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 070

(deferral of charge of refusal to abide by contract, inappropriate where E maintained that contract had been terminated and had not specifically agreed to arbitrate or indicated willingness to waive the time limit for filing a grievance, which had expired)

3367-8362-2000 Duty to furnish information

The E. W. Buschman Company 277 NLRB No. 021

(deferral of issue of legality of E's failure to provide requested financial and production information because of its alleged confidential nature, inappropriate, since U needed former to determine possibility of early resolution of the grievance and latter to determine accuracy of E's records by checking them with Ees; grievance concerned cancellation of bonus due to E's alleged lack of cash flow)

3367-8362-2000—Cont.

Clinchfield Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 189
(deferral of E's obligation to provide information concerning subcontracting out unit work that was relevant and necessary to U's collective bargaining responsibilities, inappropriate since it would result in two-tiered arbitration that would not be consistent with national labor policy favoring voluntary and expeditious resolution of disputes through arbitration)

Ralph's Grocery Company JD-(SF)-144-85
(deferral is inappropriate of charge involving E's refusal to provide U with information relevant to processing grievances over discharge of Ees)

3367-8362-2001 Generally

U.S. Postal Service 280 NLRB No. 090
[deferral concerning U's information request for names of U officers and stewards who had applied for supervisory positions (with E), held inappropriate, since U has sought information which is relevant to performance of its statutory function as Ees' bargaining representative]

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 072
(deferral of 8(a)(5) charge involving E's refusal to provide information relevant to processing grievances, held inappropriate, since purpose of U's requests was to pursue pending or future grievances; Bd is unwilling to institute a two-tiered arbitration process whereby a request for information relevant to a grievance, and the underlying grievance itself, is submitted to arbitration)

United States Steel Corporation JD-223-85
(deferral of question of U's entitlement to requested information inappropriate, since it would result in two-tier arbitration)

United States Steel Corporation JD-176-85
(deferral of 8(a)(5) charge involving E's refusal to furnish information regarding processing of contracting-out grievances, inappropriate in view of Bd's historical and recent reluctance to apply deferral policy to information disclosure disputes alleged to constitute violation of 8(a)(5))

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-(SF)-78-85
(deferral of 8(a)(5) charge involving E's refusal to furnish information requested by U, held inappropriate, where E had proposed that U must first either suspend or compromise its pursuit of certain grievances while it attempted to vindicate its claim of right to information, and to return to merits of underlying grievances only after its claims to information were resolved)

Jeddo-Highland Coal Company JD-144-85
(deferral inappropriate in case involving E's refusal to furnish wage related information relevant to pending grievance)

3367-8362-2075 Time and attendance records

United States Postal Service 276 NLRB No. 143
(no deferral to arbitration of U's request for time and attendance information for purpose of establishing whether E had scheduled Ees to work overtime in violation of contract as this would encumber the process of resolving pending grievances to have to submit new grievance to obtain relevant information)

3367-8362-4000 Power to subcontract unit work

District 1199E, Hospital Employees (Greater Pennsylvania Avenue Nursing Center, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 173
(Bd deferred to arbitration award over issue of subcontracting and U's refusal to bargain notwithstanding subcontractor not party to arbitration proceeding since there was contractual privity between contractor and subcontractor)

United States Steel Corporation JD-223-85
(deferral of question of U's entitlement to requested information inappropriate, since it would result in two-tier arbitration)

3367-8362-6000 Power to transfer or terminate operations and effects of such actions

Armour and Company 280 NLRB No. 096
[no deferral to arbitration award of complaint alleging unlawful refusal by E to bargain regarding allocation of severance and vacation payments to Ees being terminated to specific periods, since ULP issues not considered by arbitrator, where Respondent had argued that arbitrator had no authority to exapnd nature of grievance filed or federal or state matters raised by U at arbitration hearing, and arbitrator concluded he had no authority to decide ULP issues raised by U]

Armour and Company 280 NLRB No. 096
[no deferral to decision of arbitrator on issue of waiver by U of right to request bargaining regarding allocation to specific periods of severance and vacation pay to Ees being terminated, since contract issue resolved by arbitrator was not factually parallel to statutory issue presented to Bd, where question of U waiver never presented to nor considered by arbitrator, and arbitrator considered waiver only to extent that he found no evidence to indicate E bargained away or waived its right to allocate separation pay under state employment law]

3367-8362-8000 Power to make unilateral changes in terms and conditions of employment

Asociacion Hospital Del Maestro, Inc. JD-68-86
[deferral of issue of unilateral decision to replace unit Ees with nonunit Ees and transfer unit work to them, appropriate where parties agreed during hearing to proceed to binding arbitration]

3367-8362-8006 Overtime pay

Food and Commercial Workers (Dierberg's Markets, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 068
[whether under contract E could require Ees to work overtime at time and a half or had to negotiate with U]

3367-8362-8012 Benefits

M. J. Santulli Mail Services, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 170
[although dispute arising from E's unilateral discontinuance of payments to health and welfare fund was clearly encompassed by contract's grievance-arbitration clause and there was no time limit for E to waive, deferral held inappropriate where E, who sought deferral, never indicated willingness to arbitrate but asked for dismissal of C; dismissal and deferral are distinct remedies, and by asking that C be dismissed, E rejected possibility of arbitration]

M. J. Santulli Mail Services, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 170
[deferral of dispute arising from E's unilateral discontinuance of payments to health and welfare fund, inappropriate, since E rejected its bargaining obligation by refusing to meet or bargain with U and to make any payments to fund, failing to accept registered mail from U and Bd, and failing to respond to any of many phone calls and personal requests made by U representatives]

The Trustees of Columbia University in the City of New York 279 NLRB No. 019
[Bd deferred to arbitration award holding that contract required E to help pay for and to provide scholarship to U-run school for members to upgrade their skills, and that therefore E did not have to provide related non-contractual tuition exemption benefit]

Central Transport, Inc. JD-114-86
[deferral to grievance procedure of issues raised in C of whether respondent E covered by supplement or rider to national agreement and consequently which of these supplements it reverts to upon rejection of proposed addendum, since provisions of procedure broad enough to encompass issues raised, where issue w/i scope of procedure and fully cognizable for determination under parties grievance procedure and can be disposed of by resolution of pending grievance on same issue]

My Buddy Products, A Division of S&T Industries, Inc. JD-114-85
(deferral inappropriate in matter regarding health insurance contributions where, based on silence of contract on subject, arbitrator found himself w/o authority to rule on grievance presented to him; therefore, there is nothing to which to defer)

3367-8362-8017 Grievance and arbitration procedures

Arizona Portland Cement Company, A Division of California Portland Cement Company, A Division of Calmat 281 NLRB No. 030
[deferral inappropriate as to issue of who may be U representative at grievance meeting absent contract under which parties were mutually bound by agreed-upon grievance-arbitration procedure]

United States Postal Service 273 NLRB No. 217
(deferral appropriate where issue arose when E announced and unilaterally implemented policy requiring U to process and file grievances during specified period of each day as such dispute encompasses definition of grievance contained in contract, contract provides for final and binding arbitration and there is management rights clause. Therefore, contract and its meaning in present circumstances lie at heart of dispute)

3367-8362-8044 Basic wage rate

Rappazzo Electric Co., Inc. 281 NLRB No. 075
[deferral inappropriate where E's unilateral modification of terms and conditions of employment effecting changes in wages and rates of pay constituted rejection of principles of collective bargaining]

3367-8362-8068 Wage rate decrease

Earl C. Smith, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 100
[deferral to joint committee award, inappropriate, since award was palpably wrong and therefore clearly repugnant to the Act, and could not have resolved E's 8(a)(5) violations alleged in C, where award merely ordered E to comply with a contract that was neither at issue nor in effect at time of E's conduct, which included its refusal to bargain with U, its direct dealing with Ees, and its unilateral modification of earlier contract]

3367-8362-8075 Change in job classifications

3367-8362-8075—Cont.

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 203
(issue of whether E's unilaterally promoting 3 chief operators in one of its 5 buildings at its plant to shift supervisor w/o bargaining in good faith with U properly deferred to arbitrator's award finding that contract's management rights clause gave E authority to direct its Ees, and neither recognition clause nor any other provision restricted this right. Bd, in this case, would have determined E's unilateral action to be not violative since award is susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act. Also ULP and contractual issues are factually parallel)

3367-8362-8085 Holiday compensation

T.L.B. Plastics Corporation 273 NLRB No. 223
(deferral under grievance-arbitration provisions of bargaining agreement appropriate as to issues of whether E violated Act by: (1) issuing 2 disciplinary notices to one Ee, (2) refusing to pay Ee holiday pay, (3) suspending Ee for 3 days, (4) discharging that Ee and (5) discharging other Ees (U adherents) who allegedly were released for engaging in work stoppage, or wild cat strike in violation of plant rule and no-strike clause of collective bargaining agreement. Contractual and ULP issues were factually parallel and Ees involved had faith in fairness of grievance-arbitration machinery as well as efforts of present U steward)

3367-8365 Representative's duty of fair representation

Local Union No. 896, a/w Teamsters (Anheuser-Busch, Inc.) 280 NLRB No. 076
[no deferral to arbitration decision regarding discharge of charging party where C alleged U's breach of duty of fair representation as no contractual issues involved in ULP case, and absent evidence arbitration encompassed issues of U representation and U's providing of information to grievant raised in ULP case; further, interests of charging party and U were in conflict in view of antagonism between U representatives and charging party, U's refusal to take her prior discipline to arbitration or to argue her lack of knowledge of system on the failure to adhere thereto caused her discharge]

3367-8366 Union refusal to bargain

Carpenters 46 Northern California Counties Conference Board (Refrigeration Design Contractors) 278 NLRB No. 021
[deferral of 8(b)(3) charges appropriate where contract's arbitration provision covered dispute in question, issue involved duration of agreement, an issue parallel to that which would be decided in ULP case and U had agreed to waive time limitations on grievance]

District 1199E, Hospital Employees (Greater Pennsylvania Avenue Nursing Center, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 173
(Bd deferred to arbitration award over issue of subcontracting and U's refusal to bargain notwithstanding subcontractor not party to arbitration proceeding since there was contractual privity between contractor and subcontractor)

3367-8367 Contractual obligations

Anderson Prestress Division Anderson Sand and Gravel Company 277 NLRB No. 127
(deferral to arbitration decision upholding discharge for violation of no-strike clause, proper, where contractual and statutory issues were factually parallel, and arbitration panel presented generally with facts relevant to resolving ULPs, notwithstanding absence of any rationale in award to indicate panel considered ULPs, and failure of parties to raise issue at hearings, since GC has not shown arbitration panel was lacking evidence relevant to determination of nature of obligation imposed by no-strike clause, nor was award repugnant to purposes and policies of Act)

3367-8367-0100 Generally

Central Transport, Inc. JD-114-86
[deferral to grievance procedure of issues raised in C of whether respondent E covered by supplement or rider to national agreement and consequently which of these supplements it reverts to upon rejection of proposed addendum, since provisions of procedure broad enough to encompass issues raised, where issue w/i scope of procedure and fully cognizable for determination under parties grievance procedure and can be disposed of by resolution of pending grievance on same issue]

3367-8367-1000 No-strike clause

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(Bd deferred to arbitration award holding that contractual no-strike provision encompassed sympathy strikers and therefore E was free to discipline sympathy strikers where award was not clearly repugnant to Act since broad no-strike clause bans all strikes, including sympathy strikes, absent clear evidence that parties intended otherwise; no party contended arbitration proceeding failed to satisfy other Spielberg criteria; contractual issue was factually parallel to ULP issue; and parties presented arbitration panel with facts relevant to resolving issues)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(pursuant to Bd's United Technologies decision Bd deferred case alleging 8(a)(1) and 8(a)(3) violations involving disciplining of sympathy strikers under contractual no-strike provision to parties' grievance-arbitration provisions)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(Bd held deferral to arbitration award upholding disciplining of sympathy stirkers under contractual no-strike provision appropriate, even though award did not involve Ees named in instant Bd proceeding, since award involved same contractual issue relevant to such Ees)

Chevron, U.S.A., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 132
(in deferring to arbitration award upholding disciplining of sympathy strikers under contractual no-strike provision, Bd directed E to waive any timeliness provisions of grievance-arbitration clause of contract so that U's grievance may be processed)

West Penn Power Company 274 NLRB No. 173
(Bd deferred to arbitration decision sustaining discharge of U president and reducing discharge of U vice-president to 30-day suspension where, in view of language of no-strike provision, arbitrator had reasonable basis for finding that management clearly had authority to discipline officials for failure to terminate unauthorized work stoppage and to have work resumed; arbitrator's contractual interpretation was not clearly repugnant to S.Ct's Metropolitan Edison decision that U may waive right of its officials to acquiesce in unprotected work stoppage)

West Penn Power Company 274 NLRB No. 173
(in deferring to decision of arbitrator who, on basis of language of no-strike provision, sustained harsher discipline imposed on U officials for failure to terminate unauthorized work stoppage than that accorded Ees engaged in stoppage, Bd pointed out that statutory and contractual issues were not factually dissimilar, facts generally relevant to ULP issue were not absent from record made before arbitrator, and GC failed to show that arbitrator's decision was not susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act)

T.L.B. Plastics Corporation 273 NLRB No. 223
(deferral under grievance-arbitration provisions of bargaining agreement appropriate as to issues of whether E violated Act by: (1) issuing 2 disciplinary notices to one Ee, (2) refusing to pay Ee holiday pay, (3) suspending Ee for 3 days, (4) discharging that Ee and (5) discharging other Ees (U adherents) who allegedly were released for engaging in work stoppage, or wild cat strike in violation of plant rule and no-strike clause of collective bargaining agreement. Contractual and ULP issues were factually parallel and Ees involved had faith in fairness of grievance-arbitration machinery as well as efforts of present U steward)

3367-8367-2000 Discipline under 'just cause' provision

Brewery Workers Joint Local Executive Board, Teamsters, and Local 153, et al. (Anheuser-Busch, Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 118
(Bd deferred to arbitrator's award requiring E under multi-E unitwide seniority system to place Ees, seeking employment with E after voluntarily resigning from employment with another E-member, on E's seniority list and to employ them as regular Ees in place of casual Ees, since GC failed to meet Olin burden of showing that arbitrator's analysis was palbably wrong, where arbitrator, upon construing language of contract, properly concluded that application of seniority provisions neither encouraged U membership nor restrained Ees' exercise of their statutory rights)

3367-8367-3500 Duration and termination

Carpenters 46 Northern California Counties Conference Board (Refrigeration Design Contractors) 278 NLRB No. 021
[deferral of 8(b)(3) charges appropriate where contract's arbitration provision covered dispute in question, issue involved duration of agreement, an issue parallel to that which would be decided in ULP case and U had agreed to waive time limitations on grievance]

3367-8367-5000 Management rights clause

United States Postal Service 273 NLRB No. 217
(deferral appropriate where issue arose when E announced and unilaterally implemented policy requiring U to process and file grievances during specified period of each day as such dispute encompasses definition of grievance contained in contract, contract provides for final and binding arbitration and there is management rights clause. Therefore, contract and its meaning in present circumstances lie at heart of dispute)

3367-8367-5300 Favored-nation clause

Toyota of San Francisco 280 NLRB No. 093
[deferral to arbitration of allegation that E who was party to bargaining agreement with most favored nation clause, which provided that any more favorable terms agreed to by U with any other E would automatically become part of agreement, had acted unlawfully when it invoked provision and applied wage rate paid pursuant to agreement with another dealer to strike replacements and paid its Ees who worked during strike at its final offer rate, where arbitrator considered separately both implementation of most favored nation rates and of E's final offer, provided remedy for each, and retained jurisdiction to determine E's liability to Ees]

3367-8367-5500 Referral provision

Operating Engineers Local Union No. 3 (Arthur R. Cole, an Individual) JD-(SF)-113-85
(no deferral to internal U-management tribunal, of charges that U discriminated against member in operation of its hiring hall, since there would be inherent conflict of interest by virtue of fact that U sits as both judge and defendent and even E members could be hostile to grievant because of E's potential liability)

3367-8367-6200 Seniority system

Brewery Workers Joint Local Executive Board, Teamsters, and Local 153, et al. (Anheuser-Busch, Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 118
(arbitrator's award applying multi-E unitwide seniority system held not clearly repugnant to purpose and policy of Act, as found by ALJ, since test under Olin is not whether award is totally consistent with Bd precedent, but whether award is susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act; and if requirement is met, award is not palpably wrong and Bd will defer)

3367-8367-6500 Rights of union steward

Laborers Local Union No. 380 (Mautz & Oren, Inc.) 275 NLRB No. 147
(deferral to arbitration award, rejected, since award involved interpretation of unlawful superseniority clause which was not addressed or resolved by arbitrator which leaves award not susceptible to an interpretation consistent with Act)

3367-8367-9900 Other

Burroughs Interstate Services Credit Union 280 NLRB No. 034
[where result in 2 related cases turned in part on resolution of same factual and legal issues, deferral of 1 of cases inappropriate, notwithstanding cases arose from separate C allegations]

KCW Furniture Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 100
(where E unilaterally instituted terms and conditions of employment inconsistent with existing contract, status quo ante held best resolved by deferring to contractual method for resolving dispute involving Ees' suspensions, where contract provided multistep grievance procedure culminating in decision by adjustment board or arbitration, and E was willing to cooperate in processing grievances since Bd and ct had determined its applicability)

KCW Furniture Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 100
(Bd deferred issue of whether suspension of Ees violated terms of then-existing contract, and amount of backpay due them, where E suspended Ees under its unilaterally implemented proposals for new agreement authorizing suspensions; in earlier proceedings Bd and ct found original contract automatically renewed itself and was in effect when suspensions took place; since suspensions were not alleged as separate ULP in prior proceeding, E was not remiss in not raising deferral issue at that time; and E's unlawful implementation of new contract proposals did not make suspensions part and parcel of 8(a)(5) violation)

Griffith-Hope Company 275 NLRB No. 073
(deferral of issue regarding E's change in insurance carriers w/o bargaining with U, appropriate, since it is contrary to basic principles of Act for Bd to intervene prior to honest attempt by parties to resolve their dispute through machinery culminating in final and binding arbitration; here, parties met on matter covered by contract and resolved dispute through grievance machinery pursuant to which U, by meeting with E after it filed grievance over insurance, accomplished everything it was seeking)

3367-8371 Secondary boycott

Liquid Carbonic Corporation 277 NLRB No. 091
(Bd held that contract clause requiring E to have its Ees employed by whomever E may choose to subcontract unit work to, and which required any subcontractor employing E's Ees to agree to entire contract covering unit Ees, was not violative on its face of Section 8(e); therefore, C was dismissed and deferral was appropriate to arbitrator's finding that E violated contract by subcontracting unit work since arbitrator expressly considered allegations of C)

3367-8385 Status as 'employee' or 'supervisor'

Wolff and Munier, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 022
[Bd did not defer to Joint Conference Committee's findings that discriminatees are supervisors where record showed that Committee did not consider or resolve whether these discriminatees exercised independent judgment in carrying out their duties as required under Section 2(11) of Act]

Donald Brown d/b/a Bailey Distributors 278 NLRB No. 017
[deferral to arbitral award that E did not discriminatorily pay grievant less than helper's contractual wage and did not discharge him for requesting payment at contractual rate, appropriate where contractual and statutory issues turned on whether grievant was ever employed by E as a helper and GC failed to demonstrate that arbitrator was not generally presented with facts relevant to statutory issue]

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 203
(issue of whether E's unilaterally promoting 3 chief operators in one of its 5 buildings at its plant to shift supervisor w/o bargaining in good faith with U properly deferred to arbitrator's award finding that contract's management rights clause gave E authority to direct its Ees, and neither recognition clause nor any other provision restricted this right. Bd, in this case, would have determined E's unilateral action to be not violative since award is susceptible to interpretation consistent with Act. Also ULP and contractual issues are factually parallel)

3367-8387 Other interference with Section 7 rights

3367-8387-5000 Union discipline of member

Sheet Metal Workers, Local 208 (Paul Mueller Company) 278 NLRB No. 087
[no deferral to arbitration of allegation of unlawful bringing of charges and fining by U of members who crossed picket line after resigning from U and of one member who had not resigned prior to crossing picket line, since legality of U's actions involved determination of threshold question of legality of provision in U's constitution prohibiting acceptance of resignation proffered in anticipation of or during pendency of U charges, or during strike or lockout, and thus decision of arbitrator regarding meaning of contract or no retaliation in strike settlement agreement would not settle basic issue]

5000 CESSION OF JURISDICTION TO STATE OR TERRITORIAL AGENCIES

6700 EFFECT OF OTHER STATUTES

6712 BANKRUPTCY ACT

Ohio Container Service, Inc.; Myron E. Wasserman, Trustee in Bankruptcy 277 NLRB No. 025
(trustee in bankruptcy's mtn to stay ULP proceedings pursuant to Bankruptcy code, rejected, since Bd's jurisdiction to hear and determine charges of ULPs is exempted from automatic stay of provisions of Bankruptcy Act under exception of 11 U.S.C. 362(b)(4))

Edward Cooper Painting, and Cooper and Cooper Painting, An Alter Ego 273 NLRB No. 224
(Respondent Corporation required to enforce terms and conditions of applicable (labor) contract only until date on which Respondent Corporation filed its ptn for bankruptcy. See NLRB v. Bildisco & Bildisco, 104 S.Ct. 1188 (1984). Contractual backpay remedy, awarded by Bd, fully restores status quo prior to filing of bankruptcy ptn)

E. G. Sprinkler Corporation and its alter ego Goodman Piping Products, Inc. JD-168-85
(filing of ptn in bankruptcy did not automatically stay backpay proceeding before Bd)

E. G. Sprinkler Corporation and its alter ego Goodman Piping Products, Inc. JD-168-85
(Bd enforcement proceeding in ct of appeals has been held to be proceeding by governmental unit to enforce its regulatory power w/i meaning of provisions of Bankruptcy Act, and hence is not subject to automatic stay provision of that Act; and instant backpay proceeding is part and parcel of process leading to enforcement ptn filed in ct of appeals and, hence, falls under same exemption)

General Highway Express, Inc. v. Teamsters Local Union No. 20 (NLRB) _____F.2d_____
(BC N.D. OH, Jan. 1985)
[bankruptcy ct refused to enjoin NLRB from hearing ULP C arising out of events that occurred during operation of debtor in possession notwithstanding 11 U.S.C. Sec. 502 (c)(1) arguably authorizes ct to decide U's ULP claims against debtor, since Congress entrusted NLRB to adjudicate ULP claims and S.Ct expressed strong preference for allowing NLRB to do so]Nathanson v. NLRB, 344 U.S. 25) unless assets of estate would be threatened if proceedings before NLRB allowed to continue]

6737 RAILWAY LABOR ACT

Ebon Services International, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 136
(Bd asserted jurisdiction over E engaged in providing cleaning services to four airlines at international airport, where National Mediation Board advised Bd that E was independent company that was not owned or controlled by any carrier subject to Railway Labor Act)

6760 DAVIS-BACON ACT

A. N. Electric Corp. 276 NLRB No. 092
(no deferral to alleged settlement of E's liabilities to discharged Ees where there was discrepancy between amounts Ees testified they received and figures in settlement; circumstances suggested that settlement figures had been tampered with; agreement was apparently to settle E's Davis-Bacon Act liabilities, not its ULP liabilities; and alleged settlement did not rise w/i framework of established grievance-arbitration procedures)

6775 POSTAL REORGANIZATION ACT

6775—Cont.

U.S. Postal Service 280 NLRB No. 080

[by virtue of Section 1209 of Postal Reorganization Act, NLRA was made applicable to Postal Service Ee-management relations]

8300 LIMITATIONS ON DISCRETION IN EXERCISE OF JURISDICTION

Marie E. Darr v. N.L.R.B. (Cone Mills Corp.) 801 F.2d 1404 (C.A. D.C., Sept. 1986)

260 STANDARDS FOR ASSERTION OF JURISDICTION

0100 GENERALLY

0150 NOT-FOR-PROFIT EMPLOYERS SUBJECT TO STANDARDS ON SAME BASIS AS FOR-PROFIT EMPLOYERS

Tony and Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ——U.S.—— (U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)

[nonprofit religious foundation operating various commercial businesses held enterprise engaged in commerce, notwithstanding its religious character, in view of ct's liberal construction of FLSA intended to outlaw from interstate commerce goods produced under conditions below minimum standards of decency, absence from FLSA of any express or implied exceptions for commercial activities of religious or other nonprofit organizations, Labor Departments consistent interpretation of FLSA reading such businesses, and legislative history supporting such interpretation]

3300 COMPUTATION OF MONETARY VOLUME OF GOODS AND SERVICES

3320 MEASURE OF COMMERCE

3320-0100 Generally

N & G Coal Co., Inc., etc. d/b/a Hagerman Trucking 274 NLRB No. 045

(in determining whether E meets monetary standards for asserting jurisdiction, Bd will add direct and indirect inflow or direct and indirect outflow. Bd will not add inflow and outflow)

St. Charles Interiors Inc.; d/b/a GML Drywall, etc. JD-447-84

(while there was no commerce evidence of record concerning 1 of 3 companies involved herein and therefore no basis to conclude whether company in question as separate entity would meet Bd's jurisdictional standards, jurisdiction asserted over such company inasmuch as it was alter ego of other 2 companies which separately met Bd's jurisdictional standards)

3320-0137 Total business of employer

Chesvront-Hill Corporation d/b/a Pit Stop Markets 279 NLRB No. 161

[jurisdiction asserted over E who operates retail gas station and convenience grocery store under retail standard. Bd used the gross volume of retail gas sales, which amounted to $1 million, rather than commission fees of $43,000 that e received for such sales made under consignment and commission agreement with supplier notwithstanding title to gasoline remained with supplier]

N & G Coal Co., Inc., etc. d/b/a Hagerman Trucking 274 NLRB No. 045

(in determining whether E meets monetary standards for asserting jurisdiction, Bd will add direct and indirect inflow or direct and indirect outflow. Bd will not add inflow and outflow)

Electrical Workers Local Union #46 (PAC, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 167

(while State of Washington is exempt from Bd's jurisdiction under Sec. 2(2) of Act, value of services performed by E for State may be considered for jurisdictional purposes. Bd has held that indirect outflow refers to sales of goods or services w/i State to users meeting any direct or indirect outflow standards. Included in definition of users are enterprises which themselves are exempted form Bd's jurisdiction)

Michigan Motor Inns, Inc., d/b/a Confort Inn, Formerly Known as Carriage Inn JD-361-85

[motel's receipt of State and local taxes on room rentals as well as money due the telephone company for long-distance calls made by guests are properly part of motel's gross revenues]

3320-5000 Outflow

3320-5001 Generally

P.J. Hamill Transfer Company, and Robert Blackwell, Trustee in Bankruptcy, alter ego and/or successor, and Brennan Express, Inc., alter egos 277 NLRB No. 39

(E did not violate Act since it was held to be neither alter ego or successor E of another Respondent E, nor did it alone meet Bd's jurisdictional standards, where, based on projection after 2-1/2 months operations, it would not perform out-of-state services in excess of $50,000 per year)

3320-5033 Direct

N & G Coal Co., Inc., etc. d/b/a Hagerman Trucking 274 NLRB No. 045

(refers to goods shipped or services furnished by E outside state)

3320-5067 Indirect

3320-5067-2500 Goods and/or services

N & G Coal Co., Inc., etc. d/b/a Hagerman Trucking 274 NLRB No. 045

(refers to sales of goods or services to users meeting any of Bd's jurisdictional standards except indirect outflow or indirect inflow standard)

N & G Coal Co., Inc., etc. d/b/a Hagerman Trucking 274 NLRB No. 045

(C dismissed for want of jurisdiction where E sold all coal he produced (over $50,000 annually) to individual-not agent of E-in same state, who then sold all the coal to another entity w/i state who shipped all this coal to Canada, since here, E did not have any direct outflow (no coal shipped by E outside state) and no showing that individual was user who met any of Bd's jurisdictional standard other than indirect outflow, and for Bd to assert jurisdiction under indirect outflow standard there must be sale to user meeting any of Bd's jurisdiction standards except indirect outflow or indirect inflow standard)

Electrical Workers Local Union #46 (PAC, Inc.) 273 NLRB No. 167

(while State of Washington is exempt from Bd's jurisdiction under Sec. 2(2) of Act, value of services performed by E for State may be considered for jurisdictional purposes. Bd has held that indirect outflow refers to sales of goods or services w/i State to users meeting any direct or indirect outflow standards. Included in definition of users are enterprises which themselves are exempted form Bd's jurisdiction)

Quality Plastic Molds, Inc., and Titan Enterprises, Corp. JD-(NY)-143-84

(jurisdiction asserted over plastic molds designer selling goods valued at $90,000 to plastic molds manufacturer w/i same state which satisfied Bd's direct outflow standard, since designer thus met E's indirect outflow standard; designer also met jurisdictional standard by virtue of being found single integrated enterprise and single E with manufacturer)

3320-7500 Inflow

3320-7501 Generally

3320-7501-4000 Source of inflow

Orange Belt District Council of Painters and Allied Trades No. 48, et al. (Ghianni Drywall Construction, Inc., et al.) 275 NLRB No. 164

(E's purchase from supplier of gypsum drywall in excess of $300,000 during one year held not to affect interstate commerce, where gypsum ore moved across state lines to state where it was made into gypsum drywall that was sold to Es in same state)

Michigan Motor Inns, Inc., d/b/a Confort Inn, Formerly Known as Carriage Inn JD-361-85

[motel's receipt of State and local taxes on room rentals as well as money due the telephone company for long-distance calls made by guests are properly part of motel's gross revenues]

3320-7501-4700 Volume of inflow is immaterial

Gamber Roofing Company JD-174-86

[Bd lacked jurisdiction over E which had over $500,000 in annual gross revenue where it lacked requisite purchase of goods from out of state of

3320-7501-6700—Cont.

over $50,000, nor could jurisdiction be based on purchases by multi-E association, where E was not member of association, had neither signed nor applied last two association contracts with U, and where E's authorization to association to conduct bargaining on its behalf did not bind E to contract negotiated by association]

3320-7533 Direct

American Lebanese Syrian Associated Charities, Inc. d/b/a A.L.S.A.C. 277 NLRB No. 189

[jurisdiction asserted over non-profit fund raising organization for hospital where organization itself received products in excess of $50,000 from points outside state and fact that hospital was dependent on organization for funds and was itself engaged in commerce, was further justification for asserting jurisdiction]

N & G Coal Co., Inc., etc. d/b/a Hagerman Trucking 274 NLRB No. 045

(refers to goods or services furnished directly to E from outside state in which E located)

Gamber Roofing Company JD-174-86

[Bd lacked jurisdiction over E which had over $500,000 in annual gross revenue where it lacked requisite purchase of goods from out of state of over $50,000, nor could jurisdiction be based on purchases by multi-E association, where E was not member of association, had neither signed nor applied last two association contracts with U, and where E's authorization to association to conduct bargaining on its behalf did not bind E to contract negotiated by association]

3320-7567 Indirect

3320-7567-5000 Local purchases of supplies whose original source was outside of state

N & G Coal Co., Inc., etc. d/b/a Hagerman Trucking 274 NLRB No. 045

(refers to purchasers of goods or services which originated outside E's state but which he purchased from seller w/i state who received such goods or services from outside state)

3340 PERIOD OF COMPUTATION

3340-0100 Generally

Enterprise Aggregates Corporation 276 NLRB No. 011

(Bd will use E's last fiscal or calendar year preceding year ULPs alleged to have occurred to determine jurisdiction)

3340-5000 Projection from short period

P.J. Hamill Transfer Company, and Robert Blackwell, Trustee in Bankruptcy, alter ego and/or successor, and Brennan Express, Inc., alter ego 277 NLRB No. 39

(E did not violate Act since it was held to be neither alter ego or successor E of another Respondent E, nor did it alone meet Bd's jurisdictional standards, where, based on projection after 2-1/2 months operations, it would not perform out-of-state services in excess of $50,000 per year)

Michigan Motor Inns, Inc., d/b/a Comfort Inn, Formerly Known as Carriage Inn JD-361-85

[since financial data was not available from predecessor E, average monthly revenues of successor E was used to project annual gross revenues]

Everett Yacht Club JD-(SF)-115-85

(applying discretionary standard for retailers, jurisdiction asserted over private yacht club where its gross revenues excluding dues and initiation fees exceeded this standard for last fiscal or calendar year, or for last 12 months before hearing. Bd rejected E's theory that because E subcontracted operation of bar and restaurant beginning 3 months prior to hearing it should be treated as new entity in which case it would not meet standard)

3360 ENTERPRISE WHOSE GOODS AND SERVICES ARE MEASURED

3360-3300 Integrated enterprise

American Lebanese Syrian Associated Charities, Inc. d/b/a A.L.S.A.C. 277 NLRB No. 189

[jurisdiction asserted over non-profit fund raising organization for hospital where organization itself received products in excess of $50,000 from points outside state and fact that hospital was dependent on organization for funds and was itself engaged in commerce, was further justification for asserting jurisdiction]

3360-3367 Particular industry or business

3360-3367-2800 Building and construction

Orange Belt District Council of Painters and Allied Trades No. 48, et al. (Ghianni Drywall Construction, Inc., et al.) 275 NLRB No. 166

(E's purchase from supplier of gypsum drywall in excess of $300,000 during one year held not to affect interstate commerce, where gypsum ore moved across state lines to state where it was made into gypsum drywall that was sold to Es in same state)

3360-3367-4500 Country clubs

Everett Yacht Club JD-(SF)-115-85

(applying discretionary standard for retailers, jurisdiction asserted over private yacht club where its gross revenues excluding dues and initiation fees exceeded this standard for last fiscal or calendar year, or for last 12 months before hearing. Bd rejected E's theory that because E subcontracted operation of bar and restaurant beginning 3 months prior to hearing it should be treated as new entity in which case it would not meet standard)

3360-3367-4700 Motels-restaurants

Michigan Motor Inns, Inc., d/b/a Comfort Inn, Formerly Known as Carriage Inn JD-361-85

[motel's receipt of State and local taxes on room rentals as well as money due the telephone company for long-distance calls made by guests are properly part of motel's gross revenues]

3360-4700 Employer associations

Gamber Roofing Company JD-174-86

[Bd lacked jurisdiction over E which had over $500,000 in annual gross revenue where it lacked requisite purchase of goods from out of state of over $50,000, nor could jurisdiction be based on purchases by multi-E association, where E was not member of association, had neither signed nor applied last two association contracts with U, and where E's authorization to association to conduct bargaining on its behalf did not bind E to contract negotiated by association]

Richard Burgett, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Burgett & Son Masonry and its Alter Ego Consumers Energy Savings System, Inc. JD-25-86

[jurisdiction asserted over respondent Es who were members of multi-E bargaining association, where non-party E-member of association met requirements for assertion of jurisdiction, inasmuch as all members of E association bound by its negotiation are considered single E for jurisdictional purposes]

3360-4700 Union

Carpenters Local 925; et al. (Charlene Saier, an Individual) 279 NLRB No. 148

[jurisdiction asserted over local U and district council of Carpenters as integral part of multistate enterprise, and nonretail standard of $50,000 direct inflow or direct outflow applied where constitution provided that no local bylaws or trade rules may conflict with any provisions of Carpenters constitution and must be approved by latter before taking affect, thus giving parent-Carpenters active control over local and council]

3380 SECONDARY BOYCOTT CASES

Teamsters Local Union No. 688 (Air-Ways Cab Co., Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 181

[in secondary boycott case involving taxicab companies as primary, and lessee-drivers as secondary, Es, jurisdiction declined where companies' change from Ee-drivers to lessee-drivers would almost certainly have resulted in substantial diminution of companies' gross revenues; such circumstances undermine presumption that companies' business remained same so as to call for assertion of jurisdiction; and, while companies operated under new leasing system for 4 months before hearing, and even though U never admitted that Bd has jurisdiction, GC introduced no evidence as to companies' gross revenues for relevant period]

Teamsters Local Union No. 688 (Air-Ways Cab Co., Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 181

[in secondary boycott case involving taxicab companies as primary, and lessee-drivers as secondary, Es, jurisdiction declined, where operations of lessee-drivers did not individually meet jurisdictional standards and hence could not be aggregated for finding jurisdiction; followig E's changeover from Ee-drivers to lessee-drivers, latters' revenues could not be attributed to companies for determining jurisdiction since lessee-drivers were not companies' allies, nor was their status as independent contractors, rather than Ees, due to companies' wrongful conduct; rather, changeover was lawfully effected after impasse]

3380-0100 Generally

3380-0100—Cont.

Florida Gulf Coast Building and Construction Trades Council v. N.L.R.B. 796 F.2d 1328 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[handbilling is protected by First Amendment even when designed to pressure others to act, but government has interest in certain forms of economic regulations, e.g. secondary boycotts and picketing, notwithstanding effects on rights of speech and association, as part of Congress' striking delicate balance between U's freedom of expression and neutral Es', Ees', and consumers' freedom from coerced participation in industrial strife]

3380-3300 Primary employer's outflow supports jurisdiction

Miscellaneous, Drivers Helpers & Public Employees Local Union No. Local 610, a/w Teamsters (Lin Rol Labor Industries, Inc.) JD-86-85

(even if neutral E's operations did not meet Bd's jurisdictional standards, jurisdiction would be asserted over entire dispute (1) because of operations and revenues of primary E over whom U conceded Bd would take jurisdiction, or (2) because of pervasive economic role in alleged boycott of another neutral E found to be engaged in commerce w/i meaning of Act)

3380-8400 Jurisdiction over secondary employer sufficient

Miscellaneous, Drivers Helpers & Public Employees Local Union No. Local 610, a/w Teamsters (Lin Rol Labor Industries, Inc.) JD-86-85

(even if neutral E's operations did not meet Bd's jurisdictional standards, jurisdiction would be asserted over entire dispute (1) because of operations and revenues of primary E over whom U conceded Bd would take jurisdiction, or (2) because of pervasive economic role in alleged boycott of another neutral E found to be engaged in commerce w/i meaning of Act)

3390 SERVICES INTIMATELY RELATED TO OPERATIONS OF EXEMPT ENTERPRISE

The Big East Conference 282 NLRB No. 050

[jurisdiction asserted over E, basketball conference composed of nine member schools, notwithstanding two of its nine member schools were public institutions, where their designated representatives on conference Board could not control operations of E and E was not created directly by state]

Res-Care, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 078

[in National Transportation Service, Bd abandoned intimate connection test for determining whether to assert jurisdiction over E with close ties to exempt government entity; instead, inquiry would be whether E itself met definition of employer in Section 2(2) of the Act and, if so, whether E retained sufficient control of employment conditions of its Ees to enable it to engage in effective or meaningful bargaining with a labor organization]

Res-Care, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 078

[in determining whether to assert jurisdiction over E providing services to or for an exempt entity, Bd will closely examine not only the control over essential terms and conditions of employment retained by E, but also the scope and degree of control exercised by the exempt entity over the E's labor relations, to determine whether E is capable of engaging in meaningful collective bargaining]

Res-Care, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 078

[Bd declined to assert jurisdiction over E engaged in operation of residential job corp center under contract with Department of Labor (DOL), since DOL controlled E's labor relations to extent precluding E from engaging in meaningful collective bargaining where DOL retained ultimate discretion for setting wage and benefit levels and approving any change in wage rates, benefit levels or personnel policies; if E does not have final say on entire package of Ee compensation, i.e., wages and fringe benefits, meaningful bargaining is not possible]

Res-Care, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 078

[in reaffirming test of National Transportation for determining whether Bd will assert jurisdiction over E providing services to or for an exempt entity, Bd expressly overruled Management and Training Corp., Teledyne Economic Development Co. and Singer Co.]

Long Stretch Youth Home, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 079

[test for determining when assertion of jurisdiction over E providing services to or for exempt entity is appropriate is whether E has sufficient control over its Ees' employment conditions to enable it to bargain effectively with U, rather than what is the relationship between the functions of exempt entity and those of private E]

St. Jude Industrial Park Board v. N.L.R.B. 760 F.2d 223 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1985)

(Bd, with S.Ct approval, has limited political subdivision exemption to entities that are either: (1) created by state, so as to constitute departments or administrative arms of the government, or (2) administered by individuals who are responsible to public officials or to the general electorate)

St. Jude Industrial Park Board v. N.L.R.B. 760 F.2d 223 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1985)

(Park Board set up to manage industrial park held not political subdivision notwithstanding City ratified its creation by adopting ordinance, since Park Board not create to constitute department or administrative arm of city government but was more in nature of business arrangement and city has retained very little control over Park Board affairs; further, Park Board is not administered by individuals who are responsible to public officials or general electorate as half of members are appointed by company in park and who cannot be removed by City)

3395 CONTROL OVER LABOR RELATIONS BY EXEMPT ENTERPRISE

Rustman Bus Company, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 025

[jurisdiction asserted over E providing bus transportation to exempt state and local public school entities, since exempt entities did not impinge on E's daily operation or ultimate control of labor relations, where entities did not impose discipline on drivers or participate in interviewing, hiring, decision or grievance adjustment, and notwithstanding entities' specification of minimum driver qualifications and retention of rights to investigate complaints and ask that driver be reassigned]

Res-Care, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 078

[in National Transportation Service, Bd abandoned intimate connection test for determining whether to assert jurisdiction over E with close ties to exempt government entity; instead, inquiry would be whether E itself met definition of employer in Section 2(2) of the Act and, if so, whether E retained sufficient control of employment conditions of its Ees to enable it to engage in effective or meaningful bargaining with a labor organization]

Res-Care, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 078

[in determining whether to assert jurisdiction over E providing services to or for an exempt entity, Bd will closely examine not only the control over essential terms and conditions of employment retained by E, but also the scope and degree of control exercised by the exempt entity over the E's labor relations, to determine whether E is capable of engaging in meaningful collective bargaining]

Res-Care, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 078

[Bd declined to assert jurisdiction over E engaged in operation of residential job corp center under contract with Department of Labor (DOL), since DOL controlled E's labor relations to extent precluding E from engaging in meaningful collective bargaining where DOL retained ultimate discretion for setting wage and benefit levels and approving any change in wage rates, benefit levels or personnel policies; if E does not have final say on entire package of Ee compensation, i.e., wages and fringe benefits, meaningful bargaining is not possible]

Res-Care, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 078

[in reaffirming test of National Transportation for determining whether Bd will assert jurisdiction over E providing services to or for an exempt entity, Bd expressly overruled Management and Training Corp., Teledyne Economic Development Co. and Singer Co.]

Long Stretch Youth Home, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 079

[test for determining when assertion of jurisdiction over E providing services to or for exempt entity is appropriate is whether E has sufficient control over its Ees' employment conditions to enable it to bargain effectively with U, rather than what is the relationship between the functions of exempt entity and those of private E]

St. Jude Industrial Park Board v. N.L.R.B. 760 F.2d 223 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1985)

(City did not exercise sufficient control over labor relations of Park Board where Park Board Ees received higher wages than City Ees and terms of employment and work supervision of Ees of Park Board are effectively controlled by lessee-appointed members of Park Board)

6700 STANDARDS APPLICABLE TO SPECIFIC TYPES OF ENTERPRISES

6708 COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES, PRIVATE NON-PROFIT

College of English Language, Los Angeles, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 105

(E operating college teaching English as second language to foreign language students held engaged in operation dissimilar from that of colleges, universities, and secondary schools found by Bd to be educational institutions, and held, instead, retail establishment providing service to consumers in view of E's lack of institutional or governmental accreditation common to Bd-denominated educational institutions; applicable state code having commercial purpose of assisting consumers in seeking redress from E; and fact that, while E possessed number of characteristics of educational entities, such characteristics existed in name only)

6710 ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS, PRIVATE FOR-PROFIT AND NON-PROFIT

College of English Language, Los Angeles, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 105
(E operating college teaching English as second language to foreign language students held engaged in operation dissimilar from that of colleges, universities, and secondary schools found by Bd to be educational institutions, and held, instead, retail establishment providing service to consumers in view of E's lack of institutional or governmental accreditation common to Bd-denominated educational institutions; applicable state code having commercial purpose of assisting consumers in seeking redress from E; and fact that, while E possessed number of characteristics of educational entities, such characteristics existed in name only)

6736 NATIONAL DEFENSE

Jim Miller, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Action Drywall JD-(SF)-136-86
[National defense standard is discretionary jurisdictional standard formulated by Bd for restricting disputes over which it will assert jurisdiction. National defense standard of operations which have substantial impact on national defense will not automatically be invoked whenever E's services are performed as part of defense establishment. Rather, case by case analysis required to determine possible impact labor dispute might have on defense facility. Application for National defense standard is not restricted to disputes enmeshing only military or even government installation]

6736-5000 Substantial impact on national defense

Jim Miller, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Action Drywall JD-(SF)-136-86
[Bd asserted jurisdiction over dry wall constractor at housing project for military personnel located on military base, notwithstanding E did not meet Bd's administrative direct or indirect outflow or inflow standards, since w/i Bd's statutory jurisdiction inasmuch as commerce of base included in determination of effect on commerce where work was performed on military base and involved work necessary for providing on base housing, thus labor dispute arising in situation would enmesh base operations, and also E meets Bd's discretionary national defense standard since E's work exerted substantial impact on national defense]

Jim Miller, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Action Drywall JD-(SF)-136-86
[although no specific test or indicia has emerged for evaluating impact of disruption in particular situations, cases applying national defense standard have looked to certain areas in arriving at conclusion that particular E's operations do, or do not, warrant application of standard. One such area is personnel to whom materials or services furnished. Another area included in this analysis has been nature of materials or services provided. Finally, Bd has examined location at which materials or services supplied]

6776 RETAIL ENTERPRISES

Chevvron-Hill Corporation d/b/a Pit Stop Markets 279 NLRB No. 161
[jurisdiction asserted over E who operates retail gas station and convenience grocery store under retail standard. Bd used the gross volume of retail gas sales, which amounted to $1 million, rather than commission fees of $43,000 that e received for such sales made under consignment and commission agreement with supplier notwithstanding title to gasoline remained with supplier]

College of English Language, Los Angeles, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 105
(E operating college teaching English as second language to foreign language students held engaged in operation dissimilar from that of colleges, universities, and secondary schools found by Bd to be educational institutions, and held, instead, retail establishment providing service to consumers in view of E's lack of institutional or governmental accreditation common to Bd-denominated educational institutions; applicable state code having commercial purpose of assisting consumers in seeking redress from E; and fact that, while E possessed number of characteristics of educational entities, such characteristics existed in name only)

6784 SPORTS

The Big East Conference 282 NLRB No. 050
[jurisdiction asserted over E, basketball conference composed of nine member schools, notwithstanding two of its nine member schools were public institutions, where their designated representatives on conference Board could not control operations of E and E was not created directly by state]

280 ENTERPRISES OVER WHICH THE BOARD DID OR DID NOT ASSERT JURISDICTION

0100 AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTION - CROPS

0200 AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTION - LIVESTOCK

0700 AGRICULTURAL SERVICES

0800 FORESTRY

0900 FISHING, HUNTING, AND TRAPPING

1000 METAL MINING

1100 ANTHRACITE MINING

1200 BITUMINOUS COAL AND LIGNITE MINING

N & G Coal Co., Inc., etc. d/b/a Hagerman Trucking 274 NLRB No. 045

(C dismissed for want of jurisdiction where E sold all coal he produced (over $50,000 annually) to individual-not agent of E-in same state, who then sold all the coal to another entity w/i state who shipped all this coal to Canada, since here, E did not have any direct outflow (no coal shipped by E outside state) and no showing that individual was user who met any of Bd's jurisdictional standard other than indirect outflow, and for Bd to assert jurisdiction under indirect outflow standard there must be sale to user meeting any of Bd's jurisdiction standards except indirect outflow or indirect inflow standard)

1300 OIL AND GAS EXTRACTION

1400 MINING AND QUARRYING OF NONMETALLIC MINERALS, EXCEPT FUELS

1500 BUILDING CONSTRUCTION - GENERAL CONTRACTORS AND OPERATIVE BUILDERS

1600 CONSTRUCTION OTHER THAN BUILDING CONSTRUCTION - GENERAL CONTRACTORS

1700 CONSTRUCTION - SPECIAL TRADE CONTRACTORS

1740 MASONRY, STONEWORK, TILE SETTING, AND PLASTERING

Jim Miller, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Action Drywall JD-(SF)-136-86

[Bd asserted jurisdiction over dry wall contractor at housing project for military personnel located on military base, notwithstanding E did not meet Bd's administrative direct or indirect outflow or inflow standards, since w/i Bd's statutory jurisdiction inasmuch as commerce of base included in determination of effect on commerce where work was performed on military base and involved work necessary for providing on base housing, thus labor dispute arising in situation would enmesh base operations, and also E meets Bd's discretionary national defense standard since E's work exerted substantial impact on national defense]

2000 FOOD AND KINDRED PRODUCTS

2100 TOBACCO MANUFACTURES

2200 TEXTILE MILL PRODUCTS

2300 APPAREL AND OTHER FINISHED PRODUCTS MADE FROM FABRICS AND SIMILAR MATERIALS

2400 LUMBER AND WOOD PRODUCTS, EXCEPT FURNITURE

2500 FURNITURE AND FIXTURES

2600 PAPER AND ALLIED PRODUCTS

2700 PRINTING, PUBLISHING, AND ALLIED INDUSTRIES

2800 CHEMICALS AND ALLIED PRODUCTS

2900 PETROLEUM REFINING AND RELATED INDUSTRIES

3000 RUBBER AND MISCELLANEOUS PLASTICS PRODUCTS

3100 LEATHER AND LEATHER PRODUCTS

3200 STONE, CLAY, GLASS, AND CONCRETE PRODUCTS

3300 PRIMARY METAL INDUSTRIES

3400 FABRICATED METAL PRODUCTS, EXCEPT MACHINERY AND TRANSPORTATION EQUIPMENT

3500 MACHINERY, EXCEPT ELECTRICAL

3600 ELECTRICAL AND ELECTRONIC MACHINERY, EQUIPMENT, AND SUPPLIES

3700 TRANSPORTATION EQUIPMENT

3800 MEASURING, ANALYZING, AND CONTROLLING INSTRUMENTS; PHOTOGRAPHIC, MEDICAL, AND OPTICAL GOODS; WATCHES AND CLOCKS

3900 MISCELLANEOUS MANUFACTURING

4000 RAILROAD TRANSPORTATION

4100 LOCAL AND SURBURBAN TRANSIT AND INTERURBAN HIGHWAY PASSENGER TRANSPORTATION

4110 LOCAL AND SUBURBAN PASSENGER TRANSPORTATION

Springfield Transit Management, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 017

[jurisdiction asserted over city transit management company operating buses owned and garaged by state transit authority where E established labor relations for Ees who operated transit system and was therefore private E subject to NLRA rather than exempt state agencyor instrumentality]

4120 TAXICABS

Teamsters Local Union No. 688 (Air-Ways Cab Co., Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 181

[in secondary boycott case involving taxicab companies as primary, and lessee-drivers as secondary, Ea, jurisdiction declined where companies'

4120—Cont.

change from Ee-drivers to lessee-drivers would almost certainly have resulted in substantial diminution of companies' gross revenues; such circumstances undermine presumption that companies' business remained same so as to call for assertion of jurisdiction; and, while companies operated under new leasing system for 4 months before hearing, and even though U never admitted that Bd has jurisdiction, GC introduced no evidence as to companies' gross revenues for relevant period]

Teamsters Local Union No. 688 (Air-Ways Cab Co., Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 181

[in secondary boycott case involving taxicab companies as primary, and lessee-drivers as secondary, Es, jurisdiction declined, where operations of lessee-drivers did not individually meet jurisdictional standards and hence could not be aggregated for finding jurisdiction; followig E's changeover from Ee-drivers to lessee-drivers, latters' revenues could not be attributed to companies for determining jurisdiction since lessee-drivers were not companies' allies, nor was their status as independent contractors, rather than Ees, due to companies' wrongful conduct; rather, changeover was lawfully effected after impasse]

4150 SCHOOL BUSES

Rustman Bus Company, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 025

[jurisdiction asserted over E providing bus transportation to exempt state and local public school entities, since exempt entities did not impinge on E's daily operation or ultimate control of labor relations, where entities did not impose discipline on drivers or participate in interviewing, hiring, decision or grievance adjustment, and notwithstanding entities' specification of minimum driver qualifications and retention of rights to investigate complaints and ask that driver be reassigned]

4200 MOTOR FREIGHT TRANSPORTATION AND WAREHOUSING

4230 TERMINAL AND JOINT TERMINAL MAINTENANCE FACILITIES FOR MOTOR FREIGHT TRANSPORTATION

Ebon Services International, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 136

(Bd asserted jurisdiction over E engaged in providing cleaning services to four airlines at international airport, where National Mediation Board advised Bd that E was independent company that was not owned or controlled by any carrier subject to Railway Labor Act)

4400 WATER TRANSPORTATION

4500 TRANSPORTATION BY AIR

4580 FIXED FACILITIES AND SERVICES RELATED TO AIR TRANSPORTATION

ARA Ground Services, Inc. 280 N.L.R.B. No. 062

[R ptn involving E engaged in business of providing ground services to air carriers at airport, dismissed, since National Mediation Bd advised Bd that, based on nature of activities and degree of control by airlines, activities and Ees performing them were subject to Railway Labor Act]

Ground Handling, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 142

[Bd dismissed ptn on jurisdictional grounds where E provided ground fleet servises to air carriers through contract with county where, pursuant to Bd's request, National Mediation Bd advised Bd that, in view of nature of E's activities traditionally performed by Ees of carriers in airline industry, and degree of control exercised by airlines which E serves, activities and Ees performing such activities are subject to Railway Labor Act]

Ground Services, Inc., a Wholly-Owned Subsidiary of ARA Services, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 006

(ptn to represent Ees of E providing ground fleet service to air carriers, dismissed for lack of jurisdiction, where Bd advised by National Mediation Board that Ees sought by petitioner were subject to Railway Labor Act)

4600 PIPE LINES, EXCEPT NATURAL GAS

4700 TRANSPORTATION SERVICES

4800 COMMUNICATION

4900 ELECTRIC, GAS, AND SANITARY SERVICES

5000 WHOLESALE TRADE - DURABLE GOODS

5100 WHOLESALE TRADE - NONDURABLE GOODS

5200 BUILDING MATERIALS, HARDWARE, GARDEN SUPPLY, AND MOBILE HOME DEALERS

5300 GENERAL MERCHANDISE STORES

5400 FOOD STORES

5500 AUTOMOTIVE DEALERS AND GASOLINE SERVICE STATIONS

5600 APPAREL AND ACCESSORY STORES

5700 FURNITURE, HOME FURNISHINGS AND EQUIPMENT STORES

5800 EATING AND DRINKING PLACES

5900 MISCELLANEOUS RETAIL

6000 BANKING

6100 CREDIT AGENCIES OTHER THAN BANKS

6200 SECURITY AND COMMODITY BROKERS, DEALERS, EXCHANGES, AND SERVICES

6300 INSURANCE

6400 INSURANCE AGENTS, BROKERS, AND SERVICE

6500 REAL ESTATE

6510 REAL ESTATE OPERATORS (EXCEPT DEVELOPERS) AND LESSORS

In The Matter of David Landau, d/b/a Century Assets 280 NLRB No. 155

[AO that Bd would assert jurisdiction over owner, operator, and controller of 2 apartment buildings where combined income exceeded $500,000 per year, and E's alleged $30,000 per annum in out-of-state purchases was more than de minimus]

Imperial House Condominium, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 154

[reaffirming its decision in 30 Sutton Place, 240 NLRB 752, and that it will continue to assert jurisdiction over residential condominiums and cooperatives, Bd asserted jurisdiction over nonprofit incorporated association operating residential condominium that met established jurisdictional amount of $500,000 per annum, where there was no intervening change in either (1) nature of condominiums and cooperatives or (2) their unquestioned impact on interstate commerce that would warrant reversal of 7-year policy of asserting jurisdiction over such enterprises]

Imperial House Condominium, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 154

[in asserting jurisdiction over nonprofit incorporated association operating residential condominium, Bd noted that it had rejected argument that nonprofit nature of apartment cooperatives made them inappropriate for Bd jurisdiction; assertion of jurisdiction over cooperatives and its withdrawal from condominiums would be anomalous since they differ essentially only in legal form, not substance; similarly, while residential apartment, over which Bd asserts jurisdiction, differs from residential condominium, such difference centers more on form of ownership rather than on real and potential impace on interstate commerce]

Imperial House Condominium, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 154

[in asserting jurisdiction over condominium on basis of 30 Sutton Place, 240 NLRB 752, stating jurisdiction derives from general impact of enterprise on interstate commerce, rather than involvement in traditional commercial activity, Bd conceded that condominiums are not engaged in business in sense of retail operation but held that, while relationship of condominium's individual unit owner to condominium Ee may not be equivalent of retailer to purchaser, relationship of condominium as business enterprise to its Ees and suppliers is no different from that of any similar business enterprise and is inextricably in interstate commerce]

Imperial House Condominium, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 154

[in asserting jurisdiction over residential condominium, Bd found no meaningful equivalence between condominium and individual homeowner simply because in each instance owner is purchasing personal services; such argument ignores collective nature of condominium which serves to take enterprise outside sphere of individual action; and Bd has asserted jurisdiction over enterprises wherein collection of individuals banded together to purchase personal goods and services and which included private athletic clubs, nonprofit golf and country clubs, and electrical and agricultural cooperatives]

Imperial House Condominium, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 154

[in asserting jurisdiction over residential condominium, Bd held fact that condominium unit owners purchase repair and related services for their dwellings is no more reason to decline jurisdiction over condominiums than fact that portion of apartment dwellers' monthly rents are attributable to repair and maintenance of their dwellings is basis to decline jurisdiction over residential apartment houses]

6510—Cont.

Imperial House Condominium, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 154
[in asserting jurisdiction over residential condominium, Bd held it is not appropriate to withdraw Bd's jurisdictional authority from substantial segment of national economy and thereby deny Act's protection to significant number of Ees employed in such industry]

St. Jude Industrial Park Board v. N.L.R.B. 760 F.2d 223 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1985)
(Park Board set up to manage industrial park held not political subdivision notwithstanding City ratified its creation by adopting ordinance, since Park Board not create to constitute department or administrative arm of city government but was more in nature of business arrangement and city has retained very little control over Park Board affairs; further, Park Board is not administered by individuals who are responsible to public officials or general electorate as half of members are appointed by company in park and who cannot be removed by City)

6530 REAL ESTATE AGENTS AND MANAGERS

The Penson Corporation 275 NLRB No. 079
(Advisory Opinion that Bd would assert jurisdiction over E engaged in business as management agent for residential apartment buildings where E's gross annual rent revenues exceeded $500,000 and it purchased goods and services in interstate commerce in excess of $50,000)

Chaim Babad, Bernard Steinmetz and Emanuel Steinmetz, A Co-Partnership d/b/a J.R.R. Realty Co. 273 NLRB No. 189
(jurisdiction asserted over partnership, owning and operating apartment building, which derived gross annual income insufficient to meet Bd's jurisdictional standard, where partnership was single E with five other similar partnerships and all six partnerships grossed total revenues sufficient to meet Bd's jurisdictional standard)

6600 COMBINATIONS OF REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE, LOANS, LAW OFFICES

6700 HOLDING AND OTHER INVESTMENT OFFICES

7000 HOTELS, ROOMING HOUSES, CAMPS, AND OTHER LODGING PLACES

7200 PERSONAL SERVICES

7300 BUSINESS SERVICES

7500 AUTOMOTIVE REPAIR, SERVICES, AND GARAGES

7600 MISCELLANEOUS REPAIR SERVICES

7800 MOTION PICTURES

7900 AMUSEMENT AND RECREATION SERVICES, EXCEPT MOTION PICTURES

7990 MISCELLANEOUS AMUSEMENT AND RECREATION SERVICES

Everett Yacht Club JD-(SF)-115-85
(applying discretionary standard for retailers, jurisdiction asserted over private yacht club where its gross revenues excluding dues and initiation fees exceeded this standard for last fiscal or calendar year, or for last 12 months before hearing. Bd rejected E's theory that because E subcontracted operation of bar and restaurant beginning 3 months prior to hearing it should be treated as new entity in which case it would not meet standard)

8000 HEALTH SERVICES

8050 NURSING AND PERSONAL CARE FACILITIES

Sunrise, A Community For The Retarded, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 035
[where Bd set aside election in stipulated unit in health care institution, in case in which hearing officer relied on National Transportation Service, 240 NLRB 565, in determining that Bd had jurisdiction, Bd, in remanding to RD to resume processing ptn, provided that, in absence of new stipulation, RD consider jurisdictional issue consistent with decision in Res-Care, 280 NLRB No. 78, including reopening record, if necessary, and issuing supplemental decision]

Cape Girardeau Care Center, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 143
[jurisdiction asserted over E, a not-for-profit corporation operating nnursing home, where (1) neither state nor any of its political subdivision or agencies created E; instead, E sought county approval to obtain tax-exempt bonds to finance sale of nursing home, and (2) E's policy-making officials had no accountability to public inasmuch as county did not appoint E's directors but simply gave ministerial approval to their appointment which was further effort to insure tax-exempt financing of sale of nursing home]

Cape Girardeau Care Center, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 143
[in asserting jurisdiction over E, a not-for-profit corporation operating nursing home found not to constitute political subdivision, Bd noted, among other things, that county lacked control over E, E was not county nursing home and county provided no funds or other support to E, and E determined its own fee schedules and budgets and was not required to submit such documents to county]

Cape Girardeau Care Center, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 143
[in asserting jurisdiction over E, a not-for-profit corporation operating nursing home found not to constitute political subdivision, Bd noted, among other things, that county had no control over E's daily operations or its labor relations policies, E's board of director's and Ees were not on county payroll and had different health insurance and pension plans from those of county Ees, and E had no power of eminent domain or subpoena power and paid property taxes to county]

8090 HEALTH AND ALLIED SERVICES, NOT ELSEWHERE CLASSIFIED

Renaissance West Community Mental Health Center 276 NLRB No. 050
(jurisdiction asserted over private, nonprofit corporation under contract with city-county mental health board to provide mental health services in specified geographic area, where corporation was health care institution w/i meaning of Act; its receipt of federal funds, coming from out-of-state sources, demonstrated that its operation had substantial impact on commerce; and, since it had complete control over its personnel and labor relations, it was engaged in commerce w/i meaning of Act)

8100 LEGAL SERVICES

8200 EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

8210 ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY SCHOOLS

College of English Language, Los Angeles, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 105
(jurisdiction asserted over E operating college teaching English as second language to foreign language students, where E was engaged in operation substantially dissimilar from colleges, universities, and secondary schools found by Bd to be educational institutions and, therefore, it was improper to apply $1 million jurisdictional standard applicable to such institutions; rather, E's operation was more properly classified as retail establishment providing service to consumers, and E's gross annual revenue in excess of $500,000 satisfied Bd's jurisdictional standard for retail operations)

8220 COLLEGES, UNIVERSITIES, PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS, AND JUNIOR COLLEGES

Trustee of St. Joseph's College 282 NLRB No. 009
[Bd declined jurisdiction over E (4 year college) founded by religious Order since College's mission is inextricably interwoven with indisputably religious mission of the Order because: (1) college is financially dependent on Order; (2) Order exercised considerable administrative control over E; and (3) Bishop of Portland possesses signficant degree of control over E. Pervasiveness of Order's influence on teaching of E, even as to secular subjects, is apparent in certain requirements imposed on faculty by E. Very process of inquiry by Bd would present substantial liklihood that rights guaranteed by constitution may be impinged]

Trustee of St. Joseph's College 282 NLRB No. 009
[to extent that Barber-Scotia College, 245 NLRB 406 (1979) and similar cases stand for proposition that Catholic Bishop of Chicago, 440 U.S. 490 (1979), does not apply to colleges and universities they are overruled]

College of English Language, Los Angeles, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 105
(jurisdiction asserted over E operating college teaching English as second language to foreign language students, where E was engaged in operation substantially dissimilar from colleges, universities, and secondary schools found by Bd to be educational institutions and, therefore, it was improper to apply $1 million jurisdictional standard applicable to such institutions; rather, E's operation was more properly classified as retail establishment providing service to consumers, and E's gross annual revenue in excess of $50o,000 satisfied Bd's jurisdictional standard for retail operations)

Universidad Central De Bayamon v. N.L.R.B. 793 F.2d 383 (C.A. 1, June 1986)
[divided en banc ct denied enforcement of Bd's bargaining order against church-operated university and w/drew prior enfg. opn (778 F.2d 922); ct divided over interpretation of Catholic Bishop (440 U.S. 490), withholding jurisdiction from secondary schools; 3 judges supported denial of enforcement based on risk of church/state entanglement, and other limitations on Bd's jurisdiction over university teachers; 3 judges suggested enforcement based on difference between teachers in pre-college schools and faculty at universities and because religious function here was subordinate to that of providing secular education]

8220—Cont.

8290 SCHOOLS AND EDUCATIONAL SERVICES, NOT ELSEWHERE CLASSIFIED

College of English Language, Los Angeles, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 105
(jurisdiction asserted over E operating college teaching English as second language to foreign language students, where E was engaged in operation substantially dissimilar from colleges, universities, and secondary schools found by Bd to be educational institutions and, therefore, it was improper to apply $1 million jurisdictional standard applicable to such institutions; rather, E's operation was more properly classified as retail establishment providing service to consumers, and E's gross annual revenue in excess of $50o,000 satisfied Bd's jurisdictional standard for retail operations)

Volunteers of America-Minnesota-Bar None Boys Ranch v. N.L.R.B. 752 F.2d 345 (C.A. 8, Jan. 1985)
(Bd properly asserted jurisdiction over religiously affiliated residential treatment center for children since treatment center essentially secular and differed significantly from parochial schools over which Bd has refused to assert jurisdiction, inasmuch as it had as its primary purpose care of children rather than parochial school's purpose of propagation of faith; nor did E demonstrate that its commitment to serving as many children as possible would bring it into conflict with U, or that its secular objectives would be impaired by U representation)

8300 SOCIAL SERVICES

8320 INDIVIDUAL AND FAMILY SOCIAL SERVICES

Every Woman's Place, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 048
[jurisdiction asserted over nonprofit corporation, which provided crises intervention, counseling service, and shelter to women and youths, with annual gross income of over $250,000 furnishing services to the state valued in excess of $50,000 per annum]

8350 CHILD DAY CARE SERVICES

N.L.R.B. v. The Salvation Army of Massachusetts Dorchester Day Care Center ———F.2d———
(C.A. 1, May 1985)
[Bd properly asserted jurisdiction over day care center operated by Salvation Army, notwithstanding E's contention that to assert jurisdiction would pose significant risk that its First Amendment rights would be infringed, since day care center served purely secular function where function was primarily to provide care for children, not education, day care involved no religious instruction or indoctrination and teachers, children and parents were not chosen according to their religious affiliation]

8360 RESIDENTIAL CARE

Long Stretch Youth Home, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 079
[jurisdiction asserted over nonprofit corporation licensed as child care institution providing a residence for teenage boys, notwithstanding contention that E shared state's exemption from Bd jurisdiction, where E had sufficient control over Ees' employment conditions to enable it to bargain effectively with U, state agency lacked ultimate discretion as to wage and benefit levels, E retained substantial control over economic matters central to E-Ee relationship, and state agency required only that E fill certain job classifications with Ees who met certain minimum standards and that child care workers have regularly scheduled hours and days off]

Volunteers of America-Minnesota-Bar None Boys Ranch v. N.L.R.B. 752 F.2d 345 (C.A. 8, Jan. 1985)
(Bd properly asserted jurisdiction over religiously affiliated residential treatment center for children since treatment center essentially secular and differed significantly from parochial schools over which Bd has refused to assert jurisdiction, inasmuch as it had as its primary purpose care of children rather than parochial school's purpose of propagation of faith; nor did E demonstrate that its commitment to serving as many children as possible would bring it into conflict with U, or that its secular objectives would be impaired by U representation)

8400 MUSEUMS, ART GALLERIES, BOTANICAL AND ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS

8600 MEMBERSHIP ORGANIZATIONS

8630 LABOR UNIONS AND SIMILAR LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

Carpenters Local 925; et al. (Charlene Seier, an Individual) 279 NLRB No. 145
[jurisdiction asserted over local U and district council of Carpenters as integral part of multistate enterprise, and nonretail standard of $50,000 direct inflow or direct outflow applied where constitution provided that no local bylaws or trade rules may conflict with any provisions of Carpenters constitution and must be approved by latter before taking affect, thus giving parent-Carpenters active control over local and council]

8640 CIVIC, SOCIAL, AND FRATERNAL ASSOCIATIONS

Citizens Action Coalition of Indiana, Inc. JD-53-85
(jurisdiction not asserted over citizens' advocacy group which among other activities published newsletter, where organization's newsletter had no appreciable impact on commerce, and absent newsletter, there was no other aspects of the organization's operations that had impact on commerce sufficient to warrant assertion of jurisdiction. Bd has neither asserted nor declined jurisdiction over this class of organization... whether Respondent meets certain dollar amount standards only becomes relevant if and when Bd elects to apply these standards to Respondent and/or Es of same class)

8660 RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS

Tony and Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ———U.S.———
(U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)
[nonprofit religious foundation operating various commercial businesses held enterprise engaged in commerce, notwithstanding its religious character, in view of ct's liberal construction of FLSA intended to outlaw from interstate commerce goods produced under conditions below minimum standards of decency, absence from FLSA of any express or implied exceptions for commercial activities of religious or other nonprofit organizations, Labor Departments consistent interpretation of FLSA reading such businesses, and legislative history supporting such interpretation]

Tony and Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ———U.S.———
(U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)
[in suit brought under FLSA by religious foundation operating various commercial business, ct held admixture of religious motivations did not alter business's effect on commerce; as found by lower ct, foundation's businesses competed with ordinary commercial enterprises and payment of substandard wages would give foundation and similar organizations an advantage over their competitions, which is kind of unfair method of competition FLSA was intended to prevent]

Tony and Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ———U.S.———
(U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)
[in holding that religious foundation operating various commercial businesses was enterprise engaged in commerce and its associates working in commercial businesses were Ees w/i meaning of FLSA, ct held ordinary volunteerism is not threatened by its interpretation of FLSA herein, since coverage of foundation's business activities will not lead to coverage of volunteers who perform services for the elderly, the needy, and the church]

Tony & Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ———U.S.———
(U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)
[application of FLSA's minimum wage requirements to nonprofit religious foundation operating commercial businesses held not to interfere w/free exercise of religious beliefs of associates working in commercial businesses and receiving payment in form of benefits instead of wages; First Amendment does not require exemption from government program unless, at minimum, inclusion in program actually burdens claimant's freedom to exercise religious beliefs; and application of FLSA, which does not require payment of cash wages, will work little change in associates' receipt of payment in form of benefits]

Tony & Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ———U.S.———
(U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)
[application of FLSA's minimum wage requirements to nonprofit religious foundation operating commercial businesses held not to interfere w/free exercise of religious beliefs of associates working in commercial businesses and receiving payment in form of benefits instead of wages; even if foundation were to pay wages in cash, or if associates' beliefs precluded them from accepting statutory amount, associates are not prevented from returning amounts to foundation, if done voluntarily]

Tony & Susan Alamo Foundation, et al. v. Secretary of Labor ———U.S.———
(U.S. SCT, Apr. 1985)
[application of FLSA's record keeping requirements to nonprofit religious foundation operating commercial businesses held not to violate First Amendments by inhibiting religious activity and fostering excessive government entanglement in religion, since FLSA's requirements apply only to commercial activities undertaken with business purpose and would have no impact on foundation's evangelical activities or on individuals engaged in volunteer work for other religious organizations; and bear no resemblance to kind of government surveillance ct has previously held unlawful]

8660—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. The Salvation Army of Massachusetts Dorchester Day Care Center ———F.2d——— (C.A. 1, May 1985)

[Bd properly asserted jurisdiction over day care center operated by Salvation Army, notwithstanding E's contention that to assert jurisdiction would pose significant risk that its First Amendment rights would be infringed, since day care center served purely secular function where function was primarily to provide care for children, not education, day care involved no religious instruction or indoctrination and teachers, children and parents were not chosen according to their religious affiliation]

Volunteers of America, Los Angeles v. N.L.R.B. 777 F.2d 1386 (C.A. 9, Dec. 1985)

[Bd did not err in asserting jurisdiction over nonprofit religious alcohol detoxification center, since there was no significant risk the first amendment would be infringed where center was essentially secular, center's religious views were not imposed upon its Ees, Ees did not propagate E's religious doctrine and further, E's contention that its social programs were expressive of a religious philosophy and thus there was excessive entanglement, rejected, since the center's programs were carried out in a secular fashion]

8670 CHARITABLE ORGANIZATIONS

American Lebanese Syrian Associated Charities, Inc. d/b/a A.L.S.A.C. 277 NLRB No. 189

[jurisdiction asserted over non-profit fund raising organization for hospital where organization itself received products in excess of $50,000 from points outside state and fact that hospital was dependent on organization for funds and was itself engaged in commerce, was further justification for asserting jurisdiction]

8800 PRIVATE HOUSEHOLDS

8900 MISCELLANEOUS SERVICES

9100 EXECUTIVE, LEGISLATIVE, AND GENERAL GOVERNMENT, EXCEPT FINANCE

9200 JUSTICE, PUBLIC ORDER, AND SAFETY

9300 PUBLIC FINANCE, TAXATION, AND MONETARY POLICY

9400 ADMINISTRATION OF HUMAN RESOURCES PROGRAMS

9440 ADMINISTRATION OF SOCIAL, MANPOWER, AND INCOME MAINTENANCE PROGRAMS

Res-Care, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 078

[Bd declined to assert jurisdiction over E engaged in operation of residential job corp center under contract with Department of Labor (DOL), since DOL controlled E's labor relations to extent precluding E from engaging in meaningful collective bargaining where DOL retained ultimate discretion for setting wage and benefit levels and approving any change in wage rates, benefit levels or personnel policies; if E does not have final say on entire package of Ee compensation, i.e., wages and fringe benefits, meaningful bargaining is not possible]

9500 ADMINISTRATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY AND HOUSING PROGRAMS

9600 ADMINISTRATION OF ECONOMIC PROGRAMS

9700 NATIONAL SECURITY AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

9900 NONCLASSIFIABLE ESTABLISHMENTS

300 INVESTIGATION AND CERTIFICATION OF REPRESENTATIVE

301 GENERALLY

5000 EXISTENCE OF QUESTION OF REPRESENTATION

308 WHO MAY RAISE QUESTION OF REPRESENTATION

0100 GENERALLY

2000 EMPLOYEE OR GROUP OF EMPLOYEES

4000 INDIVIDUAL

6000 LABOR ORGANIZATION

8000 EMPLOYER

316 HOW QUESTION OF REPRESENTATION IS RAISED

0100 GENERALLY

3300 DEMAND FOR AND REFUSAL OF RECOGNITION

3390 SUBSTITUTION OF OR AFFILIATION WITH ANOTHER BARGAINING REPRESENTATIVE

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[if Bd finds that affiliation raises qcr undermining Bd's own election and certification procedures, it can refuse to reconsider U's ULP charge, and is authorized to conduct R election; however it may not condone E's refusal to bargain in absence of qcr and has no authority to prescribe internal procedures for U to follow in order to invoke Act's protections]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)

[U affiliations or mergers do not inevitably raise qcr so as to necessitate election; so long as changes are not sufficiently dramatic to alter U's identity, decision to affiliate is internal U matter that does not affect representative status of bargaining agent or end E's duty to continue its relationship with U; otherwise, industrial stability sought by Act would unnecessarily be disrupted if every U organizational adjustment were to displace E-bargaining representative relationship]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)

[notion that qcr is created simply by increase in local U's bargaining power as result of its a/w larger U has no express basis in Act and has been rejected by Bd; and S.Ct's decision in Financial Institution likewise suggests that increase in U's bargaining power is not, standing alone, determinative of whether affiliation raises qcr, since there may be variety of reasons why local U might seek to affiliate, and S.Ct has noted that Bd has recognized that U must remain largely unfettered in its organizational quest for financial stability and aid in the negotiating process]

6700 FILING OF PETITION FOR ELECTION

6725 PETITION BY EMPLOYER

6725-5000 Objective considerations

Hydro Conduit Corporation 278 NLRB No. 164

[at expiration of collective bargaining agreement, E may file an RM ptn and Bd will hold an election, if E can show objectively based reasonable doubt as to U's majority support; decision to process ptn is made by RD pursuant to an administrative determination that E has made prima facie showing of objective considerations and such administrative determination as to objective considerations is not litigable]

324 SHOWING OF INTEREST IN REPRESENTATION

0100 GENERALLY

0175 ELECTION, NOT SHOWING OF INTEREST, DETERMINES UNION'S MAJORITY STATUS

Wright Memorial Hospital v. N.L.R.B. 771 F.2d 400 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1985)

(mtn to dismiss election ptn, allegedly because it was tainted and showing of interest was invalid, properly denied; ptn was not tainted by supervisors' pro-U activities where the activities did not coerce Ees to vote for U out of fear of retaliation, and allegedly invalid showing of interest was not basis for mtn, since it is determined administratively, not litigated by the parties, and does not determine U's majority status, which depends on outcome of election)

2000 INTEREST SHOWING AS NONLITIGABLE ADMINISTRATIVE MATTER

2033 WHERE REQUIREMENT IS BOARD POLICY

Hydro Conduit Corporation 278 NLRB No. 164

[at expiration of collective bargaining agreement, E may file an RM ptn and Bd will hold an election, if E can show objectively based reasonable doubt as to U's majority support; decision to process ptn is made by RD pursuant to an administrative determination that E has made prima facie showing of objective considerations and such administrative determination as to objective considerations is not litigable]

Hydro Conduit Corporation 278 NLRB No. 164

[Bd has consistently refused to allow litigation of RD's administrative determination as to objective considerations in support of RM ptn on grounds that this protects confidentiality of data submitted in support of ptn and permits expeditious resolution of issues concerning Ee choice of representative; however, an administrative determination that objective considerations support RM ptn is not determinative of E's obligation to engage in further bargaining]

Wright Memorial Hospital v. N.L.R.B. 771 F.2d 400 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1985)

(mtn to dismiss election ptn, allegedly because it was tainted and showing of interest was invalid, properly denied; ptn was not tainted by supervisors' pro-U activities where the activities did not coerce Ees to vote for U out of fear of retaliation, and allegedly invalid showing of interest was not basis for mtn, since it is determined administratively, not litigated by the parties, and does not determine U's majority status, which depends on outcome of election)

4000 EXTENT OF INTEREST REQUIRED

4020 BY PETITIONER

4020-4200 Where Board directed unit different from that sought by petitioner

ACL Corporation d/b/a Atlanta Hilton and Towers 275 NLRB No. 197

6000 TIME FOR SUBMISSION OF SHOWING OF INTEREST

8000 VALIDITY OF SHOWING

332 DISCLAIMER OF INTEREST IN BEING REPRESENTATIVE

0100 GENERALLY

2500 IN PROCEEDINGS INITIATED BY EMPLOYER

2560 CONDUCT OR EVENTS CONSISTENT WITH DISCLAIMER

2560-1000 Failure to appear at hearing

Texas Bus Lines, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 075

(failure of Ee committee or its representative to appear at representation hearing held pursuant to outside U's representation ptn or otherwise in furtherance of its recognition found disclaimer of interest in or abandonment of its representation of the limited unit of Ees it had been elected to represent)

5000 WITHDRAWAL BY PETITIONING UNION OR INTERVENOR

5012 DISCLAIMER OF INTEREST BY INCUMBENT UNION

Arden Electric, et al. 275 NLRB No. 095

(U's disclaimer resulting in dissolution of multi-E unit represented by E association and concurrent ptn for single E units held not to constitute unlawful whipsawing requiring dismissal of ptn, since any whipsaw-effect results from parties' relationship and from E association's decision to attempt to substitute on multi-E basis new U for disclaiming U; if alleged whipsawing were basis for dismissing ptns, w/o returning parties to status quo ante, Bd would preclude any inquiry into Es' consent to bargaining with substitute U and obligate them to multi-E unit bargaining they had never authorized)

7500 DISCLAIMER IN DECERTIFICATION PROCEEDINGS

339 WHO MAY ACT AS REPRESENTATIVE

0100 GENERALLY

2500 LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

2531 UNION SUBSEQUENT TO AFFILIATION OR MERGER

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)

[U affiliations or mergers do not inevitably raise qcr so as to necessitate election; so long as changes are not sufficiently dramatic to alter U's identity, decision to affiliate is internal U matter that does not affect representative status of bargaining agent or end E's duty to continue its relationship with U; otherwise, industrial stability sought by Act would unnecessarily be disrupted if every U organizational adjustment were to displace E-bargaining representative relationship]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)

[in determining whether U involved in affiliation has remained esnetially the same or has changed so substantially as to require new R election depends on number of factors which Bd generally considers, including structure, administration, officers, assets, membership, autonomy, by-laws, size, and it looks for changes in the rights and obligations of U's leadership and membership, and in relationships between putative bargaining agent, its affiliate, and E]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)

[E unlawfully refused to bargain with independent U after it a/w international, notwithstanding E's contention that changes due to affiliation were so great as to create new bargaining entity, with international's constitution significantly affecting autonomy of U as independent; while constitution placed certain obligations on U, its autonomy was not significantly curtailed, since U retained control over negotiating and administering contracts, processing grievances, and calling strikes; and money in U's treasury was to be spent for U's own purposes and at its sole discretion]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)

[E unlawfully refused to bargain with independent U after it a/w international, notwithstanding E's contention that affiliation of small independent U with much larger U creates substantially different bargaining entity; ct distg cases relied on by E on ground such cases either involved international constitution substantially limiting U's autonomy, irregularities in affiliation procedure, loss of control over U's affairs, use of affiliation as a stratagem, or Bd determination that Ees had choice between different and distinct bargaining representatives or none]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)

[where U membership has expressed its desire to affiliate (at least in part to improve its bargaining posture), and continuing majority support of original bargaining representative is not in doubt, ct held it is not inclined to override Bd's judgment that substantial continuity existed when independent U a/w international and to adopt instead per se rule that affiliation of small independent U with much larger U creates substantially different bargaining entity]

5000 INDIVIDUALS

7500 DISQUALIFICATION AS REPRESENTATIVE

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076

[U did not cease to exist when it became independent of int'l U of which it was a division and accepted separate charter from AFL-CIO, where such action taken under provisions of its constitution and approved by referendum, notwithstanding unit Ees did not vote in any type of election on this disaffiliation or acceptance of charter, since unit members not members of petitioner's U at that time, and no changes have been made in how petitioner handles grievances, administers and negotiates contracts, organizing Ees, etc.; thus, no change in essential identity of bargaining representative which would require vote on question of continuity of representation]

7525 CHARACTER OF REPRESENTATIVE

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148

[U officer not entitled to act as U representative in negotiations where, by informing bank through which E obtained financing for its customers that E was submitting falsified customer credit applications and by publishing, in newsletter mailed to Ees, accusations that E's owners were involved with prostitutes and use and sale of cocaine, he created such atmosphere of ill will that good faith bargaining would be futile, if not impossible, were E required to deal with him as U representative; allegations were unsubstantiated and directed against members of management who would negotiate with U]

7525-3300 Corrupt administration or unlawful action of union

Mohawk Flush Doors, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 059

[Bd refused to revoke certification of District Council because of alleged statements contained in report of President's Commission on Organized Crime, alleging extensive influence by organized crime over international and some of its locals]

Castello Packing Co., Inc. and Castello Foods, Inc., d/b/a Holiday Pack Foods 281 NLRB No. 011

[E's contention that U should not be treated as labor organization because of indictment for murder of 2 high U officials, rejected where, other than statements of counsel for E and of U agent no other evidence was submitted by E with respect to indictments or what had occurred since then; and Bd's finding in underlying R case and previous cases, as well as U agent's testimony herein, established U's labor organization status]

Brinks, Incorporated of Florida 276 NLRB No. 001

(mtn for summary judgment denied, and 8(a)(5) case remanded to RD for evidentiary hearing on issue raised by E's contention that U of police and protection Ees was improperly certified where it was affiliated with organization that admitted nonguards to membership; contention that certification was also improper because of certain officers' criminal background, however, did not warrant a hearing, since that was not basis for denying certification)

7575 CONFLICT OF INTERESTS OF REPRESENTATIVE

7575-7500 Arising from relationship to other employees

7575-7550 Union representing guards

Burns International Security Services, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 070

[election ordered in unit of guards, since contention U admitted nonguards to membership, rejected, where E failed to show by definitive evidence that U had continued to represent or admit to membership any Ee determined not to be guard by agreement with U, or through appropriate Bd proceeding, and herein whether Ees which E contended were not guards were guards or not presented close question, which would be difficult to litigate; to apply Section 9(b)(3) in literal sense would preclude certification of national guard U, contrary to intent of Congress]

7575-7575 Union representing mixed unit of guards and nonguards

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting All minutes of meetings and related documents of nonguard U, did not relate to any matter...in question in the proceedings under Bd R/R 102.66(c) since it concerned nonguard Ees of other Es and thus it would be subject to petition to revoke; further, such request may also be revocable as unreasonably broad]

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting nonguard U's membership lists and related documents, may be revocable on grounds that it is unreasonable because no time limitations are specified and substantial privacy rights may be at stake]

7575-7575—Cont.

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting all communications between petitioner and petitioner's officers and its law firm, clearly requested privileged information; however, Hearing Officer should not have revoked subpoena but rather, should have conducted an in camera inspection of documents in question to determine whether any of them were subject to the privilege; those not privileged should have been made available assuming other relevant standards were met]

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting individual tax records of petitioner's president for the purpose of determining whether president received money from nonguard U, was properly revoked since information was available from another source that is more convenient [and]

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, Hearing Officer's ruling that time period covered by subpoenas served by E could date only from time E notified U of its intent to withdraw recognition, rejected, since Bd decision allowing such withdrawal of recognition from such nonguard Us predated instant E's decision and E is entitled to seek information regarding any actions nonguard U may have taken in response to Bd's decision regarding petitioner's status]

Truck Drivers Local Union No. 807, Teamsters v. N.L.R.B. (Wells Fargo Armored Service Corp.) 755 F.2d 5 (C.A. 2, Feb. 1985)

(while Bd cannot compel an E to recognize mixed guard U as bargaining agent for unit of guards, E may voluntarily recognize mixed guard U as bargaining agent for unit; based on language and legislative history of Sec. 9(b)(3), Bd was warranted in interpreting section as proscribing Bd direction to an E to bargain with mixed guard U despite prior voluntary recognition)

7575-8100 Arising from relationship to other unions

7575-8125 Guard union affiliated with nonguard union

Brinks, Incorporated of Florida 276 NLRB No. 001

(mtn for summary judgment denied, and 8(a)(5) case remanded to RD for evidentiary hearing on issue raised by E's contention that U of police and protection Ees was improperly certified where it was affiliated with organization that admitted nonguards to membership; contention that certification was also improper because of certain officers' criminal background, however, did not warrant a hearing, since that was not basis for denying certification)

Brinks, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 144

(U which petitioned for unit of guards, held precluded under 9(b)(3) from being certified as bargaining representative, since U was indirectly affiliated with U admitting nonguards to membership and lacked freedom and independence in formulating its own policies where individual primarily responsible for formation of instant U who was also an officer therein, was paid officer and policymaker of U which admitted nonguards, using nonguard U's bylaws and authorization cards as model in creating instant U's bylaws and authorization cards)

Alemite and Instrument Divisions of Stewart-Warner Corporation 273 NLRB No. 215

(Bd has held that assistance furnished guards' U during its infancy by U admitting to membership Ees other than guards does not necessarily establish affiliation between the Us; nevertheless, while substantial latitude has been permitted in such circumstances, indirect affiliation will be found where extent and duration of assistance indicates that guards' U lacks freedom and independence in formulating its own policies and deciding its own course of action)

Alemite and Instrument Divisions of Stewart-Warner Corporation 273 NLRB No. 215

(petitioner seeking to represent security guards unit held indirectly affiliated with local admitting to membership Ees other than guards, thereby requiring dismissal of ptn, in view of petitioner's lack of independence from local, where petitioner was specifically formed by local to continue organizing E's guards after local withdrew its own ptn; petitioner had no assets or expertise suggesting its ability to function independently of local; and petitioner's president had been continuously dependent on local's officers for advice and assistance regarding very significant aspect of petitioner's formation)

7575-9300 Union subject to influence and control by supervisors

North Shore University Hospital 274 NLRB No. 188

(on ct remand, Bd vacated prior D/O, dismissed C and revoked Certification of Representative and found that nurses association should not be considered differently from other labor organizations regarding conflict of interest engendered by supervisors' active participation in association, lack of insulation of collective-bargaining process from governance of organization and lack of mechanism to assist Es from violating Sec. 8(a)(2) through supervisory Ees participation in association's affairs)

347 BARS TO CONDUCT OF ELECTION

0100 GENERALLY

2000 PRIOR DETERMINATION OF REPRESENTATIVE

4000 CONTRACT WITH INCUMBENT REPRESENTATIVE

4001 GENERALLY

Otasco, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 054

[inclusion of local driver Ees in petitioned for unit rendered unit inappropriate where existing contract covering them would constitute bar to election in unit]

4001-2500 Board contract bar rules as discretionary rules

4001-2525 Board authority to establish

N.L.R.B. v. Mississippi Power & Light Company 769 F.2d 276 (C.A. 5, July 1985)

(E's refusal to bargain with U as representative of storeroom and warehouse Ees, violation, notwithstanding E's contention that U was invalidly certified because election was barred by existing contract between E and U as representative of service and maintenance Ees; Bd's contract bar rule applies only to Ees covered by contract and not to unrepresented Ees; nor was unit clarification procedure appropriate for Ees historically and intentionally excluded from bargaining unit)

4001-2550 May be applied or waived by Board as facts require

United Artists Communications, Inc., Operating Capri Theatre 280 NLRB No. 119

[contract between one U and theatre chain which covered cashiers and candy attendants at E's theatres not bar to efforts of another U to organize Ees at one of E's theatres, where contract had not been applied at all for year at theatre which other U sought to organize and prior thereto there was only limited enforcement, particularly where E had deliberately withheld benefits of contract from Ees at that theatre and Ees were unaware of contract's existence; E's contention that substantial compliance with bargaining agreement at some of its locations constituted substantial compliance at another location, rejected]

4001-2575 Factors considered in establishment

4001-2575-5000 Balance between stability of labor relations and employee's freedom of choice

United Artists Communications, Inc., Operating Capri Theatre 280 NLRB No. 119

4010 PERIOD DURING WHICH CONTRACT WILL BAR PETITION

4010-2000 Duration of contract

4010-2001 Generally

Hydro Conduit Corporation 278 NLRB No. 164

[at expiration of collective bargaining agreement, E may file an RM ptn and Bd will hold an election, if E can show objectively based reasonable doubt as to U's majority support; decision to process ptn is made by RD pursuant to an administrative determination that E has made prima facie showing of objective considerations and such administrative determination as to objective considerations is not litigable]

4020 CIRCUMSTANCES OF EXECUTION

4020-3300 Validity of contract execution

4020-3350 Satisfaction of requirements of

4020-3350-1600 Representative complement of employees

Louis Pappas' Homosassa Springs Restaurant, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 213

(unit size based upon member of Ees employed for greater part of year, not during peak season when (employment) roles are inflated)

Louis Pappas' Homosassa Springs Restaurant, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 213

(date for determining U majority status is date new E commences full scale operations with representative complement of Ees whether or not hoped for expansion has been fully achieved. Here, E, with no hiatus, immediately began full scale operations at restaurant employing majority of Ees who were formerly unit members. Changes to menu and remodeling facilities not so significant as to change date)

N.L.R.B. v. Fall River Dyeing & Finishing Corp. 775 F.2d 425 (C.A. 1, Oct. 1985)

[full complement theory does not require postponement until business operating at maximum capacity or until E has hired all bargaining unit Ees]

N.L.R.B. v. Fall River Dyeing & Finishing Corp. 775 F.2d 425 (C.A. 1, Oct. 1985)

[full complement principle has been interpreted to require that examination of workforce composition be postponed until business is operating at its maximum capacity or until E has completed hiring all of its bargaining unit Ees fixing appropriate date at which bargaining obligation arises involves balancing objective of ensuring maximum Ee participation in selection of bargaining agent against goal of permitting Ees to be represented as quickly as possible Bd has reconciled these interests by applying substantial and representative complement standard]

4020-6700 Pendency of rival claim or petition

4020-6750 Contract executed while petition is pending

4020-6750-6700 Petition filed after insulation period but prior to execution of new contract not barred

Passavant Health Center 278 NLRB No. 077

[where RD dismissed original RD ptns subject to reinstatement upon final disposition of earlier C allegations in accordance w/Bd's blocking charge procedures, and subsequently U and E entered into informal Bd settlement providing, inter alia, nonadmissions clause and statement E and U had entered into contract, such contract did not act as bar to reinstatement of RD ptns as date original ptns filed, rather than date of request that ptns be reinstated is controlling]

4030 STATUS OF CONTRACTING UNION AS REPRESENTATIVE

4030-6700 Relinquishment or abandonment of jurisdiction

4030-6775 Failure to act in furtherance of recognition and failure to appear at hearing construed as abandonment or disclaimer

Texas Bus Lines, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 075

(failure of Ee committee or its representative to appear at representation hearing held pursuant to outside U's representation ptn or otherwise in furtherance of its recognition found disclaimer of interest in or abandonment of its representation of the limited unit of Ees it had been elected to represent)

4040 ADEQUACY OF CONTRACT FORM AND SUBSTANCE

4040-3300 Unit covered

4040-3301 Generally

4040-3301-5000 To constitute bar, contract must clearly encompass employees sought

N.L.R.B. v. Mississippi Power & Light Company 769 F.2d 276 (C.A. 5, July 1985)

(E's refusal to bargain with U as representative of storeroom and warehouse Ees, violation, notwithstanding E's contention that U was invalidly certified because election was barred by existing contract between E and U as representative of service and maintenance Ees; Bd's contract bar rule applies only to Ees covered by contract and not to unrepresented Ees; nor was unit clarification procedure appropriate for Ees historically and intentionally excluded from bargaining unit)

4040-3333 Employees covered by contract do not constitute appropriate unit

4040-3333-6700 Contract held bar

4040-3333-6767 Unit of professional and non- professional employees established by agreement of parties

Gibbs & Cox, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 110
[bargaining unit composed of professional and technical Ees held appropriate. While Bd will not, because of Sec. 9(b)(1), initially establish unit of professional and technical Ees w/o former being given opportunity to vote on inclusion in such unit, such combined units are not unlawful per se and will be upheld if unit was voluntarily created by parties and maintained by them for years]

4050 CHANGED CIRCUMSTANCES WITHIN CONTRACT TERM

4050-3300 Merger of operations

4050-3333 Consolidation of companies resulting in entirely new operation

Highway Drivers, Dockmen, Spotters, Rampmen, Meat Packing House and Allied Products Drivers and Helpers, Office Workers and Miscellaneous Employees, Local Union No. 710, a/w Teamsters (The Santa Fe Trail Transportation Company) 279 NLRB No. 096
[when E merged two groups of Ees who have been historically represented by different Us, qcr arises, and Bd will not impose a U (on successor E) by applying its accretion policy where neither group of Ees is sufficiently predominent to remove question concerning overall R]

4050-6700 Change in union affiliation

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers ——— U.S. ——— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)
[Bd's rule requiring that all Ees in bargaining unit--not merely U members--must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision, even though organizational changes resulting from affiliation are not substantial enough to raise qcr, held to exceed Bd's authority under Act]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers ——— U.S. ——— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)
[argument that Bd's rule that all Ees in bargaining unit must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision is reasonable means of protecting bargaining unit Ees' right to select bargaining representative under Sec. 7 of Act, rejected where Act authorizes Bd to conduct R election only where affiliation raises qcr; Bd's rule upsets accomodation drawn by statute by effectively decertifying reorganized U even where affiliation does not raise qcr]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers ——— U.S. ——— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)
[contention that Bd's rule stating all Ees in bargaining unit must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision was necessary to protect interests of non-U Ees in that affiliation may affect U's representation of bargaining unit even if it does not raise qcr, rejected where U makes many decisions that affect its representation of nonmember Ees and dissatisfaction with decisions U members make may be tested by Bd-conducted R election only if it is unclear whether reorganized U retains majority support]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers ——— U.S. ——— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)
[argument that affiliation differs from other organizational changes because it results in Ees being represented by different organization, rejected since many organizational changes may operate to alter U's identity w/o raising qcr]

United Retail Workers Union Local 881, chartered by Food & Commercial Workers v. N.L.R.B. (May Department Stores Co. et al.) 797 F.2d 421 (C.A. 7, July 1986)
[applying principles laid down by the S.Ct in Financial Institution, ct held that Bd cannot require U to allow non-U Ees to vote in merger elections and remanded case to Bd to consider any remaining issues involved in the merger]

4060 MULTIEMPLOYER CONTRACTS

4060-5000 Timely petition for single-employer unit processed notwithstanding multiemployer contract

4060-5067 Petition by employer-member of association

Vincent Electric Company, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 122
[ptn for deauthorization of unit of E's Ees only, dismissed as for inappropriate unit where E, by signing IBEW letter of Assent-A, became part of multi-E association, and E's execution of memorandum permitting it to pay current wages for six months or until current contracts were completed was not inconsistent with assent to be bound by group bargaining, as letter of assent looked toward future contracts as well as the current one, memorandum provided for future jobs to be performed under association contractual terms, and E based all bids after execution of letter of assent on association-negotiated wage rates]

6000 PENDENCY OF OTHER PROCEEDINGS

6020 BOARD PROCEEDINGS

6020-5000 Unfair labor practice proceedings

6020-5033 Blocking charges

6020-5033-7500 Dismissal of petition

Passavant Health Center 278 NLRB No. 077
[where RD dismissed original RD ptns subject to reinstatement upon final disposition of earlier C allegations in accordance w/Bd's blocking charge procedures, and subsequently U and E entered into informal Bd settlement providing, inter alia, nonadmissions clause and statement E and U had entered into contract, such contract did not act as bar to reinstatement of RD ptns as date original ptns filed, rather than date of request that ptns be reinstated is controlling]

6020-5075 Resumption of processing of petition when ULP no longer pending

Passavant Health Center 278 NLRB No. 077
[where RD dismissed original RD ptns subject to reinstatement upon final disposition of earlier C allegations in accordance w/Bd's blocking charge procedures, and subsequently U and E entered into informal Bd settlement providing, inter alia, nonadmissions clause and statement E and U had entered into contract, such contract did not act as bar to reinstatement of RD ptns as date original ptns filed, rather than date of request that ptns be reinstated is controlling]

8000 UNIT CONSIDERATIONS

Newsday, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 019
(challenge to ballots of separate independent driver unit sustained where such unit no longer exists because E instituted distribution program using Ees rather than independent drivers; new program was devoid of any discriminatory motivation; all drivers subject to same supervision; and work pursuant to recognized U's contract which sets forth hours and working conditions for all drivers)

8010 NONEXISTENCE OF UNIT

8010-5000 Unit merged into employerwide unit

The Green-Wood Cemetery 280 NLRB No. 157
[where negotiated contract expressly excluded office clerical Ees in contract's recognition clause, consistent with U's certification, and, following card check, E voluntarily recognized U as representative of office clerical Ees and executed another contract containing number of provisions applicable to clericals only and deleted exclusion of office clericals from recognition clause, Bd found that merger of units took place into single overall unit and refused to allow decertification election among office clericals only as unit in such election must be coextensive with certified or recognized unit]

Gibbs & Cox, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 110
[where E in NY set up separate division in VA and after card check voluntarily recognized certified U of NY unit as bargaining representative for new unit and applied existing contract of NY unit to VA unit, and thereafter negotiated new multilocation unit contract containing provisions specifically applicable to VA unit, E violated Act by withdrawing recognition from U at VA location and implementing unilateral changes there since unit became merged with NY unit to create multilocation unit notwithstanding VA unit could have qualified as separate unit at time of recognition, and E had good-faith doubt that VA unit no longer desired U as bargaining rep]

Gibbs & Cox, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 110
[bargaining unit composed of professional and technical Ees held appropriate. While Bd will not, because of Sec. 9(b)(1), initially establish unit of professional and technical Ees w/o former being given opportunity to vote on inclusion in such unit, such combined units are not unlawful per se and will be upheld if unit was voluntarily created by parties and maintained by them for years]

Gibbs & Cox, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 110
[Bd will not recognize merger of voluntarily recognized unit into overall bargaining unit where parties mutually agree that such relationship is not workable]

8015 INAPPROPRIATE UNIT

Vincent Electric Company, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 122
[ptn for deauthorization of unit of E's Ees only, dismissed as for inappropriate unit where E, by signing IBEW letter of Assent-A, became part of multi-E association, and E's execution of memorandum permitting it to pay current wages for six months or until current contracts were completed was not inconsistent with assent to be bound by group bargaining, as letter of assent looked toward future contracts as well as the current one, memorandum provided for future jobs to be performed under association contractual terms, and E based all bids after execution of letter of assent on association-negotiated wage rates]

Otasco, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 054
[inclusion of local driver Ees in petitioned for unit rendered unit inappropriate where existing contract covering them would constitute bar to election in unit]

8020 STABILITY OF UNIT

8020-2000 Representative complement

8020-2001 Generally

N.L.R.B. v. Fall River Dyeing & Finishing Corp. 775 F.2d 425 (C.A. 1, Oct. 1985)
[full complement theory does not require postponement until business operating at maximum capacity or until E has hired all bargaining unit Ees]

N.L.R.B. v. Fall River Dyeing & Finishing Corp. 775 F.2d 425 (C.A. 1, Oct. 1985)
[full complement principle has been interpreted to require that examination of workforce composition be postponed until business is operating at its maximum capacity or until E has completed hiring all of its bargaining unit Ees fixing appropriate date at which bargaining obligation arises involves balancing objective ofensuring maximum Ee participation in selection of bargaining agent against goal of permitting Ees to be represented as quickly as possible Bd has reconciled these interests by applying substantial and representative complement standard]

8020-4000 Expanding unit

8020-4001 Generally

Louis Pappas' Homosassa Springs Restaurant, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 213
(unit size based upon member of Ees employed for greater part of year, not during peak season when (employment) roles are inflated)

8020-4050 Contract as bar where unit rapidly expanding

Louis Pappas' Homosassa Springs Restaurant, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 213
(date for determining U majority status is date new E commences full scale operations with representative complement of Ees whether or not hoped for expansion has been fully achieved. Here, E, with no hiatus, immediately began full scale operations at restaurant employing majority of Ees who were formerly unit members. Changes to menu and remodeling facilities not so significant as to change date)

8020-6000 Contracting unit

N.L.R.B. v. Engineers Constructors, Inc. 756 F.2d 464 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1985)
(E's defense to bargaining order that contracting unit and change in nature of work performed by laborers had made election inappropriate, rejected, since decline of Ees in laborer classification would be gradual, and change in work from primarily construction work with some clean-up duties to primarily clean-up work was not significant since basic nature of work did not change; further, with eight months of work anticipated before project's completion, decision to hold election was reasonable and not contrary to Bd precedent)

8020-8000 Change in operations affecting unit

8020-8033 Relocation and new employees

American Fluorescent Corp. 275 NLRB No. 154
(documentary evidence supporting U's theory that recognition clause of expired (labor) contract survived the whole contract, disregarded as irrelevant, since U's theory would perpetuate irrebuttable presumption of majority status conflicting with concept of contract bar interwoven in GC's theory)

8020-8067 Consolidation of separately represented operations

Highway Drivers, Dockmen, Spotters, Rampmen, Meat Packing House and Allied Products Drivers and Helpers, Office Workers and Miscellaneous Employees, Local Union No. 710, a/w Teamsters (The Santa Fe Trail Transportation Company) 279 NLRB No. 096
[when E merged two groups of Ees who have been historically represented by different Us, qcr arises, and Bd will not impose a U (on successor E) by applying its accretion policy where neither group of Ees is sufficiently predominent to remove question concerning overall R]

8040 ONE-MAN UNIT

Donnie M. Parris, A Sole Proprietorship d/b/a D & B Masonry 275 NLRB No. 193
(unit reduced in size to one-man no longer appropriate under statute)

8500 JURISDICTIONAL DISPUTES

9000 NO-RAID PACTS

355 TYPES OF ELECTIONS

1100 REPRESENTATION

2200 SELF-DETERMINATION ELECTION

2260 PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYEES IN UNIT WITH NONPROFESSIONAL EMPLOYEES

Baldwin League of Independent Schools 281 NLRB No. 134

[GC's mtn for summary judgment denied and case severed from remaining CA portions and remanded to RD where RD did not determine whether or not librarians were professional Ees to be included in unit with teachers found to be professional Ees; if RD finds librarians to be nonprofessional, Sonotone election must be conducted to determine whether teachers desire to have librarians included in unit, see Sonotone Corp., 90 NLRB 1236 (1950)]

Gibbs & Cox, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 110

[bargaining unit composed of professional and technical Ees held appropriate. While Bd will not, because of Sec. 9(b)(1), initially establish unit of professional and technical Ees w/o former being given opportunity to vote on inclusion in such unit, such combined units are not unlawful per se and will be upheld if unit was voluntarily created by parties and maintained by them for years]

3300 DECERTIFICATION

3350 IN CERTIFIED OR RECOGNIZED UNIT ONLY

Saints Mary and Elizabeth Hospital 274 NLRB No. 086

(only appropriate unit in a decertification election is the recognized or certified unit; Act refers to current representation and to include persons not currently represented by U would be in derogation of the statute, and violative of the purpose sought to be achieved)

3350-9000 Unit merged into employerwide unit

The Green-Wood Cemetery 280 NLRB No. 157

[where negotiated contract expressly excluded office clerical Ees in contract's recognition clause, consistent with U's certification, and, following card check, E voluntarily recognized U as representative of office clerical Ees and executed another contract containing number of provisions applicable to clericals only and deleted exclusion of office clericals from recognition clause, Bd found that merger of units took place into single overall unit and refused to allow decertification election among office clericals only as unit in such election must be coextensive with certified or recognized unit]

4400 DEAUTHORIZATION

5500 EXPEDITED

6600 REMEDIAL

7700 UNIT CLARIFICATION

8800 AMENDMENT OF CERTIFICATION ELECTION

362 ELIGIBILITY TO PARTICIPATE IN ELECTION

0100 GENERALLY

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035
[party seeking to exclude an individual from voting has the burden of establishing that the individual is, in fact, ineligible to vote]

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)
[while other evidence of intent regarding voting eligibility of particular Ee may come from outside pre-election stipulation itself, Excelsior list is of little help in determining intended scope of stipulation, and submission into evidence of list does not preclude U ballot challenges since list is required for U's benefit; and to allow use of extremely broad language in standard pre-election stipulation combined with naming of specific Ee in Excelsior list to preclude ballot challenge to named Ee would severely undermine Bd's important and proper role in regulating elections]

3300 DETERMINATIVE PAYROLL PERIOD

3301 GENERALLY

N.L.R.B. v. Tom Wood Datsun, Inc., and Tom Wood Subaru, Inc. 767 F.2d 350 (C.A. 7, July 1985)
(direct judicial review of Bd decision to certify representative on basis of election is extremely imited. This requisite deference extends to Bd's selection of rules and policies to govern elections and its application of these rules. Soundness of election rule is not the business of reviewing ct because source of Bd's authority to issue such rules are 2 statutory provisions lacking specific standards which authorize Bd to conduct representation elections)

3337 CONTRACTING OR CHANGING UNITS

Newsday, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 019
(challenge to ballots of separate independent driver unit sustained where such unit no longer exists because E instituted distribution program using Ees rather than independent drivers; new program was devoid of any discriminatory motivation; all drivers subject to same supervision; and work pursuant to recognized U's contract which sets forth hours and working conditions for all drivers)

3362 REPEAT ELECTIONS

Kenduk Area Hospital 278 NLRB No. 033
[physical therapist and cytotechnologist at hospital, none of which were employed at time of first election and thus no determination made as to whether professional or technical Ees, allowed to vote subject to challenge in second election held in unit of professional Ees]

3381 DECERTIFICATION ELECTIONS

3381-5000 Members of recognized or certified unit

Saints Mary and Elizabeth Hospital 274 NLRB No. 086
(only appropriate unit in a decertification election is the recognized or certified unit; Act refers to current representation and to include persons not currently represented by U would be in derogation of the statute, and violative of the purpose sought to be achieved)

6700 EMPLOYEE TENURE AND STATUS

6701 GENERALLY

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171
[two challenged ballots, not counted, where voters could not be located, and testimony of individual claiming to be one voter discredited due to discrepancies between it and known facts about voter, and only testimony about other voter was by discredited witnesses]

6703 ELIGIBILITY DETERMINED BY AGREEMENT OF PARTIES

Inacomp America, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 040
[challenge to ballot of individual sustained where individual was not Ee on eligibility cutoff and election dates, nor when parties executed their Norris-Thermador agreement]

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194
(on review nursing assistants included in unit of E's service and maintainance Ees which unit was clearly appropriate in view of parties' agreement to exclude all other Ees. Even in nonhealthcare facilities, Bd has recognized that disparaties w/i unit are generally not sufficient to render an otherwise appropriate unit inappropriate)

N.L.R.B. v. Barker Steel Company, Inc. 800 F.2d 284 (C.A. 1, Sept. 1986)
[if dispute arises concerning Ee's eligibility to vote in stipulated unit election, Bd's function limited to ascertaining parties' intent with regard to disputed Ee. If intent of parties is expressed in stipulation in clear and unmistakable terms, Bd will hold parties to their literal agreement. If stipulation is ambiguous, primary question is what parties meant. Thus, Bd has authority to interpret agreement according to what it finds to have been intent of parties]

N.L.R.B. v. Barker Steel Company, Inc. 800 F.2d 284 (C.A. 1, Sept. 1986)
[Bd erred in overruling challenge to ballot as name not on eligibility list, and stipulation for consent election agreed upon by parties: 1) named E different from one where Ee works (fact Bd found single E relationship not relevant); 2) stated Ees employed by named E were the ones parties intended to include in appropriate unit; 3) E's payroll was designated as basis for preparing eligibility list; 4) named E signed stip w/ U; and 5) description of E does not fit voter's E. Thus, stip clear on its face that intent of parties was that Ees of other E not eligible to vote and Bd must hold parties to their literal agreement]

N.L.R.B. v. Affiliated Midwest Hospital, Inc., d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 789 F.2d 524 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)
[contention that election invalid, and E justified in its refusal to bargain, since held in inappropriate units where names omitted from Norris-Thermador list, rejected, inasmuch as requirement that list would be valid guide only if letter perfect would defeat saluatory effect of having parties stipulate to eligibility, and require constant and careful agency review to prevent clerical erors from upsetting elections]

Smith and Smith Aircraft Company v. N.L.R.B. ———F.2d——— (C.A. 10, May 1984)
[ballots of eligible voters must be counted notwithstanding names inadvertenly left off Norris-Thermador list where names were included in Excelsior list, U knew of omission more than 3 weeks before election, and objected to their inclusion on Excelsior list as mistake discovered in sufficient time and right to vote is important right]

6706 ELIGIBILITY DETERMINED BY TENURE AND STATUS AS EMPLOYEE DURING DETERMINATIVE PAYROLL PERIOD AND ON DATE OF ELECTION

Inacomp America, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 040
[challenge to ballot of individual sustained where individual was not Ee on eligibility cutoff and election dates, nor when parties executed their Norris-Thermador agreement]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[Ees no longer on E's payroll on date U demanded recognition, ineligible]

Michiel's Inc.. d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[challenge of voter whom E alleged was not working on or before eligibility date because Ee was in training during week prior to eligibility cutoff date, rejected and ballot counted, where, although Ee was in training, E informed Ee before cutoff date that he would work out and Ee in fact was working for E prior to cutoff date]

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84
(challenge to ballot of Ee who started working after eligibility date, upheld)

6706—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Tom Wood Datsun, Inc., and Tom Wood Subaru, Inc. 767 F.2d 350 (C.A. 7, July 1985)

(individual must be both hired and working on eligibility date in order to vote. Working means actual performance of bargaining unit work and excluding participation in training, orientation or other preliminaries even if exposed sufficiently to U representation issues)

6709 VOTING SUBJECT TO CHALLENGE

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017

[challenge of Ee alleged by U to be supervisor, upheld and ballot not counted, where, although Ee had title of hostess, which was included in the unit, she exercised sufficient authority over waiters by assigning them work, giving reprimands and she served as individual in complete charge of restaurant when managers were gone and was thus, supervisory]

Keoduk Area Hospital 278 NLRB No. 033

[physical therapist and cytotechnologist at hospital, none of which were employed at time of first election and thus no determination made as to whether professional or technical Ees, allowed to vote subject to challenge in second election held in unit of professional Ees]

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194

(on review nursing assistants included in unit of E's service and maintainance Ees which unit was clearly appropriate in view of parties' agreement to exclude all other Ees. Even in nonhealthcare facilities, Bd has recognized that disparaties w/i unit are generally not sufficient to render an otherwise appropriate unit inappropriate)

6712 PART-TIME EMPLOYEES

6712-2500 Regular part-time

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[social security annuitant held regular part-time Ee eligible to vote where his contact with unit Ees was not so infrequent that finding that he did not have sufficient community of interest with them was not warranted, special privileges he assertedly enjoyed by coming and going as he pleased was due to his on-call status, and there was no showing that Ee was paid for time spent in engaging in other liberties at work]

6712-2550 Eligible irrespective of number of hours worked

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035

[although Ee had worked only 9 hours in payroll eligibility period, that fact and fact Ee worked at times at E's other facilities outside the unit, did not make Ee ineligible to vote]

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035

[fact that Ee may have been a casual Ee prior to payroll eligibility period does not warrant presumption that such status continues where Ee was in fact employed during eligibility period]

6712-5000 Irregular or infrequent part-time

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84

(challenges to ballots of individuals who worked part time irregularly, upheld, since not regular part-time Ees and, further, were hired in order to help defeat U)

6712-7500 Part-time with regular job elsewhere

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035

[Ee who was employed part-time by E but who also sold goods to E on his full-time job, held ineligible to vote as Ee did not share community of interest with other Ees but rather had need to maintain a good relationship with E]

Star Color Plate Service, Division of Einhorn Enterprises, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 082

[Ees who were regular part-time Ees held ineligible to vote, since they did not share a community of interest with unit Ees where they owned or managed companies doing business with E, were dependent on E for their own business and thus had conflict of interest with unit Ees and otherwise were not allied in any way with unit Ees]

Mid-State Distributing Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 172

]merchandise sales part-time Ee having regular outside job included in unit of drivers and warehousemen and held eligible to vote where, in performing his duties pertaining to advertising displays and material, Ee showed sufficient community of interest with unit Ees in view of supportive nature of his duties to other Ees, his wages and benefits comparable to those of other Ees, and his day-to-day contact with them; moreover, his exclusion would risk his remaining unrepresented since he had far less community-of-interest with E's office clericals)

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)

[Bd properly determined that Ee was casual Ee and ineligible to vote because she worked on sporadic and intermittent basis, where Ee, after working for Ee as part-time Ee, accepted new job elsewhere and agreed with Ee to completely new status prior to eligibility period; under the circumstances, Bd did not inadequately consider Ee's work history prior to her on-call status nor her reasonable expectation of employment]

6715 SOCIAL SECURITY ANNUITANTS

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[social security annuitant who was on-call and averaged 20 hours of work per week during quarter prior to eligibility date held eligible to vote]

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[social security annuitant held regular part-time Ee eligible to vote where his contact with unit Ees was not so infrequent that finding that he did not have sufficient community of interest with them was not warranted, special privileges he assertedly enjoyed by coming and going as he pleased was due to his on-call status, and there was no showing that Ee was paid for time spent in engaging in other liberties at work]

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164

(social security annuitant, assertedly casual part-time Ee who, apart from special arrangement to limit his earnings to avoid decrease in his annuity, worked full-time, included in unit, since there was no evidence his terms and conditions of employment differed from those of other unit Ees)

6718 TEMPORARY EMPLOYEES

Wayside Realty Group, Inc. and Georgetown Hotel 281 NLRB No. 045

[authorization card of Ee recently transferred to E's facility, which parties had stipulated should be counted, included in count, even though Ee eventually returned to original employment, since she was not temporary Ee, where she had no definite date of return while employed by E, worked regular hours, and was on E's payroll]

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171

[allegedly temporary Ee, eligible where he was asked to stay on after two Ees were badly burned, was given insurance form to fill out like probationers at end of probationary period, and assigned different work]

Volt Information Sciences, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 047

(permanent Ee who intended to leave to attend school, not ineligible as temporary Ee since she was hired as permanent Ee, unlike students whom E hired as temporary Ees with E's knowledge that they would be returning to school)

6724 SEASONAL EMPLOYEES

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[laid off Ee held eligible to vote, since he had reasonable expectancy of recall, where he was hired for entire period of E's seasonal operation rather than simply during peak periods, he was never informed that layoff was to be permanent, and E's need for Ees during relevant period of its operation depended entirely upon the weather which could not be predicted]

6730 CASUAL, EXTRA, OR INTERMITTENT EMPLOYEES

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035

[fact that Ee may have been a casual Ee prior to payroll eligibility period does not warrant presumption that such status continues where Ee was in fact employed during eligibility period]

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164

(social security annuitant, assertedly casual part-time Ee who, apart from special arrangement to limit his earnings to avoid decrease in his annuity, worked full-time, included in unit, since there was no evidence his terms and conditions of employment differed from those of other unit Ees)

Donnie M. Parris, A Sole Proprietorship d/b/a D & B Masonry 275 NLRB No. 193

(Ees who were employed by E intermittently w/o reasonable expectation of recall from layoff w/i reasonable period of time found casual Ees w/o community of interest with regular Ee and therefore not part of unit with him)

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)

[despite pre-election stipulation which E claimed established Ee's eligibility to vote, Bd properly sustained challenge to Ee's ballot on ground Ee was casual Ee, since stipulation was ambiguous as to inclusion of Ee in unit, and Bd properly applied rule as to casual Ees whether on grounds of Bd policy or on basis of community of interest standard]

6730-5000 Ineligible

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)

[Bd properly determined that Ee was casual Ee and ineligible to vote because she worked on sporadic and intermittent basis, where Ee, after working for Ee as part-time Ee, accepted new job elsewhere and agreed with Ee to completely new status prior to eligibility period; under the circumstances, Bd did not inadequately consider Ee's work history prior to her on-call status nor her reasonable expectation of employment]

6730-5000—Cont.

6734 ON-CALL EMPLOYEES

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[social security annuitant held regular part-time Ee eligible to vote where his contact with unit Ees was not so infrequent that finding that he did not have sufficient community of interest with them was not warranted, special privileges he assertedly enjoyed by coming and going as he pleased was due to his on-call status, and there was no showing that Ee was paid for time spent in engaging in other liberties at work]

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)

[Bd properly determined that Ee was casual Ee and ineligible to vote because she worked on sporadic and intermittent basis, where Ee, after working for Ee as part-time Ee, accepted new job elsewhere and agreed with Ee to completely new status prior to eligibility period; under the circumstances, Bd did not inadequately consider Ee's work history prior to her on-call status nor her reasonable expectation of employment]

6740 EMPLOYEES EMPLOYED IN VIOLATION OF STATUTE

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84

(challenges to ballots of individuals who worked part time irregularly, upheld, since not regular part-time Ees and, further, were hired in order to help defeat U)

6742 PROVISIONAL EMPLOYEES

6742-2000 Probationers

Data Technology Corp., Plastronics Division 281 NLRB No. 136

[laid-off probationary Ees held eligible to vote, where E had history of rehiring substantial number of similarly laid-off probationary Ees as shown by E's past practice and recent layoff, and statements made to Ees at time of layoff and those made in past; there was no showing that E's future plans at time of election foreclosed Ees' rehire; fact that not every Ee was recalled during previous layoffs was not dispositive; and events occurring subsequent to election were no basis for concluding Ees had no reasonable expectancy of recall]

Data Technology Corp., Plastronics Division 281 NLRB No. 136

[although E distinguished between permanent Ees laid off with recall rights and probationers terminated subject to consideration for rehire, Bd noted that same mode of analysis is used to determine reasonable expectancy of employment regardless of nomenclature used by E]

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171

[allegedly temporary Ee, eligible where he was asked to stay on after two Ees were badly burned, was given insurance form to fill out like probationers at end of probationary period, and assigned different work]

6742-6000 Trainees

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017

[challenge of voter whom E alleged was not working on or before eligibility date because Ee was in training during week prior to eligibility cutoff date, rejected and ballot counted, where, although Ee was in training, E informed Ee before cutoff date that he would work out and Ee in fact was working for E prior to cutoff date]

6754 FOREIGN NATIONALS OR ILLEGAL ALIENS

Lycee Francais de New York 273 NLRB No. 191

(Bd found improper inclusion of certain Ees (exchange visitors) who are on leave from French Ministry of Education (Ministry) to teach at E for up to 3 years because they did not enjoy community of interest with locally hired Ees as they must comply with French rules of their profession, can be discharged only with permission of Ministry, are evaluated by Ministry, continue their French pension and health care plans, work same hours as in France and no taxes paid first 2 years)

6766 EMPLOYEES NOT WORKING ON ELIGIBILITY DATES

6766-1000 Laid off

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028

[laid off Ees held eligible to vote since, in absence of E's discriminatory and unlawful change of their temporary layoff to permanent, they would have been considered temporarily laid off Ees eligible to vote]

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85

(challenge to ballots of Ees in permanent layoff status sustained since layoffs not unlawful)

6766-1050 Eligible if reasonable expectancy of reemployment

Data Technology Corp., Plastronics Division 281 NLRB No. 136

[in determining whether laid-off Ees have reasonable expectancy of recall, Bd evaluates objective factors, which included E's past experience, E's future plans, circumstances of layoff, and what Ees were told about likelihood of recall]

Data Technology Corp., Plastronics Division 281 NLRB No. 136

[laid-off probationary Ees held eligible to vote, where E had history of rehiring substantial number of similarly laid-off probationary Ees as shown by E's past practice and recent layoff, and statements made to Ees at time of layoff and those made in past; there was no showing that E's future plans at time of election foreclosed Ees' rehire; fact that not every Ee was recalled during previous layoffs was not dispositive; and events occurring subsequent to election were no basis for concluding Ees had no reasonable expectancy of recall]

Data Technology Corp., Plastronics Division 281 NLRB No. 136

[although E distinguished between permanent Ees laid off with recall rights and probationers terminated subject to consideration for rehire, Bd noted that same mode of analysis is used to determine reasonable expectancy of employment regardless of nomenclature used by E]

Data Technology Corp., Plastronics Division 281 NLRB No. 136

[vague statements made by E at time of layoff regarding chance or possibility of recall, absent any further support, are not sufficient to establish reasonable expectancy of recall]

Data Technology Corp., Plastronics Division 281 NLRB No. 136

[in determining reasonable expectancy of recall, Bd looks to whether Ees had reasonable expectation of rehire at time of election and will not consider subsequent developments]

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[laid off Ee held eligible to vote, since he had reasonable expectancy of recall, where he was hired for entire period of E's seasonal operation rather than simply during peak periods, he was never informed that layoff was to be permanent, and E's need for Ees during relevant period of its operation depended entirely upon the weather which could not be predicted]

Red Arrow Freight Lines, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 137

[Ee on sick or maternity leave presumed to continue in such status unless and until presumption is rebutted by affirmative showing that Ee has been discharged or has resigned]

Red Arrow Freight Lines, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 137

[challenge to ballot of Ee, on sick leave overruled (and ballot counted), since Ee's position remained available to Ee. Neither Ee nor Ee's physician requested that Ee be placed on disability retirement. Nothing in Ee's personnel file showed Ee does not intend to return to work reasonable expectation of employment test applies to eligibility determinations involving laid-off Ees, only, although in some isolated cases, Bd may have inadvertently used such language in cases involving Ees on sick or maternity leave]

S & G Concrete Co. 274 NLRB No. 116

(eligibility of laid-off Ees to vote in R election depends on objective factors supporting reasonable expectancy of recall in near future which include past experience of E, E's future plans, circumstances of layoff, and what Ee was told about likelihood of recall)

S & G Concrete Co. 274 NLRB No. 116

(laid-off Ee held not eligible to vote where circumstances of layoff indicate that it was directly connected to completion of E's special projects and not seasonal business activity)

S & G Concrete Co. 274 NLRB No. 116

(laid-off Ee driver held not eligible to vote where his truck was removed from operation and it was clear that his lay off was directly connected to permanent reduction in E's need for drivers)

6766-2000 Ill

Red Arrow Freight Lines, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 137

[Ee on sick or maternity leave presumed to continue in such status unless and until presumption is rebutted by affirmative showing that Ee has been discharged or has resigned]

Red Arrow Freight Lines, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 137

[challenge to ballot of Ee, on sick leave overruled (and ballot counted), since Ee's position remained available to Ee. Neither Ee nor Ee's physician requested that Ee be placed on disability retirement. Nothing in Ee's personnel file showed Ee does not intend to return to work reasonable expectation of employment test applies to eligibility determinations involving laid-off Ees, only, although in some isolated cases, Bd may have inadvertently used such language in cases involving Ees on sick or maternity leave]

Iron Mountain Forge Corp. 278 NLRB No. 038

[challenge to ballot of individual previously hired for temporary work, who was recuperating from surgery and not working on day of election, overruled, notwithstanding no affirmative evidence he had been granted sick leave, since Ee who leaves work for reasons of health absent evidence Ee quit or discharged, he/she is presumed to be on sick leave and have reasonable expectation of return; further, prior to election, E had discussed with individual possibility of his return to work and when he would be available]

6766-2000—Cont.

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171
[rank-and-file Ee on extended sick leave, eligible]

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(Ee who was absent from work due to work-related injuries held ineligible to vote where Ee had no reasonable expectation of employment since he manifested absolutely no interest in returning to work for E during 17 months from date of injury to date of hearing, thereby evincing no intention of returning to work whether or not he was capable of doing so)

N.L.R.B. v. Newly Weds Foods, Inc. 758 F.2d 4 (C.A. 1, Mar. 1985)
(Ee on indefinite sick leave held eligible to vote, notwithstanding contention that on day of election Ee told one of E's secretaries that he had permanent injury and not be returning to work and thus, Ee had no reasonable expectation of returning to work, since Ee's conversation with secretary at most indicated Ee's subjective belief he would not return to work and was not intended by him as a resignation and E kept Ee on its payroll records and continued his insurance up through date of election and placed his name on eligibility list)

6766-3000 On leave of absence

Red Arrow Freight Lines, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 137
[Ee on sick or maternity leave presumed to continue in such status unless and until presumption is rebutted by affirmative showing that Ee has been discharged or has resigned]

Red Arrow Freight Lines, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 137
[challenge to ballot of Ee, on sick leave overruled (and ballot counted), since Ee's position remained available to Ee. Neither Ee nor Ee's physician requested that Ee be placed on disability retirement. Nothing in Ee's personnel file showed Ee does not intend to return to work reasonable expectation of employment test applies to eligibility determinations involving laid-off Ees, only, although in some isolated cases, Bd may have inadvertently used such language in cases involving Ees on sick or maternity leave]

6766-6000 Hired but not yet working

N.L.R.B. v. Tom Wood Datsun, Inc., and Tom Wood Subaru, Inc. 767 F.2d 350 (C.A. 7, July 1985)
(individual must be both hired and working on eligibility date in order to vote. Working means actual performance of bargaining unit work and excluding participation in training, orientation or other preliminaries even if exposed sufficiently to U representation issues)

N.L.R.B. v. Tom Wood Datsun, Inc., and Tom Wood Subaru, Inc. 767 F.2d 350 (C.A. 7, July 1985)
(Ees hired before eligibility date and on final eligibility date spent day at E's premises filling out forms and chatting with ees not eligible to vote because they did not perform actual unit work by final eligibility date)

6766-7000 Dischargees

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148
[lawfully discharged Ee, ineligible]

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(challenge to ballot of lawfully discharged Ee sustained)

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(individuals who had been lawfully discharged not eligible to vote)

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85
(challenge to ballots of Ees in permanent layoff status sustained since layoffs not unlawful)

6766-8000 Discriminatees

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[laid off Ees held eligible to vote since, in absence of E's discriminatory and unlawful change of their temporary layoff to permanent, they would have been considered temporarily laid off Ees eligible to vote]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148
[challenge to ballot of unlawfully discharged Ee sustained where, prior to election, he had forfeited right to reinstatement by informing bank through which E obtained financing for its customers that E was submitting falsified customer credit applications and by publishing, in newsletter mailed to Ees, accusations of E's owners' involvement with prostitutes and use and sale of cocaine]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[discriminatorily discharged Ees, eligible]

Steffer Brothers JD-269-86
[unlawfully discharged Ees, eligible]

Youngstown Hospitality Co., d/b/a Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge JD-3-86

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84
(challenge to ballot of Ee who was not on eligibility list, but was unlawfully discharged, overeruled)

6766-9000 Alleged discriminatees

U.S. Pollution Control, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 042
[ballot challenged due to absence of voter's name from eligibility list because of his discharge, directed to be opened and counted where petitioner would lose election only if voter were found eligible and together with another Ee voted against petitioner, and voter waived right to secret ballot and requested that his ballot be opened and counted before resolution of his allegedly unlawful discharge, on which C had issued]

McLean Roofing Company 276 NLRB No. 093
(E's challenge to ballot of Ee not employed on eligibility date upheld where there was no C allegation that Ee was unlawfully denied employment, nor was issue litigated as ULP at hearing)

6772 EMPLOYEES SEPARATED FROM JOBS

6772-6700 Who have or intend to quit

Red Arrow Freight Lines, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 137
[Ee on sick or maternity leave presumed to continue in such status unless and until presumption is rebutted by affirmative showing that Ee has been discharged or has resigned]

Crystal Linen & Uniform Service, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 137
(Ees held ineligible to vote, since they evidenced intent to abandon their jobs with E by accepting employment with competitor while on strike)

Volt Information Sciences, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 047
(female Ee who had quit by overstaying her agreed upon maternity leave before eligibility period, ineligible)

6775 EMPLOYEES ON ASSIGNMENT TO NONUNIT JOBS

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035
[although Ee had worked only 9 hours in payroll eligibility period, that fact and fact Ee worked at times at E's other facilities outside the unit, did not make Ee ineligible to vote]

6776 EMPLOYEES HAVING JOB-RELATED CHARACTERISTICS DISTINCT FROM UNIT EMPLOYEES

Lycee Francais de New York 273 NLRB No. 191
(Bd found improper inclusion of certain Ees (exchange visitors) who are on leave from French Ministry of Education (Ministry) to teach at E for up to 3 years because they did not enjoy community of interest with locally hired Ees as they must comply with French rules of their profession, can be discharged only with permission of Ministry, are evaluated by Ministry, continue their French pension and health care plans, work same hours as in France and no taxes paid first 2 years)

6780 REPLACEMENTS FOR DISCRIMINATEES

Moe Warehouse & Accessory 275 NLRB No. 165
(overruled challenge to ballot of Ee who had worked for over fours months as warehouseman for E, and at time of election was working as replacement for Ee who had been alegedly unlawfully discharged)

Steffer Brothers JD-269-86
[ineligible to vote]

6790 DUAL FUNCTION EMPLOYEES

Mid-State Distributing Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 172
(inventory clerk invluded in unit of drivers and warehousemen of wholesale beer distributor and held eligible to vote as dual function Ee, where majority of Ee's time was spent on duties more associated with shipping and receiving duties of plant clerical rather than those of office clerical, notwithstanding her not insignificant office clerical functions such as those of receptionist, and notwithstanding different method of pay and supervision than unit Ees)

6790-2500 Substantial interest in working conditions in unit

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[dual function Ee operating primarily as sales representative for country music radio station but also as sports broadcaster excluded from unit of announcers where he received salary plus commission, rather than salary alone, did not prepare his broadcasts in same area as, or work with, copywriters or continuity department Ees like announcers, worked irregularly and broadcasted irregularly for total of only seven minutes a week]

6790-2500—Cont.

Star Color Plate Service, Division of Einhorn Enterprises, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 082
[Ee who performed some nonunit work, held eligible to vote, where at least 50% of his time was spent performing unit work]

U.S. Pollution Control, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 042
[pollution control specialist employed by E engaged in hazardous waste disposal found dual function Ee and excluded from unit, since he lacked community of interest with unit Ees where he spent half his time on nonunit sales work, had different supervisor, had no interchange of duties with unit Ees and, unlike them, received sick leave benefits and did not punch time clock or receive overtime pay]

6790-5000 Eligibility same as part-time employees

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[dual function Ee operating primarily as sales representative for country music radio station but also as announcer excluded from unit of announcers where he announced on irregular, rather than regular, part-time basis, had specialized announcement duties outside the studio, and was compensated by commission, rather than salary]

6795 MANAGERS

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[challenge of Ee alleged by U to be supervisor, upheld and ballot not counted, where, although Ee had title of hostess, which was included in the unit, she exercised sufficient authority over waiters by assigning them work, giving reprimands and she served as individual in complete charge of restaurant when managers were gone and was thus, supervisory]

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(challenge to ballots of Ees sustained where Ees, because of their use of independent judgment, were found to be managerial)

6796 PART-TIME OR TEMPORARY SUPERVISORS

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(temporary manager at coal mine concerning whom E had assertedly notified Ees that manager will act as assistant to superintendent in latter's absence held eligible to vote where manager was only nominally so designated and his appointment was only temporary)

6797 DELIVERY DRIVERS

Newsday, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 019
(challenge to ballots of separate independent driver unit sustained where such unit no longer exists because E instituted distribution program using Ees rather than independent drivers; new program was devoid of any discriminatory motivation; all drivers subject to same supervision; and work pursuant to recognized U's contract which sets forth hours and working conditions for all drivers)

6798 RELATIVES OF MANAGEMENT

6798-0100 Generally

Industrial Agrico Processing, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 102
(Ees related to nonowner supervisors (of E) included in (appropriate) unit of Ees unless Ees enjoyed special status on job)

6798-2500 Relationship to management

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[Ee listed as sec/traffic/billing/news/Disc Jockey at country music radio station excluded from unit of announcers where she did no announcing work, had had only one 30-second report that she called in broadcast, and was not a statutory Ee but an individual employed by (her) parent, her father being president and sole stockholder of E]

Terraillon Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037
[part time Ee who was high school age son of E's vice-president held not eligible to vote, since he enjoyed special status where he was allowed to work hours of his own choosing to accomodate his studies, had no income tax or social security deducted from his wages, and made personal telephone calls from his father's office]

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110
[son of E's technical director and working under brother's supervision held eligible to vote where neither his father nor his brother had any financial interest in E or occupied any corporate position other than supervisor, and consequently family relationship was not of such special nature as to warrant exclusion from unit]

Futuramik Industries, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 021
[challenge to ballot of wife of company official and partial-owner, upheld, where husband owned 10% of E's stock, was Vice-President of corporation and was actively engaged in day-to-day management of E and wife lived in same household as husband; such facts indicate wife would be more closely aligned with management rather than Ees and would be certain to get a more attentive ear to day-to-day work concerns than would other Ees]

The Royal Sonesta, Inc. d/b/a Royal Laundry 277 NLRB No. 085
(challenge to ballot of son of personnel director sustained where he was not shown to have performed unit work on even regular part-time basis)

B.R.B. Iron Works, Inc. JD-(NY)-84-85
(son of 50% co-owner of closed corporation (E) not eligible to vote in Bd election, since he is not Ee w/i meaning of Act)

6798-5000 Identification of interests with management

Star Color Plate Service, Division of Einhorn Enterprises, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 082
[claim that Ee who received rides home in company car should be ineligible to vote because of this special relationship with management, rejected, where other Ees had also, on occasion, obtained rides in company cars w/o discrimination]

Futuramik Industries, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 021
[challenge to ballot of wife of company official and partial-owner, upheld, where husband owned 10% of E's stock, was Vice-President of corporation and was actively engaged in day-to-day management of E and wife lived in same household as husband; such facts indicate wife would be more closely aligned with management rather than Ees and would be certain to get a more attentive ear to day-to-day work concerns than would other Ees]

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(challenge to ballot of Ee sustained where Ee lacked community of interest with other Ees by virtue of his blood relationship to certain of E's owners and managers, and Ee was immune from review or correction by lower level supervision as result of relationship)

Hy's of Chicago, Ltd. 276 NLRB No. 113
(vote of son of E's general manager not tallied in results of election since he did not participate in community of interest with other members of bargaining unit where he, with consent of management, exercised privileges which were not available to other Ees in his classification; and supervisor consulted him concerning recommendation of wage increases)

B.R.B. Iron Works, Inc. JD-(NY)-84-85
(son of 50% co-owner of closed corporation (E) not eligible to vote in Bd election, since he is not Ee w/i meaning of Act)

370 MECHANICS OF ELECTION

0100 GENERALLY

0700 DATE OF ELECTION

0750 FACTORS CONSIDERED IN DETERMINING WHETHER OR NOT TO POSTPONE ELECTION

0750-7700 Unit found differs from that proposed

0750-7767 Not postponed

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center — 275 NLRB No. 194

(prior election set aside notwithstanding nursing assistants, whom RD had originally excluded from unit, were informed late in afternoon of day before election that they could vote challenged ballot (Bd having granted request for review) where over half of nursing assistants did not avail themselves of this option. Bd unwilling to presume that those who did not cast ballot did so out of indifference or neglect)

0783 EFFECT OF UNFORESEEN CIRCUMSTANCES ON DATE OF ELECTION

0783-3300 Inclement weather

V.I.P. Limousine, Inc. — 274 NLRB No. 090

(election set aside and second election directed, where 20-inch snowstorm occurred in and around election site during polling period affecting electorate as a whole, preventing a substantial number of Ees from reaching polls, thereby destroying integrity of election process. While Bd is not required to guarantee every voter gets to the polls, when it is alleged that Ees were prevented from voting, Bd must assess whether circumstances so affected sufficient number of ballots so as to destroy laboratory conditions and if there is a reasonable possibility this occurred and determinative number of votes is called into question, election must be set aside)

1400 PLACE OF ELECTION

2100 TIME OF ELECTION

2800 NOTICE OF ELECTION

2817 SUFFICIENCY OF NOTICE

2817-3300 Content

2817-3322 Designation of unit

N.L.R.B. v. Parsons School of Design, A Division of The New School for Social Research — 793 F.2d 503 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[no deference to Bd's discretion in using Sec. 102.67(b) vote and impound procedure to segregate small full-time (10%) overwhelming part-time faculty's vote w/o informing voters of reason where, pursuant to pre-election grant of request for review, Bd modified unit after election, since voters might have voted differently had they known of possible unit modification, and Bd could have avoided misinforming voters by developing another balloting process besides vote and impound procedure to allow voters to vote on U representation in alternative units]

N.L.R.B. v. Affiliated Midwest Hospital, Inc., d/b/a Riveredge Hospital — 789 F.2d 524 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)

[inaccurate notice of election that contained same erroneous unit description as decertification ptn technical unit Ees were placed in service and maintenance unit and vacant positions omitted from technical unit did not warrant setting election aside and justify E's refusal to bargain, notwithstanding contention erroneous unit description resulted in voter confusion, low voter turn out and certification of inappropriate units, since error immaterial where Ee who was improperly not included in technical unit voted in technical unit and inclusion of vacant positions had no impact]

2850 DEFACED NOTICE

2850-6700 Marked sample ballot

2850-6733 For nonunion choice

Rosewood Mfg. Co., Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 103

[E's posting defaced NLRB election notice with handwritten caption Vote No over top of notice with arrow drawn to No portion of sample ballot, did not warrant setting aside election, since altered notice was not likely to give voters misleading impression that Bd, favored E in election, inasmuch as Vote No and arrow were clearly discernable as additions made by E, and sufficiently distinct from printed notice and sample ballot to preclude suggestion Bd was endorsing E; further, E's use of notice from previous election would have alerted voters that alteration was not endorsed by Bd]

3500 VOTING PROCEDURE AND ELECTION FACILITIES

3533 VOTING PROCEDURE

3533-4000 Identification of voters (includes use of eligibility list)

3533-4050 Use of eligibility list

3533-4050-2500 Maintenance of list of who did or did not vote

Premier Maintenance, Inc. — 282 NLRB No. 003

[supervisor checking off Ees' names as they voted in election warranted setting election aside]

3533-4075 Failure to be included on eligibility list (effect on opportunity to vote)

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center — 275 NLRB No. 194

(prior election set aside notwithstanding nursing assistants, whom RD had originally excluded from unit, were informed late in afternoon of day before election that they could vote challenged ballot (Bd having granted request for review) where over half of nursing assistants did not avail themselves of this option. Bd unwilling to presume that those who did not cast ballot did so out of indifference or neglect)

N.L.R.B. v. Affiliated Midwest Hospital, Inc., d/b/a Riveredge Hospital — 789 F.2d 524 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)

[refusal to allow Ee whose name was not on Norris Thermador List to cast challenged ballot did not warrant setting aside election and justify E's refusal to bargain since omission does not render voter list susceptible to challenge by either party unless mistake discovered in sufficient time to permit correction before balloting begins; requiring pre-election agreements, of which list is part, to adhere to standard of absolute perfection would undermine goal of having parties expedite handling of elections w/o extensive Bd involvement]

Smith and Smith Aircraft Company v. N.L.R.B. — ———F.2d——— (C.A. 10, May 1984)

[ballots of eligible voters must be counted notwithstanding names inadvertenly left off Norris-Thermador list where names were included in Excelsior list, U knew of omission more than 3 weeks before election, and objected to their inclusion on Excelsior list as mistake discovered in sufficient time and right to vote is important right]

4200 BALLOT

4201 GENERALLY

N.L.R.B. v. iDAB, Inc. — 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(because of its expertise, Bd has broad discretion in conducting elections and resolving R matters; and there is presumption that ballots cast under specific safeguards provided by Bd procedures reflect Ees' true desires)

4270 USE OF FOREIGN LANGUAGE BALLOT

Unibilt Industries, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 117

[as it is parties' responsibility to notify RD that bilingual election materials are needed, election not set aside where Vietnamese Ee who was not fluent in English came into election area to fill out timecard and Bd agent made him leave and Ee did not vote, nor learn purpose of, nor obtain any information about election]

4270—Cont.

Kraft, Inc. Retail Food Group 273 NLRB No. 184
(election set aside in view of facially defective four-language ballot which would tend to confuse even the English-speaking majority of voters where layout of the ballot made for difficulty in reading, and inaccuracies rendered translations in two of the languages confusing)

Kraft, Inc. Retail Food Group 273 NLRB No. 184
(translation inaccuracies rendering four-language ballots defective were not cured by election notice, partisan pre-election campaigning, language of contract and dues checkoff authorization cards, all in English)

4900 OBSERVERS

4912 RIGHT TO OBSERVER

4912-3300 Consent election

4912-3350 Right to observe stipulated

N.L.R.B. v. Best Products Co., Inc. 765 F.2d 903 (C.A. 9, July 1985)
(certification not invalidated by fact that U had more election observers than E where there was no divergence from the stipulation on election procedure and Bd agent followed established procedure in allowing more than one observer per side shortly before election began and suggesting to E that it maintain party with U in the number of its observers, but E chose not to do so)

4925 APPROPRIATENESS OF INDIVIDUAL AS OBSERVER

4925-2500 Individuals closely associated with management

4925-2517 Supervisor

Monarch Building Supply 276 NLRB No. 016
(E's objection to election that U had chosen a supervisor as an election observor overruled, since E had waived the objection and was estopped from raising the issue for the first time in postelection objections by its failure to comment or protest when U announced at the preelection conference that it would use as an observor an individual whom it considered a supervisor)

William Okie, Jr., et al. d/b/a Standby One Associates Center for Housing Partnerships 274 NLRB No. 140
(E's contention that, contrary to Bd practice, state bd agent allowed supervisor to act as observer at state bd conducted election, rejected; while Bd has set aside elections when supervisory Ees acted as observers, Bd has long-standing policy prohibiting E from raising objection based on its own conduct during elections)

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84
(Bd agent properly allowed individual to act as observer notwithstanding E's counsel had objected to individual acting as observer based on contention individual was supervisor, since individual held not to be supervisor)

4925-5000 Individuals closely associated with union

4925-5020 Union official

William Okie, Jr., et al. d/b/a Standby One Associates Center for Housing Partnerships 274 NLRB No. 140
(E's contention that state bd improperly allowed non-Ee U official to act as U observer at state bd conducted election, rejected; although it is preferable to avoid non-Ee U representatives acting as election observers for U, it is not sufficient basis for refusing to recognize validity of state bd election)

4950 EFFECT OF ABSENCE OF, OR IMBALANCE IN NUMBER OF OBSERVERS, OR FAILURE TO IDENTIFY OBSERVERS

Sonicraft, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 044
(E's objections to election upheld, election set aside and new election ordered, where U had 3 observers at one of three polling places to E's 1, in breach of stipulation upon consent election agreement which provided that each party should have equal number of observers at each polling place, since breach was sufficiently material and prejudicial to warrant setting aside election, inasmuch as E was given no notice that there would be imbalance nor opportunity to furnish more observers; U also given permission to use releaser (tell Ees time to vote) at another location were no agreement for releasors and E had none)

Sonicraft, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 044
[rule followed by both Bd and ct seems to be that mere imbalance of observers is a breach of election agreement which must be examined in context with circumstances of each case to determine if breach was prejudicial or material enough to require setting aside of election)

N.L.R.B. v. Best Products Co., Inc. 765 F.2d 903 (C.A. 9, July 1985)
(certification not invalidated by fact that U had more election observers than E where there was no divergence from the stipulation on election procedure and Bd agent followed established procedure in allowing more than one observer per side shortly before election began and suggesting to E that it maintain party with U in the number of its observers, but E chose not to do so)

4962 FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF OBSERVERS

4962-4000 Instructions to voters

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84
(election set aside where Bd agent asked spanish speaking U observer to repeat his instructions on voting procedure to voters and later on to speak to spanish speaking Ees who were talking loudly outside voting area and tell them to quiet down and told Ees I don't want to see you in there. We might get problems by you standing there since Bd agent did not caution observer to limit statements to exact translation, but rather instructions were in nature of general directions to explain voting procedures and tell Ees to quiet down; thus, U's observer conveyed impression to voters that U, not Bd, was responsible for running election)

4975 CONDUCT OF OBSERVER

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84
(election set aside where Bd agent asked spanish speaking U observer to repeat his instructions on voting procedure to voters and later on to speak to spanish speaking Ees who were talking loudly outside voting area and tell them to quiet down and told Ees I don't want to see you in there. We might get problems by you standing there since Bd agent did not caution observer to limit statements to exact translation, but rather instructions were in nature of general directions to explain voting procedures and tell Ees to quiet down; thus, U's observer conveyed impression to voters that U, not Bd, was responsible for running election)

4975-0100 Generally

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)
[fact that E's election obsever wore identification badge with word employer typed in while U election observer wore identification badge with word Union hand printed in larger letters than those on E observer's badge saying employer too trivial a difference upon which to set election aside. Also E did not object to observers' (for E and U) badges before election began]

4975-6000 Instructing voters

Nestler, Division of Buckhorn, Inc. JD-(SF)-60-85
(on remand in light of Alco Iron and Metal Co. 269 NLRB No. 87, election set aside at E at which 80% of Ees could neither speak nor understand English, and neither E's observer nor Bd agent were conversant in Spanish. Bd agent had U observer translate voting instructions and U observer also spoke with substantial number of Ees w/o being instructed to do so by Bd agent; thus, voters instead of receiving voting instructions from neutral source received instructions from person identified with one of parties to election and voters were unaware that at times U observer was acting on instructions of Bd agent)

5600 CHALLENGE OF VOTER

6300 MAIL BALLOTING

6375 PROCEDURE FOR CONDUCTING ELECTION BY MAIL

6375-4000 Delivery of mail ballot to voter by individual

Brink's Armored Car, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 016
[clarifying proper handling of mail ballots in case involving propriety of permitting one individual to pick up mail ballot at Regional Office for another potential voter, Bd stated its disapproval of such practice and observed that had voting package been picked up, Bd would have had no way of determining with any degree of certainty that potential voter was one who received ballot and ultimately voted it, since normal presumption of accurate mail delivery or, alternatively, delivery in person at Regional Office to voter with proper identification would not have been available]

Brink's Armored Car, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 016
[although disapproving of practice of having one individual pick up mail ballot at Regional Office for another potential voter, Bd held that integrity of election herein was not compromised where voting package was never picked up and never left Bd agent's possession]

6375-8700 Verification of voter's identity

Brink's Armored Car, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 016
[clarifying proper handling of mail ballots in case involving propriety of permitting one individual to pick up mail ballot at Regional Office for another potential voter, Bd stated its disapproval of such practice and observed that had voting package been picket up, Bd would have had no way of determining with any degree of certainty that potential voter was one who received ballot and ultimately voted it, since normal presumption of accurate mail delivery or, alternatively, delivery in person at Regional Office to voter with proper identification would not have been available]

6375-8700—Cont.

7000 SECRECY OF BALLOT

7033 NATURE OF VOTING CONDITIONS RAISING QUESTION OF OPPORTUNITY TO CAST SECRET BALLOT

7033-6700 Voting facilities in voting area

7033-6733 Polling booth

7033-6733-5000 Failure to use

Bekins Moving & Storage Co. 279 NLRB No. 109

[laboratory conditions not violated and objection to election overruled where Ees marked ballots at other than three-sided box which was the official designated voting place, absent evidence that ballots cast in election were not secret]

7067 IDENTITY OF VOTER

7067-2000 Election process identifying ballot of voter

7067-2067 Use of different ballots

7067-2067-3300 Foreign language and English

Unibilt Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 117

[as it is parties' responsibility to notify RD that bilingual election materials are needed, election not set aside where Vietnamese Ee who was not fluent in English came into election area to fill out timecard and Bd agent made him leave and Ee did not vote, nor learn purpose of, nor obtain any information about election]

7700 COUNT

7725 VALIDITY OF BALLOT

7725-3300 Properly or improperly marked ballot

7725-3333 Intent of voter

7725-3333-7500 Wording, lettering or other markings on front or back of ballot

Hydro Conduit Corporation 278 NLRB No. 155

[notwithstanding challenged ballot destroyed in accordance with standard procedure in Region and Bd could not examine ballot, it nevertheless held that marking on back did not invalidate ballot]

N.L.R.B. v. Newly Weds Foods, Inc. 758 F.2d 4 (C.A. 1, Mar. 1985)

(Bd did not err in refusing to count ballot that had X in Yes box but also had No written immediately above Yes box since ballot was clearly ambiguous)

7737 PREPARATION OF TALLY OF BALLOTS

7737-2500 Ballots cast differ in number from ballots counted

Henry Street Settlement 277 NLRB No. 086

[second election ordered where there was discrepancy between total number of votes cast as disclosed in tally of ballots and total number of votes cast as revealed by RD's investigation w/o any explanation by RD to reconcile these figures]

7750 BALLOTS OF CHALLENGED VOTERS

7750-1000 When determinative of result

U.S. Pollution Control, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 042

[ballot challenged due to absence of voter's name from eligibility list because of his discharge, directed to be opened and counted where petitioner would lose election only if voter were found eligible and together with another Ee voted against petitioner, and voter waived right to secret ballot and requested that his ballot be opened and counted before resolution of his allegedly unlawful discharge, on which C had issued]

Glover Bottled Gas Corp. 275 NLRB No. 096

(R case ordered severed from other two election-ULP cases with which it had been consolidated where R case remanded to RD for opening and counting of challenged ballots of unlawfully discharged Ees that might prove dispositive of election)

7750-4000 Ballots commingled with nonchallenged ballots

J.C.L. Zigor Corporation 274 NLRB No. 213

(contrary to RD's recommendation, Bd found that commingling of challenged ballots with other ballots before determining eligibility of particular voters whose ballots would in some circumstances be determinative of election would make it impossible to ascertain the identity and eligibility of those individuals whose votes were crucial, thus precluding a determination as to whether they should be counted)

7750-6000 Opening and counting of certain challenged ballots prior to resolution of challenge

U.S. Pollution Control, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 042

[ballot challenged due to absence of voter's name from eligibility list because of his discharge, directed to be opened and counted where petitioner would lose election only if voter were found eligible and together with another Ee voted against petitioner, and voter waived right to secret ballot and requested that his ballot be opened and counted before resolution of his allegedly unlawful discharge, on which C had issued]

J.C.L. Zigor Corporation 274 NLRB No. 213

(contrary to RD's recommendation, Bd found that commingling of challenged ballots with other ballots before determining eligibility of particular voters whose ballots would in some circumstances be determinative of election would make it impossible to ascertain the identity and eligibility of those individuals whose votes were crucial, thus precluding a determination as to whether they should be counted)

7762 COUNTING OF MAIL BALLOTS

Henry Street Settlement 277 NLRB No. 086

[second election ordered where there was discrepancy between total number of votes cast as disclosed in tally of ballots and total number of votes cast as revealed by RD's investigation w/o any explanation by RD to reconcile these figures]

8400 MAJORITY CONCEPT UTILIZED BY BOARD

9100 ROLE OF BOARD AGENT

9133 PERSONAL CONDUCT

9133-3300 Bias

9133-3317 Determination of election mechanics

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[fact that E's election observer wore identification badge with word employer typed in while U election observer wore identification badge with word Union hand printed in larger letters than those on E observer's badge saying employer too trivial a difference upon which to set election aside. Also E did not object to observers' (for E and U) badges before election began]

9167 FUNCTIONS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

9167-2100 Handling of marked ballots

9167-2133 Destruction of ballots

Hydro Conduit Corporation 278 NLRB No. 155

[notwithstanding challenged ballot destroyed in accordance with standard procedure in Region and Bd could not examine ballot, it nevertheless held that marking on back did not invalidate ballot]

9167-3400 Instruction of voters

9167-3475 Manner of

9167-3475-2500 Non-English speaking

Unibilt Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 117

[as it is parties' responsibility to notify RD that bilingual election materials are needed, election not set aside where Vietnamese Ee who was not fluent in English came into election area to fill out timecard and Bd agent made him leave and Ee did not vote, nor learn purpose of, nor obtain any information about election]

Gory Associated Industries, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 179

(Bd set election aside and directed that new election be held where interpreter arrived at voting place halfway through election period; this established sufficient prima facie proof of objectionable failure to assure Ees' effective and informed expression that was not rebutted by petitioner)

Nestler, Division of Buckhorn, Inc. JD-(SF)-60-85

(on remand in light of Alco Iron and Metal Co. 269 NLRB No. 87, election set aside at E at which 80% of Ees could neither speak nor understand English, and neither E's observer nor Bd agent were conversant in Spanish. Bd agent had U observer translate voting instructions and U observer also spoke with substantial number of Ees w/o being instructed to do so by Bd agent; thus, voters instead of receiving voting instructions from neutral source received instructions from person identified with one of parties to election and voters were unaware that at times U observer was acting on instructions of Bd agent)

9167-4100 Direction of observers

best copy available

9167-4101 Generally

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[fact that E's election observer wore identification badge with word employer typed in while U election observer wore identification badge with word Union hand printed in larger letters than those on E observer's badge saying employer too trivial a difference upon which to set election aside. Also E did not object to observers' (for E and U) badges before election began]

9167-8300 Handling challenged ballots

Hydro Conduit Corporation 278 NLRB No. 155

[notwithstanding challenged ballot destroyed in accordance with standard procedure in Region and Bd could not examine ballot, it nevertheless held that marking on back did not invalidate ballot]

9167-8900 Closing of polls

9167-8850 Early

Clarence E. Clapp 279 NLRB No. 051

[purported objection to election by individual who claimed he was denied opportunity to vote when polls closed prior to time stated in Notice of Election not proper, since objection made by individual who cannot be a party to this proceeding. Objection, by letter, filed 8 days after date for timely filing and not served on E as required by Sections 102.8 and 102.69(a) of Bd's R/R]

9500 UNION AFFILIATION, MERGER OR DISAFFILIATION ELECTIONS

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[argument that Bd's rule that all Ees in bargaining unit must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision is reasonable means of protecting bargaining unit Ees' right to select bargaining representative under Sec. 7 of Act, rejected where Act authorizes Bd to conduct R election only where affiliation raises qcr; Bd's rule upsets accomodation drawn by statute by effectively decertifying reorganized U even where affiliation does not raise qcr]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[contention that Bd's rule stating all Ees in bargaining unit must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision was necessary to protect interests of non-U Ees in that affiliation may affect U's representation of bargaining unit even if it does not raise qcr, rejected where U makes many decisions that affect its representation of nonmember Ees and dissatisfaction with decisions U members make may be tested by Bd-conducted R election only if it is unclear whether reorganized U retains majority support]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[argument that affiliation differs from other organizational changes because it results in Ees being represented by different organization, rejected since many organizational changes may operate to alter U's identity w/o raising qcr]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[contention that affiliation involves U's asking Bd to amend its certification or to order E to bargain and that therefore Bd has strong interest in insuring that its own election procedures have not been circumvented before placing its imprimatur on U's affiliation election, rejected since, in amending U's certification or ordering E to bargain, Bd does not sanction U's affiliation; rather it signifies only that reorganized U continues as ongoing entity that E should continue to recognize]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[if Bd finds that affiliation raises qcr undermining Bd's own election and certification procedures, it can refuse to reconsider U's ULP charge, and is authorized to conduct R election; however it may not condone E's refusal to bargain in absence of qcr and has no authority to prescribe internal procedures for U to follow in order to invoke Act's protections]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[argument that Bd's rule that all Ees in bargaining unit must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision brings measure of certainty into bargaining relationship, rejected since Act assumes that stable bargaining relationships are best maintained by allowing affiliated U to continue representing bargaining unit unless Bd finds that affiliation raises qcr]

Fast Food Merchandisers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 025

(ptn for amendment of certification to reflect merger of 2 locals, dismissed, since merger as ratified was invalid, where failure of local seeking merger to notify nonmember unit Ees of meeting at which vote was to be taken to ratify earlier procedurally defective merger of locals, and to extend to nonmembers opportunity to vote, violated due process)

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)

[substantial evidence supported Bd's finding that independent U's choice in conducting election concerning its affiliation with international in accordance with traditions of New England town meeting met necessary due process standards where U members had adequate notice that election to decide whether to affiliate with international would be held, Ees were adequately informed as to effects of affiliation, and they had sufficient opportunity for discussion before voting]

N.L.R.B. v. Insulfab Plastics, Inc., New England Division 789 F.2d 961 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1986)

[voting procedure in affiliation election, while informal, met minimal due process standards, where voting was by secret ballot with Ees preserving some measure of privacy by turning their backs to others or by cupping their hands over their ballots, ballots were publicly tallied, no one voiced any objection or discontent with voting procedure which resulted in almost unanimous decision to affiliate, and election reflected views of large majority of Ees as evidenced by fact that no one in unit opposed election results]

United Retail Workers Union Local 881 v. N.L.R.B. (May Department Stores Company, Venture Stores Division) 774 F.2d 752 (C.A. 7, Oct. 1985)

[in holding that Bd's conclusion that merger election is not solely internal U affair was rational, consistent with Act, and not arbitrary, ct sustained Bd's determination that all unit members must vote before it will sanction results of merger election]

United Retail Workers Union Local 881 v. N.L.R.B. (May Department Stores Company, Venture Stores Division) 774 F.2d 752 (C.A. 7, Oct. 1985)

[in finding that Bd properly found members only merger election invalid, ct held Bd correctly justified its refusal to apply outcome determinative limitation on ground that effects of exclusion cannot be measured by mere numerical tally since group exclusions from election can have effects greater than mere number of excluded voters]

United Retail Workers Union Local 881 v. N.L.R.B. (May Department Stores Company, Venture Stores Division) 774 F.2d 752 (C.A. 7, Oct. 1985)

[members only merger election held invalid, notwithstanding fact that decision to void election would leave Ees w/o representation, at least temporarily, since U was at fault for not letting non-U Ees vote; because non-U Ees did not vote, no recognizable majority of unit Ees had agreed to vote by U and therefore U cannot invoke Bd processes to force E to bargain with it]

378 CONDUCT INTERFERING WITH ELECTION CHOICE

0100 GENERALLY

0120 BOARD RESPONSIBLE FOR FAIR ELECTION

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(because of its expertise, Bd has broad discretion in conducting elections and resolving R matters; and there is presumption that ballots cast under specific safeguards provided by Bd procedures reflect Ees' true desires)

0150 BOARD MAY CONSIDER CONCURRENT ULP'S EVEN THOUGH NOT ALLEGED IN OBJECTIONS

E. A. Nord Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 161

(ULPs occurring between date of filing of ptn and date of election considered in determining whether election should be set aside)

0160 ISOLATED CONDUCT

Pony Express Courier Corporation 282 NLRB No. 036

[E informing fellow Ee, during conversation with another Ee and E's managers and officers, that if Ee acted as informer to E regarding U activities again, he would beat shit out of him, did not warrant setting election aside, since threat isolated, where no dissemination to other Ees, and directed to single Ee, notwithstanding relatively small unit of approximately 20 Ees]

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[objection to election on ground E had in effect invalid no-distribution rule, overruled where, following incident involving supervisor's assertedly confiscatory removal of U literature from table in break room, E indicated Ees were not prohibited from distributing or reading U literature in break area during break period, U supporters did in fact distribute U literature in E's parking lot and break room, and it was unlikely isolated incident involving removal of single piece of U literature had significant impact on outcome of election]

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(isolated, innocuous, and joking remarks not shown to have caused a change in an Ee's vote held insufficient to set aside election; decisive factor is not whether improprieties occurred during campaign, but whether challenged conduct produced such climate of tension and coercion that Ees were effectively precluded from making a free choice)

0160-5000 Impact where election lost by close margin

Rushhill Cemetery Association 275 NLRB No. 033

(in determining effect of E misconduct on results of election, Bd considers size of unit, closeness of vote, number of objectionable incidents, and extent to which reports of that misconduct are disseminated to unit Ees)

0180 TIMING OF CONDUCT

0180-1700 Remote in time

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035

[unlawful wage increase that was announced and effective prior to critical preelection period, but actually received by Ees after ptn filed, could not serve as basis for setting aside election, notwithstanding E referred to wage increase in post ptn letter to Ees, where letter included references to wage increases of prior years with no emphasis on current increase; contention Scott Glass Products 261 NLRB 906 modified Ideal Electric 134 NLRB 1275 to allow consideration of prepetion wage increase which was not actually received by Ees until after ptn filed, rejected]

0180-3300 Critical period

Local 295-295C, Operating Engineers (Weather Wise Conditioning Corp.) 282 NLRB No. 044

[election not set aside where E failed to meet its burden of proving when alleged threat of physical harm to Ees, if they did not support U in strike, was made by U representative; and, in the alternative, inference from facts was that statement was made outside critical preelection period before ptn was filed]

Data Technology Corp., Plastronics Division 281 NLRB No. 136

[objection to election alleging solicitation of U supporters overruled where alleged conduct occurred outside critical period before election ptn was filed, and there was no related allegedly objectionable post ptn conduct to which pre ptn conduct might give meaning; moreover, pre ptn conduct standing alone cannot provide basis for sustaining objection]

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035

[unlawful wage increase that was announced and effective prior to critical preelection period, but actually received by Ees after ptn filed, could not serve as basis for setting aside election, notwithstanding E referred to wage increase in post ptn letter to Ees, where letter included references to wage increases of prior years with no emphasis on current increase; contention Scott Glass Products 261 NLRB 906 modified Ideal Electric 134 NLRB 1275 to allow consideration of prepetion wage increase which was not actually received by Ees until after ptn filed, rejected]

Timen Wire & Cable Company 280 NLRB No. 083

[the critical period for second election commences as of the date of the first election]

La Reina, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 103

[pre-ptn for election conduct barred as basis for setting aside election]

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121

(election set aside where E's ULPs occurred during critical period; although most of E's unlawful conduct, consisting of promises and actual grants of increased benfits, took place during one meeting, E's president was involved and conduct was widely disseminated)

Pulman Del Mar Company 277 NLRB No. 011

(conduct before ptn for election or otherwise outside critical period not objectionable)

E. A. Nord Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 161

(ULPs occurring between date of filing of ptn and date of election considered in determining whether election should be set aside)

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198

(proposed amendment to C with respect to alleged unlawful assistance to U allowed, where amendment presented no allegations of conduct not otherwise alleged as unlawful in C; independent violations of Act, such as discriminatory discharges, may be found also violative of 8(a)(2) if evidence indicates such violations tend to encourage membership in rival U)

Fruehauf Corporation 274 NLRB No. 067

(the date a ptn for election is filed opens the critical preelection period for cases involving a stipulation for certification upon consent election and in cases where a decision and direction of election issues by a RD; further, although prepetition conduct may not be used as the basis for setting aside an election, such rule does not preclude consideration of such conduct insofar as it lends meaning and dimension to related postpetition conduct or assists in evaluating it)

0180-6700 Cut-off date

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198

(critical period for considering alleged objectionable conduct prior to election deemed to commence with filing of first ptn where, following dismissal of one competing U's ptn, it filed second ptn followed shortly thereafter by rival U's filing of its ptn whereupon RD revoked dismissal of first ptn and consolidated 3 peding ptns for hearing)

1400 STANDARD FOR ELECTION CONDUCT

1401 GENERALLY

Brink's Armored Car, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 016

[in assuring integrity of election process, Bd goes to great lengths to assure that manner in which elections are conducted raises no reasonable doubt as to their fairness or validity]

1401-1200 Parties' informal elections

1401-1200—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. L & B Cooling, Inc. 757 F.2d 236 (C.A. 10, Mar. 1985)

(majority status (of Ee bargaining representative) can be established by means other than NLRB-conducted election such as informal-election in instant case where with E present and consent, Ees secretly marked ballot yes or no and put ballot in hat)

1401-2500 ULP conduct a fortiori interference with election

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003

Exhaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012

[conduct violative of 8(a)(1) is, a fortiori, conduct which interferes with election results, unless unlawful conduct is so de minimis as to make it virtually impossible to conclude that violations could have affected results of election; and in determining whether conduct is de minimis, Bd takes into consideration number of violations, their severity, extent of dissemination, size of unit, and other relevant factors]

1401-5000 Laboratory conditions standard

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018

[where ALJ phrased necessity for second election in language customarily used in Gissel bargaining order case, Bd directed second election on basis of its finding that E's conduct destroyed laboratory conditions needed to ensure Ees' uninhibited choice of representative; Bd specifically noted that E's interrogation, threats of plant closure, threats of discharge, and solicitation of Ee to abandon U, constituting 8(a)(1) violations during critical period, were also basis of timely filed election objections]

Bekins Moving & Storage Co. 279 NLRB No. 109

[laboratory conditions not violated and objection to election overruled where Ees marked ballots at other than three-sided box which was the official designated voting place, absent evidence that ballots cast in election were not secret]

Brink's Armored Car, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 016

[danger that laboratory conditions surrounding election may be destroyed is greater in mail balloting situations than in manual elections because of absence of Bd supervision over Ees' voting]

Seaward International, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 130

(evaluated cumulatively, incidents involving threats and actions involving physical harm, disturbed laboratory conditions necessary for election; substantial increase in amount of graffiti both for and against U appearing on walls with names of Ees accompanied by epithets contributed, albeit less significantly, to generally coercive atmosphere; and because of seriousness of incidents, their proximity to election, occurrence in relatively small unit, and dissemination of incidents, election set aside)

N.L.R.B. v. Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 764 F.2d 729 (C.A. 9, June 1985)

(E's contention that Bd failed to evaluate crowd's chanting Vote Yes, Vote Yes for few minutes before opening of polls by general laboratory conditions standard, rejected since Bd's rule against electioneering at polling place is limited to times while polls are open and challenged conduct was not shown to be coercive or intimidating, denying voting Ees free and uninhibited choice)

1401-6700 Conduct objectionable which may reasonably be expected to have significant impact on election

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076

[no showing that U caused atmosphere of fear, confusion, and reprisal which pervaded whole organizing campaign by engaging in demonstration where no one from U or its agents present and demonstration was orderly and in no way affected hospital's operations or patient care]

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035

[supervisor's unlawful threat to Ee I guarantee E will shut down if U comes in did not warrant setting election aside, where only ULP in critical period, occured 1 month prior to election and no evidence remark was disseminated]

Sealcraft, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 044

[rule followed by both Bd and ct seems to be that mere imbalance of observers is a breach of election agreement which must be examined in context with circumstances of each case to determine if breach was prejudicial or material enough to require setting aside of election]

Gary Associated Industries, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 179

(Bd set election aside and directed that new election be held where interpreter arrived at voting place halfway through election period; this established sufficient prima facie proof of objectionable failure to assure Ees' effective and informed expression that was not rebutted by petitioner)

Rosehill Cemetery Association 275 NLRB No. 033

(in determining effect of E misconduct on results of election, Bd considers size of unit, closeness of vote, number of objectionable incidents, and extent to which reports of that misconduct are disseminated to unit Ees)

Labor Services, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 068

(on ct remand for hearing on objection that U interfered with election by buying voters drinks in adjacent bar before and during election, ct's opinion was observed as law of the case, in view of similarity of facts found before and after remand, and U's conduct found objectionable; ct was concerned with effects of U's conduct and its tendency to interfere with voter's free choice, not U's motive or voters' sobriety, and did not judge conduct's impropriety on basis of its cost or fact drinking occurred outside polling area, since voters took drinking's physical and psychological effects into voting area with them)

N.L.R.B. v. Horizon Air Services, Inc. 761 F.2d 22 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1985)

(E's coercive tactics coincident with U campaign w/i small unit of 12 Ees violative, since effect of E's ULPs was pervasive and exercised substantial impact upon possibility of an untainted election)

1401-6725 Impact on small unit

Rosehill Cemetery Association 275 NLRB No. 033

(in determining effect of E misconduct on results of election, Bd considers size of unit, closeness of vote, number of objectionable incidents, and extent to which reports of that misconduct are disseminated to unit Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Browning-Ferris Industries of Louisville, Inc. 803 F.2d 345 (C.A. 7, Oct. 1986)

[while small size of unit and closeness of election results may be relevant considerations in determining whether free choice interfered with, neither fact is sufficient to raise presumption that conduct had impact on election results. It has been held that the cumulative impact argument may not be used to turn a number of insubstantial objections to election into a serious challenge]

1401-6750 De minimis impact of conduct

La Salle Investment Co., Ltd., d/b/a Cafe La Salle 280 NLRB No. 043

[E's unlawful failure to prepare letter of recommendation for Ee held too minimal to have interfered with election, where challenge to Ee's ballot was sustained and Ee was therefore ineligible to vote, and there was no evidence that any other Ee learned of E's misconduct before voting]

Raritan Bay Medical Center a/k/a Perth Amboy General Hospital and Old Bridge Regional Hospital 279 NLRB No. 010

Exhaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012

[conduct violative of 8(a)(1) is, a fortiori, conduct which interferes with election results, unless unlawful conduct is so de minimis as to make it virtually impossible to conclude that violations could have affected results of election; and in determining whether conduct is de minimis, Bd takes into consideration number of violations, their severity, extent of dissemination, size of unit, and other relevant factors]

ATR Wire & Cable Co. v. N.L.R.B. 752 F.2d 201 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)

(minor property damage to antiU Ees' automobiles in E's parking lot insufficient to establish fear and coercion preventing fair election; only significant damage was not shown to have occurred in E's parking lot, and no proven damage was shown to be linked to U or proU Ees)

1401-7100 Subjective reaction of employees irrelevant

1401-7100 Subjective reaction of employees irrelevant

Hydro-Aire Division, Crane Co. 281 NLRB No. 133

[testimony concerning Ees' subjective reactions to conduct of E allegedly creating impression of surveillance held irrelevant]

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[in determining that altered facsimile ballot circulated by U was propaganda that did not mislead Ees, Bd noted that subjective reaction of Ees is irrelevant to question of whether there was, in fact, objectionable conduct; rather, issue is whether conduct, viewed objectively, warrants setting aside election]

Electro Food Machinery, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 040

[objective standard of whether conduct would reasonably tend to create general atmosphere of fear and reprisal rendering free election impossible, proper]

Monark Boat Company 276 NLRB No. 121

(in agreeing with ALJ's finding that no objectionable misconduct occurred as result of pro-U Ees' comments, Bd disavowed ALJ's reliance on witness' subjective impression of such conduct)

1401-7500 Atmosphere of fear and violence

Electro Food Machinery, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 040

[objective standard of whether conduct would reasonably tend to create general atmosphere of fear and reprisal rendering free election impossible, proper]

1401-7500—Cont.

Eskaton Sunrise Community — 279 NLRB No. 012

[supervisor's relating to Ees his past experience from prior employment about killing and mutilation of dog of supervisor's friend in order to discourage U activities held to sufice for finding interference]

L & J Equipment Company, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 074

[applying ct's agency test in its opinion on remand as law of the case, Bd held that statements by Ee organizing committee's chairman, found agent of U, concerning possible future violence on picket line, and his statement to Ee considered anti-U that he should sign U card to reduce U-related pressure, plus incidents not attributable to U, which included total destruction of E's vehicle by unknown persons, and various other conduct not attributable to U, had cumulative effect and combined to create coercive atmosphere interfering with Ees' free choice in election]

Monark Boat Company — 276 NLRB No. 121

(proper standard for finding objectionable conduct is whether atmosphere of fear and coercion had been created, and not whether conduct was intimidating, coercive, or a form of unlawful pressure)

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company — 275 NLRB No. 186

(in determining whether threat is serious enough so as to create general atmosphere of fear and reprisal that interfered with election, Bd evaluates nature of threat and surrounding circumstances such as whether it encompassed entire bargaining unit, was widely disseminated, person making threat was capable of carrying it out, it is likely Ees acted in fear of his capability of carrying it out, and threat was rejuvenated at or near time of election)

Saxward International, Inc. — 275 NLRB No. 130

(evaluated cumulatively, incidents involving threats and actions involving physical harm, disturbed laboratory conditions necessary for election; substantial increase in amount of graffiti both for and against U appearing on walls with names of Ees accompanied by epithets contributed, albeit less significantly, to generally coercive atmosphere; and because of seriousness of incidents, their proximity to election, occurrence in relatively small unit, and dissemination of incidents, election set aside)

Farmtronix — 274 NLRB No. 118

(remand for hearing on whether threats by pro-U Ees to blow up houses, beat up Ees and damage property, which E alleged as objections to election, created general atmosphere of fear of reprisal prior to election, since even accepting contention threats not attributable to U, there was sufficient evidence of widespread awareness of talk of violence, and in view of serious nature of alleged threats, which if proven, created atmosphere precluding free expression of choice)

RJR Archer, Inc., Filmco Division — 274 NLRB No. 049

(if Ees' choice is impeded by atmosphere of fear and coercion, it is not material that apprehension is created by Ees whose conduct cannot be attributed to either E or U)

RJR Archer, Inc., Filmco Division — 274 NLRB No. 049

(Ees' preelection statements threatening individual fellow EEs, who stated they were not going to vote for U, with property damage or physical violence held interference since threats, when viewed cumulatively, created atmosphere of fear and coercion, where threat of property damage was disseminated widely among Ees, and threat of express physical violence was compounded by receipt of anonymous telephone calls by threatened Ee who testified that he often told people that he had been threatened; in these circumstances, especially where election results were so close, Bd did not view election as reflecting Ees' choice)

Blue Island Newspaper Printing, Inc. — 273 NLRB No. 208

(no atmosphere of fear and reprisal created by U adherent's statements 1-1/2 weeks before, and morning of, election that he would take care of Ees voting no where statements were heard by two Ees at most, knowledge of them was not disseminated to other Ees, Ee was not especially capable of carrying out threat of physical harm, it was not likely that Ees acted in fear of his doing so, and only a supervisor heard threat when it was reiterated the morning of the election)

N.L.R.B. v. Monark Boat Company — 800 F.2d 191 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1986)

[E's contention that Bd should have applied party, rather than third-party, standard of review to conduct, because in-plant organizing committee members acted as U agents or alter egos, rejected where Bd found no connection between U and misconduct]

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. — 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(ct held ALJ's finding, affirmed by Bd, that there was no atmosphere of fear and coercion, did not lack support either in record or law, where ALJ found that any adverse effect resulting from U's letters to supervisors, inaccurately implying that criminal penalties could be imposed against them should any ULPs be committed, was neutralized by E's actions to correct misstatement regarding penalties for ULPs)

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. — 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(in keeping with ct's remand decision, ALJ properly considered totality of circumstances in determining whether fair and free election was held and concluded that alleged pre-election conduct by U and its supporters did not approach severity of conduct commemned in Bd cases, and that record herein fell far short of showing that U's conduct created atmosphere of fear and reprisal such as to render free expression of choice impossible)

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. — 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(while agreeing with findings of ALJ, affirmed by Bd, that alleged pre-election misconduct by U did not create atmosphere of fear and coercion warranting setting aside election, ct stated it was disturbed by acts of intimidation that occurred during election campaign, made clear its disapproval of such conduct, and observed that in R election neither E nor U can be allowed to engage with impunity in conduct that would subrent Ee free choice)

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. — 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(while agreeing with findings of ALJ, affirmed by Bd, that alleged pre-election misconduct by U did not create atmosphere of fear and coercion warranting setting aside election, ct stated that both Bd and reviewing cts must be vigilant in protecting right of workers freely to choose or reject a U and that, upon sufficient showing that Ee freedom to exercise meaningful choice has been undermined by whatever means, ct is prepared to set aside election results)

N.L.R.B. v. Chicago Metallic Corporation — 794 F.2d 527 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[election set aside where it was conducted in atmosphere of fear and reprisal exacerbated by fact that threats were made by domineering person perceived as supervisor in small unit and vote was relatively close]

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. — 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(in assessing whether there was atmosphere of fear and coercion depriving Ees of free and untrammeled choice for or against U representation, ct considered (1) whether evidence established fear in the mind of voters; (2) whether than fear affected their votes; and (3) whether, had it not been for the fear, results of election might have been different)

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. — 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(isolated, innocuous, and joking remarks not shown to have caused a change in an Ee's vote held insufficient to set aside election; decisive factor is not whether improprieties occurred during campaign, but whether challenged conduct produced such climate of tension and coercion that Ees were effectively precluded from making a free chocie)

1401-8700 Conduct must be attributable to party unless so disruptive as to preclude free expression of choice

Electra Food Machinery, Inc. — 279 NLRB No. 040

[appropriate criteria for judging threats when applying third-party standard are nature of threats and whether they encompassed entire unit, were widely disseminated, were made by persons capable of carrying them out, would be likely to cause Ee to act in fear of their being carried out, and were rejuvenated near time of election]

Farmtronix — 274 NLRB No. 118

(remand for hearing on whether threats by pro-U Ees to blow up houses, beat up Ees and damage property, which E alleged as objections to election, created general atmosphere of fear of reprisal prior to election, since even accepting contention threats not attributable to U, there was sufficient evidence of widespread awareness of talk of violence, and in view of serious nature of alleged threats, which if proven, created atmosphere precluding free expression of choice)

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. — JD-243-84

(Ee telling another Ee, who had yet to vote, Vote Yes, more money while rubbing thumb and fingers together, did not warrant setting aside election, since Ee urging yes vote was not agent of any party nor was he offering bribe, thus Milchem rule forbidding conversations between any party representative and voters waiting vote not applicable; nor could Ee's remark be construed as electioneering substantially impairing anyone's exercise of free choice)

N.L.R.B. v. Monark Boat Company — 800 F.2d 191 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1986)

[E's contention that Bd should have applied party, rather than third-party, standard of review to conduct, because in-plant organizing committee members acted as U agents or alter egos, rejected where Bd found no connection between U and misconduct]

1700 ABUSE OF, OR INTERFERENCE WITH, BOARD PROCESSES

Clark Equipment Company — 278 NLRB No. 085

[Ee relations director's statements to Ee that there was some question as to whether Bd subpoenas would be enforced and that compliance was up to Ee's discretion, violation and conduct affecting election, and employment relations manager's statements to him also violation and conduct interfering with election in that they falsely suggested that honoring subpoena was matter of discretion and subpoena could be ignored with impunity]

Clark Equipment Company — 278 NLRB No. 085

[E's notice stating that E took no position about Ees meeting with Bd and/or U representatives and signing papers, and that Ees had no legal obligation to do so, not violation or conduct interfering with election where notice was posted in response to Ees' inquiries, did not mischaracterize Bd's role, did not suggest E's disfavor over Ee's cooperating with Bd, and did not make false statements about Ees' obligation to go to meeting or sign papers]

Clark Equipment Company — 278 NLRB No. 085

[E's statements which denigrate Bd subpoenas and suggest that they need not be honored have only one purpose, to obstruct Bd investigation and presentation of cases and to interfere with Ees' Sec. 7 rights]

2100 SPEECHES TO MASSED EMPLOYEES WITHIN 24 HOURS OF ELECTION (PEERLESS PLYWOOD RULE)

Flex Products, Inc. — 280 NLRB No. 061

[E's holding individual meetings with Ees in plant manager's office 24 hours before election did not violate rule of Peerless Plywood, barring election speeches on company time to massed assemblies of Ees w/i 24 hours prior to election]

Flex Products, Inc. — 280 NLRB No. 061

[E's holding individual meetings with Ees in plant manager's office 24 hours before election, not objectionable, where E's stated purpose in so meeting was to give shy Ees a chance to ask questions about U if they were afraid to ask questions at mass meeting E held the prior day, E had on previous occasions talked to Ees in office, there was no evidence Ees were singled out for special pressure and although E's president urged Ees to vote no at end of meeting, such remarks do not constitute coercive or intimidating conduct]

2800 CONDUCT OF EMPLOYER

2801 GENERALLY

Mercy-Memorial Hospital — 279 NLRB No. 056

[Bd has frequently applied different standards in judging similar actions of E and U in recognition of difference in coercive impact of their actions on Ees]

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. — 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(while agreeing with findings of ALJ, affirmed by Bd, that alleged pre-election misconduct by U did not create atmosphere of fear and coercion warranting setting aside election, ct stated it was disturbed by acts of intimidation that occurred during election campaign, made clear its disapproval of such conduct, and observed that in R election neither E nor U can be allowed to engage with impunity in conduct that would subrent Ee free choice)

2808 FAVORITISM OR DECLARATIONS OF UNION PREFERENCE

2808-2500 Urging employees to vote for favored union

Palmas Del Mar Company — 277 NLRB No. 011

(urging Ees to abandon support for U they favored in election campaign and support and solicit other Ees to form an organization to campaign for and support U favored by E, unlawful and objectionable support of U)

2812 CAMPAIGNING ON WORK TIME WHILE DENYING EMPLOYEES SAME OPPORTUNITY

Scientific Atlanta, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 069

[E allowing distribution of anti-U literature during worktime and denying that right to U supporters, requiring Ees to disseminate anti-U material, telling Ee he would be sorry he got involved with U and telling Ees that U had already hurt them by holding back benefits, all done during critical period, objectionable and election set aside, since a significant number of Ees were affected by conduct where E's conduct was discussed among a minimum of 340 Ees out of a unit of 1934 Ees and was thus, not de minimus]

2816 ADDRESSING OR INTERVIEWING EMPLOYEES

2816-2500 Statements to employees individually or in groups

Flex Products, Inc. — 280 NLRB No. 061

[E's holding individual meetings with Ees in plant manager's office 24 hours before election, not objectionable, where E's stated purpose in so meeting was to give shy Ees a chance to ask questions about U if they were afraid to ask questions at mass meeting E held the prior day, E had on previous occasions talked to Ees in office, there was no evidence Ees were singled out for special pressure and although E's president urged Ees to vote no at end of meeting, such remarks do not constitute coercive or intimidating conduct]

Decasper Corporation — 278 NLRB No. 022

[E approaching Ees during polling period and asking them to vote for E and E's president asking Ees to remember his face when they voted, not such interference that would warrant setting aside election since restrictions on election day limited to captive Ee audiences and sustained conversations]

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. — 277 NLRB No. 124

(objections to election properly overruled only to extent they alleged E had conversations with Ees about U in working areas on working time, including day of election; see Land O'Frost of Arkansas, 251 NLRB 1)

2820 POLLING EMPLOYEES

Kusan Manufacturing Company, a division of Kusan, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. — 749 F.2d 362 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)

(no per se proscription regarding pre-election polling of Ees by U as there is if done by E because of disparity between disruptive powers of E and those of U, and such polling by U only becomes impermissable if, in fact, it was coercive and in fact influenced result of election)

2824 INTERROGATION

The Gerkin Co. — 279 NLRB No. 136

[E's highest officer's singling out one Ee at Ee meeting and asking him if it was correct that U had made promise of certain wages and bonus to Ees, asking Ee exactly what business representative had said, and asking, you were there, weren't you? violation and interference]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 154

Clark Equipment Company — 278 NLRB No. 085

[asking Ee day before election why he supported U and whether it could give raises, not violation where Ee was open and active U adherent, who wore U button and passed out U leaflets and cards on E's premises, and surrounding circumstances were not coercive]

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. — 277 NLRB No. 124

(E's interrogation of Ees of how they planned to vote in election held unlawful and interference with election)

National Micronetics, Inc. — 277 NLRB No. 095

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. — 277 NLRB No. 017

Goodman Holding Company, Inc., and Its Wholly-Owned Subsidiaries, Goodman Manufacturing Corp., etc. — 276 NLRB No. 098

(election set aside where E interrogated Ees during critical period on whether they were going to vote for or against the U)

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant — 276 NLRB No. 087

(E's conduct at meeting with Ees asking Ee if he gave out U cards on company time held interference where interrogation occurred in front of nearly one-half of Ee unit)

Naval Color Corporation — 276 NLRB No. 061

(election set aside and new election directed where E interrogated 3 Ees in a formal setting concerning their U sympathies, threatened Ee with loss of his job if the U were selected and the intensity of E's anti-U campaign made it highly probable that statements were transmitted to the entire unit)

Okun Brothers Shoe Store, Inc. — 275 NLRB No. 145

(supervisor's asking Ee how many Ees had signed up for U, coercive and objectionable in view of E's active opposition to U, lack of reason for supervisor's question, and fact it was oblique inquiry as to how active Ee was in organizing drive)

Rosehill Cemetery Association — 275 NLRB No. 033

(election set aside where assistant manager asked Ee during election campaign if he knew something about the Union and asked same Ee about 2 weeks before election if he had seen anyone putting U cards on car windshield)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. — 274 NLRB No. 105

(E's president's calling various Ees into his office singly and asking them how they thought other Ees felt about the U, if a certain Ee had anything to do with the U campaign, and if they knew who was starting it found violation and objectionable conduct)

2824—Cont.

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105
(E's president's calling Ee into his office and asking if U representatives had been to her house and why she had not refused to speak to them, violative and objectionable conduct)

Commercial Property Services, Inc. JD-(NY)-80-86
[E's consultant's asking Ee during week of election what she felt were advantages of U, what U could provide, and what E was not providing, not unlawful nor interference with election, where there was absences of U hostility, questions were general and non threatening, and E had told Ee that her job would not be jeopardized if she voted for U]

2827 SOLICITATION OF GRIEVANCES

American Laser Corporation 280 NLRB No. 067
[personnel manager conducting individual interviews with Ees during critical period constituted solicitation of grievances and objectionable where she asked Ees if they had any complaints or suggestions notwithstanding manager did not make any express promises of corrective action, since no past practice of conducting this sort of interviews, and at no time did manager dispel Ees' beliefs that corrective action on their grievances would be forthcoming by announcing that she could not make any promises or committments concerning grievances. Therefore, there is compelling inference that manager is implicitly promising to correct inequities discovered]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[solicitation of grievances, violation and interference]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(soliciting Ee grievances during campaign so as to adjust them, violation and interference)

Okun Brothers Shoe Store, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 145
(questioning of Ees about their problems by members of consulting firm hired by E in response to U campaign, unlawful and objectionable solicitation of grievance where it carried inference of implicit promise to correct problems, and consultants suggested Ee handbook as specific solution to problems)

Clare Community Hospital 273 NLRB No. 218
(pre-election letter to Ees from Task Force of supervisors created to improve communication between E, Ees, and supervisors and to assure Ees of access to facts about U and answer Ees' questions not interference, in absence of solicitation of greivances, promise of benefits, or significant alteration in past method of communication)

Anchorage Times Publishing Company JD-(SF)-86-86
[E's soliciting and promising to remedy its Ees' grievances to influence Ee votes at election, violative and interference]

Collins Industries, Inc. JD-33-86
[where E solicits grievances there is at least implied promise to remedy them which is unlawful unless there is past practice of solicitation such that implied promise to remedy grievance is not change and not grant of new benefit; moreover, such conduct can affect election and, occurring between time ptn was filed and election, is basis for setting aside election]

2832 DISCRIMINATORY TREATMENT OR THREAT THEREOF

Lynn-Edwards Corp. 282 NLRB No. 007
[E's statements that Ees covered by U-negotiated contracts could not participate in Ee stock ownership plan, and E's maintenance of such restrictive provisions in the plan's governing document, violation and election interference]

Judy Hornby Designs, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 168
[bargaining order not required to remedy threat made to U representative and overheard by Ee and later dissiminated by U official to 4 other Ees--there was a total of 7 unit Ees--that E would close the plant before recognizing or having anything to do with U, as remark was heated and isolated reaction to forcible entry by U representative unto its premises rather than calculated threat to unit Ees that would tend to undermine majority strength and impede election process]

Futuramik Industries, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 021
[E's agent, who was fellow Ee, threatening to report certain Ees to Immigration Service if Ees chose U representation, objectionable and if U loses election, it shall be set aside, where comments were made either on election day or shortly before and at least 10 or 20 Ees heard comments; farther, statements do not lose coercive effect merely because there is no direct evidence that some Ees were illegal aliens]

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[Bd ordered revised tally of ballots and if U lost election, RD was directed to set election aside and direct new election where E discharged U supporter during critical period and announced new rule changes detrimental to Ee during critical period]

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 013
[interference where supervisor told Ees they would never receive shifts that they desired to obtain]

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[supervisor's telling Ee that it wasn't healthy for Ee to continue her U activities and threatening another Ee with loss of employment for her U activities held interference]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[discriminatorily isolating Ee to discourage support of U, interference]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[searching of U supporters by plant guards as they came to work, interference]

Scientific Atlanta, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 069
[E allowing distribution of anti-U literature during worktime and denying that right to U supporters, requiring Ees to disseminate anti-U material, telling Ee he would be sorry he got involved with U and telling Ees that U had already hurt them by holding back benefits, all done during critical period, objectionable and election set aside, since a significant number of Ees were affected by conduct where E's conduct was discussed among a minimum of 340 Ees out of a unit of 1934 Ees and was thus, not de minimus]

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[asking E why she wanted U while in same conversation reminding Ee she had recently had two days off to participate in arts and crafts fair with implication that such favors might be imperialed by her U adherence, unlawful and warranted setting aside of election]

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[setting aside election warranted where E's president stated he knew who U organizers were and suggested that they leave facility, and that E's board of directors would institute layoffs or close company if U came in since E would not be competitive]

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171
[telling Ee that if U did come in, she would be out of a job, violation and interference]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(threatening Ees with discharge for signing U authorization cards, unless they later retrieved them, and for voting for U in election, violation and interference)

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 134
(threatening Ees with job loss once the U matter was over, occurring w/i critical period held interference)

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 134
(E's statements to known leading U supporter that he wished Ee would screw up or ruin something so that E could get rid of the problem held unlawful and interference with election since use of euphemism problem clearly indicated genesis of threat was Ee's organizing activities)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(threatening not to promote Ees if U won election, violation and interference)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(threatening Ees with stricter job classifications and denial of interdepartmental transfers if U became bargaining representative, violation and interference)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(telling Ees that they had forfeited chances of advancement by engaging in U activities, violation and interference)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(threatening to obtain U cards signed by Ees even if E had to pay for them and to fire signers, violative and objectionable)

Hy's of Chicago, Ltd. 276 NLRB No. 113
(discharge of two U activists, assertedly for being involved in fight, held interference and violative where they were discharged because of their efforts to organize Ees)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(E's discriminatory evaluation of Ee's job performance held not interference, where neither Ee nor any other unit Ee was aware of such evaluation during critical pre-election period, and allegation that evaluation was discriminatory was not made until hearing when C was amended)

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant 276 NLRB No. 087
(discharge of Ee motivated by his protected concerted activity in criticizing E for its alleged discriminatory treatment against Hispanics held unlawful and interference where E stated he discharged Ee because he called me prejudiced. I considered it an insult, thereby admitting Ee's remarks motivated his discharge)

2832—Cont.

Noral Color Corporation 276 NLRB No. 061
(election set aside and new election directed where E interrogated 3 Ees in a formal setting concerning their U sympathies, threatened Ee with loss of his job if the U were selected and the intensity of E's anti-U campaign made it highly probable that statements were transmitted to the entire unit)

Jean Foust, Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Regency Manor Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 171
(telling Ees during U campaign that E would build a case against U sympathizers in order to get rid of them, violative and objectionable)

Okun Brothers Shoe Store, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 145
(supervisor's threatening Ees with reduction of hours if they voted U in, violative and objectionable)

Glover Bottled Gas Corp. 275 NLRB No. 096
(unlawful discharges for U activities by E found grounds for setting aside elections at two other Es where Es were found to constitute single E with fourth E)

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198
(discriminatory transfer of driver from short haul to long haul runs for exercising U's and driver's protected right to protest payment of driver loading and unloading fee held interference, since transfer intimidated other Ees from actively supporting U or positions taken by U and constituted kind of conduct which adversely affected U)

Collins Industries, Inc. JD-33-86
[E's speech to Ees day before election held interference in view of totality of speech in which E suggested futility of Ees' voting for U and implying closure of plant if Ees did so; during election campaign E has duty not to threaten Ees should they vote against his wishes; and E, having economically superior position to Ees, has, or is perceived to have, power to make good on its threats]

Collins Industries, Inc. JD-33-86
[election set aside in view of E's hallmark violations consisting of E's vitriolic anti-U speech to Ees which amply demonstrated to Ees futility of selecting U as their representative and implied much more harsh consequences such as plant closure; moreover, anti-U campaign by E's management officials, although involving less serious violations, reached virtually all unit Ees]

2835 PREDICTION OF DETRIMENTAL RESULTS OF UNIONIZATION

Diner's Drive-In, Inc. and Diner's Drive-In Kaaumoku, Inc., Jointly 280 NLRB No. 111
[E's telling Ees through a letter enclosed with their paychecks prior to election, that the last thing E needed was something that would put us over the edge and might require us to close our doors permanently, objectionable and election set aside, since overall thrust of letter was to bring Ees' attention to possible adverse consequences of unionization. E's referral to something as putting E over the edge was intended to refer to unionization]

Diner's Drive-In, Inc. and Diner's Drive-In Kaaumoku, Inc., Jointly 280 NLRB No. 111
[E's reference to the bad economy and the possibility that the business may close, held objectionable and election set aside, since E made no correlation, as he is permitted to do, between possible adverse economic consequences of unionization and the closing of his business; E's statements crossed the line between advising Ees of potential adverse consequences of unionization and an implied threat of the likelihood that business would close since E's predictions were not accompanied by any references to U's demand for higher wages and the impact on E of trying to meet such demands]

FGI Fibers, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 054
[not objectionable where E told Ees that there would not be anymore open door policy if U was voted in because they would have to go through U procedures, would have to deal with Ees through shop steward, as E free to tell Ees about changes in its open door policy which will result from selection of bargaining representative. No negative inference should be drawn from E's failure to inform Ees that they still had right to present their grievances w/o U interference]

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035
[supervisor's unlawful threat to Ee I guarantee E will shut down if U comes in did not warrant setting election aside, where only ULP in critical period, occured 1 month prior to election and no evidence remark was disseminated]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[threat of layoffs and discharges, violative and interference]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[threats of strikes, violation and interference]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[E's statements found lawful and unobjectionable presentation of economic realities of unionization rather than unlawful threat of inevitability of strikes where they pointed out possibility of strikes and fact U could only try to force certain conditions by striking]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statement referring to job security and plant closure, not violation or conduct interfering with election where they were not made in context of threats of loss of benefits, inevitability of strikes and futility of electing U]

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[setting aside election warranted where E's president stated he knew who U organizers were and suggested that they leave facility, and that E's board of directors would institute layoffs or close company if U came in since E would not be competitive]

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[no interference that would warrant setting aside election where E's president stated he would not be able to meet payroll and would have to close plant if production did not increase]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(threats of loss of benefits if U was elected, violation and interference)

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124
(E's statements to Ees that E's customers had stated they would stop sending work to E's repair facility if it became organized held interference)

Palmas Del Mar Company 277 NLRB No. 011
(E's telling Ees in remarks, speech, letters, and notice in their paycheck that if they voted for disfavored U, interested purchaser would not buy the business, E would have to close it, and they would lose their jobs found unlawful and objectionable election conduct)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105
(no violation or objectionable conduct by E's distributing to its Ees a letter in which another E's Ee recounted his past personal experience with unionization; E's apprising Ees of others' experience and opinions did not predict or threaten retaliatory conduct by E and was intended to enable Ees to make informed decision)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105
(no unlawful threat of Ees' loss of right to speak directly with management upon unionization or objectionable conduct by E's distributing to Ees another E's Ee's letter recounting his past personal experience with and opinion about unionization in which he stated that, once a U came in, it did the talking whereas now Ees could discuss differences with management on one-to-one basis)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105
(cumulative effect of E's literature and consultant's speech, not unlawful threat of job loss and objectionable conduct; Ee's letter describing post-unionization layoffs due to higher wages was personal experience; lawfully posted newspaper article describing strikers' hardships not support for broader violation; trade journal article about store closings and Ees' letter asking help in keeping jobs merely described economic conditions; Ee's letter about U focused on Ee-U relations not store closings; and consultant's speech about store closings and striking stated economic realities)

Tri-Cast, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 059
(E's letter stating that as a young company it could not afford to lose business and jobs by having to make higher bids than before or having its customers feel threatened due to U strikes and could not stay healthy if it lost flexibility due to U restrictions, not objectionable, since E's comments contained no threat of retaliation but merely pointed out reasonably possible results of unionization in moderate tone)

Western Waste Industries, Inc. of Florida 274 NLRB No. 035
(asking Ees how they felt about U and at same time threatening that if U came in Ees would have to contribute to insurance premium payments and pay for uniforms, and that E would cut back to minimum wage, violative and warranted setting aside election where threats took place during critical period)

2837 SHOWING MOVIES, SLIDE PRESENTATIONS, ETC.

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(setting aside of election not warranted where E showed Ees documentary film Strike Town USA, with question and answer period following film, and personnel manager stated no one wanted strike situation, since unlawful prediction made and Ees free choice not negated where film depicted anatomy of labor dispute which depiction was privileged under Section 8(c))

2839 WAGE INCREASES AND OTHER BENEFITS, OR PROMISES THEREOF

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110
[promising Ee, who was father of son in layoff status, that E would recall son to work if father voted for company, unlawful]

2839—Cont.

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(election set aside where E made implied promises of increased benefits and unilaterally announced new benefit program prior to election)

2839-1700 Statements concerning benefits

Playboy Elsinor Associates, t/a Playboy Hotel & Casino 281 NLRB No. 159
[E's announcing to Ees, during critical period new, and improved Ee health insurance benefits and new in-house medical testing, objectionable]

Playboy Elsinor Associates, t/a Playboy Hotel & Casino 281 NLRB No. 159
[reminder, during critical period to E's part-time Ees (a new category of Ees hired during critical period) to sign up for health and other benefits not violative or objectionable where testimony showed that part-time Ees had been told when interviewed that they could sign up for such benefits]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements that E building management team and had developed program to improve conditions found permissible reminder of existing good conditions and of improvements started before election campaign and appeal for Ees' confidence, rather than unlawful and objectionable promise of improved benefits if Ees rejected U]

Duo-Fast Corporation 278 NLRB No. 010
[E's leaflets comparing U represented Ees' benefits with non U benefits offered by E, not interference, since leaflets were not per se objectionable, contained explicit disclaimer, which was repeated orally in meetings with Ees, and were unacccompanied by other interference]

Duo-Fast Corporation 278 NLRB No. 010
[E's explaining to Ees that there would be no gap in medical insurance coverage if Ees voted U out, not interference where made in response to Ees' questions and unaccompanied by promise of benefits or other interference]

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(E's asking Ees for another chance and more time, held too vague to rise to level of illegal promise of benefits or objectionable conduct where E made no specific promise but merely expressed general desire to do better)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(impliedly promising benefits to dissuade Ees from supporting U, interference)

Jean Foust, Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Regency Manor Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 171
(telling Ees during U campaign that E would do more for Ees after the building mortgage was paid off in 10 years, violative and objectionable)

Clare Community Hospital 273 NLRB No. 218
(pre-election letter to Ees from Task Force of supervisors created to improve communication between E, Ees, and supervisors and to assure Ees of access to facts about U and answer Ees' questions not interference, in absence of solicitation of greivances, promise of benefits, or significant alteration in past method of communication)

2839-2500 Offer of or promotion to supervisor to preclude voting in election

Jean Foust, Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Regency Manor Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 171
(promoting several Ees in small unit to supervisory positions during critical period, assertedly to comply with state law, violative and objectionable, since real reason was to disenfranchise active U supporters, where state law did not in fact support E's position and even though job descriptions of Ees promoted would indicate supervisory status, those promoted did not in fact exercise any supervisory duties but rather performed same job as in the past)

2839-3300 To unit employees

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003
[election set aside, and new election ordered, in view of E's unlawful granting of wage increases]

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(improving working conditions including new parking lot, new lighting, and picnic tables did not warrant setting aside election, since improvements were planned whether or not U came in, because of company growth rather than motivated by U animus)

2839-3333 Preceding election

Ward Trucking Corp. 281 NLRB No. 083
[objection that E allowed newly transferred Ees to live in company house at very reduced rent in exchange for yard and maintenance work in order to influence their votes, overruled, since E's actions not departure from past practice of paying boarding expenses for newly transferred Ees, and by company house rental arrangement E reduced motel expenditures while providing housing needs; further, E's decision to obtain company house which resulted in Ees having to pay rent and perform chores for less desirable living arrangements than motel was not reasonably calculated to influence election result]

Ward Trucking Corp. 281 NLRB No. 083
[E providing newly transferred Ee payment for meals and lodging on open end basis, notwithstanding Ee had use of E's property to park camper, plus expenses for weekly return home, not sustained as objection, since benefits granted were not departure from E's past practice, nor was finding of objectionable conduct reasonably calculated to influence election warranted by fact benefits open ended or that Ee paid benefits while living in trailer where Ees had previously been paid for expenses which they did not actually incur]

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035
[unlawful wage increase that was announced and effective prior to critical preelection period, but actually received by Ees after ptn filed, could not serve as basis for setting aside election, notwithstanding E referred to wage increase in post ptn letter to Ees, where letter included references to wage increases of prior years with no emphasis on current increase; contention Scott Glass Products 261 NLRB 906 modified Ideal Electric 134 NLRB 1275 to allow consideration of prepetion wage increase which was not actually received by Ees until after ptn filed, rejected]

La Salle Investment Co., Ltd., d/b/a Cafe La Salle 280 NLRB No. 043
[unlawful preelection grant of benefits to Ees in form of complimentary coupons as part of promotional program, affecting substantial number of unit Ees held interference with laboratory conditions which Bd requires for election]

Delta Data Systems Corp. 279 NLRB No. 169
[preelection grant of benefits including relaxed lateness policy, no use of timeclock at lunch time, and establishment of Ee grievance committee, violative and interfered with election, notwithstanding E claim that changes had been under consideration prior to U campaign, where changes were not scheduled or implemented until after U drive began and were announced at meeting during which E president expressed anti-U animus]

Beverly Enterprises d/b/a Leisure Lodge 279 NLRB No. 049
[E's announcement of wage increase at anti-U meeting one week prior to election, objectionable and election set aside, where, although Ees were told some 5 months previously that increase may be granted if E received increase in Medicaid reimbursements, wage increase was precipitously announced 1 week before E officially received word of reimbursement; further, fact that wage increase was announced statewide and not just in voting unit was irrelevant, since E was aware of pending election and made decision to implement wage increase notwithstanding the election]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[announcement and implementation of new job evaluation system resulting in wage increase and institution of new wage rate on election day, not violation or conduct interfering with election where implementation was already planned and Ees informed of its imminent announcement when U filed request to proceed]

Duo-Fast Corporation 278 NLRB No. 010
[E's leaflets comparing U represented Ees' benefits with non U benefits offered by E, not interference, since leaflets were not per se objectionable, contained explicit disclaimer, which was repeated orally in meetings with Ees, and were unacccompanied by other interference]

Duo-Fast Corporation 278 NLRB No. 010
[E's explaining to Ees that there would be no gap in medical insurance coverage if Ees voted U out, not interference where made in response to Ees' questions and unaccompanied by promise of benefits or other interference]

Duo-Fast Corporation 278 NLRB No. 010
[paying Ees bonus during pre election period, not interference where payment was made pursuant to past practice and pattern discernible both as to timing and amount and w/o mention of election]

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121
(election set aside where E's ULPs occurred during critical period; although most of E's unlawful conduct, consisting of promises and actual grants of increased benfits, took place during one meeting, E's president was involved and conduct was widely disseminated)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(distributing discount coupons to Ees to create impression of providing benefits and dissuade Ees from supporting U, violation and interference)

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(giving two Ees out of unit of 200 raises during critical pre-election period did not warrant setting election aside, since raises not given for purpose of influencing vote in election)

ARA Services Inc. & Its Wholly Owned Subsidiaries, Terminal Newsstands, Inc. & Terminal Shops, Inc., d/b/a AERO Enterprises, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 044 (wage raise granted by E to unit Ees 19 days prior to Bd election not objectionable where: (1) E had committed itself to raise prior to U's filing R ptn, (2) raise given on same day as previous wage increase, 1 year ago, and as result of wage survey, (3) increase was w/i range under consideration prior to R ptn, and (4) E's unambiguous statements regarding time and amount of increase preclude conclusion that E sought to affect election results)

2839-3333—Cont.

Southern Maryland Hospital Center v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 666 (C.A. 4, Sept. 1986)

[reinstitution of Ee of the Month award and offering $100 to winner each month during pre-election period not violative in view of both length of U's (approximately 13 months) organizational drive and large number of hospital Ees (approximately 1300). Designation of one individual as Ee of month can not reasonably be said to be so significant as to influence in any way attitude of Ees or outcome of election]

2839-6700 To employees in other plants or units not seeking representation

Beverly Enterprises d/b/a Leisure Lodge 279 NLRB No. 049

[E's announcement of wage increase at anti-U meeting one week prior to election, objectionable and election set aside, where, although Ees were told some 5 months previously that increase may be granted if E received increase in Medicaid reimbursements, wage increase was precipitously announced 1 week before E officially received word of reimbursement; further, fact that wage increase was announced statewide and not just in voting unit was irrelevant, since E was aware of pending election and made decision to implement wage increase notwithstanding the election]

2843 DENIAL OR WITHHOLDING OF WAGE INCREASE OR OTHER BENEFITS, OR THREATS THEREOF

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136

[telling Ees that E could not carry out its intent to improve health insurance coverage until after election, violation and interference]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085

[E statements that bargaining means putting everything on the table including present benefits and that ct decision had upheld E's right to inform Ees that E need not agree to continue existing wages and benefits, found accurate reflection of obligations and possibilities of bargaining process rather than unlawful and objectionable implied threat to take away benefits or bargain regressively if U won]

Unionstown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144

(threatening Ees with loss of scheduled wage increase, violation and interference)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095

(threat to discontinue benefits if E had to bargain with U, interference)

Goodman Holding Company, Inc., and Its Wholly-Owned Subsidiaries, Goodman Manufacturing Corp., etc. 276 NLRB No. 098

(E's telling group of Ees during critical period that a proposed individual incentive pay plan would be subject to negotiation if U was certified, not violative or objectionable, since E's statement was an accurate reflection of E's duty to bargain in good faith with a successful U and there was no evidence E threatened to freeze wages or conditioned pay plan upon defeat of the U)

Western Waste Industries, Inc. of Florida 274 NLRB No. 035

(asking Ees how they felt about U and at same time threatening that if U came in Ees would have to contribute to insurance premium payments and pay for uniforms, and that E would cut back to minimum wage, violative and warranted setting aside election where threats took place during critical period)

2843-5000 Placing onus for withholding on union

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136

[telling Ees that traditional wage increase was frozen during U organization campaign, violation and interference, since statement was contrary to well established rule that during preelection period E must grant or withhold benefits as if U were not in picture]

Scientific Atlanta, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 069

[E allowing distribution of anti-U literature during worktime and denying that right to U supporters, requiring Ees to disseminate anti-U material, telling Ee he would be sorry he got involved with U and telling Ees that U had already hurt them by holding back benefits, all done during critical period, objectionable and election set aside, since a significant number of Ees were affected by conduct where E's conduct was discussed among a minimum of 340 Ees out of a unit of 1934 Ees and was thus, not de minimus]

2847 RULES RESTRICTING UNION ACTIVITY (See also 512-5012)

2847-3300 No distribution, no solicitation

FGI Fibers, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 054

[promulgation of no-solicitation rule during critical period that would prevent Ees from talking about U at their work stations, held interference, since no such rule prior to U campaign and no evidence such conversations caused any disruption of work that would justify such ban]

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136

[describing solicitation and distribution of literature in handbook as areas of behavior which require special attention, violation and interference, notwithstanding absence of stated penalties in handbook, where E indicated that it considered Ees doing either one anywhere on its premises to be misconduct]

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[objection to election on ground E had in effect invalid no-distribution rule, overruled where, following incident involving supervisor's assertedly confiscatory removal of U literature from table in break room, E indicated Ees were not prohibited from distributing or reading U literature in break area during break period, U supporters did in fact distribute U literature in E's parking lot and break room, and it was unlikely isolated incident involving removal of single piece of U literature had significant impact on outcome of election]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154

[telling Ees they could not discuss U on their own time on E's property, violation and interference]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085

[interfering with distribution of literature in non-work areas during non-work time, violative and objectionable where Ees were told they could not distribute literature at plant entrance but would have to go to plant gate, and two Ees were threatened with arrest and escorted by security guards to plant gate]

Unionstown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144

(no-solicitation no-distribution policy, violation and interference where it applied to hospital's main lobby, cafeteria and gift shop, since solicitation and distribution there would not have interfered with patient care, but was not found violation or interference as to corridors, since solicitation or distribution there might have disrupted patient care)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095

(telling Ee she could not talk U on breaks, violation and interference)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136

(although E's conduct of maintaining and enforcing overly broad no-distribution rule was unlawful, such conduct held de minimis and not interference with election, where E subsequently granted Ees specific authorization to distribute U literature in non-work areas on non-work time, and thereafter, during more than 5-week period between E's authorization and election, there was no further interference by E to U distributions on its premises)

2847-5000 Restriction on use of bulletin board

Health Care and Retirement Corporation of America, d/b/a Heartland of Keyser 278 NLRB No. 026

(E's instituting a no-posting policy prohibiting any and all Ee postings on bulletin board, occurring 2 weeks before U filed ptn for election but after U organizing began and which was not in accordance with previous Es policy allowing all postings, and then modifying policy 3 weeks before election to allow all types of literature to be posted for 3 or 4 days, not objectionable conduct, where under both policies E treated anti-U and pro-U literature the same, Ees were assured opportunity to see U literature 3 weeks before election and there was no evidence U was unable to communicate with Ees)

2847-8400 Requiring removal of union insignia

Unionstown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144

(ordering Ees to remove U buttons as violation of dress code, violation and interference where E allowed Ees to wear other insignia, such as Christmas and Easter pins and football insignia)

2855 SURVEILLANCE OR IMPRESSION THEREOF

Hydro-Aire Division, Crane Co. 281 NLRB No. 133

[E's impoundment, pursuant to valid property-pass rule, of Ee's pro-U documents containing confidential annotated voters' list held not to have created impression of surveillance interfering with election, where E was oblivious to presence of list when it initially impounded documents; U failed to prove that presence of management representative when impoundment took place was unusual, deliberate or in any way related to election or Ees' U activities; and delay occurring before Ee reclaimed list was insignificant and not attributable to E's knowledge of documents' contents]

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084

[E's security guards' observation of Ees' handbilling at gate to E's premises neither violative nor objectionable where area was open to public]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154

[telling Ee that E knew he was one of U leaders, violation and interference, notwithstanding Ee wore U insignia, where many Ees did so, and wearing U insignia did not designate Ee as leader of U organizing]

Unionstown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144

(telling Ee that coordinators had been instructed to watch for anyone who was soliciting or was involved with the U, violation and interference)

2855-3300 Recruiting employees for surveillance

2855-3300—Cont.

Delta Data Systems Corp. 279 NLRB No. 169
[E request that Ee attend U meeting and give E list of Ees attending, violation and election interference]

2855-6700 Informing employees of surveillance

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[no unlawful or objectionable impression of surveillance created by foreman's statement that he had heard U meetings were not well attended and that U had collected 500 cards or by supervisor's remarking on Ee's open distribution of leaflets and commenting that he was disappointed in Ee]

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[impression created where E's president informed Ees he might attend U meeting and warranted setting aside of election]

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[setting aside election warranted where E's president stated he knew who U organizers were and suggested that they leave facility, and that E's board of directors would institute layoffs or close company if U came in since E would not be competitive]

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(creating impression of surveillance by stating Ee had been fingered as having talked with U, interference)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(indicating to Ee that E knew identities of Ees who were for and against U, objectionable)

2862 VARIOUS ULP's DURING CRITICAL PERIOD

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003
[election set aside and new election ordered, in view of extensive violations of Section 8(a)(1), including promise of benefits, interrogation, and promulgation of unlawful no solicitation rule]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[where ALJ phrased necessity for second election in language customarily used in Gissel bargaining order case, Bd directed second election on basis of its finding that E's conduct destroyed laboratory conditions needed to ensure Ees' uninhibited choice of representative; Bd specifically noted that E's interrogation, threats of plant closure, threats of discharge, and solicitation of Ee to abandon U, constituting 8(a)(1) violations during critical period, were also basis of timely filed election objections]

Beverly Enterprises - Indiana, Inc. d/b/a Fountainview Place 281 NLRB No. 008
[election set aside and case referred to RD for further proceedings, in view of ULPs committed by E including discriminatory transfers to different department and shift, threat of discharge, and threats that bargaining would start from scratch]

Products Unlimited Corp. 280 NLRB No. 041
[setting aside of election warranted in view of E's unlawful discharge, refusal to promote, refusal to permit display of anti-U posters, and interrogation during critical period]

La Salle Investment Co., Ltd., d/b/a Cafe La Salle 280 NLRB No. 043
[E's unlawful failure to prepare letter of recommendation for Ee held too minimal to have interfered with election, where challenge to Ee's ballot was sustained and Ee was therefore ineligible to vote, and there was no evidence that any other Ee learned of E's misconduct before voting]

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110
[unlawful interrogation of, and promises of benefit to, Ees; soliciting Ees to engage in surveillance of U meetings, creating impression of surveillance of Ees' U activity, and verbally abusing Ees because of U sympathies and activities held interference]

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a La Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[Bd ordered revised tally of ballots and if U lost election, RD was directed to set election aside and direct new election where E discharged U supporter during critical period and announced new rule changes detrimental to Ee during critical period]

Exkaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[interference where E committed numerous violations of 8(a)(1), including threats of loss of employment, threats of discrimination as to shift assignment, and surveillance and interrogation of Ees]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[establishment of grievance committee and new grievance procedure, violation and interference]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[telling Ee to vote no in election, violation and interference]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[threats of loss of work, violation and interference]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[interfering with distribution of literature in non-work areas during non-work time, violative and objectionable where Ees were told they could not distribute literature at plant entrance but would have to go to plant gate, and two Ees were threatened with arrest and escorted by security guards to plant gate]

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[setting aside of election warranted in view of various violations of Section 8(a)(1) during critical period including interrogation, creating impression of surveillance and threats]

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[setting aside of election warranted in view of various violations of Section 8(a)(1) during critical period, including creating impression of surveillance, unlawful promising and granting of benefits, maintenance of overly broad rules which interfered with Section 7 rights and discriminatory enforcement of rules]

Local Lodge No. 1198, District Lodge No. 99, Machinists (Interstate Food Processing Corp.) 278 NLRB No. 025
[U's demand of members and nonmembers, that they pay initiation fees, reinstatement fees or dues and agency fees and E's subsequent discharge of Ees pursuant to U's demand for Ees' non-payment of fees, violative and deauthorization election which U won set aside, since members and non-members were under no obligation to pay such fees at time demand was made where U's old contract had expired and 30 day statutory period in 8(a)(3), under a new contract U had signed, had not yet run]

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171
[telling Ees it was futile to select a U because E would never agree to dues checkoff, violation and interference]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(E's agent's threatening part-time Ees with loss of flexibility as to days and hours when they could work, violation and interference)

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(threats that electing U would be futile, interference)

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(soliciting retrieval of U authorization cards and informing Ees of procedure to follow in doing so, violation and interference)

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(threats of disciplinary action for violationof unlawfully broad no-solicitation policy and of discriminatorily enforced dress code, violations and interference)

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(security guard's physically attempting to bar Ee from distributing U literature, violation and interference)

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(threats to not grant Ee a reference, violation and interference)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(E's threatening to close plants if U won election, violation and interfeence where, rather than pointing to objective facts likely to result from unionization that would cause unprofitability, E noted that its plants were uncompetitive and could easily be relocated if U won where five E's officials had threatened to close plants and relocate to another state)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(threatening that all strikers, ULP as well as economic strikers, could be replaced, violation and interference)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(threatening discharge for U activities, and telling Ees that strikes were inevitable and that E would not bargain if U won election, interference)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(maintaining bulletin board in such way that pro-U campaign propaganda, but not anti-U propaganda, could be defaced or removed, violation and interference)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(telling Ee she could not talk U on breaks, violation and interference)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(threatening that Ees would lose their free uniforms, insurance, Christmas bonuses, weekly tanks of gas and other benefits if they voted for U or U got in, violative and objectionable)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(telling Ee that if U got in E would not have to bargain with it and would close the plant, thus giving Ee impression that organizing would be futile, violative and objectionable)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(threatening to obtain U cards signed by Ees even if E had to pay for them and to fire signers, violative and objectionable)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(threat to close plant objectionable)

2862—Cont.

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(objections to election sustained on basis of ULPs consisting of interrogation of Ees concerning their U activities and sympathies; threats of reprisal if Ees supported U; threat to close operations if U won election; granting wage increases to induce Ees to abandon their support for U; threat of loss of benefits; surveillance of Ee's U activities, thereby creating atmosphere of fear and coercion; and discharge of U supporters)

E. A. Nord Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 161
(ULPs occurring between date of filing of ptn and date of election considered in determining whether election should be set aside)

Magic Island, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 107
(bargaining order appropriate since fair election could not be held where E engaged in campaign consisting of violent obscenities coupled with threats directed at principal U organizers during critical period, promised benefits to those not supporting the U, terminated 5 of 9 U sympathizers by the time of the election, disseminated to entire unit false accusations concerning U supporters, and threatened to blackball all Ees who supported the U in election)

McLean Roofing Company 276 NLRB No. 093
(election set aside where E unlawfully interrogated Ees, created impression of surveillance, and threatened to discharge U supporters)

2870 TOTALITY OF PRE-ELECTION CONDUCT

Monark Boat Company 276 NLRB No. 121
(Bd held ALJ properly did not fail to consider effect of alleged objectionable conduct as a whole, where ALJ, after resolving each objection separately, concluded that evidence failed to establish that coercive environment existed during U campaign)

N.L.R.B. v. Horizon Air Services, Inc. 761 F.2d 22 (C.A. 1, Apr. 1985)

2872 SEPARATE PAYCHECK REPRESENTING AMOUNT OF UNION DUES

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(setting aside election not warranted where E deducted from last paycheck received by Ees prior to election, amount allegedly equivalent to U dues, and gave Ees separate check for that amount)

2874 INTERFERENCE WITH ORDERLY ELECTION PROCESSES

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[plant manager and supervisor telling Ees waiting in line to vote to vote no, interference]

E. A. Nord Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 161
(conduct of E's attorney, in polling areas during course of election, in releasing Ees early in disregard of preelection agreement, to which attorney was party as E's representative, objectionable since polling areas had carnival atmosphere when early released Ees crowded the polling areas which prevented Bd agents from maintaining order while Ees voted)

Joan Foust, Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Regency Manor Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 171
(promoting several Ees in small unit to supervisory positions during critical period, assertedly to comply with state law, violative and objectionable, since real reason was to disenfranchise active U supporters, where state law did not in fact support E's position and even though job descriptions of Ees promoted would indicate supervisory status, those promoted did not in fact exercise any supervisory duties but rather performed same job as in the past)

2878 FURNISHING LIST OF EMPLOYEE NAMES AND ADDRESSES (EXCELSIOR LIST)

2878-1400 Adequacy of list furnished

2878-1450 Substantial compliance

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84
(placing names of Ees on eligibility list who were later stipulated to be ineligible, is itself neither unlawful or evidence of unit packing, as there was no concealment nor effort to deceive in preparation of list and no evidence any party or Ee adversely affected by content of list)

2885 PRE-ELECTION PROPAGANDA

2885-0100 Generally

Works Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160
[Bd applies two-part analysis to determine whether altered ballot is likely to give voters misleading impression that Bd favored one of the parties to election; relying on policy that Ees are capable of recognizing campaign propaganda as such, and of evaluating its claims, Bd holds altered ballot, which on its face clearly identifies party responsible for its preparation, not objectionable; however, if source is not clearly identified, it is necessary to examine nature and contents of material on case-by-case basis to determine whether it is misleading]

2885-0160 Statements must be phrased on basis of objective facts

Diner's Drive-In, Inc. and Diner's Drive-In Keeaumoku, Inc., Jointly 280 NLRB No. 111
[E's telling Ees through a letter enclosed with their paychecks prior to election, that the last thing E needed was something that would put us over the edge and might require us to close our doors permanently, objectionable and election set aside, since overall thrust of letter was to bring Ees' attention to possible adverse consequences of unionization. E's referral to something as putting E over the edge was intended to refer to unionization]

Diner's Drive-In, Inc. and Diner's Drive-In Keeaumoku, Inc., Jointly 280 NLRB No. 111
[E's reference to the bad economy and the possibility that the business may close, held objectionable and election set aside, since E made no correlation, as he is permitted to do, between possible adverse economic consequences of unionization and the closing of his business; E's statements crossed the line between advising Ees of potential adverse consequences of unionization and an implied threat of the likelihood that business would close since E's predictions were not accompanied by any references to U's demand for higher wages and the impact on E of trying to meet such demands]

2885-0180 Reasonable predictions of consequences

Diner's Drive-In, Inc. and Diner's Drive-In Keeaumoku, Inc., Jointly 280 NLRB No. 111
[E's telling Ees through a letter enclosed with their paychecks prior to election, that the last thing E needed was something that would put us over the edge and might require us to close our doors permanently, objectionable and election set aside, since overall thrust of letter was to bring Ees' attention to possible adverse consequences of unionization. E's referral to something as putting E over the edge was intended to refer to unionization]

Diner's Drive-In, Inc. and Diner's Drive-In Keeaumoku, Inc., Jointly 280 NLRB No. 111
[E's reference to the bad economy and the possibility that the business may close, held objectionable and election set aside, since E made no correlation, as he is permitted to do, between possible adverse economic consequences of unionization and the closing of his business; E's statements crossed the line between advising Ees of potential adverse consequences of unionization and an implied threat of the likelihood that business would close since E's predictions were not accompanied by any references to U's demand for higher wages and the impact on E of trying to meet such demands]

2885-2000 Employer statements

2885-2033 Kinds of statements

2885-2033-5000 Declaration of opposition to union

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(setting aside election not warranted where E who was shipbuilder informed Ees at shop launching ceremony that U was no good and that there was no need for U at yard absent evidence statements accompanied by threats or violence)

2885-2033-7500 Bargain from scratch

Kawasaki Motors Manufacturing Corporation, U.S.A. 280 NLRB No. 053
[no violation where supervisor agreed with Ee's description of negotiations that parties would bargain from scratch. This type of statement may or may not be coercive, depending on context in which it is uttered. Here, remark occurred in context free of other ULPs and as part of Ee discussion of give and take of negotiations and supervisor did not purport to speak for E's bargaining posture in any future negotiations]

2885-2033-8300 Inevitability of strikes and shutdowns

Kawasaki Motors Manufacturing Corporation, U.S.A. 280 NLRB No. 053
[no threat of plant closure where supervisors presented to Ees during meeting 3 days before scheduled R election information on plant's losses, layoffs, payroll decreases, shortened workweek, and overstocked inventory. Officials clearly created impression that any decision to close plant would be based on its profitability and competitive status in world markets. Their prediction of possible closure was not based on reasons unrelated to economic necessities]

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035
[supervisor's unlawful threat to Ee I guarantee E will shut down if U comes in did not warrant setting election aside, where only ULP in critical period, occured 1 month prior to election and no evidence remark was disseminated]

S & G Concrete Co. 274 NLRB No. 116
(E's president's speech to Ees prior to election indicating that it would be futile for Ees to select U as their bargaining, that E would not negotiate with U, and that strike would be inevitable, held interference)

2885-2033-8300—Cont.

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(setting aside of election not warranted where E showed Ees documentary film Strike Town USA, with question and answer period following film, and personnel manager stated no one wanted strike situation, since unlawful prediction made and Ees free choice not negated where film depicted anatomy of labor dispute which depiction was privileged under Section 8(c))

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(no unlawful threat of closure that warranted setting aside election where E's personnel manager advised Ees of depressed state of industry market glut, and informed them job security depended on quality product at competitive prices)

2885-2033-9100 Futility of unionization

Collins Industries, Inc. JD-33-86
[E's speech to Ees day before election held interference in view of totality of speech in which E suggested futility of Ees' voting for U and implying closure of plant if Ees did so; during election campaign E has duty not to threaten Ees should they vote against his wishes; and E, having economically superior position to Ees, has, or is perceived to have, power to make good on its threats]

Collins Industries, Inc. JD-33-86
[election set aside in view of E's hallmark violations consisting of E's vitriolic anti-U speech to Ees which amply demonstrated to Ees futility of selecting U as their representative and implied much more harsh consequences such as plant closure; moreover, anti-U campaign by E's management officials, although involving less serious violations, reached virtually all unit Ees]

2885-2033-9150 Employer will not bargain

S & G Concrete Co. 274 NLRB No. 116
(E's president's speech to Ees prior to election indicating that it would be futile for Ees to select U as their bargaining, that E would not negotiate with U, and that strike would be inevitable, held interference)

2885-2033-9200 Employer will not deal directly with employees

FGI Fibers, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 054
[not objectionable where E told Ees that there would not be anymore open door policy if U was voted in because they would have to go through U procedures, would have to deal with Ees through shop steward, as E free to tell Ees about changes in its open door policy which will result from selection of bargaining representative. No negative inference should be drawn from E's failure to inform Ees that they still had right to present their grievances w/o U interference]

2885-4000 Misrepresentation concerning material issue

2885-4042 Employees capable of evaluation

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160
[Bd applies two-part analysis to determine whether altered ballot is likely to give voters misleading impression that Bd favored one of the parties to election; relying on policy that Ees are capable of recognizing campaign propaganda as such, and of evaluating its claims, Bd holds altered ballot, which on its face clearly identifies party responsible for its preparation, not objectionable; however, if source is not clearly identified, it is necessary to examine nature and contents of material on case-by-case basis to determine whether it is misleading]

2885-4066 Misleading representation of the law

Tri-Cast, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 059
(E's letter stating that if U came in E could not work with Ees informally on person-to-person basis and handle their personal requests as before, but would have to work by the book with a stranger, not objectionable as misrepresentation of Ees' Sec. 9(a) rights to present grievances to E and threat to take away their rights to have personal requests handled as before due to unionization; E's statement that E-Ee relationship would change with unionization was explanation, not threat, and Bd will no longer probe into truth of, or set aside elections for, alleged misrepresentation of law)

2885-4093 Board position, processes or document

C.J. Krehbiel Company 279 NLRB No. 114
[Bd will set aside election if reproduced Bd document gives misleading impression that Bd favored one of the parties to election; if party preparing altered ballot is clearly identified on its face, Ees would know that document did not emanate from Bd, but when documents source is not clearly identified, Bd will examine material's nature and content to determine whether it would tend to mislead Ees to believe Bd endorsed on eparty]

Rosewood Mfg. Co., Inc. 278 NLRB No. 103
[E's posting defaced NLRB election notice with handwritten caption Vote No over top of notice with arrow drawn to No portion of sample ballot, did not warrant setting aside election, since altered notice was not likely to give voters misleading impression that Bd, favored E in election, inasmuch as Vote No and arrow were clearly discernable as additions made by E, and sufficiently distinct from printed notice and sample ballot to preclude suggestion Bd was endorsing E; further, E's use of notice from previous election would have alerted voters that alteration was not endorsed by Bd]

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(distributing accurate copies of Bd decision with portions highlighted and characterized as true, not violative threat or interference, especially where E was rebutting U's misstatements of law on these points; Glassmaster Plastics Co.; 203 NLRB 944 (1973) overruled to extent it is inconsistent with this deicision)

N.L.R.B. v. Affiliated Midwest Hospital, Inc., d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 789 F.2d 524 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)
[misrepresentation by U during critical period that NLRB issued C against E did not warrant setting election aside and justify E's refusal to bargain. Under Midland National Life Insurance Co., 263 NLRB 127. Misrepresentations, including those regarding actions of Bd, do not in themselves require setting election aside, and E's attempt to distinguish misrepresentation of Bd action from other misrepresentations and to bring case w/i Mosey Manufacturing v. N.L.R.B. 701 F.2d 610, exception to retroactive application of Midland, unsuccessful, since no manifest injustice]

2885-6000 Comments and instructions concerning election

2885-6050 Posting or distribution of ballot marked 'no'

SDC Investment, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 078
(extending rationale concerning misrepresentation of Midland National Life Insurance Co. and Riveredge Hospital to misrepresentative sample ballots, Bd held that an altered ballot which on its face clearly identifies party responsible for its preparation not objectionable, and not basis for setting election aside, as Ees would know that the document emanated from a party, not the Bd, and would not be led to believe that the party has been endorsed by the Bd; prior Bd decisions failing to apply this standard overruled to extent inconsistent with above rule, and new standard applied to all pending cases in whatever stage)

2885-6062 Failure to post or delay in posting election notices

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[setting aside of election not warranted by E's failure to post notice of election until day before election, absent evidence any Ee did not vote because he or she did not know about election, and RD allowed discretion; since Bd has never established specified time prior to election for posting of notice and details left to RD]

2885-6075 Distribution of official notice accompanied by partisan message

C.J. Krehbiel Company 279 NLRB No. 114
[Bd will set aside election if reproduced Bd document gives misleading impression that Bd favored one of the parties to election; if party preparing altered ballot is clearly identified on its face, Ees would know that document did not emanate from Bd, but when documents source is not clearly identified, Bd will examine material's nature and content to determine whether it would tend to mislead Ees to believe Bd endorsed on eparty]

SDC Investment, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 078
(extending rationale concerning misrepresentation of Midland National Life Insurance Co. and Riveredge Hospital to misrepresentative sample ballots, Bd held that an altered ballot which on its face clearly identifies party responsible for its preparation not objectionable, and not basis for setting election aside, as Ees would know that the document emanated from a party, not the Bd, and would not be led to believe that the party has been endorsed by the Bd; prior Bd decisions failing to apply this standard overruled to extent inconsistent with above rule, and new standard applied to all pending cases in whatever stage)

2885-7000 Defacing of election notice

Rosewood Mfg. Co., Inc. 278 NLRB No. 103
[E's posting defaced NLRB election notice with handwritten caption Vote No over top of notice with arrow drawn to No portion of sample ballot, did not warrant setting aside election, since altered notice was not likely to give voters misleading impression that Bd, favored E in election, inasmuch as Vote No and arrow were clearly discernable as additions made by E, and sufficiently distinct from printed notice and sample ballot to preclude suggestion Bd was endorsing E; further, E's use of notice from previous election would have alerted voters that alteration was not endorsed by Bd]

2889 PROUNION CONDUCT OF SUPERVISORS

Reeves Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 153
[E's contention that participation of its supervisory leadmen in U's organizational and card signing drive tainted cards and rendered them invalid, rejected, notwithstanding extensive participation of leadmen in soliciting card signatures, handbilling and other significant U activities, where supervisory participants directed work of only small groups of maintenance Ees and were not in position to affect working lives of vast majority of production Ees]

2889—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Browning-Ferris Industries of Louisville, Inc. 803 F.2d 345 (C.A. 7, Oct. 1986)

[objection to election on basis that supervisor coerced Ees to support U overruled, where Ee, if supervisor at all, was low level one, no threats made by supervisor of retaliation, and fact that statements, if they had any impact at all, actually were likely to make Ees vote against U for fear of E reprisals]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[in case involving alleged pro-U conduct of supervisors, ct held characterization of supervisor as minor cannot save election when supervisor has power to punish or reward, and acts so that threat of exercising that power reasonably tends to coerce voting Ees; on other hand, classification of minor supervisor does not invalidate Bd's decision upholding election, so long as Bd properly focused on extent of supervisor's authority and extent of his pro-U activity in finding no coercion, and so long as substantial evidence in record supports Bd's findings]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[allegedly pro-U supervisor who called U representative to indicate interest in U and discussed U with at least 2 Ees and another supervisor before election held not to have acted in manner likely to coerce Ees in their vote; although conduct of supervisor, who had extensive supervisory authority, was relevant, it was not sufficient, in and of itself, to invalidate election]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[preelection conduct of supervisor, having limited authority, in signing authorization card and giving out authorization cards to Ees, and in stating to Ees that they should sign cards held not kind of pressure that could reasonably tend to coerce Ees in freedom of choice]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[preelection conduct of supervisor, who had limited authority and admittedly favored U, in talking to Ees about U, expressing personal views about U and answering questions about U, held permissible expressions of opinion since made in noncoercive and nonthreatening manner; moreover, as only supervisor to engage in pro-U activity, his conduct did not invalidate election]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[in case involving allegedly preelection pro-U conduct by supervisors, ct held, while evidence of actual coercion is not required, evidence was insufficient to support claim that Ees could reasonably fear retaliation from supervisors so as to interfere with Ees' freedom of choice]

N.L.R.B. v. Island Film Processing Co., Inc., d/b/a Kahala Kai Photo Service 784 F.2d 1446 (C.A. 9, Mar. 1986)

[refusal to bargain with certified U, not violation, since supervisory conduct tainted election where supervisors, who had ability to effectively recommend pay increases, reprimand Ees, and grant overtime, sowed seeds of reprisal by their constant vocal support of U among small group of Ees and assured them of benefits if U won and unfavorable conduct if it lost]

N.L.R.B. v. Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 764 F.2d 729 (C.A. 9, June 1985)

(E's argument that its objection to election relating to its allegations that supervisor encouraged Ees and subordinate supervisors to sign authorization cards and to vote for U ..nould have been considered by Bd, rejected where E failed to raise objection in timely fashion or otherwise give Bd reasonable notice of nature of objection, RD considered evidence that was before him and under Sec. 10(e), ct would have been w/o jurisdiction to hear supervisory taint claim)

2890 SELECTION OF ELECTION OBSERVER

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[supervisory participation in U campaign will not per se invalidate election; however, supervisory support for U organizing campaign will invalidate U's victory when it reasonably tends to have coercive effect or is likely to impair Ees' choice]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[when supervisors' conduct creates impression that E favors U or when supervisors' conduct creates fear of future retaliation, election must be invalidated; and fear of retaliation is created when pro-U supervisor's solicitation of Ees contains seeds of potential reprisal, punishment, or intimidation; in determining whether supervisor's conduct is impermissible solicitation, ct considers extent of supervisor's authority and extent of his pro-U activity; and evidence of actual threats are not required and implied threats of retaliation are sufficient]

2891 COUNTERACTING UNION'S CAMPAIGN

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095

(distributing accurate copies of Bd decision with portions highlighted and characterized as true, not violative threat or interference, especially where E was rebutting U's misstatements of law on these points; Glassmaster Plastics Co.; 203 NLRB 944 (1973) overruled to extent it is inconsistent with this deicision)

2897 GIFTS AND OTHER INDUCEMENTS OF VALUE

2897-5000 Raffles

Gold Bond Building Products, Division of National Gypsum Company 280 NLRB No. 116

[E-conducted raffles, held 2 weeks prior to election, in which Ees wishing to participate filled out entry forms that required them to answer multiple choice questions about subjects discussed in E's campaign literature and to give names and social security numbers, held interference, since prizes awarded were of substantial value and identification of Ees afforded potential for directing pressure at particular Ees]

E. A. Nord Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 161

(five $252 prizes offered by E in raffle, conducted by E, for everyone to come to work on election day (7/11/84), objectionable conduct warranting setting aside election, since eligibility was (actually) limited to nonstrikers only)

2897-9900 Other

Southern Maryland Hospital Center v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 666 (C.A. 4, Sept. 1986)

[reinstitution of Ee of the Month award and offering $100 to winner each month during pre-election period not violative in view of both length of U's (approximately 13 months) organizational drive and large number of hospital Ees (approximately 1300). Designation of one individual as Ee of month can not reasonably be said to be so significant as to influence in any way attitude of Ees or outcome of election]

4200 CONDUCT OF LABOR ORGANIZATION

4201 GENERALLY

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076

[no showing that U caused atmosphere of fear, confusion, and reprisal which pervaded whole organizing campaign by engaging in demonstration where no one from U or its agents present and demonstration was orderly and in no way affected hospital's operations or patient care]

Avis Rent-A-Car System, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 060

[where U is responsible for picket misconduct, test is whether conduct reasonably tends to interfere with Ees free and uncoerced choice in election; factors Bd will evaluate are: 1) number and severity of incidents; 2) number of Ees in unit subjected to misconduct; 3) proximity to election date; 4) degree of persistence of misconduct and extent of dissemination among unit Ees; 5) extent, if any, of opposing party in canceling effect of misconduct; 6) closeness of vote and 7) degree to which misconduct can be attributed to U]

Mercy-Memorial Hospital 279 NLRB No. 056

[Bd has frequently applied different standards in judging similar actions of E and U in recognition of difference in coercive impact of their actions on Ees]

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(while agreeing with findings of ALJ, affirmed by Bd, that alleged preelection misconduct by U did not create atmosphere of fear and coercion warranting setting aside election, ct stated it was disturbed by acts of intimidation that occurred during election campaign, made clear its disapproval of such conduct, and observed that in R election neither E nor U can be allowed to engage with impunity in conduct that would subrent Ee free choice)

4214 PROMISES

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[U's promise to waive initistion and other fees and maintain an open shop if Ees elected U, not objectionable, since waiver applied to all Ees, regardless of pre-election U support, nor was U's pre-election promise to maintain open shop objectionable, since Bd does not probe into truth or falsity of party's campaign statements and will not set election aside on basis of misleading campaign statements]

4228 THREATS

Local 295-295C, Operating Engineers (Weather Wise Conditioning Corp.) 282 NLRB No. 044

[election not set aside where E failed to meet its burden of proving when alleged threat of physical harm to Ees, if they did not support U in strike, was made by U representative; and, in the alternative, inference from facts was that statement was made outside critical preelection period before ptn was filed]

4228—Cont.

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076

[where no showing that rank-and-file Ees were agents of U, it is incombent on E to show that rank-and-file Ees warning to another Ee (loss of job and make it rough on her) if she did not support U were so disruptive that they created atmosphere of fear and reprisal such as to render free expression of choice in election impossible]

The John M. Horn Lumber Co. 280 NLRB No. 069

[U committeeman's statement to Ee who did not support U, 3 weeks before election, that, I'm gonna blow his brains out..., not objectionable, where there was no evidence threat was U related, threat occurred 3 weeks prior to election and there was no evidence other Ees learned of threat prior to election]

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[statements made by in-plant organizing committee members, allegedly threatening Ee with physical harm if he did not support U, held not interference, irrespective of whether Ees were acting as agents of U, since no general atmosphere of fear and reprisal was thereby created, and accosted Ee was neither coerced into joining U nor deterred from voting in election]

Mercy-Memorial Hospital 279 NLRB No. 056

[U letter to membership asking that, as E's efforts to confuse and deceive Ees would probably increase, members address any questions to U and notify U immediately if any coworkers were assisting management, not interference where request contained no threat or hint of unlawful means but campaign letter utilizing membership to obtain information by lawful means]

Local Lodge No. 1198, District Lodge No. 99, Machinists (Interstate Food Processing Corp.) 278 NLRB No. 025

[U's demand of members and nonmembers, that they pay initiation fees, reinstatement fees or dues and agency fees and E's subsequent discharge of Ees pursuant to U's demand for Ees' non-payment of fees, violative and deauthorization election which U won set aside, since members and nonmembers were under no obligation to pay such fees at time demand was made where U's old contract had expired and 30 day statutory period in 8(a)(3), under a new contract U had signed, had not yet run]

Bristol Textile Co. 277 NLRB No. 182

[Ee's threat to slash tires of Ees who voted against petitioner, interference warranting setting aside close election where it was made in conversation with U's agent, who did not disavow it, and was disseminated among Ees]

Malta Construction Company 276 NLRB No. 171

(no interference, where conversation between Ee and U agent represented nothing more than two Ees puffing amongst themselves to show their respective allegiances)

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186

(alleged threat of mass assembly of U members at E's coal mine before and during election held not interference where U official did what he could to scotch rumor about mass picketing and apparently succeeded in doing so since of approximately 31 eligible voters 31 cast ballot w/o incident)

Fruehauf Corporation 274 NLRB No. 067

(E's refusal to bargain on grounds that certification of election was invalid, not violative, and U business agent's threat to majority of Ees, several days before ptn for election was filed, that Ee who crossed a future picket line would be shot, held interference and election set aside, since statement tainted election atmosphere where threat was repeated to other Ees by rank-and-file Ees during critical preelection period and rumors continuously circulated around plant during critical preelection period that strike breakers would be shot, thus destroying required condition of freedom of choice)

RJR Archer, Inc., Filmco Division 274 NLRB No. 049

(Ees' preelection statements threatening individual fellow EEs, who stated they were not going to vote for U, with property damage or physical violence held interference since threats, when viewed cumulatively, created atmosphere of fear and coercion, where threat of property damage was disseminated widely among Ees, and threat of express physical violence was compounded by receipt of anonymous telephone calls by threatened Ee who testified that he often told people that he had been threatened; in these circumstances, especially where election results were so close, Bd did not view election as reflecting Ees' choice)

The May Department Stores Company JD-(SF)-13-85

(E's refusal to bargain on grounds that certification of election was invalid, not violative, and threats by members of U's organizing committee, found herein to be agents of U, that pro-E Hispanic Ees would be victims of immigration sweeps, lose their jobs or find their cars damaged, held interference and election set aside, since threats restrained Ees w/i meaning of 8(b)(1)(A) where character of threats, together with fact they were made shortly before election, led Hispanic Ees to believe they would be deported on election day, thus having potential of affecting voting choice of Ees and willingness of Ees w/i unit to show up at all)

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(ct held ALJ's finding, affirmed by Bd, that there was no atmosphere of fear and coercion, did not lack support either in record or law, where ALJ found that any adverse effect resulting from U's letters to supervisors, inaccurately implying that criminal penalties could be imposed against them should any ULPs be committed, was neutralized by E's actions to correct misstatement regarding penalties for ULPs)

4235 VIOLENCE

Avis Rent-A-Car System, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 060

[U's engaging in various acts of picket line misconduct by blocking ingress and egress, spitting next to and slapping cars crossing picket line and scattering nails on road in front of plant, not objectionable, since conduct did not reasonably tend to interfere with voting Ees' free and uncoerced choice in election where E failed to demonstrate that Ees voting were present at picket line when incidents occurred or that knowledge of misconduct was ever disseminated to Ees]

Avis Rent-A-Car System, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 060

[where U is responsible for picket misconduct, test is whether conduct reasonably tends to interfere with Ees free and uncoerced choice in election; factors Bd will evaluate are: 1) number and severity of incidents; 2) number of Ees in unit subjected to misconduct; 3) proximity to election date; 4) degree of persistence of misconduct and extent of dissemination among unit Ees; 5) extent, if any, of opposing party in canceling effect of misconduct; 6) closeness of vote and 7) degree to which misconduct can be attributed to U]

The May Department Stores Company JD-(SF)-13-85

(E's refusal to bargain on grounds that certification of election was invalid, not violative, and threats by members of U's organizing committee, found herein to be agents of U, that pro-E Hispanic Ees would be victims of immigration sweeps, lose their jobs or find their cars damaged, held interference and election set aside, since threats restrained Ees w/i meaning of 8(b)(1)(A) where character of threats, together with fact they were made shortly before election, led Hispanic Ees to believe they would be deported on election day, thus having potential of affecting voting choice of Ees and willingness of Ees w/i unit to show up at all)

4238 PROPERTY DAMAGE

Avis Rent-A-Car System, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 060

[U's engaging in various acts of picket line misconduct by blocking ingress and egress, spitting next to and slapping cars crossing picket line and scattering nails on road in front of plant, not objectionable, since conduct did not reasonably tend to interfere with voting Ees' free and uncoerced choice in election where E failed to demonstrate that Ees voting were present at picket line when incidents occurred or that knowledge of misconduct was ever disseminated to Ees]

Avis Rent-A-Car System, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 060

[where U is responsible for picket misconduct, test is whether conduct reasonably tends to interfere with Ees free and uncoerced choice in election; factors Bd will evaluate are: 1) number and severity of incidents; 2) number of Ees in unit subjected to misconduct; 3) proximity to election date; 4) degree of persistence of misconduct and extent of dissemination among unit Ees; 5) extent, if any, of opposing party in canceling effect of misconduct; 6) closeness of vote and 7) degree to which misconduct can be attributed to U]

L & J Equipment Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 074

[applying ct's agency test in its opinion on remand as law of the case, Bd held that statements by Ee organizing committee's chairman, found agent of U, concerning possible future violence on picket line, and his statement to Ee considered anti-U that he should sign U card to reduce U-related pressure, plus incidents not attributable to U, which included total destruction of E's vehicle by unknown persons, and various other conduct not attributable to U, had cumulative effect and combined to create coercive atmosphere interfering with Ees' free choice in election]

ATR Wire & Cable Co. v. N.L.R.B. 752 F.2d 201 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)

(minor property damage to antiU Ees' automobiles in E's parking lot insufficient to establish fear and coercion preventing fair election; only significant damage was not shown to have occurred in E's parking lot, and no proven damage was shown to be linked to U or proU Ees)

4242 ADDRESSING OR INTERVIEWING EMPLOYEES

4242-2500 Conversing with employees in immediate vicinity of polling area

Hy's of Chicago, Ltd. 276 NLRB No. 113

(U's massing business agents and other U representatives outside E's restaurant near location of election where they could intercept Ees on way to work and, in at least one case, attempted to engage Ee in conversation and to distribute pro-U material, not interference where there was no effort to impede Ees' access to polling place or to unduly intimidate them)

4242-2500—Cont.

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84

(Ee telling another Ee, who had yet to vote, Vote Yes, more money while rubbing thumb and fingers together, did not warrant setting aside election, since Ee urging yes vote was not agent of any party nor was he offering bribe, thus Milchem rule forbidding conversations between any party representative and voters waiting vote not applicable; nor could Ee's remark be construed as electioneering substantially impairing anyone's exercise of free choice)

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(U organizer's conversations with Ees after they voted held not objectionable activity since such conduct could not have intruded upon the final minutes before Ees cast their votes)

4258 SURVEILLANCE OR IMPRESSION THEREOF

Mercy-Memorial Hospital 279 NLRB No. 056

[U letter to membership asking that, as E's efforts to confuse and deceive Ees would probably increase, members address any questions to U and notify U immediately if any coworkers were assisting management, not interference where request contained no threat or hint of unlawful means but campaign letter utilizing membership to obtain information by lawful means]

Kentucky Fried Chicken of the Virgin Islands, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 086

[conduct of former Ee did not interfere with election where she did not engage in surveillance before election, notwithstanding contention that former Ee was U agent, by driving past, and also coming into store where former fellow Ee worked, looking at her, and asking whether E's vice president had told Ee not to talk to her]

4260 LIST KEEPING

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076

[objection to election based on U questioning Ees to gauge their U sentiments and use of charts to record these appraisals, overruled, as no showing that U or pro-U employees conducted their questioning in context of threats or reprisals against those who either voiced opposition to U, or expressed indifference toward it. Noncoercive preelection polling by U does not warrant setting aside election]

4265 PRE-ELECTION POLLING

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076

[objection to election based on U questioning Ees to gauge their U sentiments and use of charts to record these appraisals, overruled, as no showing that U or pro-U employees conducted their questioning in context of threats or reprisals against those who either voiced opposition to U, or expressed indifference toward it. Noncoercive preelection polling by U does not warrant setting aside election]

Kusan Manufacturing Company, a division of Kusan, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 749 F.2d 362 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)

(no per se proscription regarding pre-election polling of Ees by U as there is if done by E because of disparity between disruptive powers of E and those of U, and such polling by U only becomes impermissable if, in fact, it was coercive and in fact influenced result of election)

4270 PRE-ELECTION PROPAGANDA

4270-1700 Tests determining legitimacy

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[Bd applies two-part analysis to determine whether altered ballot is likely to give voters misleading impression that Bd favored one of the parties to election; relying on policy that Ees are capable of recognizing campaign propaganda as such, and of evaluating its claims, Bd holds altered ballot, which on its face clearly identifies party responsible for its preparation, not objectionable; however, if source is not clearly identified, it is necessary to examine nature and contents of material on case-by-case basis to determine whether it is misleading]

4270-3300 Marked ballots and election notices

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRP No. 160

[Bd applies two-part analysis to determine whether altered ballot is likely to give voters misleading impression that Bd favored one of the parties to election; relying on policy that Ees are capable of recognizing campaign propaganda as such, and of evaluating its claims, Bd holds altered ballot, which on its face clearly identifies party responsible for its preparation, not objectionable; however, if source is not clearly identified, it is necessary to examine nature and contents of material on case-by-case basis to determine whether it is misleading]

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[where document containing altered facsimile ballot circulated by U did not on its face sufficiently identify U as its source and therefore Bd found it necessary to examine document's nature and contents, Bd held Ees were capable of evaluating material as propaganda and were not misled into believing Bd favored U, since it would be unreasonable for Ee to assume Bd would include congratulatory headings and individual salutation on its official publications; and even if document covered same issues addressed in Bd's notice of election, its partisan nature was readily apparent]

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[document containing altered facsimile ballot circulated by U held not misleading because of physical appearance, where ballot had been cut from another form and added to partisan material; ballot did not appear official and was only partial reproduction omitting language indicating it was official U.S. Government secret ballot and also critical question for which election was being held; and, consequently, notwithstanding statement of Ee witness concerning her confusion about ballot, Ees would not reasonably assume that Bd would provide premarked partial ballot surrounded by partisan material for use in election]

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[Bd considered extrinsic evidence in examining nature and contents of document, containing altered facsimile ballot circulated by U, to determine if document was misleading, and held that Ees would not think that material came from Bd or that Bd in any way endorsed U, where Ees were familiar with identity of individual, referred to in document, as U organizer; and clearly partisan nature of document was indicated by fact that it was mailed in U envelope]

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[in determining that altered facsimile ballot circulated by U was propaganda that did not mislead Ees, Bd noted that subjective reaction of Ees is irrelevant to question of whether there was, in fact, objectionable conduct; rather, issue is whether conduct, viewed objectively, warrants setting aside election]

C.J. Krehbiel Company 279 NLRB No. 114

[Bd will set aside election if reproduced Bd document gives misleading impression that Bd favored one of the parties to election; if party preparing altered ballot is clearly identified on its face, Ees would know that document did not emanate from Bd, but when documents source is not clearly identified, Bd will examine material's nature and content to determine whether it would tend to mislead Ees to believe Bd endorsed on sparty]

C.J. Krehbiel Company 279 NLRB No. 114

[U flyer containing caption and remedy section of ALJ decision concerning non-party E with Vote Yes and partisan slogans appearing on same page, not objectionable, notwithstanding source was not identified on its face, where Ees would not reasonably believe ALJ would thus embellish his decision, and embellishments' size and placement showed they were added, although later U letter referred to flyer as campaign propaganda emanating from U office]

Professional Care Centers of North America, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 106

[altered notice of election that bore name, address, telephone number and seal of U on face of notice and on reverse side of notice identified U as party responsible for its distribution, not objectionable and not basis for setting election aside since it was evident that U prepared document, and that voters would not be misled into believing that Bd favored U's cause]

SDC Investment, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 078

(extending rationale concerning misrepresentation of Midland National Life Insurance Co. and Riveredge Hospital to misrepresentative sample ballots, Bd held that an altered ballot which on its face clearly identifies party responsible for its preparation not objectionable, and not basis for setting election aside, as Ees would know that the document emanated from a party, not the Bd, and would not be led to believe that the party has been endorsed by the Bd; prior Bd decisions failing to apply this standard overruled to extent inconsistent with above rule, and new standard applied to all pending cases in whatever stage)

SDC Investment, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 078

(U's circulating leaflet containing altered sample ballot, objectionable where its nature and contents would likely cause it to be perceived as official Bd document and lead Spanish-speaking voters to believe that Bd wanted them to vote yes; leaflet contained hand-printed Spanish translation of ballot in same format as Bd's sample ballot, but with additional line at bottom stating in Spanish Remember to vote yes on December 16th and had Bd seal taken from an official Bd document at the top of ballot)

4270-5000 Appeals to racial, sexual or religious prejudice

N.L.R.B. v. Until International, Inc., a subsidiary of Until International (U.K.) Limited 750 F.2d 177 (C.A. 2, Dec. 1984)

(false but non-inflammatory statements (made prior to R election) are reviewed according to usual test for misrepresentations)

4270-6700 Misrepresentation concerning material issue

4270-6701 Generally

Allis Chalmers Corporation 278 NLRB No. 082

[objections alleging misrepresentation by U overruled under Midland National Life Insurance, 263 NLRB 127]

4270-6701—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Best Products Co., Inc. 765 F.2d 903 (C.A. 9, July 1985)

(U's alleged campaign misrepresentation invalidating certification no defense to E's refusal to bargain where, before hearing was held on E's objections to U's alleged campaign misrepresentations, Bd issued its decision that it would no longer inquire into such allegations in absence of allegations of use of forged documents -- not alleged herein-- and would apply the decision retroactively, as it did here)

4270-6705 Union dues and initiation fees

Local Lodge No. 1198, District Lodge No. 99, Machinists (Interstate Food Processing Corp.) 278 NLRB No. 025

[U's demand of members and nonmembers, that they pay initiation fees, reinstatement fees or dues and agency fees and E's subsequent discharge of Ees pursuant to U's demand for Ees' non-payment of fees, violative and deauthorizative election which U won set aside, since members and non-members were under no obligation to pay such fees at time demand was made where U's old contract had expired and 30 day statutory period in 8(a)(3), under a new contract U had signed, had not yet run]

Detroit Receiving Hospital and University Health Center 277 NLRB No. 132

(U agent saying to Ee in presence of 2 other Ees that if we signed the green card (authorization card) we would not have to pay initiation fees not objectionable. Though statement ambiguous because agent did not state when card had to be signed to avoid initiation fees, U clarified statement by informing Ees at meetings that U had not charged initiation fees since 1966; morevoer, statement isolated where no other Ees out of over 500 unit Ees told of offer)

Ida Lace, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 040

(setting aside of election not warranted where U distributed leaflets prior to election guaranteeing that all Ees who worked during voting month will not have to pay initiation fees, since waiver of initiation fees extended to all Ees whether or not they joined U before or after election; statement in pamphlet when you vote yes... your U could fulfill this document did not, condition waiver on Ee's support for U, but was nothing more than statement that initiation fees of no significance if U does not become bargaining representative)

The Heil Co. JD-(ATL)-18-85

(promise by Ee found U agent herein, which was ratified by U agent with apparent authority to do so, that U would waive initiation fees of Ees who signed U authorization cards before election, but not those doing so after election, interference)

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[U's promise to waive initiation and other fees and maintain an open shop if Ees elected U, not objectionable, since waiver applied to all Ees, regardless of pre-election U support, nor was U's pre-election promise to maintain open shop objectionable, since Bd does not probe into truth or falsity of party's campaign statements and will not set election aside on basis of misleading campaign statements]

4270-6706 Employees capable of evaluation

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[Bd applies two-part analysis to determine whether altered ballot is likely to give voters misleading impression that Bd favored one of the parties to election; relying on policy that Ees are capable of recognizing campaign propaganda as such, and of evaluating its claims, Bd holds altered ballot, which on its face clearly identifies party responsible for its preparation, not objectionable; however, if source is not clearly identified, it is necessary to examine nature and contents of material on case-by-case basis to determine whether it is misleading]

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[where document containing altered facsimile ballot circulated by U did not on its face sufficiently identify U as its source and therefore Bd found it necessary to examine document's nature and contents, Bd held Ees were capable of evaluating material as propaganda and were not misled into believing Bd favored U, since it would be unreasonable for Ee to assume Bd would include congratulatory headings and individual salutation on its official publications; and even if document covered same issues addressed in Bd's notice of election, its partisan nature was readily apparent]

Allis Chalmers Corporation 278 NLRB No. 082

[U's claim that it was not bound by government existing wage guidelines and only way for Ees to get wages and benefits in excess of guidelines was to select U held not interference since statement that U was not bound by guidelines was perfectly true, and its presentation of itself as only agent through which Ees would get higher wages and benefits was pure campaign propaganda that Ees may reasonably expect to be capable of evaluating]

4270-6730 Hospitalization or other insurance benefits

Willey's Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 089

(U business agent's investigation as to legality of E's participation in insurance fund and his statement to Ee, few days before election, that Ees were illegally covered under trust fund, held coercive and reasonably tended to interfere with election, notwithstanding that E's participation in fund might be illegal, since it was inevitable that Ees infer from statement that there was only one sure way to keep insurance benefits--vote for U representation)

4270-6775 Distribution of Board documents

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(in agreeing with Bd that, unlike brochure in Thiokol Chemical Corp. on which E relied to support contention that inclusion of inaccurate statement of law in U's pre-election flyer which used Bd document in apparent support of statement constituted per se ground for setting election aside, ct held U's flyer, containing misstatement of law concerning wages, pensions, and benefits, and Bd document containing accurate statement of law, reproduced in flyer in its entirety rather than in part as in Thiokol, did not warrant setting election aside)

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(although deploring U's prominent use of pre-election flyer containing misstatement of law and Bd document that easily could be understood as supporting misstatement, ct held that, since its role as reviewing ct was not to say what it would have decided had it been Bd, and since Bd's conclusions that flyer did not warrant setting aside election had support in record and reasonable basis in law, ct was constrained not to disturb them)

4270-6777 Improper use of plant bulletin boards

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[E's conduct in assertedly permitting anti-U Ees to post material on company bulletin board while denying such previlege to pro-U Ees held not interference, where only 1 anti-U Ee posted material but was immediately ordered to remove it by E's president]

4270-6787 Misstatement of law

N.L.R.B. v. Rhone-Poulenc, Inc. 789 F.2d 188 (C.A. 3, Apr. 1986)

[U representing to Ees that NLRA precluded reducing any wages or benefits if U won election, and that NLRB region had advised U that E's threat of loss of benefits was unlawful and suggested that U file charge, did not warrant setting aside election and justify E's refusal to bargain, since holding of Midland National Life Insurance Co., 263 NLRB 127, that Bd would not probe truth or falsity of campaign statements by partisans in elections applies also to misrepresentations concerning Bd actions or positions that are recognized as partisan nor do Midland rules run afoul of either Sec. 9(c) of Act or Bd's rules]

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(in agreeing with Bd that, unlike brochure in Thiokol Chemical Corp. on which E relied to support contention that inclusion of inaccurate statement of law in U's pre-election flyer which used Bd document in apparent support of statement constituted per se ground for setting election aside, ct held U's flyer, containing misstatement of law concerning wages, pensions, and benefits, and Bd document containing accurate statement of law, reproduced in flyer in its entirety rather than in part as in Thiokol, did not warrant setting election aside)

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(upon ct remand ALJ properly applied principles of Hollywood Ceramics in assesing impact on election results of U's misstatement of law in pre-election flyer, which Bd subsequently had abandoned as standard in evaluating misrepresentation of fact or law in context of R elections, since present case was initially considered by ct under principles enunciated in Hollywood Ceramics)

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(where ALJ, bound by ct's determination on its remand that U's statements in flyer regarding wages, pensions, and benefits was misstatement of law that may have materially affected election results, and ALJ found, and Bd affirmed, that subsequent campaign materials cured any impact that misstatement in flyer might have had, ct held that, since Bd's conclusions had support in record and reasonable basis in law, it was constrained not to disturb them)

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(although deploring U's prominent use of pre-election flyer containing misstatement of law and Bd document that easily could be understood as supporting misstatement, ct held that, since its role as reviewing ct was not to say what it would have decided had it been Bd, and since Bd's conclusions that flyer did not warrant setting aside election had support in record and reasonable basis in law, ct was constrained not to disturb them)

4270-6787—Cont.

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 306 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(ct held ALJ's finding, affirmed by Bd, that there was no atmosphere of fear and coercion, did not lack support either in record or law, where ALJ found that any adverse effect resulting from U's letters to supervisors, inaccurately implying that criminal penalties could be imposed against them should any ULPs be committed, was neutralized by E's actions to correct misstatement regarding penalties for ULPs)

4270-6795 Endorsement of union by Board or U.S. Government

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[Bd applies two-part analysis to determine whether altered ballot is likely to give voters misleading impression that Bd favored one of the parties to election; relying on policy that Ees are capable of recognizing campaign propaganda as such, and of evaluating its claims, Bd holds altered ballot, which on its face clearly identifies party responsible for its preparation, not objectionable; however, if source is not clearly identified, it is necessary to examine nature and contents of material on case-by-case basis to determine whether it is misleading]

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[where document containing altered facsimile ballot circulated by U did not on its face sufficiently identify U as its source and therefore Bd found it necessary to examine document's nature and contents, Bd held Ees were capable of evaluating material as propaganda and were not misled into believing Bd favored U, since it would be unreasonable for Ee to assume Bd would include congratulatory headings and individual salutation on its official publications; and even if document covered same issues addressed in Bd's notice of election, its partisan nature was readily apparent]

Worths Stores Corp. 281 NLRB No. 160

[Bd considered extrinsic evidence in examining nature and contents of document, containing altered facsimile ballot circulated by U, to determine if document was misleading, and held that Ees would not think that material came from Bd or that Bd in any way endorsed U, where Ees were familiar with identity of individual, referred to in document, as U organizer; and clearly partisan nature of document was indicated by fact that it was mailed in U envelope]

C.J. Krehbiel Company 279 NLRB No. 114

[Bd will set aside election if reproduced Bd document gives misleading impression that Bd favored one of the parties to election; if party preparing altered ballot is clearly identified on its face, Ees would know that document did not emanate from Bd, but when documents source is not clearly identified, Bd will examine material's nature and content to determine whether it would tend to mislead Ees to believe Bd endorsed on eparty]

C.J. Krehbiel Company 279 NLRB No. 114

[U flyer containing caption and remedy section of ALJ decision concerning non-party E with Vote Yes and partisan slogans appearing on same page, not objectionable, notwithstanding source was not identified on its face, where Ees would not reasonably believe ALJ would thus embellish his decision, and embellishments' size and placement showed they were added; although later U letter referred to flyer as campaign propaganda emanating from U office]

Professional Care Centers of North America, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 106

[altered notice of election that bore name, address, telephone number and seal of U on face of notice and on reverse side of notice identified U as party responsible for its distribution, not objectionable and not basis for setting election aside since it was evident that U prepared document, and that voters would not be misled into believing that Bd favored U's cause]

SDC Investment, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 078

(extending rationale concerning misrepresentation of Midland National Life Insurance Co. and Riveredge Hospital to misrepresentative sample ballots, Bd held that an altered ballot which on its face clearly identifies party responsible for its preparation not objectionable, and not basis for setting election aside, as Ees would know that the document emanated from a party, not the Bd, and would not be led to believe that the party has been endorsed by the Bd; prior Bd decisions failing to apply this standard overruled to extent inconsistent with above rule, and new standard applied to all pending cases in whatever stage)

SDC Investment, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 078

(U's circulating leaflet containing altered sample ballot, objectionable where its nature and contents would likely cause it to be perceived as official Bd document and lead Spanish-speaking voters to believe that Bd wanted them to vote yes; leaflet contained hand-printed Spanish translation of ballot in same format as Bd's sample ballot, but with additional line at bottom stating in Spanish Remember to vote yes on December 16th and had Bd seal taken from an official Bd document at the top of ballot)

N.L.R.B. v. Rhone-Poulenc, Inc. 789 F.2d 188 (C.A. 3, Apr. 1986)

[U representing to Ees that NLRA precluded reducing any wages or benefits if U won election, and that NLRB region had advised U that E's threat of loss of benefits was unlawful and suggested that U file charge, did not warrant setting aside election and justify E's refusal to bargain, since holding of Midland National Life Insurance Co., 263 NLRB 127, that Bd would not probe truth or falsity of campaign statements by partisans in elections applies also to misrepresentations concerning Bd actions or positions that are recognized as partisan nor do Midland rules run afoul of either Sec. 9(c) of Act or Bd's rules]

4270-6799 Other union benefits

4270-6799 Other benefits

Dart Container of California, A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Dart Container of Michigan 277 NLRB No. 149

(U's leaflets, distributed to Ees before election, which guaranteed that all Ees would be eligible for large strike fund if U won and informed Ees that one benefit given to all U members was free legal help from U's attorneys, not objectionable conduct, since no Ee need have demonstrated preelection support for U to take advantage of the promised benefits, promising strike benefits, even large ones, does not impair free choice and U's promise of extending existing benefit of free legal help does not suggest to Ees that their votes are being purchased)

4284 GIFTS AND OTHER INDUCEMENTS OF VALUE

4284-3000 Free food or drinks

Labor Services, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 068

(on ct remand for hearing on objection that U interfered with election by buying voters drinks in adjacent bar before and during election, ct's opinion was observed as law of the case, in view of similarity of facts found before and after remand, and U's conduct found objectionable; ct was concerned with effects of U's conduct and its tendency to interfere with voter's free choice, not U's motive or voters' sobriety, and did not judge conduct's impropriety on basis of its cost or fact drinking occurred outside polling area, since voters took drinking's physical and psychological effects into voting area with them)

4284-5000 Initiation fees

Cataract, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 113

(U's statements to Ees prior to election that initiation fee would be reduced to $0.00 for organizational purposes... (and) for this one time organizational drive, held interference and election set aside, since statement was ambiguous and constituted an impermissible inducement to Ees where U at no time defined the term organizational purposes or organizational drive to Ees to specify that reduced fee was available for a period of time after the election to all Ees, thus linking availability of reduced initiation fee to joining U before election)

4284-7000 Assistance to strikers

Dart Container of California, A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Dart Container of Michigan 277 NLRB No. 149

(U's leaflets, distributed to Ees before election, which guaranteed that all Ees would be eligible for large strike fund if U won and informed Ees that one benefit given to all U members was free legal help from U's attorneys, not objectionable conduct, since no Ee need have demonstrated preelection support for U to take advantage of the promised benefits, promising strike benefits, even large ones, does not impair free choice and U's promise of extending existing benefit of free legal help does not suggest to Ees that their votes are being purchased)

4284-8000 Waiver or reduction of union dues

Calplant Constructors, A Division of Calplant Engineering Service, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 113

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[U's promise to waive initiation and other fees and maintain an open shop if Ees elected U, not objectionable, since waiver applied to all Ees, regardless of pre-election U support, nor was U's pre-election promise to maintain open shop objectionable, since Bd does not probe into truth or falsity of party's campaign statements and will not set election aside on basis of misleading campaign statements]

4284-9900 Other

Dart Container of California, A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Dart Container of Michigan 277 NLRB No. 149

(U's leaflets, distributed to Ees before election, which guaranteed that all Ees would be eligible for large strike fund if U won and informed Ees that one benefit given to all U members was free legal help from U's attorneys, not objectionable conduct, since no Ee need have demonstrated preelection support for U to take advantage of the promised benefits, promising strike benefits, even large ones, does not impair free choice and U's promise of extending existing benefit of free legal help does not suggest to Ees that their votes are being purchased)

4284-9900—Cont.

4290 TOTALITY OF CONDUCT

N.L.R.B. v. Monark Boat Company 800 F.2d 191 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1986)

[E's contention that Bd should have considered whether cumulative effect of misconduct was sufficient to invalidate election, rejected where Bd found no connection between U and misconduct]

Wright Memorial Hospital v. N.L.R.B. 771 F.2d 400 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1985)

(contention that cummulative effect of pro-U activities of supervisors together with other activities required that election be overturned, rejected, since inferences drawn from facts by Bd were reasonable)

Bauer Welding and Metal Fabricators, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 308 (C.A. 8, Mar. 1985)

(in keeping with ct's remand decision, ALJ properly considered totality of circumstances in determining whether fair and free election was held and concluded that alleged pre-election conduct by U and its supporters did not approach severity of conduct commemned in Bd cases, and that record herein fell far short of showing that U's conduct created atmosphere of fear and reprisal such as to render free expression of choice impossible)

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(ct held that, in determining whether election should be set aside, alleged objectionable electioneering should be considered comulatively with alleged threats and violence; here, limited findings of threats and violence, so considered, required ct to uphold Bd's decision not to set aside election)

5600 EMPLOYEE CONDUCT

5625 RANK-AND-FILE UNIT EMPLOYEES

5625-0100 Generally

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076

[where no showing that rank-and-file Ees were agents of U, it is incombent on E to show that rank-and-file Ees warning to another Ee (loss of job and make it rough on her) if she did not support U were so disruptive that they created atmosphere of fear and reprisal such as to render free expression of choice in election impossible]

Electro Food Machinery, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 040

[appropriate criteria for judging threats when applying third-party standard are nature of threats and whether they encompassed entire unit, were widely disseminated, were made by persons capable of carrying them out, would be likely to cause Ee to act in fear of their being carried out, and were rejuvenated near time of election]

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186

(in determining whether threat is serious enough so as to create general atmosphere of fear and reprisal that interfered with election, Bd evaluates nature of threat and surrounding circumstances such as whether it encompassed entire bargaining unit, was widely disseminated, person making threat was capable of carrying it out, it is likely Ees acted in fear of his capability of carrying it out, and threat was rejuvenated at or near time of election)

N.L.R.B. v. Monark Boat Company 800 F.2d 191 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1986)

[E's contention that Bd should have applied party, rather than third-party, standard of review to conduct, because in-plant organizing committee members acted as U agents or alter egos, rejected where Bd found no connection between U and misconduct]

5625-1700 Physical violence

The John M. Horn Lumber Co. 280 NLRB No. 069

[Ee, who supported U, assaulting Ee who did not support U by hitting his hat with enough force to knock it off his head and telling him that he better vote for the fucking union, not objectionable, where there was no evidence threat was rejuvenated at or near time of election and although other Ees heard threat, evidence showed that much rough language and horseplay was engaged in shop, even by supervisors, and such had always been tolerated]

Dart Container of California, A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Dart Container of Michigan 277 NLRB No. 149

(alleged threat made to Ee by another Ee (third party threat) that if Ee didn't want to join U or go on strike, We'll put you in the hospital, not objectionable, where threat was trivial in overall unit of 166 and thus was not so severe as to intimidate free choice of Ees)

Tom Wignell, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186

(election set aside where threats to kill and to blow up E's mine made by Ee in presence of Ees and not attributable to U, raised spectre of violence, personal injury and death; threat to blow up mine would affect bargaining unit and it was surely widely disseminated among relatively small unit of 28 Ees; threat, originally made some weeks before election was repeated and rejuvenated on day before election; and U official, when queried by Ee, failed to quell rumor about mine blowup)

Seaward International, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 130

(election set aside where Ee, who was not committed to U, was excessively sprayed in face by chemical used in work process, requiring hospital treatment; such incident had not previously occurred; U supporter, by subsequently indicating to noncommitted Ee that spraying was wrong, showed that it was U-related; U supporter also informed Ee that another named Ee would be next; and several Ees knew of spraying incident and its link to U)

Seaward International, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 130

(election set aside where heated argument occurred at work place during which Ee refused to wear U hat proffered by U supporter, evoking physical response from Ee when U supporter referred to his lack of courage; argument subsequently accelerated into confrontation in parking lot involving U supporter, nonpro-U Ee with a sickle and another Ee with a four-by-four; number of Ees witnessed confrontation; and at least 6 individuals out of unit of 25-30 Ees were aware that confrontation arose from U-related dispute)

N.L.R.B. v. Monark Boat Company 800 F.2d 191 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1986)

[U supporter's causing 3 accidents resulting in over $1,000 damage, 3 supporters' stopping work during processing of a boat, and poisoning of supervisor's dog by anonymous party, alleged to be U supporter, not interference absent E's showing that incidents were in fact acts of sabotage designed to intimidate voters]

5625-2900 Misstatement of law

Hydro Conduit Corporation 274 NLRB No. 190

(Ee's statement to other Ees prior to election that Ees would receive retroactive wage increase from NLRB only if they voted for the U, in reference to 8(a)(1) charge filed by U against E alleging E failed to grant wage increase because of pending R ptn, not objectionable, since statement at most constituted misrepresentation concerning Bd or its processes and there was no evidence that forgery was involved)

5625-3300 Predictions and threats of physical violence

Pony Express Courier Corporation 282 NLRB No. 036

[E informing fellow Ee, during conversation with another Ee and E's managers and officers, that if Ee acted as informer to E regarding U activities again, he would beat shit out of him, did not warrant setting election aside, since threat isolated, where no dissemination to other Ees, and directed to single Ee, notwithstanding relatively small unit of approximately 20 Ees]

Pony Express Courier Corporation 282 NLRB No. 036

[threats of Ee to bust head of anyone who crossed picket line and of Ee that he was ready and anxious to get baseball bat out and warmed up in event of strike which threat was disseminated to at least 2 Ees, did not warrant setting election aside since Ees not agents of U and incidents were several weeks before election]

Pony Express Courier Corporation 282 NLRB No. 036

[threats of bodily harm by Ees to fellow Ees did not warrant setting aside election, since insufficient to create atmosphere of fear and reprisals, where Ees not agents of U, threats were not directed to soliciting or influencing Ees to vote for U, were not made against backdrop of actual incident of physical injury or damage to property or followed act of violence, and incidents occured several weeks before election]

Sequatchie Valley Coal Corporation 281 NLRB No. 108

[cumulative effect of series of threats of serious nature, including threats of burning out non-supporters' house, bodily harm, and killing, was to create atmosphere of fear and coercion precluding fair election, notwithstanding threats were not attributable to U]

The John M. Horn Lumber Co. 280 NLRB No. 069

[U committeeman's statement to Ee who did not support U, 3 weeks before election, that, I'm gonna blow his brains out..., not objectionable, where there was no evidence threat was U related, threat occurred 3 weeks prior to election and there was no evidence other Ees learned of threat prior to election]

Kentucky Fried Chicken of the Virgin Islands, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 086

[conduct of Ee in calling another Ee an old witch, telling her that U would get rid of old workers, and declaring that he would get his partner and they would beat her held not interference where Ee was not U agent and incidents did not result in atmosphere of fear and reprisal]

Bristol Textile Co. 277 NLRB No. 182

[Ee's threat to slash tires of Ees who voted against petitioner, interference warranting setting aside close election where it was made in conversation with U's agent, who did not disavow it, and was disseminated among Ees]

The Marmon Group, Inc., A Division of Long Airdox Company 275 NLRB No. 94

(U supporter's threats, including threats of bodily harm, house bombing, and property damage, made directly to five Ees and disseminated to several other Ees found to be of such serious and aggravated nature that, viewed cumulatively, they created atmosphere in which free expression of choice by employees could not be made; election set aside and new election conducted)

5625-3300—Cont.

Farmtronix 274 NLRB No. 118
(remand for hearing on whether threats by pro-U Ees to blow up houses, beat up Ees and damage property, which E alleged as objections to election, created general atmosphere of fear of reprisal prior to election, since even accepting contention threats not attributable to U, there was sufficient evidence of widespread awareness of talk of violence, and in view of serious nature of alleged threats, which if proven, created atmosphere precluding free expression of choice)

Fruehauf Corpartion 274 NLRB No. 067
(E's refusal to bargain on grounds that certification of election was invalid, not violative, and U business agent's threat to majority of Ees, several days before ptn for election was filed, that Ee who crossed a future picket line would be shot, held interference and election set aside, since statement tainted election atmosphere where threat was repeated to other Ees by rank-and-file Ees during critical preelection period and rumors continuously circulated around plant during critical preelection period that strike breakers would be shot, thus destroying required condition of freedom of choice)

Chicago Metallic Corporation 273 NLRB No. 207
(pro-U Ee's threats against anti-U Ees not sufficiently egregious to warrant setting aside election; threats of discharge of anti-U Ees did not alter their decisions as to how to vote, and impact of the threats could have been dissipated by E's assurances that their jobs were secure; Ee whom pro-U Ee threatened to kill if he revealed their conversation about the U had his resolve to vote for U strengthened by the threat, and the threat's purpose was to protect pro-U Ee from discharge for talking about the U, about which he had been warned, rather than to coerce Ee into voting for U)

N.L.R.B. v. Newly Weds Foods, Inc. 758 F.2d 4 (C.A. 1, Mar. 1985)
(Ee's isolated statement to fellow Ee two months before election that if there was a strike, anyone who crossed picket line would be beat up and heads would be busted, not conduct sufficient to create an atmosphere of fear and coercion)

N.L.R.B. v. Browning-Ferris Industries of Louisville, Inc. 803 F.2d 345 (C.A. 7, Oct. 1986)
[two threats made to Ees did not affect results of election where no Ees not involved knew of threats, none attributed to U or agents, no patterns where one made 2 months before election and even month before ptn filed and parties to this threat remained friends, and other threat, made on day of election, was ambiguous]

N.L.R.B. v. Chicago Metallic Corporation 794 F.2d 527 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[election set aside where it was conducted in atmosphere of fear and reprisal exacerbated by fact that threats were made by domineering person perceived as supervisor in small unit and vote was relatively close]

5625-4500 Providing food and drink

Warner Cable Corporation of Pittsburgh 275 NLRB No. 190
(E's permitting consumption of beer on its premises during runoff election, not objectionable where idea for (beer) party originated with Ees who paid for beer though it was purchased by supervisor. Record reveals many occassions when Ees began drinking prior to official end of Ees' shift. Record shows that mere presence of beer at E's facility had no effect on conduct of election, as neither E nor U provided beer, Ees knew that Ees purchased beer, and no beer drunk before voting)

5625-6700 Statements not attributable to the parties

Electra Food Machinery, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 040
[widespread third-party threats to kill, physically harm, and inflicit property damage on Ees who did not support U over 2-month period up to election day interference]

5625-6733 Having substantial impact

Sequatchie Valley Coal Corporation 281 NLRB No. 108
[cumulative effect of series of threats of serious nature, including threats of burning out non-supporters' house, bodily harm, and killing, was to create atmosphere of fear and coercion precluding fair election, notwithstanding threats were not attributable to U]

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(election set aside where threats to kill and to blow up E's mine made by Ee in presence of Ees and not attributable to U, raised spectre of violence, personal injury and death; threat to blow up mine would affect bargaining unit and it was surely widely disseminated among relatively small unit of 28 Ees; threat, originally made some weeks before election was repeated and rejuvenated on day before election; and U official, when queried by Ee, failed to quell rumor about mine blowup)

5625-6767 Having insubstantial impact

Pony Express Courier Corporation 282 NLRB No. 036
[threats of bodily harm by Ees to fellow Ees did not warrant setting aside election, since insufficient to create atmosphere of fear and reprisals, where Ees not agents of U, threats were not directed to soliciting or influencing Ees to vote for U, were not made against backdrop of actual incident of physical injury or damage to property or followed act of violence, and incidents occured several weeks before election]

The John M. Horn Lumber Co. 280 NLRB No. 069
[U committeeman's statement to Ee who did not support U, 3 weeks before election, that, I'm gonna blow his brains out..., not objectionable, where there was no evidence threat was U related, threat occurred 3 weeks prior to election and there was no evidence other Ees learned of threat prior to election]

The John M. Horn Lumber Co. 280 NLRB No. 069
[Ee, who supported U, assaulting Ee who did not support U by hitting his hat with enough force to knock it off his head and telling him that he better vote for the fucking union, not objectionable, where there was no evidence threat was rejuvenated at or near time of election and although other Ees heard threat, evidence showed that much rough language and horseplay was engaged in shop, even by supervisors, and such had always been tolerated]

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(statement by Ee who said he was going to be U observer at election that he could tell how man voted by look in his eyes held not interference where statement occurred in context of good natured badinage rather than in context of serious threat)

Chicago Metallic Corporation 273 NLRB No. 207
(pro-U Ee's threats against anti-U Ees not sufficiently egregious to warrant setting aside election; threats of discharge of anti-U Ees did not alter their decisions as to how to vote, and impact of the threats could have been dissipated by E's assurances that their jobs were secure; Ee whom pro-U Ee threatened to kill if he revealed their conversation about the U had his resolve to vote for U strengthened by the threat, and the threat's purpose was to protect pro-U Ee from discharge for talking about the U, about which he had been warned, rather than to coerce Ee into voting for U)

N.L.R.B. v. Monark Boat Company 800 F.2d 191 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1986)
[U supporter's yelling to fellow Ee, Just do what I told you, followed by fellow Ee's getting in line to vote, not interference with Ee or fourteen other Ees observing him where E admitted in its brief that fellow Ee had stated that he was not threatened]

5625-8300 Threats to other employees

Pony Express Courier Corporation 282 NLRB No. 036
[E informing fellow Ee, during conversation with another Ee and E's managers and officers, that if Ee acted as informer to E regarding U activities again, he would beat shit out of him, did not warrant setting election aside, since threat isolated, where no dissemination to other Ees, and directed to single Ee, notwithstanding relatively small unit of approximately 20 Ees]

Pony Express Courier Corporation 282 NLRB No. 036
[threats of Ee to bust head of anyone who crossed picket line and of Ee that he was ready and anxious to get baseball bat out and warmed up in event of strike which threat was disseminated to at least 2 Ees, did not warrant setting election aside since Ees not agents of U and incidents were several weeks before election]

Pony Express Courier Corporation 282 NLRB No. 036
[threats of bodily harm by Ees to fellow Ees did not warrant setting aside election, since insufficient to create atmosphere of fear and reprisals, where Ees not agents of U, threats were not directed to soliciting or influencing Ees to vote for U, were not made against backdrop of actual incident of physical injury or damage to property or followed act of violence, and incidents occured several weeks before election]

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[where no showing that rank-and-file Ees were agents of U, it is incombent on E to show that rank-and-file Ees warning to another Ee (loss of job and make it rough on her) if she did not support U were so disruptive that they created atmosphere of fear and reprisal such as to render free expression of choice in election impossible]

Sequatchie Valley Coal Corporation 281 NLRB No. 108
[cumulative effect of series of threats of serious nature, including threats of burning out non-supporters' house, bodily harm, and killing, was to create atmosphere of fear and coercion precluding fair election, notwithstanding threats were not attributable to U]

Electra Food Machinery, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 040
[widespread third-party threats to kill, physically harm, and inflicit property damage on Ees who did not support U over 2-month period up to election day interference]

5625-8300—Cont.

Futuramik Industries, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 021

[E's agent, who was fellow Ee, threatening to report certain Ees to Immigration Service if Ees chose U representation, objectionable and if U loses election, it shall be set aside, where comments were made either on election day or shortly before and at least 10 or 20 Ees heard comments; further, statements do not lose coercive effect merely because there is no direct evidence that some Ees were illegal aliens]

L & J Equipment Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 074

[applying ct's agency test in its opinion on remand as law of the case, Bd held that statements by Ee organizing committee's chairman, found agent of U, concerning possible future violence on picket line, and his statement to Ee considered anti-U that he should sign U card to reduce U-related pressure, plus incidents not attributable to U, which included total destruction of E's vehicle by unknown persons, and various other conduct not attributable to U, had cumulative effect and combined to create coercive atmosphere interfering with Ees' free choice in election]

The Marmon Group, Inc., A Division of Long Airdax Company 275 NLRB No. 94

(U supporter's threats, including threats of bodily harm, house bombing, and property damage, made directly to five Ees and disseminated to several other Ees found to be of such serious and aggravated nature that, viewed cumulatively, they created atmosphere in which free expression of choice by employees could not be made; election set aside and new election conducted)

Fruehauf Corpoartion 274 NLRB No. 067

(E's refusal to bargain on grounds that certification of election was invalid, not violative, and U business agent's threat to majority of Ees, several days before ptn for election was filed, that Ee who crossed a future picket line would be shot, held interference and election set aside, since statement tainted election atmosphere where threat was repeated to other Ees by rank-and-file Ees during critical preelection period and rumors continuously circulated around plant during critical preelection period that strike breakers would be shot, thus destroying required condition of freedom of choice)

Blue Island Newspaper Printing, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 208

(no atmosphere of fear and reprisal created by U adherent's statements 1-1/2 weeks before, and morning of, election that he would take care of Ees voting no where statements were heard by two Ees at most, knowledge of them was not disseminated to other Ees, Ee was not especially capable of carrying out threat of physical harm, it was not likely that Ees acted in fear of his doing so, and only a supervisor heard threat when it was reiterated the morning of the election)

Chicago Metallic Corporation 273 NLRB No. 207

(pro-U Ee's threats against anti-U Ees not sufficiently egregious to warrant setting aside election; threats of discharge of anti-U Ees did not alter their decisions as to how to vote, and impact of the threats could have been dissipated by E's assurances that their jobs were secure; Ee whom pro-U Ee threatened to kill if he revealed their conversation about the U had his resolve to vote for U strengthened by the threat, and the threat's purpose was to protect pro-U Ee from discharge for talking about the U, about which he had been warned, rather than to coerce Ee into voting for U)

N.L.R.B. v. Monark Boat Company 800 F.2d 191 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1986)

[U supporter's yelling to fellow Ee, Just do what I told you, followed by fellow Ee's getting in line to vote, not interference with Ee or fourteen other Ees observing him where E admitted in its brief that fellow Ee had stated that he was not threatened]

N.L.R.B. v. Chicago Metallic Corporation 794 F.2d 527 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[election set aside where it was conducted in atmosphere of fear and reprisal exacerbated by fact that threats were made by domineering person perceived as supervisor in small unit and vote was relatively close]

5625-8500 Property damage

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186

(election set aside where threats to kill and to blow up E's mine made by Ee in presence of Ees and not attributable to U, raised spectre of violence, personal injury and death; threat to blow up mine would affect bargaining unit and it was surely widely disseminated among relatively small unit of 28 Ees; threat, originally made some weeks before election was repeated and rejuvenated on day before election; and U official, when queried by Ee, failed to quell rumor about mine blowup)

ATR Wire & Cable Co. v. N.L.R.B. 752 F.2d 201 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)

(minor property damage to antiU Ees' automobiles in E's parking lot insufficient to establish fear and coercion preventing fair election; only significant damage was not shown to have occurred in E's parking lot, and no proven damage was shown to be linked to U or proU Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Monark Boat Company 800 F.2d 191 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1986)

[U supporter's causing 3 accidents resulting in over $1,000 damage, 3 supporters' stopping work during processing of a boat, and poisoning of supervisor's dog by anonymous party, alleged to be U supporter, not interference absent E's showing that incidents were in fact acts of sabotage designed to intimidate voters]

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(only exception to general principle that anonymous property damage is not enough to warrant new election is where coercive and disruptive conduct is so aggravated that free expression of choice of representation is impossible; any other rule would invite third parties or one of the protagonists who doubted election outcome to anonymously create incidents and then use them to set aside election)

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(Bd was justified in finding no effect on free choice by few acts which may have occurred before election involving several joking threats by Ees, and damage to 2 Ees' automobile tires; and this was so even though election was a close one subject to heightened scrutiny)

5650 EMPLOYEES OUTSIDE BARGAINING UNIT

5650-2500 Supervisors

N.L.R.B. v. Browning-Ferris Industries of Louisville, Inc. 803 F.2d 345 (C.A. 7, Oct. 1986)

[objection to election on basis that supervisor coerced Ees to support U overruled, where Ee, if supervisor at all, was low level one, no threats made by supervisor of retaliation, and fact that statements, if they had any impact at all, actually were likely to make Ees vote against U for fear of E reprisals]

Wright Memorial Hospital v. N.L.R.B. 771 F.2d 400 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1985)

(no interference with election in absence of evidence that supervisors threatened Ees with retaliation or domination if they did not vote for U; although most supervisors signed U authorization cards, the three supervisors who engaged in nearly every type of U activity merely expressed their personal opnions on unionization, served on committee chaired by U business agent, who directed the campaign, and answered Ees' questions in informal discussions; Bd's inference that Ees neither feared nor had reason to fear retaliation for not supporting U found reasonable)

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[supervisory participation in U campaign will not per se invalidate election; however, supervisory support for U organizing campaign will invalidate U's victory when it reasonably tends to have coercive effect or is likely to impair Ees' choice]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[when supervisors' conduct creates impression that E favors U or when supervisors' conduct creates fear of future retaliation, election must be invalidated; and fear of retaliation is created when pro-U supervisor's solicitation of Ees contains seeds of potential reprisal, punishment, or intimidation; in determining whether supervisor's conduct is impermissible solicitation, ct considers extent of supervisor's authority and extent of his pro-U activity; and evidence of actual threats are not required and implied threats of retaliation are sufficient]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[in case involving alleged pro-U conduct of supervisors, ct held characterization of supervisor as minor cannot save election when supervisor has power to punish or reward, and acts so that threat of exercising that power reasonably tends to coerce voting Ees; on other hand, classification of minor supervisor does not invalidate Bd's decision upholding election, so long as Bd properly focused on extent of supervisor's authority and extent of his pro-U activity in finding no coercion, and so long as substantial evidence in record supports Bd's findings]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[allegedly pro-U supervisor who called U representative to indicate interest in U and discussed U with at least 2 Ees and another supervisor before election held not to have acted in manner likely to coerce Ees in their vote; although conduct of supervisor, who had extensive supervisory authority, was relevant, it was not sufficient, in and of itself, to invalidate election]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[preelection conduct of supervisor, having limited authority, in signing authorization card and giving out authorization cards to Ees, and in stating to

5650-2500—Cont.

Ees that they should sign cards held not kind of pressure that could reasonably tend to coerce Ees in freedom of choice]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[preelection conduct of supervisor, who had limited authority and admittedly favored U, in talking to Ees about U, expressing personal views about U and answering questions about U, held permissible expressions of opinion since made in noncoercive and nonthreatening manner; moreover, as only supervisor to engage in pro-U activity, his conduct did not invalidate election]

N.L.R.B. v. Hawaiian Flour Mill, Inc. 792 F.2d 1459 (C.A. 9, June 1986)

[in case involving allegedly preelection pro-U conduct by supervisors, ct held, while evidence of actual coercion is not required, evidence was insufficient to support claim that Ees could reasonably fear retaliation from supervisors so as to interfere with Ees' freedom of choice]

5662 FORMER EMPLOYEES

Kentucky Fried Chicken of the Virgin Islands, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 086

[conduct of former Ee did not interfere with election where she did not engage in surveillance before election, notwithstanding contention that former Ee was U agent, by driving past, and also coming into store where former fellow Ee worked, looking at her, and asking whether E's vice president had told Ee not to talk to her]

7000 CONDUCT OF NON-PARTICIPANTS IN ELECTION

7099 OTHERS

Otterbacher Manufacturing, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 160

[labor relations consultant's purported memorandum about meeting with E's president asserting that E was vengeful and deceitful and, absent U's help, would discharge Ees for seeking U representation, not interference where it was single third-party assertion posted and removed same daay two weeks before election, its contents were denied by E's president, who was in position to know and control E's policies, in meeting two days later, and Ees were given enough information to evaluate situation by explanation that labor consultants were retaliating for E's failure to hire them]

E. A. Nord Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 161

(conduct of E's attorney, in polling areas during course of election, in releasing Ees early in disregard of preelection agreement, to which attorney was party as E's representative, objectionable since polling areas had carnival atmosphere when early released Ees crowded the polling areas which prevented Bd agents from maintaining order while Ees voted)

N.L.R.B. v. Monark Boat Company 800 F.2d 191 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1986)

[U supporter's causing 3 accidents resulting in over $1,000 damage, 3 supporters' stopping work during processing of a boat, and poisoning of supervisor's dog by anonymous party, alleged to be U supporter, not interference absent E's showing that incidents were in fact acts of sabotage designed to intimidate voters]

8400 ELECTIONEERING AT OR NEAR POLLS WHILE OPEN

8401 GENERALLY

N.L.R.B. v. Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 764 F.2d 729 (C.A. 9, June 1985)

(E's contention that Bd failed to evaluate crowd's chanting Vote Yes, Vote Yes for few minutes before opening of polls by general laboratory conditions standard, rejected since Bd's rule against electioneering at polling place is limited to times while polls are open and challenged conduct was not shown to be coercive or intimidating, denying voting Ees free and uninhibited choice)

N.L.R.B. v. Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 764 F.2d 729 (C.A. 9, June 1985)

(E's contention that Bd's rule prohibiting electioneering only after polls open is irrational, rejected since Bd, by announcing per se rules which establish categories of permitted and prohibited conduct, provides predictability for participants in election; rule permits voting to take place in atmosphere permitting sober reflection and calm deliberation)

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(ct held that standard in case involving alleged improper electioneering is that election will be set aside where representatives of any party to election engaged in prolonged conversations with voters waiting to cast their ballots, regardless of the content of such conversations; however, where improper conduct is not that of parties' agents, then such conduct will warrant setting aside election if acts disrupt voting procedure or destroy atmosphere necessary to exercise of free choice in election)

8410 AGENCY RELATIONSHIP IN COMMISSION OF ELECTIONEERING

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84

(Ee telling another Ee, who had yet to vote, Vote Yes, more money while rubbing thumb and fingers together, did not warrant setting aside election, since Ee urging yes vote was not agent of any party nor was he offering bribe, thus Milchem rule forbidding conversations between any party representative and voters waiting vote not applicable; nor could Ee's remark be construed as electioneering substantially impairing anyone's exercise of free choice)

8420 ORAL COMMUNICATION TO VOTERS

William Okie, Jr., et al. d/b/a Standby One Associates Center for Housing Partnerships 274 NLRB No. 140

(U observer's remark before voting started in state bd conducted election that U needed 3 votes to win election held not to constitute electioneering warranting setting aside election where, as here, there was no showing that U's representative engaged in sustained conversations with prospective voters, but rather that he made a chance, isolated, innocuous comment)

8420-3300 Location of communication

8420-3325 Conversation within voting area

8420-3325-5000 By union (representative, observer, or agent)

L & J Equipment Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 074

[applying ct's agency test in its opinion on remand as law of the case, Bd held that conduct of Ee, purportedlymember of Ee organizing committee, in hokding conversations with Ees waiting in line to vote in election was not attributable to U where ct's requirements for finding agency status were not met; namely, that member of Ee organizing committee, whose conduct is in question, must be sufficiently active in committee, indicating actual or apparent authority to act on behalf of committee, and member's acts must fall w/i scope of his role as member of committee]

Nestler, Division of Buckhorn, Inc. JD-(SF)-60-85

(on remand in light of Alco Iron and Metal Co. 269 NLRB No. 87, election set aside at E at which 80% of Ees could neither speak nor understand English, and neither E's observer nor Bd agent were conversant in Spanish. Bd agent had U observer translate voting instructions and U observer also spoke with substantial number of Ees w/o being instructed to do so by Bd agent; thus, voters instead of receiving voting instructions from neutral source received instructions from person identified with one of parties to election and voters were unaware that at times U observer was acting on instructions of Bd agent)

8420-3325-7500 Others

N.L.R.B. v. Newly Weds Foods, Inc. 758 F.2d 4 (C.A. 1, Mar. 1985)

(Ee's telling his brother just yes and pointing to the Yes box on sample ballot just before brother entered voting booth, not objectionable conduct, where Bd agent immediately ushered Ee out of voting area and gave his brother corrective instructions i.e., he could vote yes or no, and statement was isolated and not made by U member or agent)

8420-3350 Conversation just outside voting area or within designated 'no electioneering' area

8420-3350-5000 By union (representative or agent)

Blazes Broiler 274 NLRB No. 158

(business agent's extended conversations with Ees while he was seated at table located approximately 20 feet from entrance to room where voting was being conducted, not objectionable, where there was no evidence agent was electioneering but rather engaged only in small talk and agent was not w/i designated polling area as defined by Bd agent; further, E's contention that polling area extends beyond area designated by Bd agent, rejected)

Labor Services, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 068

(on ct remand for hearing on objection that U interfered with election by buying voters drinks in adjacent bar before and during election, ct's opinion was observed as law of the case, in view of similarity of facts found before and after remand, and U's conduct found objectionable; ct was concerned with effects of U's conduct and its tendency to interfere with voter's free choice, not U's motive or voters' sobriety, and did not judge conduct's impropriety on basis of its cost or fact drinking occurred outside polling area, since voters took drinking's physical and psychological effects into voting area with them)

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(U organizer's conversations with Ees after they voted held not objectionable activity since such conduct could not have intruded upon the final minutes before Ees cast their votes)

8420-3350-7500 Others

Season-All Industries, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 139

(E held obligated to bargain since setting aside of election not warranted where Ee who was held not agent of U stood a few feet from Ees who were waiting to vote in area outside room in which polling booths were located, and held very brief conversations with Ees for 10--20 minutes)

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84

(Ee telling another Ee, who had yet to vote, Vote Yes, more money while rubbing thumb and fingers together, did not warrant setting aside election, since Ee urging yes vote was not agent of any party nor was he offering bribe, thus Milchem rule forbidding conversations between any party representative and voters waiting vote not applicable; nor could Ee's remark be construed as electioneering substantially impairing anyone's exercise of free choice)

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(incidents involving U observer wearing U button and an Ee wearing U patches on his customary clothing and standing outside voting area for 5 to 10 minutes held not to constitute objectionable electioneering sufficient to set aside election; wearing of U button, occurring w/o objection during election and considered in isolation was not sufficient to invalidate election; and Ee here did not position himself outside of polling place during election nor orally urge voters to support U or gestures towards U patches he was wearing)

8420-3375 Conversation away from immediate vicinity or outside designated 'no electioneering' area

8420-3375-2500 By employer (representative or agent)

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022

[E approaching Ees during polling period and asking them to vote for E and E's president asking Ees to remember his face when they voted, not such interference that would warrant setting aside election since restrictions on election day limited to captive Ee audiences and sustained conversations]

8420-3375-5000 By union (representative or agent)

Hy's of Chicago, Ltd. 276 NLRB No. 113

(U's massing business agents and other U representatives outside E's restaurant near location of election where they could intercept Ees on way to work and, in at least one case, attempted to engage Ee in conversation and to distribute pro-U material, not interference where there was no effort to impede Ees' access to polling place or to unduly intimidate them)

8420-3375-7500 Others

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84

(congestion caused by Ees who had already voted lingering on stairway to mezzanine voting area and Ees waiting to vote lined up between stairway and door to polls, did not warrant setting aside election, as no evidence of electioneering inside polling area, or persuasive evidence that any voter was physically or otherwise prevented from voting, or seriously hampered in effort to vote)

8430 MERE PHYSICAL PRESENCE

8430-2500 Within voting area

8430-2525 By employer or employer representative

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003

[supervisor checking off Ees' names as they voted in election warranted setting election aside]

8430-2575 Others

N.L.R.B. v. Browning-Ferris Industries of Louisville, Inc. 803 F.2d 345 (C.A. 7, Oct. 1986)

[no electioneering in voting area where pro-U Ee after voting left the area but shortly thereafter returned to voting area but did not speak to anyone, as Ee not representative of any party, and he left after few minutes when Bd representative asked him to]

8430-5000 Just outside voting area or within designated 'no electioneering' area

8430-5050 By union official or representative

Blazes Broiler 274 NLRB No. 158

(business agent's presence during polling period in restaurant at table approximately 20 feet from entrance to room where voting was being conducted, not objectionable, where there was no evidence Ees on their way to vote passed by agent, agent was not w/i designated polling area as defined by Bd agent but rather, was in portion of E's premises open to the public and to the extent agent left his table to pay tab at register located closer to, but not w/i polling area, such movements were isolated and of no impact on outcome of election)

8440 WEARING OF INSIGNIAS

8440-6700 Outside voting area

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(incidents involving U observer wearing U button and an Ee wearing U patches on his customary clothing and standing outside voting area for 5 to 10 minutes held not to constitute objectionable electioneering sufficient to set aside election; wearing of U button, occurring w/o objection during election and considered in isolation was not sufficient to invalidate election; and Ee here did not position himself outside of polling place during election nor orally urge voters to support U or gestures towards U patches he was wearing)

8470 PHYSICAL COERCION OR THREATS THEREOF AND OTHER TYPES OF RESTRAINT

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(Bd was justified in finding no effect on free choice by few acts which may have occurred before election involving several joking threats by Ees, and damage to 2 Ees' automobile tires; and this was so even though election was a close one subject to heightened scrutiny)

N.L.R.B. v. IDAB, Inc. 770 F.2d 991 (C.A. 11, Sep. 1985)

(ct held that, in determining whether election should be set aside, alleged objectionable electioneering should be considered comulatively with alleged threats and violence; here, limited findings of threats and violence, so considered, required ct to uphold Bd's decision not to set aside election)

9000 ACTIONS OF BOARD OR BOARD AGENT

9033 ACTION OF BOARD

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194

(prior election set aside notwithstanding nursing assistants, whom RD had originally excluded from unit, were informed late in afternoon of day before election that they could vote challenged ballot (Bd having granted request for review) where over half of nursing assistants did not avail themselves of this option. Bd unwilling to presume that those who did not cast ballot did so out of indifference or neglect)

N.L.R.B. v. Affiliated Midwest Hospital, Inc., d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 789 F.2d 524 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)

[contention that election invalid, and E justified in its refusal to bargain, since held in inappropriate units where names omitted from Norris-Thermador list, rejected, inasmuch as requirement that list would be valid guide only if letter perfect would defeat saluatory effect of having parties stipulate to eligibility, and require constant and careful agency review to prevent clerical erors from upsetting elections]

N.L.R.B. v. Affiliated Midwest Hospital, Inc., d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 789 F.2d 524 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)

[inaccurate notice of election that contained same erroneous unit description as decertification ptn technical unit Ees were placed in service and maintenance unit and vacant positions omitted from technical unit did not warrant setting election aside and justify E's refusal to bargain, notwithstanding contention erroneous unit description resulted in voter confusion, low voter turn out and certification of inappropriate units, since error immaterial where Ee who was improperly not included in technical unit voted in technical unit and inclusion of vacant positions had no impact]

N.L.R.B. v. Affiliated Midwest Hospital, Inc., d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 789 F.2d 524 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)

[Bd's continuing use of improper unit descriptions based on erroneous descriptions in decertification ptn and election notice in its certification and bargaining orders does not warrant setting aside election which resulted in vote in favor of continued representation or justify E's refusal to bargain; however, bargaining order and all documents to be posted under it must be modified to reflect appropriate bargaining units]

9067 ACTION OF BOARD AGENT

Clarence E. Clapp 279 NLRB No. 051

[purported objection to election by individual who claimed he was denied opportunity to vote when polls closed prior to time stated in Notice of Election not proper, since objection made by individual who cannot be a party to this proceeding. Objection, by letter, filed 8 days after date for timely filing and not served on E as required by Sections 102.8 and 102.69(a) of Bd's R/R]

Brink's Armored Car, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 016

[actions by Bd personnel which tend to destroy confidence in Bd's election process are to be avoided rigorously and, in appropriate circumstances, are sufficient basis for setting aside election]

9067—Cont.

State Garden Celery Company, Inc. JD-243-84

(election set aside where Bd agent asked spanish speaking U observer to repeat his instructions on voting procedure to voters and later on to speak to spanish speaking Ees who were talking loudly outside voting area and tell them to quiet down and told Ees I don't want to see you in there. We might get problems by you standing there since Bd agent did not caution observer to limit statements to exact translation, but rather instructions were in nature of general directions to explain voting procedures and tell Ees to quiet down; thus, U's observer conveyed impression to voters that U, not Bd, was responsible for running election)

N.L.R.B. v. Affiliated Midwest Hospital, Inc., d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 789 F.2d 524 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)

[refusal to allow Ee whose name was not on Norris Thermador List to cast challenged ballot did not warrant setting aside election and justify E's refusal to bargain since omission does not render voter list susceptible to challenge by either party unless mistake discovered in sufficient time to permit correction before balloting begins; requiring pre-election agreements, of which list is part, to adhere to standard of absolute perfection would undermine goal of having parties expedite handling of elections w/o extensive Bd involvement]

385 POST-CERTIFICATION AND UNIT CLARIFICATION ISSUES

0100 GENERALLY

0150 BOARD AUTHORITY TO AMEND, CLARIFY, AND POLICE CERTIFICATION INHERENT IN AUTHORITY TO ISSUE

ICI Americas, Inc. JD-328-85

(whether or not E, even prior to start of collective bargaining, should have sought unit clarification through Bd, where unit was split on direction of Army who had contracted out work to E is not determinative (of unit appropriateness) since clarification of unit in instant ULP procerding was entirely proper)

ICI Americas, Inc. JD-328-85

(E's powerlessness to affect Army's determination to cause split in unit (fire fighters and guards rather than single unit of combined firefighter-security department Ees) permits Bd to reexamine its existing prior certification (since 1964) and conclude that essential factors upon which Bd based its combined unit determination were eliminated due to Army's lawful action)

1200 VALIDITY OF CERTIFICATION

William Okie, Jr., et al. d/b/a Standby One Associates Center for Housing Partnerships 274 NLRB No. 140

(Bd did not consider issue raised by E's contention that state bd's conduct of election deviated from due process requirements, since E's arguments in support of such claim were previously made to state bd which carefully discussed and analyzed objections before overruling them; and Bd accords state bd elections and certifications same effect as Bd attaches to its own, provided state proceedings reflect true desires of affected Ees, election irregularities are not involved, and there has been no substantial deviation from due process requirements)

2500 AMENDMENT OF CERTIFICATION

2525 CHANGE IN REPRESENTATIVE

2525-0800 Affiliation of union with international

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[Bd's rule requiring that all Ees in bargaining unit--not merely U members--must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision, even though organizational changes resulting from affiliation are not substantial enough to raise qcr, held to exceed Bd's authority under Act]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[argument that Bd's rule that all Ees in bargaining unit must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision is reasonable means of protecting bargaining unit Ees' right to select bargaining representative under Sec. 7 of Act, rejected where Act authorizes Bd to conduct R election only where affiliation raises qcr; Bd's rule upsets accomodation drawn by statute by effectively decertifying reorganized U even where affiliation does not raise qcr]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[contention that Bd's rule stating all Ees in bargaining unit must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision was necessary to protect interests of non-U Ees in that affiliation may affect U's representation of bargaining unit even if it does not raise qcr, rejected where U makes many decisions that affect its representation of nonmember Ees and dissatisfaction with decisions U members make may be tested by Bd-conducted R election only if it is unclear whether reorganized U retains majority support]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[argument that affiliation differs from other organizational changes because it results in Ees being represented by different organization, rejected since many organizational changes may operate to alter U's identity w/o raising qcr]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[contention that affiliation involves U's asking Bd to amend its certification or to order E to bargain and that therefore Bd has strong interest in insuring that its own election procedures have not been circumvented before placing its imprimatur on U's affiliation election, rejected since, in amending U's certification or ordering E to bargain, Bd does not sanction U's affiliation; rather it signifies only that reorganized U continues as ongoing entity that E should continue to recognize]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[if Bd finds that affiliation raises qcr undermining Bd's own election and certification procedures, it can refuse to reconsider U's ULP charge, and is authorized to conduct R election; however it may not condone E's refusal to bargain in absence of qcr and has no authority to prescribe internal procedures for U to follow in order to invoke Act's protections]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[argument that Bd's rule that all Ees in bargaining unit must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision brings measure of certainty into bargaining relationship, rejected since Act assumes that stable bargaining relationships are best maintained by allowing affiliated U to continue representing bargaining unit unless Bd finds that affiliation raises qcr]

N.L.R.B. v. Financial Institution Employees of America, Local 1182, Chartered By Food & Commerical Workers —— U.S. —— (U.S. S.Ct, Feb. 1986)

[Bd's rule that all Ees in bargaining unit must have opportunity to participate in affiliation decision effectively gives E power to veto independent U's decision to affiliate, thereby allowing E to directly interfere with U decision-making Congress intended to insulate from outside interference]

2525-5000 Substitution of union with which certified representative has merged

Hydrotherm, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 167

[ptn to amend certification of elected local U granted where, although it had merged with another local before filing ptn for election, recognition of merger and receipt of new charter did not occur until after certification, and successor U retained its identity and was able to step into predecessor's shoes as Ees' representative]

Arizona Pork Products, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 167

[E's rejecting U's request for recognition and bargaining violation, notwithstanding allegedly inadequate assurance of ballot secrecy in U predecessor's merger election involving U's properly becoming successor to benefits of certification]

5000 SUSPENSION OR REVOCATION OF CERTIFICATION

5001 GENERALLY

5001-5000 Board has inherent authority to police own certifications

ICI Americas, Inc. JD-328-85
(E's powerlessness to affect Army's determination to cause split in unit (fire fighters and guards rather than single unit of combined firefighter-security department Ees) permits Bd to reexamine its existing prior certification (since 1964) and conclude that essential factors upon which Bd based its combined unit determination were eliminated due to Army's lawful action)

ICI Americas, Inc. JD-328-85
(certification vacated by ALJ when facts adduced at hearing showed that unit no longer appropriate)

5050 GROUNDS FOR SUSPENSION OR REVOCATION

5050-4300 Union misconduct

St. John's General Hospital of Allegheny County—ADR Center 281 NLRB No. 157
[no Bd authority for proposition that U has duty not to disparage E whose Ees it represents, and that breach of such duty may justify U forfeiting its right to represent Ees; where health care facility refuses to honor Bd certification of U, thereby precipitating peaceful strike in protest; doctrine of Laura Modes, 144 NLRB 1592, should not be extended to disqualify U as Ee representative on grounds that U and its pickets in course of strike disparaged quality of care in facility]

Nassau Insurance Company 280 NLRB No. 103
[unprotected strike in support of U's insistence on non-mandatory subjects of bargaining which was accompanied by unlawful threats of violence, damage to property, and impeding of ingress to E's property, did not rise to level of violence that would justify revocation of U's certification, absent evidence U had engaged in similar misconduct in other disputes]

5050-6700 Domination and control by supervisory personnel

North Shore University Hospital 274 NLRB No. 188
(on ct remand, Bd vacated prior D/O, dismissed C and revoked Certification of Representative and found that nurses association should not be considered differently from other labor organizations regarding conflict of interest engendered by supervisors' active participation in association, lack of insulation of collective-bargaining process from governance of organization and lack of mechanism to assist Es from violating Sec. 8(a)(2) through supervisory Ees participation in association's affairs)

7500 UNIT CLARIFICATION

7501 GENERALLY

7501-2500 Board authority

7501-2501 Generally

ICI Americas, Inc. JD-328-85
(E's powerlessness to affect Army's determination to cause split in unit (fire fighters and guards rather than single unit of combined firefighter-security department Ees) permits Bd to reexamine its existing prior certification (since 1964) and conclude that essential factors upon which Bd based its combined unit determination were eliminated due to Army's lawful action)

7501-2577 Clarification of unit through unfair labor practice proceedings

ICI Americas, Inc. JD-328-85
(whether or not E, even prior to start of collective bargaining, should have sought unit clarification through Bd, where unit was split on direction of Army who had contracted out work to E is not determinative (of unit appropriateness) since clarification of unit in instant ULP proceeding was entirely proper)

7501-2581 Clarification not precluded by arbitrator's award or proceeding

N.L.R.B. v. Magna Corporation 734 F.2d 1057 (C.A. 5, June 1984)
[deferral inappropriate to arbitrator's decision which held that Ee employed in new job classification did not share community of interest with plant clerical unit, since determination of questions of representation, accretion and appropriate units do not depend on contract interpretations but involve application of statutory policies and thus are matters for the Bd, not an arbitrator]

7501-2587 Clarification not available to resolve jurisdictional dispute

Solar, Division of International Harvester Co. 187 NLRB No. 105

7533 ISSUES RESOLVABLE BY CLARIFICATION PROCEEDING

7533-2000 Job classification coverage

7533-2020 Classification existing at time of certification, recognition, or collective bargaining agreement

7533-2020 Classification existing at time of certification, recognition, or collective bargaining agreement

Marymount College of Virginia 280 NLRB No. 050
[in unit clarification proceeding, E's contention that professional librarians should be excluded from existing unit as managerial or supervisory, rejected, since they did not exercise control over areas indicative of managerial or supervisory status where none of the librarians had authority to evaluate Ees, establish salaries, grant time-off, hire or fire personnel or otherwise engage in the management of the library]

American Television & Communications Corporation d/b/a Austin Cablevision 279 NLRB No. 075
[certified unit of cablevision clericals, renamed customer service representatives, clarified to find no historical or contractual exclusion of salesclerks or waiver of right to represent them by failing to secure inclusion in contract, where E created and staffed position during strike w/o informing U, U treated them as members by enrolling discussing work-related problems with, and filing grievances on behalf of them, U did not agree to split clerical unit or acquiesce in E's position that they were excluded throught neglect or inaction, and they shared community of interest with unit Ees]

7533-2020-6700 Petitioner never represented employees sought

Marymount College of Virginia 280 NLRB No. 050
[in unit clarification proceeding, E's contention that new position of program coordinator should be excluded from unit as managerial or supervisory, rejected, since program coordinators did not exercise control over areas indicative of managerial or supervisory status where they performed only informal and casual recommendations for hire of faculty, did not determine courses to be taught, did not evaluate faculty members and were not involved in financial or economic planning]

7533-2020-8400 No claim made until after certification

ACL Corporation d/b/a Atlanta Hilton & Towers 278 NLRB No. 076
[E's withdrawal of recognition from U and refusal to bargain, on grounds unit was inappropriate because it contained Ees employed as guards, violative, where Ees in dispute were in no way entrusted with the protection of E's premises or safety of persons; further, if E believes certain individuals should be excluded from unit because of guard status, proper procedure is unit clarification, not withdrawal of recognition. See Bd's R.R's 102.60(b) and 102.61(d)]

7533-2060 Classification established subsequent to certification, recognition or collective bargaining agreement

7533-2060 Classification established subsequent to certification, recognition or collective bargaining agreement

N.L.R.B. v. Magna Corporation 734 F.2d 1057 (C.A. 5, June 1984)
[unit clarification procedure appropriate in determining inclusion of new full-time position of plant storeroom specialist in plant clerical unit, since new job classification represented a substantial change from former job, which was not included in unit, and included many additional responsibilities; unit clarification is appropriate for resolving disputes concerning placement of Ees who come w/i newly established job classifications or whose duties and responsibilities have undergone substantial changes which create doubt as to whether positions continue to fall in category, that Ees occupied in past]

N.L.R.B. v. Magna Corporation 734 F.2d 1057 (C.A. 5, June 1984)
[Bd's inclusion of plant storeroom specialist, a newly created and substantially changed job classification, in unit of plant clericals in unit clarification proceeding was inappropriate and case remanded, where Bd did not apply community of interest standard in determining community of interests between bargaining unit Ees and new job classification]

7533-4000 Expanded or changed operations following certification, recognition, or collective bargaining agreement

7533-4000 Expanded or changed operations following certification, recognition, or collective bargaining agreement

American Television & Communications Corporation d/b/a Austin Cablevision 279 NLRB No. 075
[certified unit of cablevision clericals, renamed customer service representatives, clarified to find no historical or contractual exclusion of salesclerks or waiver of right to represent them by failing to secure inclusion in contract, where E created and staffed position during strike w/o informing U, U treated them as members by enrolling discussing work-related problems with, and filing grievances on behalf of them, U did not agree to split clerical unit or acquiesce in E's position that they were excluded throught neglect or inaction, and they shared community of interest with unit Ees]

7533-4080 Reorganization of operations

JD-328-85

ICI Americas, Inc.

(E's powerlessness to affect Army's determination to cause split in unit (fire fighters and guards rather than single unit of combined firefighter-security department Ees) permits Bd to reexamine its existing prior certification (since 1964) and conclude that essential factors upon which Bd based its combined unit determination were eliminated due to Army's lawful action)

393 PROCEDURE IN REPRESENTATION PROCEEDINGS

0100 GENERALLY

0167 AUTHORITY OF REGIONAL DIRECTOR

N.L.R.B. v. Rhone-Poulenc, Inc. 789 F.2d 188 (C.A. 3, Apr. 1986)

[under Burns International Security Services Inc. 256 N.L.R.B. 59, while Rd has discretion to determine scope of investigation of objections to election he/she can only consider after five day period after election, new objections based on investigation only if those objections were based on newly discovered or previously unavailable evidence relating to timely filed objections]

1000 PARTIES

1001 GENERALLY

1001-5000 Definition (R&R 102.8)

Clarence E. Clapp 279 NLRB No. 051

[individual Ees not parties w/i definition of party as set forth in Sec. 102.8 of Bd's R/R]

2000 INTERVENTION

3000 SERVICE OF DOCUMENTS

4000 SUBPOENAS

4001 GENERALLY

4001-5000 Nature and scope

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[FRCP 45(b), dealing with subpoenas for the production of documentary evidence and FRCP 26(b)(1) and 26(c), regarding the scope and limits of discovery in civil cases, should be consulted by Regional Directors and Hearing Officers when ruling on mtns to revoke subpoenas filed under Section 102.66 of the Bd's R/Rs]

4001-5067 Production of any evidence

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[FRCP 45(b), dealing with subpoenas for the production of documentary evidence and FRCP 26(b)(1) and 26(c), regarding the scope and limits of discovery in civil cases, should be consulted by Regional Directors and Hearing Officers when ruling on mtns to revoke subpoenas filed under Section 102.66 of the Bd's R/Rs]

4040 ISSUANCE OF SUBPOENAS

4040-4000 Showing of relevancy and adequacy of identification of documents requested not prerequisite to issuance

4040-4050 Determinable on motion to revoke

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting All minutes of meetings and related documents of nonguard U, did not relate to any matter...in question in the proceedings under Bd R/R 102.66(c) since it concerned nonguard Ees of other Es and thus it would be subject to petition to revoke; further, such request may also be revocable as unreasonably broad]

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting nonguard U's membership lists and related documents, may be revocable on grounds that it is unreasonable because no time limitations are specified and substantial privacy rights may be at stake]

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting all communications between petitioner and petitioner's officers and its law firm, clearly requested privileged information; however, Hearing Officer should not have revoked subpoena but rather, should have conducted an in camera inspection of documents in question to determine whether any of them were subject to the privilege; those not privileged should have been made available assuming other relevant standards were met]

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting individual tax records of petitioner's president for the purpose of determining whether president received money from nonguard U, was properly revoked since information was available from another source that is more convenient [and]

4060 REVOCATION

4060-0100 Generally

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[FRCP 45(b), dealing with subpoenas for the production of documentary evidence and FRCP 26(b)(1) and 26(c), regarding the scope and limits of discovery in civil cases, should be consulted by Regional Directors and Hearing Officers when ruling on mtns to revoke subpoenas filed under Section 102.66 of the Bd's R/Rs]

4060-3300 Time for filing petition to revoke

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[although petitioner's president failed to file a written petition to revoke subpoena as required by Section 102.66(c) of Bd's R/R, petition to revoke made as an oral amendment at the hearing was granted where E did not show it was prejudiced by Hearing Officer's ruling on petition and E had an opportunity to argue against the oral amendment to revoke]

4060-6700 Grounds for revocation

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[U's ptn to revoke subpoenas granted in its entirety where many of the documents sought by E did not relate to E's general contention that U was affiliated with nonguard U and some of the requested information arguably was subject to attorney-client privilege; however, case remanded to RD, and E not prejudiced to make proper application for subpoenas]

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting All minutes of meetings and related documents of nonguard U, did not relate to any matter...in question in the proceedings under Bd R/R 102.66(c) since it concerned nonguard Ees of other Es and thus it would be subject to petition to revoke; further, such request may also be revocable as unreasonably broad]

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting nonguard U's membership lists and related documents, may be revocable on grounds that it is unreasonable because no time limitations are specified and substantial privacy rights may be at stake]

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, Hearing Officer's ruling that time period covered by subpoenas served by E could date only from time E notified U of its intent to withdraw recognition, rejected, since Bd decision allowing such withdrawal of recognition from such nonguard Us predated instant E's decision and E is entitled to seek information regarding any actions nonguard U may have taken in response to Bd's decision regarding petitioner's status]

4060-6750 Claim of privilege

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[U's ptn to revoke subpoenas granted in its entirety where many of the documents sought by E did not relate to E's general contention that U was affiliated with nonguard U and some of the requested information arguably was subject to attorney-client privilege; however, case remanded to RD, and E not prejudiced to make proper application for subpoenas]

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting all communications between petitioner and petitioner's officers and its law firm, clearly requested privileged information; however, Hearing Officer should not have revoked subpoena but rather, should have conducted an in camera inspection of documents in question to determine whether any of them were subject to the privilege; those not privileged should have been made available assuming other relevant standards were met]

4060-6750—Cont.

Brink's Inc. 281 NLRB No. 074

[where E made contention that petitioner was affiliated with nonguard U, E's subpoena requesting individual tax records of petitioner's president for the purpose of determining whether president received money from nonguard U, was properly revoked since information was available from another source that is more convenient [and]

5000 EXPEDITED ELECTION PROCEDURE

6000 PRE-ELECTION PROCEDURE

6021 AMENDMENT OF PETITION

6021-6700 Addition of parties

Western Temporary Services, Inc. and The Classic Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 073

[Es not denied due process in R proceeding by not receiving actual knowledge of amendment to ptn naming them as joint Es until day of R hearing, where GC issued C alleging them as joint Es over two weeks before R ptn amendment and hearing, one E in its answer to C admitted that other E controlled wages, hours, and working conditions of its Ees working for other E, and other E, through Ees employed by both Es, presented evidence at R hearing of relationship between Es, referral of Ees from one to other, and control each exercised over Ees involved]

6027 WITHDRAWAL OF PETITION

6027-2500 Basis of withdrawal

Kodak Area Hospital 278 NLRB No. 033

[where unit held appropriate was broader than unit requested by petitioner, petitioner allowed to withdraw its ptn and not participate in election in unit held appropriate, upon written notice to ALJ w/i ten days from date of ALJ's decision]

6034 DISMISSAL OF PETITION

6034-2000 Basis for dismissal

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079

[rather than adopting ALJ's recommendation to sever R case from ULP case and to remand to RD, Bd dismissed R ptn where, in its exceptions to ALJ's decision finding petitioned-for unit inappropriate, U stated that if Bd found such unit inappropriate, as Bd did find herein, U no longer wished to proceed to election in different unit]

The Green-Wood Cemetery 280 NLRB No. 157

[where negotiated contract expressly excluded office clerical Ees in contract's recognition clause, consistent with U's certification, and, following card check, E voluntarily recognized U as representative of office clerical Ees and executed another contract containing number of provisions applicable to clericals only and deleted exclusion of office clericals from recognition clause, Bd found that merger of units took place into single overall unit and refused to allow decertification election among office clericals only as unit in such election must be coextensive with certified or recognized unit]

Gibbs & Cox, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 110

[where E in NY set up separate division in VA and after card check voluntarily recognized certified U of NY unit as bargaining representative for new unit and applied existing contract of NY unit to VA unit, and thereafter negotiated new multilocation unit contract containing provisions specifically applicable to VA unit, E violated Act by withdrawing recognition from U at VA location and implementing unilateral changes there since unit became merged with NY unit to create multilocation unit notwithstanding VA unit could have qualified as separate unit at time of recognition, and E had good-faith doubt that VA unit no longer desired U as bargaining rep]

Concourse Village, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 004

(unit clarifiction ptn dismissed as moot where E permanently laid off all security guards and subcontracted their work; U's charge that layoffs were unlawful was dismissed by RD, and U's appeal of the dismissal was denied)

Charrette Drafting Supplies Corporation 275 NLRB No. 177

(petitioned for unit of Ees at single store of dealer in art supplies held inappropriate and ptn dismissed, since store had no independent activity and was completely integrated with another of E's stores, where E's general manager supervised both stores and managers of each store had limited authority, stock for both stores was unloaded and reloaded at one store for other store, and there were frequent between Ees at both stores, and temporary transfers of Ees between stores)

Arden Electric, et al. 275 NLRB No. 095

(U's ptns seeking single-E units of Es who had participated in multi-E unit represented by E association held not proper for dismissal, where E-members and E association intended to limit latter's authority so as to bargain only with IBEW or other Us as determined by board of directors and, upon accepting petitioner's disclaimer and thereby agreeing to dissolution of multi-E unit, E association could not bind Es to multi-E bargaining relationship with substitute for petitioner)

Arden Electric, et al. 275 NLRB No. 095

(U's disclaimer resulting in dissolution of multi-E unit represented by E association and concurrent ptn for single E units held not to constitute unlawful whipsawing requiring dismissal of ptn, since any whipsaw-effect results from parties' relationship and from E association's decision to attempt to substitute on multi-E basis new U for disclaiming U; if alleged whipsawing were basis for dismissing ptns, w/o returning parties to status quo ante, Bd would preclude any inquiry into Es' consent to bargaining with substitute U and obligate them to multi-E unit bargaining they had never authorized)

Wright Memorial Hospital v. N.L.R.B. 771 F.2d 400 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1985)

(mtn to dismiss election ptn, allegedly because it was tainted and showing of interest was invalid, properly denied; ptn was not tainted by supervisors' pro-U activities where the activities did not coerce Ees to vote for U out of fear of retaliation, and allegedly invalid showing of interest was not basis for mtn, since it is determined administratively, not litigated by the parties, and does not determine U's majority status, which depends on outcome of election)

6034-4200 Effect of

Arden Electric, et al. 275 NLRB No. 095

(U's disclaimer resulting in dissolution of multi-E unit represented by E association and concurrent ptn for single E units held not to constitute unlawful whipsawing requiring dismissal of ptn, since any whipsaw-effect results from parties' relationship and from E association's decision to attempt to substitute on multi-E basis new U for disclaiming U; if alleged whipsawing were basis for dismissing ptns, w/o returning parties to status quo ante, Bd would preclude any inquiry into Es' consent to bargaining with substitute U and obligate them to multi-E unit bargaining they had never authorized)

6038 REINSTATEMENT OF PETITION

Passavant Health Center 278 NLRB No. 077

[where RD dismissed original RD ptns subject to reinstatement upon final disposition of earlier C allegations in accordance w/Bd's blocking charge procedures, and subsequently U and E entered into informal Bd settlement providing, inter alia, nonadmissions clause and statement E and U had entered into contract, such contract did not act as bar to reinstatement of RD ptns as date original ptns filed, rather than date of request that ptns be reinstated is controlling]

6041 CONSOLIDATION OF PROCEEDINGS

6041-3300 R case with C case

SDC Investment, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 097

[summary judgment for consolidated cases--objections to election and ULP allegations that tracked objections to elections--denied, and hearing before ALJ directed, notwithstanding E's attorney filed charge of its own in which he admitted that objections in pending RC case were identical to ULP charge he was filing. Bd held that it did not consider charge filed by E's attorney as admission that ULPs were actually committed and therefore could serve as basis for mtn for summary judgment, but rather was questionable procedural folderol to test hearing officer's authority to rule on matters in objections case which, if proven, would constitute ULP violation]

6054 CONSENT ELECTION AGREEMENTS

William Okie, Jr., et al. d/b/a Standby One Associate Center for Housing Partnerships 274 NLRB No. 140

(E's contesting of validity of consent election agreement in state bd conducted election on ground E did not make knowledgeable, meaningful consent to election held w/o merit, where none of E's objections that state agent failed to explain state and Bd jurisdiction, to state or explain Bd's requirements for voter eligibility, to investigate supervisory status of superintendents, and to prevent terminated superintendent from being placed on list of eligible voters raised issues which would require Bd to deny comity to state proceedings)

6054-6700 Agreements for determination of post election issues by Board

6054-6750 Stipulation of unit

Sunrise, A Community For The Retarded, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 035

[where stipulated unit at health care institution was defective on its face because it included professional RNs and nonprofessional Ees, but hearing officer proposed modifying unit by excluding RNs, to which E excepted on ground Bd had no authority to rewrite inclusions and exclusions in stipulated unit, Bd held defect could not be removed by modifying unit, and set aside election because of inappropriateness of unit, vacated stipulation and remanded to RD to process ptn by either assisting parties to agree on new stipulation or, in absence thereof, conducting hearing on unit issue]

6054-6750—Cont.

The Northern Virginia Solid Waste Collection District of Browning Ferris, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 049

(challenged ballot of dispatcher ordered to be opened and counted, since record evidence shows that he has daily contact with (unit) drivers, similar fringe benefits, and is subject to same rules and policies as unit Ees. Community-of-interest principles properly utilized where intent of parties was unclear from language of unit description in stipulated-unit election which did not include or exclude classification of dispatcher)

6054-8200 Circumstances warranting withdrawal from agreement

Hollywood Presbyterian Medical Center 275 NLRB No. 047

(E's contention raised for first time in post-election objections, that stipulated unit of professional Ees was inappropriate because it included nonprofessional Ees contrary to provisions of 9(b)(1), rejected, and direction of hearing on that issue reversed, since review of those classifications did not indicate they were not professional Ees and stipulated unit was binding on parties, not contrary to statute or Bd policy and safeguarded rights of professional Ees by providing them opportunity to vote for or against inclusion in nonprofessional unit)

6061 BLOCKING CHARGE POLICY

6061-3300 Pending charge of ULP affecting unit employees

6061-3333 Deferral of election where outcome might be affected

S.M.S. Automotive Products, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 006

[alleged unlawful contract held to be bar to election and R case held in abeyance pending resolution of ULP case; were RD to make determination in R case that contract was violative of 8(a)(2), such would be contrary to established Bd policy that ULP allegations are not properly litigable in R proceedings]

6061-3362 Dismissal of petition

Island Spring, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 130

[following dismissal of ULP allegations that were resolved pursuant to informal settlement agreement, Bd ordered election ptn reinstated and remanded case to RD to open and count ballots cast in election and issue appropriate certification; Passavant Health Center 278 NLRB No. 77, followed]

Passavant Health Center 278 NLRB No. 077

[where RD dismissed original RD ptns subject to reinstatement upon final disposition of earlier C allegations in accordance w/Bd's blocking charge procedures, and subsequently U and E entered into informal Bd settlement providing, inter alia, nonadmissions clause and statement E and U had entered into contract, such contract did not act as bar to reinstatement of RD ptns as date original ptns filed, rather than date of request that ptns be reinstated is controlling]

6061-3367 Not subject to waiver

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198

(U's written request to proceed with election notwithstanding pending 8(a)(3) charge held not waiver of such allegation as grounds for objecting to election, where parties were aware of charge at time of hearing and no 8(a)(2) or 8(a)(5) conduct was involved; Bd policy enables nonoffending party to proceed with election knowing that in event of adverse result, it could nevertheless object to election on basis of unlawful interference, regardless of prior knowledge of such conduct and regardless of whether ULP charges were filed)

6061-7900 Conduct of election after processing of charges

6061-7533 Dismissal of charges

Island Spring, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 130

[following dismissal of ULP allegations that were resolved pursuant to informal settlement agreement, Bd ordered election ptn reinstated and remanded case to RD to open and count ballots cast in election and issue appropriate certification; Passavant Health Center 278 NLRB No. 77, followed]

Passavant Health Center 278 NLRB No. 077

[where RD dismissed original RD ptns subject to reinstatement upon final disposition of earlier C allegations in accordance w/Bd's blocking charge procedures, and subsequently U and E entered into informal Bd settlement providing, inter alia, nonadmissions clause and statement E and U had entered into contract, such contract did not act as bar to reinstatement of RD ptns as date original ptns filed, rather than date of request that ptns be reinstated is controlling]

6061-7567 Remedying of violations

Island Spring, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 130

[following dismissal of ULP allegations that were resolved pursuant to informal settlement agreement, Bd ordered election ptn reinstated and remanded case to RD to open and count ballots cast in election and issue appropriate certification; Passavant Health Center 278 NLRB No. 77, followed]

6068 HEARING

6068-6000 Hearing Officer

6068-6067 Authority of

SDC Investment, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 097

[summary judgment for consolidated cases--objections to election and ULP allegations that tracked objections to elections--denied, and hearing before ALJ directed, notwithstanding E's attorney filed charge of its own in which he admitted that objections in pending RC case were identical to ULP charge he was filing. Bd held that it did not consider charge filed by E's attorney as admission that ULPs were actually committed and therefore could serve as basis for mtn for summary judgment, but rather was questionable procedural folderol to test hearing officer's authority to rule on matters in objections case which, if proven, would constitute ULP violation]

6068-8000 Procedural due process at hearing

Western Temporary Services, Inc. and The Classic Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 073

[Es not denied due process in R proceeding by not receiving actual knowledge of amendment to ptn naming them as joint Es until day of R hearing, where GC issued C alleging them as joint Es over two weeks before R ptn amendment and hearing, one E in its answer to C admitted that other E controlled wages, hours, and working conditions of its Ees working for other E, and other E, through Ees employed by both Es, presented evidence at R hearing of relationship between Es, referral of Ees from one to other, and control each exercised over Ees involved]

6081 DECISION ON PETITION

6081-6000 Decision by Board

6081-6050 Dismissal of petition

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079

[rather than adopting ALJ's recommendation to sever R case from ULP case and to remand to RD, Bd dismissed R ptn where, in its exceptions to ALJ's decision finding petitioned-for unit inappropriate, U stated that if Bd found such unit inappropriate, as Bd did find herein, U no longer wished to proceed to election in different unit]

7000 POST-ELECTION PROCEDURE

7011 FILING OF CHALLENGES AND OBJECTIONS TO ELECTION

7011-2000 Time for filing

N.L.R.B. v. Parsons School of Design, A Division of The New School for Social Research 793 F.2d 503 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[Bd's contention that objections to unit should have been filed before election, rejected, since there was no cause for objection until voters learned that after election Bd had modified unit's scope from all-faculty to part-time faculty only and counted only latter's votes, so that voters were not properly informed at time of election]

7011-2001 Generally

N.L.R.B. v. Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 764 F.2d 729 (C.A. 9, June 1985)

(E's argument that its objection to election relating to its allegations that supervisor encouraged Ees and subordinate supervisors to sign authorization cards and to vote for U should have been considered by Bd, rejected where E failed to raise objection in timely fashion or otherwise give Bd reasonable notice of nature of objection, RD considered evidence that was before him and under Sec. 10(e), ct would have been w/o jurisdiction to hear supervisory taint claim)

7011-2050 Within 5 days of furnishing of tally of ballots

Clarence E. Clapp 279 NLRB No. 051

[purported objection to election by individual who claimed he was denied opportunity to vote when polls closed prior to time stated in Notice of Election not proper, since objection made by individual who cannot be a party to this proceeding. Objection, by letter, filed 8 days after date for timely filing and not served on E as required by Sections 102.8 and 102.69(a) of Bd's R/R]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107

[in hearing on challenged ballots consolidated with ULP case, ALJ properly denied E mtn to file objections to election, where E had filed no other timely objections to election, since objections must be filed with RD w/i 5 days of ballot tally]

7011-2050—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Rhone-Poulenc, Inc. 789 F.2d 188 (C.A. 3, Apr. 1986)

[under Burns International Security Services Inc. 256 NLRB 959, while RD has discretion to determine scope of investigation of objections to election he/she can only consider after five day period after election, new objections based on investigation only if those objections were based on newly discovered or previously unavailable evidence relating to timely filed objections]

7011-8000 Obligation to furnish evidence in support of objections

Affiliated Midwest Hospital Inc. d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 274 NLRB No. 124

(mtn for reconsideration asserting that Bd did not have entire record compiled by RD before it when it overruled E's exceptions to RD's Supplemental Report on Objections and Certification of Representatives, denied where E proffered no evidence to show RD's finding was erroneous; there was no evidence that alleged discrepancies (between units described in Norris-Thermador list and notices of elections) caused disenfranchisement of any Ee, let alone voter confusion)

7011-8080 Service on other parties

Clarence E. Clapp 279 NLRB No. 051

[purported objection to election by individual who claimed he was denied opportunity to vote when polls closed prior to time stated in Notice of Election not proper, since objection made by individual who cannot be a party to this proceeding. Objection, by letter, filed 8 days after date for timely filing and not served on E as required by Sections 102.8 and 102.69(a) of Bd's R/R]

7022 INVESTIGATION OF CHALLENGES AND OBJECTIONS

7022-1700 Regional Director's authority to resolve issues on basis of investigation

Kohler Food Service, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 166

(case remanded for hearing on whether two individuals active in decertification movement were supervisors after U presented evidence in its exception to RD's overruling of its objection that at least one of them was a supervisor; RD had based his determination that they were not supervisors on his conclusion to that effect in dismissing a concurrent ULP charge, and did not otherwise describe evidence relied upon)

7022-3300 Obligation of protesting party to furnish supporting evidence

Affiliated Midwest Hospital Inc. d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 274 NLRB No. 124

(mtn for reconsideration asserting that Bd did not have entire record compiled by RD before it when it overruled E's exceptions to RD's Supplemental Report on Objections and Certification of Representatives, denied where E proffered no evidence to show RD's finding was erroneous; there was no evidence that alleged discrepancies (between units described in Norris-Thermador list and notices of elections) caused disenfranchisement of any Ee, let alone voter confusion)

7022-8000 Consideration of conduct not included in objections by parties

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136

(while not set forth as objection to election, E's pre-election discriminatory evaluation of Ee's job performance having been fully litigated, ALJ held it appropriate to consider impact of such conduct upon election, notwithstanding absence of specific objection on the point)

N.L.R.B. v. Rhone-Poulenc, Inc. 789 F.2d 188 (C.A. 3, Apr. 1986)

[RD properly refused to consider hearsay evidence alleging Ee had made threatening statements to other Ees about consequences of U defeat, and that another Ee had been promised position of shop steward if U won election, submitted after original timely objections, since evidence entirely unrelated to timely objections of misrepresentation and E may not expand timely-filed objections by furnishing evidence of unrelated objections unless evidence was either newly discovered or previously unavailable]

N.L.R.B. v. Rhone-Poulenc, Inc. 789 F.2d 188 (C.A. 3, Apr. 1986)

[under Burns International Security Services Inc. 256 NLRB 959, while RD has discretion to determine scope of investigation of objections to election he/she can only consider after five day period after election, new objections based on investigation only if those objections were based on newly discovered or previously unavailable evidence relating to timely filed objections]

N.L.R.B. v. Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 764 F.2d 729 (C.A. 9, June 1985)

(E's argument that its objection to election relating to its allegations that supervisor encouraged Ees and subordinate supervisors to sign authorization cards and to vote for U should have been considered by Bd, rejected where E failed to raise objection in timely fashion or otherwise give Bd reasonable notice of nature of objection, RD considered evidence that was before him and under Sec. 10(e), ct would have been w/o jurisdiction to hear supervisory taint claim)

7022-8300 Waiver of challenges or objections

Monarch Building Supply 276 NLRB No. 016

(E's objection to election that U had chosen a supervisor as an election observer overruled, since E had waived the objection and was estopped from raising the issue for the first time in postelection objections by its failure to comment or protest when U announced at the preelection conference that it would use as an observor an individual whom it considered a supervisor)

7033 HEARING ON CHALLENGES AND OBJECTIONS

7033-0100 Generally

Bekins Moving & Storage Co. 279 NLRB No. 109

[even though hearing on objections investigative in nature, objecting party nevertheless has burden to bring forth evidence which will sustain allegations. Absent meeting such burden objections are to be overruled]

Kusan Manufacturing Company, a division of Kusan, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 749 F.2d 362 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)

(delay of 3-1/2 years between conduct of election and hearing held on E's objection, not prejudicial, as E presented no evidence to support claim of prejudice; furthermore, in every instance that U prevails in election, economic burden caused by any delay is borne by U and its Ees, not E)

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)

[no hearing required to determine voting eligibility of challenged Ee who Bd determined was ineligible as casual Ee, where prior to eligibility period Ee's status as part-time Ee was changed to that of on-call Ee and, as such, did not work during eligibility period; hence, nothing would be accomplished by holding hearing to determine if she enjoyed pattern of regular employment despite on-call status]

7033-1100 Required where substantial and material issues of fact

Van Leer Containers, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 079

[E's contention that it was denied due process because Bd allegedly failed to articulate its reasons for adopting RD's recommendation in prior R case, rejected, since Bd's Decision and Certification of Representative stated that Bd had considered E's objections, and that adoption of findings and recommendations of RD was based on review of the record, exceptions and briefs; further, RD properly denied E hearing on objections where RD assumed the truth of E's evidence and thus, an ex parte investigation was proper]

Farmtronix 274 NLRB No. 118

(remand for hearing on whether threats by pro-U Ees to blow up houses, beat up Ees and damage property, which E alleged as objections to election, created general atmosphere of fear of reprisal prior to election, since even accepting contention threats not attributable to U, there was sufficient evidence of widespread awareness of talk of violence, and in view of serious nature of alleged threats, which if proven, created atmosphere precluding free expression of choice)

Seth Thomas Division, General Time Corporation 274 NLRB No. 039

(where Bd had rejected E's affidavits included with documents submitted with its exceptions to RD's report on objections because they had not been served on U, which E had not done in order to preserve affidavits' confidentiality, but GC provided them to U by appending them to its mtn for summary judgment, Bd denied GC's mtn and remanded case to RD for hearing, since E's exceptions raised substantial and material issues of fact and law and established prima facie showing that U's and third parties' conduct created general atmosphere of fear and coercion)

N.L.R.B. v. Newly Weds Foods, Inc. 758 F.2d 4 (C.A. 1, Mar. 1985)

(RD did not err in refusing to hold evidentiary hearing on E's various objections where RD assumed E's version of relevant disputed factual matters and thoroughly investigated E's objections)

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)

[where Bd sustained challenge to Ee's ballot on ground she was casual Ee, but E claimed stipulation established her eligibility, ct held that, in view of broad scope of stipulation and E's failure to raise significant allegations before RD regarding U's understanding that Ee was to be included in stipulation by reference to all Ees, no material and substantial issue was raised below regarding parties' understanding and, therefore, no hearing was required on issue, and it was too late to raise potential fact questions on appeal]

7033-1100—Cont.

7033-8800 Procedural due process at hearing

Vitek Electronics, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 763 F.2d 561 (C.A. 3, June 1985)

(despite failure of Bd to follow ct remand and hold R hearing but instead held ULP hearing (Federal Rules of Evidence followed in latter), ct did not order another hearing since such action would have unduly delayed further the certification of representative, and also, no prejudice shown by form of hearing)

7055 HEARING OFFICER'S REPORT

7055-3300 Contents

7055-3325 Resolutions of credibility

Calplant Constructors, A Division of Calplant Engineering Service, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 043

(Bd reversed hearing officer's recommendation that objection to election be sustained on ground U representative's statement to Ee that all initiation fees would be waived for Ees in bargaining unit at time of election was ambiguous because word unit could be interpreted to mean union; and Bd remanded case to hearing officer for findings of fact, credibility resolutions, conclusions of law and recommendations to Bd concerning similar comment made to Ee in another instance, but hearing officer made no factual findings nor resolution of conflict in testimony over alleged statements)

7077 DECISION ON OBJECTIONS OR CHALLENGES

7077-2000 Decision by Regional Director

7077-2090 Consideration of conduct not included in objections

N.L.R.B. v. Hudson Oxygen Therapy Sales Company 764 F.2d 729 (C.A. 9, June 1985)

(E's argument that its objection to election relating to its allegations that supervisor encouraged Ees and subordinate supervisors to sign authorization cards and to vote for U should have been considered by Bd, rejected where E failed to raise objection in timely fashion or otherwise give Bd reasonable notice of nature of objection, RD considered evidence that was before him and under Sec. 10(e), ct would have been w/o jurisdiction to hear supervisory taint claim)

7077-4000 Review of Regional Director's decision

7077-4025 Effect of consent election agreement

Hollywood Presbyterian Medical Center 275 NLRB No. 047

(E's contention raised for first time in post-election objections, that stipulated unit of professional Ees was inappropriate because it included nonprofessional Ees contrary to provisions of 9(b)(1), rejected, and direction of hearing on that issue reversed, since review of those classifications did not indicate they were not professional Ees and stipulated unit was binding on parties, not contrary to statute or Bd policy and safeguarded rights of professional Ees by providing them opportunity to vote for or against inclusion in nonprofessional unit)

7077-6000 Decision by Board

7077-6015 Remand for processing consistent with Board's decision

Sunrise, A Community For The Retarded, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 035

[where stipulated unit at health care institution was defective on its face because it included professional RNs and nonprofessional Ees, but hearing officer proposed modifying unit by excluding RNs, to which E excepted on ground Bd had no authority to rewrite inclusions and exclusions in stipulated unit, Bd held defect could not be removed by modifying unit, and set aside election because of inappropriateness of unit, vacated stipulation and remanded to RD to process ptn by either assisting parties to agree on new stipulation or, in absence thereof, conducting hearing on unit issue]

J.C.L. Zigor Corporation 274 NLRB No. 213

(contrary to RD's recommendation, Bd found that commingling of challenged ballots with other ballots before determining eligibility of particular voters whose ballots would in some circumstances be determinative of election would make it impossible to ascertain the identity and eligibility of those individuals whose votes were crucial, thus precluding a determination as to whether they should be counted)

7077-6017 Remand for hearing or investigation of issues

Kohler Food Service, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 166

(case remanded for hearing on whether two individuals active in decertification movement were supervisors after U presented evidence in its exception to RD's overruling of its objection that at least one of them was a supervisor; RD had based his determination that they were not supervisors on his conclusion to that effect in dismissing a concurrent ULP charge, and did not otherwise describe evidence relied upon)

Industrial Agrico Processing, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 102

(R case (concerning objections and challenges) severred from companion consolidated C case and remanded to RD for taking of evidence on special status issue of certain Ees and their eligibility to vote where record does not indicate whether or not supervisor's relatives had special privileges or benefits not accorded other Ees in unit)

Calplant Constructors, A Division of Calplant Engineering Service, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 043

(Bd reversed hearing officer's recommendation that objection to election be sustained on ground U representative's statement to Ee that all initiation fees would be waived for Ees in bargaining unit at time of election was ambiguous because word unit could be interpreted to mean union; and Bd remanded case to hearing officer for findings of fact, credibility resolutions, conclusions of law and recommendations to Bd concerning similar comment made to Ee in another instance, but hearing officer made no factual findings nor resolution of conflict in testimony over alleged statments)

Seth Thomas Division, General Time Corporation 274 NLRB No. 039

(where Bd had rejected E's affidavits included with documents submitted with its exceptions to RD's report on objections because they had not been served on U, which E had not done in order to preserve affidavits' confidentiality, but GC provided them to U by appending them to its mtn for summary judgment, Bd denied GC's mtn and remanded case to RD for hearing, since E's exceptions raised substantial and material issues of fact and law and established prima facie showing that U's and third parties' conduct created general atmosphere of fear and coercion)

Seth Thomas Division, General Time Corporation 274 NLRB No. 039

(in finding that E's exceptions to RD's report on objections raised substantial and material issues of fact and law warranting remand for hearing, Bd did not rely on affidavits attached to E's exceptions and excluded from R proceeding record by Bd; and Bd found it unnecessary to decide whether examination of affidavits was required herein because they were attached to GC's mtn for summary judgment)

7077-6033 Remand for revised tally or for counting impounded ballots

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017

[Bd ordered revised tally of ballots and if U lost election, RD was directed to set election aside and direct new election where E discharged U supporter during critical period and announced new rule changes detrimental to Ee during critical period]

Ballou Brick Co. 277 NLRB No. 009

(challenges to ballots of 13 discriminatees overruled and RD directed to count their votes and if U had not obtained a majority, RD must set aside election and conduct a new election)

Moe Warehouse & Accessory 275 NLRB No. 165

Glover Bottled Gas Corp. 275 NLRB No. 096

(R case ordered severed from other two election-ULP cases with which it had been consolidated where R case remanded to RD for opening and counting of challenged ballots of unlawfully discharged Ees that might prove dispositive of election)

The Northern Virginia Solid Waste Collection District of Browning Ferris, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 049

(challenged ballot of dispatcher ordered to be opened and counted, since record evidence shows that he has daily contact with (unit) drivers, similar fringe benefits, and is subject to same rules and policies as unit Ees. Community-of-interest principles properly utilized where intent of parties was unclear from language of unit description in stipulated-unit election which did not include or exclude classification of dispatcher)

7077-6050 Direction of another election

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018

[where ALJ phrased necessity for second election in language customarily used in Gissel bargaining order case, Bd directed second election on basis of its finding that E's conduct destroyed laboratory conditions needed to ensure Ees' uninhibited choice of representative; Bd specifically noted that E's interrogation, threats of plant closure, threats of discharge, and solicitation of Ee to abandon U, constituting 8(a)(1) violations during critical period, were also basis of timely filed election objections]

Horizon Foods, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 127

[second election directed where E engaged in egregious violations involving unlawful interrogations, threats of reprisal, solicitation of grievances, promise of benefits, surveillance and discharges]

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110

[Bd provided that if revised tally of opened and counted challenged ballots shows majority of valid votes had been cast for U, U's objections to election will be considered moot and appropriate certification of U will be issued;

7077-6050—Cont.

however, if tally shows majority of votes has not been cast for U, Bd ordered that election be set aside and new election be directed]

Lorimar Productions, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 036
[second election directed pursuant to ct remand where ct found that proce dure followed by Bd in holding election while request for review was pending on scope of bargaining unit, significantly impaired conduct of election by misleading voters as to scope of unit, an issue essential to voters ability to cast an intelligent, voluntary vote]

Ballou Brick Co. 277 NLRB No. 009
(challenges to ballots of 13 discriminatees overruled and RD directed to count their votes and if U had not obtained a majority, RD must set aside election and conduct a new election)

Noral Color Corporation 276 NLRB No. 061
(election set aside and new election directed where E interrogated 3 Ees in a formal setting concerning their U sympathies, threatened Ee with loss of his job if the U were selected and the intensity of E's anti-U campaign made it highly probable that statements were transmitted to the entire unit)

Medina County Publications, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 127
(Bd directed RD to conduct second election where Ee's ballot, whom ct found to be supervisor, was commingled with other ballots and was determinative of outcome of election)

Haynes Motor Lines, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 221
(second election ordered where E threatened Ees with discharge and plant closure, unlawfully interrogated Ees concerning U activities and created impression of surveillance of U activities during critical period)

7077-6050-5000 To be held within 30 days

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194
(prior election set aside notwithstanding nursing assistants, whom RD had originally excluded from unit, were informed late in afternoon of day before election that they could vote challenged ballot (Bd having granted request for review) where over half of nursing assistants did not avail themselves of this option. Bd unwilling to presume that those who did not cast ballot did so out of indifference or neglect)

7077-6067 Certification of results

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035
[supervisor's unlawful threat to Ee I guarantee E will shut down if U comes in did not warrant setting election aside, where only ULP in critical period, occured 1 month prior to election and no evidence remark was disseminated]

7077-6083 Certification of representative

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110
[Bd provided that if revised tally of opened and counted challenged ballots shows majority of valid votes had been cast for U, U's objections to election will be considered moot and appropriate certification of U will be issued; however, if tally shows majority of votes has not been cast for U, Bd ordered that election be set aside and new election be directed]

Moe Warehouse & Accessory 275 NLRB No. 165

7077-6091 Consideration of conduct not included in objections

McLean Roofing Company 276 NLRB No. 093
(E's challenge to ballot of Ee not employed on eligibility date upheld where there was no C allegation that Ee was unlawfully denied employment, nor was issue litigated as ULP at hearing)

Iowa Lamb Corporation 275 NLRB No. 035
(election not to be set aside if tally after opining of challenged ballots showed union lost, for conduct by E which RD had found objectionable where E's conduct was neither the subject of objections related to issue litigated, nor fully litigated at post-election hearing)

7077-6095 Disposition of objections to election

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110
[Bd provided that if revised tally of opened and counted challenged ballots shows majority of valid votes had been cast for U, U's objections to election will be considered moot and appropriate certification of U will be issued; however, if tally shows majority of votes has not been cast for U, Bd ordered that election be set aside and new election be directed]

7077-8000 Reconsideration of decision

Avis Rent-A-Car System, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 087
[Bd majority denied mtn for reconsideration or reopening of record in case in which Bd had overruled E's objections to election; while agreeing with dissenting member that delay in issuing decision herein was unfortunate, majority noted that such delay did not reflect on Bd's substantive expertise]

Avis Rent-A-Car System, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 087
[Bd majority denied mtn for reconsideration or reopening of record in case in which Bd had overruled E's objections to election; while agreeing with dissenting member that delay in issuing decision herein was unfortunate, majority noted that such delay did not reflect on Bd's substantive expertise]

Affiliated Midwest Hospital Inc. d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 274 NLRB No. 124
(mtn for reconsideration asserting that Bd did not have entire record compiled by RD before it when it overruled E's exceptions to RD's Supplemental Report on Objections and Certification of Representatives, denied where E proffered no evidence to show RD's finding was erroneous; there was no evidence that alleged discrepancies (between units described in Norris-Thermador list and notices of elections) caused disenfranchisement of any Ee, let alone voter confusion)

7077-8025 Reconsideration by Board in subsequent ULP proceeding

L & J Equipment Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 074
[applying ct's agency test in its opinion on remand as law of the case, and finding that conduct of Ee organizing committee, found agent of U, and various other conduct not attributable to U had cumulative effect and combined to create coercive atmosphere interfering with Ees' free choice in election rendering election results invalid, Bd vacated earlier decision finding E unlawfully refused to bargain, dismissed C, reopened underlying R case, revoked U certification, and remanded to RD for appropriate action, including direction of new election if U wished to proceed to new election]

7088 RECORD

7088-1600 Where hearing held

Kline's Potato Chips, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 088
(E's defense to refusal to bargain that Bd had ignored ct's mandate in NLRB v. North Electric Co. as to completeness of record in representation cases, rejected; Bd's revised regulations state that record in objections cases in which no hearing has been held include all documentary evidence relied on by RD except statements of witnesses, and Sec. 102.65(g)(1)(i) states that records in which a hearing has been held, as here, any material not listed is not part of the record, and statements of witnesses are not listed; thus certification of U herein was not invalidated by RD's failure to transmit statements of witnesses to Bd)

7088-3300 Where administrative investigation made

Affiliated Midwest Hospital Inc. d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 274 NLRB No. 124
(mtn for reconsideration asserting that Bd did not have entire record compiled by RD before it when it overruled E's exceptions to RD's Supplemental Report on Objections and Certification of Representatives, denied where E proffered no evidence to show RD's finding was erroneous; there was no evidence that alleged discrepancies (between units described in Norris-Thermador list and notices of elections) caused disenfranchisement of any Ee, let alone voter confusion)

7088-6700 Inclusion of affidavits

Affiliated Midwest Hospital Inc. d/b/a Riveredge Hospital 274 NLRB No. 124
(Bd excludes from record investigatory affidavits of witnesses who have not testified at a hearing in order to protect their confidentiality But see Bd's R/R Section 102.69(g)(3) concerning parties' opportunity to supplement record before Bd with documents including affidavits, previously submitted to RD which have not been forwarded to Bd)

Kline's Potato Chips, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 088
(E's defense to refusal to bargain that Bd had ignored ct's mandate in NLRB v. North Electric Co. as to completeness of record in representation cases, rejected; Bd's revised regulations state that record in objections cases in which no hearing has been held include all documentary evidence relied on by RD except statements of witnesses, and Sec. 102.65(g)(1)(i) states that records in which a hearing has been held, as here, any material not listed is not part of the record, and statements of witnesses are not listed; thus certification of U herein was not invalidated by RD's failure to transmit statements of witnesses to Bd)

Seth Thomas Division, General Time Corporation 274 NLRB No. 039
(in finding that E's exceptions to RD's report on objections raised substantial and material issues of fact and law warranting remand for hearing, Bd did not rely on affidavits attached to E's exceptions and excluded from R proceeding record by Bd; and Bd found it unnecessary to decide whether examination of affidavits was required herein because they were attached to GC's mtn for summary judgment)

N.L.R.B. v. Browning-Ferris Industries of Louisville, Inc. 803 F.2d 345 (C.A. 7, Oct. 1986)
[it is the responsibility of party filing objections to election to file supporting affidavits with Bd. Here, Bd had before it affidavits that E proferred to RD, but not affidavits generated by RD in its investigation. E, while it may have been uncertain as to how it could file with Bd affidavits it did not have access to, should have raised its concerns before Bd at first opportunity--in underlying certification proceeding--rather than waiting until ULP proceeding]

7096 REOPENING RECORD AND REMAND

Avis Rent-A-Car System, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 087

[Bd majority denied mtn for reconsideration or reopening of record in case in which Bd had overruled E's objections to election; while agreeing with dissenting member that delay in issuing decision herein was unfortunate, majority noted that such delay did not reflect on Bd's substantive expertise]

Avis Rent-A-Car System, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 087

[Bd majority denied mtn for reconsideration or reopening of record in case in which Bd had overruled E's objections to election; while agreeing with dissenting member that delay in issuing decision herein was unfortunate, majority noted that such delay did not reflect on Bd's substantive expertise]

National Brands of Ft. Lauderdale, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 089

(mtn for summary judgment in ULP proceeding granted, notwithstanding E's argument that Bd's Associate Executive Secretary had no standing, in underlying R case, to deny mtn to reopen record on alleged misrepresentations in pre-election letter, since Associate Executive Secretary, who signed denial of mtn, did so by direction of the Board

Monark Boat Company 276 NLRB No. 121

(ALJ properly refused to expand scope of hearing where circuit ct specifically remanded certain objections for further hearing and consideration by Bd; and such objections, therefore, were only matters before Bd)

N.L.R.B. v. Monark Boat Company 800 F.2d 191 (C.A. 8, Aug. 1986)

[ALJ's and Bd's limitation of scope of hearing on remand from ct to specific incidents alleged in nine objections, proper where remand was so limited, and E's attempt to expand scope by proffering unrelated evidence was in effect attempt to gain second bite at the apple]

8000 UNIT CLARIFICATION PROCEDURE

The Green-Wood Cemetery 280 NLRB No. 157

[where negotiated contract expressly excluded office clerical Ees in contract's recognition clause, consistent with U's certification, and, following card check, E voluntarily recognized U as representative of office clerical Ees and executed another contract containing number of provisions applicable to clericals only and deleted exclusion of office clericals from recognition clause, Bd found that merger of units took place into single overall unit and refused to allow decertification election among office clericals only as unit in such election must be coextensive with certified or recognized unit]

Concourse Village, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 004

(unit clarifiction ptn dismissed as moot where E permanently laid off all security guards and subcontracted their work; U's charge that layoffs were unlawful was dismissed by RD, and U's appeal of the dismissal was denied)

N.L.R.B. v. Magna Corporation 734 F.2d 1057 (C.A. 5, June 1984)

[unit clarification procedure appropriate in determining inclusion of new full-time position of plant storeroom specialist in plant clerical unit, since new job classification represented a substantial change from former job, which was not included in unit, and included many additional responsibilities; unit clarification is appropriate for resolving disputes concerning placement of Ees who come w/i newly established job classifications or whose duties and responsibilities have undergone substantial changes which create doubt as to whether positions continue to fall in category, that Ees occupied in past]

N.L.R.B. v. Magna Corporation 734 F.2d 1057 (C.A. 5, June 1984)

[deferral inappropriate to arbitrator's decision which held that Ee employed in new job classification did not share community of interest with plant clerical unit, since determination of questions of representation, accretion and appropriate units do not depend on contract interpretations but involve application of statutory policies and thus are matters for the Bd, not an arbitrator]

9000 AMENDMENT OF CERTIFICATION PROCEDURE

400 BARGAINING UNITS

401 GENERALLY

1200 STATUTORY OBJECTIVES IN DEFINING BARGAINING UNITS

2500 POWER AND DISCRETION OF BOARD

2501 GENERALLY

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. — 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[Bd is not strictly bound by prior decisions regarding unit determinations because such determinations are dependent on slight variations of fact in each case; and each decision ultimately rests on unique circumstances of case]

2525 BOARD AUTHORITY UNDER STATUTE

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. — ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[Bd's discretion in determining appropriate unit under authority vested in it by Sec. 9(b) is broad, reflecting Congress' recognition of need for flexibility in shaping unit to particular case; in defining bargaining units, Bd's focus is on whether Ees share community of interest; cohesive unit, which is relatively free of conflicts of interest, serves Act's purpose of collective bargaining and prevents minority interest group from being sumberged in overly large unit]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. — ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[where Bd found that Ee-relatives should be excluded from unit because their interests were aligned with those of management, ct held Bd's decision to exclude some family members is not inconsistent with fundamental structure or policies of Act; Congress has limited Bd's discretion to define bargaining units as it has done under Sec. 9(c)(5) making extent to which Ees have organized not controlling; but there is no express direction in Act that Bd define units only by reference to job-related benefits to Ee-relatives; and ct is not authorized to bind Bd in ways not mandated by Congress]

N.L.R.B. v. Parsons School of Design, A Division of The New School for Social Research — 793 F.2d 503 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[no deference to Bd's discretion in using Sec. 102.67(b) vote and impound procedure to segregate small full-time (10%) from overwhelming part-time faculty's vote w/o informing voters of reason where, pursuant to pre-election grant of request for review, Bd modified unit after election, since voters might have voted differently had they known of possible unit modification, and Bd could have avoided misinforming voters by developing another balloting process besides vote and impound procedure to allow voters to vote on U representation in alternative units]

N.L.R.B. v. Indianapolis Mack Sales and Service, Inc. — 802 F.2d 280 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1986)

[ct rejected Bd's conclusion below and argument before ct that E waived objection to appropriateness since 9(b) imposes nondelegable duty on Bd to determine appropriateness]

N.L.R.B. v. L & B Cooling, Inc. — 757 F.2d 236 (C.A. 10, Mar. 1985)

(Bd's conclusion that extras hired by E engaged in lettuce cooling business in prior growing season were not included in bargaining unit, is supported by substantial evidence in record even if E shows that another unit might be more appropriate)

2575 LIMITATIONS UPON AUTHORITY IMPOSED BY NLRA

2575-1460 Professional employees

2575-1450 May not be included in unit with nonprofessionals without self-determination election (See also 355-2260)

Sunrise, A Community For The Retarded, Inc. — 282 NLRB No. 035

[where stipulated unit at health care institution was defective on its face because it included professional RNs and nonprofessional Ees, but hearing officer proposed modifying unit by excluding RNs, to which E excepted on ground Bd had no authority to rewrite inclusions and exclusions in stipulated unit, Bd held defect could not be removed by modifying unit, and set aside election because of inappropriateness of unit, vacated stipulation and remanded to RD to process ptn by either assisting parties to agree on new stipulation or, in absence thereof, conducting hearing on unit issue]

Baldwin League of Independent Schools — 281 NLRB No. 134

[GC's mtn for summary judgment denied and case severed from remaining CA portions and remanded to RD where RD did not determine whether or not librarians were professional Ees to be included in unit with teachers found to be professional Ees; if RD finds librarians to be nonprofessional, Sonotone election must be conducted to determine whether teachers desire to have librarians included in unit, see Sonotone Corp., 90 NLRB 1236 (1950)]

Gibbs & Cox, Inc. — 280 NLRB No. 110

[bargaining unit composed of professional and technical Ees held appropriate. While Bd will not, because of Sec. 9(b)(1), initially establish unit of professional and technical Ees w/o former being given opportunity to vote on inclusion in such unit, such combined units are not unlawful per se and will be upheld if unit was voluntarily created by parties and maintained by them for years]

Hollywood Presbyterian Medical Center — 275 NLRB No. 047

(E's contention raised for first time in post-election objections, that stipulated unit of professional Ees was inappropriate because it included nonprofessional Ees contrary to provisions of 9(b)(1), rejected, and direction of hearing on that issue reversed, since review of those classifications did not indicate they were not professional Ees and stipulated unit was binding on parties, not contrary to statute or Bd policy and safeguarded rights of professional Ees by providing them opportunity to vote for or against inclusion in nonprofessional unit)

2575-2800 Guards

Truck Drivers Local Union No. 807, Teamsters v. N.L.R.B. (Wells Fargo Armored Service Corp.) — 755 F.2d 5 (C.A. 2, Feb. 1985)

(while Bd cannot compel an E to recognize mixed guard U as bargaining agent for unit of guards, E may voluntarily recognize mixed guard U as bargaining agent for unit; based on language and legislative history of Sec. 9(b)(3), Bd was warranted in interpreting section as proscribing Bd direction to an E to bargain with mixed guard U despite prior voluntary recognition)

2575-2825 May not be included in unit with other employees

Burns International Security Services, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 070

[Guards are fully entitled to representatives of their own choosing and to join and form labororganizations. Concomitantly, guard U is fully entitled to seek certification as representative of guard Ees and to include all guards in any appropriate units. Although provision restricts guards in their choice of bargaining representative, Section 9(b) requires that w/i three restrictions we are to assure Ees fullest freedom in exercising these rights. Accordingly, provision to Section 9(b), when read in context, requires that noncertiablity of guard U must be shown by definative evidence]

Burns International Security Services, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 070

[election ordered in unit of guards, since contention U admitted nonguards to membership, rejected, where E failed to show by definitive evidence that U had continued to represent or admit to membership any Ee determined not to be guard by agreement wtih U, or through appropriate Bd proceeding, and herein whether Ees which E contended were not guards were guards or not presented close question, which would be difficult to litigate; to apply Section 9(b)(3) in literal sense would preclude certification of national guard U, contrary to intent of Congress]

2575-2850 Union admitting employees other than guards to membership may not represent guards

MGM Grand Hotel, Las Vegas 274 NLRB No. 015
(operators of building automation system used by E for fire protection, security functions, and engineering functions held guards, where operators were as closely involved in protecting E's property and enforcing security as were E's plainclothes officiers and uniformed guards; accordingly, U was barred from being certified as their representative)

2575-2875 Union affiliated with union representing other employees may not represent guards

Burns International Security Services, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 070
[Guards are fully entitled to representatives of their own choosing and to join and form labororganizations. Concomitantly, guard U is fully entitled to seek certification as representative of guard Ees and to include all guards in any appropriate units. Although provision restricts guards in their choice of bargaining representative, Section 9(b) requires that w/i three restrictions we are to assure Ees fullest freedom in exercising these rights. Accordingly, provision to Section 9(b), when read in context, requires that noncertiability of guard U must be shown by definative evidence]

2575-4200 Supervisors

Burns International Security Services, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 070
[lieutenants in guard service held supervisors, and excluded from unit, based on their authority to suspend guards, notwithstanding they had no authority to hire or fire]

Burns International Security Services, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 070
[sergeants in guard service held supervisors, since they played significant role in evaluating and disciplining guards where they trained, retrained, evaluated probabtionary guards, have authority to give oral and writtenreprimands, notwithstanding no authority to suspend Ees]

3700 EFFECT OF ACTION BY OTHER AUTHORITIES

3750 STATE AGENCY ACTION

Renaissance West Community Mental Health Center 276 NLRB No. 050
(Bd will not recognize validity of state-conducted election and certification unless 9(b)(1) provision has been followed in case of mixed unit of professional and nonprofessional Ees)

William Okie, Jr., et al. d/b/a Standby One Associates Center for Housing Partnerships 274 NLRB No. 140
(Bd held it need not resolve status of working superintendent to determine that state bd conducted valid election in unit not repugnant to Act, where state bd permitted superintendent to cast challenged ballot, and its certification expressly excluded statutory supervisors; and, therefore, only issue herein concerns unit placement of superintendent; state bd's election reflected Ees' true desires and it should be recognized on that basis; and, as in Bd's similar situation, U and E are free to bargain over superintendent's status and, if that fails, unit clarification ptn may be filed)

William Okie, Jr., et al. d/b/a Standby One Associates Center for Housing Partnerships 274 NLRB No. 140
(Bd did not consider issue raised by E's contention that state bd's conduct of election deviated from due process requirements, since E's arguments in support of such claim were previously made to state bd which carefully discussed and analyzed objections before overruling them; and Bd accords state bd elections and certifications same effect as Bd attaches to its own, provided state proceedings reflect true desires of affected Ees, election irregularities are not involved, and there has been no substantial deviation from due process requirements)

5000 EFFECT OF STIPULATIONS BY PARTIES TO BOARD PROCEEDINGS

5001 GENERALLY

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)
[pre-election agreements are binding upon Bd, and once it has approved agreement, Bd's role with respect to determining bargaining unit and voter eligibility is limited to construing agreement according to contract principles consistent with parties' intent; where pre-election stipulation is ambiguous as to whether challenged Ee was included w/i bargaining unit, stipulation is to be construed consistently with established Bd policy and Bd's community of interest standard for determining unit in absence of pre-election agreement]

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)
[inclusion or exclusion of Ees in unit per pre-election stipulation, clearly indicating which Ees are eligible to vote, may not contravene or violated Act or settled Bd policy; however, Bd is prohibited from applying community of interest standard to change result mandated by an unambiguous pre-election stipulation which does not contravene Act or Bd policy]

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)
[since use of general or all-inclusive term all Ees in stipulation does not evidence clear intent to include all Ees not expressly excluded, Bd can properly resolve ambiguity by applying community of interest standard; however, Bd is precluded from applying such standard where stipulation contains relatively specific terminology which identifies particular class of Ees]

5050 STIPULATIONS BY PARTIES NOT INCLUDING RD

5050-3300 Stipulations as to scope

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194
(where parties stipulated to exclude all other enumerated categories of Ees from service & maintenance unit, Bd held appropriate unit should include nurses aides and orderlies as they were not among the enumerated categories to be excluded. Further disparities of interest not so great to cause their exclusion and direct versus indirect patient care functions not valid basis for making unit determinations in health care industry)

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)
[while other evidence of intent regarding voting eligibility of particular Ee may come from outside pre-election stipulation itself, Excelsior list is of little help in determining intended scope of stipulation, and submission into evidence of list does not preclude U ballot challenges since list is required for U's benefit; and to allow use of extremely broad language in standard pre-election stipulation combined with naming of specific Ee in Excelsior list to preclude ballot challenge to named Ee would severely undermine Bd's important and proper role in regulating elections]

5050-6700 Stipulations as to composition

Sunrise, A Community For The Retarded, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 035
[where stipulated unit at health care institution was defective on its face because it included professional RNs and nonprofessional Ees, but hearing officer proposed modifying unit by excluding RNs, to which E excepted on ground Bd had no authority to rewrite inclusions and exclusions in stipulated unit, Bd held defect could not be removed by modifying unit, and set aside election because of inappropriateness of unit, vacated stipulation and remanded to RD to process ptn by either assisting parties to agree on new stipulation or, in absence thereof, conducting hearing on unit issue]

5075 STIPULATIONS IN CONSENT AGREEMENT APPROVED BY RD

5075-0100 Generally

N.L.R.B. v. Barker Steel Company, Inc. 800 F.2d 284 (C.A. 1, Sept. 1986)
[if dispute arises concerning Ee's eligibility to vote in stipulated unit election, Bd's function limited to ascertaining parties' intent with regard to disputed Ee. If intent of parties is expressed in stipulation in clear and unmistakable terms, Bd will hold parties to their literal agreement. If stipulation is ambiguous, primary question is what parties meant. Thus, Bd has authority to interpret agreement according to what it finds to have been intent of parties]

N.L.R.B. v. Barker Steel Company, Inc. 800 F.2d 284 (C.A. 1, Sept. 1986)
[Bd erred in overruling challenge to ballot as name not on eligibility list, and stipulation for consent election agreed upon by parties: 1) named E different from one where Ee works (fact Bd found single E relationship not relevant); 2) stated Ees employed by named E were the ones parties intended to include in appropriate unit; 3) E's payroll was designated as basis for preparing eligibility list; 4) named E signed stip w/ U; and 5) description of E does not fit voter's E. Thus, stip clear on its face that intent of parties was that Ees of other E not eligible to vote and Bd must hold parties to their literal agreement]

5075-6700 Stipulations as to composition

ACL Corporation d/b/a Atlanta Hilton & Towers 278 NLRB No. 076
[E's withdrawal of recognition from U and refusal to bargain, on grounds unit was inappropriate, notwithstanding it agreed to stipulation for certification 5 years prior, violative, since unit in stipulation was approved by RD and unit on its face, did not violate any express statutory provision or established Bd policy; further, although Bd is required under 9(b) to determine appropriate unit, fact that RD initially approved stipulation signifies that unit was not contrary to Act or established Bd policy]

The Northern Virginia Solid Waste Collection District of Browning Ferris, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 049
(challenged ballot of dispatcher ordered to be opened and counted, since record evidence shows that he has daily contact with (unit) drivers, similar fringe benefits, and is subject to same rules and policies as unit Ees. Commu- nity-of-interest principles properly utilized where intent of parties was unclear from language of unit description in stipulated-unit election which did not include or exclude classification of dispatcher)

5075-6700—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Speedway Petroleum, Division of Emro Marketing Company 768 F.2d 151 (C.A. 7, July 1985)

[while other evidence of intent regarding voting eligibility of particular Ee may come from outside pre-election stipulation itself, Excelsior list is of little help in determining intended scope of stipulation, and submission into evidence of list does not preclude U ballot challenges since list is required for U's benefit; and to allow use of extremely broad language in standard pre-election stipulation combined with naming of specific Ee in Excelsior list to preclude ballot challenge to named Ee would severely undermine Bd's important and proper role in regulating elections]

7500 CRITERIA FOR DETERMINATION OF UNIT SCOPE AND COMPOSITION

7550 EMPLOYEE COMMUNITY OF INTEREST CONTROLLING

The Royal Sonesta, Inc. d/b/a Royal Laundry 277 NLRB No. 085

(Ees designated as valets held included in unit where stipulated unit description included job title valet and there was clear objective to include these Ees in unit and parties were bound by their stipulation; it is only when objective intent cannot be discerned that Bd finds party's subjective intent relevant and consequently considers community of interest factors)

Donnie M. Parris, A Sole Proprietorship d/b/a D & B Masonry 275 NLRB No. 193

(Ees who were employed by E intermittently w/o reasonable expectation of recall from layoff w/i reasonable period of time found casual Ees w/o community of interest with regular Ee and therefore not part of unit with him)

The Northern Virginia Solid Waste Collection District of Browning Ferris, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 049

(challenged ballot of dispatcher ordered to be opened and counted, since record evidence shows that he has daily contact with (unit) drivers, similar fringe benefits, and is subject to same rules and policies as unit Ees. Community-of-interest principles properly utilized where intent of parties was unclear from language of unit description in stipulated-unit election which did not include or exclude classification of dispatcher)

Shepherd's Uniform and Linen Supply Co. 274 NLRB No. 200

(U's contention that vocational education students did not share community of interest with unit Ees because shcool's guidelines for participation in program removed control over student Ees from E, rejected, since degree of control did not prevent them from sharing community of interest with unit Ees where students performed same duties, worked under same supervision, received same wages and benefits as unit Ees and E encouraged them to continue employment upon completion of the program and student had more of employment relationship with E rather than educational because he was not learning skill)

N.L.R.B. v. DMR Corp. and Harrill Electric Contractors, Inc. 795 F.2d 472 (C.A. 5, July 1986)

[in assessing Ees' community of interests, Bd must consider entire factual situation, and its discretion is not limited by requirement that its judgment by supported by all, or even most, of potentially relevant factors; therefore, harmonizing cases into uniform pattern is not wholly feasible, because of factual nature of determination, broad discretion in agency in making one of several acceptable choices, and limited scope of correctly applied judicial scrutiny]

N.L.R.B. v. Magna Corporation 734 F.2d 1057 (C.A. 5, June 1984)

[Bd's inclusion of plant storeroom specialist, a newly created and substantially changed job classification, in unit of plant clericals in unit clarification proceeding was inappropriate and case remanded, where Bd did not apply community of interest standard in determining community of interests between bargaining unit Ees and new job classification]

N.L.R.B. v. Indianapolis Mack Sales and Service, Inc. 802 F.2d 280 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1986)

[until Bd expressly modifies or repudiates rule that Ees in dealership's parts and service departments should be in same bargaining unit, unless there is affirmative showing that there is no substantial community of interest between 2 groups of Ees, Bd is bound by such rule]

7575 HEALTH CARE INSTITUTIONS

7575-2500 Direct versus indirect patient care

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194

(concept of direct (RNs, LPNs, nursing assistants) versus indirect patient care (service and maintenance Ees) as basis for making unit determinations in health care institutions, rejected)

7575-5000 Disparity among community of interest elements

North Arundel Hospital Association, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 048

[separate unit of registered nurses was inappropriate and all professional unit including registered nurses was smallest appropriate unit where it was not established that there were sharper than usual differences between terms and conditions of employment of registered nurses and other professional Ees]

Baker Hospital, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 038

[applying disparity-of-interest analysis to sought-for unit of hospital Ees, Bd found insufficient disparity of interests between office clericals and service and maintenance and technical Ees unit to justify exclusion of clericals from unit, where clericals had significant, work-related contact with unit Ees and shared many terms and conditions of employment with them; hence, there was no sharper than usual differences to demonstrate disparity of interests justifying clericals' exclusion]

Kodiak Area Hospital 278 NLRB No. 033

[on remand unit of professionals at hospital, including pharmacists, medical labaratory technologists, nurse anesthetists, social service director, and registered nurses, held appropriate, rather than separate unit of registered nurses, since separate unit of registered nurses did not meet sharper than usual differences from other Ees required to justify separate units at health care facilities, in light of St. Francis II, 271 NLRB 948, where all professional Ees subject to same personnel policies and procedures, and in view of overlap of functions and regular contact among professional Ees]

The Community Hospital at Glen Cove 278 NLRB No. 018

[separate unit of maintenance Ees inappropriate and unit consisting of those Ees and other non-professional Ees is only appropriate unit under disparity of interests test where petitioned-for unit consisted of only 30 out of 1100 Ees, various other non-professional Ees also possessed special skills i.e. EKG Technicians and Lab Technicians etc., pay grades and fringe benefits were the same, hospital had central labor relations policy and maintenance workers had frequent contact with other non-professional Ees]

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194

(appropriateness of petitioned-for-units is judged in terms of normal criteria, but sharper than usual differences (or disparities) between wages, hours, and working conditions, etc., of the requested Ees and those in overall professional or nonprofessional unit must be established to grant the unit)

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194

(where parties stipulated to exclude all other enumerated categories of Ees from service & maintenance unit, Bd held appropriate unit should include nurses aides and orderlies as they were not among the enumerated categories to be excluded. Further disparities of interest not so great to cause their exclusion and direct versus indirect patient care functions not valid basis for making unit determinations in health care industry)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212

(unit of technical Ees appropriate rather than unit of technical, service, maintenance and other nonprofessional Ees, since there was disparity of interests between technical, service, maintenance and nonprofessional Ees, where there were sharper than usual differences in wages and working conditions, technical Ees required special training, were highly skilled and rarely-transferred between other Ee groups; further, fact that some interchange existed between technical and nontechnical Ees because of team concept of patient care was irrelevant since much contact involved mere delivery of materials or messages by service Ees)

St. Luke's Memorial Hospital 274 NLRB No. 202

(Bd held petitioned-for unit of licensed practical nurses, inappropriate; contrary to RD's finding that separate bargaining history continues to be relevant and controlling factor in unit determination, Bd held that, under St. Francis, 271 NLRB No. 160, bargaining history is relevant but not controlling in that it is to be considered along with all other relevant factors in determining whether under disparity of interests test, unit is appropriate in health care industry)

St. Francis Medical Center JD-(SF)-069-85

[upon further consideration in light of St. Francis Hospital, 371 NLRB 948, separate unit of registered nurses at acute care hospital held inappropriate and ptn dismissed, and smallest appropriate unit would be unit of all professional Ees, especially in view of cooperation among professionals in interdisciplinary approach to health care, and lack of any sharper than usual difference between wages, hours, working conditions of registered nurses and other professionals]

8700 EFFECT UPON DETERMINATION OF IMMINENT CHANGE IN EMPLOYER'S OPERATION

420 FACTORS RELEVANT TO DETERMINATION OF SCOPE OR COMPOSITION OF UNIT

0100 GENERALLY

N.L.R.B. v. Paper Manufacturers Company, et al. 786 F.2d 163 (C.A. 3, Mar. 1986)

[factors relevant to determination of appropriate bargaining unit include (1) integration of operations (2) centralization of managerial and administrative control (3) geographic proximity (4) similarity of working conditions, skill, and functions (5) common control over labor relations (6) collective bargaining history, and (7) interchangeability of Ees]

0150 PRESUMPTION OF APPROPRIATENESS OF 9(b) UNITS

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[where U requested and Bd designated multi-location unit as appropriate, presumption that single location unit is appropriate does not apply but only works to assure that Bd determination that smaller unit is appropriate will almost never be subject to challenge; consequently, Bd herein was not required to rebut any presumptive appropriateness of single location units]

N.L.R.B. v. L & B Cooling, Inc. 757 F.2d 236 (C.A. 10, Mar. 1985)

(Bd's conclusion that extras hired by E engaged in lettuce cooling business in prior growing season were not included in bargaining unit, is supported by substantial evidence in record even if E shows that another unit might be more appropriate)

0600 PRIOR UNIT DETERMINATION

N.L.R.B. v. Indianapolis Mack Sales and Service, Inc. 802 F.2d 280 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1986)

[until Bd expresly modifies or repudiates rule that Ees in dealership's parts and service departments should be in same bargaining unit, unless there is affirmative showing that there is no substantial community of interest between 2 groups of Ees, Bd is bound by such rule]

0642 PRIOR BOARD DETERMINATION OR CERTIFICATION IN R CASE

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[Bd is not strictly bound by prior decisions regarding unit determinations because such determinations are dependent on slight variations of fact in each case; and each decision ultimately rests on unique circumstances of case]

0684 DETERMINATION OF STATE AGENCIES

Renaissance West Community Mental Health Center 276 NLRB No. 050

(Bd will not recognize validity of state-conducted election and certification unless 9(b)(1) provision has been followed in case of mixed unit of professional and nonprofessional Ees)

1200 BARGAINING HISTORY AND PRACTICE

1201 GENERALLY

United Artists Communications, Inc., Operating Capri Theatre 280 NLRB No. 119

[single location unit presumptively appropriate, absent controlling history of bargaining on broader basis]

St. Luke's Memorial Hospital 274 NLRB No. 202

(Bd held petitioned-for unit of licensed practical nurses, inappropriate; contrary to RD's finding that separate bargaining history continues to be relevant and controlling factor in unit determination, Bd held that, under St. Francis, 271 NLRB No. 160, bargaining history is relevant but not controlling in that it is to be considered along with all other relevant factors in determining whether under disparity of interests test, unit is appropriate in health care industry)

1209 BARGAINING HISTORY IN APPROPRIATE UNIT

The Green-Wood Cemetery 280 NLRB No. 157

[where negotiated contract expresly excluded office clerical Ees in contract's recognition clause, consistent with U's certification, and, following card check, E voluntarily recognized U as representative of office clerical Ees and executed another contract containing number of provisions applicable to clericals only and deleted exclusion of office clericals from recognition clause, Bd found that merger of units took place into single overall unit and refused to allow decertification election among office clericals only as unit in such election must be coextensive with certified or recognized unit]

Gibbs & Cox, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 110

[where E in NY set up separate division in VA and after card check voluntarily recognized certified U of NY unit as bargaining representative for new unit and applied existing contract of NY unit to VA unit, and thereafter negotiated new multilocation unit contract containing provisions specifically applicable to VA unit, E violated Act by withdrawing recognition from U at VA location and implementing unilateral changes there since unit became merged with NY unit to create multilocation unit notwithstanding VA unit could have qualified as separate unit at time of recognition, and E had good-faith doubt that VA unit no longer desired U as bargaining rep]

Gibbs & Cox, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 110

[Bd accorded greater weight to history of meaningful bargaining --4 years as bargaining representative and one negotiated contract-- over factors supporting shared community of interest at single location when it held that merger took place between two potentially separate units to create single multilocation unit]

Victor Block, Inc. and Syracuse Sand and Gravel, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 070

(separate units of operating engineers performing same and gravel pit operations and operating engineers performing highway construction found appropriate where, although Ees worked for two highly integrated companies found single E, and Ees shared community of interest, industry had history of separate units for two types of companies, and companies had history of separate U contract with different wages and benefits; Ees who worked for both companies at different times were compensated according to the U contract covering the unit of which they formed a part at that time)

Rock-tenn Company, Mill Division, Inc. and Rock-Tenn Company (Partition Division) 274 NLRB No. 114

(former two-plant unit of Ees at paper mill and partition plant, found no longer appropriate on basis of completely separate corporate and operational structure, lack of functional integration between paper mill and partition plant, decentralized labor relations and absence of Ee interchange or contact; compelling circumstances existed for disregarding bargaining history on two-plant basis where significant changes in organizational structure and operations of two plants occurred which negate any community of interest that may have existed previously among Ees)

ICI Americas, Inc. JD-328-85

(circumstances, such as U.S. Army's action in splitting bargaining unit in instant case, occurring after (Bd) certification may affect appropriateness of unit and negate long history of collective bargaining)

1218 ABSENCE OF BARGAINING HISTORY

United Artists Communications, Inc., Operating Capri Theatre 280 NLRB No. 119

[unit of candy attendants, cashiers, and usher/doormen at one E's movie theatres, appropriate, rather than area wide unit, absent history of bargaining on broader basis or interchange of Ees among locations, and where manager at each location had full responsibility for day to day operations, hiring, firing, disciplining of Ees, notwithstanding E's labor policies formulated on national scale]

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[in case involving appropriateness of multi-location unit, ct held that where there is no history of bargaining at any of the locations, and no other U

1218—Cont.

seeks to represent Ees, Bd may reasonably give some weight to petitioning U's desires for representation on multi-location basis]

1227 EMPLOYEES COVERED BY EXISTING CONTRACT

M. J. Santulli Mail Services, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 170

[where E's ans to C denied knowledge sufficient to form belief as to truth or falsity of allegation regarding appropriateness of unit, ALJ held unit description in C was correct and appropriate, consistent with that described in contract between E and U]

1245 BARGAINING HISTORY OF EMPLOYER'S PREDECESSOR

Hotel & Restaurant Employees, Local 19 (Vicorp Restaurants, Inc. d/b/a Seasons Restaurant) 277 NLRB No. 090

(bargaining units of Ees identical to units of predecessor E's Ees appropriate for collective-bargaining purposes w/i meaning of Sec. 9)

N.L.R.B. v. Indianapolis Mack Sales and Service, Inc. 802 F.2d 280 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1986)

[ct rejected Bd's argument that it could rely on bargaining history of predecessor alone to find unit was appropriate; Bd must examine facts and cannot simply rely on attenuated inference based on bargaining history of predecessor in absence of necessary factual predicate]

1281 BARGAINING PRACTICE IN INDUSTRY

Victor Black, Inc. and Syracuse Sand and Gravel, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 070

(separate units of operating engineers performing sand and gravel pit operations and operating engineers performing highway construction found appropriate where, although Ees worked for two highly integrated companies found single E, and Ees shared community of interest, industry had history of separate units for two types of companies, and companies had history of separate U contract with different wages and benefits; Ees who worked for both companies at different times were compensated according to the U contract covering the unit of which they formed a part at that time)

1700 REASONS FOR DISREGARD OF BARGAINING HISTORY

1787 BARGAINING HISTORY CONTRARY TO BOARD POLICY

St. Luke's Memorial Hospital 274 NLRB No. 202

(Bd held petitioned-for unit of licensed practical nurses, inappropriate; contrary to RD's finding that separate bargaining history continues to be relevant and controlling factor in unit determination, Bd held that, under St. Francis, 271 NLRB No. 160, bargaining history is relevant but not controlling in that it is to be considered along with all other relevant factors in determining whether under disparity of interests test, unit is appropriate in health care industry)

2300 CHANGED CIRCUMSTANCES SINCE PRIOR DETERMINATION OR HISTORY

2305 IN OPERATIONS

Ramada Inns, Inc. d/b/a Ramada Beverly Hills 278 NLRB No. 095

[in finding overall unit of hotel personnel, rather than separate units appropriate, Bd did not rely on prior RD decision finding separate units appropriate, where E's operation did not remain essentially unchanged but was substantially more centralized in its administration, particularly in personnel and labor relations, than it was previously when RD issues his decision]

2310 IN OWNERSHIP

Hotel & Restaurant Employees, Local 19 (Vicorp Restaurants, Inc. d/b/a Seasons Restaurant) 277 NLRB No. 090

(bargaining units of Ees identical to units of predecessor E's Ees appropriate for collective-bargaining purposes w/i meaning of Sec. 9)

N.L.R.B. v. Indianapolis Mack Sales and Service, Inc. 802 F.2d 280 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1986)

[under Act, appropriateness of unit and continuity between structure and operation of predecessor and successor are to be determined independently; fact that some of same evidence may bear on both questions does not mean that two are continuous; there may have been substantial continuity between businesses as whole, but changes made to specific department may call for reconsideration of appropriateness determination]

2315 IN REORGANIZATION

Rock-tenn Company, Mill Division, Inc. and Rock-Tenn Company (Partition Division) 274 NLRB No. 114

(former two-plant unit of Ees at paper mill and partition plant, found no longer appropriate on basis of completely separate corporate and operational structure, lack of functional integration between paper mill and partition plant, decentralized labor relations and absence of Ee interchange or contact; compelling circumstances existed for disregarding bargaining history on two-plant basis where significant changes in organizational structure and operations of two plants occurred which negate any community of interest that may have existed previously among Ees)

2320 IN PLANT LOCATION

N.L.R.B. v. Paper Manufacturers Company, et al. 786 F.2d 163 (C.A. 3, Mar. 1986)

[move of medical packaging division to same facility where regular packaging products manufactured w/i certification year not such changed circumstances that would justify E's refusal to bargain with U certified as representative of medical packaging Ees prior to move, where only upper echelons of management consolidated, almost all job descriptions remained intact, working conditions, skills, and functions, with exception of two maintenance Ees, separate and distinct, no interchange of Ees; contention relocated Ees accretion to Ees in other division at same facility and represented by another U, rejected]

2325 IN UNIT SIZE

Donnie M. Parris, A Sole Proprietorship d/b/a D & B Masonry 275 NLRB No. 199

(unit reduced to one-man no longer appropirate under statute)

2370 NEW PLANT OR LOCATION

N.L.R.B. v. Paper Manufacturers Company, et al. 786 F.2d 163 (C.A. 3, Mar. 1986)

[move of medical packaging division to same facility where regular packaging products manufactured w/i certification year not such changed circumstances that would justify E's refusal to bargain with U certified as representative of medical packaging Ees prior to move, where only upper echelons of management consolidated, almost all job descriptions remained intact, working conditions, skills, and functions, with exception of two maintenance Ees, separate and distinct, no interchange of Ees; contention relocated Ees accretion to Ees in other division at same facility and represented by another U, rejected]

2375 NEW OPERATION AT PLANT

N.L.R.B. v. Paper Manufacturers Company, et al. 786 F.2d 163 (C.A. 3, Mar. 1986)

[move of medical packaging division to same facility where regular packaging products manufactured w/i certification year not such changed circumstances that would justify E's refusal to bargain with U certified as representative of medical packaging Ees prior to move, where only upper echelons of management consolidated, almost all job descriptions remained intact, working conditions, skills, and functions, with exception of two maintenance Ees, separate and distinct, no interchange of Ees; contention relocated Ees accretion to Ees in other division at same facility and represented by another U, rejected]

2900 SIMILARITY OF TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT

2901 GENERALLY

N.L.R.B. v. DMR Corp. and Harrill Electric Contractors, Inc. 795 F.2d 472 (C.A. 5, July 1986)

[indicia which ultimately determine whether E-wide unit of 2 groups of electricians constitute appropriate bargaining unit are similarity of their work, skills, qualifications, duties and working conditions, centralized local control of labor policies which most immediately affect interest of Ees involved and common supervision]

2906 DIFFERENT WAGE RATES

Lycee Francais de New York 273 NLRB No. 191

(Bd found improper inclusion of certain Ees (exchange visitors) who are on leave from French Ministry of Education (Ministry) to teach at E for up to 3 years because they did not enjoy community of interest with locally hired Ees as they must comply with French rules of their profession, can be discharged only with permission of Ministry, are evaluated by Ministry, continue their French pension and health care plans, work same hours as in France and no taxes paid first 2 years)

2918 DIFFERENT HOURS OF WORK

Lycee Francais de New York 273 NLRB No. 191

(Bd found improper inclusion of certain Ees (exchange visitors) who are on leave from French Ministry of Education (Ministry) to teach at E for up to 3 years because they did not enjoy community of interest with locally hired

2918—Cont.

Ees as they must comply with French rules of their profession, can be discharged only with permission of Ministry, are evaluated by Ministry, continue their French pension and health care plans, work same hours as in France and no taxes paid first 2 years)

2924 DIFFERENT FRINGE BENEFITS

Lycee Francais de New York 273 NLRB No. 191

(Bd found improper inclusion of certain Ees (exchange visitors) who are on leave from French Ministry of Education (Ministry) to teach at E for up to 3 years because they did not enjoy community of interest with locally hired Ees as they must comply with French rules of their profession, can be discharged only with permission of Ministry, are evaluated by Ministry, continue their French pension and health care plans, work same hours as in France and no taxes paid first 2 years)

2930 DIFFERENT WORKING CONDITIONS

Lycee Francais de New York 273 NLRB No. 191

(Bd found improper inclusion of certain Ees (exchange visitors) who are on leave from French Ministry of Education (Ministry) to teach at E for up to 3 years because they did not enjoy community of interest with locally hired Ees as they must comply with French rules of their profession, can be discharged only with permission of Ministry, are evaluated bu Ministry, continue their French pension and health care plans, work same hours as in France and no taxes paid first 2 years)

2936 SEPARATE SUPERVISION

Save Mart of Modesto, Inc. JD-(SF)-25-85

]accretion to present unit of Ees outweighed by 2 significant factors--absence of interchange or regular contact between meat department Ees in new store and meat department Ees in E's other stores notwithstanding occasional use of floaters and lack of common day-to-day supervision over Ees of different stores as each one is autonomous)

3400 CHARACTERISTICS OF EMPLOYEES

4000 EMPLOYER'S ADMINISTRATIVE STRUCTURE

4025 CENTRAL CONTROL OF LABOR RELATIONS

Ramada Inns, Inc. d/b/a Ramada Beverly Hills 278 NLRB No. 095

[in finding overall unit of hotel personnel, rather than separate units appropriate, Bd did not rely on prior RD decision finding separate units appropriate, where E's operation did not remain essentially unchanged but was substantially more centralized in its administration, particularly in personnel and labor relations, than it was previously when RD issued his decision]

4075 CLASSIFICATION OF EMPLOYEES

The Royal Sonesta, Inc. d/b/a Royal Laundry 277 NLRB No. 085

(Ees designated as valets held included in unit where stipulated unit description included job title valet and there was clear objective to include these Ees in unit and parties were bound by their stipulation; it is only when objective intent cannot be discerned that Bd finds party's subjective intent relevant and consequently considers community of interest factors)

4600 EXTENT OF INTEGRATION OF OPERATION

4617 HIGHLY INTEGRATED OPERATIONS

Victor Block, Inc. and Syracuse Sand and Gravel, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 070

(separate units of operating engineers performing same and gravel pit operations and operating engineers performing highway construction found appropriate where, although Ees worked for two highly integrated companies found single E, and Ees shared community of interest, industry had history of separate units for two types of companies, and companies had history of separate U contract with different wages and benefits; Ees who worked for both companies at different times were compensated according to the U contract covering the unit of which they formed a part at that time)

4633 LITTLE OR NO INTEGRATION OF OPERATION

Save Mart of Modesto, Inc. JD-(SF)-25-85

]accretion to present unit of Ees outweighed by 2 significant factors--absence of interchange or regular contact between meat department Ees in new store and meat department Ees in E's other stores notwithstanding occasional use of floaters and lack of common day-to-day supervition over Ees of different stores as each one is autonomous)

5000 EXTENT OF CONTACT BETWEEN EMPLOYEES

5027 FREQUENT INTERCHANGE OR TRANSFER OF THE EMPLOYEES

Victor Block, Inc. and Syracuse Sand and Gravel, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 070

(separate units of operating engineers performing same and gravel pit operations and operating engineers performing highway construction found appropriate where, although Ees worked for two highly integrated companies found single E, and Ees shared community of interest, industry had history of separate units for two types of companies, and companies had history of separate U contract with different wages and benefits; Ees who worked for both companies at different times were compensated according to the U contract covering the unit of which they formed a part at that time)

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[frequency of Ee interchange is regarded as critical factor in ascertaining community of interest among Ees]

5034 LITTLE OR NO INTERCHANGE OR TRANSFER OF EMPLOYEES

Save Mart of Modesto, Inc. JD-(SF)-25-85

]accretion to present unit of Ees outweighed by 2 significant factors--absence of interchange or regular contact between meat department Ees in new store and meat department Ees in E's other stores notwithstanding occasional use of floaters and lack of common day-to-day supervision over Ees of different stores as each one is autonomous)

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[frequency of Ee interchange is regarded as critical factor in ascertaining community of interest among Ees]

5068 EMPLOYEES WORK IN SAME AREA

Raskin Brothers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 053

(bargaining order for separate unit of warehouse Ees held inappropriate, and unit composed of warehouse Ees and other Ees would negate the possibility of U's majority status, where E's entire facility consisted of a single one-story building and all categories of Ees--warehouse, sales and office--have occasion to be in all areas performing their jobs, warehouse Ees' duties are substantially integrated with other Ees, all Ees share common fringe benefits, are subject to common work rules and hiring, and discharge policies)

5600 FREQUENCY OR REGULARITY OF WORK

5650 PART-TIME WORK

N.L.R.B. v. Parsons School of Design, A Division of, The New School for Social Research 793 F.2d 503 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[no deference to Bd's discretion in using Sec. 102.67(b) vote and impound procedure to segregate small full-time (10%) overwhelming part-time faculty's vote w/o informing voters of reason where, pursuant to pre-election grant of request for review, Bd modified unit after election, since voters might have voted differently had they known of possible unit modification, and Bd could have avoided misinforming voters by developing another balloting process besides vote and impound procedure to allow voters to vote on U representation in alternative units]

6200 DIFFERENCE IN EMPLOYER OR IN LOCATION OF WORK

6280 GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION OF PLANTS

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[in considering appropriateness of multi-location unit, ct held geographical distances between facilities is important as to whether it is feasible for all Ees in such unit to participate w/o great difficulty in U activities; and fact that Ee transfers between facilities had occurred herein, at least on an infrequent basis, indicated that the distance was not so great as to present any severe obstacle to Ee participation in U activities]

6700 LEGAL REQUIREMENTS OF OTHER AUTHORITIES

7300 DESIRE OF PARTIES OR OF EMPLOYEES

7303 UNIT SOUGHT BY PETITION

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[in case involving appropriateness of multi-location unit, ct held that where there is no history of bargaining at any of the locations, and no other U seeks to represent Ees, Bd may reasonably give some weight to petitioning U's desires for representation on multi-location basis]

7306 DESIRE OF EMPLOYEES

7306—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[in case involving appropriateness of multi-location unit, ct held that, although Ees' wishes cannot supplant all other considerations. Ee choice can tip the balance in determining which of two equally appropriate units should be preferred]

7312 STIPULATION BY PARTIES

The Royal Sonesta, Inc. d/b/a Royal Laundry 277 NLRB No. 085

(Ees designated as valets held included in unit where stipulated unit description included job title valet and there was clear objective to include these Ees in unit and parties were bound by their stipulation; it is only when objective intent cannot be discerned that Bd finds party's subjective intent relevant and consequently considers community of interest factors)

Eastern Container Corporation 275 NLRB No. 215

(residual unit of maintenance mechanics and boiler firemen at corrugated box manufacturer, appropriate, where parties stipulated that all unrepresented Ees, other than maintenance Ees, should be excluded from either petitioned for unit or combined production and maintenance unit and these maintenance Ees are only unrepresented Ees who could appropriately be included in existing production unit, and existing representative of production unit does not seek to represent them)

N.L.R.B. v. Barker Steel Company, Inc. 800 F.2d 284 (C.A. 1, Sept. 1986)

[if dispute arises concerning Ee's eligibility to vote in stipulated unit election, Bd's function limited to ascertaining parties' intent with regard to disputed Ee. If intent of parties is expressed in stipulation in clear and unmistakable terms, Bd will hold parties to their literal agreement. If stipulation is ambiguous, primary question is what parties meant. Thus, Bd has authority to interpret agreement according to what it finds to have been intent of parties]

N.L.R.B. v. Barker Steel Company, Inc. 800 F.2d 284 (C.A. 1, Sept. 1986)

[Bd erred in overruling challenge to ballot as name not on eligibility list, and stipulation for consent election agreed upon by parties: 1) named E different from one where Ee works (fact Bd found single E relationship not relevant); 2) stated Ees employed by named E were the ones parties intended to include in appropriate unit; 3) E's payroll was designated as basis for preparing eligibility l' t; 4) named E signed stip w/ U; and 5) description of E does not fit voter's E. Thus, stip clear on its face that intent of parties was that Ees of other E not eligible to vote and Bd must hold parties to their literal agreement]

7900 ANTICIPATED CHANGES IN WORK CIRCUMSTANCES

8400 AVOIDANCE OF INCONGRUOUS RESULTS

8490 PROPORTION OF PART-TIME EMPLOYEES

N.L.R.B. v. Parsons School of Design, A Division of The New School for Social Research 793 F.2d 503 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[no deference to Bd's discretion in using Sec. 102.67(b) vote and impound procedure to segregate small full-time (10%) from overwhelming part-time faculty's vote w/o informing voters of reason where, pursuant to pre-election grant of request for review, Bd modified unit after election, since voters might have voted differently had they known of possible unit modification, and Bd could have avoided misinforming voters by developing another balloting process besides vote and impound procedure to allow voters to vote on U representation in alternative units]

9000 MULTIEMPLOYER UNIT DETERMINATION FACTORS

9005 EMPLOYER ASSENTED TO JOINING ASSOCIATION

Vincent Electric Company, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 122

[ptn for deauthorization of unit of E's Ees only, dismissed as for inappropriate unit where E, by signing IBEW letter of Assent-A, became part of multi-E association, and E's execution of memorandum permitting it to pay current wages for six months or until current contracts were completed was not inconsistent with assent to be bound by group bargaining, as letter of assent looked toward future contracts as well as the current one, memorandum provided for future jobs to be performed under association contractual terms, and E based all bids after execution of letter of assent on association-negotiated wage rates]

Accetta Millwork, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 020

(essential element warranting establishment of multi-E unit is clear evidence that Es unequivocally intend to be bound in collective bargaining by group rather than individual action)

Accetta Millwork, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 020

(Es held not to be bound by, or to have established, multi-E bargaining unit and RM ptns reinstated, where evidence clearly established that formal multi-E group was disbanded, subsequent to disbandment Es had engaged in informal group bargaining with U, joining and withdrawing from group w/o written notice to or consent by U, and there was no evidence that after disbandment of multi-E group, any Es had agreed to be bound by group decisions; further, fact that U bargained individually with splinter groups of Es, after disbandment of formal multi-E group, effectively fragmented any multi-E bargaining so as not to bind any Es to group decisions)

9013 EMPLOYER DID NOT AUTHORIZE ASSOCIATION TO BARGAIN FOR HIM

Accetta Millwork, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 020

(Es held not to be bound by, or to have established, multi-E bargaining unit and RM ptns reinstated, where evidence clearly established that formal multi-E group was disbanded, subsequent to disbandment Es had engaged in informal group bargaining with U, joining and withdrawing from group w/o written notice to or consent by U, and there was no evidence that after disbandment of multi-E group, any Es had agreed to be bound by group decisions; further, fact that U bargained individually with splinter groups of Es, after disbandment of formal multi-E group, effectively fragmented any multi-E bargaining so as not to bind any Es to group decisions)

9035 EMPLOYER MAY NEGOTIATE SEPARATELY FROM ASSOCIATION

Accetta Millwork, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 020

(Es held not to be bound by, or to have established, multi-E bargaining unit and RM ptns reinstated, where evidence clearly established that formal multi-E group was disbanded, subsequent to disbandment Es had engaged in informal group bargaining with U, joining and withdrawing from group w/o written notice to or consent by U, and there was no evidence that after disbandment of multi-E group, any Es had agreed to be bound by group decisions; further, fact that U bargained individually with splinter groups of Es, after disbandment of formal multi-E group, effectively fragmented any multi-E bargaining so as not to bind any Es to group decisions)

9048 EMPLOYER NOT BOUND BY RESULTS OF ASSOCIATION BARGAINING

Accetta Millwork, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 020

(Es held not to be bound by, or to have established, multi-E bargaining unit and RM ptns reinstated, where evidence clearly established that formal multi-E group was disbanded, subsequent to disbandment Es had engaged in informal group bargaining with U, joining and withdrawing from group w/o written notice to or consent by U, and there was no evidence that after disbandment of multi-E group, any Es had agreed to be bound by group decisions; further, fact that U bargained individually with splinter groups of Es, after disbandment of formal multi-E group, effectively fragmented any multi-E bargaining so as not to bind any Es to group decisions)

9600 MISCELLANEOUS OTHER FACTORS

9610 APPROPRIATENESS OF OTHER UNITS

Otasco, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 054

[election ordered in appropriate unit of over-the-road drivers, rather than petitioned for unit of over-the-road and local drivers, where contract in another unit including local drivers would constitute bar to election, and U was willing to proceed to election in alternative unit found appropriate]

9680 CONTINUITY OF OPERATIONS

N.L.R.B. v. Indianapolis Mack Sales and Service, Inc. 802 F.2d 280 (C.A. 7, Sept. 1986)

[under Act, appropriateness of unit and continuity between structure and operation of predecessor and successor are to be determined independently; fact that some of same evidence may bear on both questions does not mean that two are continuous; there may have been substantial continuity between businesses as whole, but changes made to specific department may call for reconsideration of appropriateness determination]

440 DETERMINATIONS OF SCOPE OF UNIT

1700 SINGLE LOCATION UNITS

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[where U requested and Bd designated multi-location unit as appropriate, presumption that single location unit is appropriate does not apply but only works to assure that Bd determination that smaller unit is appropriate will almost never be subject to challenge; consequently, Bd herein was not required to rebut any presumptive appropriateness of single location units]

1720 PLANTWIDE UNITS

1720-0100 Generally

1720-0133 Presumptive appropriateness

Charrette Drafting Supplies Corporation 275 NLRB No. 177

]when making unit determination in multi-facility operation in the retail industry, Bd finds single-facility presumptively appropriate, this presumption, however, may be overcome by showing of substantial integration which negates separate identity of single-facility unit, based on examination of factors such as control over daily operations and labor relations, Ees skills and functions, working conditions, Ee interchange, and geographic proximity of functions)

1720-3300 Specific unit determinations (by SIC category)

The Longcrier Company 277 NLRB No. 062

(countywide unit of dual function Ees who spend majority of time operating construction equipment for E who is constructing several large projects in county, inappropriate, but units of all ees on each project, appropriate, where each project is separate with each superintendent doing own hiring and disciplining, sets wages and work schedules, almost no transfer of Ees from one project to another, Ees terminated when project completed, and overlapping duties and functioned integration of work performed by dual function Ees with remaining Ees)

Charrette Drafting Supplies Corporation 275 NLRB No. 177

(petitioned for unit of Ees at single store of dealer in art supplies held inappropriate and ptn dismissed, since store had no independent activity and was completely integrated with another of E's stores, where E's general manager supervised both stores and managers of each store had limited authority, stock for both stores was unloaded and reloaded at one store for other store, and there were frequent between Ees at both stores, and temporary transfers of Ees between stores)

Ramada Inns, Inc. d/b/a Ramada Beverly Hills 278 NLRB No. 095

[overall unit of hotel personnel, rather than separate hotel service unit and food and beverage unit, appropriate, in view of E's high degree of functional integration and centralized policy making as evidenced by common pay rates and fringe benefits as well as centralized control of day-to-day operations and centralized formation of personnel practices, and fact that, although each Ee group has primary function, Ees in those groups assist each other, work in close and repeated contact, and generally act toward common goal of providing highly integrated services for hotel's guests]

1740 PLANT SUBDIVISION UNITS

1740-5000 Departmental units (See 440-1760, for departmental units defined by employee types or category)

1740-5025 Specific determinations (by SIC category)

N.L.R.B. v. Paper Manufacturers Company, et al. 786 F.2d 163 (C.A. 3, Mar. 1986)

[Bd did not err in concluding medical packaging division remained appropriate unit rather than accretion to unit of Ees in regular packaging division, following relocation of medical packaging division to same plant where regular packaging division located w/i certification year of medical packaging division unit, where only upper echelons of management consolidated, almost all job descriptions remained intact, working conditions with possible exception of two maintenance Ees, separate and distinct and no interchange of Ees]

1760 EMPLOYEE TYPE OR CATEGORY UNITS

1760-1000 Maintenance employees unit

1760-1040 Specific determination (by SIC category)

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[Bd did not abuse its discretion in concluding that, maintenance and engineering Ees at two Cleveland, Ohio office buildings (500 yards apart) constitute appropriate bargaining units, since maintenance superintendent and his immediate superior jointly supervise maintenance and engineering Ees at both locations which joint supervision indicates common supervision and centralized control of labor relations, similar wages, fringe benefits, holidays, job classifications and absence reporting systems show Ees have sufficient community of interest]

1760-1080 Placement of other employees in maintenance unit (by SIC category)

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[painter and garage maintenance Ee included in two building maintenance and engineer Ee bargaining unit, since they share community of interest with maintenance, engineering Ees unit because they enjoy common supervision and assistance as well as being paid on similar benefits as other Ees in unit]

1760-1500 Production & maintenance unit employees unit

1760-1580 Placement of other employees in P&M unit (by SIC category)

Eastern Container Corporation 275 NLRB No. 215

(residual unit of maintenance mechanics and boiler firemen at corrugated box manufacturer, appropriate, where parties stipulated that all unrepresented Ees, other than maintenance Ees, should be excluded from either petitioned for unit or combined production and maintenance unit and these maintenance Ees are only unrepresented Ees who could appropriately be included in existing production unit, and existing representative of production unit does not seek to represent them)

The Royal Sonesta, Inc. d/b/a Royal Laundry 277 NLRB No. 085

(plant clericals included in P&M unit at laundry where they performed unit work on laundry floor and thus shared community of interests with other unit Ees)

1760-1900 Office clerical employees unit

1760-1980 Placement of other employees in office clerical unit (by SIC category) (See also 440-1760-2900)

Consolidated Papers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 197

]merchant account representatives, merchant account trainees, and administrative assistant, who were transferred from location, held not accretion and not included in unit of office clericals at manufacturer of paper products, where Ees sought to be included were salaried Ees promoted on basis of merit, and in view of different benefits, supervision, and lack of interchange between unit Ees and those sought)

American Television & Communications Corporation d/b/a Austin Cablevision 279 NLRB No. 075

[salesclerks included in unit of office clericals employed by cablevision company by clarification, notwithstanding they work in separate department under separate supervision w/o interchange with other clericals, where their duties do not significantly differ from, and their functions are integrated with, those of other clericals, and they share the same breakroom, work the same hours, and receive the same benefits as other clericals, any difference in pay and benefits being due to E's position that they are not in unit and not covered by contract]

1760-2400 Plant clerical employees unit

1760-2480 Placement of other employees in plant clerical unit (by SIC category) (See also 440-1760-2900)

N.L.R.B. v. Magna Corporation 734 F.2d 1057 (C.A. 5, June 1984)

[Bd's inclusion of plant storeroom specialist, a newly created and substantially changed job classification, in unit of plant clericals in unit clarification

1760-2480—Cont.

proceeding was inappropriate and case remanded, where Bd did not apply community of interest standard in determining community of interests between bargaining unit Ees and new job classification]

1760-3400 Technical employees unit

1760-3420 Identifying characteristics

1760-3420-0100 Generally

Westvaco, Virginia, Folding Box Division v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 1171 (C.A. 4, July 1986)

[Bd has adhered to policy of not joining technical and non-technical Ees in same unit where unit placement of technical Ees is in issue. Technical Ees are those Ees who perform work of technical nature, requiring specialized training, to be acquired in colleges and technical schools and through special courses, and involving use of independent judgment]

1760-4300 Professional employees unit

1760-4301 Generally

1760-4301-5000 Statutory prerequisite of self-determination election

Baldwin League of Independent Schools 281 NLRB No. 134

[GC's mtn for summary judgment denied and case severed from remaining CA portions and remanded to RD where RD did not determine whether or not librarians were professional Ees to be included in uni. with teachers found to be professional Ees; if RD finds librarians to be nonprofessional, Sonotone election must be conducted to determine whether teachers desire to have librarians included in unit, see Sonotone Corp., 90 NLRB 1236 (1950)]

1760-4340 Specific determination (by SIC category)

David Walcott Kendall Memorial School a/k/a Kendall School of Design 279 NLRB No. 042

[ptn for clarification of unit of faculty members at art and technical school seeking to have them declared managerial Ees dismissed, since faculty did not formulate or effectuate management practices, particularly in view of fact individual faculty members' did not make decisions regarding their own classes, including determining course content and text, take field trips, cancel class, or substitute teacher w/o obtaining permission. Service on committees which made recommendations with varying results not indicia of managerial status since administration retained tight control of committees]

David Walcott Kendall Memorial School a/k/a Kendall School of Design 279 NLRB No. 042

[chairpersons at technical school held not managerial Ees and included in unit of faculty members, notwithstanding sat on dean's council which ostensibly had authority to make decisions not made in regular committee structure, evaluated faculty, decided whether teachers from other departments might teach in their departments, prepared schedules, budgets, made recommendations on hiring, since not clear what use made of faculty evaluations, chairpersons had no greater role in curriculum committee than othan other members, control over their departments and time spent in functions other than teaching limited]

1760-4380 Placement of other employees in professional employee unit (by SIC category)

Baldwin League of Independent Schools 281 NLRB No. 134

[GC's mtn for summary judgment denied and case severed from remaining CA portions and remanded to RD where RD did not determine whether or not librarians were professional Ees to be included in unit with teachers found to be professional Ees; if RD finds librarians to be nonprofessional, Sonotone election must be conducted to determine whether teachers desire to have librarians included in unit, see Sonotone Corp., 90 NLRB 1236 (1950)]

1760-6200 Drivers (including driver-salesmen) unit

1760-6240 Specific determination (by SIC category)

Typecraft Press, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 078

(separate unit of drivers, apart from other nonlithographic Ees employed by E engaged in printing student and local shopping newspapers, inappropriate where driving duties take only 55 to 60 percent of their time, and during the rest of their time they assist bindery department Ees, haul trash, clean up, and deliver messages; further, they receive same wages and benefits as nondriving Ees, share same facilities, work same hours, and are supervised and evaluated by same managers)

Otasco, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 054

[unit of all over-the-road drivers, rather than all over-the-road and local drivers, employed by E engaged in retail and wholesale sale of automotive and household goods, excluding warehouse and service Ees (which includes maintenance and repair men and local truckdrivers), salesmen, and watchmen, appropriate where latter unit was rendered inappropirate by inclusion of local drivers covered by contract barring election, and U was willing to proceed to election in alternative unit found appropriate]

1760-6700 Warehouse Employees Unit

1760-6720 Identifying characteristics

Raskin Brothers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 053

(Bd will find separate unit of warehouse Ees appropriate if: (1) warehouse Ees are under separate supervision from other Ees; (2) they perform substantially all of their work tasks in buildings geographically separated from those in which the bulk of remaining Ees of the E work; and (3) the warehouse Ees' duties are not substantially integrated with other Ees'; further, only where all three of these conditions are met is a separate unit of warehouse Ees appropriate)

1760-6740 Specific determination (by SIC category)

Raskin Brothers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 053

(bargaining order for separate unit of warehouse Ees held inappropriate, and unit composed of warehouse Ees and other Ees would negate the possibility of U's majority status, where E's entire facility consisted of a single one-story building and all categories of Ees--warehouse, sales and office--have occasion to be in all areas performing their jobs, warehouse Ees' duties are substantially integrated with other Ees, all Ees share common fringe benefits, are subject to common work rules and hiring, and discharge policies)

Crest Industries Corp. 276 NLRB No. 067

(unit of warehouse Ees, appropriate, rather than unit which also included office clerical Ees, where occasional, minimal involvement between clericals and warehouse Ees, such as bringing orders to warehouse, unpacking, marking and packing cartons and preparing paperwork, could not serve to provide community of interest between two groups of Ees)

Charrette Drafting Supplies Corporation 275 NLRB No. 177

(separate unit of operations Ees at retail store dealing in art supplies, held not appropriate, since substantial integration of operations Ees with other Ees in performance of duties, and no geographical separation from other Ees or separate supervision as required by A. Harris Co., 116 NLRB 1628, and Robards, Inc., 272 NLRB No. 203, for separate warehouse units)

1760-6780 Placement of other employees in warehouse employees unit (by SIC category)

S & S Parts Distributors Warehouse, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 138

]customer credit clerk in core (returned goods) department at auto parts wholesaler, included in unit, in view of face to face contact with warehouse Ees, close integration of her function with that of core department Ees, and similarity between her skills and those of regular order takers in unit)

S & S Parts Distributors Warehouse, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 138

(customer catalogue Ee at auto parts wholesaler not included in unit, not withstanding she goes into warehouse several times a day to place catalogues and for shipping and contention her duties analogous to those of warehouse Ees in that she provided catalogues needed by customers to intiate order filling process by supplying identification information to customers, where her duties were not so bound up in order filling process itself so as to provide her with community of interest with order filling and processing Ees)

S & S Parts Distributors Warehouse, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 138

]bookkeeper substitute order taker at auto parts wholesaler who kept small sets of books for E's customers who requested service, shared office with head bookkeeper, cashier, and accounts payable bookkeeper, not included in unit notwithstanding she had previously worked as regular order taker, and it was anticipated she would substitute as order taker in future (but it was indefinite to what extent))

S & S Parts Distributors Warehouse, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 138

]special order takers at auto parts wholesaler included in unit in view of community of interest with unit Ees where special order takers must have knowledge of way merchandise is moved through warehouse, preparation and handling of pick tickets (notices of what was actually shipped to customer) is central to their functions, and further, both Ees in this classification dalt directly with customers on telephone as did regular order takers who were in unit)

1760-7200 Sales personnel (including driver- salesmen when grouped with sales personnel) unit

1760-7280 Placement of other employees in sales personnel unit (by SIC category)

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148

[lease manager of automobile dealer excluded from unit of new and used car salesmen for lack of community of interest where he had different wages, hours, and kind of work]

1760-7600 Service employees unit

1760-7640 Specific determination (by SIC category)

U.S. Pollution Control, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 042

[pollution control specialist employed by E engaged in hazardous waste disposal found dual function Ee and excluded from unit, since he lacked community of interest with unit Ees where he spent half his time on nonunit sales work, had different supervisor, had no interchange of duties with unit

1760-7640—Cont.

Ees and, unlike them, received sick leave benefits and did not punch time clock or receive overtime pay]

1760-9100 Craft unit

1760-9133 Identifying characteristics

1760-9133-4300 Need for special training or skill

Dodge City of Wauwatosa, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 071

[separate craft unit of auto mechanics rather than overall service department unit at auto dealership held appropriate, where training and skills--almost all are certified and all are required to take periodic training classes--which must be and are possessed by E's mechanics set them apart from rest of service department Ees as craftsmen who may be represented in separate unit]

1760-9167 Specific determination (by specific craft)

1760-9167-0200 Automobile mechanics

1760-9167-0233 Found appropriate

Dodge City of Wauwatosa, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 071

[separate craft unit of auto mechanics rather than overall service department unit at auto dealership held appropriate, where training and skills--almost all are certified and all are required to take periodic training classes--which must be and are possessed by E's mechanics set them apart from rest of service department Ees as craftsmen who may be represented in separate unit]

1760-9167-2400 Electricians

1760-9167-2433 Found appropriate

DMR Corp. and Harrill Electric Contractors, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 007

(upon ct remand, Bd upheld ALJ's finding that on basis of newly developed evidence that only appropriate unit was single unit of electricians, where during employment by Es herein found to constitute single E, electricians performed mix of same kinds of commercial and residential work, using much the same skills, there was carryover of on-the-job supervision and substantial continuity of top management, and first E's purpose in avoiding U obligation in shift from first E to second E warrants observation that only real difference, other than name, between first E working on projects and second E was absence of U labor)

1760-9167-4800 Meatcutters

1760-9167-4867 Found inappropriate

Hall's Super Markets, Inc. d/b/a Hall's Super Duper 281 NLRB No. 150

[separate unit of meat department Ees at grocery store, inappropriate where less than 1 percent of business involved traditional meatcutting skills, and Ees principally shelved prepackaged products and trimmed and cut boxed beef into smaller portions for sale; nor did separate work area, lack of interchange, and U's representation of separate meat department units in area stores make unit appropriate where Ees had wages, facilities and supervision in common with other Ees, and meat business had changed during two-year interim since meat department Ees were previously represented in separate unit]

1760-9900 Other units defined by employee type or category, or combinations of such

1760-9940 Specific determination (by SIC category)

Concourse Village, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 004

(unit at cooperative apartment complex clarified to include all maintenance Ees, including handymen, porters, utility porter, dispatcher, truck driver, stock clerk, boilerman and touchup painter, and excluding assistant maintenance director and superintendents, who are supervisors)

N.L.R.B. v. Parsons School of Design, A Division of The New School for Social Research 793 F.2d 503 (C.A. 2, June 1986)

[unit of part-time faculty at one of three campuses of design school division of university found appropriate unit by ct based on Bd's findings and to avoid further delay of election where ct had refused to enforce order that E bargain with U representing part-time faculty because it found Bd had denied voters opportunity to make informed choice where it had reduced unit's scope after election from all faculty to part-time faculty only and counted only latter's ballots, which had been segregated]

1760-9980 Placement of (other) employees in (subject) unit (by SIC category)

Typecraft Press, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 078

(paste-up Ees included in unit of lithographic production Ees, including camera, web press and sheet-fed press department Ees, of E engaged in printing student and local shopping newspapers where they are trained on the job and punch time-clock like unit Ees, receive same benefits and wage scale, share common facilities, have significant amount of interchange with camera department Ees, who are in unit, and have same managers handling personnel and labor-related matters)

Typecraft Press, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 078

(typesetters included in unit of lithographic production Ees, including camera, web press and sheet-fed press department Ees, of E engaged in printing student and local shopping newspapers where they are trained on the job and punch a time-clock like unit Ees, receive same benefits and wage scale, have substantial daily contact and interchange with paste-up Ees, found part of unit herein, and are frequently helped by camera Ees, also part of unit)

Quality Plastic Molds, Inc., and Titan Enterprises, Corp. JD-(NY)-143-86

(operator and operator programmer of CNC machine for milling and cutting included in unit of tool and mold makers, machinists, polishers, and apprentices, excluding official, clerical, and professional Ees and designers, employed by designer and manufacturer of plastic molds in view of close physical and working contact with unit members, shared working conditions, common supervision and control of labor relations, job interchange, and bargaining history)

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056

[dual function Ee operating primarily as sales representative for country music radio station but also as announcer excluded from unit of announcers where he announced on irregular, rather than regular, part-time basis, had specialized announcement duties outside the studio, and was compensated by commission, rather than salary]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056

[dual function Ee operating primarily as sales representative for country music radio station but also as sports broadcaster excluded from unit of announcers where he received salary plus commission, rather than salary alone, did not prepare his broadcasts in same area as, or work with, copywriters or continuity department Ees like announcers, worked irregularly and broadcasted irregularly for total of only seven minutes a week]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056

[farm show announcer at country music radio station excluded from unit of announcers where it was questionable as towhether her future employment had even been agreed upon prior to date of U demand and she was unknown to unit Ees]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056

[Ee listed as sec/traffic/billing/news/Disc Jockey at country music radio station excluded from unit of announcers where she did no announcing work, had had only one 30-second report that she called in broadcast, and was not a statutory Ee but an individual employed by (her) parent, her father being president and sole stockholder of E]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056

[copywriter at country music radio station excluded from unit of announcers where she did commercials on the air on irregular basis]

Mid-State Distributing Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 172

(inventory clerk invluded in unit of drivers and warehousemen of wholesale beer distributor and held eligible to vote as dual function Ee, where majority of Ee's time was spent on duties more associated with shipping and receiving duties of plant clerical rather than those of office clerical, notwithstanding her not insignificant office clerical functions such as those of receptionist, and notwithstanding different method of pay and supervision than unit Ees)

College of English Language, Los Angeles, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 105

(separate unit of teachers at college teaching English as second language to foreign language students, rather than unit including nonteachers, held appropriate, irrespective of teachers' professional status, in view of nonteachers' lack of qualifications to be teachers; difference in work schedules of teachers and nonteachers; office and work designated areas provided for nonteachers, but not for teachers; teachers' higher pay; and fact that teachers' employment conditions were governed by teachers' handbook, and they are only Ees having contracts with E)

1780 OTHER EMPLOYEE GROUPINGS

1780-6000 Residual employee units

1780-6080 Appropriateness of residual employees

1780-6080-6700 Previously represented employees

Eastern Container Corporation 275 NLRB No. 215

(residual unit of maintenance mechanics and boiler firemen at corrugated box manufacturer, appropriate, where parties stipulated that all unrepresented Ees, other than maintenance Ees, should be excluded from either petitioned for unit or combined production and maintenance unit and these maintenance Ees are only unrepresented Ees who could appropriately be included in existing production unit, and existing representative of production unit does not seek to represent them)

3300 MULTIPLE-LOCATION UNITS OF SINGLE EMPLOYER

3301 GENERALLY

3301—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[Bd enumerated factors it considers in evaluating community of interests among Ees working at more than one location: (1) similarity in Ee skills, duties, and working conditions, (2) functional integration of business, including Ee interchange, (3) centralized control of management and supervision, (4) geographical separation of facilities, (5) bargaining history and extent of U organization, and (6) Ee choice]

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[although appropriateness of unit is distinct issue from that of scope of E's operation, factors involved in evaluating each question substantially overlap; thus, finding that Es are single integrated E is relevant to assessment of functional integration in determining appropriateness of unit]

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[where U requested and Bd designated multi-location unit as appropriate, presumption that single location unit is appropriate does not apply but only works to assure that Bd determination that smaller unit is appropriate will almost never be subject to challenge; consequently, Bd herein was not required to rebut any presumptive appropriateness of single location units]

3325 CRITERIA OF APPROPRIATENESS

United Artists Communications, Inc., Operating Capri Theatre 280 NLRB No. 119

[single location unit presumptively appropriate, absent controlling history of bargaining on broader basis]

Charrette Drafting Supplies Corporation 275 NLRB No. 177

[when making unit determination in multi-facility operation in the retail industry, Bd finds single-facility presumptively appropriate, this presumption, however, may be overcome by showing of substantial integration which negates separate identity of single-facility unit, based on examination of factors such as control over daily operations and labor relations, Ees skills and functions, working conditions, Ee interchange, and geographic proximity of functions]

Rock-tenn Company, Mill Division, Inc. and Rock-Tenn Company (Partition Division) 274 NLRB No. 114

(former two-plant unit of Ees at paper mill and partition plant, found no longer appropriate on basis of completely separate corporate and operational structure, lack of functional integration between paper mill and partition plant, decentralized labor relations and absence of Ee interchange or contact; compelling circumstances existed for disregarding bargaining history on two-plant basis where significant changes in organizational structure and operations of two plants occurred which negate any community of interest that may have existed previously among Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[Bd did not abuse its discretion in concluding that, maintenance and engineering Ees at two Cleveland, Ohio office buildings (500 yards apart) constitute appropriate bargaining units, since maintenance superintendent and his immediate superior jointly supervise maintenance and engineering Ees at both locations which joint supervision indicates common supervision and centralized control of labor relations, similar wages, fringe benefits, holidays, job classifications and absence reporting systems show Ees have sufficient community of interest]

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[single unit covering separate cable TV systems and their managing company held appropriate, particularly in view of striking similarity of Ee skills, duties, and working conditions, and notwithstanding day-to-day management and personnel relations by system managers and some extent of interrelation and Ee interchange, which tended to make separate units more appropriate, but Bd need only designate an appropriate unit which need not be most appropriate unit; and there was failure to show not merely that some other unit would have been more appropriate, but that Bd's designated unit was clearly inappropriate]

3350 EMPLOYERWIDE UNITS

3350-2500 Separate firms as single employer

G.M. Trimming, Inc., et al., Debtor-In-Possession, and George Marks 279 NLRB No. 121

[Fact that two affiliated firms constitute single E does not necessarily establish that E wide unit is appropriate. Factors relevant in identifying breadth of E's operation not conclusively determinative of scope of appropriate unit, factors which must be considered include separateness of supervision of Ees, separateness of location, lack of Ee interchange, evidence of functional integration, and whether labor policies in different companies involved are dependent on their own needs or common needs]

Kenneth L. Hand Sr. d/b/a Neighborhood Roofing and Contracting, and Kenneth L. Hand Jr. and Sylvia Hand d/b/a Farrand Park Services 276 NLRB No. 081

(single unit encompassing roofing Ees of both respondents found to be single E, appropriate where record shows that control of labor relations and daily operations were centralized in one individual, degree of interchange and contact among Ees was so extensive as to negate mtn that there were two separate and definable groups of Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[single unit covering separate cable TV systems and their managing company held appropriate, particularly in view of striking similarity of Ee skills, duties, and working conditions, and notwithstanding day-to-day management and personnel relations by system managers and some extent of interrelation and Ee interchange, which tended to make separate units more appropriate, but Bd need only designate an appropriate unit which need not be most appropriate unit; and there was failure to show not merely that some other unit would have been more appropriate, but that Bd's designated unit was clearly inappropriate]

3350-7500 Specific unit determination (by SIC category)

The Longerier Company 277 NLRB No. 062

(countywide unit of dual function Ees who spend majority of time operating construction equipment for E who is constructing several large projects in county, inappropriate, but units of all ees on each project, appropriate, where each project is separate with each superintendent doing own hiring and disciplining, sets wages and work schedules, almost no transfer of Ees from one project to another, Ees terminated when project completed, and overlapping duties and functioned integration of work performed by dual function Ees with remaining Ees)

Victor Block, Inc. and Syracuse Sand and Gravel, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 070

(separate units of operating engineers performing same and gravel pit operations and operating engineers performing highway construction found appropriate where, although Ees worked for two highly integrated companies found single E, and Ees shared community of interest, industry had history of separate units for two types of companies, and companies had history of separate U contract with different wages and benefits; Ees who worked for both companies at different times were compensated according to the U contract covering the unit of which they formed a part at that time)

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company 280 NLRB No. 016

[districtwide units of nonmanagement Ees in telephone company's business marketing and residence marketing departments inappropriate, since smallest appropriate unit was systemwide unit for each department, in view of high degree of centralization in labor relations and employment policies; limited autonomy of departments' district managers; Ee interchange between both departments' districts; and fact that, while requested units constituted administrative subdivisions, Ees did not share sufficiently distinct community of interest to warrant bargaining in less than systemwide unit, and terms and conditions of employemnt were uniform]

N.L.R.B. v. Carson Cable TV; et al. 795 F.2d 879 (C.A. 9, July 1986)

[single unit covering separate cable TV systems and their managing company held appropriate, particularly in view of striking similarity of Ee skills, duties, and working conditions, and notwithstanding day-to-day management and personnel relations by system managers and some extent of interrelation and Ee interchange, which tended to make separate units more appropriate, but Bd need only designate an appropriate unit which need not be most appropriate unit; and there was failure to show not merely that some other unit would have been more appropriate, but that Bd's designated unit was clearly inappropriate]

N.L.R.B. v. First Union Management, Inc. 777 F.2d 330 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[Bd did not abuse its discretion in concluding that, maintenance and engineering Ees at two Cleveland, Ohio office buildings (500 yards apart) constitute appropriate bargaining units, since maintenance superintendent and his immediate superior jointly supervise maintenance and engineering Ees at both locations which joint supervision indicates common supervision and centralized control of labor relations, similar wages, fringe benefits, holidays, job classifications and absence reporting systems show Ees have sufficient community of interest]

United Artists Communications, Inc., Operating Capri Theatre 280 NLRB No. 119

[unit of candy attendants, cashiers, and usher/doormen at one E's movie theatres, appropriate, rather than area wide unit, absent history of bargaining on broader basis or interchange of Ees among locations, and where manager at each location had full responsibility for day to day operations, hiring, firing disciplining of Ees, notwithstanding E's labor policies formulated on national scale]

3375 LESS THAN EMPLOYERWIDE UNITS

440-DETERMINATIONS OF SCOPE OF UNIT

3375-3700 Metropolitan area (including multistate metropolitan areas)

3375-3750 Specific determination (by SIC category)

The Longcrier Company 277 NLRB No. 062
(countywide unit of dual function Ees who spend majority of time operating construction equipment for E who is constructing several large projects in county, inappropriate, but units of all ees on each project, appropriate, where each project is separate with each superintendent doing own hiring and disciplining, sets wages and work schedules, almost no transfer of Ees from one project to another, Ees terminated when project completed, and overlapping duties and functioned integration of work performed by dual function Ees with remaining Ees)

3375-5000 Less than statewide other than metropolitan area

3375-5050 Specific determination (by SIC category)

Kobacker Stores, Inc. d/b/a Pic-Way Shoe Mart 274 NLRB No. 132
(district-wide unit of retail shoe stores located in 2 city areas found appropriate rather than 1 city area unit, where stores in one area are sufficiently close to other area to be easily accessible to district supervisor, district supervisor does not rubber stamp decisions of store managers, and he participates substantially in control of stores w/i his district; furthermore, integration of those stores is demonstrated by movement of personnel between two areas)

5000 MULTIEMPLOYER UNITS (SEE ALSO 530-5700)

5001 GENERALLY

Accetta Millwork, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 020
(essential element warranting establishment of multi-E unit is clear evidence that Es unequivocally intend to be bound in collective bargaining by group rather than individual action)

5033 IDENTIFYING CHARACTERISTICS

5033-6000 Employers associated in bargaining

5033-6020 Intent of employers

Vincent Electric Company, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 122
[ptn for deauthorization of unit of E's Ees only, dismissed as for inappropriate unit where E, by signing IBEW letter of Assent-A, became part of multi-E association, and E's execution of memorandum permitting it to pay current wages for six months or until current contracts were completed was not inconsistent with assent to be bound by group bargaining, as letter of assent looked toward future contracts as well as the current one, memorandum provided for future jobs to be performed under association contractual terms, and E based all bids after execution of letter of assent on association-negotiated wage rates]

Accetta Millwork, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 020
(Es held not to be bound by, or to have established, multi-E bargaining unit and RM ptns reinstated, where evidence clearly established that formal multi-E group was disbanded, subsequent to disbandment Es had engaged in informal group bargaining with U, joining and withdrawing from group w/o written notice to or consent by U, and there was no evidence that after disbandment of multi-E group, any Es had agreed to be bound by group decisions; further, fact that U bargained individually with splinter groups of Es, after disbandment of formal multi-E group, effectively fragmented any multi-E bargaining so as not to bind any Es to group decisions)

5033-6040 Authority of association

Arden Electric, et al. 275 NLRB No. 095
(U's ptns seeking single-E units of Es who had participated in multi-E unit represented by E association held not proper for dismissal, where E-members and E association intended to limit latter's authority so as to bargain only with IBEW or other Us as determined by board of directors and, upon accepting petitioner's disclaimer and thereby agreeing to dissolution of multi-E unit, E association could not bind Es to multi-E bargaining relationship with substitute for petitioner)

5033-6080 Withdrawal from association

Accetta Millwork, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 020
(Es held not to be bound by, or to have established, multi-E bargaining unit and RM ptns reinstated, where evidence clearly established that formal multi-E group was disbanded, subsequent to disbandment Es had engaged in informal group bargaining with U, joining and withdrawing from group w/o written notice to or consent by U, and there was no evidence that after disbandment of multi-E group, any Es had agreed to be bound by group decisions; further, fact that U bargained individually with splinter groups of Es, after disbandment of formal multi-E group, effectively fragmented any multi-E bargaining so as not to bind any Es to group decisions)

5033-8000 Assent of union to multiemployer unit (for multiunion bargaining, See 554-700)

Arden Electric, et al. 275 NLRB No. 095
(U's disclaimer resulting in dissolution of multi-E unit represented by E association and concurrent ptn for single E units held not to constitute unlawful whipsawing requiring dismissal of ptn, since any whipsaw-effect results from parties' relationship and from E association's decision to attempt to substitute on multi-E basis new U for disclaiming U; if alleged whipsawing were basis for dismissing ptns, w/o returning parties to status quo ante, Bd would preclude any inquiry into Es' consent to bargaining with substitute U and obligate them to multi-E unit bargaining they had never authorized)

6700 ADDITIONS OF GROUPS OF EMPLOYEES TO EXISTING UNITS

6701 GENERALLY

Roundup Company d/b/a Meyer's Cafe & Konditorei, A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Fred Meyer, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 001
[Bd has refused to accrete a larger complement of Ees into a smaller unit invariably when it involved attempt to include in the smaller unit a separate group of preexisting Ees with a separate history of representation or nonrepresentation]

The Seven-Up/Canada Dry Bottling Company of Pittsburgh, A Division of Beverage Management, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 128
[Where E, by restructuring job classifications, seeks to separate certain Ees from established bargaining unit, combine them with a smaller number of formerly unrepresented Ees, and avoid bargaining with representative of established unit, Bd, in applying accretion analysis, will focus primarily on policy encouraging stable bargaining relationships, accord lesser weight to freedom of choice, and place burden on E to show that new Ee grouping is sufficiently dissimilar from previously established unit to warrant separation]

United States Steel Corporation 280 NLRB No. 098
[Bd considers such factors as functional integration, shared supervisors, relative job skills, physical proximity, and bargaining history in determining whether new job classification constitutes accretion to existing unit]

Safeway Stores, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 099
(while agreeing with ALJ that new chain retail store was not accretion to existing multi-store unit in light of factors relied on by ALJ, Bd noted fact that district manager rather than new store manager was engaged in adjusting grievances was relevant in determining whether new store was accreted to existing multistore unit)

Rainey Security Agency, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 041
(whether new group of Ees may properly be accreted into existing unit turns on entire congeries of facts in each case; however, accretion is to be regarded as narrow exception to general rule against premature recognition and valid accretion will be found only when the additional Ees have little or no separate group identity and thus cannot be considered to be separate appropriate unit and when additional Ees share an overwhelming community of interest with preexisting unit to which they are accreted)

Save Mart of Modesto, Inc. JD-(SF)-25-85
(party arguing accretion must demonstrate that expanded unit would be appropriate for bargaining, as well as demonstrating that group to be added would not in itself constitute an appropriate unit)

Save Mart of Modesto, Inc. JD-(SF)-25-85
(right of unit Ees to select their bargaining representative is predominant consideration under Section 7 of Act and is to be restricted only under compelling conditions concerning resolution of unit and accretion issues)

Save Mart of Modesto, Inc. JD-(SF)-25-85
]accretion to present unit of Ees outweighed by 2 significant factors--absence of interchange or regular contact between meat department Ees in new store and meat department Ees in E's other stores notwithstanding occasional use of floaters and lack of common day-to-day supervision over Ees of different stores as each one is autonomous)

Save Mart of Modesto, Inc. JD-(SF)-25-85
(Us should resolve close questions concerning extension of bargaining agreements in favor of proselytizing Ees in question rather than seeking to represent them through the fait accomplai of accretion)

Westvaco, Virginia, Folding Box Division v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 1171 (C.A. 4, July 1986)
[Bd has determined that accretion of Ees to existing unit can be made only when additional Ees have little or no separate identity and thus cannot be considered to be separate appropriate unit and when additional Ees share overwhelming community of interests with preexisting unit to which they are accreted]

Westvaco, Virginia, Folding Box Division v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 1171 (C.A. 4, July 1986)
[Bd has cautious policy towards accretion. When substantial factors militate against accretion ptn, Bd has permitted U election. Refusing accretion in doubt- ful cases is preferable because it protects Ees' freedom to choose bargaining representative]

6701—Cont.

Westvaco, Virginia, Folding Box Division v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 1171 (C.A. 4, July 1986)

[Bd has adopted multi-factor approach to decision making in accretion cases. In making its determination Bd closely analyzes circumstances of workers to determine whether new and old Ees truly share community of interests. To do this several factors are scruntinized: (1) similarity of working conditions; (2) job classification; (3) skills and functions; (4) similarity of products; (5) interchangability of Ees; (6) geographical proximity; (7) centralization of managerial contral; (8) functional integration of business; (9) collective bargaining history]

Westvaco, Virginia, Folding Box Division v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 1171 (C.A. 4, July 1986)

[Bd abused its discretion when it held Ees to be accretion to existing unit, and departed from its existing standard for accretion of overwhelming community of interests w/o stating its reasons for change. Record revealed no similarity of working conditions, working area, status of Ees, methods of compensation, or fringe benefits]

N.L.R.B. v. DMR Corp. and Harrill Electric Contractors, Inc. 795 F.2d 472 (C.A. 5, July 1986)

[in certification case, unit need not be most appropriate, but only one which is appropriate under circumstances; by contrast, in accretion case, group of Ees is properly accreted to existing bargaining unit when they have such close community of interests with existing unit that they have no true identity distinct from it]

N.L.R.B. v. DMR Corp. and Harrill Electric Contractors, Inc. 795 F.2d 472 (C.A. 5, July 1986)

[heightened concern for interests of Ees to be accreted arises from accretion's interference with Ees' freedom to choose their own bargaining agents]

Machinists, District Lodge No. 190, Local Lodge No. 1414 v. N.L.R.B. (Towne Ford Sales and Town Imports) 759 F.2d 1477 (C.A. 9, May 1985)

(in finding no accretion, Bd does not need to find that these Ees sought to be accreted constitute separate appropriate bargaining unit)

6725 SINGLE-LOCATION UNITS

6725-5000 Plant subdivision units

6725-5050 Departmental units

6725-5050-5000 Specific determination

6725-5050-5067 Employees held not to be accretion

N.L.R.B. v. Paper Manufacturers Company, et al. 786 F.2d 163 (C.A. 3, Mar. 1986)

[Bd did not err in concluding medical packaging division remained appropriate unit rather than accretion to unit of Ees in regular packaging division, following relocation of medical packaging division to same plant where regular packaging division located w/i certification year of medical packaging division unit, where only upper echelons of management consolidated, almost all job descriptions remained intact, working conditions with possible exception of two maintenance Ees, separate and distinct and no interchange of Ees]

6725-7500 Employee type or category units

6725-7515 Production and maintenance employees unit

6725-7515-5000 Specific determination

6725-7515-5067 Employees held not to be accretion

Westvaco, Virginia, Folding Box Division v. N.L.R.B. 795 F.2d 1171 (C.A. 4, July 1986)

[utility technicians who operated solvent recovery equipment at manufacturer of cartons engraved by rotogravure process held not accretion to existing P&M unit, since utilities technicians and P&M Ees did not share required overwhelming community of interest, where utilities technicians performed unique tasks in distinct area under separate supervision, were specially trained for their positions, were not interchangeable with P&M Ees, were paid salaries rather than hourly wages, enjoyed different fringe benefits, and also have separate identity]

6725-7519 Office clerical employees unit

6725-7519-5000 Specific determination

6725-7519-5067 Employees held not to be accretion

Consolidated Papers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 197

]merchant account representatives, merchant account trainees, and administrative assistant, who were transferred from location, held not accretion and not included in unit of office clericals at manufacturer of paper products, where Ees sought to be included were salaried Ees promoted on basis of merit, and in view of different benefits, supervision, and lack of interchange between unit Ees and those sought)

6725-7534 Technical employees unit

6725-7534-5000 Specific determination

6725-7534-5067 Employees held not to be accretion

Abbott-Northwestern Hospital 274 NLRB No. 162

(withdrawing recognition as to, and unilaterally changing working conditions of, 9 represented psychiatric assistants after transfer to same facility of 63 historically unrepresented psychiatric assistants, not violative, since consolidation obliterated unit of 9 represented Ees and unit of only part of group of Ees in same classification was inappropriate; unrepresented Ees were not accreted to former unit of represented Ees, parties had agreed that U would not represent previously unrepresented Ees, and U had reserved its representative position only as to previously represented Ees and complaint alleged violations only as to them)

6725-7553 Plant protection employees unit

6725-7553-5000 Specific determination

6725-7553-5067 Employees held not to be accretion

Rainey Security Agency, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 041

(newly established goup of security guards held not accretion to existing guard unit in view of considerable geographical distances between new group's place of employment and E's other locations, different problems and needs of each separate group of Ees, absence of history of temporary or permanent Ee interchange between new guard group and other facilities of E, lack of operational integration between locations, and degree of autonomy exercised over day-to-day operations of new group; fact that contract's recognition clause exitends w/o limitation to all guard Ees of E is of no consequence)

6725-7562 Drivers (including driver-salesmen) unit

6725-7562-5000 Specific determination

6725-7562-5033 Employees held to be accretion

The Seven-Up/Canada Dry Bottling Company of Pittsburgh, A Division of Beverage Management, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 128

[E's refusal to recognize U as representative of driver-salesmen, repudiation of contract and unilateral changes, following operational change in which E had eliminated job category's duties into new driver-salesman category, unlawful, notwithstanding E contention that creation of new category created qcr, where change was not technological and required no major hiring, job was similar to former category, no other U claimed to represent the E's, and Ees from old category substantially outnumbered additional driver-salesmen, who are viewed as accretion to old unit]

6725-7562-5067 Employees held not to be accretion

Big E Leasing and Service Corp. and RJE Leasing, Pittsburgh Division, Corp. 275 NLRB No. 182

(warehousemen not accreted to truckdrivers' unit where warehousemen had formed separate unit for many years, and they outnumbered truckdrivers almost two to one)

6725-7567 Warehouse employees unit

6725-7567-5000 Specific determination

6725-7567-5067 Employees held not to be accretion

United States Steel Corporation 280 NLRB No. 098

[truckdrivers not accretion to existing unit of warehouse Ees at separate facility to which E moved operations where the two Ee groups continued to maintain their separate identities despite certain changes made in the drivers' duties]

6725-7574 Combined selling and nonselling personnel unit

6725-7574-5000 Specific determinations

6725-7574-5033 Employees held to be accretion

Roundup Company d/b/a Meyer's Cafe & Konditorei, A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Fred Meyer, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 001

[newly hired delicatessen Ees accreted to unit of E's cafe Ees, notwithstanding they were more numerous than cafe Ees, where delicatessen was expansion of cafe, new hires stabilized at ratio of 1:2 to cafe Ees and shared overwhelmingly strong community of interest, in particular similar job functions and classifications, integration of operations, and common supervision]

6750 MULTIPLE-LOCATION UNITS OF SINGLE EMPLOYER

6750-3300 Employerwide units

6750-3350 Specific determination

6750-3350-3300 Employees held to be accretion

N.L.R.B. v. DMR Corp. and Harrill Electric Contractors, Inc. 795 F.2d 472 (C.A. 5, July 1986)

[Bd properly found that electricians of old and new companies at separate locations, also found single E, performed mix of same kinds of work, using much same skills during both old and new company phases so that new company's Ees did not possess community of interests sufficiently separate and distinct so as to preclude their accretion to bargaining unit of old company's Ees]

6750-6700 Less than employerwide units

6750-6750 Specific determination

6750-6750-6700 Employees held not to be accretion

Safeway Stores, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 099

(new chain retail store on Hawaiian island of Maui held not accretion to existing multistore unit in islands, notwithstanding integration of operations and product lines, similarity ow working conditions, skills, and functions, and number of Maui store Ees as compared to existing unit, where new facility would likely be treated as independent operation, inasmuch as new Ees were hired specifically for new facility, facility was separately managed, there was no Ee interchange between new and previous operations, and facilities were geographically distant)

6775 MULTIEMPLOYER UNITS

6775-5000 Specific determination

6775-5067 Employees held not to be accretion

Phillip A. Hunt Corporation JD-14-86

[no accretion found where there was no addition of new Ees to existing unit but rather relocation of certain work performed by unit Ees at one of E's two plants represented by U to new non-U plant]

8300 SEVERANCE OF GROUPS OF EMPLOYEES FROM EXISTING UNITS

460 DETERMINATION OF COMPOSITION OF UNIT

2500 DETERMINATIONS INCLUDING OR EXCLUDING EMPLOYEE JOB CATEGORIES FROM UNITS (SEE APPROPRIATE HEADING UNDER TYPE OF UNIT INVOLVED, UNDER 440-0000)

5000 EFFECT OF EMPLOYMENT CATEGORY, STATUS, OR TENURE UPON PLACEMENT IN A UNIT

5033 CATEGORY OR TYPE OF EMPLOYEE

5033-2500 Employees allied with management

5033-2501 Generally

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[Bd considers variety of factors in deciding whether Ee's familial ties are sufficient to align his interests with management and thus warrant his exclusion from unit; for instance, Ee who resides with or is financially dependent on relative who owns or manages business is typically excluded; and the greater the family involvement in ownership or management, the more likely Ee-relative will be viewed as aligned with management and hence excluded]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[in deciding whether Ee's familial ties are sufficient to align his interests with management and thus warrant his exclusion, Bd is always concerned with whether Ee receives special job-related benefits such as high wages or favorable working conditions; when other criteria satisfy Bd that Ee-relative's interests are aligned with management, however, he may be excluded even though he enjoys no special job-related benefits]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[where issue was whether Ee-relatives should be excluded from unit because their interests were aligned with those of management, ct held its review was limited to whether Bd's practice of excluding some close relatives who do not enjoy special job-related benefits has reasonable basis in law; in reviewing Bd decisions ct consistently yields to Bd's reasonable interpretations and applications of Act; and Bd's orders defining bargaining units are rarely to be disturbed]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[where Bd found that Ee-relatives should be excluded from unit because their interests were aligned with those of management, ct held Bd's policy regarding family members was reasonable application of community of interest standard; it is reasonable for Bd to assume that family members significantly dependent on management member will equate their personal interests with those of E; and their presence at U meetings could inhibit free expression of views and threaten confidentiality of U attitudes and voting]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[where Bd found that Ee-relatives should be excluded from unit because their interests were aligned with those of management, ct held it does not make labor policy under Sec. 9(b) which vested that authority in Bd whose extensive experience in administration of Act is brought to bear on question of unit determinations; ct does not require mathematical precision and is not prepared to second-guess Bd's informed judgment that unit's community of interest may be diluted by circumstances other than job-related benefits granted to Ee-relatives of management]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[where Bd found that Ee-relatives should be excluded from unit because their interests were aligned with those of management, ct held Bd's decision to exclude some family members is not inconsistent with fundamental structure or policies of Act; Congress has limited Bd's discretion to define bargaining units as it has done under Sec. 9(c)(5) making extent to which Ees have organized not controlling; but there is no express direction in Act that Bd define units only by reference to job-related benefits to Ee-relatives; and ct is not authorized to bind Bd in ways not mandated by Congress]

5033-2550 Nature of relationship

5033-2550-2900 Parent

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[Bd properly excluded from unit wife of part owner of corporation conjointly with his 2 brothers, and mother of owners, since wife's and mother's interests were more likely aligned with family's than with Ees' interests, where brothers were actively involved in running business on daily basis; wife worked as clerk at same location as her husband, occasionally taking coffee breaks in his office; and mother, who worked as cashier at one of E's locations, lived with one of the owners and had daily contacts with all her sons]

5033-2550-3300 Child

Terrailion Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037
[part time Ee who was high school age son of E's vice-president held not eligible to vote, since he enjoyed special status where he was allowed to work hours of his own choosing to accomodate his studies, had no income tax or social security deducted from his wages, and made personal telephone calls from his father's office]

The Royal Soneata, Inc. d/b/a Royal Laundry 277 NLRB No. 085
(challenge to ballot of son of personnel director sustained where he was not shown to have performed unit work on even regular part-time basis)

Marion Center Supply, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 026
(challenge to ballots of E's children sustained)

Midwestern Mining & Reclamation, Inc., A Subsidiary of Midwestern Fuels Systems, Inc., etc. 277 NLRB No. 001
(son of supervisor who was also minority stockholder, and nephew and cousin respectively of individual who was board member, supervisor, and primary stockholder, and another primary stockholder held to qualify as close relative of management whose interests are more aligned with business interests of his family than with those of Ees and, therefore, he was excluded from unit even though he performed unit work)

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86
[assistant mechanic who occasionally drove trucks excluded from unit of drivers, yardmen, and mechanics at hauling company since, as son of corporate owner-official and nephew of other owners and managers, he did not share community of interest with unit Ees]

5033-2550-5000 Husband or wife

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[Bd properly excluded from unit wife of part owner of corporation conjointly with his 2 brothers, and mother of owners, since wife's and mother's interests were more likely aligned with family's than with Ees' interests, where brothers were actively involved in running business on daily basis; wife worked as clerk at same location as her husband, occasionally taking coffee breaks in his office; and mother, who worked as cashier at one of E's locations, lived with one of the owners and had daily contacts with all her sons]

5033-2550-8300 Other type of relative

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.——
(U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[ct held E's reliance on Sec. 2(3) which excludes from Act's definition of employee any individual employed by his parent or spouse, in support of position that Bd had no authority to exclude Ee-relatives from unit, was misplaced; such person is completely outside scope of statute and may not invoke its protection; family members who fall w/i Act's broad definition of

5033-2550-8300—Cont.

employee, however, have no statutory right to be included in units under Sec. 9(b); and Bd is free to exclude from unit persons who are statutory employees otherwise protected by Act]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)

[Bd's policy of excluding close relatives of management w/o a showing of job-related benefits granted to them does not run afoul of Act's mandate that Bd remain wholly neutral between contending parties in R election; Bd does not exclude family member from unit because he is likely to vote against U; rather, family member is excluded because of lack of common interests with other Ees; however, a disparate impact does not violate principle of neutrality inasmuch as every Bd decision concerning bargaining unit favors one side or the other]

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86

[assistant mechanic who occasionally drove trucks excluded from unit of drivers, yardmen, and mechanics at hauling company since, as son of corporate owner-official and nephew of other owners and managers, he did not share community of interest with unit Ees]

5033-5000 Confidential employees

5033-5001 Generally

Moe Warehouse & Accessory 275 NLRB No. 165

(challenge to ballot of individual at auto parts warehouse who assisted in preparing invoices, writing orders, and placing orders in stores, based on contention she was confidential Ee, overruled)

5033-5050 Identifying characteristics

5033-5050-5000 Access to information regarding

5033-5050-5020 Labor relations

Terrillon Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037

[secretary to vice-president and highest U.S. official of E, who handled E's correspondence with NLRB and labor attorneys, held not confidential Ee and eligible to vote where vice-president was not responsible for formulating labor relations or personnel policies, which were established by his superiors abroad, nor was secretary present at conferences with labor counsel; found not significant was her occasional typing of letters to or filing of letters from labor counsel]

Intermountain Rural Electric Association 277 NLRB No. 003

(secretary to director of engineering department held not confidential Ee with labor nexus, where director's duties consisted of no more than occasional contribution to possible management decision-making which was inadequate to show responsibility or regular involvement in labor policy function; director's relationship to secretary did not exhibit any evidence of sharing of management policy or entrusting her with information relative to labor relations formulation; and single instance of note-taking at management meeting and typing 3 memos of uncertain labor policy content are inadequate basis for finding confidential status)

5033-7500 Managerial employees

N.L.R.B. v. The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art 783 F.2d 29 (C.A. 2, Jan. 1986)

[faculty members of private, non-profit, educational institution, Ees rather than managers or supervisors, where they were not aligned with management and did not effectively recommend or exercise control over academic or nonacademic affairs, and administration implemented changes in such core academic areas as curriculum and unilaterally revised governances and terms and conditions of employment]

N.L.R.B. v. The Cooper Union For The Advancement of Science and Art 783 F.2d 29 (C.A. 2, Jan. 1986)

[faculty members of private, non-profit, educational institution, Ees rather than managers or supervisors, where they were not aligned with management and did not effectively recommend or exercise control over academic or nonacademic affairs, and administration implemented changes in such core academic areas as curriculum and unilaterally revised governances and terms and conditions of employment]

5033-7501 Generally

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015

(challenge to ballots of Ees sustained where Ees, because of their use of independent judgment, were found to be managerial)

5033-7550 Identifying characteristics

Midwestern Mining & Reclamation, Inc., A Subsidiary of Midwestern Fuels Systems, Inc., etc. 277 NLRB No. 001

(leadman, while not supervisor, excluded from operation-wide unit at coal strip mining operation, since his functions and interests were more closely aligned with those of management, where his work was separate and apart from that of unit Ees; he had authority to make purchases up to $300 on his own initiative; Ee maintained and serviced his personal vehicle which he used in his work; and his wages substantially exceeded that of Ee who worked with him)

5033-7550-0100 Generally

Maccabees Mutual Life Insurance Company v. N.L.R.B. 757 F.2d 767 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1985)

(policy warranting exclusion)

5033-7550-2000 Formulation or effectuation of employer's policies

American International College 282 NLRB No. 016

[unit of full-time faculty at college held inappropriate, as faculty was managerial and excluded from coverage of Act, since it made effective decisions in majority of critical areas relied on by S.Ct in Yeshiva University (144 U.S. 672), where faculty, through their participation on faculty committees, as departmental chairpersons, and as members of faculty as a whole, effectively determined curriculum and academic policies and standards of college and exerted significant influence in decisions regarding hiring, tenure, and evaluation of their fellow faculty members]

Trustees of Boston University 281 NLRB No. 115

[department chairmen and faculty at university held managerial Ees under Yeshiva standard, where faculty had absolute authority over grading, teaching methods, graduation requirements, and student discipline; also, faculty almost always effectively controlled matriculation requirements, curriculum, academic calendars, and course schedules, and played effective and determinative role in recommending faculty hiring, tenure, promotions, and reappointments, and, in particular, had authority to effectively veto curriculum and personnel decisions, all of which enumerated matters were important facets of university policy]

Trustees of Boston University 281 NLRB No. 115

[in determining that department chairmen and faculty at university were managerial Ees under Yeshiva standard, Bd held fact that ultimate authority for decision making at university rested with president and board of trustees did not alter fact that, in practice, faculty decisions on all those policy matters were effected in great majority of instances; nor did fact that administration occasionally made and implemented policy decisions w/o faculty input detract from collegial managerial authority exercised by faculty]

Marymount College of Virginia 280 NLRB No. 050

[in unit clarification proceeding, E's contention that new position of program coordinator should be excluded from unit as managerial or supervisory, rejected, since program coordinators did not exercise control over areas indicative of managerial or supervisory status where they performed only informal and casual recommendations for hire of faculty, did not determine courses to be taught, did not evaluate faculty members and were not involved in financial or economic planning]

Marymount College of Virginia 280 NLRB No. 050

[in unit clarification proceeding, E's contention that professional librarians should be excluded from existing unit as managerial or supervisory, rejected, since they did not exercise control over areas indicative of managerial or supervisory status where none of the librarians had authority to evaluate Ees, establish salaries, grant time-off, hire or fire personnel or otherwise engage in the management of the library]

David Walcott Kendall Memorial School a/k/a Kendall School of Design 279 NLRB No. 042

[ptn for clarification of unit of faculty members at art and technical school seeking to have them declared managerial Ees dismissed, since faculty did not formulate or effectuate management practices, particularly in view of fact individual faculty members' did not make decisions regarding their own classes, including determining course content and text, take field trips, cancel class, or substitute teacher w/o obtaining permission. Service on committees which made recommendations with varying results not indicia of managerial status since administration retained tight control of committees]

David Walcott Kendall Memorial School a/k/a Kendall School of Design 279 NLRB No. 042

[chairpersons at technical school held not managerial Ees and included in unit of faculty members, notwithstanding sat on dean's council which ostensibly had authority to make decisions not made in regular committee structure, evaluated faculty, decided whether teachers from other departments might teach in their departments, prepared schedules, budgets, made recommendations on hiring, since not clear what use made of faculty evaluations, chairpersons had no greater role in curriculum committee than othan other members, control over their departments and time spent in functions other than teaching limited]

U.S. Pollution Control, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 042

[pollution control specialist employed by E engaged in hazardous waste disposal, not managerial, notwithstanding he bid on work for E, since he did not exercise significant independent discretion and authority where he consulted with corporate headquarters before making bid]

5033-7550-2000—Cont.

FHP, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 168
(full-time physicians and dentists, as members of E's committees at non-profit HMO clinics, managerial where they formulated and effectuated policies on matters at core of E's operations, including protocol and record systems, medical prescriptions, staff benefits and working conditions, medical emergency procedures, peer review and minimization of medical malpractice liability risks; their committee participation was not primarily advisory and patient-care related where they played same roles in committees as their supervisors, part-time physicians and dentists, who were not members of committees, not managerial)

N.L.R.B. v. Louisville Gas & Electric Company 760 F.2d 99 (C.A. 6, Apr. 1985)
(data records analyst at utility company who simply monitor pollution findings, flag violations and draft possible remedial solutions, held nonmanagerial, as they have no authority to make fundamental decisions about whether or how company will comply with Clean Air Act; thus, their duties do not reflect level of discretionary action or decision making consistent with S.Ct's decision in Yeshiva University, 444 U.S. 672 (1980))

Maccabees Mutual Life Insurance Company v. N.L.R.B. 757 F.2d 767 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1985)
(insurance company's contention that RD should have clarified unit to exclude as managerial E's claims representatives, whose positions replaced those of E's former claims examiners, rejected, and Bd bargaining order enforced where RD, contrary to E's contention, did consider degree of representatives' discretion and found it somewhat illusory, and, although RD did apply older cases, as contended, he did note that the tasks of E's representatives were not essentially unlike those of claims adjusters in earlier insurance company cases)

N.L.R.B. v. Lewis University 765 F.2d 616 (C.A. 7, June 1985)
(fact that expired contract contained management rights clause reserving to management all powet, right, authority, duty and responsibility to and for management and operation of university and therefore faculty members merely exercise independent professional judgment but that college policies are established and implemented pursuant bargaining agreement with university's administration dominating decision making process by virtue of management rights clause, rejected, as faculty members formulate and implement major educational policies almost all of which are adopted by administration)

N.L.R.B. v. Lewis University 765 F.2d 616 (C.A. 7, June 1985)
(faculty members at university held managerial where as faculty convened they approved proposals and recommendations emanating from faculty committees regarding student admission policies, graduation requirements, grading guidelines, faculty tenure, workloads, promotions, hiring and final budget notwithstanding administration had veto power over recommendations as overwhelming majority of these proposals were adopted and implemented; thus faculty members clearly represent management interests by taking or recommending discretionary actions that effectively control or implement educational policies of college)

N.L.R.B. v. Lewis University 765 F.2d 616 (C.A. 7, June 1985)
(assertion that decisions of full-time faculty members not managerial, but rather independent judgments exercised in faculty members' own interest, rejected, since faculty's professional interest-as applied to governance et a university-cannot be separated from those of the institution)

N.L.R.B. v. Lewis University 765 F.2d 616 (C.A. 7, June 1985)
(assertion that because final authority invested not in faculty, but in administration and therefore faculty members not managerial, rejected, as ultimate authority has never been thought to be prerequisite to supervisory or managerial status. Relevant consideration is effective recommendation or control rather than final authority)

Noranda Aluminum, Inc. 751 F.2d 268 (C.A. 8, Dec. 1984)
(nurses at aluminum plant not managerial, where they primarily treat Ees' injuries and illnesses, administer routine physical examinations, and maintain records under direction of nursing services supervisor and part-time physician; they had no independent authority to purchase medicine and equipment, their discretion was limited to applying their professional medical skills, any conflict of interest between their responsibilities and loyalty to the U was insufficient to exclude them from coverage, and they had access to personnel and medical records but did not help set labor relations)

5033-7550-4000 Attendance at management meetings

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148
[finance and insurance manager at automobile dealership, held managerial where he attended management meetings and had wide latitude in deciding whether E's credit would be extended to customer]

5033-7550-6000 Authority to pledge employer's credit

Salinas Newspapers, Inc., A Division of Gannett Newspapers 279 NLRB No. 142
[credit manager, managerial where he possessed and exercised discretionary powers to extend or deny credit to E's customers in substantial amounts, was solely responsible for administering E's collection efforts, and effectively recommended and accomplished credit cutoffs and account writeoffs]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148
[finance and insurance manager at automobile dealership, held managerial where he attended management meetings and had wide latitude in deciding whether E's credit would be extended to customer]

5067 STATUS OR TENURE OF EMPLOYEE

5067-1400 Apprentices and trainees

5067-1450 Criteria relevant to placement

Kobacker Stores, Inc. d/b/a Pic-Way Shoe Mart 274 NLRB No. 132
(management trainees at retail shoe stores included in unit of assistant managers and store associates notwithstanding fact that substantial portion of trainees become managers after year of training, where they have community of interest with associates, they possess no supervisory authority, their duties, compensation, and benefits are similar to those of associates, and some of those who fail to become managers remain in unit as associates)

5067-4500 Students

5067-4550 Criteria relevant to placement

Shepherd's Uniform and Linen Supply Co. 274 NLRB No. 200
(U's contention that vocational education students did not share community of interest with unit Ees because shcool's guidelines for participation in program removed control over student Ees from E, rejected, since degree of control did not prevent them from sharing community of interest with unit Ees where students performed same duties, worked under same supervision, received same wages and benefits as unit Ees and E encouraged them to continue employment upon completion of the program and student had more of employment relationship with E rather than educational because he was not learning skill)

5067-7700 Intermittent, occasional, or casual employees

5067-7701 Generally

N.L.R.B. v. L & B Cooling, Inc. 757 F.2d 236 (C.A. 10, Mar. 1985)
(Bd's conclusion that extras hired by E engaged in lettuce cooling business in prior growing season were not included in bargaining unit, is supported by substantial evidence in record even if E shows that another unit might be more appropriate)

5067-7750 Criteria relevant to placement

Donnie M. Parris, A Sole Proprietorship d/b/a D & B Masonry 275 NLRB No. 193
(Ees who were employed by E intermittently w/o reasonable expectation of recall from layoff w/i reasonable period of time found casual Ees w/o community of interest with regular Ee and therefore not part of unit with him)

5067-8400 Employees on layoff or leave-of-absence status

Midwestern Mining & Reclamation, Inc., A Subsidiary of Midwestern Fuels Systems, Inc., etc. 277 NLRB No. 001
(Ee who was permitted to take extended leaves of absence during winter months in order to take his wife to warmer climate because of her health conditions, but then returned to employment with E, included in unit where, with exception of extended leaves, Ee is employed on regular basis and under same conditions as other unit Ees' and upon his return from leaves, he has every reasonable expectation of continued employment)

5067-9200 Employees employed under government programs

5067-9250 Criteria relevant to placement

Shepherd's Uniform and Linen Supply Co. 274 NLRB No. 200
(U's contention that vocational education students did not share community of interest with unit Ees because shcool's guidelines for participation in program removed control over student Ees from E, rejected, since degree of control did not prevent them from sharing community of interest with unit Ees where students performed same duties, worked under same supervision, received same wages and benefits as unit Ees and E encouraged them to continue employment upon completion of the program and student had more of employment relationship with E rather than educational because he was not learning skill)

5067-9900 Other employees

5067-9950 Criteria relevant to placement

Midwestern Mining & Reclamation, Inc., A Subsidiary of Midwestern Fuels Systems, Inc., etc. 277 NLRB No. 001
(Social Security annuitant working under same conditions and supervisors as other unit Ees, included in unit, since such annuitants, who otherwise share same community of interest with unit Ees, are not excluded from units solely for limiting their working time and earnings so as not to jeopardize their annuities)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(social security annuitant, asserted!y casual part-time Ee who, apart from special arrangement to limit his earnings to avoid decrease in his annuity, worked full-time, included in unit, since there was no evidence his terms and conditions of employment differed from those of other unit Ees)

7500 EMPLOYEE CATEGORIES EXCLUDED FROM UNIT BY STATUTORY DEFINITION (FOR DEFINITIONS, SEE 177-2484)

7550 TYPES OF EMPLOYEES AFFECTED BY STATUTE

7550-4500 Guards

Midwestern Mining & Reclamation, Inc., A Subsidiary of Midwestern Fuels Systems, Inc., etc. 277 NLRB No. 001
(watchmen at coal strip mining site excluded from unit, since they protect E's property w/i meaning of 9(b)(3), where their primary function is to protect E's buildings and equipment from intruders; unlike other Ees, they carry keys to E's buildings and, while not required, they can carry firearms when performing their patrolling duties; and they report to management any infraction of job rules committed by Ees)

7550-7500 Relatives of management

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)
[Bd considers variety of factors in deciding whether Ee's familial ties are sufficient to align his interests with management and thus warrant his exclusion from unit; for instance, Ee who resides with or is financially dependent on relative who owns or manages business is typically excluded; and the greater the family involvement in ownership or management, the more likely Ee-relative will be viewed as aligned with management and hence excluded]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)
[in deciding whether Ee's familial ties are sufficient to align his interests with management and thus warrant his exclusion, Bd is always concerned with whether Ee receives special job-related benefits such as high wages or favorable working conditions; when other criteria satisfy Bd that Ee-relative's interests are aligned with management, however, he may be excluded even though he enjoys no special job-related benefits]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)
[where issue was whether Ee-relatives should be excluded from unit because their interests were aligned with those of management, ct held its review was limited to whether Bd's practice of excluding some close relatives who do not enjoy special job-related benefits has reasonable basis in law; in reviewing Bd decisions ct consistently yields to Bd's reasonable interpretations and applications of Act; and Bd's orders defining bargaining units are rarely to be disturbed]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)
[where Bd found that Ee-relatives should be excluded from unit because their interests were aligned with those of management, ct held Bd's policy regarding family members was reasonable application of community of interest standard; it is reasonable for Bd to assume that family members significantly dependent on management member will equate their personal interests with those of E; and their presence at U meetings could inhibit free expression of views and threaten confidentiality of U attitudes and voting]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)
[where Bd found that Ee-relatives should be excluded from unit because their interests were aligned with those of management, ct held it does not make labor policy under Sec. 9(b) which vested that authority in Bd whose extensive experience in administration of Act is brought to bear on question of unit determinations; ct does not require mathematical precision and is not prepared to second-guess Bd's informed judgment that unit's community of interest may be diluted by circumstances other than job-related benefits granted to Ee-relatives of management]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)
[where Bd found that Ee-relatives should be excluded from unit because their interests were aligned with those of management, ct held Bd's decision to exclude some family members is not inconsistent with fundamental structure or policies of Act; Congress has limited Bd's discretion to define bargaining units as it has done under Sec. 9(c)(5) making extent to which Ees have organized not controlling; but there is no express direction in Act that Bd define units only by reference to job-related benefits to Ee-relatives; and ct is not authorized to bind Bd in ways not mandated by Congress]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)
[ct held E's reliance on Sec. 2(3) which excludes from Act's definition of employee any individual employed by his parent or spouse, in support of position that Bd had no authority to exclude Ee-relatives from unit, was misplaced; such person is completely outside scope of statute and may not invoke its protection; family members who fall w/i Act's broad definition of employee, however, have no statutory right to be included in units under Sec. 9(b); and Bd is free to exclude from unit persons who are statutory employees otherwise protected by Act]

N.L.R.B. v. Action Automotive, Inc. ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.CT, Feb. 1985)
[Bd's policy of excluding close relatives of management w/o a showing of job-related benefits granted to them does not run afoul of Act's mandate that Bd remain wholly neutral between contending parties in R election; Bd does not exclude family member from unit because he is likely to vote against U; rather, family member is excluded because of lack of common interests with other Ees; however, a disparate impact does not violate principle of neutrality inasmuch as every Bd decision concerning bargaining unit favors one side or the other]

Terrailion Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037
[part time Ee who was high school age son of E's vice-president held not eligible to vote, since he enjoyed special status where he was allowed to work hours of his own choosing to accomodate his studies, had no income tax or social security deducted from his wages, and made personal telephone calls from his father's office]

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(challenge to ballot of Ee sustained where Ee lacked community of interest with other Ees by virtue of his blood relationship to certain of E's owners and managers, and Ee was immune from review or correction by lower level supervision as result of relationship)

7550-8700 Supervisors

Terrailion Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037
[clerical did not become supervisor and ineligible to vote upon her promotion to office manager, where her actual duties did not change; her taking calls regarding Ees' absences and keeping leave records were merely ministerial functions, and she had no authority to grant time off or arrange schedules, nor did she hire and fire or effectively recommend doing so]

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
]leadmen at shipyard who were held not supervisors eligible to vote)

470 HEALTH CARE INSTITUTION UNITS

0100 GENERALLY (FOR DEFINITIONS OF HEALTH CARE INSTITUTIONS SEE 177-9700-0000-0000)

Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 121
(contention that Ees of hospital share community of interest separate from college and unit limited to hospital Ees is only appropriate unit, rejected and appropriate unit includes Ees of hospital and college, since hospital and college combined is health care institution w/i meaning of 2(14) of Act where Ees in several departments serve both hospital and college in highly integrated manner and because a strike among any group of Ees would have profound effect upon functioning of hospital, policy dictates that no lone between college and hospital be drawn; Albany Medical College, 239 NLRB 853, overruled)

0125 EFFECT OF STIPULATIONS

Sunrise, A Community For The Retarded, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 035
[where stipulated unit at health care institution was defective on its face because it included professional RNs and nonprofessional Ees, but hearing officer proposed modifying unit by excluding RNs, to which E excepted on ground Bd had no authority to rewrite inclusions and exclusions in stipulated unit, Bd held defect could not be removed by modifying unit, and set aside election because of inappropriateness of unit, vacated stipulation and remanded to RD to process ptn by either assisting parties to agree on new stipulation or, in absence thereof, conducting hearing on unit issue]

0150 LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 121
(primary focus of legislative debates surrounding 1974 health care amendments was the need to avoid interruptions in the delivery of health care services and towards this end, Congress provided in 8(g) that special strike notice provisions be applicable and cautioned Bd not to allow undue proliferation of bargaining units; Congress further indicated that term health care institution should be construed broadly, Albany Medical College 239 NLRB 853, overruled)

1700 PROFESSIONAL UNITS

1701 GENERALLY

1701-5000 Statutory prerequisite

Renaissance West Community Mental Health Center 276 NLRB No. 050
(unit of Ees at nonprofit corporation providing mental health services for city-county mental health board, inappropriate, where it contained professional and non-professional Ees and professional Ees were never afforded opportunity of separate vote in state-conducted election; there was no Bd certification and no history of bargaining between parties; and should Bd honor state certification it would, in effect, be initially establishing mixed unit in violation of 9(b)(1))

1716 PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS UNIT

1716-4000 Specific determination

FHP, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 168
(regular part-time physicians and dentists at HMO appropriate unit, excluding as managerial all full-time physicians and dentists, and excluding licensed clinical social workers, office clerical employees, guards and supervisors)

1733 REGISTERED NURSES UNIT

1733-0100 Generally

North Shore University Hospital 274 NLRB No. 188
(on ct remand, Bd vacated prior D/O, dismissed C and revoked Certification of Representative and found that nurses association should not be considered differently from other labor organizations regarding conflict of interest engendered by supervisors' active participation in association, lack of insulation of collective-bargaining process from governance of organization and lack of mechanism to assist Es from violating Sec. 8(a)(2) through supervisory Ees participation in association's affairs)

1733-2000 Identifying characteristics

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[in adopting ALJ's ultimate conclusion that unit of hospital RNs was inappropriate and holding unit of all professional Ees appropriate, Bd held differences between ALJ's characterization of frequency of contact between both groups and characterization of such factor in case relied on by ALJ, did not warrant reversal of ALJ's conclusion that level of contact was not so negligible as to justify separate RN unit; and meaningful degree of contact between RNs and other professionals clearly existed]

1733-4000 Specific determination

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[Bd adopted ALJ's second supplemental decision finding separate unit of hospital RNs inappropriate, and held unit of all professional Ees appropriate; claimed contradiction in ALJ's first and second supplemental decisions concerning functional integration of both groups did not undermine ALJ's unit determination; his conclusion that both groups did not have disparity of interests sufficient to find RN unit appropriate was premised on factors other than functional integration; and even if ALJ was off mark regarding such integration, it did not warrant reversal of his ultimate conclusion]

St. Francis Medical Center JD-(SF)-069-85
[upon further consideration in light of St. Francis Hospital, 371 NLRB 948, separate unit of registered nurses at acute care hospital held inappropriate and ptn dismissed, and smallest appropriate unit would be unit of all professional Ees, especially in view of cooperation among professionals in interdisciplinary approach to health care, and lack of any sharper than usual difference between wages, hours, working conditions of registered nurses and other professionals]

1733-6000 Placement of registered nurses in other unit

Sunrise, A Community For The Retarded, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 035
[where stipulated unit at health care institution was defective on its face because it included professional RNs and nonprofessional Ees, but hearing officer proposed modifying unit by excluding RNs, to which E excepted on ground Bd had no authority to rewrite inclusions and exclusions in stipulated unit, Bd held defect could not be removed by modifying unit, and set aside election because of inappropriateness of unit, vacated stipulation and remanded to RD to process ptn by either assisting parties to agree on new stipulation or, in absence thereof, conducting hearing on unit issue]

North Arundel Hospital Association, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 048
[separate unit of registered nurses was inappropriate and all professional unit including registered nurses was smallest appropriate unit where it was not established that there were sharper than usual differences between terms and conditions of employment of registered nurses and other professional Ees]

Kodiak Area Hospital 278 NLRB No. 033
[on remand unit of professionals at hospital, including pharmacists, medical labaratory technologists, nurse anesthetists, social service director, and registered nurses, held appropriate, rather than separate unit of registered nurses, since separate unit of registered nurses did not meet sharper than usual differences from other Ees required to justify separate units at health care facilities, in light of St. Francis II, 271 NLRB 948, where all professional Ees subject to same personnel policies and procedures, and in view of overlap of functions and regular contact among professional Ees]

1787 ALL PROFESSIONAL UNIT

1787-2000 Identifying characteristics

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[in adopting ALJ's ultimate conclusion that unit of hospital RNs was inappropriate and holding unit of all professional Ees appropriate, Bd held differences between ALJ's characterization of frequency of contact between both groups and characterization of such factor in case relied on by ALJ, did not warrant reversal of ALJ's conclusion that level of contact was not so negligible as to justify separate RN unit; and meaningful degree of contact between RNs and other professionals clearly existed]

1787-4000 Specific determination

1787-4000—Cont.

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[Bd adopted ALJ's second supplemental decision finding separate unit of hospital RNs inappropriate, and held unit of all professional Ees appropriate; claimed contradiction in ALJ's first and second supplemental decisions concerning functional integration of both groups did not undermine ALJ's unit determination; his conclusion that both groups did not have disparity of interests sufficient to find RN unit appropriate was premised on factors other than functional integration; and even if ALJ was off mark regarding such integration, it did not warrant reversal of his ultimate conclusion]

Keoduk Area Hospital 278 NLRB No. 033
[on remand unit of professionals at hospital, including pharmacists, medical labaratory technologists, nurse anesthetists, social service director, and registered nurses, held appropriate, rather than separate unit of registered nurses, since separate unit of registered nurses did not meet sharper than usual differences from other Ees required to justify separate units at health care facilities, in light of St. Francis II, 271 NLRB 948, where all professional Ees subject to same personnel policies and procedures, and in view of overlap of functions and regular contact among professional Ees]

3300 TECHNICAL EMPLOYEES UNIT

3320 IDENTIFYING CHARACTERISTICS

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
(unit of technical Ees appropriate rather than unit of technical, service, maintenance and other nonprofessional Ees, since there was disparity of interests between technical, service, maintenance and nonprofessional Ees, where there were sharper than usual differences in wages and working conditions, technical Ees required special training, were highly skilled and rarely-transferred between other Ee groups; further, fact that some interchange existed between technical and nontechnical Ees because of team concept of patient care was irrelevant since much contact involved mere delivery of materials or messages by service Ees)

3340 SPECIFIC DETERMINATION

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]EKG Technicians excluded from technical unit where they did not have to be licensed and job involved routine procedures in which operator did not analyze test results of EKG)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Monitoring Technicians excluded from technical unit where they needed only high-school education, underwent on-the-job training and did not analyze readings on equipment)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Emergency Room Technicians excluded from technical unit where they needed only high-school education, E did not require specialized training and tasks of taking medical histories, vital signs, preparing splints and drawing blood did not require use of independent judgment)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Pharmacy Technicians excluded from technical unit where they needed only high-schoold education, skills were obtained from on-the-job training and they were paid substantially less than other stipulated technical Ees)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Printer excluded from technical unit where qualifications did not require specialized training and job was routine, not requiring use of independent judgment)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Phlebotomists excluded from technical unit where primary function was simply to draw blood, they learned skills from on-the-job training and there was no evidence they were required to hold registration or certification of any kind)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Darkroom Technician excluded from technical unit where only high-school education was required and job involved only routine function of developing exposed x-ray film)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Central Supply Technicians excluded from technical unit where only high-school education and one to two years of supply experience was required in order to sterilize and decontaminate hospital equipment)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Delivery Room Technicians excluded from technical unit where they did not assist in any surgical procedures but rather, duties involved maintenance of equipment and passing of instruments during delivery of infants and no specialized or formal training was required)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Nursery Technicians excluded from technical unit where job of monitoring heartbeats and preparing reports on infant development required no special training and they worked under supervision of nurse)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Mental Health Counselors included in technical unit where E required them to have BS in psychology, be an LPN or possess other specialized degree in mental health and they assisted other professional Ees in carrying out treatment plans which involved use of independent judgment)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]EEG Technicians included in technical unit where E required them to have completed training in accredited school or hold EEG certificate and they evaluated EEG data which involved use of independent judgment)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
]Draftsman included in technical unit, notwithstanding he did not share substantial community of interest with technical Ees in that he had little if any working contact with them, where he possessed 4-year college degree and job of preparing blueprints for new construction involved use of independent judgment)

St. Luke's Memorial Hospital 274 NLRB No. 202
(Bd held petitioned-for unit of licensed practical nurses, inappropriate; contrary to RD's finding that separate bargaining history continues to be relevant and controlling factor in unit determination, Bd held that, under St. Francis, 271 NLRB No. 160, bargaining history is relevant but not controlling in that it is to be considered along with all other relevant factors in determining whether under disparity of interests test, unit is appropriate in health care industry)

3380 PLACEMENT OF OTHER EMPLOYEES IN TECHNICAL UNIT

Baker Hospital, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 038
[applying disparity-of-interest analysis to sought-for unit of hospital Ees, Bd found insufficient disparity of interests between office clericals and service and maintenance and technical Ees unit to justify exclusion of clericals from unit, where clericals had significant, work-related contact with unit Ees and shared many terms and conditions of employment with them; hence, there was no sharper than usual differences to demonstrate disparity of interests justifying clericals' exclusion]

Baker Hospital, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 038
[hospital's activities director who arranges recreational patient activity, and social services director who places patients in long-term care unit and plans their discharge, included in service and maintenance and technical Ees unit, where requisite disparity of interest between directors and unit Ees for excluding them from unit did not exist, in view of Bd's finding that directors may appropriately be considered technical Ees, who parties agreed should be included in unit; terms and conditions of employment which they shared in common with unit Ees; and congressional admonition against undue proliferation of health care units]

Baker Hospital, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 038
[in deciding that hospital's activities director and social services director were properly included in service and maintenance and technical Ees unit, Bd noted that if both directors were excluded from Ee unit, effect would either be to leave them w/o representation or require their representation in separate unit; first result is inconsistent with Congress' extension of Act to afford representation rights to Ees in health care institutions, and latter is inconsistent with admonition against undue proliferation of bargaining units]

The Community Hospital at Glen Cove 278 NLRB No. 010
[separate unit of maintenance Ees inappropriate and unit consisting of those Ees and other non-professional Ees is only appropriate unit under disparity of interests test where petitioned-for unit consisted of only 30 out of 1100 Ees, various other non-professional Ees also possessed special skills i.e. EKG Technicians and Lab Technicians etc., pay grades and fringe benefits were the same, hospital had central labor relations policy and maintenance workers had frequent contact with other non-professional Ees]

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212
(unit of technical Ees appropriate rather than unit of technical, service, maintenance and other nonprofessional Ees, since there was disparity of interests between technical, service, maintenance and nonprofessional Ees, where there were sharper than usual differences in wages and working conditions, technical Ees required special training, were highly skilled and rarely-transferred between other Ee groups; further, fact that some interchange existed between technical and nontechnical Ees because of team concept of patient care was irrelevant since much contact involved mere delivery of materials or messages by service Ees)

5000 SERVICE AND MAINTENANCE EMPLOYEES UNIT

5040 SPECIFIC DETERMINATION

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194
(on review nursing assistants included in unit of E's service and maintainance Ees which unit was clearly appropriate in view of parties' agreement to exclude all other Ees. Even in nonhealthcare facilities, Bd has recognized that disparaties w/i unit are generally not sufficient to render an otherwise appropriate unit inappropriate)

5060 PLACEMENT OF SERVICE AND MAINTENANCE EMPLOYEES IN OTHER UNIT

Southern Maryland Hospital Center, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 212

(unit of technical Ees appropriate rather than unit of technical, service, maintenance and other nonprofessional Ees, since there was disparity of interests between technical, service, maintenance and nonprofessional Ees, where there were sharper than usual differences in wages and working conditions, technical Ees required special training, were highly skilled and rarely-transferred between other Ee groups; further, fact that some interchange existed between technical and nontechnical Ees because of team concept of patient care was irrelevant since much contact involved mere delivery of materials or messages by service Ees)

5080 PLACEMENT OF OTHER EMPLOYEES IN SERVICE AND AND MAINTENANCE UNIT

Baker Hospital. Inc. 279 NLRB No. 038

[applying disparity-of-interest analysis to sought-for unit of hospital Ees, Bd found insufficient disparity of interests between office clericals and service and maintenance and technical Ees unit to justify exclusion of clericals from unit, where clericals had significant, work-related contact with unit Ees and shared many terms and conditions of employment with them; hence, there was no sharper than usual differences to demonstrate disparity of interests justifying clericals' exclusion]

Baker Hospital, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 038

[hospital's activities director who arranges recreational patient activity, and social services director who places patients in long-term care unit and plans their discharge, included in service and maintenance and technical Ees unit, where requisite disparity of interest between directors and unit Ees for excluding them from unit did not exist, in view of Bd's finding that directors may appropriately be considered technical Ees, who parties agreed should be included in unit; terms and conditions of employment which they shared in common with unit Ees; and congressional admonition against undue proliferation of health care units]

Baker Hospital, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 038

[in deciding that hospital's activities director and social services director were properly included in service and maintenance and technical Ees unit, Bd noted that if both directors were excluded from Ee unit, effect would either be to leave them w/o representation or require their representation in separate unit; first result is inconsistent with Congress' extension of Act to afford representation rights to Ees in health care institutions, and latter is inconsistent with admonition against undue proliferation of bargaining units]

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194

(on review nursing assistants included in unit of E's service and maintainance Ees which unit was clearly appropriate in view of parties' agreement to exclude all other Ees. Even in nonhealthcare facilities, Bd has recognized that disparaties w/i unit are generally not sufficient to render an otherwise appropriate unit inappropriate)

Health-Care Enterprises of America, Inc. d/b/a Bay St. Joseph Care Center 275 NLRB No. 194

(where parties stipulated to exclude all other enumerated categories of Ees from service & maintenance unit, Bd held appropriate unit should include nurses aides and orderlies as they were not among the enumerated categories to be excluded. Further disparities of interest not so great to cause their exclusion and direct versus indirect patient care functions not valid basis for making unit determinations in health care industry)

5800 MAINTENANCE EMPLOYEES UNIT

5840 SPECIFIC DETERMINATION

The Community Hospital at Glen Cove 278 NLRB No. 018

[separate unit of maintenance Ees inappropriate and unit consisting of those Ees and other non-professional Ees is only appropriate unit under disparity of interests test where petitioned-for unit consisted of only 30 out of 1100 Ees, various other non-professional Ees also possessed special skills i.e. EKG Technicians and Lab Technicians etc., pay grades and fringe benefits were the same, hospital had central labor relations policy and maintenance workers had frequent contact with other non-professional Ees]

6700 OFFICE CLERICAL UNITS

6760 PLACEMENT OF OFFICE CLERICALS IN OTHER UNIT

Baker Hospital, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 038

[applying disparity-of-interest analysis to sought-for unit of hospital Ees, Bd found insufficient disparity of interests between office clericals and service and maintenance and technical Ees unit to justify exclusion of clericals from unit, where clericals had significant, work-related contact with unit Ees and shared many terms and conditions of employment with them; hence, there was no sharper than usual differences to demonstrate disparity of interests justifying clericals' exclusion]

7500 CRAFT UNITS

8300 OTHER UNITS DEFINED BY TYPE OR CATEGORY OR COMBINATIONS THEREOF

8301 GENERALLY

Renaissance West Community Mental Health Center 276 NLRB No. 050

(unit of Ees at nonprofit corporation providing mental health services for city-county mental health board, inappropriate, where agreement between E's predecessor and U indicated that there were unit Ees of predecessor who were not in E's unit, and unit status of Ees was unresolved; no one knew which Ees should be included in unit and which should be excluded because job duties of Ees were not matched with job classifications in unit description, notwithstanding that some job classifications had changed, thereby leaving unit in state of disarray)

8500 MULTIPLE-LOCATION UNITS OF SINGLE EMPLOYER

8800 RESIDUAL EMPLOYEE UNITS

9000 ADDITIONS OF GROUPS OF EMPLOYEES TO EXISTING UNITS

9100 SEVERANCE OF GROUPS OF EMPLOYEES FROM EXISTING UNITS

480 POSTAL SERVICE UNITS

0100 GENERALLY

3300 SCOPE OF UNITS (SEE 480-6700 FOR PLACEMENT OF PARTICULAR CATEGORIES OF EMPLOYEES IN THESE UNITS)

6700 COMPOSITION OF UNITS

500 UNFAIR LABOR PRACTICES

501 GENERALLY

1400 NATURE AND SCOPE OF PROSCRIPTIONS

2800 Section 8(c)

2837 STATEMENTS NOT CONTAINING THREATS OR PROMISES MAY BE COERCIVE

Harold Weine; et al., A Co-Partnership d/b/a Sands Motel and AMM, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 013
[coercion may be inferred even though conduct engaged in is not of blatant and starkly vindictive nature where conduct occurs in context of ULP]

2875 CONDUCT PROTECTED BY SECTION 8(c)

2875-3500 Solicitation of repudiation of union

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(telling Ees that they would make the same money working by the piece rather than by the hour and did not need a U to keep their jobs or negotiate raises, not violative in context of previous good bargaining relationship and absence of interrogation or U animosity)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(manager's soliciting economic strikers on the picket line to return to work protected by Sec. 8(c) where three of those solicited were U negotiating committee members, and E had shown willingness to negotiate and had not committed ULPs during strike; his asking two negotiating committee members how long they would strike or how long the strike would last, not coercive but innocuous, casual pleasantries addressed to strikers as he passed the picket line where they were not accompanied by threats, promises or evidence of U animus)

2875-4500 Expression of opinion

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[supervisor's statement to Ee that negotiations would start from scratch and that there was possibility E would not want to agree with everything U asked for, not unlawful, where thrust of remarks was not that Ees would automatically lose benefits if they selected U, but rather, in context of all of supervisor's remarks, he was expressing permissible opinion which could not reasonably be interpreted as threat to deliberately extend bargaining]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[supervisor's telling Ee that U was nothing but a rip-off held not to convey impression that it would be futile to select U as representative, since supervisor was obviously expressing his own distaste for U in simple colloquialism which did not rise to level of violating Act]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[supervisor's telling Ee that she was afraid that if U came in plant would close, not unlawful, where Ee initiated casual conversation with supervisor who clearly phrased her response in terms of her personal opinion, not as spokesperson for E]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[supervisor's statement to Ee that plant would close if U came in, unlawful and not expression of supervisor's personal opinion, where Ee believed that supervisor was expressing more than his personal opinion and was repeating something which came from higher up because otherwise supervisor would not have known whether plant would close; and supervisor did not offer any objective basis for his prediction that plant would close nor explain that decision to do so would be sole result of economic considerations]

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[E's president's memorandum to Ees informing them that w/o customers we are all doomed to look for other jobs and let's be careful that we do not vote ourselves into a new situation, violative and not protected by 8(c) where such statement was not linked to E's business but rather was linked to Ees' voting and statements were not based on objective facts regarding E's business situation or customers and thus, were not merely projected statements of opinion]

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[E's supervisor telling Ee that the union probably won't get you anything more than you have now, not violative and protected by 8(c) since statement was merely one of opinion from which no threat reasonably could be perceived]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[E's telling Ees that economic impact of a strike would be disastrous, that everyone lost in a strike but U orgnizer, that the only big airline that was not having problems was only one w/o a U, not violation where E did not predict strikes, bankruptcy, and loss of employment, but only stated that they were possible and did not threaten retaliation or promise benefit for refraining from supporting U]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's response to Ee who approached him during U organizing compaign that, if supervisor were E I'd shut plant down because it's not big enough for U, not unlawful, since remark was protected by 8(c) inasmuch as it was expression of supervisor's personal attitude toward U, and Ee could readily discern that supervisor was not speaking for E, but for himself]

Bozzuto's, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 100
(E's disparaging remarks about U found noncoercive statements of opinion and not violation)

Noral Color Corporation 276 NLRB No. 061
(telling Ee that things would get better after U's contract expired, not violative, where statement was unaccompanied by any promise of benefit and was thus a general opinion protected by 8(c))

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105
(no violation or objectionable conduct by E's distributing to its Ees a letter in which another E's Ee recounted his past personal experience with unionization; E's apprising Ees of others' experience and opinions did not predict or threaten retaliatory conduct by E and was intended to enable Ees to make informed decision)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105
(no unlawful threat of Ees' loss of right to speak directly with management upon unionization or objectionable conduct by E's distributing to Ees another E's Ee's letter recounting his past personal experience with and opinion about unionization in which he stated that, once a U came in, it did the talking whereas now Ees could discuss differences with management on one-to-one basis)

Newsday, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 019
(telling Ees that certain U was no good for them and that its president was corrupt not violative as merely expression of opinion)

East Central Communications, Inc. JD-116-86
[supervisor's statement to leading U ahderent that matter of U representation probably would not get to a vote held lawful expression of opinion protected under 8(c)]

The Setterlin Company JD-56-86
[E's status reports describing current status of bargaining listing contract provisions standing in way of agreement, and supporting E's bargaining position, not violation but privileged under 8(c)]

Rana Management, Inc. JD-(NY)-01-85
(supervisors' comments to Ee that E would not go for U and that a U was not necessary, respectively, merely lawful expressions of opinion)

2875-5600 Opposition to union or collective bargaining, expression of

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor stating E would do everything it could begally do to keep plant non-U not unlawful)

2875-6300 Economic prediction of consequences of unionization

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035
[E's attorney telling Ees in group meetings that a unionized restaurant in the State was not doing well and two other unionized restaurants had closed but that he did not know whether the restaurants' business problems had anything to do with the U, not violative and protected by 8(c); E's attorney's comments were lawful statements of fact and attorney expresaly stated he did not know whether the U had caused business problems and GC did not challenge the accuracy or truthfulness of the statements]

2875-6300—Cont.

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[E's telling Ees that economic impact of a strike would be disastrous, that everyone lost in a strike but U orgnizaer, that the only big airline that was not having problems was only one w/o a U, not violation where E did not predict strikes, bankruptcy, and loss of employment, but only stated that they were possible and did not threaten retaliation or promise benefit for refraining from supporting U]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[telling Ees that after bargaining their benefits might not be what they presently had, not violation where E expressed legal position that E did not have to start bargaining from present level of benefits and what Ees might expect as result w/o threatening to take away benefits]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements not unlawful implication of futility of selecting U where they were not made in context of threat of loss of benefits and inevitability of strikes, but of accurate reflection of bargaining process and presentation of economic realities of negotiation]

Reed Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[E's remarks to Ees during U organizing drive that E's customers were anxious for us to get back to normal, and that if Ees voted against U it would be message to customers that you're behind me held not unlawful, since remarks did not carry suggestion of plant closing; rather, E's remarks raised customer dissatisfcation with interruptions in production and increased costs as possible effect of U's compaign; consequently, E's threat that it would impose any economic burden on Ees because of loss of customers was protected by 8(c)]

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124
(E's comments allegedly threatening Ees with layoffs by stating that major customer had warned E it would discontinue patronage of E if E became organized, not unlawful, since comments had factual basis and therefore were protected by 8(c), where comments were corroborated by major customer's manager who testified he had concerns about his company's ability to receive equipment if strike occurred and about possible interruption and efficiency of workforce in connection with product delivery)

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124
(E's comments to Ees that customers would refrain from sending any work to E's repair facility if E became organized and that customers had policies not to send work to U company, unlawful, since comments were not based on objective facts; although major customer's manager testified to his concern regarding unionization at E's plant, he failed to confirm E's comments about company policy to refrain from sending work to unionized companies altogether)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor implying Ees might be blacklisted in regard to applications for employment elsewhere were they to sign ptn protesting discharge of Ee by citing example that he had been informed when applying for job in past that had he signed ptn supporting discharge of principal at school where he had previously been employed he would had been refused job. Statement not protected under Section 8(c) as mere prediction of likely economic consequences of unionization, since any blacklisting would require E to inform prospective E about Ee's concerted activities)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(E's statement to Ees that if Ees became unionized and if E and negotiated higher labor costs, and if E suffered loss of work, Ees might be laid off, not coercive and hence not violative, since not prediction of inevitable events under E's control, but reminder of economic facts of life i.e. negotiated wage and benefit increases sometimes have debilitating effect on ability to compete)

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant 276 NLRB No. 087
(E's remarks at meeting with Ees that if Ees selected U as their representative E would close his business because he could not afford a U operation held lawful prediction, where E provided objective support for prediction by emphasizing his previous experience with U, by pointing to decline in business, and by telling Ees he could not afford U previously when it represented Ees before being decertified even though business was better then than it was now)

Engineered Control Systems, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 191
(E's president stating he would not sign new contract with U since could not then compete with non-U manufacturers, and if he signed U contract result would be closing plant doors, unlawful, since comments not limited to consequences of agreeing to any particular contract or contract language, rather in context of bypassing U, he implied that any agreement with U would cause him to close business)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 168
(cumulative effect of E's literature and consultant's speech, not unlawful threat of job loss and objectionable conduct; Ee's letter describing post-unionization layoffs due to higher wages was personal experience; lawfully posted newspaper article describing strikers' hardships not support for broader violation; trade journal article about store closings and Ees' letter asking help in keeping jobs merely described economic conditions; Ee's letter about U focused on Ee-U relations not store closings; and consultant's speech about store closings and striking stated economic realities)

2875-7000 Predictions about unionization

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[threat to Ees that if they selected U E would relocate its plant held unlawful threat of plant closure and not prediction based on objective facts from which E could have conveyed reasonable belief to Ees as to demonstratable probable consequences of unionization]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[supervisor's statement to Ee that plant would close if U came in, unlawful and not expression of supervisor's personal opinion, where Ee believed that supervisor was expressing more than his personal opinion and was repeating something which came from higher up because otherwise supervisor would not have known whether plant would close; and supervisor did not offer any objective basis for his prediction that plant would close nor explain that decision to do so would be sole result of economic considerations]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[E statements that bargaining means putting everything on the table including present benefits and that ct decision had upheld E's right to inform Ees that E need not agree to continue existing wages and benefits, found accurate reflection of obligations and possibilities of bargaining process rather than unlawful and objectionable implied threat to take away benefits or bargain regressively if U won]

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(E informing Ees that E was suffering from serious financial problems, asking Ees for suggestions as to how E could save money, urging Ees to persuade U to move off a dime on E's bargaining proposals, and informed Ees that if Ees went non-U E would give pay increases, equal or better health benefits than U offering, financial assistance to Ees who wished to purchase own trucks, but if U refused to accept E's proposals, E would operate non-U, unlawful; statements not predictions of economic consequences protected by Sec. 8(c) inasmuch as E did not substantiate financial losses and in view of other contemporaneous illegal statements)

Tri-Cast, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 089
(E's letter stating that as a young company it could not afford to lose business and jobs by having to make higher bids than before or having its customers feel threatened due to U strikes and could not stay healthy if it lost flexibility due to U restrictions, not objectionable, since E's comments contained no threat of retaliation but merely pointed out reasonably possible results of unionization in moderate tone)

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85
(E's president informing Ee that E had received R ptn and did not think Ees or E needed U to represent them and telling Ee of his understanding of U's jurisdictional work rules, not unlawful, where no interrogation of Ee and reference to U's jurisdicitonal rules was legitimate expression allowed by Section 8(c))

2875-7050 In answer to employee's question

Beverly Enterprises - Indiana, Inc. d/b/a Fountainview Place 281 NLRB No. 008
[no violation, where in response to Ee's question, whether Ees would lose credit union if U voted in, E's administrator replied there is possibility because all benefits must be negotiated, since statement merely explanation of what could happen as result of collective bargaining negotiations]

2875-8000 Announcement of lawfully granted benefits

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[announcement and implementation of new job evaluation system resulting in wage increase and institution of new wage rate on election day, not violation or conduct interfering with election where implementation was already planned and Ees informed of its imminent announcement when U filed request to proceed]

2875-8000 Statements concerning labor strife

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[E's statements found lawful and unobjectionable presentation of economic realities of unionization rather than unlawful threat of inevitability of strikes where they pointed out possibility of strikes and fact U could only try to force certain conditions by striking]

2875-8800—Cont.

Pillod of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 117
(E's statements to Ees through letters and lesflets during U campaign that U would compound Ees' problems, U had propensity for strikes and violence and other unionized plants had experienced loss of jobs and Ee benefits, held not coercive and w/i bounds of permissible campaign propaganda)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(manager's statement that he would not sign contract with a checkoff clause protected by Sec. 8(c) where it was made after start of strike, which followed 7 months of unsuccessful bargaining)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(manager's soliciting economic strikers on the picket line to return to work protected by Sec. 8(c) where three of those solicited were U negotiating committee members, and E had shown willingness to negotiate and had not committed ULPs during strike; his asking two negotiating committee members how long they would strike or how long the strike would last, not coercive but innocuous, casual pleasantries addressed to strikers as he passed the picket line where they were not accompanied by threats, promises or evidence of U animus)

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(setting aside of election not warranted where E showed Ees documentary film Strike Town USA, with question and answer period following film, and personnel manager stated no one wanted strike situation, since unlawful prediction made and Ees free choice not negated where film depicted anatomy of labor dispute which depiction was privileged under Section 8(c))

2875-9000 Statements and/or communications concerning bargaining negotiations

Putnam Buick, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 101
[in finding that E did not unlawfully attempt to deal directly with unit Ees concerning changes in terms and conditions of employment, Bd held E's communications with Ees during negotiations with U concerning its proposals to U were noncoercive and privileged under Sec. 8(c) for reasons set forth in United Technologies Corp. cases (274 NLRB 163 and 274 NLRB No. 87)]

Putnam Buick, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 101
[Act does not countenance negotiating with individuals when they have bargaining representatives; however, under Sec. 8(c), E is entitled to communicate noncoercively with its unit Ees during negotiations since Ees ought to be fully informed as to all issues relevant to negotiations and parties' positions as to those issues, and Ees are fully capable of evaluating relative merits of those positions for themselves; nonetheless, 8(a)(5) violations will be found if E communications are coercive or invite direct bargaining]

Joan Foust, Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Regency Manor Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 171
(E's statements to various Ees that they could lose benefits if they chose to be represented by a U, not violative, where statements were made in context of a description of the give and take of future collective bargaining)

Pillod of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 117
(E did not violate Act by telling Ees that if U got in E did not have to give anything in negotiations, could begin bargaining at ground zero and Ees might lose their benefits where views reasonably communicated view that U cannot compel concessions in negotiations and cannot guarantee retention of all present benefits because such benefits are subject to negotiation and thus remarks accurately reflect the bargaining process)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(manager's statement to Ee that E would sign only the kind of contract it wanted to sign, not violative, since it was innocuous expression of E's views of its bargaining position and privileged under Sec. 8(c) rather than statement indicating that E would not sign any contract with U)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(manager's statement that he would not sign contract with a checkoff clause protected by Sec. 8(c) where it was made after start of strike, which followed 7 months of unsuccessful bargaining)

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 163
(E's numerous communications with Ees concerning reopener negotiations which compared E's wages and benefits with those of local competitors, informed Ees of E's bargaining proposals and criticized U's proposals as unrealistic, held not direct dealing and such communications were protected by 8(c); U initially rejected E's proposal to refrain from publicity and at no time did E disseminate proposals or ideas that were not first submitted to U at bargaining table, further, E has a fundamental right protected by 8(c) to communicate with its Ees concerning its position during bargaining negotiations)

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 087
(E's communications to Ees publicizing terms of contract offer and stating E's preference of contract options, not violative where E's efforts were undertaken in noncoercive manner, publicity fully acknowledged U's rightful role as Ees' statutory bargaining representative, and E did not seek to achieve elimination of U or otherwise alter bargaining relationship)

The Setterlin Company JD-56-86
[E's status reports describing current status of bargaining listing contract provisions standing in way of agreement, and supporting E's bargaining position, not violation but privileged under 8(c)]

N.L.R.B. v. Pratt & Whitney Air Craft Division, United Technologies Corporation (Machinist, District 91) 789 F.2d 121 (C.A. 2, Apr. 1986)
[E's communications with Ees held not direct dealing where information was first given to U, language was non-coercive, and U was consistently acknowledged as legitimate bargaining representative; existing ULPs found herein did not so limit U's bargaining power or coerce workers to abandon U in favor of E as to support finding of direct dealing]

N.L.R.B. v. Pratt & Whitney Air Craft Division, United Technologies Corporation (Machinist, District 91) 789 F.2d 121 (C.A. 2, Apr. 1986)
[E's proposal of 3 year contract held not direct dealing where offer was made first to U and then presented to Ees in factually correct, non-coercive language]

2875-9200 Statements relating to economic position

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[E's telling Ees that economic impact of a strike would be disastrous, that everyone lost in a strike but U orgnizaer, that the only big airline that was not having problems was only one w/o a U, not violation where E did not predict strikes, bankruptcy, and loss of employment, but only stated that they were possible and did not threaten retaliation or promise benefit for refraining from supporting U]

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(E informing Ees that E was suffering from serious financial problems, asking Ees for suggestions as to how E could save money, urging Ees to persuade U to move off a dime on E's bargaining proposals, and informed Ees that if Ees went non-U E would give pay increases, equal or better health benefits than U offering, financial assistance to Ees who wished to purchase own trucks, but if U refused to accept E's proposals, E would operate non-U, unlawful; statements not predictions of economic consequences protected by Sec. 8(c) inasmuch as E did not substantiate financial losses and in view of other contemporaneous illegal statements)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(contrary to ALJ, Bd found that E did not threaten Ees with declining orders because of U campaign; E's alleged statement that, since U campaign began work orders had declined and warehouses were getting stockpiled, if made, was statement of fact, not threat of reprisal, and Ees' other alleged version of statement, that U stuff was slowing things down so that E could not get things out, described an incidental effect of campaign, not a threat, and was too obscure and vague to be a threat)

Engineered Control Systems, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 191
(E's president stating he would not sign new contract with U since could not then compete with non-U manufacturers, and if he signed U contract result would be closing plant doors, unlawful, since comments not limited to consequences of agreeing to any particular contract or contract language, rather in context of bypassing U, he implied that any agreement with U would cause him to close business)

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85
(E's president informing small groups of Ees on a couple of ocasions that times were slow, there was little to bid on, and he didn't know how U men would make it, not unlawful, since such isolated off the cuff remarks by E are not enough to draw inference of knowledge of U activity, nor do they constitute violation of Section 8(a)(1) of Act)

2875-9600 Statements regarding union membership obligations

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(asking Ee if he would be able to pay his U dues if E did not deduct them, not coercive in context of casual easy-going conversation w/o threats or promises, showing of E's displeasure with remittance of U dues or tendency to interfere with Ee's right to engage in U activity)

2887 CONDUCT NOT PROTECTED BY 8(c)

2887-5800 Interrogation

Riverview 5 P's, Inc., t/a Riverview Inn JD-54-86
[asking Ee, after unlawfully interrogating her about U and stating to her that E knew she was active in U, in she liked her job, unlawful and, unlike in Rossmore House, not permissible and protected free speak]

2887-6600 Predictions about unionization

H. Treffinger Repair Services, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 085
[threats made to Ee that U would put E out of business or that E would pull out if U got in, unlawful, where E did not state why U's advent would result in threatened consequences, and therefore threats did not constitute predictions]

2887-6600—Cont.

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[E's president telling Ees that U would not work to your benefit but to your serious harm, violative and not protected by 8(c) where E had also told Ees that they would have received a raise had they not attempted to organize and told an Ee if U got in E could close down, thus, under the circumstances, the serious harm statement is not ambiguous but had a sinister meaning which was in reference to the U]

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035
[supervisor asking Ee what Ee's opinion of U was, why he and other Ees couldn't communicate with management w/o outside interference, and when Ee was noncommittal, asking Ee if it didn't work out between U and E did not Ee think it was possible E could close its doors constituted unlawful interrogation, rather than lawful expression of opinion as to possible effects unionization permitted by Section 8(c), notwithstanding this particular Ee and supervisor were longtime acquaintances and use of word if, in view of E's persistent and unwarranted questioning of Ees accompanied by threats of closing]

Reed Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[E's remarks to Ees containing prediction of plant closure, unlawful, where prediction was not carefully phrased on basis of objective fact to convey E's belief as to demonstrably probable consequences beyond his control, or to convey management decision already arrived at to close plant in case of unionization; instead, E's language strongly suggested that it had already decided to remove machinery from plant and possibly relocate outside state if U's organizing effort succeeded]

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(supervisor asking Ee why she wanted U, requesting that Ee talk to other Ees about U, and informing Ee closure was possibility if E could not afford U, unlawful, since coercive inasmuch as prediction of effect of unionization not carefully phrased on basis of objective fact to demonstrate probable consequences beyond E's control, but rather on implication that E would take action unrelated to economic necessities and thus it lost it status as reasonable based upon available facts, and constituted threat of retaliation based upon mere representation)

2887-7500 Promise of economic or other benefits

2887-7501 Generally

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[E's telling Ees that economic impact of a strike would be disastrous, that everyone lost in a strike but U orgnizaer, that the only big airline that was not having problems was only one w/o a U, not violation where E did not predict strikes, bankruptcy, and loss of employment, but only stated that they were possible and did not threaten retaliation or promise benefit for refraining from supporting U]

2887-7550 Implied promises

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[supervisor suggesting that Ee think over whether to support U because if U came in Ees could lose benefits, and stating that E knew about problems, but they could not be solved immediately, not unlawful threat, since no evidence of coercion, but was simply statement of what might result from U representation, and could not be construed as implied promise of benefit for voting against U; however, supervisor's subsequent remarks that best thing that could happen would be for U to lose election because problems would then be solved and leaders of U movement would be fired, constituted unlawful promise of benefit if U were defeated

2887-9100 Threats of reprisal

Richmond Recording Corporation d/b/a PRC Recording Company 280 NLRB No. 077
[E's statement to Ees and U negotiators that it would retract its last contract offer and substitute less desirable one if ees rejected offer and struck was not economic forecast. Rather, it was threat of retaliation conditioned on Ees exercising their right to strike and would reasonably tend to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights]

2887-9101 Generally

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[E's telling Ees that economic impact of a strike would be disastrous, that everyone lost in a strike but U orgnizaer, that the only big airline that was not having problems was only one w/o a U, not violation where E did not predict strikes, bankruptcy, and loss of employment, but only stated that they were possible and did not threaten retaliation or promise benefit for refraining from supporting U]

2887-9120 Discharge or layoff

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[E's president's memorandum to Ees informing them that w/o customers we are all doomed to look for other jobs and let's be careful that we do not vote ourselves into a new situation, violative and not protected by 8(c) where such statement was not linked to E's business but rather was linked to Ees' voting and statements were not based on objective facts regarding E's business situation or customers and thus, were not merely projected statements of opinion]

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[supervisor suggesting that Ee think over whether to support U because if U came in Ees could lose benefits, and stating that E knew about problems, but they could not be solved immediately, not unlawful threat, since no evidence of coercion, but was simply statement of what might result from U representation, and could not be construed as implied promise of benefit for voting against U; however, supervisor's subsequent remarks that best thing that could happen would be for U to lose election because problems would then be solved and leaders of U movement would be fired, constituted unlawful promise of benefit if U were defeated

2887-9160 Threats not to rehire strikers

Gaso Pumps, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 076
(no violation by E informing Ees that in event of strike they may be permanently replaced w/o at same time informing them of their preferential reinstatement rights unless statement may be fairly understood as threat of reprisal or is explicitly coupled with such threats)

2887-9170 Blacklisting

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor implying Ees might be blacklisted in regard to applications for employment elsewhere were they to sign ptn protesting discharge of Ee by citing example that he had been informed when applying for job in past that had he signed ptn supporting discharge of principal at school where he had previously been employed he would had been refused job. Statement not protected under Section 8(c) as mere prediction of likely economic consequences of unionization, since any blacklisting would require E to inform prospective E about Ee's concerted activities)

2887-9180 Threats of shutdown

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[E's president telling Ees that U would not work to your benefit but to your serious harm, violative and not protected by 8(c) where E had also told Ees that they would have received a raise had they not attempted to organize and told an Ee if U got in E could close down, thus, under the circumstances, the serious harm statement is not ambiguous but had a sinister meaning which was in reference to the U]

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035
[supervisor asking Ee what Ee's opinion of U was, why he and other Ees couldn't communicate with management w/o outside interference, and when Ee was noncommittal, asking Ee if it didn't work out between U and E did not Ee think it was possible E could close its doors constituted unlawful interrogation, rather than lawful expression of opinion as to possible effects unionization permitted by Section 8(c), notwithstanding this particular Ee and supervisor were longtime acquaintances and use of word if, in view of E's persistent and unwarranted questioning of Ees accompanied by threats of closing]

4200 EFFECTIVENESS OF UNFAIR LABOR PRACTICE NEED NOT BE SHOWN

5600 EMPLOYER'S CONTROL OF BUSINESS PRESERVED

5601 GENERALLY

5601-5000 Unrestricted by Act if no unfair labor practice

Morco Industries, Inc. And All Southern Fabricators, A division of Morco Industries, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 100
[E's transferring work from one plant to another w/o bargaining with U about transfer, not violative where decision turned entirely on need to expand E's metal fabrication facilities, which involved change in nature and scope of facet of enterprise; E did not seek to undermine status of U or escape labor costs embodied in contract]

Uniglass Industries, Div. United Merchants & Mfrs. 276 NLRB No. 035

Phillip A. Hunt Corporation JD-14-86
[E's decision to relocate certain work performed by unit Ees at plant represented by U to new non-U plant, excluded from limited scope of 8(d) where decision to relocate was not based upon labor costs but instead was based upon change in direction and nature of its business]

5614 DISCHARGE POWER FOR NORMAL REASONS UNIMPAIRED

Uniglass Industries, Div. United Merchants & Mfrs. 276 NLRB No. 035

5656 DISCIPLINE: EMPLOYER MAY TAKE ACTION TO MAINTAIN

5656—Cont.

Warehouse Supermarkets of Arizona, Inc., d/b/a Warehouse Foods JD-(SF)-101-86

[discharge of key U organizer assertedly for sexual harassment of female Ees, not unlawful since, assuming E had knowledge of Ee's U activities and even though E found such activities unwelcome, E nevertheless had right to manage his enterprise and to discipline Ee for misconduct even though he was protected under Act]

7000 CIRCUMSTANCES INDICATING VIOLATION

7060 ANTIUNION ATTITUDE AND POLICIES OF EMPLOYER

7060-3300 Indicia of antiunion attitude

National Car Rental JD-NY)-60-85

(Bd has frequently held that use of such words as troublemaker or instigator are code words for U adherent or activist and constitute evidence of discriminatory motivation. However, where there is absence of protected activity and comments made in response to Ees' unjustified complaints, use of such words does not constitute evidence of discriminatory motivation)

7060-6700 Motive of employer in interpreting conduct

Supermarkets General Corporation d/b/a Howland-Steinbach-Hochschilds JD-(NY)-50-86

[it is well established that if E takes discriminatory action against Ee on belief, well founded or not, that Ee was engaged in protected activity, E no less violates Act than if Ee had in fact engaged in such conduct]

8400 AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

8407 ECONOMIC NECESSITY, PRESSURE OR HARDSHIP

8407-7500 Statute permits no immunity because of hardship or economic pressure

Sandpiper Convalescent Center and Sandpiper Village 279 NLRB No. 147

[while compelling economic considerations could justify unilateral change which might otherwise be prohibited, economic expediency or sound business considerations are insufficient defenses to justify unilateral changes in terms and conditions of employment]

8421 MOOTNESS

Local 3, Electrical Workers (Telecom Plus of Downstate New York, Inc.) 280 NLRB No. 031

[where C alleged that U had unlawfully insisted on tape recording parties' contract negotiations and generally refused to bargain, issuance of RO was inappropriate, even assuming that U's conduct was unlawful, inasmuch as E, after hearing, ceased its operations and terminated all Ees in unit and there was little likelihood that E would resume operations and that U would resume its representative status; notwithstanding issues were moot, C dismissed w/o prejudice to E's filing new charge if it resumed operations and U resumed its representative status]

General Truck Drivers, Office, Food & Warehouse, Local 952, Teamsters (Westside Building Material Corporation; etc.) 275 NLRB No. 141

(in finding reasonable cause existed to believe 8(b)(4)(D) was violated, Bd held dispute did not become moot by U's retraction of its threats to take economic action, including picketing, if work in dispute was assigned to another U, where retraction was not made until hearing herein, and U continued to claim work in dispute)

8427 MOTIVE AND INTENT

8427-2500 Absence of unlawful motive may not be defense

Mail Handlers, Local Union No. 308 (United States Postal Service) 281 NLRB No. 143

[U removing Ee from his position as shop steward because he had filed ULP charges previously against U violative, since internal U considerations raised by U-Respondent Ee's alleged dereliction of duty as shop steward and his alleged failure, as treasurer, to properly protect monies belonging to Ee's Social and Recreation committee as well as alleged altercation with U president cannot prevail in face of overriding public interest in unimpeded access to Bd and fact that violation turns on coercive nature of U's conduct rather than on U's motivation which may be factor to be considered]

8434 NEUTRALITY OF EMPLOYER

8434-1700 Action taken to maintain neutrality

The Union National Bank of Pittsburgh 276 NLRB No. 013

(E forwarding letters from U addressed to Ees at work at E's branches to E's main office instead of distributing them to Ees, unlawful implementation of discriminatory no distribution rule, where Ees frequently received personal mail at office; E's contentions that by its use of E's Internal Distribution Code on letters, U made E its delivery service and use of E's resources for delivery would violate Sec. 8(a)(2), rejected, since no exposure to liability for one time distribution especially where letters sent directly to branch offices and not sorted in mail room, E's directory not confidential)

8437 REPUDIATION OF UNLAWFUL CONDUCT

Auto Workers, Local 785 (The Dayton Forging & Heat-Treating Company) 281 NLRB No. 102

[attempted repudiation by U's executive board of U's misconduct involving unlawful threats found inadequate where it was not shown that all Ees who received threat also received retraction]

Auto Workers, Local 376 (Emhart Industries, Hartford Division, etc.) 278 NLRB No. 037

[U's notice to members threatening them with discharge for failure to pay dues at a time U's contract had expired, violative; further, U's contention it had repudiated threat by posting notice at plant accurately setting forth dues obligations and held meetings with Ees to explain threat was in error and no Ees were obligated to pay dues as condition of employment, rejected, where U failed to distribute written retraction to any Ees who received threat, notice repudiating conduct was untimely and meetings with Ees did not reach Ees receiving threat]

Goodman Holding Company, Inc., and Its Wholly-Owned Subsidiaries, Goodman Manufacturing Corp., etc. 276 NLRB No. 098

(C allegations of unlawful surveillance were properly dismissed where E unilaterally posted notice for 60 days which fully remedied C allegations)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136

(E unlawfully maintained overly broad no-distribution rule and unlawfully enforced it by confiscating U literature, where E's posted notice, properly authorizing distribution of literature, failed to repudiate old rule, since notice did not assure Ees against further interference with their rights but created impression among Ees of E benevolence in authorizing that which E could not have lawfully prohibited, and notice suggested to Ees that authorization for lawful distribution was subject to withdrawal; moreover, there were no assurances new Ees will not be requested to read and understand old rule)

The Kroger Company 275 NLRB No. 202

(E cured its initial unlawful recognition and execution of U contract where E timely repudiated such conduct w/i days of its occurrence; repudiation was unambiguous and specific, as E expressly withdrew recognition, rescinded contract, and assured Ees of their free choice in joining U; there was adequate publication and Ees were assured their Sec. 7 rights would not be interfered with in future, as E told each Ee that he would be employed regardless of whether he joined U; and there was no other illegal conduct by E)

The Kroger Company 275 NLRB No. 202

(in finding that E remedied its prior unlawful recognition and execution of U contract by repudiating such action, Bd distinguished instant case from those in which E's initial unlawful recognition so tainted subsequent events that U's eventual receipt of majority support was irrelevant and did not validate initial recognition; unlike those cases E here withdrew recognition, rescinded contract, and advised each Ee that he would be employed whether or not he chose to join U, thereby effectively removing deceptive cloak of authority and remedying earlier violation)

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152

(E's statement to strikers that they could not come back to work for E as members of U, but only as non-members, violative, nor was statement effectively repudiated by president's subsequent letter where he indicate E was continuing to violate Act by its unlawful refusal to recognize and bargain with U)

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 274 NLRB No. 147

(E's contention that its granting of privileges to U i.e. permitting U chairman to spend 4 hours of paid time each workday conducting U business including grievance processing, use of office, telephone, and copying machine, violated Section 8(a)(2) as unlawful support of U, and thus justified unilateral withdrawal of privileges as illegal rather than mandatory subject of bargaining, rejected, since grant of time and property not violative of Section 8(a)(2) where U had been recognized and dealt with at arms length, but merely friendly cooperation of amiable labor management relationship, absent deeper E involvement or intrusion into U affairs)

8444 RETROACTIVE APPLICATION OF CHANGE IN BOARD LAW OR POLICY

Metropolitan Edison Company 279 NLRB No. 047

[ALJ finding what no-strike clause did not waive Ee's right to honor stranger picket line, overturned in light of subsequent Bd decision holding that broad no strike clause waives such right absent evidence of parties' intent to exclude sympathy strikes from clause's coverage]

8461 CONTRACTUAL RIGHTS OR OBLIGATIONS

N.L.R.B. v. Local 1131, Local 1161, Auto Workers 777 F.2d 1131 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

[U's contention that its filing of a grievance cannot be basis for ULP charge, rejected, since Bd is fully empowered to enjoin pursuit of a grievance where its object is enforcement of illegal contractual provision such as that he rein granting U officials superseniority solely because of their status]

8481 UNION MISCONDUCT, AND FEAR OR THREATS THEREOF

8481-5000 Strike misconduct

N.L.R.B. v. Preterm, Inc. 784 F.2d 426 (C.A. 1, Feb. 1986)

[misconduct of striking Ee directed against patrons or customers of E, or others seeking to enter (E's) premises for business purposes, is equivalent of misconduct against fellow Ees]

506 EMPLOYEE RIGHTS PROTECTED BY SECTION 7

0100 GENERALLY

0128 RIGHT TO FORM, JOIN, OR ASSIST LABOR ORGANIZATIONS

Baker et al. v. General Motors Corp. et al —— U.S. ——— (U.S. S.Ct, July 1986)

[Ees' payment of emergency dues to support strikes at workplaces other than their own, protected]

Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc., et al., A Joint Venture Known as Tenn-Tom Constructors 279 NLRB No. 068

[Ee's participation in U disciplinary proceeding against E's supervisor, held protected activity, notwithstanding proceeding may have violated 8(b)(1)(B) of the Act, since Ee was engaged in Sec. 7 activity of assisting U by participating in U meeting and was not a perpetrator of the proceeding; rather, U officials had initiated the proceeding; Congress's intent was that generally labor organizations and their agents, but not individual Ees, should be responsible for the unlawful practices of labor organizations]

Castricone Contractors, Inc. JD-(NY)-80-85

(discharge of Ee who joined U after starting work and when he gave E his U papers was told by E that Ee could either finish off the day or go home now — there were other people in U laid off that are not working, violative as E member of E association that signed contract with U and Ee discharged because E would have had to pay Ee contract wage)

0142 RIGHT TO BARGAIN COLLECTIVELY THROUGH REPRESENTATIVE OF OWN CHOOSING

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[fundamental difference exists between Ees' absolute Sec. 7 right to choose U to act as their representative and their less-absolute right to select U officials; thus, while agency shop nonmember has right to participate in selection of U, he often has no say in selecting U officials; Ees, while empowered to select U, may be unable to select official of their choice because of vote against such official but that would not constitute interference with their right to bargain through representative of their choice]

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[ct emphasized that its conclusion that state's regulation of casino industry U officials was not preempted by Act did not implicate Ees' Sec. 7 right to select particular U as their representative but only their subsidiary right to select U officials; Congress has distinguished between the two and has accorded less than absolute protection to Ees' right to choose U officials; and casino industry Ees' freedom to select U as their representative was not affected by state's qualification criteria for U officials]

Carpenters Local 925; et al. (Charlene Seier, an Individual) 279 NLRB No. 145

[sole Ee seeking U representation is engaging in concerted activity w/i meaning of Section 7 of Act, w/o regard to fact that Ee may have acted alone, since S.Ct has recognized that Section 7 —defines both joining and assisting labor organizations– activities in which a single Ee can engage– as concerted activities]

Save Mart of Modesto, Inc. JD-(SF)-25-85

(right of unit Ees to select their bargaining representative is predominant consideration under Section 7 of Act and is to be restricted only under compelling conditions concerning resolution of unit and accretion issues)

0170 RIGHT TO ENGAGE IN OTHER CONCERTED ACTIVITIES FOR MUTUAL AID OR PROTECTION

Baker et al. v. General Motors Corp. et al —— U.S. ——— (U.S. S.Ct, July 1986)

[Ees' payment of emergency dues to support strikes at workplaces other than their own, protected]

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076

[presenting ptns to management protesting their retention of a particular law firm and a management consulting firm to combat U's organizing campaign, held protected activity, as Ees perceived law firm and consulting firm as threat to their efforts to achieve better working conditions and wages through collective bargaining. Any false or malicious accusations, if any, in ptns were directed to law firm and consulting firm and did not disparage E's conduct in labor relations or in any other way injare it. Furthermore, use of terms notorious U busters, known for trampling on workers' rights, provoking strikes are just expression of opinion and protected

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118

[Bd distinguished, in defining protected activity, between single Ee asserting bargaining contract right and single Ee reporting safety violation to government agency, stating that invocation of contract rights is continuation of ongoing process of Ees' concerted bargaining activity, whereas Ee's invocation of statutory right is not]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Maxwell, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[claim that letter by Ees to chairman concerned setting up new department and therefore did not concern terms and conditions of employment, but rather management concerns and had only attenuated relationship to Ees' own terms and conditions of employment, rejected, as clear from letter that these Ees expected to staff new department. And, proposal to create new department intertwined with Ees' request that their jobs be upgraded by, increased professionalism and remuneration]

Quality C.A.T.V., Inc. 278 NLRB No. 156

[discharge of two TV linemen who installed television strands on utility poles and who refused to work during and after rainstorm because they were wet, violative, since their concerted refusal to work was to protest requirement that they climb poles when wet, an employment condition. Ee's protest was protected whether Ees acted because they were concerned about their safety, their personal comfort, or their supervisor's attitude. In carrying out their protest, Ees did not exceed permissable bounds of protected activity]

Hancor, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 030

[drivers participating in E's quality circle meetings were engaged in protected concerted activity, since issues drivers' representatives discussed in these meetings were related to wages, hours, and working conditions of all drivers. The activity of a single Ee in enlisting the support of his fellow Ees for their mutual aid and protection is as much concerted activity as is ordinary group activity]

Squier Distributing Company 276 NLRB No. 133

(discharge of Ees for giving statements to sheriff in connection with his investigation of possible embezzlement of corporate funds by E, violative, as Ees were acting for their mutual aid or protection since they viewed -- as result of 2 after work meetings -- that their concerted cooperation with sheriff as best method of safeguarding their jobs which bears relationship to Ees' interests as Ees and is, therefore, concerted activity. Disloyalty claim rejected)

Technicolor Government Services, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 041

(U steward's distribution to E's Ees of application forms for employment with another E, who was bidder in competition for E's position as air force contractor, concerted activity, since, as U steward, he was acting as representative of a group and on authority of bargaining representative, and thus pursuant to authority of other Ees)

Educational Broadcasting Corporation d/b/a WNET/Thirteen JD-(NY)-125-85

[violation]

0170—Cont.

Puerto Rican Association for Human Development JD-(NY)-148-84
(Ees intervening on behalf of disciplined Ee and at request of this Ee writing memos setting forth their version of incident where memos not malicious, recklessly false, nor excessively disparaging of E's reputation or services, engaged in protected activities and suspension for writing these memos, violative. Additionally, suspension of Ee over his conduct in supervisor's office during discussion of memos, violative also, since E may not rely on Ee's conduct that it has unlawfully provoked as basis for disciplining Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Technicolor Government Services, Inc. 795 F.2d 916 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)
[ct upheld Bd's conclusion that U steward was engaged in U and protected concerted activity when he distributed to E's Ees application forms for employment with another E, who was bidder in competition for E's position as service contractor, on U's behalf]

0180 ATTITUDE TOWARD MANAGEMENT REFLECTING DISSATISFACTION WITH WORKING CONDITIONS AND/OR LACK OF SUCCESS OF UNION CAMPAIGN, ETC.

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. JD-276-85
(discharge of U adherent because he complained to his fellow Ees about having his (time) card pulled for clocking in one minute late and during this incident calling management a perjorative term, violative, since Ee's initial complaint was (protected) concerted activity w/i meaning of Act. Using obscenity did not deprive Ee of right to relief)

0184 RIGHT TO REFRAIN FROM EXERCISE OF SECTION 7 RIGHTS

0184-0100 Generally

Teamsters Local 42, a/w Teamsters (J.W. Daly, Inc.) 281 NLRB No. 132
[U's establishing seniority list which placed bargaining unit Ees at E's more recently organized plant behind previously unionized Ees at another of E's facilities, violative, since U could not refuse to consider or negotiate a dovetailing system solely because Ees at E's non-U plant joined U more recently than did Ees at E's unionized plant. By favoring Ees at its unionized plant, U in effect (if not intent) penalized Ees of non-U plant for refraining from engaging in U activity]

0184-5000 Subject to membership requirement of valid agreement

Graphic Communications District Council No. 2, etc. (Ray Cole, Division Manager Data Documents, Inc.) 278 NLRB No. 052
[statutory guarantees of 8(a)(3) and 8(b)(2) that Ees will be protected against discrimination are not unlimited; rather, they are subject to agreement requiring membership in U as condition of employment by tender of periodic dues and initiation fees, as authorized by 8(a)(3)]

Graphic Communications District Council No. 2, etc. (Ray Cole, Division Manager Data Documents, Inc.) 278 NLRB No. 052
[first proviso of 8(a)(3), subjecting statutory guarantees against employment discrimination to agreement requiring membership in U as condition of employment by tender of periodic dues and fees, must be literally observed and strictly limited in its restriction of Ees' normal exercise of their Sec. 7 right to refrain from membership or support of a U]

0188 RIGHT TO BE FREE FROM UNFAIR, IRRELEVANT, OR INVIDIOUS TREATMENT BY REPRESENTATIVE

Operating Engineers Local 478 (Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation) 274 NLRB No. 081
(U's refusal to refer dissident U member for reasons which were determined at hearing to be arbitrary, invidious or irrelevant to legitimate U interests (opposed U leadership), violative since U failed to act in an even-handed manner)

0188-5000 Differentiation on basis of sex

Hack's, Inc. JD159-86
[protesting male supervisor's sexual harassment of female Ees, protected]

0192 RIGHTS DERIVED FROM OTHER FEDERAL LABOR STATUTES

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118
[in connection with its refusal to find discharge for reporting safety violation to government agency unlawful, since not concerted activity, Bd stated that although it was its duty to construe labor laws so as to accomodate purposes of other federal statutes, Bd was not intended to be forum in to assist in enforcing other statutes and rectifying all injustices in workplace]

2000 NATURE OF ACTIVITIES PROTECTED

2001 GENERALLY

Robert T. Ewing, an individual v. N.L.R.B. 768 F.2d 51 (C.A. 2, July 1985)
(ct rejected view that presumption of concertedness based on invocation of employment-related statutory right is irrebutable and that therefore concertedness is read out of Act; E may demonstrate that Ee's presumptively concerted action was, in fact, frivolous or in bad faith and, therefore, both unprotected and lacking in group support; consequently, although Bd is not charged by Congress with responsibility of enforcing all state and federal laws, Bd may protect workers from retaliatory discharges in their collective effort to achieve statutorily guaranteed working conditions)

2001-5000 Concerted activity defined

N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal Systems, Inc. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Mar. 1984)
[S.Ct approved Bd's use of Interboro doctrine 157 N.L.R.B. 1295 (1966), whereby individual Ee is deemed to have engaged in concerted activity w/i meaning of Sec. 7, if right Ee reasonably and in good faith asserts is grounded in his E's collective bargaining agreement. Good faith assertion of right contained in agreement is extension of concerted activity that produced agreement; alternatively, reasonable, good faith assertion of contract right is said to affect rights of all other Ees in workforce]

N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal Systems, Inc. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Mar. 1984)
[as long as Ee's statement or action is based on reasonable or honest belief that he is being, or has been, asked to perform task he is not required to perform under bargaining agreement, and statement or action is reasonably directed toward enforcement of collectively bargained right, Ee is engaged in concerted activity]

N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal Systems, Inc. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Mar. 1984)
[honest and reasonable invocation of collectively bargained right constitutes concerted activity, regardless of whether Ee turns out to have been correct in his belief that his right was violated. However, if bargaining agreement imposes limitation on means by which right may be invoked, concerted activity would be unprotected if it went beyond that limitation]

Chelsea Laboratories, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 074
[protesting to E's president, in presence of shop steward and on Ees' behalf, E's apparent decision not to recognize U w/o first discussing matter with Ee committee, as promised, found concerted protected activity that did not lose protection merely because protesting Ee raised his voice]

Every Woman's Place, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 048
[Ee's telephoning Wage and Hour Division of Labor Department to ask what pay Ees were legally entitled to receive for working on holidays, concerted, protected activity, notwithstanding it was not made pursuant to express instructions of fellow Ees, where it was outgrowth of three Ees' protest to management about holidays and compensatory time]

Every Woman's Place, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 048
[fellow Ees' express instructions for Ee to call Wage and Hour Division of Labor Department, not required, since Ee's conduct was concerted as continuation of Ees' protected activity of complaining about holidays and compensatory time]

Consumers Power Company 282 NLRB No. 024
[Ee held to have engaged in concerted activity since he clearly acted with and on authority of coworker, where he and coworker approached supervisor about lack of police protection when coworker made service call to customer exhibiting violent attitude toward coworker, and coworker had previously acquiesced in Ee's suggestion that we had better go and get supervision concerning such matter; coworker's action in walking away from Ee's discussion with supervisor was not intended to indicate repudiation of Ee's assertions or that coworker was not party to Ee's complaint]

Consumers Power Company 282 NLRB No. 024
[Ee's actions in complaining to supervisor about lack of police protection for coworker making service call to customer exhibiting violent attitude toward coworker held protected concerted activity, even if Ee had approached supervisor alone and not accompanied by coworker, since Ee's individual complaint would have been continuation of his and other Ees' concerted activity in bringing safety complaints to E's weekly meetings and discussing with E how it should have reacted to violent incidents]

Consumers Power Company 282 NLRB No. 024
[supervisor held to have known that Ee and coworker were acting in concert when they approached him together to discuss coworker's involvement, while making service call, with customer exhibiting violent attitude toward coworker; E was well aware of Ee's and other Ees concerted safety complaints made at E's weekly meetings and that Ee's complaint to supervisor was continuation of such activity; and since Ee acted for Ees' mutual aid or protection, his actions in approaching supervisor about lack of police protection for coworker while on service call, was protected]

2001-5000—Cont.

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118
[on remand, Bd affirmed its Meyers Industries, 268 NLRB 493, definition of concerted activity which overruled Alleluia Cushion, 221 NLRB 999, and required some group action for conduct to be considered concerted distinguishing between mutual aid and protection and concerted activities provisions of Section 7 of Act; thus absent evidence of linkage to group activity, Ee's reporting alleged violation of safety regulation to government agency, not concerted activity]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118
[individual, not a designated spokesman, bringing group complaint to attention of management is engaged in concerted activity. No requirement spokesman be specifically authorized by group to act in some formal declarative manner]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118
[in general to find Ee's activity to be concerted, Bd will require that it be engaged in with or on authority of other Ees, and not solely on behalf of Ee himself, distinguishing, however, between single Ee asserting bargaining contract right and other statutory rights]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118
[concerted activity encompasses those circumstances where individual Ees seek to initiate, or to induce, or to prepare for group action, as well as individual Ees bringing truly group complaints to attention of management]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118
[Bd distinguished, in defining protected activity, between single Ee asserting bargaining contract right and single Ee reporting safety violation to government agency, stating that invocation of contract rights is continuation of ongoing process of Ees' concerted bargaining activity, whereas Ee's invocation of statutory right is not]

Thomas Steel Company 281 NLRB No. 060
[E's letter to former Ee threatening him with a lawsuit if he did not cease interfering with E's business relationships with customers and suppliers, not violation where Ee's telephone call to supplier, which prompted E's letter, was unprotected in view of Ee's misrepresentation that he was independent safety consultant hired by E, and E, at time it sent letter, did not know and could not reasonably have known of arguably concerted nature of Ee's conduct]

Unico Replacement Parts, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 046
[comment to Ee about closing plant, which could reasonably have been construed as indicating that complaints to OSHA about safety conditions at plant, whether made by one or by several Ees together, would result in plant closing held unlawful restraint of Ees in exercise of their right to act, in concerted manner, to report alleged plant safety violations to OSHA]

Dresser Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 023
[filing grievances found concerted, protected activity]

Cherokee Heating and Air Conditioning Co. 280 NLRB No. 044
[service sales contract representative's writing E letter seeking change in sales commission payments, concerted, notwithstanding second representative's failure to include her name in first representative's charge filed with Bd or to testify, where second representative was involved in commission dispute and supportive of joint effort to resolve it, and letter stated its subject was of mutual concern to both representatives]

B & P Trucking, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 092
[activity concerted and known to be concerted where Ee was delegated to speak for fellow Ees and repeatedly informed E that he was voicing all Ees' complaints]

B & P Trucking, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 092
[threatening to get drivers together and go to U to secure assistance in resolving their complaints, concerted and protected]

Woodline Motor Freight, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 152
[discharge of driver violative of Sec. 8(a)(1) where for requesting installation of airconditioning in E's trucks, since request concerted inasmuch as driver had spoken to several other Ees about matter, notwithstanding he discussed airconditioning with E's president w/o going through chain of command thus violating rule, where E's president himself did not attempt to enforce rule, and discharge memo did not spedifically mention violation of rule as reason for discharge; however, discharge not violative of Sec. 8(a)(3) in view of lack of knowledge of Ee's U activities by E's officials who discharged him]

Hancor, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 030
[drivers participating in E's quality circle meetings were engaged in protected concerted activity, since issues drivers' representatives discussed in these meetings were related to wages, hours, and working conditions of all drivers. The activity of a single Ee in enlisting the support of his fellow Ees for their mutual aid and protection is as much concerted activity as is ordinary group activity]

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171
[Ee's pursuit of worker's compensation claim, not concerted activity]

The Loft (Showcase Inc,) 277 NLRB No. 170
Ee's complaining to E at Ee meeting concerning tip pool policy, held concerted protected activity, where Ees had previously met together regarding problem, Ee spoke on behlaf of all Ees, and it may be inferred E considered Ee spokesman; further, Ee's subsequent discussion of tip pool policy with other Ees was continuation of this protected activity]

United States Postal Service 277 NLRB No. 156
(Ee's telling management that he had reported E's building code violations to the city, not concerted where Ee acted alone w/o discussing matter with other Ees)

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corporation 277 NLRB No. 160
(operator's refusal to run equipment until inspected by U safety representative, concerted where prompted by four Ees calling operator's attention to equipment's dangerous condition)

Aztec Concrete, Inc. and E.M.L. Construction Company, Joint Employers 277 NLRB No. 142
(Ees' complaint to Corp. of Engineers about E's failure to comply with Davis-Bacon wage and job-classification requirements at federal military installation, concerted where Ees conferred together about it, gave their chosen spokesman copies of their paycheck stubs as evidence, and expressly authorized their fellow Ee to speak for them)

Airlines Transportation Company 277 NLRB No. 037
(Ee's honest and reasonable invocation of his collectively bargained right to half-hour lunch break, concerted)

A. N. Electric Corp. 276 NLRB No. 092
(Ee's confronting supervisor demanding to know whether job was federally funded in presence of Ee's son, a fellow Ee, discussing supervisor's responses with son, and pressing supervisor for higher wages for Ee and others held concerted activity which was aimed at attaining higher wages and thus protected under Sec. 7; E's discharge of these two Ees, motivated by their concerted activity, violative)

A. N. Electric Corp. 276 NLRB No. 092
(three Ees agreeing among themselves to contact Labor Department investigator to pursue possibility of their cooperating in wage investigation to secure higher wages and giving statements to investigator together with fourth Ee's subsequent statement which was result of another meeting with investigator, held protected concerted activity; E's discharge of four Ees, violative where E knew of concerted nature of activities and was motivated by activities in discharging them)

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant 276 NLRB No. 087
(where Ee, at E's meeting with Ees, entered discussion to support another Ee's comments that E's cutting dependent insurance, a term and condition of employment, was particularly harsh on Mexican Ees who had large families held concerted activity since it was engaged in on authority of other Ees, and not solely by and on behalf of Ee himself)

Technicolor Government Services, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 041
(U steward's distribution to E's Ees of application forms for employment with another E, who was bidder in competition for E's position as air force contractor, concerted activity, since, as U steward, he was acting as representative of a group and on authority of bargaining representative, and thus pursuant to authority of other Ees)

Union Electric Company 275 NLRB No. 059
(Ees' refusal to use stairway that they claimed was unsafe to go down to inspect caisson, concerted where they discussed it among themselves, met with E about it with steward representing them, and were attempting to invoke right under collective bargaining agreement between E and U)

Country Crest Creations, Ltd. JD-271-86
[two Ees' walkout, concerted, notwithstanding walkout supported complaint by only one Ee, where both Ees told other Ees we were going home because it was too cold]

Pacific Bell JD-(SF)-113-86
[Ee's attempt to invoke seniority provisions of contract in dispute with E held not concerted, where Ee was neither attempting to induce group action nor acting as representative of other Ees, Ee was not in unit covered by contract and invocation of contract covering other unit was not integrally related to group action]

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-150-86
[discharge of Ee for making threats to E's plant manager in course of discussion about other Ees, not unlawful, where Ee's actions were neither concerted nor protected]

Bombay Palace of Westchester, Inc. JD-(NY)-81-85
[complaint to state department of labor, concerted where Ees discussed concern about working conditions and filing of complaint among themselves, met with state investigator and was known by E to be concerted where, in meeting with three managers, Ee spokesman expressed concerns substantially parallelling those in state proceeding]

2001-5000—Cont.

Sue-Gio Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club JD-(NY)-10-86

[Ee's getting newspaper article published about E's alleged ULPs, concerted where fellow Ees and U stewards had agreed that Ee should publicize E's actions, and action was known by E to be concerted because Ee was referred to in article as Union spokesman]

Dr. Olinda Flavo JD-12-86

[protesting E's procedures and requirement of unpaid attendance at seminars concerted where two Ees discussed common problems together and agreed to jointly present concerns to E]

Educational Broadcasting Corporation d/b/a WNET/Thirteen JD-(NY)-125-85

[discharge, allegedly for inability to work closely with another Ee, violation, since real reason was Ee's filing and pursuing grievance, where Ee had reasonable and honest belief in entitlement to relief under U contract]

Baltimore Newspaper Graphic Communications Union Local No. 31, International Printing and Graphic Communications Union, AFL-CIO (The A. S. Abell Company) JD-327-85

(single Ee's presentation of grievance directly to E held not concerted activity since Ee did not act in conjunction with any other Ee, nor was he acting in furtherance of joint effort or taking a step in contractual grievance procedure; U's conduct in fining Ee for by passing U's contractual grievance procedure not unlawful)

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. JD-276-85

(for action to qualify as concerted activity where only speaker and listener involved in its inception, it must appear at very least it was engaged in with object of initiating or preparing for group action or that it had some relation to group action in interest of Ees. However, this requirement is satisfied if problems addressed by speaker had been subject of meetings between management and Ees aimed at resolving it, was currently being addressed by concerted activity among Ees not necessarily including speaker, or grew out of earlier concerted activities directed at same problem)

Robert T. Ewing, an individual v. N.L.R.B. 768 F.2d 51 (C.A. 2, July 1985)

(in view of S.Ct's decision in City Disposal, ct held Bd incorrectly concluded in its Meyers case that Ee activity is concerted only if it involves some sort of group action and that its Alleluia decision, overruled by Meyers, was inconsistent with Act because it allowed group support to be presumed absent evidence to the contrary)

Robert T. Ewing, an individual v. N.L.R.B. 768 F.2d 51 (C.A. 2, July 1985)

(Bd has discretion to find that individual Ee's reasonable and good faith invocation of employment-related statutory right is not so remotely related to activities of fellow Ees that it cannot be said that Ee is engaged in concerted activity; it is reasonable to presume that co-Ees support individual Ees right to seek statutorily guaranteed terms and conditions of employment; and such group support may rationally be assumed, absent evidence to the contrary, because fellow Ees presumably want to be free to assert such right w/o fear of losing their jobs)

D & D Distribution Company, A Division of D & D Sewing Company v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 636 (C.A. 3, Sept. 1986)

[Ee's conversation with two other Ees about wage increases for all of them and contacting U if next wage increase was disappointing, concerted protected activity]

N.L.R.B. v. Esco Elevators, Inc. 794 F.2d 1078 (C.A. 5, July 1986)

[Bd's conclusion on remand that Ee's safety complaints were not merely personal undertaking, but rather part of Ee's U campaign for U president Ee had emphasized safety issues, and supervisors' minds campaign was related to his safety complaints, U had investigated and discussed need for correction of alleged unsafe conditions with E's management]

Dayton Typographic Service, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 1188 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

[discharge of Ee, assertedly because he presented a personal gripe to E concerning work w/o pay rather than engaging in group activity, violative, since Ee was engaged in a continuation of concerted activity where, prior to discharge, Ee and other Ees had complained to E about working w/o pay and other conditions of employment and Ee continued thereafter to press Ees' complaints, albeit w/o their formal authorization, but a fact which will not negate concert of action]

JMC Transport, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 776 F.2d 612 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[Ee's conduct in protesting E's change in pay policy held concerted activity since Ee acted both with and on authority of other Ees, where Ee went to E's office to discuss pay structure together with another Ee who was not an inadvertent bystander; Ee expressed concern that E was taking our money, thereby putting E on notice that Ee's activity was concerted; Ee discussed changes with other Ees who assured that they would help him; and over half of Ees commented in writing in revisions when they signed copies of policy changes]

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 766 F.2d 969 (C.A. 6, July 1985)

(single Ee's refusal to drive truck reported as unsafe found concerted activity, since Ee had contractual right to refuse to drive truck reported as unsafe until E demonstrated truck's safety; Ee reasonably believed he was being asked to drive truck he was not required to drive under contract in view of reports it was unsafe, large number of trucks awaiting repairs, and supervisors' lack of concern about safety, and Ee honestly believed truck was unsafe as shown by his statements)

N.L.R.B. v. Local 139, Operating Engineers 796 F.2d 985 (C.A. 7, July 1986)

[to fall w/i scope of concerted activity. Ee's action must be taken for purpose of inducing or preparing for group action to correct grievance or complaint; thus, such activity was found in Ee's honoring another U's picket line; individual's filing of grievance concerning own discharge was found concerted because sufficiently related to collective U objectives]

N.L.R.B. v. Local 139, Operating Engineers 796 F.2d 985 (C.A. 7, July 1986)

[U member's publication of newspaper to expose what he believed to be corruption in U president's administration of U held concerted activity where member acted with another U member in publishing newspaper for purpose of inciting action against U president and his U practices; and, alternatively, individual Ee engaged in concerted activity by taking action to align U membership with his own position against U representative]

N.L.R.B. v. Technicolor Government Services, Inc. 795 F.2d 916 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)

[ct upheld Bd's conclusion that U steward was engaged in U and protected concerted activity when he distributed to E's Ees application forms for employment with another E, who was bidder in competition for E's position as service contractor, on U's behalf]

Kenneth P. Prill v. N.L.R.B. 755 F.2d 941 (C.A.D.C., Feb. 1984)

(Bd decision announcing new restrictive definition of concerted activities remanded to Bd for reconsideration in light of S.Ct's intervening City Disposal decision which held, contrary to Bd herein, that neither language nor legislative history of Sec. 7 required that term concerted activities be interpreted to protect most narrowly defined forms of common action by Ees and that Bd has substantial responsibility to determine scope of protection in order to promote Act's purposes)

Kenneth P. Prill v. N.L.R.B. 755 F.2d 941 (C.A.D.C., Feb. 1984)

(Bd decision announcing new restrictive definition of concerted activities under which Ee's conduct is not concerted unless engaged in, with, or on authority of other Ees and not solely by and on behalf of himself remanded to Bd for reconsideration under S.Ct's NLRB v. City Disposal Systems, 104 S.Ct. 1505, since Bd misread precedent in claiming that it was returning to standard on which Bd and cts relied before Bd's Alleluia decision, which Bd overruled herein; rather, precedent shows that Bd's new test is substantially narrower than that followed by past Bds and most cts)

Kenneth P. Prill v. N.L.R.B. 755 F.2d 941 (C.A.D.C., Feb. 1984)

(in remanding Bd decision announcing new restrictive test for concerted activities for reconsideration because of Bd's erroneous view of law, ct held S.Ct's intervening City Disposal decision made it clear that Bd is not required to give a narrowly literal interpretation to concerted activities but has substantial authority to define scope of Sec. 7 in first instance as it considers wide variety of cases that come before it)

2017 NOT ALL CONCERTED ACTIVITIES PROTECTED

2017-0800 Activity of such character as to render employee unfit for further service

Chelsea Laboratories, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 074

[protesting to E's president, in presence of shop steward and on Ees' behalf, E's apparent decision not to recognize U w/o first discussing matter with Ee committee, as promised, found concerted protected activity that did not lose protection merely because protesting Ee raised his voice]

Dandridge Textile, Inc., Ronald W. Woods, Individually and As Officer and Managing Agent 279 NLRB No. 015

[discharge of 2 Ees for remarks made to E's owner in meeting concerning wage increases, violative notwithstanding owner may have found Ees' remarks unpleasant or distressing, where Ees' statements were not so vulgar or defamatory as to render them unfit for further service]

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 278 NLRB No. 028

[U official's destroying copy of new safety rule in meeting with E, not outrageous or extreme enough for Ee to lose protection of the Act]

2017-0800—Cont.

Caterpillar Tractor Company 276 NLRB No. 151

276 NLRB No. 151

(suspending U steward for drawing and disseminating cartoon containing obnoxious obscenities directed at foreman whom steward dealt with on grievances, not violative where Ee's misconduct was so egregious that it exceeded scope of whatever protection it might otherwise have been entitled, and obscenities had inevitable negative effect on foreman's supervisory status in eyes of other Ees)

Technicolor Government Services, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 041

(U steward's distribution to E's Ees of application forms for employment with another E, who was bidder in recompetition for E's service contract with air force, protected, since it was not malicious or disloyal where it was U's effort to secure employment with contractor replacing E in case E lost bid competition and not solicitation to quit working for E)

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodcraft Division 278 NLRB No. 091

(striking Ees, who visited home of non-striking Ee and in presence of Ee's pregnant wife and young daughter stated that they would take care of him if he returned to work, while cursing in drunken state and refusing requests to leave, were lawfully discharged, since Act does not protect such intimidating conduct with respect to an Ee who is exercising his Sec. 7 right to refrain from striking)

Lacks Industries, Inc. JD-150-86

[discharge of Ee for making threats to E's plant manager in course of discussion about other Ees, not unlawful, where Ee's actions were neither concerted nor protected]

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. JD-276-85

(discharge of U adherent because he complained to his fellow Ees about having his (time) card pulled for clocking in one minute late and during this incident calling management a perjorative term, violative, since Ee's initial complaint was (protected) concerted activity w/i meaning of Act. Using obscenity did not deprive Ee of right to relief)

2017-1700 Activities tending to disrupt employer's or union's operations

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027

[hotel refusing to permit non-Ee U representatives to continue to handbill for area standards for Ees of one of hotel's suppliers on hotel's private property near its main entrance, not unlawful, since herein E's property rights outweighed U's Section 7 right to inform public regarding lack of area standards, where activity at hotel's entrance increased possibility of theft of luggage, tort liability, and congestion and litter, atmosphere expected by guests violated, hotel had no interest in economic success of E with which U had dispute, nor was there vital link to Ees located on hotel's property]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[Ees writing letter to chairman of E's parent company, protected although couched in terms of criticism of E's operation, thrust of letter is Ees' proposal for increasing professionalism of their jobs by addressing wages, training, education, etc. Further, letter written as part of ongoing labor dispute notwithstanding letter referred to only one in itme--wages--among several items discussed at meetings with management shortly before letter written. Letter did not contain any malicious language, and even if letter contained false statements, no showing they were deliberately or maliciously false]

Turner Beverage Company, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 024

[discharge of two Ees, husband and wife, assertedly because husband was U supporter and because both Ees engaged in concerted activity of making anonymous calls to E's franchisor which put E in jeopardy of losing its franchise, not violative, since E's real reason was not Ees' U activity but was their perceived role in making anonymous calls, activity that was unprotected, where calls were simply act of retaliation, having nothing to do with working conditions but related to Ees' general discontent with management and attempt to direct philosophy of E]

The Zack Company 278 NLRB No. 134

[while filing of grievance by Ees is protected activity and ordinarily Ees' discussions with fellow Ees about their grievance were essential means of drumming up support for their position and were clearly designed to induce group action, Bd held that, as result of Ees' discussions with other Ees, they spent more time than normal talking about their grievances and less time working, thereby interfering with their production and, as a result, losing protection of Act]

The Zack Company 278 NLRB No. 134

[while filing of grievance by Ees is protected activity and ordinarily Ees' discussions with fellow Ees about their grievance were essential means of drumming up support for their position and were clearly designed to induce group action, Bd held that, as result of Ees' discussions with other Ees, they spent more time than normal talking about their grievances and less time working, thereby interfering with their production and, as a result, losing protection of Act]

General Teamsters and Food Processing Local 87, Teamsters (Harry Shain, an Individual) 273 NLRB No. 225

(notwithstanding assurances that omission was inadvertant clerical error member becoming upset and telling U's office manager to keep her damn hand off his name on out of work list when he discovered that posted unofficial referral list did not include his name, not protected activity)

Sue-Glo Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club JD-(NY)-10-86

[warning Ee about repestedly asking guest to sign statement about waiter's service and conduct which resulted in guest's annoyance and E's loss of future business from guest, lawful, notwithstanding Ee was acting in capacity as U steward, since that protected U activity lost protection]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. JD-(SF)-132-85

(discharge of Ees for authoring and sending letter to Chairman of the Board complaining about E's labor research practices and expressing concern for the industry and our product, not violative, since letter did not directly relate to wages, hours and working conditions but rather was an attack upon E's management and product and organizational structure of the company, thus rendering it unprotected)

2017-2500 Activities relating to intra-union affairs

Operating Engineers Local 478 (Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation) 274 NLRB No. 061

(U's failure and refusal to refer particular Ee to E, at E's request, because Ee had solicited and encouraged Ees to run for position of business manager of U and attempted to oust present U business manager from office by running, himself for that office held violative, since activities of Ees designed to oust incumbent U leadership and to elect different U officers are concerted activities protected by Section 7 of Act)

2017-4000 No impact upon terms and conditions of employment

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[claim that letter by Ees to chairman concerned setting up new department and therefore did not concern terms and conditions of employment, but rather management concerns and had only attenuated relationship to Ees' own terms and conditions of employment, rejected, as clear from letter that these Ees expected to staff new department. And, proposal to create new department intertwined with Ees' request that their jobs be upgraded by, increased professionalism and remuneration]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[Ees writing letter to chairman of E's parent company, protected although couched in terms of criticism of E's operation, thrust of letter is Ees' proposal for increasing professionalism of their jobs by addressing wages, training, education, etc. Further, letter written as part of ongoing labor dispute notwithstanding letter referred to only one in itme--wages--among several items discussed at meetings with management shortly before letter written. Letter did not contain any malicious language, and even if letter contained false statements, no showing they were deliberately or maliciously false]

Turner Beverage Company, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 024

[discharge of two Ees, husband and wife, assertedly because husband was U supporter and because both Ees engaged in concerted activity of making anonymous calls to E's franchisor which put E in jeopardy of losing its franchise, not violative, since E's real reason was not Ees' U activity but was their perceived role in making anonymous calls, activity that was unprotected, where calls were simply act of retaliation, having nothing to do with working conditions but related to Ees' general discontent with management and attempt to direct philosophy of E]

Thrifty Nickel Want Ads of Albuquerque, Inc. JD-(SF)-179-85

[group of Ees concertedly complaining to management about the policy and procedure used in running the business, not protected activity, since Ees banded together not to improve rank-and-file working conditions but because they could not accept E's management and it is not an Ee's responsibility to tell E how it should run its business]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. JD-(SF)-132-85

(discharge of Ees for authoring and sending letter to Chairman of the Board complaining about E's labor research practices and expressing concern for the industry and our product, not violative, since letter did not directly relate to wages, hours and working conditions but rather was an attack upon E's management and product and organizational structure of the company, thus rendering it unprotected)

Interchecks Incorporated, A Subsidiary of United Graphics, Inc. JD-(SF)-23-85

(dischagring Ee for engaging in personal vendetta to undermine authority of his supervisor, whom he had supervised before he was demoted, in order to take her place, not violative; Ee's voluntarily informing E about supervisor's falsification of her timecard did not concern Ees' conditions of employment, and fellow Ees' individual complaints about supervisor were not concerted nor intended to remove her, as were dischargee's, who was acting for himself)

2017-4000—Cont.

2017-5000 Resort to prohibited means

Thomas Steel Company — 281 NLRB No. 060
[E's letter to former Ee threatening him with a lawsuit if he did not cease interfering with E's business relationships with customers and suppliers, not violation where Ee's telephone call to supplier, which prompted E's letter, was unprotected in view of Ee's misrepresentation that he was independent safety consultant hired by E, and E, at time it sent letter, did not know and could not reasonably have known of arguably concerted nature of Ee's conduct]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. — 280 NLRB No. 023
[claim that letter sent by Ees to chairman of the board and president of E's parent company are outside of E's management and, accordingly, Ees' communication should be treated as if made to third party, rejected, as letter distinguishable from those in cases which involve disparagement of E's product to customers or public at large. Further, even if considered as appeal to third party, appeal was clearly tied to Ees' own working conditions and part of ongoing labor dispute]

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodcraft Division — 275 NLRB No. 091
(striking Ees, who visited home of non-striking Ee and in presence of Ee's pregnant wife and young daughter stated that they would take care of him if he returned to work, while cursing in drunken state and refusing requests to leave, were lawfully discharged, since Act does not protect such intimidating conduct with respect to an Ee who is exercising his Sec. 7 right to refrain from striking)

The Mead Corporation-Publishing Paper Division-Escanaba — 275 NLRB No. 052
(U steward's refusal to work overtime to perform emergency repairs held unprotected insubordination, since Ee eschewed grievance system or other protected form of protest and sought to dictate terms of employment by refusing to honor E's overtime practice)

2017-6700 Activities prohibited by statute

Rapid Armored Truck Corp. — 281 NLRB No. 057
[E's discharge of and refusal to reinstate strikers, not unlawful, since their conduct unprotected, where strikers' objective was to compel E to recognize and bargain with U which was ineligible for certification because of its policy of admitting both guard and non-guard Ees to membership and picketing was also violative of Section 8(b)(7)(C)]

Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc., et al., A Joint Venture Known as Tenn-Tom Constructors — 279 NLRB No. 068
[Ee's participation in U disciplinary proceeding against E's supervisor, held protected activity, notwithstanding proceeding may have violated 8(b)(1)(B) of the Act, since Ee was engaged in Sec. 7 activity of assisting U by participating in U meeting and was not a perpetrator of the proceeding; rather, U officials had initiated the proceeding; Congress's intent was that generally labor organizations and their agents, but not individual Ees, should be responsible for the unlawful practices of labor organizations]

2017-8300 Conduct violating valid provisions of contract

N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal Systems, Inc. — ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Mar. 1984)
[honest and reasonable invocation of collectively bargained right constitutes concerted activity, regardless of whether Ee turns out to have been correct in his belief that his right was violated. However, if bargaining agreement imposes limitation on means by which right may be invoked, concerted activity would be unprotected if it went beyond that limitation]

Metropolitan Edison Company — 279 NLRB No. 047
[issuing written warning slips to 14 Ees who failed to cross stranger picket line to report to work in violation of no-strike clause, not unlawful, notwithstanding Ees were motivated by fear of injury to themselves or their cars, since acts of picketers did not meet objective test for abnormally dangerous conditions under Section 502, where there were threats and damage to Ees' vechiles but no physical assaults, and 611 of 625 Ees crossed the picket line]

Metropolitan Edison Company — 279 NLRB No. 047
[threatening discipline, including suspension, for refusing to cross stranger picket line, not violation where braod no-strike clause waived Ee's right to honor stranger picket line, in absence of any evidence in bargaining history or past practice demonstrating that parties expressly excluded sympathy strikes from no-strike clause coverage]

Certified Grocers of Illinois, Inc. — 273 NLRB No. 196
(picketing by discharged Ees in attempt to deal directly with E over their grievances which U was then pursuing under contractual grievance machinery held not protected)

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. — 766 F.2d 969 (C.A. 6, July 1985)
(Ee's refusal to drive trucks as unsafe not conduct violating contract, since Ee reasonably and honestly believed that he was being asked to do something he was not required to do under contract, and his refusal was not unjustified under the no-strike clause and therefore not unprotected)

2017-9100 Conduct in derogation of bargaining representation

AAL, Inc., d/b/a River Oaks Nursing Home — 275 NLRB No. 012
(discharge of 2 (U) unit Ees because of their walkout over E's staffing proposals not violative, since facts establish walkout occurred w/o prior U knowledge and was not in support of policies and actions theretofore taken by U since U had decided against proffering contract proposal for specific staffing of aides, and U agent did not avail himself of opportunity at meeting to discuss walkout to join in with demands of dischargees for specific staffing of aides)

Certified Grocers of Illinois, Inc. — 273 NLRB No. 196
(picketing by discharged Ees in attempt to deal directly with E over their grievances which U was then pursuing under contractual grievance machinery held not protected)

2060 EMPLOYEES' MISTAKEN BELIEF AS TO VALIDITY OF GRIEVANCE IMMATERIAL

North Vernon Forge, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 106
[discharge of rehired probationary Ee because Ee complained about his job assignment to his supervisor and to U making him alleged unsatisfactory probationary Ee, held violative since attempts by Ee to enforce provisions of existing collective bargaining agreement, even though agreement was ambiguous as to Ee's rights, are protected concerted activity under Act, as long as Ee's interpretations of agreement had reasonable basis]

Dave Castellino & Sons — 277 NLRB No. 050
(determination of whether Ee concerted activity is, or is not, protected does not turn upon ultimate merit or validity of concerted activity's objective)

Dubovsky and Sons, Inc. — JD-(NY)-47-86

2083 UNION ACTIVITY NEED NOT BE INVOLVED OR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING CONTEMPLATED

Squier Distributing Company — 276 NLRB No. 133
(discharge of Ees for giving statements to sheriff in connection with his investigation of possible embezzlement of corporate funds by E, violative, as Ees were acting for their mutual aid or protection since they viewed -- as result of 2 after work meetings -- that their concerted cooperation with sheriff as best method of safeguarding their jobs which bears relationship to Ees' interests as Ees and is, therefore, concerted activity. Disloyalty claim rejected)

3000 REFUSAL TO CROSS PICKET LINE

3033 AT PREMISES OF ANOTHER EMPLOYER

Metropolitan Edison Company — 279 NLRB No. 047
[threatening discipline, including suspension, for refusing to cross stranger picket line, not violation where broad no-strike clause waived Ee's right to honor stranger picket line, in absence of any evidence in bargaining history or past practice demonstrating that parties expressly excluded sympathy strikes from no-strike clause coverage]

3033-5000 Primary picket line

Arizona Public Company — 273 NLRB No. 210
(issuing 3-day suspensions to 8 Ees because they refused to cross a stranger picket line thus refusing to perform assigned work of removing overhead lines at municipal building complex, not violative, since E's contract with U permitted E to discipline Ees who engage in any unauthorized stoppage, strike, intentional slowdown, or suspension of work, and U, by letter, stated that it had not authorized stoppage, strike, slowdown or suspension of work at involved work site. Absent extrinsic evidence that parties intended otherwise, and general no-strike clause waives the Ees' right to engage in sympathy strikes)

Indianapolis Power & Light Company — 273 NLRB No. 211
(broad no-strike clause in bargaining agreement though not expressly mentioning sympathy strikes nevertheless held to include sympathy strikes in its proscription, unless extrinsic evidence indicates parties intended otherwise, and suspension and threat of discharge made to sympathy striker, not violative)

3033-7500 Secondary picket line

Electrical Workers, Local 387 v. N.L.R.B. (Arizona Public Service Co.) — 788 F.2d 1412 (C.A. 9, May 1986)
[whether contract waives Ees' right to strike turns upon the proper interpretation of particular contract. It must be read as a whole and in light of the law relating to it when made. Other relevant considerations include bargaining history, context in which contract was negotiated, interpretation of contract by the parties, and conduct of the parties bearing upon its meaning]

3067 AT OWN EMPLOYER'S PREMISES

3067-0100 Generally

Dave Castellino & Sons — 277 NLRB No. 050
(Act protects Ees in refusing to cross fellow Ees' picket line even where sole reason is Ee's fear of personal bodily injury, since focal point of Bd's inquiry is nature of activity itself, and Ee's motives for engaging in activity are irrelevant)

Dave Castellino & Sons — 277 NLRB No. 050
(Ee's walkout from job, occurring in response to protected Ee picket line at E's jobsite, held protected activity even though motivated solely by personal fear)

4000 OBJECTIVE AS DETERMINANT OF PROTECTED STATUS OF ACTIVITY

4001 GENERALLY

Island Creek Coal Company and Langley and Morgan Corporation, Joint Employers — 279 NLRB No. 116
[irrelevant whether Ee of construction company which was performing construction work for mining company understood threat of layoff of construction company Ees would be effectuated by mining company as result of his complaint, rather than by construction company (E), since whether statement interferes with Ees' exercise of Section 7 rights is objective determination in which Ee's subjective understanding is not relevant consideration]

4001-5000 Racial discrimination

N.L.R.B. v. Vought Corporation - MLRS Systems Division — 788 F.2d 1378 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1986)
[E warning Ee regarding his passing rumor to other black Ees that white Ee was being groomed for supervisory position over recently promoted black Ee and suggesting that black Ees meet with management regarding situation, unlawful, since Ee's remarks constituted protected concerted activity inasmuch related to group action concerning possible racial discrimination; thus Ee's motives irrelevant, and absent evidence his discussions disrupted production]

4033 OBJECTIVES WARRANTING PROTECTION OF ACTIVITY

4033-0100 Generally

Dave Castellino & Sons — 277 NLRB No. 050
(determination of whether Ee concerted activity is, or is not, protected does not turn upon ultimate merit or validity of concerted activity's objective)

N.L.R.B. v. Local 1131, Local 1161, Auto Workers — 777 F.2d 1131 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)
[contention that Ees' right to be free of U officials' superseniority's burden on their seniority rights contained in superseniority clause is economic right subject to waiver, rejected, since it is not related to right to engage in concerted activity for economic advantage, but right to be free of discrimination that encourages U membership]

4033-0600 Holding union or employee meeting

Dandridge Textile, Inc., Ronald W. Woods, Individually and As Officer and Managing Agent — 279 NLRB No. 015
[discharge of 2 Ees for remarks made to E's owner in meeting concerning wage increases, violative notwithstanding owner may have found Ees' remarks unpleasant or distressing, where Ees' statements were not so vulgar or defamatory as to render them unfit for further service]

4033-1000 Protesting disciplinary measures

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. — JD-276-85
(discharge of U adherent because he complained to his fellow Ees about having his (time) card pulled for clocking in one minute late and during this incident calling management a perjorative term, violative, since Ee's initial complaint was (protected) concerted activity w/i meaning of Act. Using obscenity did not deprive Ee of right to relief)

Puerto Rican Association for Human Development — JD-(NY)-148-84
(Ees intervening on behalf of disciplined Ee and at request of this Ee writing memos setting forth their version of incident where memos not malicious, recklessly false, nor excessively disparaging of E's reputation or services, engaged in protected activities and suspension for writing these memos, violative. Additionally, suspension of Ee over his conduct in supervisor's office during discussion of memos, violative also, since E may not rely on Ee's conduct that it has unlawfully provoked as basis for disciplining Ees)

4033-1100 Protesting lawful discharge

Rockwell International Corp. — 278 NLRB No. 013
[Ee talking with other Ees regarding discharges of Ees whose unanlysis showed presence of drugs and protesting discharges to management, protected concerted activity]

Westinghouse Electric Corporation — 277 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor informing Ee who had given speech supporting Ee who had been discharged that she had better be careful, she was being perceived as U trouble-maker, unlawful)

4033-1200 Criticizing or protesting actions of supervisor

Waggener-Walker Newspapers, Inc. — 282 NLRB No. 070
[summary discharge of 11 Ees who presented group complaint concerning air conditioning and supervisor's behavior, violation, notwithstanding E's contention that Ees had voluntarily quit]

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer — 281 NLRB No. 161
[Ee's remarking to other Ees that E's CEO was a cheap son of a bitch, held protected concerted activity where comment was addressed to other Ees, Ee made it while Ees were on break and statement was not accompanied by any threat; further, Ee's supervisor telling Ee sometime after this comment, that he understood Ee was unhappy and if supervisor was that unhappy he would leave, violative, since remark was implied threat of retaliation for either Ee's comment about CEO or for signing a U card, both of which constituted protected activity]

Fourjay Industries Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 043
[discharge of two Ees, assertedly because of their poor attitude and absentee problems, violative, since real reason was Ees' complaints to supervisor about his close supervision and disparate treatment concerning absenteeism where both Ees had excellent work record and had never been warned about their attitude, supervisor had tolerated and accommodated Ees' attendance and supervisor was never concerned about Ees' attitude until they kept complaining about working conditions]

Herrick & Smith — 275 NLRB No. 062
(Ees meeting with management to discuss personnel problems held concerted protected activity and not individual griping where Ees voiced similar complaints against supervisors, meeting arranged and prepared for in concert with other Ees, and purpose was to air variety of complaints relating to their terms and conditions of employment)

N.L.R.B. v. Fair Mercantile Company — ———F.2d——— (C.A. 8, June 1985)
[Ees' complaints to management regarding quality of supervision which has direct impact on Ees' job interests is protected concerted activity]

4033-1700 Protesting employment practices based on racial and other minority group considerations

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant — 276 NLRB No. 087
(Ee's protesting E's alleged discriminatory treatment against Hispanics regarding terms and conditions of employment held protected activity)

N.L.R.B. v. Vought Corporation - MLRS Systems Division — 788 F.2d 1378 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1986)
[E warning Ee regarding his passing rumor to other black Ees that white Ee was being groomed for supervisory position over recently promoted black Ee and suggesting that black Ees meet with management regarding situation, unlawful, since Ee's remarks constituted protected concerted activity inasmuch related to group action concerning possible racial discrimination; thus Ee's motives irrelevant, and absent evidence his discussions disrupted production]

4033-2600 Protesting overtime

Airlines Transportation Company — 277 NLRB No. 037
(Ee's refusal to waive lunch period that was contractually mandated and would have resulted in overtime that was not mandatory under contract found protected where Ee made specific reference to contractual provision supporting his claim)

4033-2800 Protesting deprivation of overtime

Hyde Park Community Hospital — JD-62-85

4033-3000 Seeking assistance of Union representative or co-worker at investigatory interview

Port Plastics, Inc. — 279 NLRB No. 050
[E's refusal to allow U representative attend discharge meeting with Ee, not violative, where E had signed discharge letter prior to meeting and had already made decision to discharge Ee prior to meeting, thus meeting was held simply for purpose of informing Ee of discharge]

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation — 278 NLRB No. 014
[Ee's refusal to meet with supervisor w/o witness, not protected, where Ee had no reason to believe that purpose of meeting was investigatory but rather to merely inform Ee of disciplinary decision already made; further, under current Bd law representation rights afforded by Weingarten do not apply where, as herein, there was no certified or recognized U]

4033-3000—Cont.

Amoco Oil Company 278 NLRB No. 003
[refusal to provide Ees with U representative upon request at investigatory interview which Ees reasonably expected would result in discipline, violative, where expectation of discipline was present from fact that Ees were accused of burning up $1,000,000.00 boiler and objective of interview was to fix responsibility, Ees asked for U representative and one was available for them and E had not determined who was to be disciplined prior to investigation]

United States Postal Service 277 NLRB No. 156
(E held not to have unlawfully denied Ee's request, in course of an investigation and disciplinary interview with E, for U representative, where Ee never asked for contractual U representative but, instead, asked for fellow Ee who was officer of labor organization not representing E's Ees nor in anyway related to E; under Weingarten rule, requested representative must be agent of U which is exclusive representative of Ees)

Harry M. Stevens, Inc., A/K/A Harry M. Stevens Services, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 031
(E's refusal to allow unrepresented Ee have coworker attend investigatory interview, not violative, since the right to representation at Weingarten--type interviews applies only to unionized Ees)

Eagle Discount Supermarkets, Midwestern Food Division, Lucky Stores, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 204
(Ee's request for U representation at meeting with E held not w/i ambit of Weingarten and E's actions not unlawful where E called Ee into his office for purpose of delivering disciplinary writeup concerning Ee's poor attendance, since E had reached final determination to issue such writeup prior to calling Ee into his office)

TCC Center Companies, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 085
(E's refusing Ee's, (U adherent) request that his attorney be present during investigatory interview which Ee reasonably believed might result in disciplining not violative, since Ee's request was not protected concerted activity. See Sears, Roebuck & Co. 274 NLRB No. 55 (Feb. 22, 1985) Ees have no statutorily protected right to be represented at investigatory and/or disciplinary interviews by their private counsel from the outside....)

Prudential Insurance Company of America 275 NLRB No. 030
(although Weingarten right is triggered only by Ee's request and although that Ee alone may have an immediate stake in outcome of interview, U's duty of fair representation allows for flexibility in collective bargaining negotiations and Weingarten right, like right to strike, is subject to being waived by U)

Sears, Roebuck and Co. 274 NLRB No. 055
(right to representation at Weingarten-type interviews applies only to represented Ees; *Material Research Corp.*overruled)

Greyhound Lines, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 180
(Ee's Weingarten rights violated by E's policy of requiring U representative to remain silent during investigatory interview)

Exxon Shipping Company JD-(NY)-96-85
]Weingarten rights to U representation at interview with E apply when (1) interview is investigatory i.e. designed to elicit answers to work related questions which might affect Ees or unit, and (2) Ee reasonably fears that discipline might result from interview. Main focus of analysis turns on Bd's perception of state of mind of interviewee and reasonableness of same, rather than purpose of E in conducting interview. Further, regardless of original purpose of interview, when E goes beyond such purpose and questions Ee about misconduct, full panoply of protections accorded Ee under Weingarten may be applicable)

Union Underwear Company, Inc. JD-77-85
(Bd has held that Weingarten rights (Ee's right to presence of U representative at investigatory interview which Ee reasonably believed would result in disciplinary action) are inapplicable where there is no certified or recognized U----, C dismissed since it was undisputed that there was no certified or recognized U involved)

4033-3300 Protesting refusal to bargain with union or meet with employees

4033-3300 Protesting refusal to bargain with union or meet with employees

Chelsea Laboratories, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 074
[protesting to E's president, in presence of shop steward and on Ees' behalf, E's apparent decision not to recognize U w/o first discussing matter with Ee committee, as promised, found concerted protected activity that did not lose protection merely because protesting Ee raised his voice]

4033-3500 Seeking union membership or representation

B & P Trucking, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 092
[threatening to get drivers together and go to U to secure assistance in resolving their complaints, concerted and protected]

Penn Jersey Paper Co. 275 NLRB No. 064
(contents of letter to U in which Ee requested U action to admit him to membership and to obtain U wage for him, and U steward's possession of letter when he showed it to E, put E on notice that Ee was engaged in protected activities since Ee was asking steward and other Ees through U to let him participate in concerted and U activities and to help him in obtaining wage increase)

D & D Distribution Company, A Division of D & D Sewing Company v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 636 (C.A. 3, Sept. 1986)
[Ee's conversation with two other Ees about wage increases for all of them and contacting U if next wage increase was disappointing, concerted protected activity]

4033-3800 Protesting amount of tip received from employer

Club Monte Carlo Corporation 280 NLRB No. 030
[waitresses who had served at party asking E's vice-president if there was a tip for them, protected activity, notwithstanding E's contention inquiry unprotected since tips did not comprise terms and conditions of employment inasmuch as tips were infrequent; E's further contention protection lost because conduct unwarranted and hostile intrusions upon E's vice-president where they had interrupted his discussion with other Ees, rejected, as reasonableness of method of engaging in otherwise protected activity does not detract from its protected character]

The Loft (Showcase, Inc) 277 NLRB No. 170
[Ee's complaining to E at Ee meeting concerning tip pool policy, held concerted protected activity, where Ees had previously met together regarding problem, Ee spoke on behalf of all Ees, and it may be inferred E considered Ee spokesman; further, Ee's subsequent discussion of tip pool policy with other Ees was continuation of this protected activity]

4033-3900 Performance of union representative's duties

N.L.R.B. v. Cleveland Pneumatic Company 777 F.2d 339 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)
[threat of discharge to U steward, violation, since steward properly performing his duties when he wrote on list of Ees scheduled for overtime that U did not authorize this overtime as overtime scheduled in contravention of bargaining agreement]

4033-4100 Demanding compliance with union contract

N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal Systems, Inc. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Mar. 1984)
[S.Ct approved Bd's use of Interboro doctrine 157 N.L.R.B. 1295 (1966), whereby individual Ee is deemed to have engaged in concerted activity w/i meaning of Sec. 7, if right Ee reasonably and in good faith asserts is grounded in his E's collective bargaining agreement. Good faith assertion of right contained in agreement is extension of concerted activity that produced agreement; alternatively, reasonable, good faith assertion of contract right is said to affect rights of all other Ees in workforce]

North Vernon Forge, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 106
[discharge of rehired probationary Ee because Ee complained about his job assignment to his supervisor and to U making him alleged unsatisfactory probationary Ee, held violative since attempts by Ee to enforce provisions of existing collective bargaining agreement, even though agreement was ambiguous as to Ee's rights, are protected concerted activity under Act, as long as Ee's interpretations of agreement had reasonable basis]

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corporation 277 NLRB No. 160
(Ee's refusal to run equipment he believed unsafe until he implemented contractual provision permitting Ees to call for U safety inspection)

Dave Castellino & Sons 277 NLRB No. 050
(demonstrators picketing E at construction site held statutory Ees engaged in protected activity, where demonstrators included members of working class and unsuccessful applicants for employment with E, and were demonstrating in protest of E's alleged failure to comply with statutory duty and contractual commitment to provide work force composed of 50 percent of area residents, thereby protesting or seeking to influence E's hiring policies and practices)

Airlines Transportation Company 277 NLRB No. 037
(Ee's refusal to waive lunch period that was contractually mandated and would have resulted in overtime that was not mandatory under contract found protected where Ee made specific reference to contractual provision supporting his claim)

The Acme-Arsuna Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 144
(U steward's complaints about safety matters on job held attempts to enforce contract containing safety provision and therefore protected by Act under nationale of S.Ct's decision in N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal System)

Garland Coal & Mining Co. 276 NLRB No. 102
(refusal by U official to sign E's memorandum advising members of grievance and safety committees that if they interfered in any activity outside their own unit they would be discharged for insubordination held to constitute protected activity engaged in by U representative in support of U's interpretation of contract)

4033-4100—Cont.

Union Electric Company — 275 NLRB No. 089
(Ees' refusal to use stairway that they claimed was unsafe to go down to inspect caisson, protected since Ees were attempting to invoke contractual right under clause stating that they would be subject to discipline for refusing to perform assigned job unless question of safety was involved, and they had good-faith belief that the job was unsafe, which belief the parties had stipulated gave them the right to refuse to perform work pursuant to ALJ's conclusion in prior case involving same contractual clause)

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer — 274 NLRB No. 198
(driver complaining about E's interpretation of contract provision requiring that drivers pay fee in connection with loading and unloading of their trailers at customers' premises held protected activity)

Trans Tech Electric, Inc. — 274 NLRB No. 089
(E's complaining to E that certain work should be done by members of his and fellow Ees' U held concerted protected activity, where Ee was assisting U in enforcing contract for benefit of U members, including himself and fellow)

Sue-Glo Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club — JD-(NY)-10-86
[Ee's publicizing in newspaper article E's alleged ULPs of declaring contract null and void, firing three Ees, ignoring seniority in scheduling work, and changing work rules, protected, notwithstanding contract was no longer applicable, and some of the complaints were inaccurate, where statements were not malicious or disparaging]

The Fred B. Debra Company — JD-337-85
(Ee's remarks to supervisor that he was performing unit work under U contract, protected)

N.L.R.B. v. CER Inc. — 762 F.2d 482 (C.A. 5, June 1985)
(Ee abandoning work station to correct other Ees about proper work assignments as per bargaining agreement and complaining to U steward and E's foreman about compliance with bargaining agreement, held protected activity, notwithstanding E's contention that such complaining was not proper manner to handle complaints given the parties grievance machinery; grievance procedures do not preclude an effort to resolve grievances in an informal manner)

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. — 766 F.2d 969 (C.A. 6, July 1985)
(Ee's refusal to drive trucks as unsafe not conduct violating contract, since Ee reasonably and honestly believed that he was being asked to do something he was not required to do under contract, and his refusal was not unjustified under the no-strike clause and therefore not unprotected)

4033-4200 Demanding contract wage

Penn Jersey Paper Co. — 275 NLRB No. 064
(contents of letter to U in which Ee requested U action to admit him to membership and to obtain U wage for him, and U steward's possession of letter when he showed it to E, put E on notice that Ee was engaged in protected activities since Ee was asking steward and other Ees through U to let him participate in concerted and U activities and to help him in obtaining wage increase)

Jim Miller, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Action Drywall — JD-(SF)-136-86
[discharge of Ees, unlawful, where for their concerted activity of inquiring whether they were being compensated in manner required by Davis-Bacon Act]

4033-4500 Demanding additional benefits

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. — 280 NLRB No. 023
[claim that letter by Ees to chairman concerned setting up new department and therefore did not concern terms and conditions of employment, but rather management concerns and had only attenuated relationship to Ees' own terms and conditions of employment, rejected, as clear from letter that these Ees expected to staff new department. And, proposal to create new department intertwined with Ees' request that their jobs be upgraded by, increased professionalism and remuneration]

4033-4900 Obtaining wage increase

Modern Iron Works, Inc. — 281 NLRB No. 151
[discharge of Ees for engaging in work stoppage when they sought to get larger wage increase than they had received from E, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention that they had quit, where work stoppage was protected concerted activity, and there was no evidence Ees voluntarily relinquished their employment with E, which was clearly evidenced by their spokesman's express disclaimer that they had quit]

B & P Trucking, Inc. — 279 NLRB No. 092
[protesting pay for layovers, backhauls, and loading, protected]

Dandridge Textile, Inc., Ronald W. Woods, Individually and As Officer and Managing Agent — 279 NLRB No. 015
[discharge of 2 Ees for remarks made to E's owner in meeting concerning wage increases, violative notwithstanding owner may have found Ees' remarks unpleasant or distressing, where Ees' statements were not so vulgar or defamatory as to render them unfit for further service]

D & D Distribution Company, A Division of D & D Sewing Company — 277 NLRB No. 097
(Ee's conversations with other Ees about their prospects for getting bigger wage increases than in past and possibility of bringing in U if they did not succeed held characteristic protected concerted pre-U activity)

A. N. Electric Corp. — 276 NLRB No. 092
(Ee's confronting supervisor demanding to know whether job was federally funded in presence of Ee's son, a fellow Ee, discussing supervisor's responses with son, and pressing supervisor for higher wages for Ee and others held concerted activity which was aimed at attaining higher wages and thus protected under Sec. 7; E's discharge of these two Ees, motivated by their concerted activity, violative)

A. N. Electric Corp. — 276 NLRB No. 092
(three Ees agreeing among themselves to contact Labor Department investigator to pursue possibility of their cooperating in wage investigation to secure higher wages and giving statements to investigator together with fourth Ee's subsequent statement which was result of another meeting with investigator, held protected concerted activity; E's discharge of four Ees, violative where E knew of concerted nature of activities and was motivated by activities in discharging them)

Penn Jersey Paper Co. — 275 NLRB No. 064
(contents of letter to U in which Ee requested U action to admit him to membership and to obtain U wage for him, and U steward's possession of letter when he showed it to E, put E on notice that Ee was engaged in protected activities since Ee was asking steward and other Ees through U to let him participate in concerted and U activities and to help him in obtaining wage increase)

D & D Distribution Company, A Division of D & D Sewing Company v. N.L.R.B. — 801 F.2d 636 (C.A. 3, Sept. 1986)
[Ee's conversation with two other Ees about wage increases for all of them and contacting U if next wage increase was disappointing, concerted protected activity]

4033-5000 Protest regarding benefit plans

Tecom, Inc. — 277 NLRB No. 038
(Ee's efforts to find out provisions of group health insurance policy, and writing letter to E complaining about E's confused handling insurance matter, held protected concerted activity, notwithstanding some of Ee's questions related to his own personal medical problems, where several questions were raised on behalf of other Ees and in letter he stated he was complaining for himself and other Ees, and especially where other Ees bought letter to attention of E)

4033-5100 Protesting pay shortages or late payment

Barnes Excavating — 282 NLRB No. 013
[protesting overdue paychecks]

Spartan Business Equipment, Inc. — 274 NLRB No. 216
(joint protest of Ees over E's alleged failure to reimburse one of Ees for expenses he incurred from using his own car to perform services for E, held concerted protected activity; Ees discussed reimbursement issue with each other and approached E together to state their position)

N.L.R.B. v. Searle Auto Glass, Inc., d/b/a Best Glass Company — 762 F.2d 769 (C.A. 9, June 1985)
(discharge of Ee, who had filed wage claim with state agency, asserted for skimming and moonlighting, unlawful, where E failed to set forth reasons for firing Ee until Bd hearing, other Ee purportedly involved in skimming was transferred not discharged, and E refused to rehire other Ees who had filed wage claims against E)

4033-5200 Refusal to work without pay or complaint about doing so

Dr. Olinda Flores — JD-12-86
[Ees' discussions about being required to attend weekend seminars w/o being paid, and subsequent presentation of concerns to E, protected]

New Hope Industries, Inc., and Its Alter Ego and Owner Emil Brandt Thiec — JD-(ATL)-61-85
(Ees striking to protest E's failure to meet scheduled pay dates held protected activity and further, Ees continuation of that strike in protest over their discharges for striking converted strike from economic strike to ULP strike)

Electrical Individual Contractor — JD-6-86
(Ee's complaining through spokesman about E's order that they drive E's trucks to jobsite 30 miles away w/o being paid and consequently w/o being covered by workmen's compensation insurance while doing so, concerted protected activity)

4033-5200—Cont.

Dayton Typographic Service, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 1180 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

[discharge of Ee, assertedly because he presented a personal gripe to E concerning work w/o pay rather than engaging in group activity, violative, since Ee was engaged in a continuation of concerted activity where, prior to discharge, Ee and other Ees had complained to E about working w/o pay and other conditions of employment and Ee continued thereafter to press Ees' complaints, albeit w/o their formal authorization, but a fact which will not negate concert of action]

4033-5300 Protesting change in computing pay (piece rate, etc.)

JMC Transport, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 776 F.2d 612 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[where Ee's extremely hostile and abusive outbursts while engaged in protesting E's change in pay policy clearly could be seen as unprotected in context in which discharge is based on specific allegedly unprotected conduct, ct held E's failure to fire Ee for his abusive conduct defeated E's contention that Ee's conduct was unprotected; in context in which E had not found conduct so disruptive as to justify discharge at the time, ct declined to impose post hoc classification of unprotected conduct]

4033-5500 Protesting working conditions

Waggoner-Walker Newspapers, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 070

[summary discharge of 11 Ees who presented group complaint concerning air conditioning and supervisor's behavior, violation, notwithstanding E's contention that Ees had voluntarily quit]

Wabash Alloys, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 089

[assigning Ee to more arduous work as result of his safety complaint, violative]

Consumers Power Company 282 NLRB No. 024

[Ee's actions in complaining to supervisor about lack of police protection for coworker making service call to customer exhibiting violent attitude toward coworker held protected concerted activity, even if Ee had approached supervisor alone and not accompanied by coworker, since Ee's individual complaint would have been continuation of his and other Ees' concerted activity in bringing safety complaints to E's weekly meetings and discussing with E how it should have reacted to violent incidents]

Consumers Power Company 282 NLRB No. 024

[supervisor held to have known that Ee and coworker were acting in concert when they approached him together to discuss coworker's involvement, while making service call, with customer exhibiting violent attitude toward coworker; E was well aware of Ee's and other Ees concerted safety complaints made at E's weekly meetings and that Ee's complaint to supervisor was continuation of such activity; and since Ee acted for Ees' mutual aid or protection, his actions in approaching supervisor about lack of police protection for coworker while on service call, was protected]

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076

[presenting ptns to management protesting their retention of a particular law firm and a management consulting firm to combat U's organizing campaign, held protected activity, as Ees perceived law firm and consulting firm as threat to their efforts to achieve better working conditions and wages through collective bargaining. Any false or malicious accusations, if any, in ptns were directed to law firm and consulting firm and did not disparage E's conduct in labor relations or in any other way injure it. Furthermore, use of terms notorious U busters, known for trampling on workers' rights, provoking strikes are just expression of opinion and protected]

Quality C.A.T.V., Inc. 278 NLRB No. 156

[discharge of two TV linemen who installed television strands on utility poles and who refused to work during and after rainstorm because they were wet, violative, since their concerted refusal to work was to protest requirement that they climb poles when wet, an employment condition. Ee's protest was protected whether Ees acted because they were concerned about their safety, their personal comfort, or their supervisor's attitude. In carrying out their protest, Ees did not exceed permissable bounds of protected activity]

Woodline Motor Freight, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 152

[discharge of driver violative of Sec. 8(a)(1) where for requesting installation of airconditioning in E's trucks, since request concerted inasmuch as driver had spoken to several other Ees about matter, notwithstanding he discussed airconditioning with E's president w/o going through chain of command thus violating rule, where E's president himself did not attempt to enforce rule, and discharge memo did not spedifically mention violation of rule as reason for discharge; however, discharge not violative of Sec. 8(a)(3) in view of lack of knowledge of Ee's U activities by E's officials who discharged him]

Fourjay Industries Inc. 278 NLRB No. 043

[discharge of two Ees, assertedly because of their poor attitude and absentee problems, violative, since real reason was Ees' complaints to supervisor about his close supervision and disparate treatment concerning absenteeism where both Ees had excellent work record and had never been warned about their attitude, supervisor had tolerated and accommodated Ees' attendance and supervisor was never concerned about Ees' attitude until they kept complaining about working conditions]

Hancor, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 030

[drivers participating in E's quality circle meetings were engaged in protected concerted activity, since issues drivers' representatives discussed in these meetings were related to wages, hours, and working conditions of all drivers. The activity of a single Ee in enlisting the support of his fellow Ees for their mutual aid and protection is as much concerted activity as is ordinary group activity]

Bechtel Power Corporation 277 NLRB No. 080

(discharge of ee, assertedly for violating E's hardhat rules, violative, since real reason was Ee's complaints about breathing exhaust fumes in working area which complaints were protected concerted activity under City Disposal, where Ee's complaints were embodied in contract which had clause providing that all workmen and E's were to see that safe working conditions are maintained on all jobs. Ee complained to E-official who admitted receiving similar complaints from other Ees, Ee was longtime U member and told official he wanted to talk to steward and other Ees were not similarly discharged for similar hardhat violations)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 277 NLRB No. 081

(Ees' spontaneous refusal to work for 1 day in protest of unique and adverse working conditions, even in face of company rule requiring permission to leave job, held protected; such single concerted walkout was presumptively protected in absence of evidence that work stoppage was part of plan or pattern of intermittent action inconsistent with genuine withholding of services or strike)

The Acme-Arsons Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 144

(Ee's complaints to E about work jurisdiction and safety matters held protected concerted activity where Ee lodged complaints in his capacity as U steward)

Esco Elevators, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 138

(on ct remand, Bd held Ee's safety-related complaints constituted U endeavor and not personal undertaking, and his discharge purportedly because of fist fight with another Ee, unlawful, where Ee emphasized safety matters in campaign for U office before being elected U president; inspection of safety conditions at job sites was part of his role as U official; E was discharged by supervisor who had ascertained Ee was pressing safety conditions because he was U president; and other U officers were involved in attempting to resolve safety problem)

McEver Engineering, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 128

(Ees striking in protest over being required to work in what they perceived to be unsafe weather conditions held not to constitute partial strike where it was one-time event and Ees' withholding of services was of short duration and ended when weather conditions improved)

Herrick & Smith 275 NLRB No. 062

(Ees meeting with management to discuss personnel problems held concerted protected activity and not individual griping where Ees voiced similar complaints against supervisors, meeting arranged and prepared for in concert with other Ees, and purpose was to air variety of complaints relating to their terms and conditions of employment)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039

(three Ees meeting with plant manager regarding their concern about working conditions, including supervisor's on-the-job conduct, possible changes in work rules, and job security, protected)

Fremont, A Division of Dynamics Corporation of America 274 NLRB No. 131

(actions of Ee and co-worker in concert respecting their complaints as to safe operations of traffic department where they worked, protected)

Shimazaki Corporation 274 NLRB No. 004

(Ee engaged in protected concerted activity by asking U steward whether a) change in quitting time was permitted by contract, b) E could take such action, and c) U could do something about it. Even if taken alone, such conduct is concerted. It is not necessary to decide whether Ee said he wanted to file grievance as long as nature of complaint is reasonably clear to person to whom communicated)

Country Crest Creations, Ltd. JD-271-86

[walkout protesting factory temperature, protected, regardless of E's alleged inability to control temperature, where Ees in fact felt uncomfortably cold]

Bombay Palace of Westchester, Inc. JD-(NY)-81-85

[discharging Ee spokesman for complaining about conditions of employment and filing complaint with state department of labor, violation]

Dr. Olinda Flores JD-12-86

[protesting requirement that Ees take and develop x-rays under unsafe conditions, and expression of possible intention to refuse to take x-rays in the future protected]

4033-5500—Cont.

Carrollton Fast Foods, Inc., d/b/a Burger King JD-(ATL)-28-85
(discussing announcement that E would not pay Ees while the power was off was protected concerted activity)

GG Dewitt, Inc., d/b/a Sterling Car Care JD-38-85
(discharge of Ees who were gas station attendants for complaining about working conditions: work schedules, cleanup duties, threatened layoffs, and especially problem of recurrent cash shortages on their shift, unlawful, where discharges came at time when Ees were complaining about matters about which under law they had right to complain, and absent any action during conversation about these matters which would strip them of protection of law)

N.L.R.B. v. Esco Elevators, Inc. 794 F.2d 1079 (C.A. 5, July 1986)
[Bd's conclusion on remand that Ee's safety complaints were not merely personal undertaking, but rather part of Ee's U campaign for U president Ee had emphasized safety issues, and supervisors' minds campaign was related to his safety complaints, U had investigated and discussed need for correction of alleged unsafe conditions with E's management]

N.L.R.B. v. McEver Engineering, Inc. 784 F.2d 634 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1986)
[no need for protesting Ees to confront E with specific demand for relief from circumstances (dangerous working conditions at lime tanks) precipitating Ees' concerted action, since E was on reasonable notice that Ees were protesting unsafe working conditions, and it was in position to make informed judgment as to how to respond]

N.L.R.B. v. McEver Engineering, Inc. 784 F.2d 634 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1986)
[discharge of Ees who failed to return to work because of their perceived hazzardous conditions on job, violative. Ees were engaged in one-time strike of short duration (protected) as opposed to partial strike (unprotected). E had constructive knowledge of protected nature of activity notwithstanding when Ees told company clerk, sent by supervisor to ask Ees why they were not returning to work, they would return to work after it stopped raining, and he only reported to supervisor that the men were not ready to come back to work]

4033-5700 Protesting the hiring of outside organizations (law firms, management consulting firms, etc.)

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[presenting pins to management protesting their retention of a particular law firm and a management consulting firm to combat U's organizing campaign, held protected activity, as Ees perceived law firm and consulting firm as threat to their efforts to achieve better working conditions and wages through collective bargaining. Any false or malicious accusations, if any, in pins were directed to law firm and consulting firm and did not disparage E's conduct in labor relations or in any other way injure it. Furthermore, use of terms notorious U busters, known for trampling on workers' rights, provoking strikes are just expression of opinion and protected]

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[U organizer's statements depicting law firm and consulting firm hired by E to thwart U's organizing campaign as known violators of the law and firms were retained to brutalize, to attack their Ees in organizing drive and to beat down Ees are not grounds for setting aside election]

4033-6600 Protesting removal or discharge of supervisor

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[discharge of 10 Ees, who engaged in unprotected work stoppage of a few minutes which was spontaneous reaction to discharge of supervisor, but not in protest of impact of discharge on employment, unlawful, notwithstanding unprotected nature of work stoppage and fact took place 9 months after U organizing campaign, in view of E's superficial investigation, previous good record of dischargees, severity of discipline in relationship to misconduct, disparity of treatment between U adherents and other Ees]

Ozark Properties, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn 274 NLRB No. 096
(Ees protesting E's decision to terminate a supervisor, not protected)

4033-9200 Engaging in intrasunion activities

Operating Engineers Local 478 (Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation) 274 NLRB No. 081
(U's failure and refusal to refer particular Ee to E, at E's request, because Ee had solicited and encouraged Ees to run for position of business manager of U and attempted to oust present U business manager from office by running himself for that office held violative, since activities of Ees designed to oust incumbent U leadership and to elect different U officers are concerted activities protected by Section 7 of Act)

Local 594, Auto Workers v. N.L.R.B. 776 F.2d 1310 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)
[member's expressing his opposition to local U president concerning a new absenteeism program, held protected activity]

4033-9300 Protesting hiring or job assignment practices

B & P Trucking, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 092
[protesting work assignments, protected]

Sue-Glo Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club JD-(NY)-10-86
[Ee's publicizing in newspaper article E's alleged ULPs of declaring contract null and void, firing three Ees, ignoring seniority in scheduling work, and changing work rules, protected, notwithstanding contract was no longer applicable, and some of the complaints were inaccurate, where statements were not malicious or disparaging]

Signal Delivery Service, Inc. JD-231-85
(discharging driver Ees, violative notwithstanding E's contention that they had voluntarily quit, where discharge of Ees was made because Ees had complained to E about dispatch procedure and withheld their services because they were unable to satisfactorily resolve matter with E)

4033-9600 Publicizing adverse working conditions

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027
[in regard to right of non-Ee U agents right to access to E's property. It is Bd's task to weigh relative strength of each party's claim. If property owner's claim is strong one, while U's Sec. 7 right at issue is clearly less compelling one, property right will prevail. If property claim is tenuous one, Sec. 7 right is clearly more compelling, then Sec. 7 right will prevail. Factors which may affect relative strengths or weaknesses of claim of Sec. 7 rights include, but are not limited to, nature of right asserted, purpose for which it is being asserted, E that is target of activity, relationship of situs to target, intended

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027
[U's handbilling for area standards directed at consumers, held protected activity, notwithstanding handbilling was at location where targeted Ees not located; however, in balancing U's Sec. 7 rights against any detriment to E's property rights to determine which should prevail, if E asserts rights not to allow activity on its property, fact activity directed at narrow, inaccessible segment of public considered]

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027
[although area standards activity may incidentally have effect on improving wages of Ees of targeted E, and it has no vital link to Ees located on targeted E's proeprty, it is protected, even when not at locus of target E, essentially because U has legitimate interest in protecting wage standards of its members by competitors of targeted E; however, area standards objective does not have as high a status as organizing when considered in balancing against E's property rights]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023
[claim that letter sent by Ees to chairman of the board and president of E's parent company are outside of E's management and, accordingly, Ees' communication should be treated as if made to third party, rejected, as letter distinguishable from those in cases which involve disparagement of E's product to customers or public at large. Further, even if considered as appeal to third party, appeal was clearly tied to Ees' own working conditions and part of ongoing labor dispute]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023
[Ees writing letter to chairman of E's parent company, protected although couched in terms of criticism of E's operation, thrust of letter is Ees' proposal for increasing professionalism of their jobs by addressing wages, training, education, etc. Further, letter written as part of ongoing labor dispute notwithstanding letter referred to only one in itme--wages--among several items discussed at meetings with management shortly before letter written. Letter did not contain any malicious language, and even if letter contained false statements, no showing they were deliberately or maliciously false]

Sue-Glo Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club JD-(NY)-10-86
[Ee's publicizing in newspaper article E's alleged ULPs of declaring contract null and void, firing three Ees, ignoring seniority in scheduling work, and changing work rules, protected, notwithstanding contract was no longer applicable, and some of the complaints were inaccurate, where statements were not malicious or disparaging]

Sue-Glo Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club JD-(NY)-10-86
[Ee's publicizing in newspaper article E's alleged ULPs of declaring contract null and void, firing three Ees, ignoring seniority in scheduling work, and changing work rules, protected, notwithstanding contract was no longer applicable, and some of the complaints were inaccurate, where statements were not malicious or disparaging]

4067 OBJECTIVES RENDERING ACTIVITIES UNPROTECTED

4067-1000 To obtain objective only for self

4067-1000—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal Systems, Inc. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Mar. 1984)

[S.Ct approved Bd's use of Interboro doctrine 157 N.L.R.B. 1295 (1966), whereby individual Ee is deemed to have engaged in concerted activity w/i meaning of Sec. 7, if right Ee reasonably and in good faith asserts is grounded in his E's collective bargaining agreement. Good faith assertion of right contained in agreement is extension of concerted activity that produced agreement; alternatively, reasonable, good faith assertion of contract right is said to affect rights of all other Ees in workforce]

N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal Systems, Inc. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Mar. 1984)

[as long as Ee's statement or action is based on reasonable or honest belief that he is being, or has been, asked to perform task he is not required to perform under bargaining agreement, and statement or action is reasonably directed toward enforcement of collectively bargained right, Ee is engaged in concerted activity]

N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal Systems, Inc. ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Mar. 1984)

[honest and reasonable invocation of collectively bargained right constitutes concerted activity, regardless of whether Ee turns out to have been correct in his belief that his right was violated. However, if bargaining agreement imposes limitation on means by which right may be invoked, concerted activity would be unprotected if it went beyond that limitation]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118

[individual, not a designated spokesman, bringing group complaint to attention of management is engaged in concerted activity. No requirement spokesman be specifically authorized by group to act in some formal declarative manner]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118

[in general to find Ee's activity to be concerted, Bd will require that it be engaged in with or on authority of other Ees, and not solely on behalf of Ee himself, distinguishing, however, between single Ee asserting bargaining contract right and other statutory rights]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118

[concerted activity encompasses those circumstances where individual Ees seek to initiate, or to induce, or to prepare for group action, as well as individual Ees bringing truly group complaints to attention of management]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118

[Bd distinguished, in defining protected activity, between single Ee asserting bargaining contract right and single Ee reporting safety violation to government agency, stating that invocation of contract rights is continuation of ongoing process of Ees' concerted bargaining activity, whereas Ee's invocation of statutory right is not]

Unico Replacement Parts, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 046

[comment to Ee about closing plant, which could reasonably have been construed as indicating that complaints to OSHA about safety conditions at plant, whether made by one or by several Ees together, would result in plant closing held unlawful restraint of Ees in exercise of their right to act, in concerted manner, to report alleged plant safety violations to OSHA]

Cherokee Heating and Air Conditioning Co. 280 NLRB No. 044

[service sales contract representative's writing E letter seeking change in sales commission payments, concerted, notwithstanding second representative's failure to include her name in first representative's charge filed with Bd or to testify, where second representative was involved in commission dispute and supportive of joint effort to resolve it, and letter stated its subject was of mutual concern to both representatives]

Carpenters Local 925; et al. (Charlene Seier, an Individual) 279 NLRB No. 145

[sole Ee seeking U representation is engaging in concerted activity w/i meaning of Section 7 of Act, w/o regard to fact that Ee may have acted alone, since S.Ct has recognized that Section 7 —defines both joining and assisting labor organizations-- activities in which a single Ee can engage-- as concerted activities]

Esco Elevators, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 138

(on ct remand, Bd held Ee's safety-related complaints constituted U endeavor and not personal undertaking, and his discharge purportedly because of fist fight with another Ee, unlawful, where Ee emphasized safety matters in campaign for U office before being elected U president; inspection of safety conditions at job sites was part of his role as U official; E was discharged by supervisor who had ascertained Ee was pressing safety conditions because he was U president; and other U officers were involved in attempting to resolve safety problem)

Center Ridge Co. 276 NLRB No. 015

(discharge of security officer after he complained to news media about alleged conflict between county licensing requirements and new work procedures announced by E, not violative where Ee's concern about conflict between its procedures and county's licensing requirements for security guards was not shared by any of his fellow Ees)

Herrick & Smith 275 NLRB No. 062

(Ees meeting with management to discuss personnel problems held concerted protected activity and not individual griping where Ees voiced similar complaints against supervisors, meeting arranged and prepared for in concert with other Ees, and purpose was to air variety of complaints relating to their terms and conditions of employment)

Electrical Workers, Local Union No. 596 (Lylloth G. Woodall, an Individual) 274 NLRB No. 196

(threatening reduction of U adherent's benefits because of her involvement in U handbilling, violative, notwithstnading she was in single-Ee unit, where her involvement in handbilling was form of assistance to labor organization protected by Sec. 7)

Shimazaki Corporation 274 NLRB No. 004

(Ee engaged in protected concerted activity by asking U steward whether a) change in quitting time was permitted by contract, b) E could take such action, and c) U could do something about it. Even if taken alone, such conduct is concerted. It is not necessary to decide whether Ee said he wanted to file grievance as long as nature of complaint is reasonably clear to person to whom communicated)

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. JD-276-85

(for action to qualify as concerted activity where only speaker and listener involved in its inception, it must appear at very least it was engaged in with object of initiating or preparing for group action or that it had some relation to group action in interest of Ees. However, this requirement is satisfied if problems addressed by speaker had been subject of meetings between management and Ees aimed at resolving it, was currently being addressed by concerted activity among Ees not necessarily including speaker, or grew out of earlier concerted activities directed at same problem)

Interchecks Incorporated, A Subsidiary of United Graphics, Inc. JD-(SF)-23-85

(dischagring Ee for engaging in personal vendetta to undermine authority of his supervisor, whom he had supervised before he was demoted, in ooder to take her place, not violative; Ee's voluntarily informing E about supervisor's falsification of her timecard did not concern Ees' conditions of employment, and fellow Ees' individual complaints about supervisor were not concerted nor intended to remove her, as were dischargee's, who was acting for himself)

N.L.R.B. v. Esco Elevators, Inc. 794 F.2d 1078 (C.A. 5, July 1986)

[Bd's conclusion on remand that Ee's safety complaints were not merely personal undertaking, but rather part of Ee's U campaign for U president Ee had emphasized safety issues, and supervisors' minds campaign was related to his safety complaints, U had investigated and discussed need for correction of alleged unsafe conditions with E's management]

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 766 F.2d 969 (C.A. 6, July 1985)

(single Ee's refusal to drive truck reported as unsafe found concerted activity, since Ee had contractual right to refuse to drive truck reported as unsafe until E demonstrated truck's safety; Ee reasonably believed he was being asked to drive truck he was not required to drive under contract in view of reports it was unsafe, large number of trucks awaiting repairs, and supervisors' lack of concern about safety, and Ee honestly believed truck was unsafe as shown by his statements)

N.L.R.B. v. Deauville Hotel 751 F.2d 1562 (C.A. 11, Feb. 1985)

(reprimanding and threatening to discharge Ee for complaints about conditions of lesser job for which he had been rehired after his lawful discharge, not violative, since complaints were not protected activity where Ee was not initiating group action but demonstrating a bad attitude and disrupting the work place with personal gripes)

Kenneth P. Prill v. N.L.R.B. 755 F.2d 941 (C.A.D.C., Feb. 1984)

(Bd decision announcing new restrictive definition of concerted activities remanded to Bd for reconsideration in light of S.Ct's intervening City Disposal decision which held, contrary to Bd herein, that neither language nor legislative history of Sec. 7 required that term concerted activities be interpreted to protect most narrowly defined forms of common action by Ees and that Bd has substantial responsibility to determine scope of protection in order to promote Act's purposes)

4067-3000 Personal problems

Thrifty Nickel Want Ads of Albuquerque, Inc. JD-(SF)-179-85

[group of Ees concertedly complaining to management about the policy and procedure used in running the business, not protected activity, since Ees banded together not to improve rank-and-file working conditions but because they could not accept E's management and it is not an Ee's responsibilty to tell E how it should run its business]

Dayton Typographic Service, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 1188 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

[discharge of Ee, assertedly because he presented a personal gripe to E concerning work w/o pay rather than engaging in group activity, violative,

4067-3000—Cont.

since Ee was engaged in a continuation of concerted activity where, prior to discharge, Ee and other Ees had complained to E about working w/o pay and other conditions of employment and Ee continued thereafter to press Ees' complaints, albeit w/o their formal authorization, but a fact which will not negate concert of action]

4067-8000 To compel unlawful conduct

Rapid Armored Truck Corp. — 281 NLRB No. 057

[E's discharge of and refusal to reinstate strikers, not unlawful, since their conduct unprotected, where strikers' objective was to compel E to recognize and bargain with U which was ineligible for certification because of its policy of admitting both guard and non-guard Ees to membership and picketing was also violative of Section 8(b)(7)(C)]

4067-9000 Employee's bad faith, knowledge of falsity, intent to harass, or similar improper motives

N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal Systems, Inc. — ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Mar. 1984)

[Ee may engage in concerted activity in such an abusive manner that he loses protection of Sec. 7]

Turner Beverage Company, Inc. — 279 NLRB No. 024

[discharge of two Ees, husband and wife, assertedly because husband was U supporter and because both Ees engaged in concerted activity of making anonymous calls to E's franchisor which put E in jeopardy of losing its franchise, not violative, since E's real reason was not Ees' U activity but was their perceived role in making anonymous calls, activity that was unprotected, where calls were simply act of retaliation, having nothing to do with working conditions but related to Ees' general discontent with management and attempt to direct philosophy of E]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 148

[concerted activity loses protection of Act where it involves malicious attack on E's product or reputation, and subsequent discharge is for cause w/i meaning of Sec. 10(c)]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 148

[communications by Ees to third parties do not lose protection of Act where they are related to legitimate ongoing labor dispute and do not constitute disparagement or vilification of E's product or reputation]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 148

[Ee's informing bank through which E obtained financing for its customers that E was submitting falsified customer credit applications, not protected, notwithstanding accusations were arguably related to terms and conditions of employment since Ees' concern about commissions was one reason for organizing, where accusations were unsubstantiated, intended to disparage E's reputation with bank, and could have ruined longstanding business relationship based on trust and fair dealing]

Caterpillar Tractor Company — 276 NLRB No. 151

276 NLRB No. 151

(suspending U steward for drawing and disseminating cartoon containing obnoxious obscenities directed at foreman whom steward dealt with on grievances, not violative where Ee's misconduct was so egregious that it exceeded scope of whatever protection it might otherwise have been entitled, and obscenities had inevitable negative effect on foreman's supervisory status in eyes of other Ees)

Bell Halter, Inc. — 276 NLRB No. 136

(knowingly false and malicious statements made by Ee against E in connection with U activity not protected)

Technicolor Government Services, Inc. — 276 NLRB No. 041

(U steward's distribution to E's Ees of application forms for employment with another E, who was bidder in recompetition for E's service contract with air force, protected, since it was not malicious or disloyal where it was U's effort to secure employment with contractor replacing E in case E lost bid competition and not solicitation to quit working for E)

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodcraft Division — 275 NLRB No. 091

(striking Ees, who visited home of non-striking Ee and in presence of Ee's pregnant wife and young daughter stated that they would take care of him if he returned to work, while cursing in drunken state and refusing requests to leave, were lawfully discharged, since Act does not protect such intimidating conduct with respect to an Ee who is exercising his Sec. 7 right to refrain from striking)

United Technologies Corporation — 274 NLRB No. 163

(E's rule prohibiting distribution of scab literature in context of U's efforts to increase its membership, assertedly to keep Ees from fighting in violation of company rules, violative, since such conduct is protected concerted activity in the absence of face-to-face confrontations and other conduct which might be deemed threatening or harrassing, none of which was alleged in instant case)

Ozark Properties, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn — 274 NLRB No. 096

(Ee's pointing her finger in E's president's face and repeatedly inquiring in an agitated manner whether her fellow Ees were fired after engaging in protected strike, held conduct insufficient to remove Ee from protection of the Act)

Sue-Glo Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club — JD-(NY)-10-86

[Ee's publicizing in newspaper article E's alleged ULPs of declaring contract null and void, firing three Ees, ignoring seniority in scheduling work, and changing work rules, protected, notwithstanding contract was no longer applicable, and some of the complaints were inaccurate, where statements were not malicious or disparaging]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. — JD-(SF)-132-85

(discharge of Ees for authoring and sending letter to Chairman of the Board complaining about E's labor research practices and expressing concern for the industry and our product, not violative, since letter did not directly relate to wages, hours and working conditions but rather was an attack upon E's management and product and organizational structure of the company, thus rendering it unprotected)

Robert T. Ewing, an individual v. N.L.R.B. — 768 F.2d 51 (C.A. 2, July 1985)

(ct rejected view that presumption of concertedness based on invocation of employment-related statutory right is irrebutable and that therefore concertedness is read out of Act; E may demonstrate that Ee's presumptively concerted action was, in fact, frivolous or in bad faith and, therefore, both unprotected and lacking in group support; consequently, although Bd is not charged by Congress with responsibility of enforcing all state and federal laws, Bd may protect workers from retaliatory discharges in their collective effort to achieve statutorily guaranteed working conditions)

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. — 766 F.2d 969 (C.A. 6, July 1985)

(Ee's refusal to drive truck as unsafe did not lose its protection where Ee's actions were not abusive)

4067-9500 Disloyalty of employees

United States Postal Service — 277 NLRB No. 156

(Ee's actions and statements in telling E that he had reported code violations to city authorities rather than bringing them to attention of E, held unprotected and inconsistent with his position as E's maintenance man and with E's interests)

Squier Distributing Company — 276 NLRB No. 133

(discharge of Ees for giving statements to sheriff in connection with his investigation of possible embezzlement of corporate funds by E, violative, as Ees were acting for their mutual aid or protection since they viewed -- as result of 2 after work meetings -- that their concerted cooperation with sheriff as best method of safeguarding their jobs which bears relationship to Ees' interests as Ees and is, therefore, concerted activity. Disloyalty claim rejected)

Technicolor Government Services, Inc. — 276 NLRB No. 041

(U steward's distribution to E's Ees of application forms for employment with another E, who was bidder in recompetition for E's service contract with air force, protected, since it was not malicious or disloyal where it was U's effort to secure employment with contractor replacing E in case E lost bid competition and not solicitation to quit working for E)

Crystal Linen & Uniform Service, Inc. — 274 NLRB No. 137

(Ees' accepting employment with competitor of E while on strike and affirmatively soliciting their former customers to switch their business to E's competitor held unprotected where purpose of activity was to advance individual goals and objectives, rather than any group benefit; mere fact that Ees were on strike or did not disparage service of E cannot be said to be defense to activity)

Sue-Glo Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club — JD-(NY)-10-86

[Ee's publicizing in newspaper article E's alleged ULPs of declaring contract null and void, firing three Ees, ignoring seniority in scheduling work, and changing work rules, protected, notwithstanding contract was no longer applicable, and some of the complaints were inaccurate, where statements were not malicious or disparaging]

4067-9700 Intolerably destructive or damaging concerted activity

N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal Systems, Inc. — ———U.S.——— (U.S. S.CT, Mar. 1984)

[Ee may engage in concerted activity in such an abusive manner that he loses protection of Sec. 7]

Springfield Hospital — 281 NLRB No. 076

[presenting ptns to management protesting their retention of a particular law firm and a management consulting firm to combat U's organizing campaign, held protected activity, as Ees perceived law firm and consulting firm as threat to their efforts to achieve better working conditions and wages through collective bargaining. Any false or malicious accusations, if any, in ptns were directed to law firm and consulting firm and did not disparage E's conduct in labor relations or in any other way injure it. Furthermore, use of terms notorious U busters, known for trampling on workers' rights, provoking strikes are just expression of opinion and protected]

4067-9700—Cont.

6000 FORMS OF ACTIVITY

6030 REFUSAL TO CROSS PICKET LINE

6030-0100 Generally

Limpert Brothers, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 037

(discharge of Ees for refusing to cross lawful picket line, violative, since picketing is protected concerted activity and refusal to cross picket line is also protected concerted activity, and question of motivation on part of Ees' refusal to cross picket line is irrelevant)

6030-1700 Refusal in violation of contract

Arizona Public Company 273 NLRB No. 210

(issuing 3-day suspensions to 8 Ees because they refused to cross a stranger picket line thus refusing to perform assigned work of removing overhead lines at municipal building complex, not violative, since E's contract with U permitted E to discipline Ees who engage in any unauthorized stoppage, strike, intentional slowdown, or suspension of work, and U, by letter, stated that it had not authorized stoppage, strike, slowdown or suspension of work at involved work site. Absent extrinsic evidence that parties intended otherwise, and general no-strike clause waives the Ees' right to engage in sympathy strikes)

Indianapolis Power & Light Company 273 NLRB No. 211

(broad no-strike clause in bargaining agreement though not expressly mentioning sympathy strikes nevertheless held to include sympathy strikes in its proscription, unless extrinsic evidence indicates parties intended otherwise, and suspension and threat of discharge made to sympathy striker, not violative)

Electrical Workers, Local 387 v. N.L.R.B. (Arizona Public Service Co.) 788 F.2d 1412 (C.A. 9, May 1986)

[general no-strike clause waives Ees' statutory right to engage in sympathy strikes absent extinsic evidence that parties intended otherwise; rule is not substantive, and, rather than establishing irrebuttable presumption that broad no-strike rule bars sympathy strikes, shifts burden of proof to party making that claim and requires consideration of available evidence such as contract's other terms, negotiation of no-strike clause, and parties' bargaining history and past practices]

6050 STRIKE ACTIVITY

6050-0100 Generally

Baker et al. v. General Motors Corp. et al —— U.S. ——— (U.S. S.Ct, July 1986)

[state law denying unemployment compensation to laid-off Ees who, by paying U dues, financed strikes at other locations that led to their layoffs, not pre-empted by federal law, notwithstanding right to make such payments is protected by Sec. 7; Ees found to have voluntarily caused own unemployment, as there was meaningful connection between Ees' decision to pay dues, ensuing strikes and their own layoffs, and layoffs were untainted by any unlawful conduct by E; histories of NLRA and Title IX of SSA show that Congress intended to allow such conflict between federal law and state unemployment compensation law]

6050-1200 What constitutes strike

6050-1220 Cessation of work

N.L.R.B. v. McEver Engineering, Inc. 784 F.2d 634 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1986)

[no need for protesting Ees to confront E with specific demand for relief from circumstances (dangerous working conditions at lime tanks) precipitating Ees' concerted action, since E was on reasonable notice that Ees were protesting unsafe working conditions, and it was in position to make informed judgment as to how to respond]

6050-1240 Spontaneous work stoppage as walkout

Modern Iron Works, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 151

[discharge of Ees for engaging in work stoppage when they sought to get larger wage increase than they had received from E, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention that they had quit, where work stoppage was protected concerted activity, and there was no evidence Ees voluntarily relinquished their employment with E, which was clearly evidenced by their spokesman's express disclaimer that they had quit]

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 277 NLRB No. 081

(Ees' spontaneous refusal to work for 1 day in protest of unique and adverse working conditions, even in face of company rule requiring permission to leave job, held protected; such single concerted walkout was presumptively protected in absence of evidence that work stoppage was part of plan or pattern of intermittent action inconsistent with genuine withholding of services or strike)

Ozark Properties, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn 274 NLRB No. 096

(discharge of Ees because of their participation in and support of a strike over working conditions violative, notwithstanding E's contention Ees were voluntary quits when they refused to return to work after a demand to return to work, where Ees walked off job at beginning of work day and set up picket line to protest work conditions and later that day, when striking Ees met with president of E, he demanded that Ees return to work or pick up their paycheck and normal practice of E was to give Ees a final paycheck when they were terminated)

Country Crest Creations, Ltd. JD-271-86

[walkout protesting factory temperature, protected, regardless of E's alleged inability to control temperature, where Ees in fact felt uncomfortably cold]

6050-1280 Refusal to work overtime, Sundays, or holidays

Advance Cleaning Service 274 NLRB No. 141

(single concerted refusal to work overtime, because snow had started falling, and, unless Ees rode home in the one car which was scheduled to pick them up at end of normal workday, Ees would have no way home, protected)

6050-2500 Intermittent, recurrent, or partial strike

Highlands Hospital Corporation, Inc., d/b/a Highlands Regional Medical Center 278 NLRB No. 160

[partial refusal to work constitutes unprotected activity, since Bd and cts have repeatedly condemned Ees' refusal to work on terms lawfully prescribed by E; to countenance such conduct would be to allow Ees to do what Bd would not allow any E to do, i.e., to unilaterally determine conditions of employment]

McEver Engineering, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 128

(Ees striking in protest over being required to work in what they perceived to be unsafe weather conditions held not to constitute partial strike where it was one-time event and Ees' withholding of services was of short duration and ended when weather conditions improved)

N.L.R.B. v. McEver Engineering, Inc. 784 F.2d 634 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1986)

[discharge of Ees who failed to return to work because of their perceived hazzardous conditions on job, violative. Ees were engaged in one-time strike of short duration (protected) as opposed to partial strike (unprotected). E had constructive knowledge of protected nature of activity notwithstanding when Ees told company clerk, sent by supervisor to ask Ees why they were not returning to work, they would return to work after it stopped raining, and he only reported to supervisor that the men were not ready to come back to work]

6050-5000 Effect of section 502 - abnormally dangerous condition

6050-5001 Generally

Metropolitan Edison Company 279 NLRB No. 047

[issuing written warning slips to 14 Ees who failed to cross stranger picket line to report to work in violation of no-strike clause, not unlawful, notwithstanding Ees were motivated by fear of injury to themselves or their cars, since acts of picketers did not meet objective test for abnormally dangerous conditions under Section 502, where there were threats and damage to Ees' vechiles but no physical assaults, and 611 of 625 Ees crossed the picket line]

6050-5050 Walkout because of abnormally dangerous conditions not strike

N.L.R.B. v. McEver Engineering, Inc. 784 F.2d 634 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1986)

[no need for protesting Ees to confront E with specific demand for relief from circumstances (dangerous working conditions at lime tanks) precipitating Ees' concerted action, since E was on reasonable notice that Ees were protesting unsafe working conditions, and it was in position to make informed judgment as to how to respond]

N.L.R.B. v. McEver Engineering, Inc. 784 F.2d 634 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1986)

[discharge of Ees who failed to return to work because of their perceived hazzardous conditions on job, violative. Ees were engaged in one-time strike of short duration (protected) as opposed to partial strike (unprotected). E had constructive knowledge of protected nature of activity notwithstanding when Ees told company clerk, sent by supervisor to ask Ees why they were not returning to work, they would return to work after it stopped raining, and he only reported to supervisor that the men were not ready to come back to work]

6050-5075 Refusal to perform assigned duties

Quality C.A.T.V., Inc. 278 NLRB No. 156

[discharge of two TV linemen who installed television strands on utility poles and who refused to work during and after rainstorm because they were wet, violative, since their concerted refusal to work was to protest requirement that they climb poles when wet, an employment condition. Ee's protest was protected whether Ees acted because they were concerned about their safety, their personal comfort, or their supervisor's attitude. In carrying out their protest, Ees did not exceed permissable bounds of protected activity]

6050-5075—Cont.

Union Electric Company — 275 NLRB No. 059

(Ees' refusal to use stairway that they claimed was unsafe to go down to inspect caisson, protected since Ees were attempting to invoke contractual right under clause stating that they would be subject to discipline for refusing to perform assigned job unless question of safety was involved, and they had good-faith belief that the job was unsafe, which belief the parties had stipulated gave them the right to refuse to perform work pursuant to ALJ's conclusion in prior case involving same contractual clause)

6050-6200 Effect of no-strike agreements

Indianapolis Power & Light Company — 273 NLRB No. 211

(broad no-strike clause in bargaining agreement though not expressly mentioning sympathy strikes nevertheless held to include sympathy strikes in its proscription, unless extrinsic evidence indicates parties intended otherwise, and suspension and threat of discharge made to sympathy striker, not violative)

Indiana & Michigan Electric Company — 273 NLRB No. 193

(in finding no violation where E imposed more severe disciplinary suspensions on U stewards for violating no-strike provision, Bd considered S.Ct's Metropolitan Edison decision from standpoint of U's waiver of U officials' Sec. 7 rights to extent they have affirmative duty to prevent illegal work stoppages, U's lawful bargaining away of statutory protection accorded U officials, insufficiency of general no-strike clause to constitute waiver, relevance of arbitration decisions in establishing waiver, and establishment of waiver by circumstances surrounding bargaining relationship as well as by language of agreement itself)

Indiana & Michigan Electric Company — 273 NLRB No. 193

(imposition of disparate disciplinary suspensions on U stewards for violating no-strike provision, not unlawful, where U assumed duty to prevent unlawful strikes and thereby waived steward's statutory rights; while S.Ct in Metropolitan Edison found affirmative action cannot be required unless such requirement is bargained for, it merely held general no-strike clause was not enough to constitute waiver and left open what contractual language would suffice; here, contract unequivocally imposed duty to end unlawful strike, and stewards did not fulfill their contractual obligations even under most narrow construction of contract)

Local Union 1392, Electrical Workers v. N.L.R.B. (Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.) — 786 F.2d 733 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1986)

[where E imposing more severe disciplinary suspensions on U stewards for violating no-strike provision, not unlawful where contractual language showed U intent for its officials to attempt to prevent unauthorized work stoppages, and this language constituted clear and unmistakable waiver of officials right to be free from selective discipline]

6050-7500 Unprotected strikes

6050-7565 Strike in support of insistence on non-mandatory subjects of bargaining

Nassau Insurance Company — 280 NLRB No. 103

[strike in support of U's insistence on non-mandatory subjects of bargaining, unprotected]

6050-7570 Strike to compel unlawful act

Rapid Armored Truck Corp. — 281 NLRB No. 057

[E's discharge of and refusal to reinstate strikers, not unlawful, since their conduct unprotected, where strikers' objective was to compel E to recognize and bargain with U which was ineligible for certification because of its policy of admitting both guard and non-guard Ees to membership and picketing was also violative of Section 8(b)(7)(C)]

6050-7580 Strike in violation of no-strike agreement

Metropolitan Edison Company — 279 NLRB No. 047

[threatening discipline, including suspension, for refusing to cross stranger picket line, not violation where broad no-strike clause waived Ee's right to honor stranger picket line, in absence of any evidence in bargaining history or past practice demonstrating that parties expressly excluded sympathy strikes from no-strike clause coverage]

Metropolitan Edison Company — 279 NLRB No. 047

[issuing written warning slips to 14 Ees who failed to cross stranger picket line to report to work in violation of no-strike clause, not unlawful, notwithstanding Ees were motivated by fear of injury to themselves or their cars, since acts of picketers did not meet objective test for abnormally dangerous conditions under Section 502, where there were threats and damage to Ees' vechiles but no physical assaults, and 611 of 625 Ees crossed the picket line]

Arizona Public Company — 273 NLRB No. 210

(issuing 3-day suspensions to 8 Ees because they refused to cross a stranger picket line thus refusing to perform assigned work of removing overhead lines at municipal building complex, not violative, since E's contract with U permitted E to discipline Ees who engage in any unauthorized stoppage, strike, intentional slowdown, or suspension of work, and U, by letter, stated that it had not authorized stoppage, strike, slowdown or suspension of work at involved work site. Absent extrinsic evidence that parties intended otherwise, and general no-strike clause waives the Ees' right to engage in sympathy strikes)

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. — 766 F.2d 969 (C.A. 6, July 1985)

(Ee's refusal to drive trucks as unsafe not conduct violating contract, since Ee reasonably and honestly believed that he was being asked to do something he was not required to do under contract, and his refusal was not unjustified under the no-strike clause and therefore not unprotected)

Electrical Workers, Local 387 v. N.L.R.B. (Arizona Public Service Co.) — 788 F.2d 1412 (C.A. 9, May 1986)

[general no-strike clause waives Ees' statutory right to engage in sympathy strikes absent extinsic evidence that parties intended otherwise; rule is not substantive, and, rather than establishing irrebuttable presumption that broad no-strike rule bars sympathy strikes, shifts burden of proof to party making that claim and requires consideration of available evidence such as contract's other terms, negotiation of no-strike clause, and parties' bargaining history and past practices]

N.L.R.B. v. Deauville Hotel — 751 F.2d 1562 (C.A. 11, Feb. 1985)

(Bd holding that reasonable period of time must be allowed after contract is made for air to clear before enforcement of no strike clause unenforceable as lacking objective standard: ct applied standard of reasonable time for Ees to know that parties had agreed on contract with no-strike clause, taking into account local or national nature of preceding strike, existence of such clause in prior contract, whether incorporation of no-strike clause in new contract was controversial, extent of members' exposure to new contract during negotiations and ratification, and period of time between contract's effective date and strike)

N.L.R.B. v. Deauville Hotel — 751 F.2d 1562 (C.A. 11, Feb. 1985)

(objective standard lacking for Bd's holding allowing time to clear the air before E may enforce no-strike clause in contract agreed on after strike, since, although no-strike clauses encourage collective-bargaining and peaceful resolution of parties' disputes, Bd's rule, which has no standards or limits, means that E may take substantial risk in discharging Ees for violating the clause so that it may deem the clause of little value, and both parties may assign it little value in future negotiations)

6050-8700 Sympathy strike

Metropolitan Edison Company — 279 NLRB No. 047

[threatening discipline, including suspension, for refusing to cross stranger picket line, not violation where broad no-strike clause waived Ee's right to honor stranger picket line, in absence of any evidence in bargaining history or past practice demonstrating that parties expressly excluded sympathy strikes from no-strike clause coverage]

Arizona Public Company — 273 NLRB No. 210

(issuing 3-day suspensions to 8 Ees because they refused to cross a stranger picket line thus refusing to perform assigned work of removing overhead lines at municipal building complex, not violative, since E's contract with U permitted E to discipline Ees who engage in any unauthorized stoppage, strike, intentional slowdown, or suspension of work, and U, by letter, stated that it had not authorized stoppage, strike, slowdown or suspension of work at involved work site. Absent extrinsic evidence that parties intended otherwise, and general no-strike clause waives the Ees' right to engage in sympathy strikes)

Electrical Workers, Local 387 v. N.L.R.B. (Arizona Public Service Co.) — 788 F.2d 1412 (C.A. 9, May 1986)

[general no-strike clause waives Ees' statutory right to engage in sympathy strikes absent extinsic evidence that parties intended otherwise; rule is not substantive, and, rather than establishing irrebuttable presumption that broad no-strike rule bars sympathy strikes, shifts burden of proof to party making that claim and requires consideration of available evidence such as contract's other terms, negotiation of no-strike clause, and parties' bargaining history and past practices]

Local Union 1395, Electrical Workers v. N.L.R.B. (Indianapolis Power & Light Co.) — 797 F.2d 1027 (C.A. D.C., Aug. 1986)

[parties in instant case, as well as cts that have considered issue, use term sympathy strike to refer to Ees' refusal, whether acting in concert or individually to cross picket lines at premises of their E's customers]

Local Union 1395, Electrical Workers v. N.L.R.B. (Indianapolis Power & Light Co.) — 797 F.2d 1027 (C.A. D.C., Aug. 1986)

[Ees' right under Sec. 7 to observe lawful picket lines that they encounter in course of their duties may be waived by them in bargaining agreements, but waiver of right to engage in sympathy strikes, like waiver of other rights under Act, must be clear and unmistakable]

6050-8700—Cont.

Local Union 1395, Electrical Workers v. N.L.R.B. (Indianapolis Power & Light Co.) 797 F.2d 1027 (C.A. D.C., Aug. 1986)

[ct rejected U's contention that Bd's treatment of sympathy strikes as matter of contract interpretation of no-strike clause was inconsistent with clear and unmistakable standard which is addressed to Ee's subjective intention to give up a statutory right rather than to objectively reasonable construction of contract that binds Ee; S.Ct has held that general no-strike clause which turns upon proper interpretation of contract, and relevant cases do not support proposition that waiver hinges upon Ee's subjective intent rather than mutual consent reflected in contract]

Local Union 1395, Electrical Workers v. N.L.R.B. (Indianapolis Power & Light Co.) 797 F.2d 1027 (C.A. D.C., Aug. 1986)

[rejecting U's contention that Bd's treatment of waiver of sympathy strikes as matter of contract interpretation of no-strike clause was inconsistent with clear and unmistakable standard addressed to Ees' subjective intent to give up statutory right, ct held federal labor policy is more threatened by interposition of artificial rules of construction upon parties' mutual intent when waiver of sympathy strikes is at stake, than by Bd's giving effect to clear impact of contractual language]

Local Union 1395, Electrical Workers v. N.L.R.B. (Indianapolis Power & Light Co.) 797 F.2d 1027 (C.A. D.C., Aug. 1986)

[Bd or ct is not prevented by Act from finding waiver of right to honor picket lines in contractual no-strike clause of sufficient breadth; in assessing whether broad no-strike clause covers sympathy strikes, however, unexpressed reservations of Ees cannot be treated as dispositive, and ct's task is simply to interpret parties' manifestation of mutual consent; and in determining meaning of general no-strike clause, ct is guided by S.Ct's holding that sympathy strike was w/i purview of general no-strike clause, which S.Ct based primarily on language of clause itself]

Local Union 1395, Electrical Workers v. N.L.R.B. (Indianapolis Power & Light Co.) 797 F.2d 1027 (C.A. D.C., Aug. 1986)

[where U contended that sympathy strikes are not covered by general no-strike clause because U's no-strike obligation has been held quid pro quo for E's agreement to arbitrate disputes, ct held that in some situations it will be apparent from agreement that its no-strike and arbitration clauses are functionally linked, but in other contexts no-strike clause may evidence parties' intent to reach beyond arbitral matters, such as E's promise not to engage in lockouts or other concessions; question ultimately depends on intent of contracting parties]

Local Union 1395, Electrical Workers v. N.L.R.B. (Indianapolis Power & Light Co.) 797 F.2d 1027 (C.A. D.C., Aug. 1986)

[U's contention that it was entitled to Bd's prior approach in Davis-Mckee (238 NLRB 652), that sympathy strike was not covered by no-strike clause, rejected, since at time no-strike clause was drafted Bd was willing to find that no-strike clause waived right to honor picket line; in effect U's argument was that parties, in later ratifying pre-existing contractual language, necessarily intended to incorporate changes in law sub silentio; even if such speculation was appropriate, Davis-Mckee was not the law in circuit where agreement was entered]

Local Union 1395, Electrical Workers v. N.L.R.B. (Indianapolis Power & Light Co.) 797 F.2d 1027 (C.A. D.C., Aug. 1986)

[U's contention that it was entitled to Bd's prior approach in Davis-Mckee (238 NLRB 652), that sympathy strike was not covered by no-strike clause, rejected; it is simply wrong to assume that the law to which parties refer in entering bargaining agreement's is exclusively, or even primarily, Bd law; such agreements are interpreted by arbitrators and cts as well, and cts must give broad, and virtually complete, deference to arbitrator's interpretation of agreement]

6060 STATEMENTS REGARDING EMPLOYER'S LABOR RELATIONS

6060-5000 Derogatory remark or defamatory literature in context of protected activity

6060-8000 Derogatory remark or defamatory literature in context of protected activity

Local No. 980, Automobile Workers (Local 32, Office Employees) 280 NLRB No. 161

[U, in role as E, violated Act by discharging secretary for her statements quoted in newspaper article concerning her contract dispute with U and her suspension for protected activity, where article was generally factual and any inaccuracies were not malicious]

Trover Clinic 280 NLRB No. 002

[E's statement to Ee that distribution of cartoon in Ee's possession, depicting nervous individual describing himself as undergoing abusive treatment, was possible grounds for discharge, unlawful, since distribution of cartoon would have constituted protected activity, where cartoon was related to Ee's working conditions, E's contention that cartoon was defamatory amounted to concession that it considered it to be directed at E's treatment of Ees, cartoon's message did not remove it from protection of Act, and E did not establish type of circumstances that would render cartoon unprotected]

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. JD-276-85

(discharge of U adherent because he complained to his fellow Ees about having his (time) card pulled for clocking in one minute late and during this incident calling management a perjorative term, violative, since Ee's initial complaint was (protected) concerted activity w/i meaning of Act. Using obscenity did not deprive Ee of right to relief)

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. JD-276-85

(for action to qualify as concerted activity where only speaker and listener involved in its inception, it must appear at very least it was engaged in with object of initiating or preparing for group action or that it had some relation to group action in interest of Ees. However, this requirement is satisfied if problems addressed by speaker had been subject of meetings between management and Ees aimed at resolving it, was currently being addressed by concerted activity among Ees not necessarily including speaker, or grew out of earlier concerted activities directed at same problem)

6060-6700 Truth of statement not proper test

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[Ees writing letter to chairman of E's parent company, protected although couched in terms of criticism of E's operation, thrust of letter is Ees' proposal for increasing professionalism of their jobs by addressing wages, training, education, etc. Further, letter written as part of ongoing labor dispute notwithstanding letter referred to only one in itme--wages--among several items discussed at meetings with management shortly before letter written. Letter did not contain any malicious language, and even if letter contained false statements, no showing they were deliberately or maliciously false]

Sue-Glo Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club JD-(NY)-10-86

[Ee's publicizing in newspaper article E's alleged ULPs of declaring contract null and void, firing three Ees, ignoring seniority in scheduling work, and changing work rules, protected, notwithstanding contract was no longer applicable, and some of the complaints were inaccurate, where statements were not malicious or disparaging]

6070 STATEMENTS REGARDING EMPLOYER'S BUSINESS

6070-2500 Defamation of employer's product not protected

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[claim that letter sent by Ees to chairman of the board and president of E's parent company are outside of E's management and, accordingly, Ees' communication should be treated as if made to third party, rejected, as letter distinguishable from those in cases which involve disparagement of E's product to customers or public at large. Further, even if considered as appeal to third party, appeal was clearly tied to Ees' own working conditions and part of ongoing labor dispute]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[Ees writing letter to chairman of E's parent company, protected although couched in terms of criticism of E's operation, thrust of letter is Ees' proposal for increasing professionalism of their jobs by addressing wages, training, education, etc. Further, letter written as part of ongoing labor dispute notwithstanding letter referred to only one in itme--wages--among several items discussed at meetings with management shortly before letter written. Letter did not contain any malicious language, and even if letter contained false statements, no showing they were deliberately or maliciously false]

Trover Clinic 280 NLRB No. 002

[Ees' distribution of literature in E's facility during non-working time and in non-working areas constitutes protected concerted activity provided literature falls w/in scope of Sec. 7 mutual aid or protection clause which is to be interpreted with regard to relationship Ees' activity bears to their working conditions; if found to be protected, and subject to valid rules limiting distribution, Ee literature loses such status only in limited circumstances such as literature containing attacks on E's products or services, material so disruptive as to threaten plant discipline, and malicious falsehoods]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148

[concerted activity loses protection of Act where it involves malicious attack on E's product or reputation, and subsequent discharge is for cause w/i meaning of Sec. 10(c)]

6070-2500—Cont.

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148

[communications by Ees to third parties do not lose protection of Act where they are related to legitimate ongoing labor dispute and do not constitute disparagement or vilvification of E's product or reputation]

6070-5000 Derogatory remark in context of protected activity protected

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer 281 NLRB No. 161

[Ee's remarking to other Ees that E's CEO was a cheap son of a bitch, held protected concerted activity where comment was addressed to other Ees, Ee made it while Ees were on break and statement was not accompanied by any threat; further, Ee's supervisor telling Ee sometime after this comment, that he understood Ee was unhappy and if supervisor was that unhappy he would leave, violative, since remark was implied threat of retaliation for either Ee's comment about CEO or for signing a U card, both of which constituted protected activity]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[Ees writing letter to chairman of E's parent company, protected although couched in terms of criticism of E's operation, thrust of letter is Ees' proposal for increasing professionalism of their jobs by addressing wages, training, education, etc. Further, letter written as part of ongoing labor dispute notwithstanding letter referred to only one in itme--wages--among several items discussed at meetings with management shortly before letter written. Letter did not contain any malicious language, and even if letter contained false statements, no showing they were deliberately or maliciously false]

6070-6000 Truth of statement not proper test

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[Ees writing letter to chairman of E's parent company, protected although couched in terms of criticism of E's operation, thrust of letter is Ees' proposal for increasing professionalism of their jobs by addressing wages, training, education, etc. Further, letter written as part of ongoing labor dispute notwithstanding letter referred to only one in itme--wages--among several items discussed at meetings with management shortly before letter written. Letter did not contain any malicious language, and even if letter contained false statements, no showing they were deliberately or maliciously false]

Sue-Glo Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club JD-(NY)-10-86

[Ee's publicizing in newspaper article E's alleged ULPs of declaring contract null and void, firing three Ees, ignoring seniority in scheduling work, and changing work rules, protected, notwithstanding contract was no longer applicable, and some of the complaints were inaccurate, where statements were not malicious or disparaging]

6070-7500 Good faith in misrepresenting facts relevant

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[Ees writing letter to chairman of E's parent company, protected although couched in terms of criticism of E's operation, thrust of letter is Ees' proposal for increasing professionalism of their jobs by addressing wages, training, education, etc. Further, letter written as part of ongoing labor dispute notwithstanding letter referred to only one in itme--wages--among several items discussed at meetings with management shortly before letter written. Letter did not contain any malicious language, and even if letter contained false statements, no showing they were deliberately or maliciously false]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148

[Ee's informing bank through which E obtained financing for its customers that E was submitting falsified customer credit applications, not protected, notwithstanding accusations were arguably related to terms and conditions of employment since Ees' concern about commissions was one reason for organizing, where accusations were unsubstantiated, intended to disparage E's reputation with bank, and could have ruined longstanding business relationship based on trust and fair dealing]

Radisson Muehlebach Hotel 273 NLRB No. 183

(where U supporter Ee was discharged for allegedly violating rule which prohibited false, vicious or malicious statements against E by asking supervisors if they had seen newspaper article stating that E had not remitted any money to U for past three months, rule itself found violative and therefore no defense to discharge, since rule prohibited not only statements that were merely false, which constitute U or concerted protected activity, as well as statements that were knowingly false and therefore malicious, which were not, and E, in attempting to rely on rule failed to show that Ee's statements were the latter)

6080 ACTIVITIES IN SUPPORT OF PROTECTED ACTIVITY

6080-0800 Enlistment of third party support or representation

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027

[hotel refusing to permit non-Ee U representatives to continue to handbill for area standards for Ees of one of hotel's suppliers on hotel's private property near its main entrance, not unlawful, since herein E's property rights outweighed U's Section 7 right to inform public regarding lack of area standards, where activity at hotel's entrance increased possibility of theft of luggage, tort liability, and congestion and litter, atmosphere expected by guests violated, hotel had no interest in economic success of E with which U had dispute, nor was there vital link to Ees located on hotel's property]

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027

[U's handbilling for area standards directed at consumers, held protected activity, notwithstanding handbilling was at location where targeted Ees not located; however, in balancing U's Sec. 7 rights against any detriment to E's property rights to determine which should prevail, if E asserts rights not to allow activity on its property, fact activity directed at narrow, inaccessible segment of public considered]

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027

[although area standards activity may incidentally have effect on improving wages of Ees of targeted E, and it has no vital link to Ees located on targeted E's proeprty, it is protected, even when not at locus of target E, essentially because U has legitimate interest in protecting wage standards of its members by competitors of targeted E; however, area standards objective does not have as high a status as organizing when considered in balancing against E's property rights]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[claim that letter by Ees to chairman concerned setting up new department and therefore did not concern terms and conditions of employment, but rather management concerns and had only attenuated relationship to Ees' own terms and conditions of employment, rejected, as clear from letter that these Ees expected to staff new department. And, proposal to create new department intertwined with Ees' request that their jobs be upgraded by, increased professionalism and remuneration]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[claim that letter sent by Ees to chairman of the board and president of E's parent company are outside of E's management and, accordingly, Ees' communication should be treated as if made to third party, rejected, as letter distinguishable from those in cases which involve disparagement of E's product to customers or public at large. Further, even if considered as appeal to third party, appeal was clearly tied to Ees' own working conditions and part of ongoing labor dispute]

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 023

[Ees writing letter to chairman of E's parent company, protected although couched in terms of criticism of E's operation, thrust of letter is Ees' proposal for increasing professionalism of their jobs by addressing wages, training, education, etc. Further, letter written as part of ongoing labor dispute notwithstanding letter referred to only one in itme--wages--among several items discussed at meetings with management shortly before letter written. Letter did not contain any malicious language, and even if letter contained false statements, no showing they were deliberately or maliciously false]

6085 FILING LAW SUITS AGAINST EMPLOYER

Health Enterprises of America, Inc., d/b/a Miami Health Care Center 282 NLRB No. 033

[notwithstanding U adherents violated no call/no show rule, discharges violative as real reasons were U activities, filing lawsuit against E and close proximity to election which discharges would serve as warning to other Ees]

6090 OTHER FORMS OF ACTIVITIES PROTECTED

6090-0500 Distribution of literature

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027

[in regard to right of non-Ee U agents right to access to E's property. It is Bd's task to weigh relative strength of each party's claim. If property owner's claim is strong one, while U's Sec. 7 right at issue is clearly less compelling one, property right will prevail. If property claim is tenuous one, Sec. 7 right is clearly more compelling, then Sec. 7 right will prevail. Factors which may affect relative strengths or weaknesses of claim of Sec. 7 rights include, but are not limited to, nature of right asserted, purpose for which it is being asserted, E that is target of activity, relationship of situs to target, intended

6090-0500—Cont.

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027

[U's handbilling for area standards directed at consumers, held protected activity, notwithstanding handbilling was at location where targeted Ees not located; however, in balancing U's Sec. 7 rights against any detriment to E's property rights to determine which should prevail, if E asserts rights not to allow activity on its property, fact activity directed at narrow, inaccessible segment of public considered]

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027

[although area standards activity may insidentally have effect on improving wages of Ees of targeted E, and it has no vital link to Ees located on targeted E's property, it is protected, even when not at locus of target E, essentially because U has legitimate interest in protecting wage standards of its members by competitors of targeted E; however, area standards objective does not have as high a status as organizing when considered in balancing against E's property rights]

Trover Clinic 280 NLRB No. 002

[Ees' distribution of literature in E's facility during non-working time and in non-working areas constitutes protected concerted activity provided literature falls w/in scope of Sec. 7 mutual aid or protection clause which is to be interpreted with regard to relationship Ees' activity bears to their working conditions; if found to be protected, and subject to valid rules limiting distribution, Ee literature loses such status only in limited circumstances such as literature containing attacks on E's products or services, material so disruptive as to threaten plant discipline, and malicious falsehoods]

Programming & Systems, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 157

(E's rule, that no literature is allowed to be distributed of any kind in this school w/o permission, held violative, since rule was unlawfully broad in that rule was limited neither to working time nor to working hours)

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 163

(E's rule prohibiting distribution of scab literature in context of U's efforts to increase its membership, assertedly to keep Ees from fighting in violation of company rules, violative, since such conduct is protected concerted activity in the absence of face-to-face confrontations and other conduct which might be deemed threatening or harrassing, none of which was alleged in instant case)

Borden Inc. JD-(SF)-007-86

[it is tendency to interfere with Ee receipt of U literature which is coercive rather than actual effect of such conduct]

N.L.R.B. v. Pratt & Whitney Air Craft Division, United Technologies Corporation (Machinist, District 91) 789 F.2d 121 (C.A. 2, Apr. 1986)

[distribution of U leaflets held protected activity under Sec. 7 where recognized U was engaged in post recognition membership drive aimed at non-U workers]

6090-0700 Attempts by employees to change representative's attitude toward particular bargaining subject

Local 594, Auto Workers v. N.L.R.B. 776 F.2d 1310 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[member's expressing his opposition to local U president concerning a new absenteeism program, held protected activity]

6090-1000 Implementation of contract by stewards

The Acme-Arsena Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 144

(Ee's complaints to E about work jurisdiction and safety matters held protected concerted activity where Ee lodged complaints in his capacity as U steward)

6090-1200 Invocation of terms of collective bargaining agreement

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118

[Bd distinguished, in defining protected activity, between single Ee asserting bargaining contract right and single Ee reporting safety violation to government agency, stating that invocation of contract rights is continuation of ongoing process of Ees' concerted bargaining activity, whereas Ee's invocation of statutory right is not]

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corporation 277 NLRB No. 160

(Ee's refusal to run equipment he believed unsafe until he implemented contractual provision permitting Ees to call for U safety inspection)

Advance Manufacturing Corp. JD-9-86

[discharge of U steward, unlawful, since in retaliation for U committeeman's objection to E's violation of contract and filing grievance, rather than for poor work performance for which steward had been warned, where at time of his discharge steward's personnel file contained no reprimands inasmuch as under E's reprimand system his reprimands had been removed, discharge was precipitous, and absent evidence steward's mistakes were wholly or partially responsible for cost overruns on one project cited by E, or his mistakes were as great as another E's on another project]

Advance Manufacturing Corp. JD-9-86

[fact that U committeeman rather than discharged steward invoked contract and filed grievance, immaterial, where steward's discharged precipitated by committeeman's actions]

6090-1600 Acting as union steward or officer

The Acme-Arsena Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 144

(U steward's complaints about safety matters on job held attempts to enforce contract containing safety provision and therefore protected by Act under rationale of S.Ct's decision in N.L.R.B. v. City Disposal System)

Advance Manufacturing Corp. JD-9-86

[discharge of U steward, unlawful, since in retaliation for U committeeman's objection to E's violation of contract and filing grievance, rather than for poor work performance for which steward had been warned, where at time of his discharge steward's personnel file contained no reprimands inasmuch as under E's reprimand system his reprimands had been removed, discharge was precipitous, and absent evidence steward's mistakes were wholly or partially responsible for cost overruns on one project cited by E, or his mistakes were as great as another E's on another project]

6090-1700 Attempts by employees to change union leadership

Operating Engineers Local 478 (Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation) 274 NLRB No. 081

(U's failure and refusal to refer particular Ee to E, at E's request, because Ee had solicited and encouraged Ees to run for position of business manager of U and attempted to oust present U business manager from office by running himself for that office held violative, since activities of Ees designed to oust incumbent U leadership and to elect different U officers are concerted activities protected by Section 7 of Act)

6090-1800 Activities as a safety committeeman

Island Creek Coal Company and Langley and Morgan Corporation, Joint Employers 279 NLRB No. 116

[Ee filing safety complaint with government agency constituted protected U activity since he filed complaint as member of local U's health and safety committee, and absent evidence that Ee was using position in U to pursue strictly personal matter]

6090-3200 Wearing or otherwise displaying union insignia or signs

United Technologies Corporation 279 NLRB No. 135

[displaying U election campaign signs on a private vehicle parked on E's premises during a workday, held protected concerted activity]

United Technologies Corporation 279 NLRB No. 135

[E's rule prohibiting large signs or banners...so as to preclude display intended...to promote a candidacy, organization or product, while expressly permitting display of bumper stickers, window stickers and like material, which rule had the effect of denying an Ee access to E's property to display intra-U campaign material, not violative, since rule was not complete prohibition against the display of U material, E's managerial interest outweighed Ee's Section 7 right and rule was reasonable measure to keep large billboards out of E's parking lot]

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company 276 NLRB No. 110

(Ees' posting of Definition of a Scab notices on U's bulletin boards on E's premises held protected under Act)

Page Avjet Corporation 275 NLRB No. 113

(E's implementing and enforcing new uniform policy prohibiting the wearing of any non-company buttons or patches... on any part of the uniform including the hat, assertedly because E was concerned with its public image, violative, since rule was overbroad and no special circumstances existed to limit Ees' right to wear U insignia, where policy applied to all unit Ees regardless of amount of contact they had with the public; further, U did not waive right to complain by giving E right to establish conditions under which uniforms were to be worn since agreement did not limit what could be worn)

Southern California Edison Company 274 NLRB No. 167

(wearing of button with Stick Your Retro written on it, protected, where saying not obscene, message had little significance to outsider so public image of E not injured and message was clearly related to pending negotiations)

6090-3300 Discussion between employees about possibility of joining union in order to secure benefits

Harold Weiss; et al., A Co-Partnership d/b/a Sands Motel and AMM, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 013

[E's new rule which placed restrictions on Ees in order to prevent them from speaking to known adherent of U, held violative in view of absence of any justifiable business reason for deviating from past practice and putting restrictions upon Ees calculated to prevent them from conversing with known adherent of U even at times when it did not affect performance of work functions. Purpose was to punish U adherent and discourage Ee support for U]

6090-3400 Discussing wages

Scientific-Atlanta, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 090
[E's requesting Ees not to discuss their merit raises and disciplining them for doing so, violative]

Scientific-Atlanta, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 090
[demotion of Ee for discussing other Ees' merit raises with another Ee, on grounds Ee was disclosing confidential information and thus was not engaged in protected activity, violative, where Ee was not a confidential Ee so as to give her special duties and responsibilities towards Ees and E cannot lawfully prevent Ees from discussing topics as critical to Ee interests as wages]

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[promulgation of rule that prohibited Ees from discussing salary information, unlawful, since such rule restrained Ees in exercise of their right to engage in concerted activity]

Dr. Olinda Floro JD-12-86
[Ees' discussions about being required to attend weekend seminars w/o being paid, and subsequent presentation of concerns to E, protected]

Reilly's Sunset Chevrolet, Inc. JD-(SF)-94-85
(discharge of Ee for engaging in confrontation with E over its pay policies on behalf of other Ees, violative)

Carrollton Fast Foods, Inc., d/b/a Burger King JD-(ATL)-28-85
(discussing announcement that E would not pay Ees while the power was off was protected concerted activity)

6090-3600 Use of bulletin board

Roadway Express, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 041
[posting of dissident and general U material on breakroom bulletin boards, held protected activity]

6090-4200 'Griping' to other employees about working conditions

The Zack Company 278 NLRB No. 134
[Ees were engaged in protected activity when they complained to other Ees about their grievance to collect overtime wages; however, their conduct lost protection of Act because their complaining interfered with their production; in so finding, Bd disagreed with and disavowed ALJ's statement that Ees' complaints were not made for purpose of inducing or preparing for group action]

The Zack Company 278 NLRB No. 134
[while filing of grievance by Ees is protected activity and ordinarily Ees' discussions with fellow Ees about their grievance were essential means of drumming up support for their position and were clearly designed to induce group action, Bd held that, as result of Ees' discussions with other Ees, they spent more time than normal talking about their grievances and less time working, thereby interfering with their production and, as a result, losing protection of Act]

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. JD-276-85
(discharge of U adherent because he complained to his fellow Ees about having his (time) card pulled for clocking in one minute late and during this incident calling management a perjorative term, violative, since Ee's initial complaint was (protected) concerted activity w/i meaning of Act. Using obscenity did not deprive Ee of right to relief)

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. JD-276-85
(for action to qualify as concerted activity where only speaker and listener involved in its inception, it must appear at very least it was engaged in with object of initiating or preparing for group action or that it had some relation to group action in interest of Ees. However, this requirement is satisfied if problems addressed by speaker had been subject of meetings between management and Ees aimed at resolving it, was currently being addressed by concerted activity among Ees not necessarily including speaker, or grew out of earlier concerted activities directed at same problem)

6090-5200 Right to resign from union

Sheet Metal Workers Local Union No. 14 (C. L. Linfoot Co.) 275 NLRB No. 153
(U constitutional provision restricting members' right to resign during strike or lockout violative of their Sec. 7 right to refrain from U membership)

Food & Commercial Workers, Local No. 506 (Facciola Meat Company, et al.) 274 NLRB No. 211
(portion of U's membership resolution which provided, inter alia, that with respect to any Ee seeking to resign, his resignation shall be of no force and effect during any period in which economic action against Ee's current employer is imminent or actually in progress held to be unenforceable restraint of Sec. 7 right of Ees to resign their membership in labor organization)

Graphic Communications, Local 229 (Imperial Printing Company) JD-183-85
(U's requiring, pursuant to its constitution, executive board approval, membership in good standing, and that Ee not be employed in industry w/i U's jurisdiction before U accepted members' resignations, violative of their Sec. 7 right to refrain from U membership, notwithstanding assertion that U had right to prescribe rules as to retention of membership; however, Ees' attempts to make resignations retroactive found not effective, and resignations were effective from date of U's receipt)

6090-5300 Not joining union where no contract obligation

Teamsters Local 42, a/w Teamsters (J.W. Daly, Inc.) 281 NLRB No. 132
[U's establishing seniority list which placed bargaining unit Ees at E's more recently organized plant behind previously unionized Ees at another of E's facilities, violative, since U could not refuse to consider or negotiate a dovetailing system solely because Ees at E's non-U plant joined U more recently than did Ees at E's unionized plant. By favoring Ees at its unionized plant, U in effect (if not intent) penalized Ees of non-U plant for refraining from engaging in U activity]

6090-5400 Opposition to union hierarchy

Laborers', Local No. 373 (Arrow Enterprises) 282 NLRB No. 053
[dissident intra-U activity, such as filing charges against local's president, held protected, and retaliation against member for engaging in such activity, unlawful]

Local 594, Auto Workers v. N.L.R.B. 776 F.2d 1310 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)
[member's expressing his opposition to local U president concerning a new absenteeism program, held protected activity]

N.L.R.B. v. Local 139, Operating Engineers 796 F.2d 985 (C.A. 7, July 1986)
[U member's publication of newspaper to expose what he believed to be corruption in U president's administration of U held concerted activity where member acted with another U member in publishing newspaper for purpose of inciting action against U president and his U practices; and, alternatively, individual Ee engaged in concerted activity by taking action to align U membership with his own position against U representative]

6090-6300 Discussing, filing, or in any other manner assisting in grievance/arbitration or internal union proceedings

Wayne W. Sell Corporation 281 NLRB No. 082
[fact that most grievances filed by Ee as grievance chairman, and subsequent to leaving office, were dropped or resolved in E's favor did not render filing of grievances unprotected, nor did fact Ee filed many grievances render filing unprotected]

Dresser Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 023
[filing grievances found concerted, protected activity]

Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc., et al., A Joint Venture Known as Tenn-Tom Constructors 279 NLRB No. 068
[Ee's participation in U disciplinary proceeding against E's supervisor, held protected activity, notwithstanding proceeding may have violated 8(b)(1)(B) of the Act, since Ee was engaged in Sec. 7 activity of assisting U by participating in U meeting and was not a perpetrator of the proceeding; rather, U officials had initiated the proceeding; Congress's intent was that generally labor organizations and their agents, but not individual Ees, should be responsible for the unlawful practices of labor organizations]

Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc., et al., A Joint Venture Known as Tenn-Tom Constructors 279 NLRB No. 068
[E's discipline of Ee for his participation in unlawful internal U disciplinary proceeding against one of E's supervisors, would be unlawful and case remanded to ALJ for further findings, since Ee was engaged in protected activity of assisting U, Ee was legitimately relying on U's recommendation that proceedings were proper and Ee was not a perpetrator of unlawful proceeding; E's proper remedy is to file charge against U and not take action against Ees which has chilling effect on Sec. 7 rights or E may lawfully require its supervisors resign U membership]

The Zack Company 278 NLRB No. 134
[while filing of grievance by Ees is protected activity and ordinarily Ees' discussions with fellow Ees about their grievance were essential means of drumming up support for their position and were clearly designed to induce group action, Bd held that, as result of Ees' discussions with other Ees, they spent more time than normal talking about their grievances and less time working, thereby interfering with their production and, as a result, losing protection of Act]

Regency Electronics, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 002
(filing of grievance by Ee protected by Act even though Ee may not have had contractual right to use grievance procedure)

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198
(driver complaining about E's interpretation of contract provision requiring that drivers pay fee in connection with loading and unloading of their trailers at customers' premises held protected activity)

Orleans International, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 169
(telling U steward in loud voice, when he questioned allegedly discriminatory recission of reprimand to Ee for failing to perform work on Saturday, in effect not to question E's disciplinary policy, unlawful, since steward was performing his duty in justifiably questioning E excusing Ee from performing Saturday work inasmuch as presumably this required more Saturday work of other unit Ees)

6090-6300—Cont.

Gateway Concrete Forming Services, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 032
(discharge of Ee, U steward, allegedly because of his unsatisfactory work at his laboring job, violative where E seemed to like Ee's work fine, and discharge occurred 4 months after Ee's employment began, but only 10 days after Ee filed grievance over his layoff. Record showed principle moving cause of discharge was Ee's filing of his grievance, a protected activity)

Oil Field Construction Company JD-(SF)-104-86
[filing of Ees' grievances held protected concerted activity since they were filed in good faith, rather than as part of vendetta to undermine U and harass its leadership, where events leading to filing were based upon grievants' belief that their contractual rights were being violated; while grievances, in whole or part, may have been w/o merit, they were neither frivolous, unreasonable, nor, for the most part, inaccurate; and Ees' signing of charge herein, prior to filing of any written grievances, did not establish that grievances were filed in bad faith]

Advance Manufacturing Corp. JD-9-86
[discharge of U steward, unlawful, since in retaliation for U committeeman's objection to E's violation of contract and filing grievance, rather than for poor work performance for which steward had been warned, where at time of his discharge steward's personnel file contained no reprimands inasmuch as under E's reprimand system his reprimands had been removed, discharge was precipitous, and absent evidence steward's mistakes were wholly or partially responsible for cost overruns on one project cited by E, or his mistakes were as great as another E's on another project]

Advance Manufacturing Corp. JD-9-86
[fact that U committeeman rather than discharged steward invoked contract and filed grievance, immaterial, where steward's discharged precipitated by committeeman's actions]

6090-6600 Dealing with public agencies regulating working conditions

Every Woman's Place, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 048
[Ee's telephoning Wage and Hour Division of Labor Department to ask what pay Ees were legally entitled to receive for working on holidays, concerted, protected activity, notwithstanding it was not made pursuant to express instructions of fellow Ees, where it was outgrowth of three Ees' protest to management about holidays and compensatory time]

Thompson's Gas, Inc. and Del-Ro Transports, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 092
(in finding no violation of 8(a)(1)(2), and (3) in E's termination of Ee's privilege to make personal purchases on E's charge account, Bd held that even if E's action was related to Ee's claim with state department of labor regarding wages and monies owed to him by E, it could properly be concluded that no violation should be found on such ground because it was not concerted activity)

6090-6800 Refusing to violate, or demanding compliance with federal or state statutes and regulations

Aztec Concrete, Inc. and E.M.L. Construction Company, Joint Employers 277 NLRB No. 142
(Ee's complaint to Corp. of Engineers about E's failure to comply with Davis-Bacon wage and job-classification requirements at federal military installation where E was subcontractor, protected)

Jim Miller, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Action Drywall JD-(SF)-136-86
[discharge of Ees, unlawful, where for their concerted activity of inquiring whether they were being compensated in manner required by Davis-Bacon Act]

6090-7000 Prosecution of FLSA claims (See also 506-6090-8000)

Every Woman's Place, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 048
[Ee's telephoning Wage and Hour Division of Labor Department to ask what pay Ees were legally entitled to receive for working on holidays, concerted, protected activity, notwithstanding it was not made pursuant to express instructions of fellow Ees, where it was outgrowth of three Ees' protest to management about holidays and compensatory time]

6090-7300 Threatening to, or filing complaint, or in any other manner assisting in prosecution of criminal action

Squier Distributing Company 276 NLRB No. 133
(discharge of Ees for giving statements to sheriff in connection with his investigation of possible embezzlement of corporate funds by E, violative, as Ees were acting for their mutual aid or protection since they viewed -- as result of 2 after work meetings -- that their concerted cooperation with sheriff as best method of safeguarding their jobs which bears relationship to Ees' interests as Ees and is, therefore, concerted activity. Disloyalty claim rejected)

6090-7700 Threatening to, or bringing suit, or in any other manner lending assistance in support of civil action

Stanley A. Dash, Jr. v. N.L.R.B. (Lawyers Co-Operative Publishing Co.) 793 F.2d 1062 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[Bd must stay proceedings in regard to allegation of retalitory appeal of state unemployment compensation award to Ee whom ct held to have been unlawfully discharged, pending resolution of state action. If Respondent E prevails in state ct action, it will also prevail before Bd because filing of meritorious lawsuit even for retalitory motive, is not ULP. If, however, E does not prevail in state ct action, Bd must determine whether E filed suit in retaliation for Ee's protected activity]

6090-8000 Threatening to, filing, or in any other manner lending assistance in support of actions brought before Federal, State, or local government agencies

Every Woman's Place, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 048
[Ee's telephoning Wage and Hour Division of Labor Department to ask what pay Ees were legally entitled to receive for working on holidays, concerted, protected activity, notwithstanding it was not made pursuant to express instructions of fellow Ees, where it was outgrowth of three Ees' protest to management about holidays and compensatory time]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118
[on remand, Bd affirmed its Meyers Industries, 268 NLRB 493, definition of concerted activity which overruled Alleluia Cushion, 221 NLRB 999, and required some group action for conduct to be considered concerted distinguishing between mutual aid and protection and concerted activities provisions of Section 7 of Act; thus absent evidence of linkage to group activity, Ee's reporting alleged violation of safety regulation to government agency, not concerted activity]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118
[in connection with its refusal to find discharge for reporting safety violation to government agency unlawful, since not concerted activity, Bd stated that although it was its duty to construe labor laws so as to accomodate purposes of other federal statutes, Bd was not intended to be forum in to assist in enforcing other statutes and rectifying all injustices in workplace]

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118
[Bd distinguished, in defining protected activity, between single Ee asserting bargaining contract right and single Ee reporting safety violation to government agency, stating that invocation of contract rights is continuation of ongoing process of Ees' concerted bargaining activity, whereas Ee's invocation of statutory right is not]

Unico Replacement Parts, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 046
[comment to Ee about closing plant, which could reasonably have been construed as indicating that complaints to OSHA about safety conditions at plant, whether made by one or by several Ees together, would result in plant closing held unlawful restraint of Ees in exercise of their right to act, in concerted manner, to report alleged plant safety violations to OSHA]

Island Creek Coal Company and Langley and Morgan Corporation, Joint Employers 279 NLRB No. 116
[Ee filing safety complaint with government agency constituted protected U activity since he filed complaint as member of local U's health and safety committee, and absent evidence that Ee was using position in U to pursue strictly personal matter]

Pete O'Dell & Sons Steel Erectors 275 NLRB No. 140
(discharge, layoff after subsequent rehire of Ee, violative, as Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity when he testified before Army Corps of Engineers during their investigation of U complaint that E was not in compliance with Davis-Bacon Act by classifying Ees as laborers thereby failing to pay Ees ironworkers wages for ironworker work performed by laborers, as Ee was engaged in U activity by assisting U with their complaint, and E tied other 8(a)(1) violations to Ee's U activities)

Aztec Concrete, Inc. and E.M.L. Construction Company, Joint Employers 277 NLRB No. 142
(Ee's complaint to Corp. of Engineers about E's failure to comply with Davis-Bacon wage and job-classification requirements at federal military installation where E was subcontractor, protected)

Bombay Palace of Westchester, Inc. JD-(NY)-81-85
[discharging Ee spokesman for complaining about conditions of employment and filing complaint with state department of labor, violation]

N.L.R.B. v. Searle Auto Glass, Inc., d/b/a Best Glass Company 762 F.2d 769 (C.A. 9, June 1985)
(discharge of Ee, who had filed wage claim with state agency, assertedly for skimming and moonlighting, unlawful, where E failed to set forth reasons for firing Ee until Bd hearing, other Ee purportedly involved in skimming was transferred not discharged, and E refused to rehire other Ees who had filed wage claims against E)

6090-8100 Attending or serving as witness in hearings before government agencies (See also 506-6090-8000)

6090-8100—Cont.

Pete O'Dell & Sons Steel Erectors 275 NLRB No. 140
(discharge, layoff after subsequent rehire of Ee, violative, as Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity when he testified before Army Corps of Engineers during their investigation of U complaint that E was not in compliance with Davis-Bacon Act by classifying Ees as laborers thereby failing to pay Ees ironworkers wages for ironworker work performed by laborers, as Ee was engaged in U activity by assisting U with their complaint, and E tied other 8(a)(1) violations to Ee's U activities)

6090-8300 Assisting in arbitration or grievance proceeding (See also 506-6090-6300)

Oil Workers, Local Union No. 4--23 (Gulf Oil Corporation) 274 NLRB No. 063
(U expelling supervisor for testimony he gave at arbitration hearing regarding 2 poor work performance letters that he issued to grievant while then serving as temporary relief supervisor (was only Ee at time he testified and became permanent supervisor after U charges filed against him), violative, because of impact of such discipline on other members who might be restrained in exercise of their Sec. 7 rights to give testimony against grievants in contractual arbitration hearings)

Puerto Rican Association for Human Development JD-(NY)-148-84
(Ees intervening on behalf of disciplined Ee and at request of this Ee writing memos setting forth their version of incident where memos not malicious, recklessly false, nor excessively disparaging of E's reputation or services, engaged in protected activities and suspension for writing these memos, violative. Additionally, suspension of Ee over his conduct in supervisor's office during discussion of memos, violative also, since E may not rely on Ee's conduct that it has unlawfully provoked as basis for disciplining Ees)

Puerto Rican Association for Human Development JD-(NY)-148-84
(suspending secretary for typing memo that was held protected activity, violative)

6090-9300 Refusing to perform job assignment

Quality C.A.T.V., Inc. 278 NLRB No. 156
[discharge of two TV linemen who installed television strands on utility poles and who refused to work during and after rainstorm because they were wet, violative, since their concerted refusal to work was to protest requirement that they climb poles when wet, an employment condition. Ee's protest was protected whether Ees acted because they were concerned about their safety, their personal comfort, or their supervisor's attitude. In carrying out their protest, Ees did not exceed permissable bounds of protected activity]

Dr. Olinda Floro JD-12-86
[protesting requirement that Ees take and develop x-rays under unsafe conditions, and expression of possible intention to refuse to take x-rays in the future protected]

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 766 F.2d 969 (C.A. 6, July 1985)
(Ee's refusal to drive truck as unsafe did not lose its protection where Ee's actions were not abusive)

6095 OTHER FORMS OF ACTIVITY UNPROTECTED

6095-6000 Seeking assistance of counsel at investigatory or disciplinary interview

TCC Center Companies, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 085
(E's refusing Ee's, (U adherent) request that his attorney be present during investigatory interview which Ee reasonably believed might result in disciplining not violative, since Ee's request was not protected concerted activity. See Sears, Roebuck & Co. 274 NLRB No. 55 (Feb. 22, 1985) Ees have no statutorily protected right to be represented at investigatory and/or disciplinary interviews by their private counsel from the outside....)

6095-7500 Refusing to take polygraph test

Eagle Discount Supermarkets, Midwestern Food Division, Lucky Stores, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 204
(discharge of Ees at store acquired by E from former owner in whose employ Ees had filed grievances and had refused to take polygraph tests concerning mishandling of E's funds, not unlawful where, although E must have considered Ees' refusals to take tests, E possessed substantial adverse information about Ees which alone justified discretionary business judgment not to retain them; and E's discharge decision was not motivated by anti-U animus or antipathy toward Ees' use of grievance procedure nor was it based on Ees' reliance on contract rights and procedures)

Eagle Discount Supermarkets, Midwestern Food Division, Lucky Stores, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 204
(although U contract shielded Ees from compulsory polygraph tests, it did not rule out suspicions flowing from Ees' refusals to take them, and it certainly provided no safeguard against such suspicions on part of successor E not involved in investigation of Ees for mischandling predecessor E's funds)

6095-8700 To cause or attempt to cause economic harm to employer

Turner Beverage Company, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 024
[discharge of two Ees, husband and wife, assertedly because husband was U supporter and because both Ees engaged in concerted activity of making anonymous calls to E's franchisor which put E in jeopardy of losing its franchise, not violative, since E's real reason was not Ees' U activity but was their perceived role in making anonymous calls, activity that was unprotected, where calls were simply act of retaliation, having nothing to do with working conditions but related to Ees' general discontent with management and attempt to direct philosophy of E]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148
[Ee's informing bank through which E obtained financing for its customers that E was submitting falsified customer credit applications, not protected, notwithstanding accusations were arguably related to terms and conditions of employment since Ees' concern about commissions was one reason for organizing, where accusations were unsubstantiated, intended to disparage E's reputation with bank, and could have ruined longstanding business relationship based on trust and fair dealing]

Southern California Edison Company 274 NLRB No. 167
(wearing of button with Stick Your Retro written on it, protected, where saying not obscene, message had little significance to outsider so public image of E not injured and message was clearly related to pending negotiations)

8000 INDEPENDENT ACTIVITIES OF EMPLOYEES REPRESENTED BY RECOGNIZED UNION

8033 SANCTION OF ACTIVITY BY REPRESENTATIVE

8033-7500 Absence of sanction

AAL, Inc., d/b/a River Oaks Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 012
(discharge of 2 (U) unit Ees because of their walkout over E's staffing proposals not violative, since facts establish walkout occurred w/o prior U knowledge and was not in support of policies and actions theretofore taken by U since U had decided against proffering contract proposal for specific staffing of aides, and U agent did not avail himself of opportunity at meeting to discuss walkout to join in with demands of dischargees for specific staffing of aides)

8067 OBJECTIVES OF ACTIVITIES IN RELATION TO REPRESENTATIVE'S POSITION

8067 OBJECTIVES OF ACTIVITIES IN RELATION TO REPRESENTATIVE'S POSITION

8067-5000 Inconsistent with representative's position

Local 594, Auto Workers v. N.L.R.B. 776 F.2d 1310 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)
[member's expressing his opposition to local U president concerning a new absenteeism program, held protected activity]

N.L.R.B. v. Architectural Research Corporation 748 F.2d 1121 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1984)
(discharge of two Ees for stopping work and confronting E about restoring afternoon break, not violative, since action was not protected where break had been eliminated from contract by agreement with U and the two Ees, although having been repeatedly told that it was matter to be decided by E and U and that they should file a grievance, had persisted in trying to bypass the U and deal directly with E about it)

9000 REFRAINING FROM PROTECTED ACTIVITY

9050 NOT JOINING UNION WHERE NO CONTRACT OBLIGATION

Teamsters Local 42, a/w Teamsters (J.W. Daly, Inc.) 281 NLRB No. 132
[U's establishing seniority list which placed bargaining unit Ees at E's more recently organized plant behind previously unionized Ees at another of E's facilities, violative, since U could not refuse to consider or negotiate a dovetailing system solely because Ees at E's non-U plant joined U more recently than did Ees at E's unionized plant. By favoring Ees at its unionized plant, U in effect (if not intent) penalized Ees of non-U plant for refraining from engaging in U activity]

512 EMPLOYER INTERFERENCE WITH EMPLOYEE SECTION 7 RIGHTS (8(a)(1))

0100 GENERALLY

Brown, Director, Department of Law and Public Safety, State of New Jersey v. Hotel Employees Local 54 ——U.S.—— (U.S. S.CT, July 1984)

[fundamental difference exists between Ees' absolute Sec. 7 right to choose U to act as their representative and their less-absolute right to select U officials; thus, while agency shop nonmember has right to participate in selection of U, he often has no say in selecting U officials; Ees, while empowered to select U, may be unable to select official of their choice because of vote against such official but that would not constitute interference with their right to bargain through representative of their choice]

0117 SCOPE OF PROSCRIPTION

0117-0100 Generally

Esco Elevators, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 138

(on ct remand, discharge that was motivated by individual Ee's safety complaints that were found to constitute U endeavor, not mere personal undertaking, held not to establish independent 8(a)(1) violation)

0117-1200 Laid-off employees

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)

[coercion of former Ee, violation where he had been laid off unlawfully and was therefore considered Ee under the Act, which states that an employee includes any individual whose work has ceased as a consequence of, or in connection with. . . any unfair labor practice]

0125 INDIVIDUALS AFFECTED

0125-1400 Former employees

Thomas Steel Company 281 NLRB No. 060

[former Ee included in term employee defined under Sec. 2(3) of Act]

Thomas Steel Company 281 NLRB No. 060

[E's letter to former Ee threatening him with a lawsuit if he did not cease interfering with E's business relationships with customers and suppliers, not violation where Ee's telephone call to supplier, which prompted E's letter, was unprotected in view of Ee's misrepresentation that he was independent safety consultant hired by E, and E, at time it sent letter, did not know and could not reasonably have known of arguably concerted nature of Ee's conduct]

Certified Grocers of Illinois, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 196

(threatening to deny reemployment to discharged Ees for picketing E, not unlawful, where, although one purpose of picketing was informational, its additional purpose was to obtain direct negotiations with E over Ees' grievances which U was then pursuing through contractual grievance machinery; and such conclusion is supported by picket's statement that ees had hired their own attorney who would look after their interests because they had not been satisfied with U's action so far; accordingly, under Emporium Capwell picketing herein was unprotected)

The Martin Brower Company JD-(SF)-63-86

[E's warning deliveryman that further violation of E's rule against deliverymen conversing with E's Ee, not violation where rule was nondiscriminatorily applied, warning was not threat but prediction of possible consequences, and E showed no animus against deliveryman, notwithstanding deliverman had, when employed by E, filed grievance against E and ULP charge and civil suit upon being discharged]

N.L.R.B. v. J. Coty Messenger Service, Inc. ——F.2d—— (C.A. 2, May 1985)

[influencing former Ee to ignore validly served Bd subpoena, thereby infringing upon right of current Ees to have their rights vindicated by Bd, was violative]

0125-1500 Union stewards

Orleans International, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 169

(telling U steward in loud voice, when he questioned allegedly discriminatory recission of reprimand to Ee for failing to perform work on Saturday, in effect not to question E's disciplinary policy, unlawful, since steward was performing his duty in justifiably questioning E excusing Ee from performing Saturday work inasmuch as presumably this required more Saturday work of other unit Ees)

0125-1600 Employees of person other than respondent

Island Creek Coal Company and Langley and Morgan Corporation, Joint Employers 279 NLRB No. 116

[mining company reducing amount of work assigned to construction company which was performing work for it, and thus causing layoffs of construction company Ees, not unlawful act by mining company, since mining company not joint E with construction company, its motives for reducing work cannot be imputed to construction company, nor was layoff unlawful act by construction company, absent discriminatory motive on its part]

The Martin Brower Company JD-(SF)-63-86

[E's warning deliveryman that further violation of E's rule against deliverymen conversing with E's Ee, not violation where rule was nondiscriminatorily applied, warning was not threat but prediction of possible consequences, and E showed no animus against deliveryman, notwithstanding deliverman had, when employed by E, filed grievance against E and ULP charge and civil suit upon being discharged]

0125-7500 Supervisors

Best Western Motor Inn 281 NLRB No. 026

[discharging supervisors for refusing E's unlawful request to surveil and gather information about Ees' U activities, violation where alleged reasons for discharges occurred long before and were not mentioned at time, theories were inconsistent, and supervisors' wages and benefits were increased prior to their refusal]

Advertiser's Manufacturing Company 280 NLRB No. 123

[discharging supervisor solely because of U activities of her son, violation, since impact of her discharge on her son's U activities, magnified by E's other unlawful acts directed against him, compels that he be protected by finding discharge a violation and ordering his mother reinstated with backpay]

Reeves Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 153

[E's statement to group of supervisory leadmen, in accusing them of starting U campaign, that I can assure you when this whole thing is over, the very ones that started it will be somewhere else, not violative, notwithstanding contention that statement was intended for repetition to rank-and-file Ees, where discharge threat was not overheard by Ees nor did E instruct supervisors to carry message back to their crews; consistent with its holding in Parker-Robb, 262 NLRB 402, Bd did not infer harmful secondary effects on Ees' statutory rights from threats]

Reeves Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 153

[interrogating and admonishing supervisors concerning their role in securing signed U cards, not violative where interviews were conducted privately, no references were made to rank-and-file Ees and E concentrated only on its concerns about U activities of supervisors]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123

(discharge of supervisor, not unlawful, since not for refusal to commit ULPs and failure to prevent unionization of Ees, where supervisor made no objections to going along with pretext for discharge of adherent)

0125-8400 One-man unit

Electrical Workers, Local Union No. 596 (Lylloth G. Woodall, an Individual) 274 NLRB No. 196

(threatening reduction of U adherent's benefits because of her involvement in U handbilling, violative, notwithstnading she was in single-Ee unit, where her involvement in handbilling was form of assistance to labor organization protected by Sec. 7)

0125-9800 Applicants for employment

Bridgeway Oldsmobile, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 165

[telling applicant for employment that E was going to be non-U, requesting that applicant withdraw from U and show withdrawal card to E and afte

0125-9800—Cont.

hiring applicant, readvising applicant that if he intended to remain with E, he had to obtain withdrawal card and show it to E, violative]

The Mower Lumber Company and/or Its Subsidiary Newera Resources Corp. 276 NLRB No. 006

(Ees from whom E sought opinions as to skills and qualifications of prospective Ees, held not supervisory or agents of E, where there was no evidence that these opinions were the only source of information E relied on in making its hiring decisions; however, even if E relied solely on opinions of these Ees, no evidence that these Ees considered prospective Ees' U activity in formulating their recommendations or that E requested Ees to consider U activity in their recommendations)

Pioneer Hotel and Gambling Hall, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 072

(supervisor's telling applicant for employment that he did not believe applicant could be hired because he was active on behalf of U, unlawful)

E.I. Du Pont De Nemours & Company JD-(ATL)-96-84

0133 ISOLATED ACTS

American Threat Company 274 NLRB No. 164

(E asking prospective Ee who had previously worked for E if he would cross picket line in event of strike, not unlawful, where single isolated incident)

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077

(interrogation of single Ee as to whether he was engaged in U activity and informing Ee such activity had better cease, unlawful, since not innocous, casual remark, nor isolated, in view of E's unlawful threats to discharge Ees)

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85

(E's president informing small groups of Ees on a couple of ocasions that times were slow, there was little to bid on, and he didn't know how U men would make it, not unlawful, since such isolated off the cuff remarks by E are not enough to draw inference of knowledge of U activity, nor do they constitute violation of Section 8(a)(1) of Act)

0142 DE MINIMIS VIOLATIONS

Lucky Stores, Inc. d/b/a Gemco 279 NLRB No. 153

[systematic questioning of suspected U supporter, to which de minimis doctrine expounded by ALJ was not passed on by Bd majority, unlawful, where Ee, called into manager's office, was subjected to series of questions which had no lawful purpose; upon being queried by E, Ee denied that he had called in U, and then upon being directly asked whether he had signed U card, Ee responded that all but one of unit Ees had done so; and, while Ee soon left E's employ, E knew by then through interrogation of Ee of U sentiments of all but one of its unit Ees]

0150 ACTS OR STATEMENTS NEUTRALIZING COERCIVE EFFECT OF PREJUDICIAL CONDUCT

0150-5000 Neutralizing effect not attained

Pilled of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 117

(E did not neutralize effects of prior threats of plant closure and retaliation by giving Ees last minute job guarantees 1 day before election and assurances of continued employment where guarantee was ambiguous, statement did not specifically and unambiguously disavow E's prior conduct found unlawful and no assurances were given to Ees that in the future, E would not interfere in exercise of Ees' Section 7)

0167 ATTITUDE OR MOTIVE OF EMPLOYER

0167-3300 Neutral attitude

The Martin Brower Company JD-(SF)-63-86

[E's warning deliveryman that further violation of E's rule against deliverymen conversing with E's Ee, not violation where rule was nondiscriminatorily applied, warning was not threat but prediction of possible consequences, and E showed no animus against deliveryman, notwithstanding deliverman had, when employed by E, filed grievance against E and ULP charge and civil suit upon being discharged]

0167-6700 Antiunion attitude

Best Western Motor Inn 281 NLRB No. 026

[evidenced by E's describing U supporters as instigators and troublemakers, describing Bd's letter as demand that vote be taken, and ascribing fault of U's bothering E to supervisors]

National Car Rental JD-NY)-60-85

(Bd has frequently held that use of such words as troublemaker or instigator are code words for U adherent or activist and constitute evidence of discriminatory motivation. However, where there is absence of protected activity and comments made in response to Ees' unjustified complaints, use of such words does not constitute evidence of discriminatory motivation)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 666 (C.A. 4, Sept. 1986)

[inference of improper conduct on part of E not established where E, in instant case, withheld Christmas bonus from its Ees and such bonus was not shown to be an established practice of E. Statements made by assistant supervisor and E's comptroller regarding bonus as well as E's Chief Executive Officer's general anti-U animus and his silence concerning (year-end) bonus was insufficient evidence to show type of coercive and manipulative motivation necessary for violation of Act]

N.L.R.B. v. Del Rey Tortilleria, Inc. 787 F.2d 1118 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)

[E evinced classic case of anti-U behavior where, day after first U meeting, E unlawfully promised wage benefits in return for rejection of U, E's retaliatory measures increased as U's organizing drive intensified, and E's threatening and hostile posture with respect to U was even carried over to hearing before ALJ during which E's conduct at counsel's table affected responses of witnesses]

0167-8300 Motive

Dr. Olinda Flores JD-12-86

[discharging Ee for concerted protected activity of protesting requirement that Ees attend seminar w/o receiving wages and unsafe x-ray procedures, violation where staleness and lack of earlier concern over Ees' alleged poor performance made allegation insufficient to overcome GC's prima facie case]

D & D Distribution Company, A Division of D & D Sewing Company v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 636 (C.A. 3, Sept. 1986)

[Ee's concerted protected activity, rather than tardiness, shown to be motivating factor for discharge by E's statement that Ee was discharged for his attitude, not tardiness, E's comment to another Ee next day about latter's attitude, and proximity of Ee's comment about contacting U to his discharge; moreover E's warnings to Ee about tardiness ceased, and Ee was given positive performance review and offered promotion]

The Lawson Company v. N.L.R.B. 753 F.2d (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)

(under Section 8(a)(1) and (3) of Act, E's motive is critical element in determining whether grant of benefits, prior to R election by E, is violative of Act)

N.L.R.B. v. Searle Auto Glass, Inc., d/b/a Best Glass Company 762 F.2d 769 (C.A. 9, June 1985)

(when Ee's discharge is motivated both by legitimate business reasons and reasons related to Ee's exercise of protected activities, ct will find ULP only if protected activity was substantial factor in decision to discharge; burden never shifts but as affirmative defense, E may show by preponderance of evidence that Ee would have been terminated even in absence of protected conduct)

0183 INDIRECT INTERFERENCE

0183-5000 Employment reference

Norris Concrete Materials, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 045

[threatening Ee with unfavorable reference and that Ee would never work in area again, unlawful, where motivated by Ee filing ULP charges against E]

5000 FORMS OF EMPLOYER CONDUCT

5006 STATEMENTS BY EMPLOYER

5006-0100 Generally

Putnam Buick, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 101

[in finding that E did not unlawfully attempt to deal directly with unit Ees concerning changes in terms and conditions of employment, Bd held E's communications with Ees during negotiations with U concerning its proposals to U were noncoercive and privileged under Sec. 8(c) for reasons set forth in United Technologies Corp. cases (274 NLRB 163 and 274 NLRB No. 87)]

Trover Clinic 280 NLRB No. 002

[supervisor's comment to Ee with whom supervisor was on good terms that Ee keep a low profile and be quiet with it, clearly referring to Ee's U organizing activity, unlawful, since remarks reasonably tended to interfere with Ee's free exercise of her Ee rights, and supervisor's statement concerning U activities can be coercive despite friendly relationship between the individuals and well-intentioned nature of the statements]

5006-1700 Coercive character question of fact for Board

5006-1767 Must be considered in connection with surrounding circumstances

Kawasaki Motors Manufacturing Corporation, U.S.A. 280 NLRB No. 053

[no violation where supervisor agreed with Ee's description of negotiations that parties would bargain from scratch. This type of statement may or may not be coercive, depending on context in which it is uttered. Here, remark occurred in context free of other ULPs and as part of Ee discussion of give and take of negotiations and supervisor did not purport to speak for E's bargaining posture in any future negotiations]

5006-1767—Cont.

Raritan Bay Medical Center a/k/a Perth Amboy General Hospital and Old Bridge Regional Hospital 279 NLRB No. 010
[E's president's calling Ee agitator and troublemaker during U campaign in which other ULPs were committed, coercive and violative]

Southwire Company 277 NLRB No. 043
(E's speeches and notices stating that U authorization cards might be disclosed to it and admonishing Ees not to sign cards unless they knew what it would mean to them, their families and fellow Ees, violative where speeches and notices were made against background of E's history of violating Act and in immediate context of pervasive violations in instant case. In T3context, E's comments are a rather pointed hint that it would similarly retaliate against Ees who signed cards)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(foreman's telling Ee in presence of three other Ees that there would be no more campaigning and E's owner's indicating, while pointing to Ee's U button and saying that Ee was showing his true colors, that he knew the Ee would vote for the U found coercive in view of E's repeated unlawful conduct toward Ee and discharging him shortly after the election)

Peoples Gas System, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 075
(it is not unlawful for E to inform Ees of Sec. 7 rights in atmosphere free of coercion, intimidation, or U animus, E letters to Ees informing them of right to revoke dues-checkoff authorization and right to resign from U, not violative, where contract permitted Ees to revoke checkoff authorizations and E had been asked by several Ees about how to resign from U)

N.L.R.B. v. Nueva Engineering, Inc. 761 F.2d 961 (C.A. 4, May 1985)
]in evaluating E's conduct under Section 8(a)(1) test is not whether language or acts were coercive in actual fact, but whether conduct in question had reasonable tendency in totality of circumstances to intimidate)

Medallion Kitchens, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 806 F.2d 185 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1986)

5006-3300 Coercive effect of statements

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[supervisor's prediction of probable future retaliation after election, unlawful; although emanating from lowest level supervisor as mere opinion in response to Ee's question, prediction tended to coerce Ees]

Island Creek Coal Company and Langley and Morgan Corporation, Joint Employers 279 NLRB No. 116
[irrelevant whether Ee of construction company which was performing construction work for mining company understood threat of layoff of construction company Ees would be effectuated by mining company as result of his complaint, rather than by construction company (E), since whether statement interferes with Ees' exercise of Section 7 rights is objective determination in which Ee's subjective understanding is not relevant consideration]

Island Creek Coal Company and Langley and Morgan Corporation, Joint Employers 279 NLRB No. 116
[irrelevant whether Ee of construction company which was performing construction work for mining company understood threat of layoff of construction company Ees would be effectuated by mining company as result of his complaint, rather than by construction company (E), since whether statement interferes with Ees' exercise of Section 7 rights is objective determination in which Ee's subjective understanding is not relevant consideration]

15th Avenue Iron Works, Inc., and Abitat Builders and Management Corp. 279 NLRB No. 091
[E threatening U official with bodily harm in presence of Ees, not unlawful, since threat spoken in Italian, which was not understood by any Ees]

N.L.R.B. v. Nueva Engineering, Inc. 761 F.2d 961 (C.A. 4, May 1985)
]in evaluating E's conduct under Section 8(a)(1) test is not whether language or acts were coercive in actual fact, but whether conduct in question had reasonable tendency in totality of circumstances to intimidate)

Medallion Kitchens, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 806 F.2d 185 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1986)
[test for violation of Section 8(a)(1) is not whether attempt at coercion has succeeded or failed but whether E engaged in conduct which reasonably tends to interfere with, restrain, or coerce Ees in free exercise of their rights under Section 7 of Act]

5006-5000 Kinds of statements

5006-5010 Antiunion statements, generally

Dorothy Shamrock Coal Company 279 NLRB No. 174

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(E's interrogating Ee about his intentions with respect to U, accompanied by statements that E had heard Ee was siding with U, that E considered U a cancer, and that everyone siding with it would be eliminated, unlawful, in view of E's extreme opposition to U as illustrated by his reference to it as cancer, and numerous other acts of unlawful threats and interrogation, thereby showing pervasive pattern of such acts)

Pilled of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 87
(E's statements to Ees through letters and leaflets during U campaign that U would compound Ees' problems, U had propensity for strikes and violence and other unionized plants had experienced loss of jobs and Ee benefits, held not coercive and w/i bounds of permissible campaign propaganda)

5006-5015 That employer would refuse to bargain or to contract with union

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 013
[E's remarks at meetings with Ees, assertedly conveying message that it would be futile for Ees to elect U because E would not bargain meaningfully, not unlawful, where E's remarks established no more than that if E had to negotiate with U, he was prepared to engage in hard bargaining for contract advantageous to E, and pointed out to Ees that one possibility of bargaining process was for Ees to end up with lower wages and benefits]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 086
[radio station program director's telling announcer that E's president and counsel had no intention of bargaining with u even if it won election, violation]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 140
[telling Ee that E would not bargain in good faith with U and Ees could all simply go on strike, violation]

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 126
(telling Ees, after election, that if U had won election E would have refused to negotiate with U and forced Ees out on strike and then replaced them, unlawful)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(stating to Ee that U was not going to get into E's operation and, if it did, E would not negotiate, unlawful, despite E's purported claim that statement was one of strong opposition to U because history in E's kind of industry showed that companies of E's size could not pay cost of U's demands and tended to falter or fail if organized by U, since statement served to notify Ee that selection of U was futile)

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[publishing and distributing Ee manual stating that E was a completely U-free organization and would definitely remain so, violation]

East Central Communications, Inc. JD-116-86
[fact that E may not have made statement that he would not sign contract with U attributed to him by supervisor in speaking to Ees did not diminish impact of supervisor's statement on Ee listeners who were under no obligation to investigate truth of his report, since bare statement that E need not sign contract had reasonable tendency to convey to Ees that their pro-U efforts were futile]

Carbo Fuel Oil; Gibraltar Heat Corp.; Concord Oil Corp. JD-(NY)-24-86
(while Act does not compel E to agree to specific proposals by U, E's statements informing Ees that it would never sign contract with U amounted to anticipatory refusal to bargain and inculcated in Ees a sense of futility about exercise of free choice in selection of bargaining representative)

Benson Associates JD-101-86
(supervisor's informing Ees that E would never have, and would refuse to bargain with, U, unlawful, since supervisor thereby indicated that it would be futile for Ees to select U)

M.F. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Gopher Restaurant JD-417-84
(E informing Ees it would refuse to bargain with its chosen bargaining agent, that it would file for bankruptcy, thereby endangering Ees' jobs, and that if Ees persisted in their U adherence, it would hire non-U Ees to replace them, unlawful)

5006-5020 Attacks upon union or officials, particular forms of

5006-5020-6700 Characterization as

5006-5020-6767 Corrupt

Newsday, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 019
(telling Ees that certain U was no good for them and that its president was corrupt not violative as merely expression of opinion)

5006-5025 Disparagement of employees

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110
[supervisor's conduct in making statements demeaning Ee because he had signed U card, unlawful]

5006-5025—Cont.

Precision Founders, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 084
[disparaging Ee's involvement in U activities and impliedly threatening lack of future promotions due to Ee's U activities, violation]

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(denigrating Ee by saying he was behind the U organizing and thereby stabbing E in the back and giving him a raw deal, violative)

Bonanza Sirloin Pit 275 NLRB No. 56
(insulting Ees and making derogatory remarks to Ee concerning said Ee's coworkers who were attempting to organize U, violative)

Haynes Motor Lines, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 221
(no violation where supervisor held meeting with Ees and said it would be fine if Ees wanted U but they should not follow certain Ee as leader because he was organizing U out of revenge for not getting salesman's job and that this individual was parking lot lawyer. Supervisor's statements were legitimate expression of opinion and contained no threats of reprisal or force which would tend to coerce Ees)

National Car Rental JD-NY)-60-85
(Bd has frequently held that use of such words as troublemaker or instigator are code words for U adherent or activist and constitute evidence of discriminatory motivation. However, where there is absence of protected activity and comments made in response to Ees' unjustified complaints, use of such words does not constitute evidence of discriminatory motivation)

5006-5026 Union supporter should quit

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer 281 NLRB No. 161
[Ee's remarking to other Ees that E's CEO was a cheap son of a bitch, held protected concerted activity where comment was addressed to other Ees, Ee made it while Ees were on break and statement was not accompanied by any threat; further, Ee's supervisor telling Ee sometime after this comment, that he understood Ee was unhappy and if supervisor was that unhappy he would leave, violative, since remark was implied threat of retaliation for either Ee's comment about CEO or for signing a U card, both of which constituted protected activity]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[radio station program director's telling newsman who supported U that E's reducing his hours, giving him split shift, and requiring him to play another Ee's prerecorded tapes on the air was harassment, lowering of his status, and inducement to cause him to quit found unlawful solicitation to quit]

Yashan of California, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 032
[store manager's secretary, although not supervisory, held E's agent when she told Ee, in presence of supervisor and with his concurrence and approval, that if Ee wanted to engage in U activities, she should seek employment elsewhere]

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor's stating Ee was being treated in manner designed to induce her to quit, thus indicating he was attempting to constructively discharge Ees because of U activities, violative)

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86
[supervisor's statement to Ee that Ees should seek other jobs if they were dissatisfied at E, unlawful]

N.L.R.B. v. Nueva Engineering, Inc. 761 F.2d 961 (C.A. 4, May 1985)
(supervisor informing Ee U is not getting in here, if you don't like working for this company, and you are all for U busiess, then why don't you work somewhere else but I don't want no f—g U in here, violative)

5006-5027 Union supporter should be segregated

T & T Machine Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 139
[supervisor calling Ee into his office, where in presence of three supervisors Ee was asked how he felt about U, and upon Ee's reply he didn't like Us, he was cautioned not to associate with U supporters, promising Ee he would have training to enhance his skill level above that of U supporters that E planned to get rid of, and informing Ee if he would report his errors directly to those supervisors, his record would be clean, but errors of U supporters would be recorded, unlawful]

5006-5030 Union adherence or other protected activity as employee disaffection or disloyalty toward employer

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer 281 NLRB No. 161
[after supervisor obtained knowledge that Ee signed U card, his remark to Ee that he was plant U sent to stir up trouble, violative, as Ee should not expect to incur wrath of supervisor for engaging in protected activity]

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(supervisor asking Ee why did you betray me? I thought you were anti-U, unlawful, since forced Ee to disclose reasons for his U sentiments in context in which he was made to understand that supervisor was aware of his U activities and that such conduct was betrayal of supervisor)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(denigrating Ee by saying he was behind the U organizing and thereby stabbing E in the back and giving him a raw deal, violative)

Genwal Coal Co., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 077
[you guys stabbed me in the back said by E referring to Ees' organizational activities shows E's animus)

Benson Associates JD-101-85
(supervisor's repeated statements that Ees had stabbed him in back by contacting U, unlawful, since statements equated U activity with Ee disloyalty)

5006-5032 Recourse to union as disloyalty to employer

Lionel G. Sullivan and Ralph A. Fattore, A Partnership d/b/a Downtown Toyota 276 NLRB No. 106
(supervisor's telling Ees that he was personally hurt by fact Ees went to U and not to him about their grievances, violative)

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(assertedly informing Ees, who were unlawfully discharged, that they were being discharges because they had ruined E, not unlawful, where E advised Ees that they were being discharged for unsatisfactory work, not for ruining E; subject of ruination was raised by one of the discharged Ees, and E did not equate involvement with U or protected activities with disloyalty to E; and E's remarks contained no threat nor promise of benefit)

Luther Martin and Minnie Martin, Co-Partners, d/b/a Martin's Leasing Company JD-83-86
[violation where E chastised Ee, after learning Ee was U supporter, by stating to him that E did not believe Ee would have done such a thing because E had given second chance to Ee who had been rehired after he quit]

Northline Bus Center, Inc. JD-(ATL)-41-85
(news bulletin to Ees edited, reviewed, and printed by E, unlawful, where bulletin raised question whether Ees would be fired for attending U meeting and then clearly conveyed message to Ees that any Ee seeking assistance from U would be considered disloyal to E and implicitly threatened Ees with discharge if they engaged in U activities)

5006-5033 Opposition to enhancement of union status

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor's statement during period of negotiations that E would never sign contract and that Ees would lose their jobs if they went out on strike, unlawful)

Benson Associates JD-101-85
(supervisor's informing Ees that E would never have, and would refuse to bargain with, U, unlawful, since supervisor thereby indicated that it would be futile for Ees to select U)

5006-5036 Threatening to report employees to immigration authorities, IRS or other government agencies

Tamco Carburetor Company 275 NLRB No. 001
(plant manager's statement that U activity jeopardized Ees and created potential job loss because they were undocumented aliens, violative)

5006-5037 Advising employee on procedure for withdrawal from or decertification of union

Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital 280 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor unlawfully solicited striking Ees' resignations from U since his conversations with Ees went beyond providing information regarding avoiding fines by resigning and conditioned return to work on resignation from U, and where supervisor evidenced continuing interest in knowing whether or not nurses intended to resign and return to work, and in some instances offered assistance in effecting resignation that was not merely ministerial]

Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital 280 NLRB No. 011
[E does not violate Act merely by providing ees with information on how to resign from U as long as E makes no attempt to ascertain whether Ees will avail themselves of this right nor offers any assistance or otherwise creates situation where ees would tend to feel peril in refraining from such revocation]

Indiana Cabinet Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 169
(plant superintendant's statement to Ees that he had heard they were not satisfied with U, there was way they could start ptn through Bd, and E could not help them, not violative where superintendant did not attempt to learn whether Ees would sign it and specifically informed them that E could not assist them with any ptn; moreover, superintendant's mere informing Ees of procedure by which U disaffection ptn could be circulated would not create situation in which Ees would tend to feel peril if they refrained from circulating such ptn)

5006-5037—Cont.

Peoples Gas System, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 075
(E's sending letters to Ees requesting that they inform E of decisions to revoke dues-checkoff authorizations and to resign from U, not violative where bargaining agreements provided for short annual escape period during which Ees could revoke checkoff authorizations and required that notice of revocation must be given to both E and U; further, letters assured Ees that whether they remained U members or resigned would make no difference in terms and conditions of employment; and E was actually responding to Ee inquiries in providing them with information about U resignation)

5006-5038 Telling employees to quit if they wanted union

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084
[statement by E's president in preleection speech to Ees that the company was no place for Ees who wanted a U, violation]

5006-5045 Informing employee that protected activity was reason for discharge or suspension

Montgomery Elevator Company 278 NLRB No. 122
[E's manager informing Ee who had resigned from U that Ee would have to bring himself back in good standing with U or be terminated, unlawful, E's contention that getting back into good standing referred to paying required service fee, rejected, where service fees had not been discussed at meeting between E and U]

Port East Transfer, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 125
[statement to dischargee and his sister by son of E's owner, which was imputed to E, that Ee had been discharged for writing pro-U graffiti on E's restroom walls, unlawful, since coercive, notwithstanding in response to Ee's queries]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[supervisors' telling Ees that Director of Ee Relations said he had fired Ee because of her U activities and that he was going to get other U supporters as well, not violative where supervisor supported U and local U representative acknowledged that supervisor was only responding to her request for such information]

Ryder/P.I.E. Nationwide, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 109
[E's telling another Ee that discharged driver's grievances got him constituted not only admission but unlawful statement that driver's grievances were the reason for his discharge]

Evans St. Clair, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 065
[telling one Ee that another Ee would be discharged for U activity, violation]

Studio S.J.T., Limited 277 NLRB No. 126
(telling Ees that another Ee would be discharged because she supported U, and later telling Ees that Ee had been discharged because she had supported U, violative)

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(assertedly informing Ees, who were unlawfully discharged, that they were being discharges because they had ruined E, not unlawful, where E advised Ees that they were being discharged for unsatisfactory work, not for ruining E; subject of ruination was raised by one of the discharged Ees, and E did not equate involvement with U or protected activities with disloyalty to E; and E's remarks contained no threat nor promise of benefit)

B & W Machine & Welding Company JD-(SF)-107-86

East Central Communications, Inc. JD-116-86
[supervisor's affirmative nod made in agreement with Ee's statement that terminated Ee was fired because of his U activity, unlawful, since it conveyed coercive message to Ees present that discharge was for U activity]

Roadmaster Corporation JD-(ATL)-18-86
[telling Ee she was being discharged for giving U confidential information, i.e., information about an Ee who crossed picket line to return towork and caravans' starting times, violation]

Robert W. Wise, d/b/a Robert W. Wise Cabinetry JD-(SF)-157-85
(telling Ee that other Ees had been discharged for their U activity, violative)

Harry Rosenblatt & Sons JD-(SF)-50-85
(telling Ee when discharging him that E had known of his U activities for months and had had it with Ee's efforts to change E and Ees and get U in, violative)

5006-5046 Informing employees that wages or benefits could not be increased because of union campaign or objections

Trover Clinic 280 NLRB No. 002
[informing Ee that wage freeze would not be lifted until the U question was resolved, unlawful, where E had no plans to lift wage freeze, and linked continuation of freeze on U, placing onus for freeze on U, and thereby undermining and discouraging Ee support of U]

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[telling Ees that traditional wage increase was frozen during U organization campaign, violation and interference, since statement was contrary to well established rule that during preelection period E must grant or withhold benefits as if U were not in picture]

Sunnyvale Medical Clinic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 131
(telling Ee that U would not let E grant wage increase, violation, where E gave newly promoted Ee impression that U would not let E pay Ee in accordance with her new duties; E's truthful expression of its position, however, in answer to Ee's question as to why it had not granted wage increases earlier, that it had been informed by Bd that it could not change wages while cases were pending before Bd, not violation)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(informing Ees that wages and benefits could not be increased because of possible U objections or charges, violation and interference where E was attempting to blame U for its anticipatory refusal to improve wages or benefits)

Activ Industries, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 040
(supervisor's statement in conversation overheard by Ee indicating that U was reason Ees were being discharge, unlawful)

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(telling Ees that U tied his hands on wage increases, violative)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(informing Ee who asked about a raise that until the U business was done E could not give any raises, violative where new Ees were entitled to raises on a 3-month progression program and if the statement were carried out, they would have been denied raises solely because of the U)

5006-5047 Informing employee or union that protected activity was reason for layoff

Unico Replacement Parts, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 046
[telling Ees that layoffs were instituted as result of filing of U grievance, unlawful, since it was statement to effect that layoff would be accelerated because of U's contractual activity on behalf of Ees]

Wilco Business Forms, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 154
[supervisor's statement to discriminatee that he would get his job back as soon as the U business was taken care of, —as soon as (E) gets rid of the U instigators, violative]

Uptilt, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 065
(informing Ees that other Ees had been laid off because they had discussed U representation and put up U posters, unlawful)

Limpert Brothers, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 037

5006-5048 Informing employee that protected activity was reason for less favorable treatment

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[telling Ees that they would not be permitted to participate in E's retirement plan because they had signed U authorization cards, unlawful]

Toyota of San Francisco 280 NLRB No. 093
[language in brochure describing E's health plan that stated plan was available to any Ee of group who was not in occupation classification represented by U, violative of Section 8(a)(1) since it penalizes represented Ees, notwithstanding plan actually available to represented Ees]

Felbro, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 186
(telling Ees that interdepartmental transfers were no longer permitted because Ees had started the U problem, violative)

Irving Tanning Company JD-(ATL)-19-85
(violation, where E distributed to its Ees summary description of retirement plan which expressly limited eligibility in plan to those Ees not included in collective bargaining unit)

Van Gas, Inc. JD-(SF)-33-85
(supervisor informing Ee, in reply to Ee's inquiry as to whether change in sick leave policy which had adverse impact on ees was instituted because of U organizing, that there had been a morale problem with company and it was going to get better or there were going to be major changes and that he had interviewed prospective new Ees, unlawful, absent evidence of legitimate objective for statement, or relationship that would remove coercive impact)

5006-5049 Informing employee that protected activity was reason for refusal to hire, reinstate or re-employ

J. D. Landscaping, Corp. 281 NLRB No. 004
[telling predecessor's Ees that those who had engaged in U activities would not be hired, violation]

Wilco Business Forms, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 154
[supervisor's statement to discriminatee that he would get his job back as soon as the U business was taken care of, —as soon as (E) gets rid of the U instigators, violative]

5006-5049—Cont.

American Press, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 109
[purchaser-successor E's statements, made through its agents consisting of its general manager and co-owner of purchased company, that latter's Ees would not be hired because of their U affiliation, unlawful]

Dasal Caring Centers, Inc., d/b/a Lemay Caring Center and Dasal Caring Centers, Inc., d/b/a Walton Caring Center 280 NLRB No. 007
[telling Ees of predecessor E that if they got a withdrawal card from U they would be guaranteed a job with successor E, violative]

United Beef Co., Inc. 277 NLRB No. 107
(telling Ee that he would not be rehired because he had testified for U at arbitration hearing and telling another Ee that E would not rehire Ees who had testified at arbitration hearing or who were strong U men, violative)

American Model & Pattern, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 018
(E's telling group of Ees immediately after U had filed charge against E protesting certain layoffs, that Ees and E would have to work together if they wanted to see laid off Ees reinstated and when U actions cost E money, U would cost Ees as well, violative)

Lionel G. Sullivan and Ralph A. Fattore, A Partnership d/b/a Downtown Toyota 276 NLRB No. 106
(telling new job applicant that he would not be hired until U situation was resolved, violative)

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(advising Ee that E had asked another E not to hire fellow Ee until after election, unlawful, since such remark clearly lessened desirability of seeking U representation through Bd's electoral process; whether Ee whose employment prospects are interfered with by his E is or is not engaged in U activities is immaterial since Bd processes must be protected)

Sun Coast Foods, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 203
(successor E's general manager informing Ee of predecessor E who had not been hired by successor E that he had told his supervisors to screen applicants carefully and select Ees so as to avoid predicament that existed at predecessor E, not unlawful, since statement on its face innocuous comment which would not reasonably tend to restrain, coerce Ees in exercise of their rights)

John's Lumber & Hardware Company JD-199-86
[E's president informing laid off Ee that Ee would not be recalled because Ee had betrayed him, referring to Ee's signing U decertification ptn, then removing his name, and signing ptn to get back into U, unlawful]

Dale Energy Corporation JD-202-85

5006-5050 Misleading or distorted explanation of Act

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(E's distribution of handbill stating in part that if U won election we will be obligated by law to discuss grievances only with the Union... and letter stating that should U get in, Ee will have voted away right to deal directly with management and Ee will have placed group of outsiders between Ee and E, not violative since such statements did not constitute misstatement of law but constituted permissible campaign conduct)

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(statement to Ee that his eligibility to vote in Bd election was dependent on his selection on ballot, violative)

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198
(contrary to ALJ's reasoning that E did not intentionally mislead its Ees and it was not necessarily ULP for E to make innacurate, incomplete, or misleading statement concerning reinstatement rights of ULP strikers, Bd held supervisor's statement to Ees that they would be replaced and rehired rather than reinstated at end of strike, unlawful, where strikers on application were entitled to reinstatement even if they had been replaced)

County Respiratory Products, Inc. JD-(NY)-107-85
(E's president's telling Ee that he did not believe Ee had to honor Bd's subpoena and that he should tear it up and ignore it, violative)

5006-5051 Informing employees that protected activity was reason for transfer or denial of transfer

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[telling Ees that they would not be assigned to shifts they desired to obtain because of their U activities, unlawful]

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[telling Ees that they would not be assigned to shifts they desired to obtain because of their U activities, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention reason for non-assignment of shifts was other Ees' higher seniority]

Coal Systems, Inc. and W. Julian Scalf Engineering & Construction Co., Inc. JD-452-84
(supervisor's telling Ees that their work had been assigned to another company, found alter ego to E herein, and that their seniority had been changed because Ees had filed grievances against E, violative)

5006-5053 Futile or unnecessary to join or choose union

Lo-Z-Boy 281 NLRB No. 054
[personnel manager's statements that past benefits at E's unionized plant never exceeded those at E's non-U plant, not threat that unionization was futile]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[supervisor's telling Ee that U was nothing but a rip-off held not to convey impression that it would be futile to select U as representative, since supervisor was obviously expressing his own distaste for U in simple colloquialism which did not rise to level of violating Act]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[E's remarks at meetings with Ees, assertedly conveying message that it would be futile for Ees to elect U because E would not bargain meaningfully, not unlawful, where E's remarks established no more than that if E had to negotiate with U, he was prepared to engage in hard bargaining for contract advantageous to E, and pointed out to Ees that one possibility of bargaining process was for Ees to end up with lower wages and benefits]

Without Reservation 280 NLRB No. 165
[telling Ee that E would not sign U contract, violation]

Dorothy Shamrock Coal Company 279 NLRB No. 174

Hitachi Corp., A Subsidiary of S.C.M. Corporation 278 NLRB No. 104
[statement that it possibly would take 2 or more years before E would be legally compelled to bargain, not unlawful, since E had colorable grounds for filing objections if it lost election, and statement simply dealt with what E was legally entitled to and not threat that selection of U would be futile; cases in which unlawful statements were made that bargaining would be delayed because E intended to contest election involved 8(a)(1) conduct, E had no colorable grounds for filing objections, and statements indicated only an intent to delay or forestall bargaining]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements not unlawful implication of futility of selecting U where they were not made in context of threat of loss of benefits and inevitability of strikes, but of accurate reflection of bargaining process and presentation of economic realities of negotiation]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements made in response to Ee's question that U could not give wages and benefits E did not want to give, that if Ees went on strike they could be replaced, and subsequent interrogation as to whether Ee thought that E needed U and if U could give Ee more benefits, violative where Ee was not active U adherent, and repeated questioning was coercive; statements were not found unlawful threats of discharge or of futility of selecting U, however]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[E's statement that he would not run U organized shop held unlawful warning that, if Ees selected U, E would not recognize it as such, thereby conveying message that it would be futile for Ees to join or support U]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's asking leading U activist and organizer why he was not wearing U badge unlawful, where supervisor also stated that wearing of badge did not matter because supervisor and not U activist, would benefit from it, thereby conveying message that it was futile to support U since Ees would end up no better off than they would w/o representation]

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171
[telling Ees that E would never have a U election at its plant, violation]

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171
[telling Ees it was futile to select a U because E would never agree to dues checkoff, violation and interference]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144

Heck's Inc. 277 NLRB No. 098
(E president's remarks to meeting of department managers in which he threatened closure if U won election, threatened discharge if Ees went on strike, and informed them E would never sign contract, unlawful, where one of the department managers was held not supervisor at time of meeting)

Kona 60 Minute Photo 277 NLRB No. 092
(E's statement to Ee that E would refuse any U bargaining request held unlawful as anticipatory refusal to bargain in good faith which threatened that Ees' efforts to organize would be exercise in futility)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(telling Ee that if U got in E would not have to bargain with it and would close the plant, thus giving Ee impression that organizing would be futile, violative and objectionable)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(stating to Ee that U was not going to get into E's operation and, if it did, E would not negotiate, unlawful, despite E's purported claim that statement was one of strong opposition to U because history in E's kind of industry showed that companies of E's size could not pay cost of U's demands and tended to falter or fail if organized by U, since statement served to notify Ee that selection of U was futile)

5006-5053—Cont.

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136

(E's remarks that Ees, through conduct of U campaign, had captured his attention so that it was not necessary to further underscore such attention by voting for U, not unlawful, since such admission by E is neither tantamount to, nor indicative of, promise to take remedial action on Ee complaints particularly where, as here, E repeatedly disavowed any implications of promise of benefit)

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055

(E's highest executive clearly indicated to Ees futility of selecting U as their representative where, during Ee meeting, executive angrily prohibited any further mention of U after Ee had told Ees he would be available for Ees to sign U cards, stated that he would not tolerate any U talk nor any U to come into plant, and ordered Ee to get out, telling him that not on may property you won't pass cards out)

Browning-Ferris Industries of Pennsylvania, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 021

(E's statement to U steward that U has no future and soliciting steward to spread that message, thereby creating impression among Ees that their support for U was futile, unlawful)

Browning-Ferris Industries of Pennsylvania, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 021

(E's statements to U stewards telling them he was not in favor of Us and referring to value of dealing directly with Ees and company U and bringing up matter of U decertification held unlawful solicitation to abandon U and to lead Ees to believe continued support of U was futile)

Western Yarns, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 073

(E's telling Ee that E could decrease Ee wages and take away their bonuses whether or not Ees had U representation, violative since statement carried message that U representation would be futility as concerns wages and bonuses)

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86

[supervisor informing Ee that if U came in Ee would probably not offer more than 50 cent per hour increase and that Ees would lose everything anyway, including holiday pay and vacations, constituted unlawful threats of loss of benefits and futility of selecting U representation]

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86

[E's management showing Ees blank piece of paper and informing Ees that blank paper represented what Ees would start with if U got in, and that legally E could start off bargaining with only minimum wage, that E's could lose benefits because U would give up everything to get checkoff]

East Central Communications, Inc. JD-116-86

[fact that E may not have made statement that he would not sign contract with U attributed to him by supervisor in speaking to Ees did not deminish impact of supervisor's statement on Ee listeners who were under no obligation to investigate truth of his report, since bare statement that E need not sign contract had reasonable tendency to convey to Ees that their pro-U efforts were futile]

Carbo Fuel Oil; Gibralter Heat Corp.; Concord Oil Corp. JD-(NY)-24-85

(while Act does not compel E to agree to specific proposals by U, E's statements informing Ees that it would never sign contract with U amounted to anticipatory refusal to bargain and inculcated in Ees a sense of futility about exercise of free choice in selection of bargaining representative)

N.L.R.B. v. E. I. DuPont De Nemours 750 F.2d 524 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)

(supervisors' emphasizing futility of U organizing by stating that wages and benefits would be no better with U than w/o it, violative)

5006-5054 Informing employees that concerted activities was reason for company rules

Italo II Casa Romana Restaurant, Inc. JD-(SF)-50-86

[E's owner's announcing new disciplinary system and in so doing, blaming U and Ees who voted for U, violative]

Van Gas, Inc. JD-(SF)-33-85

(supervisor informing Ee, in reply to Ee's inquiry as to whether change in sick leave policy which had adverse impact on ees was instituted because of U organizing, that there had been a morale problem with company and it was going to get better or there were going to be major changes and that he had interviewed prospective new Ees, unlawful, absent evidence of legitimate objective for statement, or relationship that would remove coercive impact)

5006-5055 Employees will have to bargain from scratch if union is selected

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079

[supervisor's statement to Ee that negotiations would start from scratch and that there was possibility E would not want to agree with everything U asked for, not unlawful, where thrust of remarks was not that Ees would automatically lose benefits if they selected U, but rather, in context of all of supervisor's remarks, he was expressing permissible opinion which could not reasonably be interpreted as threat to deliberately extend bargaining]

La-Z-Boy 281 NLRB No. 054

[personnel manager's statements to Ees that bargaining with U would start from scratch, not violation where he was explaining negotiating process, rather than threatening loss of wages and benefits]

Beverly Enterprises - Indiana, Inc. d/b/a Fountainview Place 281 NLRB No. 008

[informing Ees that, if U got in, bargaining starts out fresh - you don't start with what's in handbook, while waving Ee handbook which included among other items Ee benefits, unlawful, since conveyed impression that E would require Ees to give up existing Ee benefits, rather than merely description of realities of collective bargaining process, that U cannot compel concessions, nor guarantee retention of all present benefits]

Kawasaki Motors Manufacturing Corporation, U.S.A. 280 NLRB No. 053

[no violation where supervisor agreed with Ee's description of negotiations that parties would bargain from scratch. This type of statement may or may not be coercive, depending on context in which it is uttered. Here, remark occurred in context free of other ULPs and as part of Ee discussion of give and take of negotiations and supervisor did not purport to speak for E's bargaining posture in any future negotiations]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046

[supervisor's remarks to Ees about U and bargaining from scratch, unlawful, since remarks carried express threat that bargaining from scratch would start only after Ees had been reduced to minimum wage and all their benefits taken away, thereby threatening loss of existing benefits not necessarily as result of good faith bargaining]

Hitacount Corp., A Subsidiary of S.C.M. Corporation 278 NLRB No. 104

[statements that bargaining can take weeks, months, or even years, E is legally entitled to bargain from ground zero, and there is no guarantee that E's existing benefits will survive bargaining, not unlawful, where they were made in context indicating that bargaining is process in which each side makes its own proposals, that it requires mutual agreement, and existing benefits may be traded away; and statements do not relay message that E would unilaterally discontinue existing benefits if Ees selected U, but rather that benefits may be lost as result of bargaining]

Hitacount Corp., A Subsidiary of S.C.M. Corporation 278 NLRB No. 104

[unlike cases in which bargaining from scratch statements were coupled with expressions by E that it intended to engage in long drawn out negotiations, E's statements here were not unlawful where they indicated that bargaining can continue for weeks, months, or even years and that E would bargain in light of all of its legal rights]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085

[E statements that bargaining means putting everything on the table including present benefits and that ct decision had upheld E's right to inform Ees that E need not agree to continue existing wages and benefits, found accurate reflection of obligations and possibilities of bargaining process rather than unlawful and objectionable implied threat to take away benefits or bargain regressively if U won]

Pillod of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 117

(E did not violate Act by telling Ees that if U got in E did not have to give anything in negotiations, could begin bargaining at ground zero and Ees might lose their benefits where views reasonably communicated view that U cannot compel concessions in negotiations and cannot guarantee retention of all present benefits because such benefits are subject to negotiation and thus remarks accurately reflect the bargaining process)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86

[E's management showing Ees blank piece of paper and informing Ees that blank paper represented what Ees would start with if U got in, and that legally E could start off bargaining with only minimum wage, that E's could lose benefits because U would give up everything to get checkoff]

5006-5058 Statements concerning bargaining position

Beverly Enterprises - Indiana, Inc. d/b/a Fountainview Place 281 NLRB No. 008

[no violation, where in response to Ee's question, whether Ees would lose credit union if U voted in, E's administrator replied there is possibility because all benefits must be negotiated, since statement merely explanation of what could happen as result of collective bargaining negotiations]

Richmond Recording Corporation d/b/a PRC Recording Company 280 NLRB No. 077

[E's statement to Ees and U negotiators that it would retract its last contract offer and substitute less desirable one if ees rejected offer and struck was not

5006-5058—Cont.

economic forecast. Rather, it was threat of retaliation conditioned on Ees exercising their right to strike and would reasonably tend to interfere with free exercise of Ee rights]

Products Unlimited Corp. 280 NLRB No. 041
[supervisor informing Ees that E would not agree to U wage and benefit demands, and at same time promised to try to obtain raise for Ees as inducement to not vote for U, unlawful]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[telling Ees that after bargaining their benefits might not be what they presently had, not violation where E expressed legal position that E did not have to start bargaining from present level of benefits and what Ees might expect as result w/o threatening to take away benefits]

Histacount Corp., A Subsidiary of S.C.M. Corporation. 278 NLRB No. 104
[statements that bargaining can take weeks, months, or even years, E is legally entitled to bargain from ground zero, and there is no guarantee that E's existing benefits will survive bargaining, not unlawful, where they were made in context indicating that bargaining is process in which each side makes its own proposals, that it requires mutual agreement, and existing benefits may be traded away; and statements do not relay message that E would unilaterally discontinue existing benefits if Ees selected U, but rather that benefits may be lost as result of bargaining]

Histacount Corp., A Subsidiary of S.C.M. Corporation 278 NLRB No. 104
[unlike cases in which bargaining from scratch statements were coupled with expressions by E that it intended to engage in long drawn out negotiations, E's statements here were not unlawful where they indicated that bargaining can continue for weeks, months, or even years and that E would bargain in light of all of its legal rights]

Histacount Corp., A Subsidiary of S.C.M. Corporation 278 NLRB No. 104
[statement that it possibly would take 2 or more years before E would be legally compelled to bargain, not unlawful, since E had colorable grounds for filing objections if it lost election, and statement simply dealt with what E was legally entitled to and not threat that selection of U would be futile; cases in which unlawful statements were made that bargaining would be delayed because E intended to contest election involved 8(a)(1) conduct, E had no colorable grounds for filing objections, and statements indicated only an intent to delay or forestall bargaining]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements not unlawful implication of futility of selecting U where they were not made in context of threat of loss of benefits and inevitability of strikes, but of accurate reflection of bargaining process and presentation of economic realities of negotiation]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements made in response to Ee's question that U could not give wages and benefits E did not want to give, that if Ees went on strike they could be replaced, and subsequent interrogation as to whether Ee thought that E needed U and if U could give Ee more benefits, violative where Ee was not active U adherent, and repeated questioning was coercive; statements were not found unlawful threats of discharge or of futility of selecting U, however]

Kona 60 Minute Photo 277 NLRB No. 092
(E's statement to Ee that E would refuse any U bargaining request held unlawful as anticipatory refusal to bargain in good faith which threatened that Ees' efforts to organize would be exercise in futility)

Marion Center Supply, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 026
(statement that E would not negotiate or bargain meaningfully with U, violative)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(telling Ee that if U got in E would not have to bargain with it and would close the plant, thus giving Ee impression that organizing would be futile, violative and objectionable)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(E's addressing group of Ees and stating that if U got in, E would not have to agree to any bargain does not require either party to agree to a proposal or require making of concession)

Pillod of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 117
(E did not violate Act by telling Ees that if U got in E did not have to give anything in negotiations, could begin bargaining at ground zero and Ees might lose their benefits where views reasonably communicated view that U cannot compel concessions in negotiations and cannot guarantee retention of all present benefits because such benefits are subject to negotiation and thus remarks accurately reflect the bargaining process)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(telling Ee that unit Ees did not receive a retroactive pay raise because U representative failed to settle the contract by year-end, not violative where Ees had voted at year-end to reject E's wage offer, which included a retroactive raise, and Ees were thus well aware of reason they did not receive retroactive raise)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(manager's statement to Ee that E would sign only the kind of contract it wanted to sign, not violative, since it was innocuous expression of E's views of its bargaining position and privileged under Sec. 8(c) rather than statement indicating that E would not sign any contract with U)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(manager's statement that he would not sign contract with a checkoff clause protected by Sec. 8(c) where it was made after start of strike, which followed 7 months of unsuccessful bargaining)

Engineered Control Systems, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 191
(E's president stating he would not sign new contract with U since could not then compete with non-U manufacturers, and if he signed U contract result would be closing plant doors, unlawful, since comments not limited to consequences of agreeing to any particular contract or contract language, rather in context of bypassing U, he implied that any agreement with U would cause him to close business)

C. M. Carpenter, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Carpenter Trucking 274 NLRB No. 046
(E's owner asking Ee if Ee knew anything about U, and if Ee had signed U card and then informing Ee he would close business before he would sign bargaining agreement, violative, notwithstanding Ees admission he singed U card)

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86
[supervisor informing Ee that if U came in Ee would probably not offer more than 50 cent per hour increase and that Ees would lose everything anyway, including holiday pay and vacations, constituted unlawful threats of loss of benefits and futility of selecting U representation]

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86
[E's management showing Ees blank piece of paper and informing Ees that blank paper represented what Ees would start with if U got in, and that legally E could start off bargaining with only minimum wage, that E's could lose benefits because U would give up everything to get checkoff]

M.F. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Gopher Restaurant JD-417-86
(E informing Ees it would refuse to bargain with its chosen bargaining agent, that it would file for bankruptcy, thereby endangering Ees' jobs, and that if Ees persisted in their U adherence, it would hire non-U Ees to replace them, unlawful)

5006-5060 No benefits from, or need for, union

The Hearst Corporation, San Antonio Light Division 281 NLRB No. 113
[supervisor's remark to Ees, that he did not think there was a need for the local U, not violative, since remark constituted mere expression of opinion and was not coercive of Ees' Section 7 rights]

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[E's supervisor telling Ee that the union probably won't get you anything more than you have now, not violative and protected by 8(c) since statement was merely one of opinion from which no threat reasonably could be perceived]

Central Washington Health Services Association d/b/a Central Washing Hospital 279 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor informing Ee that E was ready to talk with them about wages and working conditions, that Ees were foolish to continue to let U represent them, that E was ready to give Ees better deal than U was trying to get for them, unlawful]

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(telling Ees that they would make the same money working by the piece rather than by the hour and did not need a U to keep their jobs or negotiate raises, not violative in context of previous good bargaining relationship and absence of interrogation or U animosity)

Luther Martin and Minnie Martin, Co-Partners, d/b/a Martin's Leasing Company JD-83-86
[telling known U adherent that E did not need U and they could be replaced, unlawful]

H. A. Satin Co., Inc. JD-(ATL)-2-86
[E's president informing Ees at non-unionized facility of cost of U dues, and initiation fees, stating that he saw no reason for Ees to begin working for U as they would receive same benefits as Ees at E's unionized facility w/o joining or voting in U, unlawful]

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85
(E's president informing Ee that E had received R ptn and did not think Ees or E needed U to represent them and telling Ee of his understanding of U's jurisdictional work rules, not unlawful, where no interrogation of Ee and reference to U's jurisdicitonal rules was legitimate expression allowed by Section 8(c))

5006-5060—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. E. I. DuPont De Nemours 750 F.2d 524 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)

(supervisors' emphasizing futility of U organizing by stating that wages and benefits would be no better with U than w/o it, violative)

5006-5062 Informing employees that protected activity was reason for cancellation of plant expansion plans

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018

[E's post-election statement to Ee who had spearheaded U activity that such activity had curtailed growth of E's plant and had caused E to purchase a plant elsewhere, unlawful]

5006-5063 Advantages to be gained from not having union

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085

[statements that E building management team and had developed program to improve conditions found permissible reminder of existing good conditions and of improvements started before election campaign and appeal for Ees' confidence, rather than unlawful and objectionable promise of improved benefits if Ees rejected U]

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124

(telling Ee, after election, that pay cut would have been restored sooner if U's organizing drive had not occurred, unlawful)

5006-5064 Informing employees that protected activity was reason for loss of seniority

Coal Systems, Inc. and W. Julian Scalf Engineering & Construction Co., Inc. JD-452-84

(supervisor's telling Ees that their work had been assigned to another company, found alter ego to E herein, and that their seniority had been changed because Ees had filed grievances against E, violative)

5006-5065 Detrimental results of unionization

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079

[supervisor's prediction of probable future retaliation after election, unlawful; although emanating from lowest level supervisor as mere opinion in response to Ee's question, prediction tended to coerce Ees]

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084

[supervisor's calling Ee who was not open, active U adherent into his office, discussing personal matters, then giving his opinions on U, violation where accompanied by interrogation as to why Ees wanted U and thinly veiled threats concerning consequences of unionization, such as unionized Es going out of business due to high wages]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018

[threat to Ees that if they selected U E would relocate its plant held unlawful threat of plant closure and not prediction based on objective facts from which E could have conveyed reasonable belief to Ees as to demonstratable probable consequences of unionization]

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122

[E's president telling Ees that U would not work to your benefit but to your serious harm, violative and not protected by 8(c) where E had also told Ees that they would have received a raise had they not attempted to organize and told an Ee if U got in E could close down, thus, under the circumstances, the serious harm statement is not ambiguous but had a sinister meaning which was in reference to the U]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056

[E's telling Ees that economic impact of a strike would be disastrous, that everyone lost in a strike but U orgnizaer, that the only big airline that was not having problems was only one w/o a U, not violation where E did not predict strikes, bankruptcy, and loss of employment, but only stated that they were possible and did not threaten retaliation or promise benefit for refraining from supporting U]

Port Plastics, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 050

[E president's statement to Ees that he had been able to speak on a one-to-one basis to ees, but would no longer be able to do so if U came in, not violative, since statement simply explicates one of the changes which occur between E and Ees when a statutory representative is chosen and thus, is not coercive]

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124

(E's comments allegedly threatening Ees with layoffs by stating that major customer had warned E it would discontinue patronage of E if E became organized, not unlawful, since comments had factual basis and therefore were protected by 8(c), where comments were corroborated by major customer's manager who testified he had concerns about his company's ability to receive equipment if strike occurred and about possible interruption and efficiency of workforce in connection with product delivery)

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124

(E's comments to Ees that customers would refrain from sending any work to E's repair facility if E became organized and that customers had policies not to send work to U company, unlawful, since comments were not based on objective facts; although major customer's manager testified to his concern regarding unionization at E's plant, he failed to confirm E's comments about company policy to refrain from sending work to unionized companies altogether)

Heck's Inc. 277 NLRB No. 098

(E president's remarks to meeting of department managers in which he threatened closure if U won election, threatened discharge if Ees went on strike, and informed them E would never sign contract, unlawful, where one of the department managers was held not supervisor at time of meeting)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137

(violation, where Ee told supervisor Ees who were gathered and discussing how to get out of U, that he was worrying about his job and wished supervisor would talk with Ees, and supervisor answered well, I understand you have kids and all, since reply to Ee implied that in his opinion unionization of E could be of such economic impact that Ees' job would be jeopardized, especially where supervisor's relationship with management would infer opinion based on inside knowledge of E's economic position)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137

(E's statement to Ees that if Ees became unionized and if E and negotiated higher labor costs, and if E suffered loss of work, Ees might be laid off, not coercive and hence not violative, since not prediction of inevitable events under E's control, but reminder of economic facts of life i.e. negotiated wage and benefit increases sometimes have debilitating effect on ability to compete)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137

(supervisor asking Ee what is going on as far as you and U, and subsequently stating if you go ahead with U then E will have to go out of business, unlawful)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137

(supervisor asking Ee why she wanted U, requesting that Ee talk to other Ees about U, and informing Ee closure was possibility if E could not afford U, unlawful, since coercive inasmuch as prediction of effect of unionization not carefully phrased on basis of objective fact to demonstrate probable consequences beyond E's control, but rather on implication that E would take action unrelated to economic necessities and thus it lost it status as reasonable based upon available facts, and constituted threat of retaliation based upon mere representation)

Joan Foust, Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Regency Manor Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 171

(E's statements to various Ees that they could lose benefits if they chose to be represented by a U, not violative, where statements were made in context of a description of the give and take of future collective bargaining)

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152

(E's president informing Ee that if Ee did not stop rousing up Ees, that Ees would be out of jobs, and Ee should give Ees credit for having their own convictions, unlawful, in context of Ee's public opposition to E's contract proposals, and reasonably calculated to lead Ee to believe it was threat aimed at dissuading him from continuing to express his opposition to E's contract proposals)

Pillod of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 117

(E's statements to Ees through letters and leaflets during U campaign that U would compound Ees' problems, U had propensity for strikes and violence and other unionized plants had experienced loss of jobs and Ee benefits, held not coercive and w/i bounds of permissible campaign propaganda)

John J. Hudson, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 123

(supervisor's telling Ee who was wearing U button, I think you guys are killing yourself (sic) over what you're trying to pull, violative, since remark was openly hostile and linked to Ee's known efforts to unionize)

Engineered Control Systems, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 191

(E's president stating he would not sign new contract with U since could not then compete with non-U manufacturers, and if he signed U contract result would be closing plant doors, unlawful, since comments not limited to consequences of agreeing to any particular contract or contract language, rather in context of bypassing U, he implied that any agreement with U would cause him to close business)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105

(no violation or objectionable conduct by E's distributing to its Ees a letter in which another E's Ee recounted his past personal experience with unionization; E's apprising Ees of others' experience and opinions did not predict or threaten retaliatory conduct by E and was intended to enable Ees to make informed decision)

Ausable Communications, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 166

(threatening Ees with loss of stock ownership, loss of seniority, subcontracting out work and loss of jobs if U came in, unlawful)

5006-5065—Cont.

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86
[E's management showing Ees blank piece of paper and informing Ees that blank paper represented what Ees would start with if U got in, and that legally E could start off bargaining with only minimum wage, that E's could lose benefits because U would give up everything to get checkoff]

M.F. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Gopher Restaurant JD-417-84
(E informing Ees it would refuse to bargain with its chosen bargaining agent, that it would file for bankruptcy, thereby endangering Ees' jobs, and that if Ees persisted in their U adherence, it would hire non-U Ees to replace them, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Nueva Engineering, Inc. 761 F.2d 961 (C.A. 4, May 1985)
(supervisor informing Ee that he did not like Us, asking Ee how he felt about Us and when Ees replied that he supported U, informing Ee that if Ees voted for U representation alternative would be to convert to prototype shop-which required much less Ees-and institute big layoff, violative; additionally, interrogation and threat took place in E's vice president's office and purpose of questioning not explained)

5006-5067 Inevitability of strikes upon advent of union

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[E's telling Ees that economic impact of a strike would be disastrous, that everyone lost in a strike but U orgnizaer, that the only big airline that was not having problems was only one w/o a U, not violation where E did not predict strikes, bankruptcy, and loss of employment, but only stated that they were possible and did not threaten retaliation or promise benefit for refraining from supporting U]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[threats of strikes, violation and interference]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148
[telling Ee that E would not bargain in good faith with U and Ees could all simply go on strike, violation]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[E's statements found lawful and unobjectionable presentation of economic realities of unionization rather than unlawful threat of inevitability of strikes where they pointed out possibility of strikes and fact U could only try to force certain conditions by striking]

Marion Center Supply, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 026
(threat to force a strike and replace the strikers)

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 056
(E unlawfully threatened to refuse to bargain in good faith when supervisor stated that hospital administrator would not agree to anything U asked for in negotiations, and that there would be a strike)

5006-5070 Announcement of open-shop or non-union shop policy

Great Plains Furniture Industries, Inc. JD-14-85
(president of purchaser of company informing Ees of seller that if they wanted to stay on at same wages they should report to work next morning, announcing benefits and stating working for purchaser was non-U job, not unlawful expression of futility of U membership, since statement made in context of announcement of initial terms of employment)

5006-5073 Informing employees that there would be reprisals if employees involved supervisor in their protected activities

Uptilt, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 065
(supervisor informing Ees that he would come down on them hard if they mentioned his name in connection with their discussions of U organizational activities, not unlawful, notwithstanding statement made in context of conversation which contained other statements violative of Act, including unlawful threats, since statement itself did not interfere with legitimate U activities, but was rather clearly limited to those activities where they attempted to involve him in their U activities)

5006-5077 Informing employees that employer would not comply with bargaining agreement

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198
(E's statement to U representatives and Ees that he would stick the contract up their asses and that good faith was out the window held unlawful threat not to administer contract in good faith; E's lawful statement that he was going to live up to the strict letter of the contract cannot be viewed as synonymous with threatening statement in question; and in light of E's remark that good faith was out the window, E's statement cannot amount to intent to enforce its contract rights in accordance with Act's requirements)

Dale Energy Corporation JD-202-85
(E's threat to have bargaining agreement set aside if Ees did not cease filing grievances)

5006-5080 Statement of opposition to union or collective bargaining

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[telling Ee that E would do everything in its power to keep U out, standing alone, held not to constitute unlawful threat since statement itself was somewhat vague and subject to interpretation by listener]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[E's remarks at meetings with Ees, assertedly conveying message that it would be futile for Ees to elect U because E would not bargain meaningfully, not unlawful, where E's remarks established no more than that if E had to negotiate with U, he was prepared to engage in hard bargaining for contract advantageous to E, and pointed out to Ees that one possibility of bargaining process was for Ees to end up with lower wages and benefits]

Shore Pointe Associates, Inc., d/b/a Americare Convalescent Center 280 NLRB No. 130
[E's telling supervisor, and through supervisor as its agent, telling Ees that E would not let U get in, unlawful]

Dorothy Shamrock Coal Company 279 NLRB No. 174

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 056
(E unlawfully threatened to refuse to bargain in good faith when supervisor stated that hospital administrator would not agree to anything U asked for in negotiations, and that there would be a strike)

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86
[telling unlawfully locked out U adherents that E did not want U, and offering to revoke 10% pay cut, to look into pension plan, and to give raises to some lower paid Ees, unlawful]

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86
[telling unlawfully locked out U adherents that U would never get into company and that Ees would never get back to work, unlawful]

Riverview 5 P's, Inc., t/a Riverview Inn JD-54-86
[E's statement made to unlawfully discharged chief U organizer when E offered to reinstate her after she informed E why Ees decided to organize U, that Ee need not think she was going to return and regroup, or organize Ees because that will not happen, unlawful]

5006-5090 Preference for or opposition to one of competing unions or preference for another union

Hydro-Air Equipment, Inc. d/b/a Lanco 277 NLRB No. 012
(threatening Ees with discharge if Ees did not sign U authorization cards for U, unlawful)

5006-5091 Membership in favored union required

Harte & Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 128
[no violation of Section 8(a)(1) where U representative made statements that newly hired Ees at E's newly purchased facility would lose their jobs if they did not join U, notwithstanding statements made on E's premises obviously with E's permission, since extension of bargaining agreement to new facility was legal, and U representative's presence on E's premises authorized]

Hydro-Air Equipment, Inc. d/b/a Lanco 277 NLRB No. 012
(informing Ees that E had signed contract with U and that Ees would be required to join U pursuant to security clause or be replaced, unlawful, since contract was signed with minority U in violationof Section 8(a)(2))

5006-5092 Disclosure of card signers' or of card solicitors' identity to employer

Adco Metals, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 172
[E informing Ees in writing that they could expect to be subpoenaed as witnesses in Federal proceeding if they signed U authorization cards, unlawful, since deemed coercive as was threat that identity of signers would be disclosed, and absent any issues likely to be litigated concerning signing of U cards; neither U animus nor falsity of statement not prerequisite for finding of violation]

Eastern Maine Medical Center 277 NLRB No. 151
(E's letter to Ees instructing them to report to it instances in which they were pressured to sign U card held overly broad and unlawful, since letter's statement had potential dual effect on Ees by encouraging them to report to E any U card solicitor who approached them in manner subjectively offensive to solicited Ee and by correspondingly discouraging U solicitors in their protected organizational activities)

Southwire Company 277 NLRB No. 043
(E's speeches and notices stating that U authorization cards might be disclosed to it and admonishing Ees not to sign cards unless they knew what it would mean to them, their families and fellow Ees, violative where speeches and notices were made against background of E's history of violating Act and in immediate context of pervasive violations in instant case. In T3context, E's comments are a rather pointed hint that it would similarly retaliate against Ees who signed cards)

5006-5092—Cont.

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(threatening to obtain U cards signed by Ees even if E had to pay for them and to fire signers, violative and objectionable)

5006-5095 Inhibiting utilization of grievance machinery

The Zack Company 278 NLRB No. 134
[E unlawfully discharged Ees for requesting U to file grievance to collect overtime wages, where Ees were not as unproductive as E claimed, and E did not consistently discipline Ees for insufficient production; moreover, there was no ambiguity in superintendant's admission to steward that Ees were discharged because they were trying to collect money for something they didn't work for, thereby obviously referring to Ees' grievance that they would have worked overtime had it not been for E's improper transfer of Ees to different work areas]

Garland Coal & Mining Co. 276 NLRB No. 102
(layoff of Ee on 2 occasions, allegedly for his activity in presenting grievances, not unlawful, where layoff was motivated by valid business reasons; Ee was properly selected for layoff as one who was least senior Ee on seniority list; after first layoff, Ee was given fair test, which he failed, of his ability to operate certain equipment; record did not show that following first layoff, Ee would have been recalled earlier but for his activity in presenting grievances; and procedures applied to him were no different than those applied to other Ees)

5006-5099 Other

Government Employees (Office Employees, Local No. 2) 278 NLRB No. 055
[U-E's vice-president's instruction to Ee that she should not appeal to other Ee to join strike, violative]

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(assertedly informing Ees, who were unlawfully discharged, that they were being discharges because they had ruined E, not unlawful, where E advised Ees that they were being discharged for unsatisfactory work, not for ruining E; subject of ruination was raised by one of the discharged Ees, and E did not equate involvement with U or protected activities with disloyalty to E; and E's remarks contained no threat nor promise of benefit)

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(advising Ee that E had asked another E not to hire fellow Ee until after election, unlawful, since such remark clearly lessened desirability of seeking U representation through Bd's electoral process; whether Ee whose employment prospects are interfered with by his E is or is not engaged in U activities is immaterial since Bd processes must be protected)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(plant manager's telling Ee that a vacation money advance could not be given because of possible imminent strike activity, violative)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(telling Ee that unit Ees did not receive a retroactive pay raise because U representative failed to settle the contract by year-end, not violative where Ees had voted at year-end to reject E's wage offer, which included a retroactive raise, and Ees were thus well aware of reason they did not receive retroactive raise)

Crest Floors & Plastics, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 185
(announcement that E was going nonU and would not sign U contract, violative)

Safety-Kleen Corp. JD-117-85
(E's stating that it was denying U activist a raise because NLRB would think it was trying to buy a vote, lawful both as statement and as action, since statement was legitimate expression of E's concern that it not appear to interfere with Ees' Sec. 7 rights)

5006-6700 Method employed in making statement

5006-6710 Using supervisor's office

T & T Machine Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 139
[supervisor calling Ee into his office, where in presence of three supervisors Ee was asked how he felt about U, and upon Ee's reply he didn't like Us, he was cautioned not to associate with U supporters, promising Ee he would have training to enhance his skill level above that of U supporters that E planned to get rid of, and informing Ee if he would report his errors directly to those supervisors, his record would be clean, but errors of U supporters would be recorded, unlawful]

Lassen Community Hospital, A Division of Eskaton Health Corporation, Division of Eskaton 278 NLRB No. 053
[E's telling applicant for employment that she supposed applicant knew about E's problems (meaning U's organizational drive) and asking her how she felt about U, violative, where coercive nature of interrogation was shown from fact interviewer was Director of Nursing and interview took place in Director's office]

5006-6720 Using individuals as conduits

Rockin Brothers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 083
(Ee's comments to other Ees who were U supporters that, we know what's going on and we're going to fix that, violative, notwithstanding fact Ee was not a supervisor, since Ee was placed by management in strategic position where Ees could reasonably believe he spoke on its behalf where Ee was used by E to relay messages and instructions to Ees and was correctly perceived as management's right-hand man who spoke for management in its absence)

5006-6767 Pamphlets, circulars, and printed material

5006-6767-8300 Motion pictures

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(setting aside of election not warranted where E showed Ees documentary film Strike Town USA, with question and answer period following film, and personnel manager stated no one wanted strike situation, since unlawful prediction made and Ees free choice not negated where film depicted anatomy of labor dispute which depiction was privileged under Section 8(c))

5006-6783 Conversation among supervisors

Air Express International USA, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 127
[threat by supervisor of closure of facility and loss of jobs if U came in, made in presence of statutory supervisor, not unlawful, since remarks directed at another supervisor and outside presence of any statutory Ee]

United States Steel Corporation 279 NLRB No. 004
[E's refusal to hire Ee laid off from one of its facilities to work at another of its facilities, unlawful, since for his activities as U grievance chairman where his supervisor's reference to grievance chairman as troublemaker when speaking to foreman at facility to which he had applied for transfer connotated his activity of filing grievances, and this characterization was relied upon in rejecting Ees request for transfer. Use of word alone, not violative, but must look at context in which used]

Pioneer Hotel and Gambling Hall, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 072
(head supervisor's statements to subordinate supervisor that anyone passing out U cards or talking to U organizer would be terminated, while evidence with regard to E's motive in discharging Ee herein, held not unlawful, where there was no indication that any Ee heard supervisor's remarks or that they were repeated to any Ee)

Steffer Brothers JD-269-86
[statement by company official, overheard by Ee, that any person who brought U in was going to be eliminated, unlawful, even absent evidence that official intended statement to be overheard by Ees, since statement's necessary effect was to discourage Ee from engaging in U activities at risk of losing his job]

5006-8300 Noncoerce statements

5006-8333 Absence of discrimination or threat rebuts coercion

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[E's supervisor telling Ee that the union probably won't get you anything more than you have now, not violative and protected by 8(c) since statement was merely one of opinion from which no threat reasonably could be perceived]

5006-8367 Noncoercive circumstances

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[supervisor's statement to Ee, day after U meeting was held in Ee's home, be careful; they know, not unlawful, since statement contained no threat to discharge Ees because of their U activities and did not create unlawful impression of surveillance; supervisor, friendly with Ees, and low-level supervisor, was merely stating well-known information; and management knew about Ees' attempt to unionize]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[supervisor's statements to Ees that they should remove U buttons, that they would be discharged if E learned they supported U, that E had retaliated against Ee's because of U support, and that E knew of a planned U meeting, not violative, where supervisors were known U supporters and did not act on behalf of management but acted as informers for U and to protect Ees from retaliation]

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 276 NLRB No. 175
(E's foreman's discussing merits of salaried versus hourly benefits with Ee, not violative where discussions were essentially factual and foreman did not make any promises to Ee about benefits or suggest that Ee disavow U)

Pillod of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 117
(telling Ees that U was responsible for causing safety inspection which resulted in requirement that Ees wear safety shoes, not violative where statement neither expressly nor impliedly threatened Ees for U activity and circumstances were neither coercive nor disparaging of U)

5006-8367—Cont.

Genwal Coal Co., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 077
(statements made in joking manner where persons who were present at that time laughed)

5009 CIVIL SUIT OR CRIMINAL COURT ACTION AGAINST EMPLOYEES OR THREATS THEREOF

5009 CIVIL SUIT OR CRIMINAL COURT ACTION AGAINST EMPLOYEES OR THREATS THEREOF

5009-0100 Generally

United States Postal Service 275 NLRB No. 057
(threat by low-level supervisor to file lawsuit against U on grounds of blocking goals of supervisor and personal harassment, not violative since E not accountable for temporary supervisor's remarks while acting as temporary low-level supervisor; remarks concerned filing civil suit on supervisor's own personal behalf and did not involve any threatened retaliation by E who had no knowledge of remarks and were not attributable to E or w/i supervisor's responsibilities)

5009-1500 Threat to sue

Thomas Steel Company 281 NLRB No. 060
[E's letter to former Ee threatening him with a lawsuit if he did not cease interfering with E's business relationships with customers and suppliers, not violation where Ee's telephone call to supplier, which prompted E's letter, was unprotected in view of Ee's misrepresentation that he was independent safety consultant hired by E. and E, at time it sent letter, did not know and could not reasonably have known of arguably concerted nature of Ee's conduct]

Southern Maryland Hospital Center 276 NLRB No. 153
(E's president telling two Ees who were known to support U, that he was going to sue these people for slander for writing these lies, in reference to a U newsletter lying on a conference table, not violative, where there was no evidence that either Ee was mentioned anywhere in the newsletter and fact that E mentioned these people demonstrates that threat was not directed at the Ees, but instead at U officials responsible for newsletter)

Safeway Stores, Inc. JD-(SF)-119-86
[supervisor's threat to file charges or initiate lawsuit against Ee because Ee filed ULP charges against E involving supervisor's son, unlawful]

Sue-Glo Realty Corp. d/b/a Granit Hotel and Country Club JD-(NY)-10-86
[president's telling manager, in Ee's presence, to telephone E's attorney to investigate possible libel, slander and defamation of character lawsuit against Ee for publicizing E's alleged ULPs in newspaper article, violation]

5009-3300 Suit meritorious

Allbritton Communications Co., The News Printing Co., Inc. and The Hudson Dispatch v. N.L.R.B. 766 F.2d 812 (C.A. 3, July 1985)
(E's filing suit against numerous strikers who had filed worker's compensation claims on the same day, alleging conspiracy, abuse of process and fraud, not violative, since such mass filing of claims by Ees could be perceived by E as harassment by U, and lawsuit had reasonable basis)

Stanley A. Dash, Jr. v. N.L.R.B. (Lawyers Co-Operative Publishing Co.) 793 F.2d 1062 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[Bd must stay proceedings in regard to allegation of retalitory appeal of state unemployment compensation award to Ee whom ct held to have been unlawfully discharged, pending resolution of state action. If Respondent E prevails in state ct action, it will also prevail before Bd because filing of meritorious lawsuit even for retaliatory motive, is not ULP. If, however, E does not prevail in state ct action, Bd must determine whether E filed suit in retaliation for Ee's protected activity]

5009-6700 Suit non-meritorious and brought in retaliation for exercise of Section 7 rights

5009-6767 Retaliatory motive

Safeway Stores, Inc. JD-(SF)-119-86
[supervisor's threat to file charges or initiate lawsuit against Ee because Ee filed ULP charges against E involving supervisor's son, unlawful]

Allbritton Communications Co., The News Printing Co., Inc. and The Hudson Dispatch v. N.L.R.B. 766 F.2d 812 (C.A. 3, July 1985)

Stanley A. Dash, Jr. v. N.L.R.B. (Lawyers Co-Operative Publishing Co.) 793 F.2d 1062 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[Bd must stay proceedings in regard to allegation of retalitory appeal of state unemployment compensation award to Ee whom ct held to have been unlawfully discharged, pending resolution of state action. If Respondent E prevails in state ct action, it will also prevail before Bd because filing of meritorious lawsuit even for retaliatory motive, is not ULP. If, however, E does not prevail in state ct action, Bd must determine whether E filed suit in retaliation for Ee's protected activity]

5012 COMPANY RULES PROHIBITING OR LIMITING UNION OR OTHER CONCERTED ACTIVITIES

5012-0100 Generally

Turnbull Cone Baking Company of Tennesser v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 8 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)
[E violates Act by implementing rule to inhibit Ees' U activities or by imposing rule to restrict discussion of U matters]

5012-0133 Balancing of interests required

5012-0133-2200 Purpose of employer in establishing and applying rules and prohibitions controlling

5012-0133-2250 Antiunion purpose renders rules and prohibitions illegal

Harold Weiss; et al., A Co-Partnership d/b/a Sands Motel and AMM, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 013
[E's new rule which placed restrictions on Ees in order to prevent them from speaking to known adherent of U, held violative in view of absence of any justifiable business reason for deviating from past practice and putting restrictions upon Ees calculated to prevent them from conversing with known adherent of U even at times when it did not affect performance of work functions. Purpose was to punish U adherent and discourage Ee support for U]

St. Paul's Church Home, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 170
(promulgating and/or enforcing rule restricting posting of U-related literature to Ees' break room and requiring written authorization by E for posting at E's facility, unlawful; even assuming E could require authorization prior to posting of notices in specified work areas, such limitation cannot be extended to nonwork area such as Ee lounge; and even assuming restriction antedated organizing campaign and rule was applied uniformly following commencement of campaign, rule was rendered unlawful because motivated by unlawful consideration of thwarting lawful organizational activity)

5012-0133-2275 Application of prohibition not necessary to finding of violation

High Key Distributing, A Division of House of Kitchens, Ltd. JD-287-86
[maintenance of rule against discussion of wages or hours of employment, violative, despite no evidence that E attempted to enforce rule]

5012-0133-4400 Reasonableness of rule for maintaining order and discipline legalizing factor

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 039
[questioning Ee, who was known participant in dissident U group, concerning his requesting fellow Ees to sign ptn and affidavit contesting U voting procedures, not violative, since Ee was a known participant in dissident U group who solicited his fellow Ees to sign U material while they were on their work (as apposed to break) time. As E is entitled to have its Ees perform their work w/o interruptions, E has right to investigate apparent interferences with its Ees carrying out their duties]

United Technologies Corporation 279 NLRB No. 135
[E's rule prohibiting large signs or banners...so as to preclude displays intended...to promote a candidacy, organization or product, while expressly permitting display of bumper stickers, window stickers and like material, which rule had the effect of denying an Ee access to E's property to display intra-U campaign material, not violative, since rule was not complete prohibition against the display of U material, E's managerial interest outweighed Ee's Section 7 right and rule was reasonable measure to keep large billboards out of E's parking lot]

5012-0133-5000 Ambiguity in rule construed against promulgator

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084
[no-solicitation no-distribution rule violation where ambiguous rule and its clarification could be construed as overall prohibition on distribution of any kind]

5012-0133-7700 Union not entitled to use every possible means of communication

United Technologies Corporation 279 NLRB No. 135
[E's rule prohibiting large signs or banners...so as to preclude displays intended...to promote a candidacy, organization or product, while expressly permitting display of bumper stickers, window stickers and like material, which rule had the effect of denying an Ee access to E's property to display intra-U campaign material, not violative, since rule was not complete prohibition against the display of U material, E's managerial interest outweighed

5012-0133-7700—Cont.

Ee's Section 7 right and rule was reasonable measure to keep large billboards out of E's parking lot]

5012-0167 Validity of prohibition presumed where limited to working time

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(E's promulgation of rule prohibiting solicitation of an Ee while either Ee doing soliciting or person being solicited is on working time during U campaign, unlawful, since rule promulgated at time of intense U activity, in view of E's U animus which rebutted presumption of validity and E did not show rule was required to maintain production or discipline)

Adams Super Markets Corp. 274 NLRB No. 194
(supermarkets' promulgation of facially valid no solicitation rule prohibiting solicitation or distribution of literature of any kind by any Ee during actual working time of Ee soliciting or Ee being solicited and prohibiting solicitation or distribution on E's property by non-Ees at any time, in new Ee handbook distributed during U campaign, not unlawful, since no solicitation rule published in handbook not new but amplification and clarification of already posted rule and Ee handbook customary place to include no-solicitation rule)

University of Richmond 274 NLRB No. 182
(supervisor's telling Ees that she did not want excessive discussion by them while at work, especially about the U, which they could discuss during their breaks, not rule discriminatorily applied against discussion of U, as alleged, since it did not prohibit discussion of U during breaks and only attempted to stop excessive conversation on all subjects while Ees were at their work stations serving customers)

Bruderer, Inc. JD-(SF)-57-86
[supervisor's stating to Ee that he had been told by little bird that Ee was soliciting for U, not unlawful, since statement was not intended to be interrogation of Ee about his U sentiments but was introductory remark to conversation whose purpose was to advise Ee of fellow Ee's complaint to E about being harassed while working by Ee's U solicitation, and to inform Ee that he should not sell wares or U on company time; and prohibitions on solicitation during working time are presumptively lawful]

Safety-Kleen Corp. JD-117-85
(warning U activist not to talk U to other Ees, lawful where other Ees had complained about it, it was interfering with their work, and E limited his warning to working time, saying that he could talk U on his own time; moreover activist was never disciplined although he continued to talk U on work time after being warned)

5012-1700 Extension of prohibition against union activities to employees' own time on premises

5012-1725 Prohibition of distribution of literature during employees' own time on company premises

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084
[no-solicitation no-distribution rule violation where ambiguous rule and its clarification could be construed as overall prohibition on distribution of any kind]

5012-1725-1100 Plant premises

Benmit Division, U.S. Tubular, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 063
[instructing Ee that he was not allowed to have U handbills on premises and ordering him to clock out and remove them, violation]

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(maintaining and enforcing rules prohibiting unauthorized distribution of literature, solicitation or circulation of ptns at any time on company premises, violative where rules constituted complete ban on unauthorized communication at any time or place at E's facility)

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[rule prohibiting solicitation or collecting signatures or contributions or distributing material for any purpose during working hours or on company premises w/o manager's prior permission, violation]

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)
[E's rulebook's listing of soliciting or distributing of literature or . . . posting of notice on company property as grounds for dismissal, not violation where rulebook explained two pages later under SOLICITATION AND LITERATURE DISTRIBUTION that nothing would interfere with Ees' concerted protected activities regarding solicitation or distribution of literature during Ees' non-work time, since amplification of rule was only two pages away from discharge rule, and there was no evidence that any Ees believed they were prohibited from distributing literature]

N.L.R.B. v. Vought Corporation - MLRS Systems Division 788 F.2d 1378 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1986)
[E's no distribution rule which prohibited reproducing, posting or passing out typed or printed material other than company business w/o permission unlawfully broad even if never enforced, in view of rule's chilling effect]

5012-1725-1133 Working areas

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(E's promulgation of rule prohibiting distribution of advertising material, handbills, or other literature in working areas of plant at any time unlawful, since rule promulgated action of intense U activity, in view of Es U animus which rebutted presumption of validity and E did not show rule required to maintain production or discipline)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(no violation, where supervisor in reply to Ees inquiry as to E's policy regarding distribution of cards or ptns, that they could not be passed out, according to company policy, during working time, in work place, in work areas, notwithstanding GC contention violation where no clarification by supervisor as to whether Ees could legitimately solicity or distribute while on their way to and from vending machines, since Es not required to iterate, expressly all lawfully required exceptions underlying presumptively legitimate rule banning distribution on working time)

5012-1725-1167 Nonworking area

Vista Hill Foundation d/b/a Mesa Vista Hospital 280 NLRB No. 027
[supervisor's instructing Ee not to distribute U material in cafeteria during Ees' lunch hour, violation; instructions not disparate enforcement of E's existing distribution rule, however, notwithstanding two incidents of non-U solicitation and distribution in cafeteria during nonworking time, absent evidence E was aware of these incidents]

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[describing solicitation and distribution of literature in handbook as areas of behavior which require special attention, violation and interference, notwithstanding absence of stated penalties in handbook, where E indicated that it considered Ees doing either one anywhere on its premises to be misconduct]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[interfering with distribution of literature in non-work areas during nonwork time, violative and objectionable where Ees were told they could not distribute literature at plant entrance but would have to go to plant gate, and two Ees were threatened with arrest and escorted by security guards to plant gate]

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[E's maintenance of rule prohibiting unauthorized distribution of any printed or written literature w/i its premises, unlawful, since rule over broad and facially invalid inasmuch as prohibition not limited to working time or working areas, and absent legitimate business reason for rule's broadness]

Alamo Cement company 277 NLRB No. 108

Coeburn Garment Company (Division of DK Management Corp.) 276 NLRB No. 168
(E's selectively and disparately restricting Ees from distributing U literature in non-working area during non-working time, violative)

The Meadows East Inc. 275 NLRB No. 181
(rule prohibiting soliciation of any kind or distribution of materials other than those specifically approved by E's administrator, violative)

Valley Presbyterian Hospital JD-(SF)-57-86
[prohibiting solicitation and distribution of U literature in acute-care hospital's discharge area, not violation, notwithstanding it was not patenti-care and work area due to use as entrance and exit by Ees and others, where solicitation and distribution could potentially disrupt care of patients brought there in emergency or dispatch of emergency teams, and E provided alternative locations for solicitation and distribution]

HCA Health Services of Mid-West, Inc. d/b/a Doctor's Hospital JD-(ATL)-29-85
(security guard's stopping Ee from distributing U handbills in parking deck and removing hadbills from parked cars constituted unlawfully selective and disparate application of no-distribution rule where Ees distributed notices of pot-luck dinners and other parties and other literature in lounges and other non-working areas)

5012-1725-1183 Public Areas

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084
[insisting that Ee, who was handbilling outside E's gate, leave even though Ee had takenvacation leave that day, violation]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(no-solicitation no-distribution policy, violation and interference where it applied to hospital's main lobby, cafeteria and gift shop, since solicitation and distribution there would not have interfered with patient care, but was not found violation or interference as to corridors, since solicitation or distribution there might have disrupted patient care)

5012-1725-1700 Working time

Foodland, Inc., d/b/a Super-H Discount 281 NLRB No. 109
[supervisor's asking and telling an Ee, who was overheard talking on the phone during working time and whom the supervisor suspected was talking about the U, if she was talking about the U and then telling her not to talk U on the clock, not violative, since there was no evidence the prohibition was ever communicated to other Ees and Ees continued to talk about the U thereafter; such remarks were a single, isolated and innocuous exchange and does not rise to the level of a violation particularly in the absence of U animus]

Page Avjet, Incorporated 278 NLRB No. 063
[violation, where E promulgated rule prohibiting solicitation and distribution during normal working hours, since rule unlawful under Our Way Inc., 268 NLRB 394]

Reeves Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 153
[promulgation and enforcement of rule in response to U campaign and for purpose of inhibiting U activity, violative]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(E's promulgation of rule prohibiting distribution of advertising material, handbills, or other literature in working areas of plant at any time unlawful, since rule promulgated action of intense U activity, in view of Es U animus which rebutted presumption of validity and E did not show rule required to maintain production or discipline)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(rule which banned solicitation on working time valid notwithstanding E did not have formal break period but left it up to supervisors when breaks were to be taken, as absence of formal break period did not render term working time ambiguous and E did not discipline any Ee for soliciting during his break period)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(no violation, where supervisor in reply to Ees inquiry as to E's policy regarding distribution of cards or ptns, that they could not be passed out, according to company policy, during working time, in work place, in work areas, notwithstanding GC contention violation where no clarification by supervisor as to whether Ees could legitimately solicity or distribute while on their way to and from vending machines, since Es not required to iterate, expressly all lawfully required exceptions underlying presumptively legitimate rule banning distribution on working time)

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(maintaining and enforcing rules prohibiting unauthorized distribution of literature, solicitation or circulation of ptns at any time on company premises, violative where rules constituted complete ban on unauthorized communication at any time or place at E's facility)

The Meadows East Inc. 275 NLRB No. 181
(rule prohibiting solicitation or circulating literature of any nature on E's property during working hours w/o approval of E's administrator, violative)

5012-1725-1900 Mixed working and nonworking time

N.L.R.B. v. Chicago Metallic Corporation 794 F.2d 527 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[threats of discharge and warnings for campaigning on company time, violative, notwithstanding threats were directed at Ee who was perceived by other Ees as supervisor, where he was not supervisor for purposes of 8(a)(1) claim]

5012-1725-2000 Nonworking time

Vista Hill Foundation d/b/a Mesa Vista Hospital 280 NLRB No. 027
[supervisor's instructing Ee not to distribute U material in cafeteria during Ees' lunch hour, violation; instructions not disparate enforcement of E's existing distribution rule, however, notwithstanding two incidents of non-U solicitation and distribution in cafeteria during nonworking time, absent evidence E was aware of these incidents]

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[describing solicitation and distribution of literature in handbook as areas of behavior which require special attention, violation and interference, notwithstanding absence of stated penalties in handbook, where E indicated that it considered Ees doing either one anywhere on its premises to be misconduct]

Raritan Bay Medical Center a/k/a Perth Amboy General Hospital and Old Bridge Regional Hospital 279 NLRB No. 010
[E's administrator's telling Ee that she was not permitted to distribute U literature between time she punched in and beginning of her shift, violative where such time is nonworking time and under E's no-distribution rule distribution on nonworking time is not prohibited]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[interfering with distribution of literature in non-work areas during nonwork time, violative and objectionable where Ees were told they could not distribute literature at plant entrance but would have to go to plant gate, and two Ees were threatened with arrest and escorted by security guards to plant gate]

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[E's maintenance of rule prohibiting unauthorized distribution of any printed or written literature w/i its premises, unlawful, since rule over broad and facially invalid inasmuch as prohibition not limited to working time or working areas, and absent legitimate business reason for rule's broadness]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(E's promulgation of rule prohibiting distribution of advertising material, handbills, or other literature in working areas of plant at any time unlawful, since rule promulgated action of intense U activity, in view of Es U animus which rebutted presumption of validity and E did not show rule required to maintain production or discipline)

Alamo Cement company 277 NLRB No. 108

Ballou Brick Co. 277 NLRB No. 009
(where E had printed two rules in Ee handbook, one of which flatly forbids any solicitation or distribution at any time and the other which allowed solicitation or distribution on non-work time, Bd held that first rule was clearly unlawful and was not saved by second rule since Ees were never told that second rule was E's real rule and further, any ambiguity in two rules was solely the responsibility of E and therefore, E bears the risk that ambiguity will be held against it)

Coeburn Garment Company (Division of DK Management Corp.) 276 NLRB No. 168
(E's selectively and disparately restricting Ees from distributing U literature in non-working area during non-working time, violative)

The Meadows East Inc. 275 NLRB No. 181
(rule prohibiting soliciation of any kind or distribution of materials other than those specifically approved by E's administrator, violative)

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[rule prohibiting solicitation or collecting signatures or contributions or distributing material for any purpose during working hours or on company premises w/o manager's prior permission, violation]

5012-1725-2200 Parking lots

N.L.R.B. v. Vought Corporation - MLRS Systems Division 788 F.2d 1378 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1986)
[E's plant security officer informing Ee that he would not be allowed to distribute U literature in plant parking lot, unlawful, notwithstanding supervisors overrode security officer, allowed the distribution and no discipline to Ee, since substantial evidence that statements tended to interfere with Ee's right to distribute U literature in nonworking area on nonworking time, and that there were no special circumstances to justify e's attempted enforcement of overly broad rule]

5012-1725-7100 Alternative means of communication

Valley Presbyterian Hospital JD-(SF)-57-86
[prohibiting solicitation and distribution of U literature in acute-care hospital's discharge area, not violation, notwithstanding it was not patenti-care and work area due to use as entrance and exit by Ees and others, where solicitation and distribution could potentially disrupt care of patients brought there in emergency or dispatch of emergency teams, and E provided alternative locations for solicitation and distribution]

5012-1737 Prohibiting solicitation during employee's own time on employer's premises

5012-1737-0100 Generally

5012-1737-0170 Rule, not applicable to union or other protected solicitation, valid

United Technologies Corporation 279 NLRB No. 135
[E's rule prohibiting large signs or banners...so as to preclude displays intended...to promote a candidacy, organization or product, while expressly permitting display of bumper stickers, window stickers and like material, which rule had the effect of denying an Ee access to E's property to display intra-U campaign material, not violative, since rule was not complete prohibition against the display of U material, E's managerial interest outweighed Ee's Section 7 right and rule was reasonable measure to keep large billboards out of E's parking lot]

5012-1737-2000 Solicitation on plant premises

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[describing solicitation and distribution of literature in handbook as areas of behavior which require special attention, violation and interference, notwithstanding absence of stated penalties in handbook, where E indicated that it considered Ees doing either one anywhere on its premises to be misconduct]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[telling Ees they could not discuss U on their own time on E's property, violation and interference]

Ballou Brick Co. 277 NLRB No. 009
(E's posting of rule which asked Ees to report any Ees who interfered or coerced them into signing a U card, violative, since such rule has dual purpose of encouraging Ees to report identity of card solicitors and of discouraging card solicitors in protected activity)

5012-1737-2000—Cont.

C.O.W. Industries, Inc., Division of Central Ohio Welding Co. 276 NLRB No. 101
(rule in E's handbook which directed Ees to report anyone who causes them trouble or puts them under any pressure to join a U, violative, since rule has potential dual effect of encouraging Ees to report identity of U solicitors and of correspondingly discouraging U solicitors in their protected organizational activities)

C.O.W. Industries, Inc., Division of Central Ohio Welding Co. 276 NLRB No. 101
(rule which stated No person will be allowed to solicit or carry on union organizing activities on the job, violative, since rule is directed solely against U solicitation)

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(maintaining and enforcing rules prohibiting unauthorized distribution of literature, solicitation or circulation of ptns at any time on company premises, violative where rules constituted complete ban on unauthorized communication at any time or place at E's facility)

The Meadows East Inc. 275 NLRB No. 181
(rule prohibiting soliciation of any kind or distribution of materials other than those specifically approved by E's administrator, violative)

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[rule prohibiting solicitation or collecting signatures or contributions or distributing material for any purpose during working hours or on company premises w/o manager's prior permission, violation]

N.L.R.B. v. E. I. DuPont De Nemours 750 F.2d 524 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)
(telling Ee who was soliciting in break zone on nonworking time that solicitation was prohibited on E's property, violative)

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)
[E's rulebook's listing of soliciting or distributing of literature or . . . posting of notice on company property as grounds for dismissal, not violation where rulebook explained two pages later under SOLICITATION AND LITERATURE DISTRIBUTION that nothing would interfere with Ees' concerted protected activities regarding solicitation or distribution of literature during Ees' non-work time, since amplification of rule was only two pages away from discharge rule, and there was no evidence that any Ees believed they were prohibited from distributing literature]

5012-1737-3300 Working areas

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[no-solicitation rule that prohibited solicitation in working areas w/o prior written approval of administrator constituted unreasonably broad restriction to extent it prohibited solicitation in work areas not devoted to patient care]

Bell & Howell/Columbia Pictures Video Services JD-(SF)-8-86
[E promulgating rule Ees are permitted to solicit other Ees only in non-working areas on non-working time, unlawful, notwithstanding contentions Ees had time and space to solicit on non-working time in lunch room, and also rule not invalid since rules against loitering in work areas and going into other departments in effect for reasons of security and safety, as non work related conversations and non-U related solicitations had been permitted, no loitering rule could not be equated with no solicitation rule, nor was rule clarified to convey intent to permit solicitation on Ees' own time, and absent business justification]

5012-1737-4000 Working time

Reeves Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 153
[promulgation and enforcement of rule in response to U campaign and for purpose of inhibiting U activity, violative]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(E's promulgation of rule prohibiting solicitation of an Ee while either Ee doing soliciting or person being solicited is on working time during U campaign, unlawful, since rule promulgated at time of intense U activity, in view of E's U animus which rebutted presumption of validity and E did not show rule was required to maintain production or discipline)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(rule which banned solicitation on working time valid notwithstanding E did not have formal break period but left it up to supervisors when breaks were to be taken, as absence of formal break period did not render term working time ambiguous and E did not discipline any Ee for soliciting during his break period)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(no violation, where supervisor in reply to Ees inquiry as to E's policy regarding distribution of cards or ptns, that they could not be passed out, according to company policy, during working time, in work place, in work areas, notwithstanding GC contention violation where no clarification by supervisor as to whether Ees could legitimately solicity or distribute while on their way to and from vending machines, since Es not required to iterate, expressly all lawfully required exceptions underlying presumptively legitimate rule banning distribution on working time)

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant 276 NLRB No. 087
(telling Ee that he should stop talking about U during worktime or he was going to have trouble with E held unlawful threat, in view of E's disparate enforcement of its no-solicitation rule)

Adams Super Markets Corp. 274 NLRB No. 194
(supermarkets' promulgation of facially valid no solicitation rule prohibiting solicitation or distribution of literature of any kind by any Ee during actual working time of Ee soliciting or Ee being solicited and prohibiting solicitation or distribution on E's property by non-Ees at any time, in new Ee handbook distributed during U campaign, not unlawful, since no solicitation rule published in handbook not new but amplification and clarification of alreadsy posted rule and Ee handbook customary place to include no-solicitation rule)

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 056
(while supervisor may have considered all of Ee's U activities were disruptive, her remark to Ee that she was disruptive influence and to cease disrupting staff during working hours, not violative, as comments were clearly directed only to Ee's on-duty conversations with other Ees)

Safety-Kleen Corp. JD-117-85
(warning U activist not to talk U to other Ees, lawful where other Ees had complained about it, it was interfering with their work, and E limited his warning to working time, saying that he could talk U on his own time; moreover activist was never disciplined although he continued to talk U on work time after being warned)

5012-1737-5000 Working hours, work time or company time

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003
[promulgation of rule prohibiting Ees from soliciting U authorization cards during working time not independent violation of Section 8(a)(1), in view of Our Way, 268 NLRB 394, which held rules which prohibit solicitation during working time, as opposed to working hours, presumptively valid; however, rule was violative of Section 8(a)(3)]

Page Avjet, Incorporated 278 NLRB No. 063
[violation, where E promulgated rule prohibiting solicitation and distribution during normal working hours, since rule unlawful under Our Way Inc., 268 NLRB 394]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[no-solicitation rule permitting solicitation at plant during break periods not unlawful; intent to limit no-soliciation policy to working time was demonstrated by referral to company time in warning slip issued to Ee for soliciting; thereafter, Ee and other Ees freely engaged in solicitation for U during break periods, and there was no showing that E permitted Ee solicitation during work time for purposes other than U organizing such as sales or charitable contributions]

Reeves Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 153
[promulgation and enforcement of rule in response to U campaign and for purpose of inhibiting U activity, violative]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(E's promulgation of rule prohibiting solicitation of an Ee while either Ee doing soliciting or person being solicited is on working time during U campaign, unlawful, since rule promulgated at time of intense U activity, in view of E's U animus which rebutted presumption of validity and E did not show rule was required to maintain production or discipline)

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(maintaining and enforcing rules prohibiting unauthorized distribution of literature, solicitation or circulation of ptns at any time on company premises, violative where rules constituted complete ban on unauthorized communication at any time or place at E's facility)

Webb Furniture Enterprises, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 180
(E maintaining and enforcing no-solicitation rule which stated There must be no solicitation of Ees during work hours, for collections, donations, or sales unless prior arrangement has been made and permission granted by superintendent, unlawful, since it prohibits solicitation during work hours w/o E permission; thus, overly broad in not informing Ees that solicitations are not allowed during break periods, mealtimes, and other times when they are not working)

The Meadows East Inc. 275 NLRB No. 181
(rule prohibiting solicitation or circulating literature of any nature on E's property during working hours w/o approval of E's administrator, violative)

Programming & Systems, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 157
(E's rule, that no literature is allowed to be distributed of any kind in this school w/o permission, held violative, since rule was unlawfully broad in that rule was limited neither to working time nor to working hours)

Cerock Wire & Cable Group, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 111
(E's orally promulgating and enforcing new no-solicitation rule prohibiting Ees from talking about U on company property or company time, violative)

5012-1737-5000—Cont.

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(informing Ees they were not to distribute U authorization cards on company time, not unlawful)

Gorham Bronze Textron JD-(ATL)-63-86
[maintaining and enforcing written rule prohibiting both U solicitation during working hours and/or distribution of printed U material on E's premises w/o authorization, violation]

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[rule prohibiting solicitation or collecting signatures or contributions or distributing material for any purpose during working hours or on company premises w/o manager's prior permission, violation]

Bell & Howell/Columbia Pictures Video Services JD-(SF)-8-86
[E promulgating rule Ees are permitted to solicit other Ees only in non-working areas on non-working time, unlawful, notwithstanding contentions Ees had time and space to solicit on non-working time in lunch room, and also rule not invalid since rules against loitering in work areas and going into other departments in effect for reasons of security and safety, as non work related conversations and non-U related solicitations had been permitted, no loitering rule could not be equated with no solicitation rule, nor was rule clarified to convey intent to permit solicitation on Ees' own time, and absent business justification]

5012-1737-6700 Nonworking areas

St. Paul's Church Home, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 170
(promulgating and/or enforcing rule restricting posting of U-related literature to Ees' break room and requiring written authorization by E for posting at E's facility, unlawful; even assuming E could require authorization prior to posting of notices in specified work areas, such limitation cannot be extended to nonwork area such as Ee lounge; and even assuming restriction antedated organizing campaign and rule was applied uniformly following commencement of campaign, rule was rendered unlawful because motivated by unlawful consideration of thwarting lawful organizational activity)

The Meadows East Inc. 275 NLRB No. 181
(rule prohibiting soliciation of any kind or distribution of materials other than those specifically approved by E's administrator, violative)

Valley Presbyterian Hospital JD-(SF)-57-86
[prohibiting solicitation and distribution of U literature in acute-care hospital's discharge area, not violation, notwithstanding it was not patenti-care and work area due to use as entrance and exit by Ees and others, where solicitation and distribution could potentially disrupt care of patients brought there in emergency or dispatch of emergency teams, and E provided alternative locations for solicitation and distribution]

N.L.R.B. v. E. I. DuPont De Nemours 750 F.2d 524 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)
(telling Ee who was soliciting in break zone on nonworking time that solicitation was prohibited on E's property, violstive)

5012-1737-6900 Nonworking time

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[describing solicitation and distribution of literature in handbook as areas of behavior which require special attention, violation and interference, notwithstanding absence of stated penalties in handbook, where E indicated that it considered Ees doing either one anywhere on its premises to be misconduct]

National Micrometics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(telling Ee she could not talk U on breaks, violation and interference)

Alamo Cement company 277 NLRB No. 108

Ballou Brick Co. 277 NLRB No. 009
(where E had printed two rules in ee handbook, one of which flatly forbids any solicitationor distribution at any time and the other which allowed solicitation or distribution on non-work time, Bd held that first rule was clearly unlawful and was not saved by second rule since Ees were never told that second rule was E's real rule and further, any ambiguity in two rules was solely the responsibility of E and therefore, E bears the risk that ambiguity will be held against it)

The Meadows East Inc. 275 NLRB No. 181
(rule prohibiting soliciation of any kind or distribution of materials other than those specifically approved by E's administrator, violative)

Stovall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(supervisor's prohibiting solicitation of U authorization cards during break period, violative)

Chicago Metallic Corporation 273 NLRB No. 207
(threatening to discharge Ee if he continued to campaign for U, violative whether or not E added the words, on company time, since rule was overly broad in absence of evidence that Ee was told that he was permitted to campaign during non-working periods or that prohibition was needed to maintain discipline or production)

N.L.R.B. v. E. I. DuPont De Nemours 750 F.2d 524 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)
(telling Ee who was soliciting in break zone on nonworking time that solicitation was prohibited on E's property, violative)

5012-1737-7300 Public Areas

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(no-solicitation no-distribution policy, violation and interference where it applied to hospital's main lobby, cafeteria and gift shop, since solicitation and distribution there would not have interfered with patient care, but was not found violation or interference as to corridors, since solicitation or distribution there might have disrupted patient care)

Valley Presbyterian Hospital JD-(SF)-57-86
[prohibiting solicitation and distribution of U literature in acute-care hospital's discharge area, not violation, notwithstanding it was not patenti-care and work area due to use as entrance and exit by Ees and others, where solicitation and distribution could potentially disrupt care of patients brought there in emergency or dispatch of emergency teams, and E provided alternative locations for solicitation and distribution]

Hughes Properties, Inc., d/b/a Harolds Club v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 1320 (C.A. 9, Apr. 1985)
(E enforced and maintained overly broad no-solicitation rule which barred (1) any solicitation of Ees during working hours and (2) distribution of literature by Ees during working hours or at any time in areas open to public; when E interrupted discussion of U by off duty Ee with other off duty Ees in public bar adjacent to E's gambling area as bar area held analogous to restaurant in retail store where solicitation of off duty Ees allowed so long as solicitation comports with normal use of facility and is not disruption)

5012-1750 Rest periods not working time

National Micrometics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(telling Ee she could not talk U on breaks, violation and interference)

5012-1775 Valid where necessary in interest of safety and efficiency

Safety-Kleen Corp. JD-117-85
(warning U activist not to talk U to other Ees, lawful where other Ees had complained about it, it was interfering with their work, and E limited his warning to working time, saying that he could talk U on his own time; moreover activist was never disciplined although he continued to talk U on work time after being warned)

5012-2500 Discriminatory promulgation of rule

T & T Machine Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 139
[instituting no-soliciation rule prohibiting any kind of solicitation or distribution of literature during actual working time, unlawful, since rule established for purpose of deterring and impeding Ee efforts to generate U support, in view of timing at onset of organizing campaign, and after issuance of unlawful warning to in-house organizing committee member, and in absence of any business justification for rule]

Harry M. Stevens, Inc., A/K/A Harry M. Stevens Services, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 031
(E's promulgation of otherwise valid no-solicitation/no-distribution rule violative, since rule was promulgated to interfere with Ees' right to self organization rather than to maintain production where rule was promulgated during U's organizational campaign and E did not have valid rule in effect at time it discharged Ee for soliciting on behalf of U)

C.O.W. Industries, Inc., Division of Central Ohio Welding Co. 276 NLRB No. 101
(rule which stated No person will be allowed to solicit or carry on union organizing activities on the job, violative, since rule is directed solely against U solicitation)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(managerial and supervisory personnel held not to have orally engaged in independently promulgating overly broad no-distribution rule but to have simply enforced long standing rule by prohibiting Ees from distributing U literature and by confiscating it)

5012-3300 Limitation of prohibition to union activities

5012-3317 Nonunion solicitation and distribution permitted

Lamar Industrial Plastics Co. 281 NLRB No. 080

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[notwithstanding E's no solicitation rule, rule not applied disparately by allowing decertification ptn to circulate as E also allowed solicitations among Ees for charitable and private business purposes. Further, ptn not tainted either as E did not assist in formulation and circulation of ptn]

best copy available

5012-3317—Cont.

Orval Kent Food Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 057
[promulgating, maintaining, and enforcing rule forbidding Ees from discussing unionization when they were working while permitting Ees to discuss other subjects unrelated to work, violative]

Bruderer, Inc. JD-(SF)-57-86
[E did not disparately enforce rule by prohibiting Ee's U solicitation, notwithstanding contention rule was discriminatorily enforced because other Ees sold articles in plant with E's knowledge, where, prior to U activity, Ee was told to stop such sales when he was supposed to be working; fellow Ee complained to E about Ee's pestering him at work station with U solicitation; enforcement of rule was follow up of previous warnings to Ee about soliciting on company time; and Ee was not prohibited from soliciting for U or anything else on breaks or at lunch time]

Bell & Howell/Columbia Pictures Video Services JD-(SF)-8-86
[E promulgating rule Ees are permitted to solicit other Ees only in non-working areas on non-working time, unlawful, notwithstanding contentions Ees had time and space to solicit on non-working time in lunch room, and also rule not invalid since rules against loitering in work areas and going into other departments in effect for reasons of security and safety, as non work related conversations and non-U related solicitations had been permitted, no loitering rule could not be equated with no solicitation rule, nor was rule clarified to convey intent to permit solicitation on Ees' own time, and absent business justification]

Southern Maryland Hospital Center v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 666 (C.A. 4, Sept. 1986)
[discipline for violation of E's (Hospital's) no solicitation rule not an ULP, where E undisputedly showed (1) violation of rule, (2) failed attempt to resolve dispute and possibly, withdraw discipline, and (3) final disciplinary actions in proportion to conduct involved, even though E had allowed some innocuous activity, such as sale of some raffle tickets, Girl Scout cookies and cosmetics by Ees w/o reprisal under E's rule]

5012-3322 Use of bulletin board

Products Unlimited Corp. 280 NLRB No. 041
[E's refusal to permit display of pro-U posters, while permitting display of anti-U posters, unlawful]

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 039
[contracted language barring Ees' use of E's bulletin boards for political or controversial materials, violative per se since proviso in contract appears to bar posting of any dissident (U) literature while allowing specified U literature, One man's political actions are another man's protected concerted activities.]

Roadway Express, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 041
[E's removal of bulletin boards, assertedly because they were being used to publish disparaging and threatening remarks about E's management, violative, since real reason was because Ees used them to post dissident U material where E told one Ee posting strike notices that bulletin boards were for company business only (contrary to 6 years of past practice), told Ee bulletin boards were not to be used for posting strike notices and E eventually removed all bulletin boards after Ees continued posting U material]

Webb Furniture Enterprises, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 180
(foreman and superintendant asking Ee if he had posted U leaflet, and after Ee had replied affirmatively instructing him to remove leaflet because E did not permit soliciting on company property, unlawful, since E permitted non-U related postings)

5012-3333 Use of meeting place discriminatorily denied union

Saint Joseph Medical Center 276 NLRB No. 053
(E's promulgation of rule revoking permission to conduct meetings in OR lounge by Operating Room Ees Association, violative, where change in rule occurred following increased concerted activity by Ees and organizing attempts by outside U; rule was applied in disparate manner by E allowing parties to be held in lounge after change in rule and E had tolerated meetings by group in lounge for some 15 months w/o complaint by E or complaints about group meetings)

5012-3367 Limited to prounion activities

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[E instituting new non-access rule for off-duty Ees just for date of R election, violative, where rule not disseminated, limited to election day, U animus, and departure from normal policy showed that purpose of rule was to thwart U activity of off-duty Ees]

Products Unlimited Corp. 280 NLRB No. 041
[E's refusal to permit display of pro-U' posters, while permitting display of anti-U posters, unlawful]

The Cincinnati Enquirer, Inc., A Division of Gannet, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 149
[prohibiting U from using company-owned Ee mailboxes to distribute its literature to Ees, violation where E allowed Ees, accredited organizations, and prior U access to the mailboxes]

Specialty Steel Treating, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 067
[violation where valid no-solicitation no-distribution rule was enforced only as to U activities]

Robert Olnick and Lester Fisher, A Co-Partnership Doing Business Under The Trade Name and Style of Fifth Roc Jersey Associates, d/b/a Headquarters Plaza Hotel 276 NLRB No. 096
(rule in Ee handbook that invites Ees to report about any organizing efforts which you know about, violative)

Woodcliff Lake Manor Nursing Home, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 084
(promulgating and maintaining no-solicitation rule in bargaining contract which provided No Ee shall engage in any U activity including distribution of literature which could interfere with performance of work during his working time or in working areas of E's facility at any time, unlawful, since although working time is for work, rule is unlawful as it applied only to U activity)

Uptilt, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 065
(violation, where E removed pro-U signs, in view of absence of E rules against posting of signs, and fact that posting of notices regarding non-U matters was permitted)

University of Richmond 274 NLRB No. 182
(supervisor's telling Ees that she did not want excessive discussion by them while at work, especially about the U, which they could discuss during their breaks, not rule discriminatorily applied against discussion of U, as alleged, since it did not prohibit discussion of U during breaks and only attempted to stop excessive conversation on all subjects while Ees were at their work stations serving customers)

Supermarkets General Corporation d/b/a Hovland-Steinbach-Hochschilds JD-(NY)-59-86
[E warning Ee and threatening to discharge Ee for next offense, unlawful, since motivated by E's belief that Ee had engaged in protected activity of soliciting Ee to sign U authorization card and called another Ee chicken shit for not signing authorization card, notwithstanding Ee did not solicit other Ee to sign card, where warning not pursuant to lawful no solicitation rule in view of fact solicitation allowed for non U purposes, nor did Ee's comments to other Ee remove him from protection of Act inasmuch as it neither amounted to threat nor was it coercive]

5012-5000 Prohibition against union activities enforced discriminatorily

Bruderer, Inc. JD-(SF)-57-86
[E did not disparately enforce rule by prohibiting Ee's U solicitation, notwithstanding contention rule was discriminatorily enforced because other Ees sold articles in plant with E's knowledge, where, prior to U activity, Ee was told to stop such sales when he was supposed to be working; fellow Ee complained to E about Ee's pestering him at work station with U solicitation; enforcement of rule was follow up of previous warnings to Ee about soliciting on company time; and Ee was not prohibited from soliciting for U or anything else on breaks or at lunch time]

Hughes Helicopters, Inc. JD-(SF)-29-86
[imposing disciplinary warning on U adherent, assertedly for infringing presumptively valid no-solicitation rule, violative where E's supervisors overlooked commercial activities among Ees and supervisors during working time]

Restaurant Corporation of America v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 1390 (C.A. D.C., Sept. 1986)
[discharge of Ees held not unlawful enforcement of valid no-solicitation rule, notwithstanding Bd's finding of instances of non-U solicitation that occurred during work time, where Bd's and ALJ's observations of non-U solicitations could not substitute for requisite finding that U and non-U solicitations had substantially equivalent potentials for disruption of work]

Restaurant Corporation of America v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 1390 (C.A. D.C., Sept. 1986)
[non-U solicitations involving intra-Ee generosity designed to express appreciation of fellow Ees on occasions such as birthdays or departures held not substantially equivalent to U solicitation; therefore, E's failure to treat non-U solicitation and U solicitation alike did not constitute discrimination w/i meaning of 8(a)]

5012-5017 Employer antiunion campaign not also limited

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[E's disparate application of no-solicitation rule, including warning to pro-U Ee that he would be fired if he interrupted Ees' work by talking about U, unlawful, where E discriminated in enforcement of rule between U proponents and U opponents by merely reminding Ee soliciting revocation of U authorization cards of no-solicitation rule w/o imposing any kind of discipline, while failing to answer requests of Ees for equal time to solicit in favor of U]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[written warning for attempting to get two Ees to sign U authorization cards while at their work stations, not violation where no-solicitation rule was uniformly enforced, notwithstanding E's use of supervisors to pass out anti-U campaign literature, since no-solicitation rule does not encompass E's situation]

5012-5017—Cont.

N.L.R.B. v. Vought Corporation - MLRS Systems Division 788 F.2d 1378 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1986)

[warning Ee against passing out U information and harassing Ees during working hours, unlawful, where no evidence Ee's solicitation had adverse impact on production, and in view of fact E allowed anti-U committee to solicit on company time]

5012-5039 Advising employees concerning cancellation of check-off authorization

Peoples Gas System, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 075

(E's sending letters to Ees requesting that they inform E of decisions to revoke dues-checkoff authorizations and to resign from U, not violative where bargaining agreements provided for short annual escape period during which Ees could revoke checkoff authorizations and required that notice of revocation must be given to both E and U; further, letters assured Ees that whether they remained U members or resigned would make no difference in terms and conditions of employment; and E was actually responding to Ee inquiries in providing them with information about U resignation)

5012-5800 Bargaining agreement provisions limiting union activities

Indiana Cabinet Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 169

(plant superintendant's telling U chief steward to not solicit union membership on his job not violative since bargaining agreement provided that U agreed not to solicit membership during working time and contract provision was not being challenged as violative of 8(a)(1))

5012-6700 Types of employee activities involved

5012-6712 Distribution of union literature

5012-6712-0100 Generally

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079

[requiring pre-distribution clearance by E of U literature, unlawful]

Tower Clinic 280 NLRB No. 002

[Ees' distribution of literature in E's facility during non-working time and in non-working areas constitutes protected concerted activity provided literature falls w/in scope of Sec. 7 mutual aid or protection clause which is to be interpreted with regard to relationship Ees' activity bears to their working conditions; if found to be protected, and subject to valid rules limiting distribution, Ee literature loses such status only in limited circumstances such as literature containing attacks on E's products or services, material so disruptive as to threaten plant discipline, and malicious falsehoods]

5012-6712-3300 By employees

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046

[supervisor's conduct assertedly in enforcing no distribution rule by confiscating from Ee break room single leaflet announcing U meeting, unlawful, where E had no written policies or established practice prohibiting nonwork related material in plant and, instead, tolerated such material; accordingly, in view of other 8(a)(1) conduct found herein, supervisor confiscated notice because it concerned U matter; moreover, Ees seeing its removal could reasonably perceive that U notices were not allowed in area; and, unlike removal of one notice from stack of notices, removal of single notice interfered with its intended purpose]

Gorham Bronze Textron JD-(ATL)-63-86

[maintaining and enforcing written rule prohibiting both U solicitation during working hours and/or distribution of printed U material on E's premises w/o authorization, violation]

5012-6718 Talking about union activities

Orval Kent Food Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 057

[promulgating, maintaining, and enforcing rule forbidding Ees from discussing unionization when they were working while permitting Ees to discuss other subjects unrelated to work, violative]

Carol Wire & Cable Group, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 111

(E's orally promulgating and enforcing new no-solicitation rule prohibiting Ees from taling about U on company property or company time, violative)

5012-6722 Making statements disparaging employer's business

Radisson Muehlebach Hotel 273 NLRB No. 183

(maintenance of rule proscribing the making of false, vicious or malicious statements about E or its business operations, violative, since merely false utterances and writings of that nature constitute U or protected concerted activity and are unprotected only if shown to be knowingly false and therefore malicious)

5012-6729 Posting notices on bulletin boards or other company property

Roadway Express, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 041

[E's removal of bulletin boards, assertedly because they were being used to publish disparaging and threatening remarks about E's management, violative, since real reason was because Ees used them to post dissident U material where E told one Ee posting strike notices that bulletin boards were for company business only (contrary to 6 years of past practice), told Ee bulletin boards were not to be used for posting strike notices and E eventually removed all bulletin boards after Ees continued posting U material]

Dresser Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 116

[E's prohibition of posting of intro-U dissident literature on E bulletin boards and other posting surfaces violation, where E permitted numerous forms of personal and commercial notices, as well as notices of official U business]

Lassen Community Hospital, A Division of Eskaton Health Corporation, Division of Eskaton 278 NLRB No. 053

[E's requiring Ees to obtain approval before posting notices on bulletin boards concerning U activity, violative, since E enforced rule in discriminatory manner and had no legitimate reason for rule where E allowed personal notices to be posted by Ees w/o approval and told one Ee there would be no problem posting U notices and then threw them away; further, threat to discharge Ee for failure to get prior approval, violative]

Raytheon Missile Systems Division, Raytheon Company 277 NLRB No. 188

[E's refusal to permit posting of flyer regarding party to be sponsored by U and U organizing committee, giving permission to post only 3x5 card, unlawful where, notwithstanding some attempts by E to control use of bulletin boards, actual practice had been to condone general use of bulletin boards, and there were no set restrictions as to size and duration of posting]

Raytheon Missile Systems Division, Raytheon Company 277 NLRB No. 188

[There is, of course, no statutory right for Ees to use E's bulletin boards. But if use of bulletin boards is subject to no set restrictions, and has generally been open to all to post material unrestricted as to size and duration of posting in question, then company may not use either a claim that its policy properly forbids posting in question, nor may it require its permission before posting; to justify finding that property interests of Company are paramont over organizational rights of Ees]

Webb Furniture Enterprises, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 180

(foreman and superintendant asking Ee if he had posted U leaflet, and after Ee had replied affirmatively instructing him to remove leaflet because E did not permit soliciting on company property, unlawful, since E permitted non-U related postings)

St. Paul's Church Home, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 170

(promulgating and/or enforcing rule restricting posting of U-related literature to Ees' break room and requiring written authorization by E for posting at E's facility, unlawful; even assuming E could require authorization prior to posting of notices in specified work areas, such limitation cannot be extended to nonwork area such as Ee lounge; and even assuming restriction antedated organizing campaign and rule was applied uniformly following commencement of campaign, rule was rendered unlawful because motivated by unlawful consideration of thwarting lawful organizational activity)

Roadway Express, Inc. JD-5-86

[E's removal from plant bulletin board of Ee's posted literature detailing negative comments made by ALJ concerning E's involvement in another Bd proceeding, unlawful, where E's enforcement of contractual provision pertaining to posting on bulletin boards was arbitrary]

5012-6735 Prohibition of solicitation and/or distribution of literature during employees' own time on company premises

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136

[describing solicitation and distribution of literature in handbook as areas of behavior which require special attention, violation and interference, notwithstanding absence of stated penalties in handbook, where E indicated that it considered Ees doing either one anywhere on its premises to be misconduct]

Page Avjet, Incorporated 278 NLRB No. 063

[supervisor gathering up U literature from break area at conclusion of break, not unlawful as he was just cleaning up clutter in break area]

5012-6737 Dissemination of information as to names, addresses, wages and phone numbers of employees

American Lebanese Syrian Associated Charities, Inc. d/b/a A.L.S.A.C. 277 NLRB No. 189

[rule prohibiting Ees from discussing salaries amongst themselves, violative]

Certified Grocers of Illinois, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 019

(E announcing rules against disclosure of Ees' names, addresses, and pay and also threatening Ees with discipline for violating these rules, unlawful, since rules are overly broad as this information which was openly available could be useful in organizing campaign and its disclosure would be protected in such event unless information obtained surreptitiously)

5012-6737—Cont.

5012-6762 Meetings or discussions of employees

Southern Maryland Hospital Center 276 NLRB No. 153
(E's president telling two Ees and U organizers in cafeteria, that there was not enough room in cafeteria for them or their damn union meetings, violative)

Saint Joseph Medical Center 276 NLRB No. 053
(E's promulgation of rule revoking permission to conduct meetings in OR lounge by Operating Room Ees Association, violative, where change in rule occurred following increased concerted activity by Ees and organizing attempts by outside U; rule was applied in disparate manner by E allowing parties to be held in lounge after change in rule and E had tolerated meetings by group in lounge for some 15 months w/o complaint by E or complaints about group meetings)

The Meadows East Inc. 275 NLRB No. 181
(rule prohibiting Ees from discussing their paychecks, violative as it unduly restricted Ees' rights to collectively consider and deliberate on common working conditions)

5012-6775 Membership solicitation

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 163
(E's rule prohibiting distribution of scab literature in context of U's efforts to increase its membership, assertedly to keep Ees from fighting in violation of company rules, violative, since such conduct is protected concerted activity in the absence of face-to-face confrontations and other conduct which might be deemed threatening or harrassing, none of which was alleged in instant case)

N.L.R.B. v. Pratt & Whitney Air Craft Division, United Technologies Corporation (Machinist, District 91) 789 F.2d 121 (C.A. 2, Apr. 1986)
[E's prohibiting distribution and posting of scab literature violative where there was no proof demonstrating labor unrest, and scab terminology had been previously accepted and was not shown to implicate safety concerns]

5012-6781 Opposition to incumbent union

Dresser Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 116
[E's prohibition of posting of intro-U dissident literature on E bulletin boards and other posting surfaces violation, where E permitted numerous forms of personal and commercial notices, as well as notices of official U business]

5012-6787 Wearing or otherwise displaying union insignia or signs

Vista Hill Foundation d/b/a Mesa Vista Hospital 280 NLRB No. 027
[suspending Ee for violating rule against wearing insignia, unlawful where rule was overly broad as to location and time]

Government Employees (Office Employees, Local No. 2) 278 NLRB No. 055
[prohibition against wearing Hostage/Striker armbands, violative]

Southern California Edison Company 274 NLRB No. 167
(wearing of button with Stick Your Retro written on it, protected, where saying not obscene, message had little significance to outsider so public image of E not injured and message was clearly related to pending negotiations)

5012-6787-3300 May not be prohibited absent special circumstances

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[no-solicitation rule discouraging wearing of U insignia, unlawful, in absence of some valid showing of special circumstances, since rule impermissibly required prior approval of E before wearing U buttons, and was accompanied by broad proscription which fairly encompassed U buttons]

Vista Hill Foundation d/b/a Mesa Vista Hospital 280 NLRB No. 027
[rule against wearing insignia in working or patient care areas, i.e., all areas of hospital except Ee lounges, parking areas, and cafeteria during scheduled meal hours and when no patients were present, violation as to location and time, since there was no demonstration of potential adverse impact absent showing of Ee-patient contact in all but immediate patient-care areas or of special circumstances where ban was for all working time even for Ees w/o patient contact during much of time]

United Technologies Corporation 279 NLRB No. 135
[E's rule prohibiting large signs or banners...so as to preclude displays intended...to promote a candidacy, organization or product, while expressly permitting display of bumper stickers, window stickers and like material, which rule had the effect of denying an Ee access to E's property to display intra-U campaign material, not violative, since rule was not complete prohibition against the display of U material, E's managerial interest outweighed Ee's Section 7 right and rule was reasonable measure to keep large billboards out of E's parking lot]

Page Avjet Corporation 275 NLRB No. 113
(E's implementing and enforcing new uniform policy prohibiting the wearing of any non-company buttons or patches... on any part of the uniform including the hat, assertedly because E was concerned with its public image, violative, since rule was overbroad and no special circumstances existed to limit Ees' right to wear U insignia, where policy applied to all unit Ees regardless of amount of contact they had with the public; further, U did not waive right to complain by giving E right to establish conditions under which uniforms were to be worn since agreement did not limit what could be worn)

5012-6787-8300 Disparate treatment in display of insignia

United Technologies Corporation 279 NLRB No. 135
[E's rule prohibiting large signs or banners...so as to preclude displays intended...to promote a candidacy, organization or product, while expressly permitting display of bumper stickers, window stickers and like material, which rule had the effect of denying an Ee access to E's property to display intra-U campaign material, not violative, since rule was not complete prohibition against the display of U material, E's managerial interest outweighed Ee's Section 7 right and rule was reasonable measure to keep large billboards out of E's parking lot]

Ona Corporation, A Division of Onan Corporation JD-(ATL)-11-86
(suspension and discharge of Ee for refusing to comply with E's demand that he remove T-shirt with U insignia and other U paraphenalia from his work place, violative, since Ee's action was not insubordinate or proper basis for discipline in view of discrimination inherent in E's demand)

5012-8300 Access of nonemployee union agents denied or limited

5012-8301 Generally

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027
[hotel refusing to permit non-Ee U representatives to continue to handbill for area standards for Ees of one of hotel's suppliers on hotel's private property near its main entrance, not unlawful, since herein E's property rights outweighed U's Section 7 right to inform public regarding lack of area standards, where activity at hotel's entrance increased possibility of theft of luggage, tort liability, and congestion and litter, atmosphere expected by guests violated, hotel had no interest in economic success of E with which U had dispute, nor was there vital link to Ees located on hotel's property]

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027
[in regard to non-Ee U agents right of access to E's property. It is Bd's task to weigh relative strength of each party's claim. If property owner's claim strong one, while U's Sec. 7 right at issue clearly less compelling, property right will prevail. If property claim is tenuous one, and Sec. 7 right clearly more compelling, Sec. 7 right will prevail. Factors which may affect relative strengths or weaknesses of claim of Sec. 7 rights include, but are not limited to, nature of right asserted, purpose for which asserted, relationship of situs to target, intended audience of activity, and manner in which right asserted]

Adams Super Markets Corp. 274 NLRB No. 194
(supermarkets' promulgation of facially valid no solicitation rule prohibiting solicitation or distribution of literature of any kind by any Ee during actual working time of Ee soliciting or Ee being solicited and prohibiting solicitation or distribution on E's property by non-Ees at any time, in new Ee handbook distributed during U campaign, not unlawful, since no solicitation rule published in handbook not new but amplification and clarification of already posted rule and Ee handbook customary place to include no-solicitation rule)

5012-8320 Distribution of literature or solicitation on company property may be prohibited where employees can reasonably be reached through other channels

5012-8320-5000 Adequacy of other channels of access

5012-8320-5001 Generally

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027
[where non-Ee U representative handbilling E's hotel for area standards for Ees of owner of hotel's suppliers on hotel's private property near its main entrance, since E's property rights and U's Sec. 7 rights not relatively equal, it was not necessary to inquire into whether Us had reasonable alternative means of communication]

5012-8320-5033 Mail communication

The Union National Bank of Pittsburgh 276 NLRB No. 013
(E forwarding letters from U addressed to Ees at work at E's branches to E's main office instead of distributing them to Ees, unlawful implementation of discriminatory no distribution rule, where Ees frequently received personal mail at office; E's contentions that by its use of E's Internal Distribution Code on letters, U made E its delivery service and use of E's resources for delivery would violate Sec. 8(a)(2), rejected, since no exposure to liability for one time distribution especially where letters sent directly to branch offices and not sorted in mail room, E's directory not confidential)

5012-8320-5088 Organizational group meetings

Southern Maryland Hospital Center 276 NLRB No. 153
(E's president telling two Ees and U organizers in cafeteria, that there was not enough room in cafeteria for them or their damn union meetings, violative)

5012-8380 Solicitation or distribution in public areas

5012-8380-5000 Health care facilities

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[rule imposing blanket ban on solicitation and distribution throughout the hospital, unlawful, since it was plainly overbroad and unduly restrictive, absent any showing it was reasonably necessary in interests of patient care; failure to define areas of permissible U solicitation understandable to Ees had reasonable tendency to cause Ees to refrain from such activity]

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[no violation where E sought to arrest U organizer for holding meeting in E's parking lot as there was no showing that E had uniformly permitted non-Ees to congregate for any purpose in its parking lot and had singled out U organizer and his organizing effort for police action. Fact E tolerated U organizer's presence along outer periphery of lot did not entitle him to freely pursue his organizing activity freely on premises]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(no-solicitation no-distribution policy, violation and interference where it applied to hospital's main lobby, cafeteria and gift shop, since solicitation and distribution there would not have interfered with patient care, but was not found violation or interference as to corridors, since solicitation or distribution there might have disrupted patient care)

5012-8380-6700 Supermarkets

Adams Super Markets Corp. 274 NLRB No. 194
(supermarkets' promulgation of facially valid no solicitation rule prohibiting solicitation or distribution of literature of any kind by any Ee during actual working time of Ee soliciting or Ee being solicited and prohibiting solicitation or distribution on E's property by non-Ees at any time, in new Ee handbook distributed during U campaign, not unlawful, since no solicitation rule published in handbook not new but amplification and clarification of already posted rule and Ee handbook customary place to include no-solicitation rule)

5012-8380-8300 Restaurants - motels

Hughes Properties, Inc., d/b/a Harolds Club v. N.L.R.B. 758 F.2d 1320 (C.A. 9, Apr. 1985)
(E enforced and maintained overly broad no-solicitation rule which barred (1) any solicitation of Ees during working hours and (2) distribution of literature by Ees during working hours or at any time in areas open to public; when E interrupted discussion of U by off duty Ee with other off duty Ees in public bar adjacent to E's gambling area as bar area held analogous to restaurant in retail store where solicitation of off duty Ees allowed so long as solicitation comports with normal use of facility and is not disruption)

5012-8700 Access to plant while off-duty

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[E instituting new non-access rule for off-duty Ees just for date of R election, violative, where rule not disseminated, limited to election day, U animus, and departure from normal policy showed that purpose of rule was to thwart U activity of off-duty Ees]

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[employment of off-duty deputy sheriffs, in full uniform, to be present at hospital on day before, and day of election for purpose of denying access on election day to off-duty Ees unless coming to vote, to non-Ees other than deliverymen, and to persons visiting patients, not violative, as no showing that deputies interfered with Ees rights. Deputies did not question any individuals about U activities or sentiments, or interfere with their right to vote, or create coercive atmosphere]

N.L.R.B. v. E. I. DuPont De Nemours 750 F.2d 524 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)
(denying access to plant to vacationing Ee who sought access to plant cafeteria, a non-working area, so as to solicit for U and eat lunch with co-workers, violative where E had no rule prohibiting access to off-duty Ees and, until this incident had routinely granted requests for access under rule it did have)

5012-8300 Other rules

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(ordering Ees to remove U buttons as violation of dress code, violation and interference where E allowed Ees to wear other insignia, such as Christmas and Easter pins and football insignia)

Volt Information Sciences, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 047
(rule requiring E's permission for posting of any material on a certain conspicuous bulletin board, not violative where rule resulted from posting of obscene material on that bulletin board and was promulgated prior to E's knowledge of U organizing; also, U materials were allowed to be and were posted on E's other bulletin boards)

High Key Distributing, A Division of House of Kitchens, Ltd. JD-287-86
[maintenance of rule against discussion of wages or hours of employment, violative, despite no evidence that E attempted to enforce rule]

The Martin Brower Company JD-(SF)-63-86
[E's warning deliveryman that further violation of E's rule against deliverymen conversing with E's Ee, not violation where rule was nondiscriminatorily applied, warning was not threat but prediction of possible consequences, and E showed no animus against deliveryman, notwithstanding deliverman had, when employed by E, filed grievance against E and ULP charge and civil suit upon being discharged]

5018 PERMISSION TO USE COMPANY TIME AND PREMISES OR FACILITIES

5018-2500 Use by employee group

Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital 280 NLRB No. 011
[E granting Ees paid time off to attend meeting arranged by anti-U Ees at which E's attorney spoke about decertification and other options open to anti-U Ees, not unlawful, since E had customarily accorded same treatment to Ees attending U meetings]

Southern Maryland Hospital Center 276 NLRB No. 153
(E's president telling two Ees and U organizers in cafeteria, that there was not enough room in cafeteria for them or their damn union meetings, violative)

Saint Joseph Medical Center 276 NLRB No. 053
(E's promulgation of rule revoking permission to conduct meetings in OR lounge by Operating Room Ees Association, violative, where change in rule occurred following increased concerted activity by Ees and organizing attempts by outside U; rule was applied in disparate manner by E allowing parties to be held in lounge after change in rule and E had tolerated meetings by group in lounge for some 15 months w/o complaint by E or complaints about group meetings)

5018-3300 Discriminatory denial of use

Lassen Community Hospital, A Division of Eskaton Health Corporation, Division of Eskaton 278 NLRB No. 053
[E's requiring Ees to obtain approval before posting notices on bulletin boards concerning U activity, violative, since E enforced rule in discriminatory manner and had no legitimate reason for rule where E allowed personal notices to be posted by Ees w/o approval and told one Ee there would be no problem posting U notices and then threw them away; further, threat to discharge Ee for failure to get prior approval, violative]

Raytheon Missile Systems Division, Raytheon Company 277 NLRB No. 188
[E's refusal to permit posting of flyer regarding party to be sponsored by U and U organizing committee, giving permission to post only 3x5 card, unlawful where, notwithstanding some attempts by E to control use of bulletin boards, actual practice had been to condone general use of bulletin boards, and there were no set restrictions as to size and duration of posting]

Raytheon Missile Systems Division, Raytheon Company 277 NLRB No. 188
[There is, of course, no statutory right for Ees to use E's bulletin boards. But if use of bulletin boards is subject to no set restrictions, and has generally been open to all to post material unrestricted as to size and duration of posting in question, then company may not use either a claim that its policy properly forbids posting in question, nor may it require its permission before posting; to justify finding that property interests of Company are paramount over organizational rights of Ees]

5018-6700 Solicitation, collection, circulation, etc., on company time and premises

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[notwithstanding E's no solicitation rule, rule not applied disparately by allowing decertification ptn to circulate as E also allowed solicitations among Ees for charitable and private business purposes. Further, ptn not tainted either as E did not assist in formulation and circulation of ptn]

5018-8300 Wages not deducted for time spent by employees

Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital 280 NLRB No. 011
[E granting Ees paid time off to attend meeting arranged by anti-U Ees at which E's attorney spoke about decertification and other options open to anti-U Ees, not unlawful, since E had customarily accorded same treatment to Ees attending U meetings]

5024 SURVEILLANCE

5024-0100 Generally

The Well-Bred Loaf, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 036
[E's observing that which is plain to see while going about his usual business or activity w/o having deliberately and unobtrusively placed himself in position to spy on his Ees' U activities, not unlawful surveillance or creation of impression of surveillance, nor is it unlawful when it is w/i his business premises during Ees' paid worktime while they should be working]

5024-0100—Cont.

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(supervisor's surveillance of Ees' U meeting; even if motivated by his own curiosity, unlawful)

Borden Inc. JD-(SF)-007-86
[it is tendency to interfere with Ee receipt of U literature which is coercive rather than actual effect of such conduct]

Turnbull Cone Baking Company of Tennessee v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 8 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)
[it is well settled that maintaining surveillance of Ees' U activities is unlawful]

5024-0150 Coercive per se

N.L.R.B. v. Nueva Engineering, Inc. 761 F.2d 961 (C.A. 4, May 1985)
(supervisor's going to place of U meeting for purpose of surveilling meeting and when no meeting occured there, following Ees to home of Ee, violative, notwithstanding contention that since U meeting cancelled Ees not engaged in protected activity, inasmuch as E believed Ees engaged in protected activity and coercive tendency exists whether or not E actually sees U activity. So long as E watches Ecs believed to be engaged in U activities, interference with statutory rights will follow)

5024-1200 Confiscating union cards

Tomco Carburetor Company 275 NLRB No. 001
(directing Ees to turn in their U authorization cards to their foremen, stating they would lose their jobs if they did not do so, violative)

5024-1600 Following employees or organizers

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[security guard following off-duty Ees around premises or closely observing off-duty Ees meeting with U organizers in parking lot and taking notes not unlawful, as his observing Ees and taking notes to report to superiors w/i scope of his duties, and since Ees insisted on holding meeting on E's premises, management and its representatives could lawfully station themselves nearby and observe meeting]

Adams Super Markets Corp. 274 NLRB No. 194
(observation of U organizers with Ee in E's public snackbar and following them outside, not unlawful, since alleged surveillance resulted from Ee openly meeting in E's store with outside U organizers; U representatives and Ees who choose to engage in U activities at E's premises should have no cause to complain that management observes them)

N.L.R.B. v. Nueva Engineering, Inc. 761 F.2d 961 (C.A. 4, May 1985)
(supervisor's going to place of U meeting for purpose of surveilling meeting and when no meeting occured there, following Ees to home of Ee, violative, notwithstanding contention that since U meeting cancelled Ees not engaged in protected activity, inasmuch as E believed Ees engaged in protected activity and coercive tendency exists whether or not E actually sees U activity. So long as E watches Ees believed to be engaged in U activities, interference with statutory rights will follow)

5024-2000 Searching employees, their work stations or lockers

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[supervisor's opening toolbox, which was Ee's personal property, and leafing through U papers inside, violation where there was no reasonable alternative to inferring that supervisor was looking for evidence of Ee's U activity]

5024-2500 Urging employees to inform

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[supervisor's instructing Ee to inform him if anyone approached her about signing U card, unlawful]

Without Reservation 280 NLRB No. 165

Soulnectro Corporation 280 NLRB No. 015
[asking anti-U Ee to keep eye on Ees who were U organizers, make sure they were at their machines and report and straying, unlawful]

Delta Data Systems Corp. 279 NLRB No. 169
[E request that Ee attend U meeting and give E list of Ees attending, violation and election interference]

Woodcliff Lake Hilton Inn, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 146
[E's assistant manager asking Ee to let him know if anyone approached Ees about U, violative]

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110
[E official's asking Ee to attend U meeting, to find out all he could, and to report to official concerning meeting, not unlawful, where Ee did not inform other Ees of official's request before E disavowed official's conduct in clear and unmistakable terms by telling Ee that E had not gotten to point that it needed spies]

T & T Machine Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 139
[asking Ee who had called U? and offering to meet Ee anywhere at anytime to receive information about U organizing drive, adding that such information would enable Ee to keep his job, unlawful]

Larry Chapman, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Farm Boy Food Mart 278 NLRB No. 058
[instructing Ees to report other Ees' efforts to coerce them into signing U authorization cards, violation]

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[supervisor soliciting Ee to conduct surveillance of U activities by joining U supporters and finding out who U leader was so that supervisor could cut his head unlawful]

Eastern Maine Medical Center 277 NLRB No. 151
(E's letter to Ees instructing them to report to it instances in which they were pressured to sign U card held overly broad and unlawful, since letter's statement had potential dual effect on Ees by encouraging them to report to E any U card solicitor who approached them in manner subjectively offensive to solicited Ee and by correspondingly discouraging U solicitors in their protected organizational activities)

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(soliciting Ee to attend U meetings and report on Ec activities, violative)

Ballou Brick Co. 277 NLRB No. 009
(E's posting of rule which asked Ees to report any Ees who interfered or coerced them into signing a U card, violative, since such rule has dual purpose of encouraging Ees to report identity of card solicitors and of discouraging card solicitors in protected activity)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(urging Ees to inform on who was behind U organizing, violative)

Robert Olnick and Lester Fisher, A Co-Partnership Doing Business Under The Trade Name and Style of Fifth Roc Jersey Associates, d/b/a Headquarters Plaza Hotel 276 NLRB No. 096
(rule in Ee handbook that invites Ees to report about any organizing efforts which you know about, violative)

C.O.W. Industries, Inc., Division of Central Ohio Welding Co. 276 NLRB No. 101
(rule in E's handbook which directed Ees to report anyone who causes them trouble or puts them under any pressure to join a U, violative, since rule has potential dual effect of encouraging Ees to report identity of U solicitors and of correspondingly discouraging U solicitors in their protected organizational activities)

So-Cal Products, Inc. d/b/a Eagle Headers 273 NLRB No. 185
(soliciting Ee to inform supervisor regarding other Ees' U activities, violative)

Riverview 5 P's, Inc., t/a Riverview Inn JD-54-86
[asking Ees to furnish E with names of Ees who were trying to organize U or were its supporters, unlawful]

The Limited, Inc. JD-264-85
(E's posting notice and giving speeches to Ees telling them that they should inform E if they are put under pressure to join U and inviting or encouraging Ees to report identity of U supporters, violative)

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)
[provision in handbook stating that Ees had right to join or not join U and requesting that they report any attempt to coerce them into signing U authorization cards, not violation where provision was modified to omit request, and there was no evidence of coercion by original rule or Ee ignorance of modification]

5024-3300 Photographing employees

15th Avenue Iron Works, Inc., and Ahlat Builders and Management Corp. 279 NLRB No. 091
[E taking picture of U official in presence of Ees, and pointing camera at Ees, unlawful, even if no pictures taken of Ees as coercive effect of ostensible picture taking is still present]

Tyler Distribution Centers, Inc. JD-(NY)-21-86
[E's photographing pickets, violative, where E gave no justification for doing so]

Baker Manufacturing Company v. N.L.R.B. 759 F.2d 1219 (C.A. 5, May 1985)
(photographing U adherents on day after they began wearing U badges in response to E's termination of two prominent U supporters and following Ees meeting with general manager at which, having been informed of their organizing efforts, he had told them that, if they didn't like the way he ran the company, the door was big enough for them all to go through, violative, notwithstanding E's contention that photographs were for company promotional purposes)

5024-3500 Televising or videotaping employees

Bozzuto's, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 100
(videotaping pickets, not violation, since E had legitimate reason to do so because recent strikes had involved violence to E's property and Ees)

The Limited, Inc. JD-264-85
(videotaping U's handbilling activities, assertedly in order to protect property and to gather evidence for inj against what reasonably could have been secondary activity, violative where E failed to show any background situation that would warrant videotaping)

General Electric Company JD-(ATL)-34-85
(E's observance of parking lot and its video taping portion of that surveillance, not violative even if Ees had been engaging in U activities in parking lot at time they were video taped, where E established that it had legitimate purpose for having security cameras at its facilities, cameras were installed long before advent of U, and supervisor who observed lot did so on occasion in question at request of Ee who feared she would be harassed as she left company property)

5024-3700 Creating impression of surveillance

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[since E has right to determine when Ees report back to work from break periods, informing Ees that E is doing so is therefore not unlawful; however, informing Ees not only that E was determining time when Ees returned with intent to fire Ees who came back late, but also that E was doing so because of U, held unlawful threat to discharge Ees because of U activities but not to constitute act of creating unlawful impression of surveillance]

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[supervisor's statement to Ee, day after U meeting was held in Ee's home, be careful; they know, not unlawful, since statement contained no threat to discharge Ees because of their U activities and did not create unlawful impression of surveillance; supervisor, friendly with Ees, and low-level supervisor, was merely stating well-known information; and management knew about Ees' attempt to unionize]

A/Z Electric, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 057
[E's president's statements to Ees that he had heard from someone that there was talk of E going union, violative]

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003
[supervisor informing Ee that there would be someone soliciting signatures on U solicitation cards, and that Ee should not sign because U had nothing to offer did not unlawfully create impression of surveillance, where Ee was only Ee spoken to and person soliciting not identified, since such generalized statements to Ees which are not directed to any Ee's organizing activities are not sufficient to create impression of surveillance; further, Ee addressed had already signed U card and R ptns had been filed]

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003
[impression not created where supervisor informed Ee that he could not give her a raise because of U activity, since such generalizations with reference to ongoing U activity does not create impression of surveillance]

Bridgeway Oldsmobile, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 165
[E's announcement of rule prohibiting Ees from gathering in groups only 2 weeks after U's demand for recognition, violative; even though E proferred that rule was imposed because customers were being neglected and one Ee did testify that such a thing could happen, timing of rule and E's unremitting opposition to U justify finding Ees' U activities were under surveillance]

Inner City Broadcasting Corporation 281 NLRB No. 162
[E unlawfully created impression of surveillance by telling Ee that his spies informed him that Ee and 2 other Ees had not signed Ee ptn seeking ouster of U]

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[E unlawfully created impression of surveillance by calling Ee into his office, asking him how U meeting had gone previous day, and telling him that E knew some 36 Ees had signed U cards]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[supervisor's dubbing of one Ee as U president and another as shop steward held not to have created impression of surveillance where Ees engaged in open and active support for U, and supervisor referred to them in such manner as a joke]

Wilco Business Forms, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 154
[supervisor's statements to Ee that the Company knows who the ringleaders of the U are and that the Company knows that they are the senior people on the third-shift held violative, since those statements created impression that organizational activities of Ees were under surveillance by E]

Without Reservation 280 NLRB No. 165
[telling Ee that E would find out about U activity, that E knew which Ees were U supporters, and showing Ee a list of names with check marks designating which Ees E believed were for U, violation]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's assertion to Ee that he had received information of Ee's distribution of U literature from reliable but unidentified source held unlawful since it left clear impression that Ee's U activities were under surveillance, where there was no evidence that Ee handbilled openly or that he ever dealt with handbills in presence of any supervisor or agent]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor in relating to Ee that supervisor had received reports about Ees, which might have included Ee herein, driving toward U meeting held to have unlawfully created impression of surveillance]

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 039
[supervisor's questioning Ee about soliciting his fellow Ees and supervisor's remark that his boss wanted to know what he (Ee) was doing, not violative, and did not create impression of surveillance, since questioned Ee was known supporter of dissident U group, there was no impression of surveillance to create]

The Well-Bred Loaf, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 036
[E's observing that which is plain to see while going about his usual business or activity w/o having deliberately and unobtrusively placed himself in position to spy on his Ees' U activities, not unlawful surveillance or creation of impression of surveillance, nor is it unlawful when it is w/i his business premises during Ees' paid worktime while they should be working]

Springs, Inc. d/b/a Springs Motel 280 NLRB No. 033
[supervisor's declaring to Ee that there was not enough U cards signed for E to be subject to U representation, and giving estimates of card signing in various departments created unlawful impression of surveillance inasmuch as demonstrated to Ee that E was keeping tabs on U sentiment among Ees in various departments and Ees could thus reasonably assume their U activities were under surveillance]

Lucky Stores, Inc. d/b/a Gemco 279 NLRB No. 153
[no unlawful impression of surveillance was created where Ee met with U representative in open area outside pickup area on E's premises in front of security desk, and Ee testified that he knew that security guard had observed his conversation with U representative; therefore, it would be unreasonable for Ee to assume that E learned about his meeting with U representative through surveillance]

Gull, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 127
[although interference restraint and coercion under 8(a)(1) do not depend upon motive or whether supervisor was on friendly or unfriendly terms with Ee, no violation found where putative supervisor's warning to Ee engaged in U activities allegedly creating impression of surveillance that E knew about U and U activities and that E watch himself was anything other than friendly suggestion not reasonably tending to interfere with Ee's free exercise of his statutory rights]

La Reina, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 103
[telling Ee that E's officials knew who started U activity and informants had told them what happened at U meetings, violation]

La Reina, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 103
[telling Ees at meeting that E was aware of in-plant U activity, not violation]

Stop N' Go Inc. 279 NLRB No. 052
[store manager's telling Ee of U's approach to Ee's daughter and other Ees and of one Ee's joining U, violation]

Raytheon Missile System Division, Raytheon Company 279 NLRB No. 035
[E's statement to U adherent that We heard who started this Union thing not violative where there were no circumstances present which made statement more than mere acknowledgement of Ee's activities]

United Electrical & Mechanical, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 034
[supervisor's telling Ees that he knew who union guys were and leading each Ee to whom he was speaking to believe not only that he knew who organizers were but even their activities were known to him, violative]

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[supervisor's stating to Ee that she knew who had signed U cards held unlawful creation of impression of surveillance]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[supervisors' telling certain Ees respectively that E knew they were organizing or supported U or believed they were attempting to organize because of prior service as U president, and knew Ee was U member because he hung around with U leaders, not violation where supervisors merely told Ees that they had observed certain conduct and associations occurring openly at workplace, and Ees involved openly advocated U and wore U insignia at work]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[telling Ee that E knew he was one of U leaders, violation and interference, notwithstanding Ee wore U insignia, where many Ees did so, and wearing U insignia did not designate Ee as leader of U organizing]

Olympic Limousine Service, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 133
[security guard telling U supporter that he was hired to watch Ee work, violative]

5024-3700—Cont.

Roseburg Lumber Company 278 NLRB No. 124
[supervisor's statement that he heard Ee went to U meeting violation, notwithstanding Ee was open U supporter, where meeting was away from E premises and unrelated to Ee's U activities at work]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[no unlawful or objectionable impression of surveillance created by foreman's statement that he had heard U meetings were not well attended and that U had collected 500 cards or by supervisor's remarking on Ee's open distribution of leaflets and commenting that he was disappointed in Ee]

Page Avjet, Incorporated 278 NLRB No. 063
[supervisor informing Ee that he had heard Ee was passing out U authorization cards did not constitute surveillance nor create impression of surveillance, where supervisor had received report that Ee had been soliciting authorization cards during work time and informed Ee of this report when inquiring about solicitation of cards]

Quality Aluminum Products, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 049

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[impression created where E's president informed Ees he might attend U meeting and warranted setting aside of election]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[test in determining whether E created impression of surveillance is whether Ees would reasonably assume from E's statement in that regard that their U activities have been placed under surveillance]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[E's remark to U activist that E had heard Ee was a cord carrier held not to cause Ee to believe E had placed his U activities under surveillance; while E's remark reflected strong suspicion that Ee was U activist, evidence showed that E might have received word of Ee's U activity from information supplied by Ees or supervisors, w/o resort to surveillance of Ee's U activity]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's questioning pro-U Ee how U meetings were going at his home and then, in response to Ee's denial of such meetings, stating that supervisor knew that such was the case held to give Ee impression that his U activity was under surveillance; fact that supervisor and Ee had social relationship did not reduce coercive effect of his remarks where they were not accompanied by levity or evidence of friendship]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(telling Ees that coordinators had been instructed to watch for anyone who was soliciting or was involved with the U, violation and interference)

Studio S.J.T., Limited 277 NLRB No. 126
(E's giving impression that someone was reporting Ees' conduct to it and, in fact, giving impression that reports were dangerously inaccurate in that Ees were being seen as saboteurs rather than as U organizers, violative and indepdently coercive)

Tasty Frozen Products of Kansas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 094
(impression not created by E vice president's statement that he knew U advocate had been over to house where other Ees lived, and inference was reasonable that somebody had just reported that fact to vice president)

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(impression of surveillance created by E's owner asking Ees who were on coffee break what they were doing and stating U adherent was making mess of job and was working for U's business manager rather than for E and that U's business manager gave him fucking again, unlawful)

Marion Center Supply, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 026

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor's conspicuously staring at U buttons worn by Ees not violative where U activity was open and ongoing at work site; subjective feelings of Ees were not sufficient to sustain such allegation)

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(violation, where supervisor, in front of group of Ees, expressed interest in receiving information about U meetings and then joined Ee in his office)

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor's telling Ee I understand you guys are trying to form U, violative since Ee then stood revealed as U activist; statement implied surveillance as source of information and thus created impression)

Grancs, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(supervisor's truthful statement to Ee that another Ee had reported he was going to U meeting held, w/o more, no basis for conclusion that E thereby attempted to or did create impression of surveillance)

McLean Roofing Company 276 NLRB No. 093
(E's president's indicating to Ee that he had meant of finding out who was behind U activity, asking Ee about U meeting next day, and presence near U hall, created unlawful impression of surveillance)

Brocal Corp. d/b/a Alert Medical Transport 276 NLRB No. 066
]—people told me exactly—what was going on down there. (U meeting) when said by supervisor to U adherent, violative)

Brocal Corp. d/b/a Alert Medical Transport 276 NLRB No. 066
(not created by U adherent's fellow E posting notice of U meeting on E's bulletin board)

Pioneer Hotel and Gambling Hall, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 072
(supervisor's statement to Ee that owner of hotel and casino operation knew that someone in kitchen by specified first name was passing out U cards, that someone upstairs thought Ee was involved in U activities, and that E could obtain knowledge of people who signed cards unlawfully created impression of surveillance of U activity)

Gatliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 060

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(E unlawfully created impression of surveillance by asking Ee if he had gone to U meeting the night before and, upon Ee's denial, signifying approval of Ee's conduct)

Budget Rent A Car of Washington, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 032
(E's remarking to Ee that it was aware of Ees' U activities, not violative where stray remark came in course of noncoercive talk with Ee indicating E's awareness of that which was plain to see and evident to all)

The Union National Bank of Pittsburgh 276 NLRB No. 013
(supervisor answering telephone call from one Ee to another Ee at work and asking Ee calling if call was about U activities, and if there was big turnout at party given by U, constituted unlawful interrogation and created impression of surveillance, where Ee questioned was not open and active U supporter; further, questioning occured against background of Ee concern that E would learn who supported U, and Ee's concern her own supervisor would learn of her U adherence, conversation not initiated by Ee, and absent any legitimate reason for questioning or assurance against reprisal)

The Union National Bank of Pittsburgh 276 NLRB No. 013
(impression of surveillance created and Ee unlawfully threatened with unspecified reprisal, where E's assistant vice-president informed Ee that he heard U had held party, that Ees' U activities were causing ruckus, and that she had better watch herself)

PYA/Monarch, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 167
(no impression of surveillance created where manager informed Ee that he knew Ee was for U, where Ee's U activities were open and well known)

PYA/Monarch, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 167
(operations manager informing Ee that he knew Ee was against U created impressin of surveillance, where Ee's U sentiments were not well known)

Genwal Coal Co., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 077
(none created where no overt (anti-U) threat was made and reference made by supervisor as to where he heard about Ees' organizing activities was to particular restaurant, which is a public place)

Bonanza Sirloin Pit 275 NLRB No. 54
(E's telling Ees that he had planted 2 or 3 spies at U meeting, violative)

Tomco Carburetor Company 275 NLRB No. 001
(showing Ee a list of Ees who had enlisted in the union while keeping source of information secret created unlawful impression of surveillance)

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 056
(created when supervisor told Ee that their had been U meeting attended by 25 nurses from various units in hospital, and again when supervisor told same Ee names of nurses active in organizing campaign)

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 056
(while supervisor's remark to Ee that she knew that certain other Ees were involved in organizing created impression of surveillance, it was not unlawful interrogation as no evidence to support conclusion that remark made to elicit response from Ee to confirm supervisor's suspicions about other Ees as organizing was openly taking place)

Roskin Brothers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 053
(Ee's comments to other Ees who were U supporters that, we know what's going on and we're going to fix that, violative, notwithstanding fact Ee was not a supervisor, since Ee was placed by management in strategic position where Ees could reasonably believe he spoke on its behalf where Ee was used by E to relay messages and instructions to Ees and was correctly perceived as management's right-hand man who spoke for management in its absence)

C. M. Carpenter, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Carpenter Trucking 274 NLRB No. 046
(impression created where E posted seniority list soon after U meeting at which Ees had discussed possible use of seniority system, notwithstanding Ees drew no connection between posting of list and discussion at U meeting)

Haynes Motor Lines, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 221
(impression created when E told Ees it knew which Ees were responsible for initiating U organizing campaign and aware of which Ees pushing U)

So-Cal Products, Inc. d/b/a Eagle Headers 273 NLRB No. 185
(creating impression of surveillance by telling Ee supervisor knew where U meeting was held, violative)

5024-3700—Cont.

Ausable Communications, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 166
(impression created by supervisor telling Ees that E was aware of U activity going on because Ee who attended U meeting turned in 4 page report describing what went on)

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86
[supervisor informing Ee that he had given E list of Ees at U meeting in order to save his job after E found out about his involvement with U, unlawful, since created impression of surveillance]

Ben Susan Restaurant Corp. d/b/a The Blue Note JD-(NY)-92-86
[E's statement, I know which girls are doing what in the club, violative]

B & W Machine & Welding Company JD-(SF)-107-86
[E unlawfully created impression of surveillance by declaring in conversation with Ee that he had influence with U which led to his ascertaining identity of U supporters who were terminated]

Art Bridges Pontiac JD-(SF)-118-86
[no unlawful impression of surveillance created by supervisor writing down names of Ees who, according to Ee, had signed U cards, where supervisor didn't state what he was going to do with list of names, and absent evidence individuals named were subjected to unlawful treatment or of U animus on part of E]

Cassidy Cleaning, Inc. JD-239-86
[E unlawfully created impression of surveillance by stating to Ees at meeting that U representatives had informed E who had signed authorization cards and that E knew who was going to vote for U, and by identifying Ee who had attended U meeting]

Warehouse Supermarkets of Arizona, Inc., d/b/a Warehouse Foods JD-(SF)-101-86
[E held to have unlawfully created impression of surveillance by telling Ee names of Ees who attended U meeting and identifying location where meeting was held]

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[informing Ees that E knew which Ees had distributed U authorization cards and who had engaged in U activities and telling supervisor in Ee's presence that E knew identity of all U supporters, violation]

Riverview 5 P's, Inc., t/a Riverview Inn JD-54-86
[impression of unlawful surveillance created by E's statements that it knew Ee was for U, who U ringleaders were, where U meetings were held, and that it would be able to learn how Ees voted in upcoming election; also, by identifying Ees by name in connection with U, intimating to Ees that it had means of identifying U activity of Ees because it would find out who started U, telling Ee it knew of her specific U activity, and telling Ee and others how it would learn of their U activities]

The Evening News Association JD-24-86
[impression not created here supervisor informed Ee others thought she was behind U organizing drive, where Ee had previously voluntarily revealed her U sympathies]

Mobile Concrete, Inc. JD-453-84
(plant superintendent's telling Ee that he knew exactly how many U authorization cards were signed, who had signed them, and that he hoped they would be taken care of, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Norbar, Inc. 752 F.2d 235 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)
(manager's telling Ees that he knew who organizers of the U were and who had started the g.d. union, violative)

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)
[plant superintendent's asking one Ee about another Ee's U activities, requesting information about them, and saying we'll take care of second Ee's activities, insufficient, in isolation, to support finding of threat of discipline or discharge, but substantially supportive of finding of request to engage in surveillance, especially where manager asked another Ee what he had heard about U activity and requested that he keep his ears open]

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)
[supervisor's asking Ee if he had gone to U meeting at tavern and saying he had driven by to see who was there by looking at the cars, naming some of Ees present, and asking Ee who else was there, violation]

5024-3900 Surveillance of union organizers

15th Avenue Iron Works, Inc., and Abitat Builders and Management Corp. 279 NLRB No. 091
[E taking picture of U official in presence of Ees, and pointing camera at Ees, unlawful, even if no pictures taken of Ees as coercive effect of ostensible picture taking is still present]

Indiana Desk Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 165
(guards hired by E stationing themselves near motel where U representatives were staying during strike so that they could observe parking lot where representatives parked their cars, and where they could observe hotel rooms occupied by representatives engaged in unlawful surveillance)

Rockne L. Alexander, Rockne Alexander, II, Debrah Nelson, Douglas Nelson and Tami DeGeorgis, d/b/a Alexander Packaging Co. JD-(SF)-5-86
[E's general partners' intruding themselves at place where Ees were having meeting after work with their U representative, w/o justifying their presence with explanation, and at time senior partner was known to be just outside building, violative]

5024-4100 Surveillance of union handbilling or picketing

Hoschton Garment Company, A Subsidiary of Spencer Industries, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 081
[monitoring U handbilling on E's property and attempting to evict trespassing U representatives, no violation, since E's attempts to evict were exercise of legitimate proprietory prerogative and E representatives' presence at handbilling was part and parcel of permissible effort to evict]

Hoschton Garment Company, A Subsidiary of Spencer Industries, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 081
[watching U handbilling on public property advacent to E's plant and attempting to restrict U representatives from handbilling, unlawful]

Southwire Company 277 NLRB No. 043
(Director of E's corporate Labor Relations observing Ees as they passed out U literature at plant gate, not violative, since Ees were conducting their (U) activities in open and on or near company premises)

Mars Super Markets, Inc. JD-19-86
[E security guards sitting in vehicle near company parking lot gate where organizers were handbilling, not violation where handbilling was in full view of permanent guard post near gate, guards routinely patrolled parking lot, guards' presence on this occasion was legitimate and unrelated to handbilling, and there was no evidence of anti-U animus on part of E]

5024-4133 Photographing

15th Avenue Iron Works, Inc. JD-(NY)-141-84
(photographing U official alone and meeting with Ees, violative; E's contentions that it photographed only the U agent did not minimize intimidating effect on Ees of having camera pointed at them, and E did not prove, as contended, that it had legitimate purpose in photographing U agent)

5024-4150 Note taking

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[security guard following off-duty Ees around premises or closely observing off-duty Ees meeting with U organizers in parking lot and taking notes not unlawful, as his observing Ees and taking notes to report to superiors w/i scope of his duties, and since Ees insisted on holding meeting on E's premises, management and its representatives could lawfully station themselves nearby and observe meeting]

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084
[E's security-guards' recording automobile license numbers of Ees who accepted U literature being distributed and who had U bumper stickers on their cars, violation]

Programming & Systems, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 157
(E engaged in proscribed surveillance where, in plain view of a unit Ee, faculty director of E watched from school window as students protested discharge of 2 teachers for U activity, wrote down names of teachers observing protesters and delivered written list unfolded to E's president; no suggestion that E routinely kept notes of teachers activities; no cause shown for taking such notes)

5024-4167 Observation by supervisors

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084
[E's security guards' observation of Ees' handbilling at gate to E's premises neither violative nor objectionable where area was open to public]

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 039
[supervisor's questioning Ee about soliciting his fellow Ees and supervisor's remark that his boss wanted to know what he (Ee) was doing, not violative, and did not create impression of surveillance, since questioned Ee was known supporter of dissident U group, there was no impression of surveillance to create]

Harry M. Stevens, Inc., A/K/A Harry M. Stevens Services, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 031
(E's supervisors did not engage in unlawful surveillance of Ees' U activities by approaching Ee who had just received U card, taking the card from him and returning it to Ee who had solicited cards in public area, since it was common for supervisors to be in public areas and fact that Ee distributed cards in full public view gives him no right to complain that E has observed him)

5024-4167—Cont.

Programming & Systems, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 157
(E engaged in proscribed surveillance where, in plain view of a unit Ee, faculty director of E watched from school window as students protested discharge of 2 teachers for U activity, wrote down names of teachers observing protesters and delivered written list unfolded to E's president; no suggestion that E routinely kept notes of teachers activities; no cause shown for taking such notes)

5024-5000 Professional espionage

5024-5050 Agency employed (Industrial Espionage)

Indiana Desk Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 165
(guards hired by E stationing themselves near motel where U representatives were staying during strike so that they could observe parking lot where representatives parked their cars, and where they could observe hotel rooms occupied by representatives engaged in unlawful surveillance)

5024-5400 Surveillance of employees at work

Bridgeway Oldsmobile, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 165
[E's announcement of rule prohibiting Ees from gathering in groups only 2 weeks after U's demand for recognition, violative; even though E proferred that rule was imposed because customers were being neglected and one Ee did testify that such a thing could happen, timing of rule and E's unremitting opposition to U justify finding Ees' U activities were under surveillance]

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084
[supervisor's surveilling leading U adherent to get enough to fire him, and first shift supervisors' surveilling third shift Ees where there were suspected U adherents and activities, violations]

Harry M. Stevens, Inc., A/K/A Harry M. Stevens Services, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 031
(E's supervisors did not engage in unlawful surveillance of Ees' U activities by approaching Ee who had just received U card, taking the card from him and returning it to Ee who had solicited cards in public area, since it was common for supervisors to be in public areas and fact that Ee distributed cards in full public view gives him no right to complain that E has observed him)

5024-5700 Surveillance of employees in break area

Choctawhatchee Electric Cooperative, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 084
(presence of supervisor in breakroom in morning while decertification ptn was being circulated among Ees, not violative where supervisors frequently used breakroom in morning to give out assignments and supervisor had work assignments to give out)

5024-5800 Supervisors instructed to observe and report union activity or membership

Best Western Motor Inn 281 NLRB No. 026
[asking supervisors to find out who troublemakers or instigators of U campaign were found unlawful request for supervisors to surveil and gather information about Ees' U activities but insufficient to support finding of unlawful request to interrogate Ees]

Resistance Technology, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 117
[E's ordering supervisor to conduct unlawful interrogation not independent violation, although disclosure to Ees of the instruction is violation; overrules Cannon Electric Co., 151 NLRB 1465 (1965)]

5024-6000 Attendance at union meeting

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110
[E official's asking Ee to attend U meeting, to find out all he could, and to report to official concerning meeting, not unlawful, where Ee did not inform other Ees of official's request before E disavowed official's conduct in clear and unmistakable terms by telling Ee that E had not gotten to point that it needed spies]

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 166
(asking Ee about level of attendance at U meeting, unlawful, since it was clear signal to Ee that E had U activities under surveillance)

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(supervisor's surveillance of Ees' U meeting; even if motivated by his own curiosity, unlawful)

Morning Star International, Inc. JD-209-86
[E's defense to alleged surveillance of U meeting on ground that, even if individual involved was agent of E, she was invited to meeting by Ee-organizer, rejected; while invitations to attend U meetings have defeated allegations of surveillance, individual did not attend meeting at all but stayed outside surveilling Ees as they gathered at U's meeting place and such conduct was not w/i scope of invitation as Ees assuredly knew]

Morning Star International, Inc. JD-209-86
[E held responsible for Ee's surveillance of U meeting where, during 6-week period, Ee had substituted daily for absent supervisor in such manner that Ees would necessarily conclude that Ee was in position to act on behalf of management, and context in which Ee's surveillance occurred would lead Ees to believe she had hostile purpose of spying and informing on behalf of E, which conclusion was correct; and E did nothing to disavow or repudiate Ee's conduct]

Rockne L. Alexander, Rockne Alexander, II, Debrah Nelson, Douglas Nelson and Tami DeGeorgis, d/b/a Alexander Packaging Co. JD-(SF)-5-86
[E's general partners' intruding themselves at place where Ees were having meeting after work with their U representative, w/o justifying their presence with explanation, and at time senior partner was known to be just outside building, violative]

5024-6300 Surveillance away from work

Indiana Desk Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 165
(guard hired by E violated Act by keeping striker's residence under surveillance)

Indiana Desk Company, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 165
(guards hired by E engaged in unlawful surveillance when in restaurant with strikers, guards would motion and watch strikers and talk on their radios)

5024-6600 Observation or ascertainment of employees' meeting or place of meetings

Dandridge Textile, Inc., Ronald W. Woods, Individually and As Officer and Managing Agent 279 NLRB No. 015
[surveillance of U meeting, violative, notwithstanding Ees attending meeting were not immediately aware of surveillance]

Western Yarns, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 073
(E's personnel director's placing himself in position to observe U meeting, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Nueva Engineering, Inc. 761 F.2d 961 (C.A. 4, May 1985)
(supervisor's going to place of U meeting for purpose of surveilling meeting and when no meeting occured there, following Ees to home of Ee, violative, notwithstanding contention that since U meeting cancelled Ees not engaged in protected activity, inasmuch as E believed Ees engaged in protected activity and coercive tendency exists whether or not E actually sees U activity. So long as E watches Ees believed to be engaged in U activities, interference with statutory rights will follow)

5024-7100 Observation of employees meeting with union representatives

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[security guard following off-duty Ees around premises or closely observing off-duty Ees meeting with U organizers in parking lot and taking notes not unlawful, as his observing Ees and taking notes to report to superiors w/i scope of his duties, and since Ees insisted on holding meeting on E's premises, management and its representatives could lawfully station themselves nearby and observe meeting]

Adams Super Markets Corp. 274 NLRB No. 194
(observation of U organizers with Ee in E's public snackbar and following them outside, not unlawful, since alleged surveillance resulted from Ee openly meeting in E's store with outside U organizers; U representatives and Ees who choose to engage in U activities at E's premises should have no cause to complain that management observes them)

5024-7300 Compiling lists of union activists and sympathizers

Art Bridges Pontiac JD-(SF)-118-86
[no unlawful impression of surveillance created by supervisor writing down names of Ees who, according to Ee, had signed U cards, where supervisor didn't state what he was going to do with list of names, and absent evidence individuals named were subjected to unlawful treatment or of U animus on part of E]

5024-7500 Warning employees that union activities were being spied on

Page Avjet, Incorporated 278 NLRB No. 063
[supervisor informing Ee that he had heard Ee was passing out U authorization cards did not constitute surveillance nor create impression of surveillance, where supervisor had received report that Ee had been soliciting authorization cards during work time and informed Ee of this report when inquiring about solicitation of cards]

5024-9900 Other

Bonanza Sirloin Pit 275 NLRB No. 54
(maintaining list of E's Ees who appeared to vote in Bd-conducted R election, violative)

5030 INTERROGATION CONCERNING UNION ATTITUDE, MEMBERSHIP, OR ACTIVITIES (See also 512- 5048)

5030-0100 Generally

3030-0100—Cont.

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035
[in evaluating whether interrogations violate the Act, Bd will inquire whether under all the circumstances the interrogation reasonably tends to restrain, coerce or interfere with Ees' rights guaranteed by the Act; Bd will not apply per se approach but rather, will make a case-by-case analysis which takes into account the circumstances surrounding an alleged interrogation and does not ignore the reality of the workplace]

Reistance Technology, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 117
[E's ordering supervisor to conduct unlawful interrogation not independent violation, although disclosure to Ees of the instruction is violation; overrules Cannon Electric Co., 151 NLRB 1465 (1965)]

3030-0125 Coercive circumstances

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[supervisor's calling Ee into his office and making comments about U reasonably claculated to elicit response from Ee held unlawful interrogation; fact that Ees casually intered and left supervisor's office did not diminish coercive impact of Ee's being called in to office and confronted with supervisor's displeasure with U activities, which was readily apparent to Ee]

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[supervisor's asking Ee what he thought about U and, in response to Ee's comment that something needed to be done to improve working conditions, handing Ee state publication indicating Ees could not collect unemployment benefits while on strike, not unlawful, where encounter occurred on shop floor, involved low-level supervisor, and contained no threatening language]

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[conversations during which supervisor asked Ee why she had not been invited to U meeting and on another occasion asking if Ee was going to U meeting, not unlawful, where supervisor and Ee were good friends, supervisor's comments did not contain any threats, and he attempted to assuage Ee's fears that she would lose her job if she attended U meeting]

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003
[supervisor asking Ee if he knew anything about U, to which Ee replied No, but subsequently admitted that he was paid U organizer after E assured him he could keep his job, unlawful, since circumstances coercive where following Ee's admission he was paid U organizer, supervisor informed Ee he would get him for this]

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[plant manager's questioning Ee about how he felt about U unlawful, where manager did not state any lawful purpose for interrogations and gave no assurances against reprisal but, instead, stated that E would not tolerate U and that forming U would be mistake]

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[plant manager's asking Ee if he had signed U card, to which Ee gave noncommital answer even though he had done so, unlawful, where there was no lawful purpose for question and no assurances against reprisal given by manager, nor was there any evidence that conversation was friendly exchange; and manager, high management official, initiated conversation]

United Artists Communications, Inc., Operating Capri Theatre 280 NLRB No. 119

Bennit Division, U.S. Tubular, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 083
[asking Ee about U's organizational campaign, violation where accompanied by threat of job loss if Ee did not take it easy with his U activities]

J & B Smith Company, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 057
[asking Ee who was passing out U cards why he wanted U and which Ees were assisting him, violation where, when Ee replied only he was distributing cards, E reamed him out and threatened to lock him up]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's assertion to Ee that supervisor was questioning everybody whether they had been approached by U, required response from Ee which, if truthful, could reveal Ee's U contacts or possibly U sympathy, and therefore assertion, though not in form of question, constituted unlawful interrogation, particularly when coupled with supervisor's request that Ee report U contacts that Ee considered bothersome, which supervisor did not limit to workplace nor to threatening and intimidating solicitations, thereby invoking standard so vague as to invite reports of legitimate albeit perhaps insistent solicitations]

The Well-Bred Loaf, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 036
[supervisor's asking Ees who had not openly declared support of U which Ees had participated in U activity which had signed U cards, and whether they had spoken to U organizer accompanied by warning not to sign U card and repetition of owner's threat to discharge all U activists, violation]

Trover Clinic 280 NLRB No. 002
[supervisor's questioning why U button, not unlawful, where question was clearly rhetorical in nature, rather than one intended to elicit information; question was posed in Ee's office amidst Ee banter, and it elicited honest response; and there was no indication that incident had coercive impact on Ee or anyone else]

Lucky Stores, Inc. d/b/a Gemco 279 NLRB No. 153
[manager's interrogation of Ee concerning his U activities, unlawful, notwithstnading claimed social or friendly relationship between the two, since mere existence of such relationship, of itself, does not automatically nullify coercive effect of otherwise unlawful remarks; discussion, conducted in manager's office principally to issue warning notices to Ee, was business-oriented, rather than social, and demonstrated manager's economic power over Ee who received no assurance of no reprisals and became apprehensive as result of manager's remarks; and claimed personal relationship was not established]

Continental Industries, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 130
[interrogation' of Ee who was active and open U adherent, having handed out U cards and literature and been seen doing so by management, regarding his feelings about U and what he thought U could do for Ees, not violative under Rossmore House 269 NLRB 1176, inasmuch as questioning of open and active U supporters about their U sentiments not coercive absent threats or promises of benefits]

United States Steel Corporation 279 NLRB No. 004
[supervisor asking Ee who had been subpoened to testify at hearing on alleged unlawful refusal to transfer grievance chairman, to refresh his recollection as to conversation they had had regarding grievance chairman's request for transfer, and when Ee's recollection differed from his, reiterating own version w/o assurances against reprisal, unlawful, since in these circumstances supervisor's remarks were coercive]

United Cloth Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 088
[interrogation of Ee concerning her feelings about U, not coercive or unlawful, where Ee was open and active U adherent, and interrogation was not accompanied by threats]

Precision Founders, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 084
[supervisor's remark not violation, notwithstanding it was designed to elicit response about U campaign, where it was conversational gambit, rather than direct inquiry of particular Ee in formal interview]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[asking Ee day before election why he supported U and whether it could give raises, not violation where Ee was open and active U adherent, who wore U button and passed out U leaflets and cards on E's premises, and surrounding circumstances were not coercive]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[interrogating found violative, notwithstanding it was of U supporter, where it was done in context of coercive statements of E's readiness to hire replacements in event of strike and of unlawful threat to make examples of Ees at this plant]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[asking Ee how he was going to vote, whether voting for U was right thing, and whether Ee knew that, if U won, he could lose his benefits, violation, notwithstanding Ee was known active U supporter]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
'statements made in response to Ee's question that U could not give wages and benefits E did not want to give, that if Ees went on strike they could be replaced, and subsequent interrogation as to whether Ee thought that E needed U and if U could give Ee more benefits, violative where Ee was not active U adherent, and repeated questioning was coercive; statements were not found unlawful threats of discharge or of futility of selecting U, however]

Page Avjet, Incorporated 278 NLRB No. 063
[supervisor asking Ee whether Ee was involved with U again, not unlawful, since inquiry not accompanied by coercive statmeents]

Lassen Community Hospital, A Division of Eskaton Health Corporation, Division of Eskaton 278 NLRB No. 053
[E's telling applicant for employment that she supposed applicant knew about E's problems (meaning U's organizational drive) and asking her how she felt about U, violative, where coercive nature of interrogation was shown from fact interviewer was Director of Nursing and interview took place in Director's office]

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[interrogation unlawful where questioning occurred after E had manifested its displeasure with U's organizational campaign and during period inwhich E committed other ULPs, and interrogation not directed at open U supporters]

Road Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[questioning of leading U activist and organizer by E's president how U's organizing drive was going, unlawful, where U activist, after 2-1/2 years' employment by E found himself, for first time alone, in president's office, and activits had recently experienced coercive interrogation by supervisor]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(plant manager asking Ee who had entered manager's office to get bandaid if true Ee trying to get U back into place, and on another occasion asking Ee if Ees were trying to get U back in, unlawful, where Ee not open U supporter and interrogation served no legitimate purpose and was designed to determine extent of involvement in U activities)

5030-0125—Cont.

Sunnyvale Medical Clinic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 131
(ALJ's application of totality of circumstances test of Blue Flash Express, 109 NLRB 591 (1954) to interrogation, proper notwithstanding Ee was not open and active union supporter as in Rossmore House, 269 NLRB 1176 (1985), affd 760 F.2d 1006 (9th Cir 1985), since Blue Flash, which the Bd relied on in Rossmore House in rejecting a per se approach to interrogation in general, did not involve interrogation of open and active union supporters, but unit members whose sympathies were unknown to E)

Sunnyvale Medical Clinic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 131
(personnel director's asking Ee who had given him U authorization and dues checkoff cards directly, rather than through U, why she had joined U held lawful, casual questioning to be expected between supervisors and Ees working closely together in view of Ee's implied willingness to openly show U support; absence of history of E's hostility, discrimination or adverse action as to U; general, nonthreatening questions not for purpose of antiU action, director's friendly relationship with Ee, and casual, amicable conversation)

Kona 60 Minute Photo 277 NLRB No. 092
(in finding E's interrogation of Ees whether they and other Ees supported U unlawful, Bd considered relevant fact interrogation was conducted by E's comanager and questioning took place at Ees' work stations rather than in less formal setting)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(supervisor's asking Ee what he thought about U, to which Ee responded that he could see why U was needed, unlawful, where Ee's response was insincere and somewhat equivocal suggesting recognition of some pressure in exchange with supervisor; no friendly relationship existed between supervisor and Ee which might have softened impact of supervisor's question; and while no threat accompanied interrogation, supervisor's manner left no doubt regarding his extreme displeasure with prospect of U organization which, coupled with statement that Ee was mistaken concerning U, lent coercive tone to situation)

Moe Warehouse & Accessory 275 NLRB No. 165
(factors which may be considered in determining whether interrogation is coercive (1) backgound; (2) nature of information sought; (3) identity of questioner; and (4) place and method of interrogation. However, factors are not to be applied mechanically. Rather, they represent some areas of inquiry that may be considered in applying Blue Flash test of whether under all circumstances interrogation reasonably tends to restrain, coerce, or interfere with rights guaranteed under Act)

Moe Warehouse & Accessory 275 NLRB No. 165
(interrogation as to whether he signed card of Ee at work by owner of E, in context of promise of consideration of Ee for management position, against backgound of recent signing of authorization cards, and E's other ULPs, unlawful)

Browning-Ferris Industries of Pennsylvania, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 021
(manager's introduction, during discussion with Ee in manager's office about Ee morale, subject of U's decertification to explain how it could be done and what the effects would be, unlawful, since E had no prior knowledge of any decertification activity going on, it was not stuff of innocuous conversation but rather, in light of parties, context, subject matter, and text of conversation, conveyed implication that E was using his leverage to influence Ee on question of U representation, and thereby constituted both unlawful interrogation and solicitation)

Workroom For Designers, Inc. and Sidney H. Sisselman, an Individual 274 NLRB No. 115
(E's interrogation of Ees before the strike found violative because of coercive context where Ees were interrogated by E's highest officer in context of threats, abuse, and vulgarity)

Robins Federal Credit Union 273 NLRB No. 165
(violation found where supervisor asked Ee engaged in U organizing activities how it was coming along on that and supervisor kind of laughed when Ee inquired whether he meant the U and then informed supervisor that U was coming along, but these things take time; such interrogation was inherently coercive since it went beyond casual question and was pointed effort to discover U's progress in campaign)

B & W Machine & Welding Company JD-(SF)-107-86
[asking Ee why he supported U, unlawful, in view of all the circumstances, where Ee was repeatedly questioned at his work station by co-owner of business who could clearly hire and fire Ees; interrogation was not isolated but was accompanied by threats of plant closure and of discharge of U supporters; and questioning occurred one-on-one with no indication that Ee's retention of employment was secure regardless of his replies]

Art Bridges Pontiac JD-(SF)-118-86
[supervisor asking Ee how many Ees had signed U cards, not unlawful, since devoid of elements of coercion necessary for finding of violation, where Ee had approached supervisor about U organizing efforts and was willing to make E aware of his involvement]

Southland Frozen Foods, Inc. JD-(NY)-78-86
[survey of Ees conducted for E by outside consulting firm and having primary purpose of soliciting Ee grievances not construed as interrogation and Bd's usual protective requirements not applicable, where there was no question in survey which sought to ascertain Ees' U sentiment; at any rate, in view of procedure in conducting survey and absence of other ULPs, survey was not coercive]

Riverview 5 P's, Inc., t/a Riverview Inn JD-54-86
[asking Ee, after unlawfully interrogating her about U and stating to her that E knew she was active in U, in she liked her job, unlawful and, unlike in Rossmore House, not permissible and protected free speak]

Northline Bus Center, Inc. JD-(ATL)-41-85
(coercive tendency of questioning Ee about his feelings toward U and what Ees had approached him about U held demonstrated by fact that interrogation took place in office of one of E's highest management officials in presence of very top official of E, and no assurances against reprisals were given to Ee, and no valid purpose for interrogation was communicated to Ee)

Beverly Enterprises d/b/a Tifton Nursing Home JD-(ATL)-33-85
(supervisor asking Ee what he was doing out of his work area and why Ees wanted U, not unlawful, since not coercive where unaccompanied by any threats or specific promises of benefits, location of interrogation reasonably tend to create fear, and absent evidence of U animus or that information sought was to be used as basis for reprisals against Ees)

Benson Associates JD-101-85
(series of interrogations of Ees' U activities by sole day-to-day supervisor, unlawful, where supervisor expressed E's U animus, information was sought in order to take action against Ees, Ees were called into supervisor's office or taken aside by him, numerous Ees indicated their fear by replying untruthfully, no purpose was served by interrogation, and Ees were not told why they were being questioned nor assured that no reprisals would be taken against them)

Burlington Industries, Inc. JD-(ATL)-13-85
(E's question to U advocate concerning U cards, not violative where question was jokingly delivered, was not taken seriously, was not accompanied by any threat of reprisal or promise of benefit, and did not occur in context of any other ULP by E which would lend coercive impact to question)

Van Gas, Inc. JD-(SF)-33-85
(immediate supervisor asking newly employed Ee if she had seen notice regarding coming election, asking her how she felt about U, and urging her to vote against U, unlawful, since Ee was not informed of purpose of interrogation, nor given assurances against reprisal)

N.L.R.B. v. Nueva Engineering, Inc. 761 F.2d 961 (C.A. 4, May 1985)
]questioning or interrogating of Ees about their U sentiments is not per se unlawful provided that such questioning is not coercive. Ct has applied totality of circumstances test to interrogation, considering variety of factors including history of E hostility to U, nature of information sought, identity of questioner, and place and method of questioning)

Landmark International Trucks, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 775 F.2d 148 (C.A. 6, Oct. 1985)
[E's otherwise noncoercive letter not rendered coercive by inclusion of E's request that it be notified of Ees' resignation from U, notwithstanding Bd's finding that E's request served no legitimate purpose]

5030-0150 Coercive in light of other unfair labor practice

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035
[supervisor asking Ee what Ee's opinion of U was, why he and other Ees couldn't communicate with management w/o outside interference, and when Ee was noncommittal, asking Ee if it didn't work out between U and E did not Ee think it was possible E could close its doors constituted unlawful interrogation, rather than lawful expression of opinion as to possible effects unionization permitted by Section 8(c), notwithstanding this particular Ee and supervisor were longtime acquaintances and use of word if, in view of E's persistent and unwarranted questioning of Ees accompanied by threats of closing]

Roseburg Lumber Company 278 NLRB No. 124
[interrogation of known U supporter violation, where in same conversation supervisor created impression that E was engaging in surveillance of all U supporters and threatened to discipline and discharge Ee and close plant]

United States Postal Service 277 NLRB No. 156
(asking Ee if he had signed ptn for U being circulated by U activist before his discharge and warning Ee that he had better not have signed it, violation where E's anti-U massage was clear notwithstanding pretense at joking atmosphere)

Moe Warehouse & Accessory 275 NLRB No. 165
(interrogation as to whether he signed card of Ee at work by owner of E, in context of promise of consideration of Ee for management position, against backgound of recent signing of authorization cards, and E's other ULPs, unlawful)

5030-0150—Cont.

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 056
(supervisor asking Ee, why she felt so strongly about having U in hospital, where inquiry was not isolated but occurred in context of other unlawfully coercive statements, thereby conveying message that E was displeased with Ee's U sympathies)

Benson Associates JD-101-85
(series of interrogations of Ees' U activities by supervisor, unlawful, in view of coercive circumstances under which interrogation was carried out, including totality of E's other ULPs)

5030-0175 Not coercive per se

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035
[in evaluating whether interrogations violate the Act, Bd will inquire whether under all the circumstances the interrogation reasonably tends to restrain, coerce or interfere with Ees' rights guaranteed by the Act; Bd will not apply per se approach but rather, will make a case-by-case analysis which takes into account the circumstances surrounding an alleged interrogation and does not ignore the reality of the workplace]

La Salle Investment Co., Ltd., d/b/a Cafe La Salle 280 NLRB No. 043
[w/o deciding whether engaging in picketing was sufficient to make Ee open and active U adherent w/i meaning of Rossmore House, 269 NLRB 1176, Bd held E's asking Ees, following commencement of picketing, why they wanted U, unlawful, where of 4 Ees interrogated by E only 2 engaged in picketing, and there was no evidence that remaining 2 Ees were open U adherents; and, unlike in Rossmore House, questioning here occurred in context of other E ULPs]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[U-related inquiries to Ees by supervisors, not violative where supervisors supported U and Ees knew of their support]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[financial manager's asking open U supporter how many Ees she had signed up for U, not violative, where inquiry sought only number of Ees she had signed up, not names of those Ees]

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[E's director of Ee relations responding to discharged U advocate's complaints about her discharge and working conditions by stating that he would listen if she wanted to volunteer information but that he could not threaten, interrogate, promise, or surveil, not violative]

Precision Founders, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 084
[supervisor's remark not violation, notwithstanding it was designed to elicit response about U campaign, where it was conversational gambit, rather than direct inquiry of particular Ee in formal interview]

Sunnyvale Medical Clinic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 131
(ALJ's application of totality of circumstances test of Blue Flash Express, 109 NLRB 591 (1954) to interrogation, proper notwithstanding Ee was not open and active union supporter as in Rossmore House, 269 NLRB 1176 (1985), affd 760 F.2d 1006 (9th Cir 1985), since Blue Flash, which the Bd relied on in Rossmore House in rejecting a per se approach to interrogation in general, did not involve interrogation of open and active union supporters, but unit members whose sympathies were unknown to E)

Sunnyvale Medical Clinic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 131
(supervisor's telling U steward that he was disappointed in her for filing charge with Bd, not violation, since, even if designed as interrogation to elicit response, statement was directed to open and active U supporter and contained no threat or promise)

Crest Industries, Corp. 276 NLRB No. 067
(upon demand for recognition, and U's assertion that majority of Ees signed cards, E's president's asking is this what you want, not violative where U's representatives were present when poll was conducted, U agent had authorization cards in his hand and immediately offered to show them to E's president to confirm Ees' affirmative response to poll, and U agent's purpose in having Ees accompany him when he made demand for bargaining was to enable Ees to answer any questions E might have)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(asking Ee if he would be able to pay his U dues if E did not deduct them, not coercive in context of casual easy-going conversation w/o threats or promises, showing of E's displeasure with remittance of U dues or tendency to interfere with Ee's right to engage in U activity)

Sears, Roebuck and Co. 274 NLRB No. 002
(no violation under Rossmore House rule where, after observing Ee who was known to be active in organizing campaign of one local at store where he worked distribute literature for sister local at another of E's stores, E's Ee relations representative remarked that he was wondering if Ee was on the international U's payroll, since Ee was breaking over jurisdictional lines by working for one local at one store and another local at another store; statement containing no unlawful threats or promises was made to open, active U supporter in noncoercive circumstances)

Commercial Property Services, Inc. JD-(NY)-80-86
[E's consultant's asking Ee during week of election what she felt were advantages of U, what U could provide, and what E was not providing, not unlawful nor interference with election, where there was absences of U hostility, questions were general and non threatening, and E had told Ee that her job would not be jeopardized if she voted for U]

Safety-Kleen Corp. JD-117-85
(E's asking U activist what was going on about U and why he had signed U card and, on another occasion, asking him how he was going to get U in now that fellow U activist was gone, lawful in absence of coercive circumstances)

Medallion Kitchens, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 806 F.2d 185 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1986)
[test for violation of Section 8(a)(1) is not whether attempt at coercion has succeeded or failed but whether E engaged in conduct which reasonably tends to interfere with, restrain, or coerce Ees in free exercise of their rights under Section 7 of Act]

Hotel & Restaurant Employees, Local 11 v. N.L.R.B. (Rossmore House Hotel) 760 F.2d 1006 (C.A. 9, May 1985)
(ct held Bd acted w/i its province in returning to flexible all-the-circumstances test which recognizes that E's questioning of Ee's U views is not necessarily coercive and may arise during casual conversation; standard is realistic approach to enforcement of 8(a)(1) and is consistent with Act because Bd and ALJs can determine, on case-by-case basis, whether all facts demonstrate coercive behavior)

Hotel & Restaurant Employees, Local 11 v. N.L.R.B. (Rossmore House Hotel) 760 F.2d 1006 (C.A. 9, May 1985)
(Bd correctly applied all-the-circumstances test to facts of case; inquiry was not coercive where Ee openly declared support for U and under circumstances E's questioning was not unlawful)

5030-2000 Questioning of applicants for employment

American Threat Company 274 NLRB No. 164
(E asking prospective Ee who had previously worked for E if he would cross picket line in event of strike, not unlawful, where single isolated incident)

5030-2033 Instructing supervisor to question applicants concerning union membership

Resistance Technology, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 117
[E's ordering supervisor to conduct unlawful interrogation not independent violation, although disclosure to Ees of the instruction is violation; overrules Cannon Electric Co., 151 NLRB 1465 (1965)]

5030-2050 Questioning applicants as to their union membership, adherence, or activities

Best Western Motor Inn 281 NLRB No. 026
[asking supervisors to find out who troublemakers or instigators of U campaign were found unlawful request for supervisors to surveil and gather information about Ees' U activities but insufficient to support finding of unlawful request to interrogate Ees]

Lassen Community Hospital, A Division of Eskaton Health Corporation, Division of Eskaton 278 NLRB No. 053
[E's telling applicant for employment that she supposed applicant knew about E's problems (meaning U's organizational drive) and asking her how she felt about U, violative, where coercive nature of interrogation was shown from fact interviewer was Director of Nursing and interview took place in Director's office]

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(asking applicant for employment about his feelings on unionization at initial interview, informing applicant there was U organizing drive going on but not to pay any attention to solicitors, and subsequently asking applicant how he would vote in election to determine whether there would be U representation, and upon his reply that he would vote No, informing applicant he was hired, violative)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(grilling job applicant in context of job interview with respect to his U inclinations, unlawful)

E.I. Du Pont De Nemours & Company JD-(ATL)-96-84
(E's routine questioning of all applicants concerning their feelings about working in non-U shop, violative)

5030-4000 Questioning of employees

Unico Replacement Parts, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's questioning of Ee involved essentially personal concerns and was not unlawful, where supervisor sought to ascertain from Ee why Ee had informed U representative of supervisor's derogatory remarks about representative; focus of inquiry centered not on any U activities Ee may have been engaged in, but rather on U representative's complaint to E and to supervisor that latter had badmouthed him]

5030-4000—Cont.

Club Monte Carlo Corporation 280 NLRB No. 030
[E's vice-president's asking waitresses, who called to discuss reinstatement, who had conceived idea of concerted activity for which they had been suspended, unlawful, as interrogation part of investigation into Ees concerted activity to determine leader's specific identity. Further, interrogation made by high management officials when their employment status was uncertain because of their concerted activity]

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(in finding bargaining order warranted, Bd relied on E's extensive interrogation about Ees' U activities and threats of reprisal, conducted by management from top to bottom, and directed at almost all Ees, both individually and in groups, with some Ees subject of repeated interrogations and threats)

Robins Federal Credit Union 273 NLRB No. 165
(violation found where supervisor asked Ee engaged in U organizing activities how it was coming along on that and supervisor kind of laughed when Ee inquired whether he meant the U and then informed supervisor that U was coming along, but these things take time; such interrogation was inherently coercive since it went beyond casual question and was pointed effort to discover U's progress in campaign)

5030-4015 Concerning employee's opinion of union or of its actions

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[supervisor's asking if Ee had any questions, after Ee had read Bd decision concerning statements by Es and some newspaper articles on strikes that supervisor had given Ee, not unlawful, where query was accompanied by supervisor's statements that Ee was under no compulsion to express her views and that no inference that Ee supported U would be drawn if Ee declined to share her opinion]

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[supervisor's asking Ee what he thought about U and, in response to Ee's comment that something needed to be done to improve working conditions, handing Ee state publication indicating Ees could not collect unemployment benefits while on strike, not unlawful, where encounter occurred on shop floor, involved low-level supervisor, and contained no threatening language]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[supervisor asking Ee how tough U was in context of conversation involving E's intent to use automation as pretext for unlawful layoff of U supporters and asking Ee when U would file injunction against E, an impermissible inquiry into U affairs and strategy, in coercive setting of recent unlawful layoff of U supporters, violations]

Precision Founders, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 084
[supervisor's remark not violation, notwithstanding it was designed to elicit response about U campaign, where it was conversational gambit, rather than direct inquiry of particular Ee in formal interview]

Crest Industries Corp. 276 NLRB No. 067
(upon demand for recognition, and U's assertion that majority of Ees signed cards, E's president's asking is this what you want, not violative where U's represeniatives were present when poll was conducted, U agent had authorization cards in his hand and immediately offered to show them to E's president to confirm Ees' affirmative response to poll, and U agent's purpose in having Ees accompany him when he made demand for bargaining was to enable Ees to answer any questions E might have)

Kohler Company 273 NLRB No. 195
(coercively interrogating Ees about their support for U's bargaining position, violative)

5030-4020 Concerning own union membership adherence or activities

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[supervisor's asking Ee if money was one of the problems, unlawful, where inquiry related to Ee's reasons for supporting U]

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[supervisor's inquiry into Ees' reasons for wanting U, unlawful, since inquiry conveyed E's displeasure with Ees' U activity; Bd noted that Rossmore House 269 NLRB 1176, overruled PPG Industries, 251 NLRB 1146, cited by ALJ, with respect to questioning of open and active U supporters]

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[supervisor's asking why Ee had signed U cards, unlawful]

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 083
[supervisor asking Ee if he knew anything about U, to which Ee replied No, but subsequently admitted that he was paid U organizer after E assured him he could keep his job, unlawful, since circumstances coercive where following Ee's admission he was paid U organizer, supervisor informed Ee he would get him for this]

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[supervisor questioning Ee as to why she was U supporter, not coercive, since conversation took place out in open and Ee was known U supporter]

American National Insurance Company 281 NLRB No. 108
[E's poll of Ees to determine whether they desired representation by U violative, where poll was not conducted by secret ballot]

Foodland, Inc., d/b/a Super-H Discount 281 NLRB No. 109
[supervisor's asking and telling an Ee, who was overheard talking on the phone during working time and whom the supervisor suspected was talking about the U, if she was talking about the U and then telling her not to talk U on the clock, not violative, since there was no evidence the prohibition was ever communicated to other Ees and Ees continued to talk about the U thereafter; such remarks were a single, isolated and innocuous exchange and does not rise to the level of a violation particularly in the absence of U animus]

Inner City Broadcasting Corporation 281 NLRB No. 162
[interrogating Ee as to why she refused tosign ptn seeking ouster of U, unlawful]

Boddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 004
[supervisor's offer of assistance to Ee, not violation, notwithstanding supervisor's unlawful interrogation of Ee about his feelings about U, where offer was made following inquiry as to how Ee's daughter was doing and appeared in that context to have been offer of personal assistance rather than solicitation of work-related grievances]

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[plant manager's questioning Ee about how he felt about U unlawful, where manager did not state any lawful purpose for interrogations and gave no assurances against reprisal but, instead, stated that E would not tolerate U and that forming U would be mistake]

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[plant manager's asking Ee if he had signed U card, to which Ee gave noncommital answer even though he had done so, unlawful, where there was no lawful purpose for question and no assurances against reprisal given by manager, nor was there any evidence that conversation was friendly exchange; and manager, high management official, initiated conversation]

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035
[E's questioning of Ee as whether she had received anything in the mail and asking her if she was one of the girls, not violative, since statements could not reasonably tend to coerce Ee where Ee and E were friends engaging in a casual conversation in Ees' work area, E's reference to a mailing and E's reference to one of the girls was ambiguous]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[Ee's questioning of fellow Ee, in presence of supervisor, whether he was for U, not unlawful, even though supervisor did nothing to deter Ee from interrogating fellow Ee since there was insufficient evidence from which to conclude that Ee was acting as agent of E]

Airport Distributors, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 091
[questioning Ees whether they had signed U authorization cards, unlawful, where questioning was persistent, vitriolic, personal, and private, and no justification nor any assurance against reprisal was offered for such questioning]

Airport Distributors, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 091
[asking Ee what it would take to discourage his support for U, whether he desired raise of $1 per hour, and would Ee go out on strike with U, accompanied by denigration of Ee with obscenity when Ee indicated he probably would go out on strike held not only act of coercive interrogation but also unlawful promise of wage increase for purpose of dissuading Ee from supporting U]

United Artists Communications, Inc., Operating Capri Theatre 280 NLRB No. 119
[asking Ee whether Ee had signed authorization card for the U of two competing Us with which E least preferred to deal, unlawful, since questioning had tendency to coerce where Ee was questioned alone in supervisor's office, was not open U supporter, in view of fact Ee had previously been threatened with discharge if she signed card for any U, and also if she did not sign card for U favored by E]

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035
[supervisor asking Ee what Ee's opinion of U was, why he and other Ees couldn't communicate with management w/o outside interference, and when Ee was noncommittal, asking Ee if it didn't work out between U and E did not Ee think it was possible E could close its doors constituted unlawful interrogation, rather than lawful expression of opinion as to possible effects unionization permitted by Section 8(c), notwithstanding this particular Ee and supervisor were longtime acquaintances and use of word if, in view of E's persistent and unwarranted questioning of Ees accompanied by threats of closing]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's asking Ee engaged in U activities if he had put out union papers held unlawful, in context of accompanying anti-U remarks]

5030-4020—Cont.

La Salle Investment Co., Ltd., d/b/a Cafe La Salle 280 NLRB No. 043
-[w/o deciding whether engaging in picketing was sufficient to make Ee open and active U adherent w/i meaning of Rossmore House, 269 NLRB 1176, Bd held E's asking Ees, following commencement of picketing, why they wanted U, unlawful, where of 4 Ees interrogated by E only 2 engaged in picketing, and there was no evidence that remaining 2 Ees were open U adherents; and, unlike in Rossmore House, questioning here occurred in context of other E ULPs]

Terraillon Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037
[E's vice-president asking Ees why they wanted U not coercive, not unlawful, where U's agents, during visit to E's plant, had invited vice-president to question Ees as to their U support]

Consolidated Edison Co. of New York, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 039
[questioning Ee, who was known participant in dissident U group, concerning his requesting fellow Ees to sign ptn and affidavit contesting U voting procedures, not violative, since Ee was a known participant in dissident U group who solicited his fellow Ees to sign U material while they were on their work (as apposed to break) time. As E is entitled to have its Ees perform their work w/o interruptions, E has right to investigate apparent interferences with its Ees carrying out their duties]

The Well-Bred Loaf, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 036
[supervisor's asking Ees who had not openly declared support of U which Ees had participated in U activity which had signed U cards, and whether they had spoken to U organizer accompanied by warning not to sign U card and repetition of owner's threat to discharge all U activists, violation]

Springs, Inc. d/b/a Springs Motel 280 NLRB No. 033
[supervisor asking Ees how anti-U meeting went at which attendance was required by E, unlawful, where Ees questioned were not known U adherents, notwithstanding contention questioning was no more than harmless curiosity, that questions were not phrased to elicit information regarding Ees' U membership or sympathies, and Ees answered candidly]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[where supervisor informed Ee that if Ees would sign U decertification ptn things would return to normal, and his subsequent asking Ee if Ee was going to sign decertification ptn which was being circulated, unlawful, since in those circumstances interrogation was coercive]

Soulsoctro Corporation 280 NLRB No. 015
[supervisor asking Ee if he had attended U meeting previous night and how he felt about meeting, unlawful, since not merely casual questioning, but coercive, where supervisor was new and there was no ongoing relationship, and Ee was not self proclaimed U adherent]

Soulsoctro Corporation 280 NLRB No. 015
[supervisor asking Ee if he had attended U meeting previous night and how he felt about meeting, unlawful, since not merely casual questioning, but coercive, where supervisor was new and there was no ongoing relationship, and Ee was not self proclaimed U adherent]

Soulsoctro Corporation 280 NLRB No. 015
[supervisor asking Ee if Ee had signed U card, and when ee said he had, asking Ee if he wanted card back, and when Ee replied yes, having Ee sign paper, then informing Ee when U campaign was over Ee organizers would not be there anymore, unlawful]

Armon Company 279 NLRB No. 158
[asking Ee from whom he had received a telephone call and, when told it was from the U, asking which local, and asking another Ee whether the guys got together and had a meeting or the U came to them, and asking if Ee knew anything about local and its apparent head, violations]

Trover Clinic 280 NLRB No. 002
[supervisor's questioning why U button, not unlawful, where question was clearly rhetorical in nature, rather than one intended to elicit information; question was posed in Ee's office amidst Ee banter, and it elicited honest response; and there was no indication that incident had coercive impact on Ee or anyone else]

Lucky Stores, Inc. d/b/a Gemco 279 NLRB No. 153
[systematic questioning of suspected U supporter, to which de minimis doctrine expounded by ALJ was not passed on by Bd majority, unlawful, where Ee, called into manager's office, was subjected to series of questions which had no lawful purpose; upon being queried by E, Ee denied that he had called in U, and then upon being directly asked whether he had signed U card, Ee responded that all but one of unit Ees had done so; and, while Ee soon left E's employ, E knew by then through interrogation of Ee of U sentiments of all but one of its unit Ees]

Lucky Stores, Inc. d/b/a Gemco 279 NLRB No. 153
[manager's interrogation of Ee concerning his U activities, unlawful, notwithstnading claimed social or friendly relationship between the two, since mere existence of such relationship, of itself, does not automatically nullify coercive effect of otherwise unlawful remarks; discussion, conducted in manager's office principally to issue warning notices to Ee, was business-oriented, rather than social, and demonstrated manager's economic power over Ee who received no assurance of no reprisals and became apprehensive as result of manager's remarks; and claimed personal relationship was not established]

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[E's highest officer's singling out one Ee at Ee meeting and asking him if it was correct that U had made promise of certain wages and bonus to Ees, asking Ee exactly what business representative had said, and asking, you were there, weren't you? violation and interference]

The Tribune Company 279 NLRB No. 138
[no violation where Ees questioned publicly supported U, legitimate basis existed for U, and there was no objective evidence that interrogations had coercive effect]

Continental Industries, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 130
[interrogation of Ee who was active and open U adherent, having handed out U cards and literature and been seen doing so by management, regarding his feelings about U and what he thought U could do for Ees, not violative under Rossmore House 269 NLRB 1176, inasmuch as questioning of open and active U supporters about their U sentiments not coercive absent threats or promises of benefits]

Raytheon Missile System Division, Raytheon Company 279 NLRB No. 035
[supervisor warning U adherent against having any U stuff on his desk during company time, not violative where E was simply utilizing housekeeping rule that was created prior to U's advent in non-discriminatory manner]

Central Washington Health Services Association d/b/a Central Washing Hospital 279 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor asking Ee how negotiations were going, unlawful, since supervisor was impliedly asking Ee if Ee agreed with U's actions in negotiations, and thus about Ee's U sympathies; further, if supervisor was interested in what had actually transpired in negotiations he would have asked E's representatives]

Central Washington Health Services Association d/b/a Central Washing Hospital 279 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor asking Ee how she felt about communications between herself and U, speaking of E's side regarding U representation and referring to circulation of anti-U ptn, unlawful]

T & T Machine Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 139
[supervisor calling Ee into his office, where in presence of three supervisors Ee was asked how he felt about U, and upon Ee's reply he didn't like Us, he was cautioned not to associate with U supporters, promising Ee he would have training to enhance his skill level above that of U supporters that E planned to get rid of, and informing Ee if he would report his errors directly to those supervisors, his record would be clean, but errors of U supporters would be recorded, unlawful]

Roseburg Lumber Company 278 NLRB No. 124
[interrogation of known U supporter violation, where in same conversation supervisor created impression that E was engaging in surveillance of all U supporters and threatened to discipline and discharge Ee and close plant]

United Cloth Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 088
[interrogation of Ee concerning her feelings about U, not coercive or unlawful, where Ee was open and active U adherent, and interrogation was not accompanied by threats]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[asking Ee how he was going to vote, whether voting for U was right thing, and whether Ee knew that, if U won, he could lose his benefits, violation, notwithstanding Ee was known active U supporter]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements made in response to Ee's question that U could not give wages and benefits E did not want to give, that if Ees went on strike they could be replaced, and subsequent interrogation as to whether Ee thought that E needed U and if U could give Ee more benefits, violative where Ee was not active U adherent, and repeated questioning was coercive; statements were not found unlawful threats of discharge or of futility of selecting U, however]

Page Avjet, Incorporated 278 NLRB No. 063
[supervisor asking Ee whether Ee was involved with U again, not unlawful, since inquiry not accompanied by coercive statmeents]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(plant manager asking Ee who had entered manager's office to get bandaid if true Ee trying to get U back into place, and on another occasion asking Ee if Ees were trying to get U back in, unlawful, where Ee not open U supporter and interrogation served no legitimate purpose and was designed to determine extent of involvement in U activities)

Sunnyvale Medical Clinic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 131
(personnel director's asking Ee who had given him U authorization and dues checkoff cards directly, rather than through U, why she had joined U held lawful, casual questioning to be expected between supervisors and Ees working closely together in view of Ee's implied willingness to openly show U support; absence of history of E's hostility, discrimination or adverse action as to U; general, nonthreatening questions not for purpose of antiU action, director's friendly relationship with Ee, and casual, amicable conversation)

5030-4020—Cont.

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124
(E's interrogation of Ees of how they planned to vote in election held unlawful and interference with election)

Heck's Inc. 277 NLRB No. 098
(interrogation of Ee concerning her own and others' U sympathies, unlawful, since Ee not leading and open U adherent w/i Rossmore House 269 NLRB 1176)

Kona 60 Minute Photo 277 NLRB No. 092
(interrogation of Ees, immediately after receiving U's recognition request, whether Ees were going to form U, who had signed for U, and whether Ee was for U, unlawful, where Ees had not openly declared themselves to be U supporters; E's exchanges with Ees were not casual conversations seeking information of general nature but were requests for specific information whether Ees supported U and identity of others who did; and interrogation was conducted by E's comanager and questioning took place at Ees' work stations rather than in less formal setting)

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(supervisor asking Ee why did you betray me? I thought you were anti-U, unlawful, since forced Ee to disclose reasons for his U sentiments in context in which he was made to understand that supervisor was aware of his U activities and that such conduct was betrayal of supervisor)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(E's interrogating Ee about his intentions with respect to U, accompanied by statements that E had heard Ee was siding with U, that E considered U a cancer, and that everyone siding with it would be eliminated, unlawful, in view of E's extreme opposition to U as illustrated by his reference to it as cancer, and numerous other acts of unlawful threats and interrogation, thereby showing pervasive pattern of such acts)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(asking Ee if he had signed U card, unlawful, where inquiry was made w/o any valid reason and was coercive by very fact that it emanated from store manager)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(asking Ee if he remembered date he signed U card and promising Ee a dinner if Ee found out date he signed card, unlawful)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates. 276 NLRB No. 137
(asking Ee what she thought about U after announcing Ee's pay raise, not violative, since questioning took place after granting of raise, Ee was not only Ee granted raise at time, and Ees were open regarding U adherence)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(leaderman's asking Ee how did U get started and if Ee, who admitted to contacting U, knew what he was doing, not unlawful, where at the time leaderman's supervisory status had not been resolved and it was not clear Ee considered leaderman's question to be emanating from supervisor; Ee's own testimony showed Ee did not consider question coercive but one to which he was freely willing to respond honestly as a friend, and leaderman's question was not accompanied by threat of reprisal or promise of benefit)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(supervisor's asking Ee what he thought about U, to which Ee responded that he could see why U was needed, unlawful, where Ee's response was insincere and somewhat equivocal suggesting recognition of some pressure in exchange with supervisor; no friendly relationship existed between supervisor and Ee which might have softened impact of supervisor's question; and while no threat accompanied interrogation, supervisor's manner left no doubt regarding his extreme displeasure with prospect of U organization which, coupled with statement that Ee was mistaken concerning U, lent coercive tone to situation)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(supervisor's questioning Ee whether he had signed U card, not unlawful, in view of familiar relationship of supervisor as uncle to Ee, who made it clear to Ee that he was speaking as such and not as supervisor, and there was no evidence that Ee perceived question as coercive)

Naval Color Corporation 276 NLRB No. 061
(questioning Ee at work station about whether Ee would support U in upcoming election, violative, where E had no prior knowledge as to Ee's position on election and no lawful purpose for questioning)

Cutliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 067

Webb Furniture Enterprises, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 180
(unlawful interrogation, where E asked Ee if Ee had posted U leaflet, since question placed Ee in position of revealing his U sympathies, question served no legitimate business purpose, having been asked pursuant to disparate application of unlawful no-solicitation rule, and no assurances against reprisal given)

PYA/Monarch, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 107
(no unlawful interrogation, where operations manager asked Ee What do you think about what is going on here? since question was not inherently coercive, and Ee was open U supporter, nor were circumstances coercive where question asked during casual conversation)

Mor Warehouse & Accessory 275 NLRB No. 148
(interrogation as to whether he signed card of Ee at work by owner of E, in context of promise of consideration of Ee for management position, against backgound of recent signing of authorization cards, and E's other ULPs, unlawful)

C & L Warehouse & Distributing Corp. 275 NLRB No. 148
(E's summoning Ee to his office after Ee returned to work during strike and asking Ee if he had signed U card, not violative where questioning was unaccompanied by threats or promises of benefits, and Ee, by complaining about strikers' threats to him during strike, had opened door to questions about his relationship to strikers)

Okun Brothers Shoe Store, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 145
(supervisor's asking Ee how many Ees had signed up for U, coercive and objectionable in view of E's active opposition to U, lack of reason for supervisor's question, and fact it was oblique inquiry as to how active Ee was in organizing drive)

Comfort & Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 083
(E's asking Ee, who had history of ill health and personal grief on whom the Bd hearings appeared to have taken a toll, how in the hell he had ever gotten involved in this, violative where it showed E's displeasure with his involvement, and, even if E's statements were prompted by his concern about Ee's health, there was no evidence that E conveyed his concern to Ee, and E's subjective reasons were irrelevant in considering in impact of his statements on Ee)

Marko Contractors, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 63
(supervisor's asking Ee, You signed a card, didn't you? violative where made following Ee's unsuccessful inquiry about being recalled)

Tomco Carburetor Company 275 NLRB No. 081
(interrogating Ees about location of their U authorization cards, violative)

Aluminum Technical Extrusions, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 199
(E's questioning Ees about whether they attended a U meeting or signed U ptn violative, where Ees were not overt U partisans nor did they openly present their pro-U views to management; further, fact that Ees denied any U involvement, when such was not in fact the case, demonstrates the coercive nature of the interrogation)

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 056
(supervisor asking Ee, why she felt so strongly about having U in hospital, where inquiry was not isolated but occurred in context of other unlawfully coercive statements, thereby conveying message that E was displeased with Ee's U sympathies)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 185
(E's consultant's asking for show of hands of those of E's Ees who were formerly U members in regard to question of U's providing job security, not unlawful interrogation; it was attempt to show that U representation provided no guarantee of job security, not to determine number of U supporters, and would have had no coercive effect)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 185
(E's consultant's asking Ees if they had received copies of U's constitution and bylaws, not unlawful interrogation, but rhetorical question to show that Ees might not have been getting complete picture and all facts from U necessary for making informed decision)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 185
(E's president's calling Ee into his office and asking if U representatives had been to her house and why she had not refused to speak to them, violative and objectionable conduct)

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(interrogation of single Ee as to whether he was engaged in U activity and informing Ee such activity had better cease, unlawful, since not innocous, casual remark, nor isolated, in view of E's unlawful threats to discharge Ees)

C. M. Carpenter, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Carpenter Trucking 274 NLRB No. 046
(E's owner asking Ee if Ee knew anything about U, and if Ee had signed U card and then informing Ee he would close business before he would sign bargaining agreement, violative, notwithstanding Ees admission he singed U card)

Ausable Communications, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 166
(where supervisor asked Ees who is going to be your shop steward)

Ultrapower Services, Inc. JD-(SF)-123-86
[supervisor asking Ee how Ee felt about upcoming U election, not unlawful, where Ee had openly expressed his U support, notwithstanding supervisor did not convey legitimate purpose for interrogation to Ee, or give him

5030-4020—Cont.

assurances against reprisal, since interrogation not accompanied by threats or promises of benefits]

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Consgra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86

[supervisor asking Ee if Ee had signed U card, not unlawful, where Ee had previously made his support for U clear by signing letter to E demanding recognition of U]

B & W Machine & Welding Company JD-(SF)-107-86

[asking Ee why he supported U, unlawful, in view of all the circumstances, where Ee was repeatedly questioned at his work station by co-owner of business who could clearly hire and fire Ees; interrogation was not isolated but was accompanied by threats of plant closure and of discharge of U supporters; and questioning occurred one-on-one with no indication that Ee's retention of employment was secure regardless of his replies]

Bruderer, Inc. JD-(SF)-57-86

[supervisor's stating to Ee that he had been told by little bird that Ee was soliciting for U, not unlawful, since statement was not intended to be interrogation of Ee about his U sentiments but was introductory remark to conversation whose purpose was to advise Ee of fellow Ee's complaint to E about being harassed while working by Ee's U solicitation, and to inform Ee that he should not sell wares or U on company time; and prohibitions on solicitation during working time are presumptively lawful]

Warehouse Supermarkets of Arizona, Inc., d/b/a Warehouse Foods JD-(SF)-101-86

[polygraph examination of Ee, unlawful, where questions directed to Ee concerning known U supporter's activity were obviously directed at finding out examined Ee's knowledge of U activity]

Luther Martin and Minnie Martin, Co-Partners, d/b/a Martin's Leasing Company JD-83-86

[interrogation of Ee concerning his sentiments regarding U, which Ee admitted he favored, by representative of consulting firm hired by E during election campaign assertedly for purpose of giving Ees pros and cons on U, unlawful, since inference was that information obtained by consultant was subsequently conveyed to E]

Best Cast, Inc. JD-(NY)-1-86

[E's interrogating Ees about their U activities and vote in E's poll, violation notwithstanding Ees initiated conversations, where E made gave no assurance against reprisals]

Robert W. Wise, d/b/a Robert W. Wise Cabinetry JD-(SF)-157-85

(E's asking Ee why he had signed U authorization card coercive when considered in context of other ULPs)

Northline Bus Center, Inc. JD-(ATL)-41-85

(coercive tendency of questioning Ee about his feelings toward U and what Ees had approached him about U held demonstrated by fact that interrogation took place in office of one of E's highest management officials in presence of very top official of E, and no assurances against reprisals were given to Ee, and no valid purpose for interrogation was communicated to Ee)

Carbo Fuel Oil; Gibraltar Heat Corp.; Concord Oil Corp. JD-(NY)-24-85

(E's asking Ee how he thought election was going to go, not unlawful, since it is not unlawful for E to ask Ee for his opinion as to probable outcome of election, as long as Ee is not also questioned about his personal feelings or intentions with regard to election)

Safety-Kleen Corp. JD-117-85

(E's asking U activist if he had signed U card, if so, why, and why he had taken his problem to the U and not come to E first, lawful in noncoercive context where questions were followed by E's assurances amounting to statement of disappointment but assurance that Ee's job was safe)

Benson Associates JD-101-85

(series of interrogations of Ees' U activities by sole day-to-day supervisor, unlawful, where supervisor expressed E's U animus, information was sought in order to take action against Ees, Ees were called into supervisor's office or taken aside by him, numerous Ees indicated their fear by replying untruthfully, no purpose was served by interrogation, and Ees were not told why they were being questioned nor assured that no reprisals would be taken against them)

N.L.R.B. v. Nueva Engineering, Inc. 761 F.2d 961 (C.A. 4, May 1985)

(supervisor informing Ee that he did not like Us, asking Ee how he felt about Us and when Ees replied that he supported U, informing Ee that if Ees voted for U representation alternative would be to convert to prototype shop-which required much less Ees-and institute big layoff, violative; additionally, interrogation and threat took place in E's vice president's office and purpose of questioning not explained)

Turnbull Cone Baking Company of Tennessee v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 8 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

N.L.R.B. v. Oberle-Jordre Company, Division of The Bishopric Products Company 777 F.2d 1119 (C.A. 6, Nov. 1985)

[interrogation of Ee regarding his withdrawal from U, unlawful, where it took place w/i scenario of prior interrogations, occurring outside 10(b) period, but shedding light on matters w/i limitation period, that were accompanied by explicit promises of continued employment conditioned on Ee's responses to interrogation]

Landmark International Trucks, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 775 F.2d 148 (C.A. 6, Oct. 1985)

[E's otherwise noncoercive letter not rendered coercive by inclusion of E's request that it be notified of Ees' resignation from U, notwithstanding Bd's finding that E's request served no legitimate purpose]

N.L.R.B. v. Norbar, Inc. 752 F.2d 235 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)

(interrogating Ees as to how they felt about the U, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Del Rey Tortilleria, Inc. 787 F.2d 1118 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)

[asking Ees, during termination interview, about their status with U and, when they admitted to membership, telling them that they no longer had jobs, unlawful]

Hotel & Restaurant Employees, Local 11 v. N.L.R.B. (Rossmore House Hotel) 760 F.2d 1006 (C.A. 9, May 1985)

(Bd correctly applied all-the-circumstances test to facts of case; inquiry was not coercive where Ee openly declared support for U and under circumstances E's questioning was not unlawful)

5030-4030 Solicitation of grievances

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084

[supervisor's offer of assistance to Ee, not violation, notwithstanding supervisor's unlawful interrogation of Ee about his feelings about U, where offer was made following inquiry as to how Ee's daughter was doing and appeared in that context to have been offer of personal assistance rather than solicitation of work-related grievances]

Benmit Division, U.S. Tubular, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 083

[telling Ees that E wanted to know what their complaints were, violation where it was done in context of discussing U activity]

La Salle Investment Co., Ltd., d/b/a Cafe La Salle 280 NLRB No. 043

[E's asking Ees what their grievances were after telling them that they could come to E with their problems, not unlawful, where E had past practice of asking Ees to submit grievances and suggested remedies; no exceptions]

Terraillon Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037

[E's vice-president asking Ees why they wanted U not coercive, not unlawful, where U's agents, during visit to E's plant, had invited vice-president to question Ees as to their U support]

Gull, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 127

[E's institution of open-door policy constituting major change from prior policy of scheduled meetings with small group of Ees chosen by E, accompanied by requests for questions from Ees and by statements telling them of extra few dollars in their paychecks in lieu of dental plan, and possibility of additional equipment, as well as sending managers to classes to improve their communication with Ees held unlawful grant of benefits designed to undermine Ee support for U, rather than solicitation of grievances; in that respect, policy was in effect implied promise that further grievances would be remedied w/o U representation]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154

[solicitation of grievances, violation and interference]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085

[distributing survey questionnaire to Ees, not unlawful interrogation, notwithstanding Ees' answer to survey questions could disclose their U sentiments, since there was no basis for inferring that Ees would associate survey with their U activities or view it as inquiry into them where survey was made eleven months after election when there was no special U activity]

Larry Chapman, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Farm Boy Food Mart 278 NLRB No. 058

[soliciting Ees' complaints about benefits and impliedly promising to resolve them during U organization drive, violation]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123

(E's use of Ee committee formed and dominated by E for purpose of soliciting grievances, and correction of grievances pursuant to suggestions received, unlawful)

The Royal Sonesta, Inc. d/b/a Royal Laundry 277 NLRB No. 085

(E's soliciting complaints and grievances, promising to rectify them and thereafter implementing such improvements, violative)

5030-4030—Cont.

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(no unlawful solicitation of grievances, where E unlawfully encouraged formation of grievance committee, absent evidence E solicited or encouraged Ees to bring their complaints to it through mechanism of grievance committee)

PYA/Monarch, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 167
(no violation, where during U campaign vice-president asked Ees if they had any problems impeding production, and in response Ees expressed need for various new supplies and equipment, and E subsequently supplied equipment a month before schedule as purchases of equipment underway before U campaign started)

PYA/Monarch, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 167
(no unlawful solicitation of grievances where vice-president informed Ees that E's door was always open, since open door policy was in effect prior to onset of U activity; merely to remind Ees of existing policy, not unlawful, if no implication that response to grievances will change)

Anchorage Times Publishing Company JD-(SF)-86-86
[E's soliciting and promising to remedy its Ees' grievances to influence Ee votes at election, violative and interference]

Brunal Electric, Inc. JD-(NY)-21-84
[violation, where E after receiving U's demand for recognition and bargaining, asked Ees what they wanted, solicited grievances, promised Ees substantial improvements in working conditions, including wage increases and insurance, if they would withdraw support from U, then threatened to close rather than deal with U]

Northline Bus Center, Inc. JD-(ATL)-41-85
(E's urging Ees to bring their and other Ees' problems to him, unlawful, since complaint or grievance solicitation in midst of U campaign was implied promise to remedy Ees' grievances; and E's actions amounted to more than implied promise to take such remedial steps, since E took action on at least 1 of Ees' problems and announced that it had done so)

Van Gas, Inc. JD-(SF)-33-85
(immediate supervisor asking newly employed Ee if she had seen notice regarding coming election, asking her how she felt about U, and urging her to vote against U, unlawful, since Ee was not informed of purpose of interrogation, nor given assurances against reprisal)

5030-4040 Concerning union membership, adherence or activities of others

Polymer Prints Ltd. Formerly Known as Subliflex, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 068
[asking Ee if she knew what a U is, and if she recognized representatives, who appeared at plant to request recognition, as representatives from her U, unlawful]

J & B Smith Company, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 057
[asking Ee who was passing out U cards why he wanted U and which Ees were assisting him, violation where, when Ee replied only he was distributing cards, E reamed him out and threatened to lock him up]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's assertion to Ee that supervisor was questioning everybody whether they had been approached by U, required response from Ee which, if truthful, could reveal Ee's U contacts or possibly U sympathy, and therefore assertion, though not in form of question, constituted unlawful interrogation, particularly when coupled with supervisor's request that Ee report U contacts that Ee considered bothersome, which supervisor did not limit to workplace nor to threatening and intimidating solicitations, thereby invoking standard so vague as to invite reports of legitimate albeit perhaps insistent solicitations]

The Well-Bred Loaf, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 036
[supervisor's asking Ees who had not openly declared support of U which Ees had participated in U activity which had signed U cards, and whether they had spoken to U organizer accompanied by warning not to sign U card and repetition of owner's threat to discharge all U activists, violation]

Saaloctro Corporation 280 NLRB No. 015
[asking Ees how many people had been at U meeting, who was there, and what had transpired, unlawful]

Armon Company 279 NLRB No. 158
[soliciting Ee to ascertain U inclinations of two other Ees, violation]

Raytheon Missile System Division, Raytheon Company 279 NLRB No. 035
[manager's interrogation of Ees, violative notwithstanding presence of ameliorative factors where manager's probing attempts to find out about specific U activities of particular Ees who had not yet disclosed their attitudes towards U had reasonable tendency to interfere with, restrain, and coerce Ees]

United Electrical & Mechanical, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 034
[asking Ees to question other Ees regarding their U sentiments, violative]

T & T Machine Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 139
[asking Ee who had called U? and offering to meet Ee anywhere at anytime to receive information about U organizing drive, adding that such information would enable Ee to keep his job, unlawful]

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[supervisor soliciting Ee to conduct surveillance of U activities by joining U supporters and finding out who U leader was so that supervisor could cut his head unlawful]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[applying Bd's Rossmore policy in determinig whether E's interrogation of Ees regarding U activity is unlawful, ALJ held foreman's attempt to learn from Ee identity of Ees who were talking U carried with it suggestion that E had some punishment in mind for them; and information sought was likely to instill fear of reprisal in listener notwithstanding that first level supervisor was asking question in familiar surroundings of work place]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[questioning of leading U activist and organizer by E's president how U's organizing drive was going, unlawful, where U activist, after 2-1/2 years' employment by E found himself, for first time alone, in president's office, and activits had recently experienced coercive interrogation by supervisor]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(plant manager asking Ee who had entered manager's office to get bandaid if true Ee trying to get U back into place, and on another occasion asking Ee if Ees were trying to get U back in, unlawful, where Ee not open U supporter and interrogation served no legitimate purpose and was designed to determine extent of involvement in U activities)

Kona 60 Minute Photo 277 NLRB No. 092
(interrogation of Ees, immediately after receiving U's recognition request, whether Ees were going to form U, who had signed for U, and whether Ee was for U, unlawful, where Ees had not openly declared themselves to be U supporters; E's exchanges with Ees were not casual conversations seeking information of general nature but were requests for specific information whether Ees supported U and identity of others who did; and interrogation was conducted by E's comanager and questioning took place at Ees' work stations rather than in less formal setting)

Kona 60 Minute Photo 277 NLRB No. 092
(questioning Ee why Ees desired U representation, unlawful since, although questioning may not have specifically solicited identity of U supporters, E posed question in conjunction with threat to discharge any Ee he found involved with U, and he repeatedly questioned Ee despite Ee's clear attempts to avoid discussing subject; moreover, Ee had not openly declared himself to be U supporter)

Mid-State Distributing Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 172
(E's interrogation of Ee as to who was talking about U in response to Ee's comments that if pay deficiencies did not stop there would be a U in E's plant, unlawful, since broad nature of E's inquiry tended to interfere with Ees' rights to begin initial discussions on Ee interest in forming, joining, or supporting U to redress perceived grievances w/o E's foreknowledge or inquisitive interference)

Gatliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 060

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(chief executive's questioning Ee as to how many Ees had attended U meeting, occurring at plant during height of U campaign, unlawful, in light of all surrounding circumstances, including time, place, and personnel involved)

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(interrogation of Ee slated for layoff concerning instigators of U, unlawful since E, aware that Ee needed his job, used the occasion to press for the most sensitive information)

Okun Brothers Shoe Store, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 145
(supervisor's asking Ee how many Ees had signed up for U, coercive and objectionable in view of E's active opposition to U, lack of reason for supervisor's question, and fact it was oblique inquiry as to how active Ee was in organizing drive)

Comfort & Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 082
(E's calling together Ees' association's executive committee, asking them if they knew about the U's activities in the plant in attempting to represent one department, demanding that they support E in fighting U's election campaign by hiring a labor lawyer and assessing members, and, when one committeeman protested that they could not act w/o a meeting of Ees, telling him to get out, that E would get someone who could do what he demanded, violative)

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 054
(while supervisor's remark to Ee that she knew that certain other Ees were involved in organizing created impression of surveillance, it was not unlawful interrogation as no evidence to support conclusion that remark made to elicit response from Ee to confirm supervisor's suspicions about other Ees as organizing was openly taking place)

5030-4040—Cont.

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105
(E's president's calling various Ees into his office singly and asking them how they thought other Ees felt about the U, if a certain Ee had anything to do with the U campaign, and if they knew who was starting it found violation and objectionable conduct)

Robins Federal Credit Union 273 NLRB No. 165
(violation found where supervisor asked Ee engaged in U organizing activities how many cards had been signed and how many were required, to which Ee responded that she did not know as U kept track, and that number of cards required depended on who would vote in election; such interrogation was inherently coercive since it went beyond casual question and was pointed effort to discover U's progress in campaign)

Ultrapower Services, Inc. JD-(SF)-122-86
[supervisor asking Ee how Ee felt about upcoming U election, not unlawful, where Ee had openly expressed his U support, notwithstanding supervisor did not convey legitimate purpose for interrogation to Ee, or give him assurances against reprisal since interrogation not accompanied by threats or promises of benefits]

Art Bridges Pontiac JD-(SF)-118-86
[supervisor asking Ee how many Ees had signed U cards, not unlawful, since devoid of elements of coercion necessary for finding of violation, where Ee had approached supervisor about U organizing efforts and was willing to make E aware of his involvement]

Warehouse Supermarkets of Arizona, Inc., d/b/a Warehouse Foods JD-(SF)-101-86
[polygraph examination of Ee, unlawful, where questions directed to Ee concerning known U supporter's activity were obviously directed at finding out examined Ee's knowledge of U activity]

Bell & Howell/Columbia Pictures Video Services JD-(SF)-8-86
[E's vice-president asking Ees in coffee chat meeting whether Ees' dissatisfaction was bad enough to attract U, and if there were to be vote regarding U representation, how would it go, not unlawful]

Northline Bus Center, Inc. JD-(ATL)-41-85
(coercive tendency of questioning Ee about his feelings toward U and what Ees had approached him about U held demonstrated by fact that interrogation took place in office of one of E's highest management officials in presence of very top official of E, and no assurances against reprisals were given to Ee, and no valid purpose for interrogation was communicated to Ee)

Burlington Industries, Inc. JD-(ATL)-13-85
(E's question to U advocate concerning U cards, not violative where question was jokingly delivered, was not taken seriously, was not accompanied by any threat of reprisal or promise of benefit, and did not occur in context of any other ULP by E which would lend coercive impact to question)

Harry Rosenblatt & Sons JD-(SF)-50-85
(asking Ees a week after U activist's discharge if he had been going to start a U, violative where Ees were not openly active U supporters and question implanted notion that U activities were reason for discharge)

N.L.R.B. v. J. Coty Messenger Service, Inc. ———F.2d——— (C.A. 2, May 1985)
[asking Ee whether he had signed U card and whether he was for it, violation]

N.L.R.B. v. Del Rey Tortilleria, Inc. 787 F.2d 1118 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)
[asking Ee which Ees were in U and why they needed U, unlawful]

N.L.R.B. v. Del Rey Tortilleria, Inc. 787 F.2d 1118 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)
[asking Ee if he was involved in U and, upon Ee's denial, telling him that if he were involved, E would suspend him for 3 days just as E had suspended fellow Ee]

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)
[plant superintendent's asking one Ee about another Ee's U activities, requesting information about them, and saying we'll take care of second Ee's activities, insufficient, in isolation, to support finding of threat of discipline or discharge, but substantially supportive of finding of request to engage in surveillance, especially where manager asked another Ee what he had heard about U activity and requested that he keep his ears open]

5030-4050 Concerning union benefits

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[E's highest officer's singling out one Ee at Ee meeting and asking him if it was correct that U had made promise of certain wages and bonus to Ees, asking Ee exactly what business representative had said, and asking, you were there, weren't you? violation and interference]

Commercial Property Services, Inc. JD-(NY)-80-86
[E's consultant's asking Ee during week of election what she felt were advantages of U, what U could provide, and what E was not providing, not unlawful nor interference with election, where there was absences of U hostility, questions were general and non threatening, and E had told Ee that her job would not be jeopardized if she voted for U]

5030-4060 Concerning union meetings

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[conversations during which supervisor asked Ee why she had not been invited to U meeting and on another occasion asking if Ee was going to U meeting, not unlawful, where supervisor and Ee were good friends, supervisor's comments did not contain any threats, and he attempted to assuage Ee's fears that she would lose her job if she attended U meeting]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's questioning Ee regarding Ee meeting held to set up Ee bargaining group, unlawful, even though Ee had earlier told supervisor of his intent to attend meeting, where supervisor's questions sought to ascertain what happened at meeting, and thus sought to ascertain details of Ee collective activity]

Sealectro Corporation 280 NLRB No. 015
[asking Ees how many people had been at U meeting, who was there, and what had transpired, unlawful]

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[E's highest officer's singling out one Ee at Ee meeting and asking him if it was correct that U had made promise of certain wages and bonus to Ees, asking Ee exactly what business representative had said, and asking, you were there, weren't you? violation and interference]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's questioning pro-U Ee how U meetings were going at his home and then, in response to Ee's denial of such meetings, stating that supervisor knew that such was the case held to give Ee impression that his U activity was under surveillance; fact that supervisor and Ee had social relationship did not reduce coercive effect of his remarks where they were not accompanied by levity or evidence of friendship]

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(asking Ee about level of attendance at U meeting, unlawful, since it was clear signal to Ee that E had U activities under surveillance)

Gatliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 060

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(chief executive's questioning Ee whether she had attended U meeting and signed U cards, occuring at plant during height of U campaign, unlawful in light of all surrounding circumstances, including time, place, and personnel involved)

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(chief executive's questioning Ee as to how many Ees had attended U meeting, occurring at plant during height of U campaign, unlawful, in light of all surrounding circumstances, including time, place, and personnel involved)

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(chief executive's interrogation of Ee concerning U meeting and his threat, in no uncertain terms, that anybody signing U card would be fired, unlawful, since such statements, emanating from chief executive during U campaign on plant premises, have clear and restraining effect upon Ees)

The Union National Bank of Pittsburgh 276 NLRB No. 013
(supervisor answering telephone call from one Ee to another Ee at work and asking Ee calling if call was about U activities, and if there was big turnout at party given by U, constituted unlawful interrogation and created impression of surveillance, where Ee questioned was not open and active U supporter; further, questioning occured against background of Ee concern that E would learn who supported U, and Ee's concern her own supervisor would learn of her U adherence, conversation not initiated by Ee, and absent any legitimate reason for questioning or assurance against reprisal)

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198
(E's asking Ee if he was going to U's contract ratification meeting and if he knew U was asking time and a half for Ee's overtime work, not unlawful, where E's questions were simply preliminary to his lawful statement of position that E will hire more Ees rather than pay overtime)

East Central Communications, Inc. JD-116-86
[supervisor's questioning Ee about his attendance at U meeting, not unlawful, where Ee's leading role in U organizing activities was known to supervisor whose inquiry was natural expression of personal interest having no reasonable tendency to constitute prohibited interference, restraint or coercion]

East Central Communications, Inc. JD-116-86
[supervisor's questioning Ee about identity of Ees attending U meeting, while not part of orchestrated effort to secure names of U adherents for unlawful purposes, held unlawful, where supervisor had no valid reason for making such inquiry]

5030-4070 Concerning employee group meetings

Springs, Inc. d/b/a Springs Motel 280 NLRB No. 033
[supervisor asking Ees how anti-U meeting went at which attendance was required by E, unlawful, where Ees questioned were not known U adherents, notwithstanding contention questioning was no more than harmless curiosity, that questions were not phrased to elicit information regarding Ees' U membership or sympathies, and Ees answered candidly]

The Loft (Showcase, Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 170
[supervisor calling Ee after work during Ee meeting held at another Ee's house to discuss E's wage policy, and asking Ee who was at meeting and why they were there, unlawful]

5030-4080 Concerning other union activities

Airport Distributors, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 091
[questioning Ees to disclose what was going on regarding U and to disclose knowledge of U attempts to organize Ees, unlawful, where sequence of such repeated interrogations was executed w/o proffering any explanations and assurances against reprisals]

Airport Distributors, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 091
[questioning Ee whether he knew anything about U, coupled with threat of loss of employment and expression of antipathy toward U, unlawful]

Benmit Division, U.S. Tubular, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 083
[asking Ee about U's organizational campaign, violation where accompanied by threat of job loss if Ee did not take it easy with his U activities]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[supervisor asking Ee how tough U was in context of conversation involving E's intent to use automation as pretext for unlawful layoff of U supporters and asking Ee when U would file injunction against E, an impermissible inquiry into U affairs and strategy, in coercive setting of recent unlawful layoff of U supporters, violations]

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor asking Ee if U had come by, and upon Ee's reply he had, asked U representative to return at more convenient time, indicating if Ee wished, Ee could report what U representative said, and that then supervisor would refute U's assertion with truth, violative as no legitimate purpose shown for inquiry nor assurance against reprisal given)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor asking Ee if she had been contacted by any U people constituted unlawful interrogation, but did not unlawfully create impression of surveillance absent evidence supervisor said anything that was neither matter of common knowledge, nor subject of interpretation of Ee's response to supervisor's inquiry)

N.L.R.B. v. Del Rey Tortilleria, Inc. 787 F.2d 1118 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)
[E's threatening Ee with visit from policy if he failed to cooperate, unlawful, where E was concurrently insisting that Ee tell the truth and that, if Ee knew anything about U, it would be well worth his while to tell E about it]

5030-4080-5000 Whether employees will cross picket line in event of strike

American Threat Company 274 NLRB No. 164
(E asking prospective Ee who had previously worked for E if he would cross picket line in event of strike, not unlawful, where single isolated incident)

5030-4080-5020 Accompanied by threats, promises or other coercive conduct

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(chief executive's interrogation of Ee concerning U meeting and his threat, in no uncertain terms, that anybody signing U card would be fired, unlawful, since such statements, emanating from chief executive during U campaign on plant premises, have clear and restraining effect upon Ees)

Cassidy Cleaning, Inc. JD-239-86
[supervisor's reiterating to Ee E's remarks about loss of contract and loss of jobs if U came in and inquiring further about Ee's acceptance of such statement, unlawful]

5030-4090 Concerning protected activities

The Long Island College Hospital 274 NLRB No. 098
(E's questioning Ee about article in newspaper of organization opposed to incumbent U indicating tension between Ee and her supervisor, not violative, since questions did not reasonably tend to coerce Ee where question was asked during interview which had been initiated by Ee's request for transfer, and article about which she was questioned had been publicly disseminatee; in addition, E clearly explained limited nature of inquiry and legitimate reasons therefor)

Wackenhut Corporation JD-288-86
[supervisor's interrogating and threatening 3 Ees about their meeting with official of agency with which E had contract, not violation, despite supervisor's knowledge that Ees acted concertedly, where evidence failed to show that supervisor knew that subject discussed at meeting was protected]

Latrant Manufacturing, Inc. JD-(NY)-57-85
(E's casual questioning of Ees made in atmosphere devoid of U animus, not violative; Rossmore House applied)

Puerto Rican Association for Human Development JD-(NY)-148-86
(interrogating Ee during interview in which discipline meted out as to why he had intervened on behalf of disciplined Ee by writing memo at his request, held coercive)

Kenneth MacGillivray and Joan MacGillivray, Co-Partners d/b/a Williams Street Company, A Limited Partnership d/b/a Tower Plaza JD-(ATL)-87-86
(E's inquiry of Ee as to why Ee had not completed repairs coupled with question as to what harassment she was referring in ULP charge she had filed, followed by attack on Ee for filing charge, unlawful)

5030-6000 Verification of union representation status claims

American National Insurance Company 281 NLRB No. 105
[E's poll of Ees to determine whether they desired representation by U violative, where poll was not conducted by secret ballot]

5030-7000 Interrogation concerning employee or others involvement in Board's processes

United Artists Communications, Inc., Operating Capri Theatre 280 NLRB No. 119
[asking Ee what went on at and who was at Bd hearing concerning claims by two Us to represent unit of E's Ees, unlawful, in view of prior threat to discharge Ees if they did they not sign authorization cards for U with which E preferred to deal]

Sea-Land Service, Inc. (Sea Operations) 280 NLRB No. 004
[ship's captain, responsible for transmitting all communications from ship, interrogating and discharging radio officer about message he sent at sea requesting local Bd's phone number, violative, notwithstanding legitimacy of captain's inquiry in asking whether radio was used in unauthorized manner, repeated inquiries as–to why dischargee asked for Bd's phone number were not relevant to captain's responsibilities regarding communication equipment. Basis for discharge did not distinguish between specific questions asked so that lawful and unlawful motives cannot be separated]

Sunnyvale Medical Clinic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 131
(supervisor's telling U steward that he was disappointed in her for filing charge with Bd, not violation, since, even if designed as interrogation to elicit response, statement was directed to open and active U supporter and contained no threat or promise)

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[E's attorney's telephoning an Ee and coercively interrogating him about his participation in GC's investigation of ULP case involving E, violation]

Dayton Typographic Service, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 1188 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)
[E's attorney questioning Ee concerning upcoming ULP trial, asking him if he had given statement to Bd and asking for a copy of his Bd affidavit, not violative, notwithstanding E did not give Johnnie's Poultry assurances, since E did not coerce Ee where Ee implicitly wanted to cooperate with E, there was no evidence that Ee's affidavit would disclose matters outside scope of C, i.e., Ee's U or lack of U activity, and E made no threats to Ee]

5030-8000 Permissible to elicit information necessary in preparation of trial or hearing

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(E's prior unlawful conduct did not create coercive atmosphere rendering unlawful E's attorney's interviews with Ees in preparation for instant hearing, where Ees were interviewed privately and received appropriate assurances, and E's ULPs occurred some 4 months prior to interviews)

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(E's attorney's interviews with Ees in preparation for instant hearing were not rendered unlawful by attorney's questioning Ees whether they could vote freely in a future election, since question did not probe Ees' views concerning U)

Dayton Typographic Service, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 1188 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)
[E's attorney questioning Ee concerning upcoming ULP trial, asking him if he had given statement to Bd and asking for a copy of his Bd affidavit, not violative, notwithstanding E did not give Johnnie's Poultry assurances, since E did not coerce Ee where Ee implicitly wanted to cooperate with E, there was no evidence that Ee's affidavit would disclose matters outside scope of C, i.e., Ee's U or lack of U activity, and E made no threats to Ee]

5030-8001 Generally

Marion Center Supply, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 026
(interrogating Ee as to testimony he might give in instant proceeding with implication that he would be discharged if he gave adverse testimony, violative)

5030-8025 Employees must be apprised of purpose

Interchecks Incorporated, A Subsidiary of United Graphics, Inc. JD-(SF)-23-85
(E's attorney's interrogating Ee to obtain information about incidents involving dischargee who had filed charges with Bd against E, not violative where attorney stated reason for interview, told Ee that his response was on a voluntary basis and that there would be no reprisal for failure to respond, interview was noncoercive and free of E hostility toward U, and questions did not exceed those necessary to accomplish purpose of interview)

5030-8050 Need for disclosure must be balanced against risk of coercion

Glover Bottled Gas Corp. 275 NLRB No. 096
(E counsels' asking Ees about testimony they were going to give at Bd hearing w/o observing Johnnie's Poultry safeguards of informing Ees that their appearance for questioning was voluntary and that there would be no reprisals, violative)

5030-8075 Sufficient probative value of information must be shown

Maritz Communications Company, A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Maritz, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 016
(interrogation of Charging Party by Respondent's attorney during deposition in connection with age discrimination suit which Charging Party had also filed against Respondent, not unlawful, since questions asked fell w/i scope of relevance permitted by Rule 26(b)(1) of Fderal Rules of Civil Procedure inasmuch as discovery not limited to pleadings, but may encompass any matter that bears on or could bear on or rreasonably lead to other matter that could bear on any issue in case, notwithstanding not admissible at trial)

Maritz Communications Company, A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of Maritz, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 016
(questioning of Charging Party concerning his U activities by Respondent's attorney during deposition in connection with age discrimination suit which Charging Party had also filed against Respondent lawful inasmuch as Charging Party's claim in ULP case that decision not to hire him motivated by U membership may have been inconsistent with claim in civil action that decision was due to age, questioning concerning his U activity relevant to whether age was reason for refusal to hire)

Interchecks Incorporated, A Subsidiary of United Graphics, Inc. JD-(SF)-23-85
(E's attorney's interrogating Ee to obtain information about incidents involving dischargee who had filed charges with Bd against E, not violative where attorney stated reason for interview, told Ee that his response was on a voluntary basis and that there would be no reprisal for failure to respond, interview was noncoercive and free of E hostility toward U, and questions did not exceed those necessary to accomplish purpose of interview)

5030-8080 Advice that employees' participation is voluntary

Dresser Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 023
[industrial relations manager's interrogating Ee about ULP charge he filed, violation absent assurances that Ee did not have to answer his questions and would not be disciplined for what he did or did not say]

Joseph A. Perry d/b/a Holiday Inn-Glendale 277 NLRB No. 145
(telling Ee during meeting for purposes of trial preparation, that her participation was voluntary, no type of reprisal would be taken and she was free to leave or stay or talk, held appropriate safeguards and not violative)

5030-8090 Assurances against reprisal

Dresser Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 023
[industrial relations manager's interrogating Ee about ULP charge he filed, violation absent assurances that Ee did not have to answer his questions and would not be disciplined for what he did or did not say]

United States Steel Corporation 279 NLRB No. 004
[supervisor asking Ee who had been subpoened to testify at hearing on alleged unlawful refusal to transfer grievance chairman, to refresh his recollection as to conversation they had had regarding grievance chairman's request for transfer, and when Ee's recollection differed from his, reiterating own version w/o assurances against reprisal, unlawful, since in these circumstances supervisor's remarks were coercive]

Joseph A. Perry d/b/a Holiday Inn-Glendale 277 NLRB No. 145
(telling Ee during meeting for purposes of trial preparation, that her participation was voluntary, no type of reprisal would be taken and she was free to leave or stay or talk, held appropriate safeguards and not violative)

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(E's attorney's interviews with Ees in preparation for instant hearing not unlawful, where attorney's statement to Ees that no threat was involved and that anything said would not be relayed clearly assured Ees that no reprisals would take place; attorney's statement could only have been made clearer by use of word reprisal, but magic words are not required when E's assurances to Ees clearly convey message that no harm will befall them if they choose not to answer or not to answer favorably to E, as here)

5033 HARASSMENT OF UNION ADHERENTS OR OTHER EMPLOYEES

5033-5000 By supervisors

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer 281 NLRB No. 161
[after supervisor obtained knowledge that Ee signed U card, his remark to Ee that he was plant U sent to stir up trouble, violative, as Ee should not expect to incur wrath of supervisor for engaging in protected activity]

5033-8300 By employer

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[threatening to reduce work hours of U supporters to harass them into quitting, violation]

5036 CHANGES IN CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT OR THREATS THEREOF

5036-0100 Generally

5036-0117 Violation where action motivated in part by protected activity

The Lawson Company v. N.L.R.B. 753 F.2d (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)
(under Section 8(a)(1) and (3) of Act, E's motive is critical element in determining whether grant of benefits, prior to R election by E, is violative of Act)

5036-0800 Timing

5036-0825 During critical pre-election period

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[telling Ees around time that RD directed election that there was nothing stopping E from reducing work week from 60 to 40 hours and if U got in work week would be reduced, violative]

Times Wire & Cable Company 280 NLRB No. 003
[the critical period for second election commences as of the date of the first election]

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[E's announcement immediately after ptn was filed, that E's policy on lateness was changed from now on if Ees were late at all, violative]

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[granting Ees, during U campaign, payment for maternity and funeral leave benefits which had been denied them when they actually took such leaves, unlawful]

5036-0850 After election while union objections or challenges are pending

Southland Frozen Foods, Inc. JD-(NY)-78-86
[E's conduct, at time when qcr was pending because of unresolved objections to election, in improving its restroom and cafeteria facilities held not to constitute unlawful granting of benefits, since they were not granted to influence Ee sentiment concerning U representation, in view of absence of active U campaign for considerable period and of any ULP, indefinite period of time before objections to election could be finally adjudicated, and relatively insubstantial nature of benefit]

5036-3300 Employer's knowledge of concerted nature of activity

Consumers Power Company 282 NLRB No. 034
[supervisor held to have known that Ee and coworker were acting in concert when they approached him together to discuss coworker's involvement, while making service call, with customer exhibiting violent attitude toward coworker; E was well aware of Ee's and other Ees concerted safety complaints made at E's weekly meetings and that Ee's complaint to supervisor was continuation of such activity; and since Ee acted for Ees' mutual aid or protection, his actions in approaching supervisor about lack of police protection for coworker while on service call, was protected]

5036-5000 Employer's knowledge of protected activity

Woodline Motor Freight, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 153
[knowledge of Ee's U activities by a supervisor not imputed to E where supervisor denied informing any other of E's officials and he played no role in Ee's discharge]

Wackenhut Corporation JD-288-86
[supervisor's interrogating and threatening 3 Ees about their meeting with official of agency with which E had contract, not violation, despite supervisor's knowledge that Ees acted concertedly, where evidence failed to show that supervisor knew that subject discussed at meeting was protected]

5036-5000—Cont.

Supermarkets General Corporation d/b/a Howland-Steinbach-Hochschilds JD-(NY)-50-86
[it is well established that if E takes discriminatory action against Ee on belief, well founded or not, that Ee was engaged in protected activity, E no less violates Act than if Ee had in fact engaged in such conduct]

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85
(discharges of Ees not unlawful, notwithstanding discharges took place one month after Ees had returned to 40 hour week, previously in slow times hours of all Ees had been cut rather than some Ees discharged, E had had profitable year, and two weeks prior to discharges had granted unit wide salary increase, absent evidence of E knowledge of U organizing activity, and since E offered plausible business and economic reasons for discharges, including fact total hours worked by Ees in dischargees' classification down)

5036-6700 Forms of changes in conditions of employment

5036-6704 Wage or bonus withheld

Felbro, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 186
(E's telling Ees, who were demanding an explanation for layoff of Ee, that if they did not return to work they would be sent home, and then clocking them out and refusing to pay them for the remainder of the day, not violative, since Ees repeatedly refused to go back to work and E took no disciplinary action against Ees but simply refused to pay them for the remainder of the day they refused to work)

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85
(E's discontinuance of gifts of turkeys at Thanksgiving and substitution of cash for fixings, not unlawful, since discontinuance of gifts of turkeys or hams for holidays, not unlawful, as they were merely gifts, and decision to make cash gift made well before E's knowledge of U's organizing campaign)

5036-6708 Denial of promotion

United States Postal Service 275 NLRB No. 041
(E's failure to promote Ee who had been given unlawfully motivated negative evaluation, not unlawful, notwithstanding unlawful evaluation was considered in decision not to promote, since E established Ee would not have been promoted even if evaluated fairly, where Ee selected had superior qualifications)

5036-6710 Reduction or withdrawal of benefits

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer 281 NLRB No. 161
[E's announcement prior to election, that it could no longer consider changing medical insurance carriers because of pending R ptn, violative; E's subsequent announced change in insurance carriers, not violative, since E was simply righting the wrong of withholding a change and to hold otherwise would place employers in the untenable position of being barred from any corrective action once a wrong step was taken during pendency of a R case matter]

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[E's announcement immediately after election, that Ees were no longer permitted to drink free wine or beer with their meals, violative, where timing showed rule was in response to U campaign and Ees had consumed free wine or beer for one year prior to election w/o any question from E]

Tecom, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 038
(discharge of Ee, unlawful, since for protected concerted activity of raising questions and complaining to E about group health insurance proposed by E, where discharge was w/i days of Ee's delivery of letter complaining about confused handling of insurance by E)

5036-6712 Denial of wage increase

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003
[E's refusal to grant Ees wage increases which they would have normally received pursuant to company policy, because of impending election, unlawful]

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[telling Ees that it was stupid to try and organize U and were it not for that, Ees would have received raise, violative]

Times Wire & Cable Company 280 NLRB No. 003
[E's failure to grant an annual wage increase during pendency of U election, violative, where E had established policy for at least 3 years prior to election of granting annual wage increases; further, E's contention that it had no choice but to withhold wage increase because of upcoming election, rejected, where evidence clearly showed E had attempted to place the onus for withholding on the U rather than attempting to comply with the law]

Trover Clinic 280 NLRB No. 002
[informing Ee that wage freeze would not be lifted until the U question was resolved, unlawful, where E had no plans to lift wage freeze, and linked continuation of freeze on U, placing onus for freeze on U, and thereby undermining and discouraging Ee support of U]

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[E's statement that anyone who thought that E would grant wage increase while contract negotiations were pending was crazy, not violation where it may have referred to discretionary wage increase, about whose implementation E was obligated to negotiate, and, even if parties agreed on wage increase during negotiations, E could lawfully refuse to implement increase pending resolution of all issues and execution of agreement]

Safety-Kleen Corp. JD-117-85
(E's stating that it was denying U activist a raise because NLRB would think it was trying to buy a vote, lawful both as statement and as action, since statement was legitimate expression of E's concern that it not appear to interfere with Ees' Sec. 7 rights)

Bowling Green-Warren County Community Hospital Corporation, d/b/a The Medical Center At Bowling Green, Kentucky v. N.L.R.B. 756 F.2d 41 (C.A. 6, Mar. 1985)
(neither 8(a)(1) nor 8(a)(3) violated by E's denial of wage increase to petitioned-for Ee unit while granting it to non-U Ees w/o explanation for such action, since in this type of case, in which either granting or withholding of increase could be found violative, all relevant circumstances should be considered to determine whether E intended to discourage U activity; and here GC stipulated that only reason for disparate treatment was advice of counsel, and there was no evidence contradicting such stipulation)

5036-6713 Withholding of expected wage increase or benefit

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[telling Ees that traditional wage increase was frozen during U organization campaign, violation and interference, since statement was contrary to well established rule that during preelection period E must grant or withhold benefits as if U were not in picture]

United Electrical & Mechanical, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 034
[withholding wage increases which should have been routinely granted in order to influence outcome of election, violative]

Kona 60 Minute Photo 277 NLRB No. 092
(posted notice cancelling pay raises announced before E received U's letters requesting recognition, unlawful, since cancellation was threat to Ees for engaging in U activities, where U's letter, containing boiler-plate request that E maintain the status quo with respect to Ees, cannot reasonably be read as requesting E to cancel pay raise promised before E had notice of U activities; cancellation was not based on any uncertainty whether Act compels or forbids increase during critical election period, nor was E concerned that raise might be construed as unlawful attempt to influence election outcome)

5036-6714 Issuance of, or change in, absenteeism rule

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 163
(telling Ees they would be subject to discipline if they failed to call in on a daily basis to explain their absence from work in the event of a strike, violative)

Brenal Electric, Inc. JD-(NY)-21-84
[E instituting rule that any Ees late on three occasions would be subject to discharge, unlawful, since rule established in retaliation for Ees' U activities]

Fun-Sy Productions, Inc. JD-(NY)-49-85
(E's promulgation of more severe lateness policy in response to Ees' U activity, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Pratt & Whitney Air Craft Division, United Technologies Corporation (Machinist, District 91) 789 F.2d 121 (C.A. 2, Apr. 1986)
[telling Ees that they would have to call in every day that they missed work and provide reason for their absence during period that strike appeared likely and further telling them that failure to follow these procedures would warrant dismissal, violative since advising Ees that call-in was required interfered with their right to strike and threatening discharge for failing to obey edicts might have discouraged some Ees from striking]

5036-6715 Change in policy regarding observance of hours of work

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[announcing and implementing every other weekend off policy, unlawful, where E's prior position for not giving weekends off because of insufficient staffing suddenly changed w/o any increase in staffing; such change came about through E's programs unlawfully soliciting and remedying E complaints and grievances; and benefit was granted during election campaign with no adequate showing of business justification]

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[E's announcement immediately after ptn was filed, that E's policy on lateness was changed from now on if Ees were late at all, violative]

5036-6715—Cont.

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[E's requiring Ees (waiters) to work lunches, violative, where new rule was announced one day after election and E had always accomodated Ees' various schedules before election]

Cassidy Cleaning, Inc. JD-239-86
[E's shortening of grace period allowed for reporting to work, having economic impact on Ees by imposing loss of half hour's pay for failing to comply with grace period, held violative of 8(a)(1) as well as 8(a)(3), in view of timing of E's action w/i month of U's overwhelming U election victory, coupled with animus displayed on other occasions; patent falsity of E's proffered excuse; and E's prior statement about tightening up on tardiness and attendance in event of U victory]

5036-6716 Denial of leave

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[threat to withdraw liberal leave policy in cases of emergency if U won election, violative]

5036-6718 Discipline or warnings thereof

Metropolitan Edison Company 279 NLRB No. 047
[issuing written warning slips to 14 Ees who failed to cross stranger picket line to report to work in violation of no-strike clause, not unlawful, notwithstanding Ees were motivated by fear of injury to themselves or their cars, since acts of picketers did not meet objective test for abnormally dangerous conditions under Section 502, where there were threats and damage to Ees' vechiles but no physical assaults, and 611 of 625 Ees crossed the picket line]

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor's newly imposed warning system and promise of new furnishings, not violative where supervisor was recently hired and such suggestions could well come from such new supervisor and be implemented)

Hughes Helicopters, Inc. JD-(SF)-29-86
[imposing disciplinary warning on U adherent, assertedly for infringing presumptively valid no-solicitation rule, violative where E's supervisors overlooked commercial activities among Ees and supervisors during working time]

N.L.R.B. v. Vought Corporation - MLRS Systems Division 788 F.2d 1378 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1986)
[E's warning Ee that his work was slipping in that there were supply shortages on Ee's work line, unlawful, since warning motivated by Ee's U activities, where E had instituted time consuming procedures, assigned Ee additional duties, and refused to allow him overtime as it had prior to U campaign, in order to cause him to fall behind in his work and thus give E reason to fire him]

N.L.R.B. v. Deauville Hotel 751 F.2d 1562 (C.A. 11, Feb. 1985)
(reprimanding and threatening to discharge Ee for complaints about conditions of lesser job for which he had been rehired after his lawful discharge, not violative, since complaints were not protected activity where Ee was not initiating group action but demonstrating a bad attitude and discrupting the work place with personal gripes)

5036-6719 Restriction to work area

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[restricting Ee movement w/i plant upon advent of U organizing activity, unlawful, since it was done in order to demonstrate how unpleasant life could be made if Ees continued their support for U and in order to limit opportunities Ees might have to muster support for U]

5036-6720 Discharge

Business Services By Manpower, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 784 F.2d 442 (C.A. 2, Feb. 1986)
[E employment agency's discharge of 2 Ees for failing to make timely reports of their unavailability to work, not violative where, Ees refused to pass pickets who were giving information about strike at different plant and pickets had not even asked them to do this, w/o any regard for interests of E and w/o notice sufficient to permit their replacement]

N.L.R.B. v. CER Inc. 762 F.2d 482 (C.A. 5, June 1985)
(Ee choosing to quit job rather than change manner in which he protested E's violations of bargaining agreement, which E viewed as prohibited since Ee was leaving his work station to correct violations, held constructive discharge rather than voluntary quit and violative, since Ee was faced with choice of discontinuing protected U activity or being terminated)

5036-6720-3700 For refusal to cross primary picket line at own employer's premises

Limpert Brothers, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 037
(discharge of Ees for refusing to cross lawful picket line, violative, since picketing is protected concerted activity and refusal to cross picket line is also protected concerted activity, and question of motivation on part of Ees' refusal to cross picket line is irrelevant)

5036-6720-4300 Constructive discharge

South Nassau Communities Hospital 274 NLRB No. 179
[there are two elements necessary to establish constructive discharge: (1) burdens imposed on Ee must cause change in working conditions so difficult or unpleasant as to force him to resign, and (2) it must be shown that those burdens were imposed because of Ee's U activities)

5036-6720-5000 Strikers

Dublin Town Ltd. 282 NLRB No. 046
[Ees held to have been unlawfully discharged for engaging in strike since, under Ridgeway test (243 NLRB 1048) for determining whether E's statements constituted unlawful discharge, E's stating that if Ees did not return to work he would have to suspend operations gave Ees reasonable basis for believing that they had been discharged; moreover, to extent ambiguity existed, E, upon being faced with Ees' picketing, should have advised them that they had not been discharged]

Dublin Town Ltd. 282 NLRB No. 046
[Ee held not ULP striker but unlawfully discharged for engaging in strike with other Ees; although told by E he could return to work if he wanted, Ee could reasonably believe he was discharged when he told E he would not return to work w/o other Ees; such belief was reinforced by E's subsequent conduct and statements consistent with discharge; and when Ees' picketing gave Ee clear signal that Ees believed they had been discharged, E failed to clear up any ambiguity by advising Ees they were mistaken]

Summa Corporation d/b/a Desert Inn Country Club & Spa 275 NLRB No. 116
(discharge of striking Ee assertedly for picket line misconduct consisting of repeatedly striking with his picket sign automobile entering struck E's premises, unlawful, where E reasonably and honestly believed that E engaged in conduct in question based upon fabrications of driver of automobile, but such conduct, in fact never occurred; NLRB v. Burnup & Simms, 379 U.S. 21, followed)

Atlantic Interstate Messengers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 171
(discharging drivers by telling them to turn in their keys in order to collect their last paychecks because of their economic strike, violative)

Raygio Corporation d/b/a The Dirt Digger, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 157
(discharge of Ees when they returned ready to work next day after picketing to protest changes in working conditions, including change of basis of payment from time to feet of cable laid, unlawful. E's contentions that picketers quit or that discharges lawful because picketers refused to accept lawful new pay plan, rejected, since rather than quit Ees abandoned strike and offered to return to work, and lawful economic strikers may not be discharged)

Ozark Properties, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn 274 NLRB No. 096
(discharge of Ees because of their participation in and support of a strike over working conditions violative, notwithstanding E's contention Ees were voluntary quits when they refused to return to work after a demand to return to work, where Ees walked off job at beginning of work day and set up picket line to protest work conditions and later that day, when striking Ees met with president of E, he demanded that Ees return to work or pick up their paycheck and normal practice of E was to give Ees a final paycheck when they were terminated)

5036-6720-5600 For engaging in intermittent, recurrent or partial strike

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 277 NLRB No. 081
(E's terminating Ees for spontaneous refusal to work for 1 day in protest of unique and adverse working conditions, even in face of companyrule requiring permission to leave job, violative, since such single concerted walkoout was presumptively protected, absent evidence that work stoppage was part of plan or pattern of intermittent action inconsistent with genuine withholding of services or strike)

5036-6720-6300 Of supervisor if discharge directly interferes with employees' Section 7 rights

Advertiser's Manufacturing Company 280 NLRB No. 128
[discharging supervisor solely because of U activities of her son, violation, since impact of her discharge on her son's U activities, magnified by E's other unlawful acts directed against him, compels that he be protected by finding discharge a violation and ordering his mother reinstated with backpay]

5036-6720-6700 For supervisor's refusal to engage in illegal activities

Best Western Motor Inn 281 NLRB No. 026
[discharging supervisors for refusing E's unlawful request to surveil and gather information about Ees' U activities, violation where alleged reasons for discharges occurred long before and were not mentioned at time, theories were inconsistent, and supervisors' wages and benefits were increased prior to their refusal]

5036-6720-6700—Cont.

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(discharge of supervisor, not unlawful, since not for refusal to commit ULPs and failure to prevent unionization of Ees, where supervisor made no objections to going along with pretext for discharge of adherent)

5036-6720-7000 Mass discharge

Shore Pointe Associates, Inc., d/b/a Americare Convalescent Center 280 NLRB No. 130
[while in typical Wright Line case GC must demonstate E's awareness of pro-U acts or sentiments of individual Ees, GC can proceed on theory that E ordered general layoffs for purpose of discouraging U activity even if not all pro-U Ees are directly effected; E's general retaliation against workforce can discourage exercise of Sec. 7 rights just as effectively as adverse action taken against only known U supporters]

Shore Pointe Associates, Inc., d/b/a Americare Convalescent Center 280 NLRB No. 130
[pre-election mass discharge of Ees assertedly because of economic necessity held violative of 8(a)(1) as well as 8(a)(3) where E, in face of warnings to reduce costs, hired additional Ees and incurred other avoidable business expenses; only logical reason for discharges was to impose chilling effect on Ees about to vote for U representation; such chilling effect was implemented by E's other unlawful conduct; and asserted economic basis for discharges was not credited in view of E's business expenditures]

5036-6720-7300 Protesting unsafe conditions

Meyers Industries, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 118
[discharge of Ee for refusing to drive unsafe truck and reporting vehicle to authorities, not unlawful, since Ee's actions did not constitute concerted activity, absent any linkage to group action]

Mush Transportation, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 071
[discharge of drivers because they refused to drive unsafe vehicle after complaining to management of vehicle's unsafe condition and were ordered by E to do so]

Quality C.A.T.V., Inc. 278 NLRB No. 156
[discharge of two TV linemen who installed television strands on utility poles and who refused to work during and after rainstorm because they were wet, violative, since their concerted refusal to work was to protest requirement that they climb poles when wet, an employment condition. Ee's protest was protected whether Ees acted because they were concerned about their safety, their personal comfort, or their supervisor's attitude. In carrying out their protest, Ees did not exceed permissable bounds of protected activity]

Bechtel Power Corporation 277 NLRB No. 088
(discharge of ee, assertedly for violating E's hardhat rules, violative, since real reason was Ee's complaints about breathing exhaust fumes in working area which complaints were protected concerted activity under City Disposal, where Ee's complaints were embodied in contract which had clause providing that all workmen and E's were to see that safe working conditions are maintained on all jobs. Ee complained to E-official who admitted receiving similar complaints from other Ees, Ee was longtime U member and told official he wanted to talk to steward and other Ees were not similarly discharged for similar hardhat violations)

Enco Elevators, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 138
(on ct remand, discharge that was motivated by individual Ee's safety complaints that were found to constitute U endeavor, not mere personal undertaking, held not to establish independent 8(a)(1) violation)

Dr. Olinda Flore JD-12-86
[discharging Ee for concerted protected activity of protesting requirement that Ees attend seminar w/o receiving wages and unsafe x-ray procedures, violation where staleness and lack of earlier concern over Ees' alleged poor performance made allegation insufficient to overcome GC's prima facie case]

N.L.R.B. v. McEwer Engineering, Inc. 784 F.2d 634 (C.A. 5, Mar. 1986)
[discharge of Ees who failed to return to work because of their perceived hazzardous conditions on job, violative. Ees were engaged in one-time strike of short duration (protected) as opposed to partial strike (unprotected). E had constructive knowledge of protected nature of activity notwithstanding when Ees told company clerk, sent by supervisor to ask Ees why they were not returning to work, they would return to work after it stopped raining, and he only reported to supervisor that the men were not ready to come back to work]

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 766 F.2d 969 (C.A. 6, July 1985)
(discharging Ee for refusing to drive truck believed to be unsafe, violative, since it was concerted assertion of contractual right and protected where it was justified and not abusive)

Kenneth P. Prill v. N.L.R.B. 755 F.2d 941 (C.A.D.C., Feb. 1984)
(in remanding Bd decision announcing new restrictive test for concerted activities for reconsideration because of law, ct held facts herein highlighted Bd's failure to give considered judgment on issues involved where Bd upheld discharge of Ee for refusing to drive vehicle determined to be unsafe despite fact Ee and E were under legal obligation not to operate vehicle; and Bd's decision produced anomaly that U worker in same situation under bargaining contract, unlike unorganized Ee herein, is protected under Interfoto and City Disposal 104 S.Ct 1055)

5036-6720-7500 For engaging in protected activity

Chelsea Laboratories, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 074
[discharging Ee for concerted, protected activity of protesting E's apparent failure to discuss recognizing U with Ee committee before making decision as promised, violation]

Waggener-Walker Newspapers, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 070
[summary discharge of 11 Ees who presented group complaint concerning air conditioning and supervisor's behavior, violation, notwithstanding E's contention that Ees had voluntarily quit]

Every Woman's Place, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 048
[discharging Ee for concerted, protected activity of telephoning Wage and Hour Division of Labor Department to ask what pay Ees were entitled to receive for working on holidays, violation, notwithstanding E's valid claim of need to reduce staff due to budget cuts, where Ee was replaced by less qualified Ee at higher pay rate]

Dublin Town Ltd. 282 NLRB No. 046
[Ees held to have been unlawfully discharged for engaging in strike since, under Ridgeway test (243 NLRB 1048) for determining whether E's statements constituted unlawful discharge, E's stating that if Ees did not return to work he would have to suspend operations gave Ees reasonable basis for believing that they had been discharged; moreover, to extent ambiguity existed, E, upon being faced with Ees' picketing, should have advised them that they had not been discharged]

Dublin Town Ltd. 282 NLRB No. 046
[Ee held not ULP striker but unlawfully discharged for engaging in strike with other Ees; although told by E he could return to work if he wanted, Ee could reasonably believe he was discharged when he told E he would not return to work w/o other Ees; such belief was reinforced by E's subsequent conduct and statements consistent with discharge; and when Ees' picketing gave Ee clear signal that Ees believed they had been discharged, E failed to clear up any ambiguity by advising Ees they were mistaken]

Modern Iron Works, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 131
[discharge of Ees for engaging in work stoppage when they sought to get larger wage increase than they had received from E, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention that they had quit, where work stoppage was protected concerted activity, and there was no evidence Ees voluntarily relinquished their employment with E, which was clearly evidenced by their spokesman's express disclaimer that they had quit]

B & P Trucking, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 092
[discharging Ee spokesman for expressing Ees' complaints about pay and work assignments and threatening to get Ees together and go to U for help in resolving their complaints, violation]

Dandridge Textile, Inc., Ronald W. Woods, Individually and As Officer and Managing Agent 279 NLRB No. 015
[discharge of 2 Ees for remarks made to E's owner in meeting concerning wage increases, violative notwithstanding owner may have found Ees' remarks unpleasant or distressing, where Ees' statements were not so vulgar or defamatory as to render them unfit for further service]

Woodline Motor Freight, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 152
[discharge of driver violative of Sec. 8(a)(1) where for requesting installation of airconditioning in E's trucks, since request concerted inasmuch as driver had spoken to several other Ees about matter, notwithstanding he discussed airconditioning with E's president w/o going through chain of command thus violating rule, where E's president himself did not attempt to enforce rule, and discharge memo did not spedifically mention violation of rule as reason for discharge; however, discharge not violative of Sec. 8(a)(3) in view of lack of knowledge of Ee's U activities by E's officials who discharged him]

The Zack Company 278 NLRB No. 134
[E unlawfully discharged Ees for requesting U to file grievance to collect overtime wages, where Ees were not as unproductive as E claimed, and E did not consistently discipline Ees for insufficient production; moreover, there was no ambiguity in superintendant's admission to steward that Ees were discharged because they were trying to collect money for something they didn't work for, thereby obviously referring to Ees' grievance that they would have worked overtime had it not been for E's improper transfer of Ees to different work areas]

American Mirror Company, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 179
[threatening Ee with discharge for protesting E-conducted poll of Ee support for U, violation, notwithstanding that poll was lawful, since Ee's remarks constituted protected activity]

5036-6720-7500—Cont.

American Lebanese Syrian Associated Charities, Inc. d/b/a A.L.S.A.C. 277 NLRB No. 189
[discharge of Ees because of their p[illegible]ssion and dissemination of allegedly confidential list showing Ees' [illegible] pay raises, in violation of E's rules, violative, where E's claim that list confidential seriously undercut by fact that list was left at copy machine used by all Ees, E had known for months that Ees possessed list yet did nothing and Ees were discharged for violation of unlawful rule prohibiting talking about salaries]

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171
[maintaining and enforcing policy of terminating Ees who entered into workers' compensation settlements, not violation, since an Ee's pursuit of worker's compensation claim does not constitute concerted activity]

The Loft (Showcase, Inc.) 277 NLRB No. 170
[discharge of Ee, unlawful, where for protected concerted activity of complaining to E about tip pool policy, and subsequently discussing problem with other Ees, rather than for calling E's owner obscene names]

Pete O'Dell & Sons Steel Erectors 275 NLRB No. 140
(discharge, layoff after subsequent rehire of Ee, violative, as Ee was engaged in protected concerted activity when he testified before Army Corps of Engineers during their investigation of U complaint that E was not in compliance with Davis-Bacon Act by classifying Ees as laborers thereby failing to pay Ees ironworkers wages for ironworker work performed by laborers, as Ee was engaged in U activity by assisting U with their complaint, and E tied other 8(a)(1) violations to Ee's U activities)

Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel Corporation 277 NLRB No. 160
(discharge of Ee for refusing to operate equipment until he had implemented contractual provision permitting Ees to call for inspection by U safety representative, unlawful)

Aztec Concrete, Inc. and E.M.L. Construction Company, Joint Emp[illegible]yers 277 NLRB No. 142
(discharging Ees for complaining to Corps of Engineers about E's failure to comply with Davis-Bacon wage and job-classification requirements at federal military installation, violation)

D & D Distribution Company, A Division of D & D Sewing Company 277 NLRB No. 097
(discharge of Ee assertedly for excessive tardiness and absenteeism, unlawful, notwithstanding that Ee's record of tardiness was substantially worse than that of any other Ee in the year before his discharge, and that E had no past record of ULPs, where E failed to show that Ee would have been terminated for tardiness and absenteeism even in absence of his concerted activity)

D & D Distribution Company, A Division of D & D Sewing Company 277 NLRB No. 097
(discharge of Ee assertedly for excessive tardiness and absenteeism, unlawful, where inference was warranted that E had knowledge of Ee's protected concerted activities; for months-long period prior to discharge Ee was neither docked for, nor warned about his attendance but, instead, was praised for his work; and immediately after discharge E told Ee that real reason for discharge was not lateness but Ee's attitude toward E, thereby supporting inference that Ee's concerted activities caused his termination)

Daniel Construction Company, A Division of Daniel International Corporation 277 NLRB No. 081
(E's terminating Ees for spontaneous refusal to work for 1 day in protest of unique and adverse working conditions, even in face of companyrule requiring permission to leave job, violative, since such single concerted walkoout was presumptively protected, absent evidence that work stoppage was part of plan or pattern of intermittent action inconsistent with genuine withholding of services or strike)

Alamo Cement Company 277 NLRB No. 034
(E's telling two individuals whose job title E had changed from operator to supervisor that if they wanted to become part of the bargaining unit, E could arrange it, not violative, notwithstanding individuals were found to be Ees, not supervisors, where statement was too ambiguous to constitute threat to demote or discharge them as alleged)

Tecom, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 038
(discharge of Ee, unlawful, since for protected concerted activity of raising questions and complaining to E about group health insurance proposed by E, where discharge was w/i days of Ee's delivery of letter complaining about confused handling of insurance by E)

Airlines Transportation Company 277 NLRB No. 037
(discharge for honest and reasonable invocation of collectively bargained right to half-hour lunch period, violative)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(in finding bargaining order warranted, Bd held threats of closure of E's operation and discharge of leading U activists were particular violations which were likely to have lasting inhibitive effect on substantial percentage of work force)

Squier Distributing Company 276 NLRB No. 133
(discharge of Ees for giving statements to sheriff in connection with his investigation of possible embezzlement of corporate funds by E, violative, as Ees were acting for their mutual aid or protection since they viewed -- as result of 2 after work meetings -- that their concerted cooperation with sheriff as best method of safeguarding their jobs which bears relationship to Ees' interests as Ees and is, therefore, concerted activity. Disloyalty claim rejected)

A. N. Electric Corp. 276 NLRB No. 092
(Ee's confronting supervisor demanding to know whether job was federally funded in presence of Ee's son, a fellow Ee, discussing supervisor's responses with son, and pressing supervisor for higher wages for Ee and others held concerted activity which was aimed at attaining higher wages and thus protected under Sec. 7; E's discharge of these two Ees, motivated by their concerted activity, violative)

A. N. Electric Corp. 276 NLRB No. 092
(three Ees agreeing among themselves to contact Labor Department investigator to pursue possibility of their cooperating in wage investigation to secure higher wages and giving statements to investigator together with fourth Ee's subsequent statement which was result of another meeting with investigator, held protected concerted activity; E's discharge of four Ees, violative where E knew of concerted nature of activities and was motivated by activities in discharging them)

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant 276 NLRB No. 087
(discharge of Ee motivated by his protected concerted activity in criticizing E for its alleged discriminatory treatment against Hispanics held unlawful and interference where E stated he discharged Ee because he called me prejudiced. I considered it an insult, thereby admitting Ee's remarks motivated his discharge)

Technicolor Government Services, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 041
(discharging U steward for distributing to E's Ees application forms for employment with another E, who was bidder in competition for E's position as service contractor found unlawful where activity was concerted, protected U activity that was not disruptive and did not breach any existing rule of E)

Center Ridge Co. 276 NLRB No. 015
(discharge of security officer after he complained to news media about alleged conflict between county licensing requirements and new work procedures announced by E, not violative where Ee's concern about conflict between its procedures and county's licensing requirements for security guards was not shared by any of his fellow Ees)

McEver Engineering, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 128
(discharge of Ees for engaging in protected concerted activity involving their refusal to return to work in unsafe, rainy, wet conditions, violative)

Georgia Kraft Company, Woodcraft Division 275 NLRB No. 091
(on remand, Bd held that, in light of decision in Clear Pine Mouldings, E's discharge of two strikers, who visited home of non-striking Ee and in presence of Ee's pregnant wife and young daughter stated, while cursing in drunken state, that they would take care of Ee if he returned to work was not unlawful, since strikers' remark constituted threat and circumstances were obviously coercive and intimidating)

Herrick & Smith 275 NLRB No. 062
(where reason for poor evaluation and subsequent discharge (poor work performance and attitude) by supervisor found pretextual, and that evaluation based on only 1 week's work permits inference to be drawn that supervisor was trying to build case for Ee'sdischarge in retaliation for Ee organizing meeting with managing partner and other Ees in which complaints against supervisor were aired)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(discharge for complaining about working condictions, including supervisor's on-the-job conduct, possible changes in work rules, and job security, violative)

Spartan Business Equipment, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 216
(discharge of Ee for participating in joint protest of E's failure to reimburse other Ee for expenses he incurred from using his own car to perform services for E, violative, particularly where E angrily accused Ee of attempting to unionize other Ee immediately prior to discharging him)

Advance Cleaning Service 274 NLRB No. 141
(violation by discharging Ees for concerted refusal to work overtime because snow had started falling and the one car which took them home was scheduled to pick them up at 4:00 p.m., where refusal was single occurrence, rather than intermittent or partial strike, and thus protected)

Volt Information Sciences, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 047
(discharge, allegedly because of Ee's complaints, not violative, where it was because of Ee's substandard work performance, which, after E's warning that it must improve, deteriorated instead)

Country Crest Creations, Ltd. JD-271-86
[discharging Ees for walking out because factory was too cold to work in, violation]

5036-6720-7500—Cont.

Oil Field Construction Company JD-(SF)-104-86
[failing to assign any work, and substantially reducing amount of work assigned, to Ees held unlawful since E's action was due to Ees' grievance-filing activity, in view of timing of E's conduct in relationship to Ees' filing of grievances, E's statements indicating that E's action was taken because of Ees' grievance activity, E's hostility toward Ee for same reason, E's failure to assure Ee of no discrimination for filing grievance, and fact that counter-vailing factors were insufficient to undermine GC's prima facie case]

Heck's, Inc. JD159-86
[discharging Ee for enlisting Ees to press claims of sexual harassment by supervisor, violation]

Seven-Up Bottling Company, Inc. JD-160-86
[discharge of Ee for making statements referring to negotiations between E and U that E considered detrimental to negotiations, violative]

Locks Industries, Inc. JD-150-86
[discharge of Ee for making threats to E's plant manager in course of discussion about other Ees, not unlawful, where Ee's actions were neither concerted nor protected]

Bombay Palace of Westchester, Inc. JD-(NY)-81-85
[discharging Ee spokesman for complaining about conditions of employment and filing complaint with state department of labor, violation]

Paint America Co. JD-17-86
[discharge of Ees allegedly for concertedly complaining to E regarding wages, hours, and working conditions, not unlawful, where Ees were discharged for flagrant violation of most basic of industrial rules regarding privacy of confidential documents; there was no connection between Ees purported complaints and their discharge; rather, they were discharged for handling and looking through documents of their supervisor, which conduct Ees knew was wrong]

Dr. Olinda Flora JD-12-86
[discharging Ee for concerted protected activity of protesting requirement that Ees attend seminar w/o receiving wages and unsafe x-ray procedures, violation where staleness and lack of earlier concern over Ees' alleged poor performance made allegation insufficient to overcome GC's prima facie case]

The Fred B. Debra Company JD-337-85
(discharge of Ee who spoke to supervisor about performing unit work under U contract, unlawful)

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. JD-276-85
(discharge of U adherent because he complained to his fellow Ees about having his (time) card pulled for clocking in one minute late and during this incident calling management a perjorative term, violative, since Ee's initial complaint was (protected) concerted activity w/i meaning of Act. Using obscenity did not deprive Ee of right to relief)

Exxon Shipping Company JD-(NY)-96-85
(allegation in complaint that discharge of Ee who had been unlawfully interviewed w/o requested U representation, dismissed, since under Taracorp. Industries, 273 NLRB No. 54, no make whole remedy will be ordered for Weingarten violations, where E was discharged for violation of rule against possession of drugs on E's property rather than for asserting his right to U representation)

Cordura Publications, Inc., d/b/a Mitchell Manuals, Inc. JD-(SF)-132-85
(discharge of Ees for authoring and sending letter to Chairman of the Board complaining about E's labor research practices and expressing concern for the industry and our product, not violative, since letter did not directly relate to wages, hours and working conditions but rather was an attack upon E's management and product and organizational structure of the company, thus rendering it unprotected)

Signal Delivery Service, Inc. JD-231-85
(discharging driver Ees, violative notwithstanding E's contention that they had voluntarily quit, where discharge of Ees was made because Ees had complained to E about dispatch procedure and withheld their services because they were unable to satisfactorily resolve matter with E)

Reilly's Sunset Chevrolet, Inc. JD-(SF)-94-85
(discharge of Ee for engaging in confrontation with E over its pay policies on behalf of other Ees, violative)

Onan Corporation, A Division of Onan Corporation JD-(ATL)-11-85
(suspension and discharge of Ee for refusing to comply with E's demand that he remove T-shirt with U insignia and other U paraphenalia from his work place, violative, since Ee's action was not insubordinate or proper basis for discipline in view of discrimination inherent in E's demand)

Hyde Park Community Hospital JD-62-85
(discharging Ee in retaliation for his filing grievance, through U, for overtime, violative)

Electrical Individual Contractor JD-6-85
(discharges violative where they were for drivers' concerted protected complaint about not being paid for time spent driving Es' trucks to jobsite 30 miles away and consequent lack of workmen's compensation insurance coverage while doing so rather than for refusal to drive Es' trucks, as contended)

GG Dewitt, Inc., d/b/a Sterling Car Care JD-38-85
(discharge of Ees who were gas station attendants for complaining about working conditions: work schedules, cleanup duties, threatened layoffs, and especially problem of recurrent cash shortages on their shift, unlawful, where discharges came at time when Ees were complaining about matters about which under law they had right to complain, and absent any action during conversation about these matters which would strip them of protection of law)

Herrick & Smith v. N.L.R.B. 802 F.2d 565 (C.A. 1, Sept. 1986)
[enforcement denied where Bd affirmed ALJ's decision that real reason for Ee's discharge was concerted activity involving airing of Ee complaints at E-Ee meeting, since Bd did not meet its burden that Ee's protected conduct was substantial or motivating factor for discharge, where ALJ based finding of violation on mildest form of E-Ee meeting suggested by E which was conducted agreeably and was followed by no unpleasant acts or words; and ALJ misstated evidence, reasoned illogically, and reached unsupported and unsupportable decision]

D & D Distribution Company, A Division of D & D Sewing Company v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 636 (C.A. 3, Sept. 1986)
[discharge for repeated lateness of Ee who had discussed wages with other Ees and suggested that they contact U if next wage increase was unsatisfactory, violation where lateness was sanctioned by E, rule was elastic term, conditions for discharge were not rigid, and Ee received no recent warnings, was not docked any pay, and received positive evaluation and offer of promotion]

Dayton Typographic Service, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 1188 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)
[discharge of Ee, assertedly because he presented a personal gripe to E concerning work w/o pay rather than engaging in group activity, violative, since Ee was engaged in a continuation of concerted activity where, prior to discharge, Ee and other Ees had complained to E about working w/o pay and other conditions of employment and Ee continued thereafter to press Ees' complaints, albeit w/o their formal authorization, but a fact which will not negate concert of action]

John Morrison, et al. (Carriage Ford, Inc.) v. N.L.R.B. 772 F.2d 283 (C.A. 6, Sept. 1985)
[Bd properly found that Ees had voluntarily quit and were not unlawfully discharged for engaging in protected activity of protesting change in work hours, where it was conceded by all parties that E had right to set working hours and, contrary to Ees claim that they were given no opportunity to discuss new hours and were summarily discharged. Bd found that E announced new hours and gave all Ees, and not just Ees herein, option of continuing to work new hours or leaving their employment]

City Disposal Systems, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 766 F.2d 969 (C.A. 6, July 1985)
(discharging Ee for refusing to drive truck believed to be unsafe, violative, since it was concerted assertion of contractual right and protected where it was justified and not abusive)

N.L.R.B. v. Searle Auto Glass, Inc., d/b/a Best Glass Company 762 F.2d 769 (C.A. 9, June 1985)
(discharge of Ee, who had filed wage claim with state agency, assertedly for skimming and moonlighting, unlawful, where E failed to set forth reasons for firing Ee until Bd hearing, other Ee purportedly involved in skimming was transferred not discharged, and E refused to rehire other Ees who had filed wage claims against E)

N.L.R.B. v. Technicolor Government Services, Inc. 795 F.2d 916 (C.A. 11, Aug. 1986)
[discharging U steward for distributing to E's Ees application forms for employment with another E, who was bidder in competition for E's position as service contractor, violative since activity was concerted and protected]

5036-6720-9000 Preventing employees from engaging in protected activity

Coca Cola Bottling Company of Buffalo, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 195
(discharge of Ee, assertedly to maintain supposedly uniform disciplinary system, violative where real reason for discharge was to discourage him and other Ees from offering testimony which would exonerate other Ee and thereby demonstrate that E had erred in accusing other E of strike misconduct)

5036-6723 Requiring Ees to present identification in order to obtain paychecks

N.L.R.B. v. Del Rey Tortilleria, Inc. 787 F.2d 1118 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)
[posting notice, 2 days after U notified E of its organizational effort, that Ees were required to present 2 forms of identification to obtain their paychecks, unlawful, where E had never taken such action before and it was never repeated afterwards]

5036-6723—Cont.

5036-6724 Food or merchandise policy to employees

Benmit Division, U.S. Tubular, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 083
[disconnecting telephones and vending machines on day after anti-U speech and not replacing them for a month to show Ees what U shop was like, violation]

Terraillon Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037
[E's discontinuance for two months during pendency of R case of its long standing practice of providing free lunches for office clericals upon arrival of merchandise by container trucks for unloading, not unlawful, absent evidence E sought to punish clericals for their U activities, where lunches continued to be furnished for warehouse Ees notwithstanding election also pending in unit of warehouse Ees, in view of considerable time lapse after E learned of activity until suspension of lunches, and fact failure to furnish free lunches involved only three or four occasions]

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[E's announcement immediately after election, that Ees were no longer permitted to drink free wine or beer with their meals, violative, where timing showed rule was in response to U campaign and Ees had consumed free wine or beer for one year prior to election w/o any question from E]

M.B.K., Inc. d/b/a Scotch & Sirloin Restaurant JD-(SF)-311-82
(changing policy after start of U activity by denying Ees free aftershift drink and use of salad bar, violative)

5036-6725 Downgrading or demotion

Scientific-Atlanta, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 090
[demotion of Ee for discussing other Ees' merit raises with another Ee, on grounds Ee was disclosing confidential information and thus was not engaged in protected activity, violative, where Ee was not a confidential Ee so as to give her special duties and responsibilities towards Ees and E cannot lawfully prevent Ees from discussing topics as critical to Ee interests as wages]

Alamo Cement Company 277 NLRB No. 034
(E's telling two individuals whose job title E had changed from operator to supervisor that if they wanted to become part of the bargaining unit, E could arrange it, not violative, notwithstanding individuals were found to be Ees, not supervisors, where statement was too ambiguous to constitute threat to demote or discharge them as alleged)

5036-6726 Evaluation of work

Herrick & Smith 275 NLRB No. 062
(where reason for poor evaluation and subsequent discharge (poor work performance and attitude) by supervisor found pretextual, and that evaluation based on only 1 week's work permits inference to be drawn that supervisor was trying to build case for Ee'sdischarge in retaliation for Ee organizing meeting with managing partner and other Ees in which complaints against supervisor were aired)

United States Postal Service 275 NLRB No. 041
(supervisor giving Ee negative evaluation, violative, since motivated by Ee's protected concerted activity of filing and presenting grievances as U steward against supervisor)

5036-6728 Denial of sick pay or change in sick leave policy

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(requiring U ahderent to bring in doctor's slip when absent for illness, unlawful, where such documentation had not been required prior to U activity)

Texaco, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 164
(RD erred in refusing to permit withdrawal of charge alleging E unlawfully withheld accident and sick benefits from Ees who were receiving such benefits prior to economic strike, where parties had reached strike settlement agreement under which U agreed to end strike, withdraw charges, and each Ee was to receive at least $150 in settlement of outstanding contractual claims, since benefits withheld no more than contractual term subsequently negotiated away in good faith, no other ULPs extant and no Ee objected; primary interest served by continual rights of a few Ees rather than public rights)

5036-6733 Illegal conditions on reinstatement

5036-6733-3300 Of strikers

Rockwood & Company and W. H. Gonyea Trust No. 1–17 d/b/a Timber Products Co. 277 NLRB No. 078
(conditioning reinstatement of economic strikers upon their resignation of U membership, violation)

5036-6733-6700 Of other employees

Paintsville Hospital Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 107
[discharged U activist's statement that if director of Ee relations could get her reinstated, she could stop U campaign, followed by director's response that he was in no position to do so and that he could not do anything that would constitute ULP, not violative, even if director made concluding remark that he would see what he could do for her; in light of his prior statements, she could not have perceived such remark as unlawful inducement]

5036-6735 Prohibiting solicitation and/or distribution of literature during employees own time on employer's premises

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[interfering with distribution of literature in non-work areas during non-work time, violative and objectionable where Ees were told they could not distribute literature at plant entrance but would have to go to plant gate, and two Ees were threatened with arrest and escorted by security guards to plant gate]

Southern Maryland Hospital Center v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 666 (C.A. 4, Sept. 1986)
[E's Chief Executive Officer's confiscating U campaign materials being distributed by Ee at cafeteria entrance not violative where Official distributed to Ees most of materials he took and no Ee was intimidated by the incident. Conduct in this case was at most a minimal intrusion on Ee rights and not violative]

5036-6737 Layoff

Island Creek Coal Company and Langley and Morgan Corporation, Joint Employers 279 NLRB No. 116
[mining company reducing amount of work assigned to construction company which was performing work for it, and thus causing layoffs of construction company Ees, not unlawful act by mining company, since mining company not joint E with construction company, its motives for reducing work cannot be imputed to construction company, nor was layoff unlawful act by construction company, absent discriminatory motive on its part]

Aztec Concrete, Inc. and E.M.L. Construction Company, Joint Employers 277 NLRB No. 142
(layoffs allegedly because of slack work, Ees' substandard performance, drinking on job, and extended lunch breaks, violation where they were due to Ees' complaining to Corps of Engineers about E's failure to comply with Davis-Bacon wage and job-classification requirements at federal military installation)

Garland Coal & Mining Co. 276 NLRB No. 102
(layoff of Ee on 2 occasions, allegedly for his activity in presenting grievances, not unlawful, where layoff was motivated by valid business reasons; Ee was properly selected for layoff as one who was least senior Ee on seniority list; after first layoff, Ee was given fair test, which he failed, of his ability to operate certain equipment; record did not show that following first layoff, Ee would have been recalled earlier but for his activity in presenting grievances; and procedures applied to him were no different than those applied to other Ees)

John H. Cooney, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 088
(layoff of two Ees, (who did not kick-back to their E their backpay, to which State Department of Labor determined they were entitled) because project upon which they were working was suspended, not violative, since their work project was suspended; no additional work was available for them; and that two Ees did not kick back to E not supported by record; two Ees would have been laid off regardless of any protected activity w/i which they may have engaged)

Fermont, A Division of Dynamics Corporation of America 274 NLRB No. 131
(layoff of Ee for having continued to press safety complaints, violative)

Trans Tech Electric, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 089
(violation where E laid Ee off for concerted activity of complaining that certain work should be done by members of his and his fellow Ees' U and for putting pressure on E by getting the U involved in the matter)

5036-6741 Less favorable treatment

Benmit Division, U.S. Tubular, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 083
[disconnecting telephones and vending machines on day after anti-U speech and not replacing them for a month to show Ees what U shop was like, violation]

Page Avjet, Incorporated 278 NLRB No. 063
[E's refusal to allow U adherent to perform light work while Ee was injured, not unlawful, since E's policy was that injured Ees must perform light duty w/i their usual work functions, and Ee could not thus perform while on crutches, Ee did not inform E when he discontinued use of crutches, and when he reported to work w/o crutches, he was returned to work]

5036-6741—Cont.

Mobile Concrete, Inc. JD-453-84
(E's ban on use of personal radios by Ees in their trucks, assertedly in response to Ees' U organizing activities, not violative where ban was due to transmitting of music from drivers' radios over two-way frequency which interfered with E's dispatching of trucks and also triggered official complaint to Federal Communications Commission from another concern sharing same frequency with E)

5036-6743 Harsher working conditions or rules

Wabash Alloys, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 059
[assigning Ee to more arduous work as result of his safety complaint, violative]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's implementation of more onerous terms and conditions of employment relating to break time, use of telephones, and movement w/i E's facility, unlawful since, even accepting Ee's explanation of abuse of phone usage, other restrictions were not fully explained or justified by E and, in view of failure to explain timing of restrictions during U organizational effort, conclusion was that restrictions were retaliatory to such effort and was response to Ee's threat to take matter involving supervisor to Bd]

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(E's denial of helper to Ee who was handling very heavy pipe, unlawful, since denial because of Ee's U activities where previously more than one Ee had been assigned to jobs which involved such heavy pipe, and E had threatened to punish U activists)

Morning Star International, Inc. JD-209-86
[E's conduct, in anticipation of U demand for recognition, in converting attendance checking procedure into unprecedented production reviews held unlawful threat to Ees' employment, since Ees knew that E was using his powers of appraisal to demonstrate dramatically dangerous position in which their tenure of employment lay]

Morning Star International, Inc. JD-209-86
[E's policy letter announcing work rules which increased old penalties and instituted new ones for infraction of rules, unlawful, where E advanced no legitimate reason for promulgation of rules, and timing at height of organizing drive and tenor of rules made it clear E's action was taken in retribution]

H. A. Satin Co., Inc. JD-(ATL)-2-86
[promulgation of new and more stringent productivity rule, and issuing warnings pursuant thereto, unlawful, since actions taken to discourage Ees from supporting U, where E had never previously issued large number of warnings in single day for low production until w/i 1 month of U campaign, and in view of concurrent unlawful promise of benefits, notwithstanding asserted reason of financial difficulties, where financial problems had been on going for several years]

Health Care Service-California d/b/a Valley Oaks Health Care Center JD-(SF)-198-85
[E's enforcement of rule limiting Ees' use of breakroom during nonworking time only against U supporters, violative; further, giving Ees written warnings for allegedly breaking rule, violative]

David Clements Co., Inc. JD-388-85
[E's institution of rules regarding punching in and out, safety glasses, progressive discipline for absence or tardiness, smoking, leaving work areas and production standards unlawful, since in retaliation for Ees' U activity where instituted day after E received U's ptn and in view of unlawful statement of E's owner prior to announcement of rule if Ees wanted E to be run like a big company, E would be run like a big company]

Murray Sandblast and Paint, Inc. JD-276-85
(supervisor's announcing to Ees that E was going to implement stricter sanctions for Ee absenteeism and tardiness, not violative where GC did not show that U's (R) ptn was factor in announcement of absence/tardiness crackdown and it was shown crackdown was for more efficient production and less customer complaints)

5036-6744 Closer supervision

Woodcliff Lake Hilton Inn, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 146
[case name and numbers]

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 056
(requiring U activist to report to nursing office at start of shift, not violative, as this was in accord with past practice, and neither was requirement that this Ee record her breaks on timecard as E had legitimate business interest-prevention of abuse-in requesting such record be kept, and requirement did not inhibit Ee's U activities)

Kenner Printing Company, Inc. JD-(NY)-32-85
(E's conversion of oral warning system to written one following notification of U's intent to organize E's Ees not inherently destructive of Ees' rights, as alleged, where E's purpose was to document instances of Ee misconduct, and campaign was free of ULPs by E)

5036-6745 Lockouts

Union Boiler Company 281 NLRB No. 148
[E's insistence that U allow it to work Ees 10 hours a day w/o overtime as was contractually mandated, and refusing to employ Ees when they refused to work under those conditions, violative and such conduct was an illegal lockout of Ees]

5036-6751 Open door or direct dealing policy

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[supervisor telling Ees that if U won election, the intercession of steward would be necessary before Ees could have one-on-one meeting with him to discuss personal problems in contrast to present open-door policy, not violative, as statement was explanation that Ees' relationship with management would change so that they would have to deal with management indirectly]

Browning-Ferris Industries of Pennsylvania, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 021
(E's statements to U stewards telling them he was not in favor of Us and referring to value of dealing directly with Ees and company U and bringing up matter of U decertification held unlawful solicitation to abandon U and to lead Ees to believe continued support of U was futile)

5036-6754 Refusal to employ or reemploy

Bridgeway Oldsmobile, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 165
[telling applicant for employment that E was going to be non-U, requesting that applicant withdraw from U and show withdrawal card to E and after hiring applicant, readvising applicant that if he intended to remain with E, he had to obtain withdrawal card and show it to E, violative]

Oil Field Construction Company JD-(SF)-104-86
[failing to assign any work, and substantially reducing amount of work assigned, to Ees held unlawful since E's action was due to Ees' grievance-filing activity, in view of timing of E's conduct in relationship to Ees' filing of grievances, E's statements indicating that E's action was taken because of Ees' grievance activity, E's hostility toward Ee for same reason, E's failure to assure Ee of no discrimination for filing grievance, and fact that countervailing factors were insufficient to undermine GC's prima facie case]

5036-6762 Refusal to reinstate strikers

Rayglo Corporation d/b/a The Dirt Digger, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 157
(discharge of Ees when they returned ready to work next day after picketing to protest changes in working conditions, including change of basis of payment from time to feet of cable laid, unlawful. E's contentions that picketers quit or that discharges lawful because picketers refused to accept lawful new pay plan, rejected, since rather than quit Ees abandoned strike and offered to return to work, and lawful economic strikers may not be discharged)

Workroom For Designers, Inc. and Sidney H. Sisselman, an Individual 274 NLRB No. 115
(requirement that strikers make out new job applications, and obscene orders and abuse of strikers as part of respondents' harassment of them, violative)

5036-6763 Isolating employees

Harold Weinz; et al., A Co-Partnership d/b/a Sands Motel and AMM, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 013
[E's new rule which placed restrictions on Ees in order to prevent them from speaking to known adherent of U, held violative in view of absence of any justifiable business reason for deviating from past practice and putting restrictions upon Ees calculated to prevent them from conversing with known adherent of U even at times when it did not affect performance of work functions. Purpose was to punish U adherent and discourage Ee support for U]

PYA/Monarch, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 167
(operations manager unlawfully restricted pro-U Ees from communicating with other Ees about U, when he directed one Ee to remain away from other workers until starting time, and not talk to other Ees when he came into work, and asked another Ee not to talk to Ees on other shift)

5036-6770 Closure of department, facility or business

Cherokee Heating and Air Conditioning Co. 280 NLRB No. 044
[shutdown of sales service department resulting in discharge of sales service representative, unlawful discharge where it was due to representative's complaint about E's manner of paying sales commissions, rather than department's lack of profitability, as shown by timing of shutdown at time when it might prove most productive, profitable, and likely to ensure recoupment of prior costs]

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(foreman for company having known business relationship with E, who visited Ee at home and told Ee he had been sent by E held agent of E who was liable for foreman's unlawful threat of plant closure; definition of agency as stated in Sec. 2(13) of Act, and not common law definition, held applicable)

5036-6772 Alteration of work assignments

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[E's requiring Ees (waiters) to work lunches, violative, where new rule was announced one day after election and E had always accomodated Ees' various schedules before election]

5036-6777 Suspension

Vista Hill Foundation d/b/a Mesa Vista Hospital 280 NLRB No. 027
[suspending Ee for violating rule against wearing insignia, unlawful where rule was overly broad as to location and time]

Union Electric Company 275 NLRB No. 059
(suspending Ees for concerted, protected refusal to perform job assignment which they reasonably and in good-faith believed was unsafe, violative)

Fermont, A Division of Dynamics Corporation of America 274 NLRB No. 131
(suspension of Ee violative, where imposed on basis of disciplinary notice which contained errors entered knowingly and intentionally by E, and also in view of animus exhibited by E's unlawful threat to Ee, timing of suspension relative to that threat and obviously pretextual basis given by E for suspending Ee)

Volt Information Sciences, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 047
(no violation where Ee was suspended for one night not because he complained about working conditions, as alleged, but because he did so the first time in an insolent manner and the second time in a belligerent, insubordinate, and disruptive manner that caused the entire department to stop working until a guard took him out)

5036-6781 Loss of overtime work or pay

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[telling Ees around time that RD directed election that there was nothing stopping E from reducing work week from 60 to 40 hours and if U got in work week would be reduced, violative]

M. W. Kellogg Constructors, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 134
(informing Ees that travelers would not be assigned overtime, telling travelers that they could not work overtime because of U's instructions and that it could not assign travelers any overtime, violative)

5036-6782 Rescheduling of hours

Bemmit Division, U.S. Tubular, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 083
[rescheduling shift times to separate departure time of first shift from arrival time of second shift, therby interfering with contacts or mutual organizational activities of both shifts, violation]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[radio station program director's telling newsman who supported U that E's reducing his hours, giving him split shift, and requiring him to play another Ee's prerecorded tapes on the air was harassment, lowering of his status, and inducement to cause him to quit found unlawful solicitation to quit]

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[E's requiring Ees (waiters) to work lunches, violative, where new rule was announced one day after election and E had always accomodated Ees' various schedules before election]

Michiel's Inc., d/b/a Le Saint Jean Des Pres Restaurant 279 NLRB No. 017
[discharge of Ee, assertedly because she did not show up for scheduled work, violative, since real reason was Ee's open and active U support where Ee's work schedule was changed in such a way so as to make it impossible for her to go to school, a schedule E had accomodated before her U activity, and E threatened to fire Ee if she couldn't work the new schedule regardless of the U]

5036-6785 Transfer to another job, shift or plant

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012
[offering Ees choice of transfer to another facility of Ee or termination, unlawful, where result of E's move was to demolish u's organizational campaign and to punish Ees for their concerted protected activities as evidenced by terms and conditions of offer, timing of offer few days after notice of U's R ptn, and E's inconsistent and shifting explanations for its action]

Fermont, A Division of Dynamics Corporation of America 274 NLRB No. 131
(E's issuing notice that Ee would no longer be performing his regular job duties upon his return to work from his suspension, found unlawful herein, violative where in fact his duties were not changed and notice tended to discourage Ees from continuing to engage in protected activities)

The University of Chicago 274 NLRB No. 061
(E's transferring guidance counselor from lower school to its high school not violative, notwithstanding counselor had been engaging in protected concerted activities involving her continued protest of various matters, where E showed that it would have transferred her even in absence of her participation in protected activities inasmuch as she seriously impeded E's effort to implement child study group concept and by time E decided to transfer her it was clear that group would not function effectively as long as she was member of it)

Eastman Machine Company and its wholly owned subsidiary, Cutting Room Appliances Corp. JD-(NY)-42-85
(violation by attempting to induce Ees to transfer to other jobs out of department that they worked in because of U organizational activity taking place in department)

5036-6788 Denial of paid vacation

Harold Weinz, et al., A Co-Partnership d/b/a Sands Motel and AMM, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 013
[E's posting notice after election but before certification that until further notice, there will be no vacation pay not violative where GC did not establish notice was phrased as alleged in C or worked to suggest to Ees that they were being penalized for selecting U as bargaining agent, as E had valid economic reasons for posting notice. However, implementation of new policy, violative]

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(plant manager's telling Ee that a vacation money advance could not be given because of possible imminent strike activity, violative)

5036-6789 Reduction in work or hours

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[telling Ees around time that RD directed election that there was nothing stopping E from reducing work week from 60 to 40 hours and if U got in work week would be reduced, violative]

5036-6793 Change in work rules

Morning Star International, Inc. JD-209-86
[E's policy letter announcing work rules which increased old penalties and instituted new ones for infraction of rules, unlawful, where E advanced no legitimate reason for promulgation of rules, and timing at height of organizing drive and tenor of rules made it clear E's action was taken in retribution]

5036-6795 Medical, hospitalization and related benefits

The Gerkin Co. 279 NLRB No. 136
[telling Ees that E could not carry out its intent to improve health insurance coverage until after election, violation and interference]

Texaco, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 164
(RD erred in refusing to permit withdrawal of charge alleging E unlawfully withheld accident and sick benefits from Ees who were receiving such benefits prior to economic strike, where parties had reached strike settlement agreement under which U agreed to end strike, withdraw charges, and each Ee was to receive at least $150 in settlement of outstanding contractual claims, since benefits withheld no more than contractual term subsequently negotiated away in good faith, no other ULPs extant and no Ee objected; primary interest served by continual rights of a few Ees rather than public rights)

5036-6798 Change in lunch and/or break period practices

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's implementation of more onerous terms and conditions of employment relating to break time, use of telephones, and movement w/i E's facility, unlawful since, even accepting Ee's explanation of abuse of phone usage, other restrictions were not fully explained or justified by E and, in view of failure to explain timing of restrictions during U organizational effort, conclusion was that restrictions were retaliatory to such effort and was response to Ee's threat to take matter involving supervisor to Bd]

Terrailon Corp. 280 NLRB No. 037
[E's discontinuance for two months during pendency of R case of its long standing practice of providing free lunches for office clericals upon arrival of merchandise by container trucks for unloading, not unlawful, absent evidence E sought to punish clericals for their U activities, where lunches continued to be furnished for warehouse Ees notwithstanding election also pending in unit of warehouse Ees, in view of considerable time lapse after E learned of activity until suspension of lunches, and fact failure to furnish free lunches involved only three or four occasions]

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 056
(requiring U activist to report to nursing office at start of shift, not violative, as this was in accord with past practice, and neither was requirement that this Ee record her breaks on timecard as E had legitimate business interest-prevention of abuse-in requesting such record be kept, and requirement did not inhibit Ee's U activities)

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(promulgating rule prohibiting Ees from returning to their cars during lunch, not unlawful, where rule issued because Ees were getting drunk and cars were being damaged, rather than because of U activity)

Cone Mills Corporation-White Oak Plant 273 NLRB No. 188
(E's more strict enforcement of new strict enforcement of new break schedule, unlawful, where schedule was instituted in order to discourage U and/

5036-6798—Cont.

or protected activity of U steward who should have been given permission to process grievance concerning schedule)

5036-6799 Other

Ozark Properties, Inc. d/b/a Holiday Inn 274 NLRB No. 096
(Ee's entering notations on Ees' attendance records that Ees had been terminated as they had been In (a) walkout, violative, since walkout was protected strike)

5036-7500 Affirmative defenses to charges of changes in conditions of employment

5036-7525 Business management considerations

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[hiring additional receptionists at higher than normal starting pay and adjusting pay of all receptionists upward after new receptionists completed probationary period which was 6 weeks before election, not violative, since pay raises was part and parcel of legitimate business decision to hire additional Ees and to commensurately upgrade rate of pay in existing job classification to bring it in line with other receptionist classifications at E, and these decisions made month before R ptn filed]

John H. Cooney, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 088
(layoff of two Ees, (who did not kick-back to their E their backpay, to which State Department of Labor determined they were entitled) because project upon which they were working was suspended, not violative, since their work project was suspended; no additional work was available for them; and that two Ees did not kick back to E not supported by record; two Ees would have been laid off regardless of any protected activity w/i which they may have engaged)

5036-7550 Good-faith belief that employee misconduct justified change

5036-7550-3300 May be defense

Felbro, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 186
(E's telling Ees, who were demanding an explanation for layoff of Ee, that if they did not return to work they would be sent home, and then clocking them out and refusing to pay them for the remainder of the day, not violative, since Ees repeatedly refused to go back to work and E took no disciplinary action against Ees but simply refused to pay them for the remainder of the day they refused to work)

5036-7550-5000 No defense if activity protected

Consumers Power Company 282 NLRB No. 034
[upon finding discharge of Ee, assertedly for assaulting his supervisor, part of res gestae of Ee's protected concerted activity and not unlawful, Bd rejected E's contention that its disciplinary policy mandates discharging Ee, since Ee was not discharged for similar conduct on prior occasion nor initially discharged herein, thereby indicating E had discretion in choosing disciplinary action against Ee; at any rate, E's disciplinary policy cannot lawfully mandate that Ee be discharged in violation of 8(a)(1)]

Quality C.A.T.V., Inc. 278 NLRB No. 156
[discharge of two TV linemen who installed television strands on utility poles and who refused to work during and after rainstorm because they were wet, violative, since their concerted refusal to work was to protest requirement that they climb poles when wet, an employment condition. Ee's protest was protected whether Ees acted because they were concerned about their safety, their personal comfort, or their supervisor's attitude. In carrying out their protest, Ees did not exceed permissable bounds of protected activity]

Herrick & Smith 275 NLRB No. 062
(where reason for poor evaluation and subsequent discharge (poor work performance and attitude) by supervisor found pretextual, and that evaluation based on only 1 week's work permits inference to be drawn that supervisor was trying to build case for Ee'sdischarge in retaliation for Ee organizing meeting with managing partner and other Ees in which complaints against supervisor were aired)

N.L.R.B. v. CER Inc. 762 F.2d 482 (C.A. 5, June 1985)
(Ee choosing to quit job rather than change manner in which he protested E's violations of bargaining agreement, which E viewed as prohibited since Ee was leaving his work station to correct violations, held constructive discharge rather than voluntary quit and violative, since Ee was faced with choice of discontinuing protected U activity or being terminated)

5036-7550-6700 No defense if conduct did not in fact occur

Coca Cola Bottling Company of Buffalo, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 198
(discharge of Ee for allegedly making bomb threat, violative where he did not engage in such misconduct)

5036-8300 Threats of changes in conditions of employment

Grasso, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(in finding bargaining order warranted, Bd relied on E's extensive interrogation about Ees' U activities and threats of reprisal, conducted by management from top to bottom, and directed at almost all Ees, both individually and in groups, with some Ees subject of repeated interrogations and threats)

Lemon Drop Inn, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 752 F.2d 323 (C.A. 8, Jan. 1985)
(E restaurant manager's threat to waitress that if he heard further talk of Ee organization, he would close restaurant and fire Ees, violative)

5036-8301 Generally

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 086
(distributing accurate copies of Bd decision with portions highlighted and characterized as true, not violative threat or interference, especially where E was rebutting U's misstatements of law on these points; Glassmaster Plastics Co.; 203 NLRB 944 (1973) overruled to extent it is inconsistent with this deicision)

5036-8302 Nonspecific threat of reprisal

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[supervisor's statement to Ees at meeting, which, taken literally, appeared to say that when bargaining starts Ees would cease working and E would cease paying Ees or providing benefits to them held not unlawful threat of loss of work and benefits if Ees selected U, since Ees reasonably could not have taken such nonsensical statement literally, and statement was too unclear to support finding of threat]

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[supervisor's threat to get even with Ee because he had engaged in protected concerted activity by signing petitions, violative]

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer 281 NLRB No. 161
[after supervisor obtained knowledge that Ee signed U card, his remark to Ee that he was plant U sent to stir up trouble, violative, as Ee should not expect to incur wrath of supervisor for engaging in protected activity]

Wayne W. Sell Corporation 281 NLRB No. 082
[E's vice-president's statement to Ee during grievance meeting that grievances had better stop constituted unlawful threat of unspecified reprisals]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[telling Ee that E would do everything in its power to keep U out, standing alone, held not to constitute unlawful threat since statement itself was somewhat vague and subject to interpretation by listener]

Benmit Division, U.S. Tubular, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 083
[threatening to find out who signed U authorization cards, violation]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's statement to Ee engaged in U activities that supervisor would not brook this union stuff, coupled with remark that things were about to get nasty, held not so thinly veiled threat of unspecified reprisals for U activities]

Independent Stave Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 089
[threatening unspecified reprisals for filing Bd charge, violation]

Bozzuto's, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 100
(threatening to retaliate against Ees for wearing U hats, violation)

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(E's owner informing Ee he was going to lower Ee complement, but would do it legally by seniority, and stated he didn't know what we all are going to get out of this i.e., U campaign, but that if we wanted to play hard ball he was going to play hard ball, unlawful, inasmuch as hard ball belies earlier reference to doing everything legally, and Ee could reasonably conclude that conditions would be harsher)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor stating, after asking Ee if she had attended U meeting protesting following discharge of Ee, and comments by other Ees present as to whether Ee had spoken at meeting, that it did not make any difference if she said anything or not, she can go down tube with rest of them, unlawful)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor informing Ee who had given speech supporting Ee who had been discharged that she had better be careful, she was being perceived as U trouble-maker, unlawful)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor stating that Ees who had been protesting discharge of Ee didn't know all the facts, not unlawful threat of unspecified reprisal)

John J. Hudson, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 123
(supervisor's telling Ee who was wearing U button, I think you guys are killing yourself (sic) over what you're trying to pull, violative, since remark was openly hostile and linked to Ee's known efforts to unionize)

Stovall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(contrary to ALJ, Bd found that E did not threaten Ees with declining orders because of U campaign; E's alleged statement that, since U campaign began work orders had declined and warehouses were getting stockpiled, if made, was statement of fact, not threat of reprisal, and Ees' other alleged version of statement, that U stuff was slowing things down so that E could not get things out, described an incidental effect of campaign, not a threat, and was too obscure and vague to be a threat)

5036-8302—Cont.

Rankin Brothers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 053
(Ee's comments to other Ees who were U supporters that, we know what's going on and we're going to fix that, violative, notwithstanding fact Ee was not a supervisor, since Ee was placed by management in strategic position where Ees could reasonably believe he spoke on its behalf where Ee was used by E to relay messages and instructions to Ees and was correctly perceived as management's right-hand man who spoke for management in its absence)

Vdi Information Sciences, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 047
(comment of supervisor seated behind two Ees discussing benefits of unionization, Boy, you really are trying to commit suicide, not violative, as it was not coercive and was too ambiguous to constitute threat of unspecified reprisal, as alleged)

Wackenhut Corporation JD-288-86
[supervisor's interrogating and threatening 3 Ees about their meeting with official of agency with which E had contract, not violation, despite supervisor's knowledge that Ees acted concertedly, where evidence failed to show that supervisor knew that subject discussed at meeting was protected]

Safeway Stores, Inc. JD-(SF)-119-86
[supervisor's general warning to Ees on picket line, made in anger over ULP charges filed by one of the Ees, to remember that they had to return to work one day held unlawful unspecified threat to retaliate against all Ees for one Ee's filing of charges]

Quality Rolls, Inc. JD-189-86
[supervisor's pre-election statements to Ee that you'll be hanging yourself for U held not unlawful threat of unspecified reprisal, since comments were part of light-hearted ongoing dialogue with supervisor occurring in aura of levity to which Ee contributed; moreover, comment was too ambiguous to arouse fear of reprisal]

N.L.R.B. v. Norbar, Inc. 752 F.2d 235 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)
(telling Ees that it was not a goood idea to file for unemployment compensation benefits and that he should withdraw his claim, violative)

5036-8303 Discipline or warnings thereof

Metropolitan Edison Company 279 NLRB No. 047
[threatening discipline, including suspension, for refusing to cross stranger picket line, not violation where broad no-strike clause waived Ee's right to honor stranger picket line, in absence of any evidence in bargaining history or past practice demonstrating that parties expressly excluded sympathy strikes from no-strike clause coverage]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(threats of disciplinary action for violationof unlawfully broad no-solicitation policy and of discriminatorily enforced dress code, violations and interference)

Buzzuto's, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 100
(threatening Ees with discipline for failing to attend E's voluntary meetings regarding contract negotiations, violation)

PIA/Monarch, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 167
(supervisor advising Ee who had confessed he had lied concerning not being able to get into work because of car trouble, that Ee would do well to avoid such situations in future, not unlawful threat)

Crystal Linen & Uniform Service, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 137
(E's threatening Ees with discipline and discharge not violative, where Ees who, while on strike, accepted employment with E's competitor and affirmatively solicited their former customers to switch their business to E's competitor; although Ees were on strike and did not disparage service of E, their activity was not concerted and Ees who compete with their E and who solicit E's customers to switch to competitor are disloyal and may properly be disciplined or threatened with discipline)

Roadway Express, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 052
(supervisor's threatening U steward with discipline because steward said he would file grievance over supervisor's performance of unit work, unlawful)

Radisson Muehlebach Hotel 273 NLRB No. 183
(E's letter to U stating that it would consider it misconduct for U steward to misrepresent E's practices by telling Ees in need of hospitalization to get card for U's hospital insurance program from E, violative notwithstanding steward was not disciplined therefor, since disciplining steward for assertions about matters pertaining to work is unlawful even if assertions are incorrect, and letter would have chilling effect on her future performance as steward)

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)
[plant superintendent's asking one Ee about another Ee's U activities, requesting information about them, and saying we'll take care of second Ee's activities, insufficient, in isolation, to support finding of threat of discipline or discharge, but substantially supportive of finding of request to engage in surveillance, especially where manager asked another Ee what he had heard about U activity and requested that he keep his ears open]

N.L.R.B. v. Chicago Metallic Corporation 794 F.2d 527 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[threats of discharge and warnings for campaigning on company time, violative, notwithstanding threats were directed at Ee who was perceived by other Ees as supervisor, where he was not supervisor for purposes of 8(a)(1) claim]

5036-8305 Withdraw recognition of abrogate bargaining agreement

5036-8305 Withdraw recognition or abrogate bargaining agreement

Dale Energy Corporation JD-202-85
(E's threat to have bargaining agreement set aside if Ees did not cease filing grievances)

5036-8308 Blacklist

Norris Concrete Materials, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 045
[threatening Ee with unfavorable reference and that Ee would never work in area again, unlawful, where motivated by Ee filing ULP charges against E]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(supervisor implying Ees might be blacklisted in regard to applications for employment elsewhere were they to sign ptn protesting discharge of Ee by citing example that he had been informed when applying for job in past that had he signed ptn supporting discharge of principal at school where he had previously been employed he would had been refused job. Statement not protected under Section 8(c) as mere prediction of likely economic consequences of unionization, since any blacklisting would require E to inform prospective E about Ee's concerted activities)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(threatening Ee that it would be hard for him to get rid of U label and that Ee's tracks were wide and deep, violative)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(threatening Ee that he would be prohibited from working in northeast part of state, violative)

Reyglo Corporation d/b/a The Dirt Digger, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 157

Morning Star International, Inc. JD-209-86
[E's threat in speech to Ees about contacting Es in area and cause them to discriminate against pro-U Ees, unlawful]

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[threatening that U members would have difficulty finding jobs, violation]

Educational Broadcasting Corporation d/b/a WNET/Thirteen JD-(NY)-125-85
[violation, where E threatened to discharge and blacklist Ee because she filed and pursued grievance]

5036-8310 Denial of reemployment or reinstatement

Stop N' Go Inc. 279 NLRB No. 052
[supervisor's telling Ees that, if U came in, store would close for 30 days, and U card signers would not be rehired, violation]

American Model & Pattern, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 018
(E's telling group of Ees immediately after U had filed charge against E protesting certain layoffs, that Ees and E would have to work together if they wanted to see laid off Ees reinstated and when U actions cost E money, U would cost Ees as well, violative)

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198
(contrary to ALJ's reasoning that E did not intentionally mislead its Ees and it was not necessarily ULP for E to make innacurate, incomplete, or misleading statement concerning reinstatement rights of ULP strikers, Bd held supervisor's statement to Ees that they would be replaced and rehired rather than reinstated at end of strike, unlawful, where strikers on application were entitled to reinstatement even if they had been replaced)

Gasa Pumps, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 076
(no violation by E informing Ees that in event of strike they may be permanently replaced w/o at same time informing them of their preferential reinstatement rights unless statement may be fairly understood as threat of reprisal or is explicitly coupled with such threats)

Certified Grocers of Illinois, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 196
(threatening to deny reemployment to discharged Ees for picketing E, not unlawful, where, although one purpose of picketing was informational, its additional purpose was to obtain direct negotiations with E over Ees' grievances which U was then pursuing through contractual grievance machinery; and such conclusion is supported by picket's statement that ees had hired their own attorney who would look after their interests because they had not been satisfied with U's action so far; accordingly, under Emporium Capwell picketing herein was unprotected)

5036-8310—Cont.

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86

[telling unlawfully locked out U adherents that U would never get into company and that Ees would never get back to work, unlawful]

5036-8311 Suspension

Marion Steel Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 127

[threatening U leader with being sent home if supervisor caught him with U cards, violation]

Caterpillar Tractor Company 276 NLRB No. 151

276 NLRB No. 151

(suspending U steward for drawing and disseminating cartoon containing obnoxious obscenities directed at foreman whom steward dealt with on grievances, not violative where Ee's misconduct was so egregious that it exceeded scope of whatever protection it might otherwise have been entitled, and obscenities had inevitable negative effect on foreman's supervisory status in eyes of other Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. Del Rey Tortilleria, Inc. 787 F.2d 1118 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)

[asking Ee if he was involved in U and, upon Ee's denial, telling him that if he were involved, E would suspend him for 3 days just as E had suspended fellow Ee]

5036-8312 Discharge or layoff

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066

[supervisor's statement to Ee that plant will never have a U, they will close this plant first, you'll all be out of jobs held single violation rather than separate violations of threat of plant closure and threat of discharge, since supervisor's reference to Ees being out of jobs, in context, was clearly reference to what situation would be if E closed plant]

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066

[since E has right to determine when Ees report back to work from break periods, informing Ees that E is doing so is therefore not unlawful; however, informing Ees not only that E was determining time when Ees returned with intent to fire Ees who came back late, but also that E was doing so because of U, held unlawful threat to discharge Ees because of U activities but not to constitute act of creating unlawful impression of surveillance]

Inner City Broadcasting Corporation 281 NLRB No. 162

[threatening Ee with discharge if she did not support Ee ptn seeking ouster of U, unlawful]

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084

[supervisor's comments to Ee about E's not being able to afford the U and Ee's lateness, violation where accompanied by threat to discharge Ee if he did not stop talking union up]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018

[supervisor's threat to Ee, in presence of other Ees, that if Ee worked for supervisor, he would fire him because of his support for U, unlawful, notwithstanding asserted disclaimer by supervisor that E can't do anything about Ees speaking out for U, since supervisor's statement constituted clear threat, not only to Ee but to other Ees present, that if he could find a way he would fire those who supported U]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018

[E's statement to Ee that fellow Ees, who were known by everyone as leading U adherents, would be fired if they did not shape up, unlawful]

Local No. 980, Automobile Workers (Local 32, Office Employees) 280 NLRB No. 161

[E's advising Ee that in order to continue her employment she would be required to obtain U representation, violative]

Shore Pointe Associates, Inc., d/b/a Americare Convalescent Center 280 NLRB No. 130

[E's telling supervisor and, through supervisor as its agent, telling Ees that E would make difficulties for Ees voting for U to point of discharging them, unlawful]

Airport Distributors, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 091

[questioning Ee whether he knew anything about U, coupled with threat of loss of employment and expression of antipathy toward U, unlawful]

Toyota of San Francisco 280 NLRB No. 093

[manager of auto dealership offering job to one of his Ee's girl friends, who was also automobile salesperson, unlawful, since offer made as unlawful threat to discharge Ee for engaging in strike, where strike was pending and manager knew Ee and his girl friend had agreement not to work on same sales floor; further, in strike situations, Es have right to hire strike replacements, but there is fine line between statement of legal rights, and threat to discharge, and ambiguity in manager's statement must be construed against him]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056

[radio station program director's telling announcer that sales manager had recommended firing all announcers, violation]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056

[radio station program director's quoting to announcer E's statement that he would show the city how to handle Us and did not care if U won election, since there wouldn't be any Ees left or anything to negotiate about]

Springs, Inc. d/b/a Springs Motel 280 NLRB No. 033

[supervisor urging Ee to get into fight with another ee who was prominent U proponent so that supervisor could discharge both of them, and hire back Ee, constituted unlawful threat to discharge U proponent]

Yaohan of California, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 032

[allegation that supervisor threatened Ee that, if Ee and her co-workers wanted U, they had best seek employment elsewhere, dismissed where, even crediting Ee's version of conversation, no unlawful threat was made, since nothing contained in conversation either specifically or implicitly referred to U, and supervisor did not reprimand, discipline, or take action against Ee because of conversation]

Yaohan of California, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 032

[inviting Ee to look elsewhere for work, after unlawfully interrogating concerning her U activity, not unlawful, where E did not discharge nor threaten to discharge Ee and stated that Ee could not, or would not, be fired w/o warning slips as precedent; and, according to Ee's testimony, E specifically negated any threat to discharge her because of U activity]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005

[supervisor asking nurses aide if she intended to strike not coercive and unlawful, since necessary to adequately staff facility during strike, but supervisor following question by suggesting to nurses aide that she would be discharged if she went out on strike, especially in view of her probationary status, unlawful]

Trover Clinic 280 NLRB No. 002

[E's statement to Ee that distribution of cartoon in Ee's possession, depicting nervous individual describing himself as undergoing abusive treatment, was possible grounds for discharge, unlawful, since distribution of cartoon would have constituted protected activity, where cartoon was related to Ee's working conditions, E's contention that cartoon was defamatory amounted to concession that it considered it to be directed at E's treatment of Ees, cartoon's message did not remove it from protection of Act, and E did not establish type of circumstances that would render cartoon unprotected]

Island Creek Coal Company and Langley and Morgan Corporation, Joint Employers 279 NLRB No. 116

[E that was performing construction work for mining company informing its Ee, member of U's safety committee, who had made safety complaint to mine safety and health administration, that mining company would cause construction company Ees to be laid off, unlawful, since Ee's filing was protected, concerted activity]

Island Creek Coal Company and Langley and Morgan Corporation, Joint Employers 279 NLRB No. 116

[irrelevant whether Ee of construction company which was performing construction work for mining company understood threat of layoff of construction company Ees would be effectuated by mining company as result of his complaint, rather than by construction company (E), since whether statement interferes with Ees' exercise of Section 7 rights is objective determination in which Ee's subjective understanding is not relevant consideration]

Stop N' Go Inc. 279 NLRB No. 052

[supervisor's telling Ees that, if U came in, store would close for 30 days, and U card signers would not be rehired, violation]

Eskaton Sunrise Community 279 NLRB No. 012

[threatening Ees with loss of employment if they supported U or wore U button, unlawful]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154

[threat of layoffs and discharges, violative and interference]

The Zack Company 278 NLRB No. 134

[no violation, where foreman's allegedly coercive remarks regarding prospect of layoff of Ees for filing grievance were not imputable to E, since foreman was neither supervisor nor agent of E for disciplinary actions, and his remarks were nothing more than speculation or his personal opinion]

Montgomery Elevator Company 278 NLRB No. 122

[E's superintendent informing nonmember Ee that U had met with officials of E and that U was challenging right to work law and specifically challenging Ee's job and that Ee getting out of U would cost Ee his job, unlawful]

KBMS, Inc., A Subsidiary of Century Broadcasting Corporation 278 NLRB No. 118

[threatening discharge if Ee persisted in supporting U, violation]

Independent Stave Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 089

[telling Ee he could be fired for filing Bd charges, violation]

5036-8312—Cont.

Dayton Auto Electric, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 080
[E sending mailgram to ULP strikers that stated that if strikers did not report to work by certain date they would be terminated, unlawful; E's subsequent mailgram informing strikers that they would be replaced not terminated did not effectively repudiate earlier mailgram]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statement referring to job security and plant closure, not violation or conduct interfering with election where they were not made in context of threats of loss of benefits, inevitability of strikes and futility of electing U]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements referring to permanent replacement of strikes, not unlawful threats of discharge where they were not made in context of unlawful statements about inevitability of strikes and futility of U organization]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements made in response to Ee's question that U could not give wages and benefits E did not want to give, that if Ees went on strike they could be replaced, and subsequent interrogation as to whether Ee thought that E needed U and if U could give Ee more benefits, violative where Ee was not active U adherent, and repeated questioning was coercive; statements were not found unlawful threats of discharge or of futility of selecting U, however]

Evans St. Clair, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 065
[telling one Ee that another Ee would be discharged for U activity, violation]

Quality Aluminum Products, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 049
[threatening discharge for wearing U buttons, violation]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's statement to leading U activist and organizer do you want your job here held unlawful warning that latter's advocacy of U's cause among his fellow Ees was inconsistent with continued employment at E's plant]

Zartic, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 171
[telling Ee that if U did come in, she would be out of a job, violation and interference]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(threatening Ees with discharge for signing U authorization cards, unless they later retrieved them, and for voting for U in election, violation and interference)

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124
(E's comments allegedly threatening Ees with layoffs by stating that major customer had warned E it would discontinue patronage of E if E became organized, not unlawful, since comments had factual basis and therefore were protected by 8(c), where comments were corroborated by major customer's manager who testified he had concerns about his company's ability to receive equipment if strike occurred and about possible interruption and efficiency of workforce in connection with product delivery)

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124
(E's statements to known leading U supporter that he wished Ee would screw up or ruin something so that E could get rid of the problem held unlawful and interference with election since use of euphemism problem clearly indicated genesis of threat was Ee's organizing activities)

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124
(Ee's pre-election statement to Ee that men that had gone U had cut off their nose to spite their face, and that E was going to shut its doors held to constitute unlawful threats of discharge and plant closure)

Kona 60 Minute Photo 277 NLRB No. 092
(posted notice referring to matter of U representation and possible dismissal of some and/or all Ees held clearly implied threat of discharge for U activities, notwithstanding E's contention that such statement merely expressed E's intention to oppose U only w/i limits of law because statement noted that matter of U representation and dismissal had been turned over to E's legal department; rather, statement clearly connected seeking U representation with dismissal which belied E's strained and unrealistic interpretation of statement)

Kona 60 Minute Photo 277 NLRB No. 092
(coercive effect of E's threat to hire new Ees if Ees struck held, in context of E's refusal to bargain in good faith, analogous to that of threat to bargain in bad faith so as to force a strike, and amounted to veiled threat of discharge)

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(supervisor informing Ee that production was down, he didn't know if it was due to U activities, or what, but that it had better pick up or else, and when Ee asked what he meant by or else replying take it anyway you like, take it as a threat or whatever, and if you don't like it, you can leave now, unlawful, especially where criticism of production, after he found out about U activity, contrasted with his former opinion of Ee's work)

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(E's owner informing Ee there was one man he would like to fire, unlawful, since clear E's owner was referring to U's key organizer, in view of timing and fact E's owner had twice before suggested directly to U adherent that he quit and that he hoped to find gounds to fire him)

Hydro-Air Equipment, Inc. d/b/a Lanco 277 NLRB No. 012
(informing Ees that E had signed contract with U and that Ees would be required to join U pursuant to security clause or be replaced, unlawful, since contract was signed with minority U in violationof Section 8(a)(2))

Palmas Del Mar Company 277 NLRB No. 011
(E's telling Ees in remarks, speech, letters, and notice in their paycheck that if they voted for disfavored U, interested purchaser would not buy the business, E would have to close it, and they would lose their jobs found unlawful and objectionable election conduct)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(threatening to obtain U cards signed by Ees even if E had to pay for them and to fire signers, violative and objectionable)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(violation, where Ee told supervisor Ees who were gathered and discussing how to get out of U, that he was worrying about his job and wished supervisor would talk with Ees, and supervisor answered well, I understand you have kids and all, since reply to Ee implied that in his opinion unionization of E could be of such economic impact that Ees' job would be jeopardized, especially where supervisor's relationship with management would infer opinion based on inside knowledge of E's economic position)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(E's statement to Ees that if Ees became unionized and if E and negotiated higher labor costs, and if E suffered loss of work, Ees might be laid off, not coercive and hence not violative, since not prediction of inevitable events under E's control, but reminder of economic facts of life i.e. negotiated wage and benefit increases sometimes have debilitating effect on ability to compete)

Pioneer Hotel and Gambling Hall, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 072
(supervisor impliedly threatened to discharge Ee because of his U activities by telling Ee that he would have been discharged if supervisor had not vouched for him and that Ee be careful whom he talked to about U)

Pioneer Hotel and Gambling Hall, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 072
(supervisor's telling Ees that fellow worker was discharged because he was distributing U cards held unlawful implied threat to discharge other Ees if they engaged in U activity)

Gatliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 060

Superior Container, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 055
(chief executive's interrogation of Ee concerning U meeting and his threat, in no uncertain terms, that anybody signing U card would be fired, unlawful, since such statements, emanating from chief executive during U campaign on plant premises, have clear and restraining effect upon Ees)

Jean Foust, Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Regency Manor Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 171
(telling Ees during U campaign that E would build a case against U sympathizers in order to get rid of them, violative and objectionable)

Pillod of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 117
(E's showing Ees a poster which related to layoffs at another furniture company which purpoted to illustrate those Ees of E who would have been laid off if Ees worked for the other company, not violative, since there was no evidence that E otherwise suggested that its Ees would be laid off if U won election)

Florsheim Shoe Shops, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 015
(statement to shop steward by supervisor that manager would pay steward $50,000 to start car repair shop just to get rid of him, not violative where day prior to such offer, steward initiated conversation with supervisor in which he suggested he could be willing to get rid of local U in return for $100,000 and his pension; E's counter-offer conveyed by supervisor appeared to be part of ongoing discussion initiated by steward to ascertain whether E would pay him for ceasing his U activities, and not a threat to discharge steward)

Atlantic Interstate Messengers, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 171
(threat to terminate economic strikers if they did not return to work by E's deadline, violative)

Crystal Linen & Uniform Service, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 137
(E's threatening Ees with discipline and discharge not violative, where Ees who, while on strike, accepted employment with E's competitor and affirmatively solicited their former customers to switch their business to E's competitor; although Ees were on strike and did not disparage service of E, their activity was not concerted and Ees who compete with their E and who solicit E's customers to switch to competitor are disloyal and may properly be disciplined or threatened with discipline)

5036-8312—Cont.

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(violation, where foreman told Ees they would be discharged for U activities, and sent to hiring hall in another city where U drive originated to join U)

Miss Elaine, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 036
(E violated 8(a)(1) and (2) when it threatened Ees, not previously included in unit, by stating that they must join U or be discharged)

M. W. Kellogg Constructors, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 134
(telling travelers that they would be laid off before shutdown phase of the project because of nonmembership in local U, telling a traveler that if he transferred his membership to the local U he would be eligible to work the shutdown phase, and telling a traveler that he was laid off because local U had given instructions for all travelers to be laid off, violative)

Wackenhut Corporation JD-288-86
[supervisor's threatening discharge if Ee mentioned U one more time, violation]

Cassidy Cleaning, Inc. JD-239-86
[suggesting to Ees that turncoat who started U activities had been discharged held unlawful implied threat to discharge U activists]

Cassidy Cleaning, Inc. JD-239-86
[telling Ees that Ees would be fired because U won election and that there would be a house-cleaning held unlawful threat of reprisal]

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86
[telling unlawfully locked out U adherents that E could not afford U and that if U got in certain number of Ees would have to be fired or laid off and that only few of locked out Ees would be taken back, unlawful]

Luther Martin and Minnie Martin, Co-Partners, d/b/a Martin's Leasing Company JD-83-86
[telling known U adherent that E did not need U and they could be replaced, unlawful]

Riverview 5 P's, Inc., t/a Riverview Inn JD-54-86
[E's voluntarily informing Ee of its discharge of U adherents and asking her how she liked her job held unlawful thinly-veiled threat to discharge Ee whom E had also unlawfully interrogated about her U activities]

Collins Industries, Inc. JD-33-86
[in answer to Ee's question about discharges by E of Ees voting for U, E's reply that ballot would be secret and there was no way of knowing who voted for U so there could not be any retaliation, unlawful, since E thereby implied that, if he found out who voted for U, there jobs would be in jeopardy, and such conduct was consistent with E's anti-U campaign]

Educational Broadcasting Corporation d/b/a WNET/Thirteen JD-(NY)-125-85
[violation, where E threatened to discharge and blacklist Ee because she filed and pursued grievance]

Northline Bus Center, Inc. JD-(ATL)-41-85
(news bulletin to Ees edited, reviewed, and printed by E, unlawful, where bulletin raised question whether Ees would be fired for attending U meeting and then clearly conveyed message to Ees that any Ee seeking assistance from U would be considered disloyal to E and implicitly threatened Ees with discharge if they engaged in U activities)

Acar Machine & Tool Co., Inc. JD-240-85
(supervisor's threat that E would weed out U organizers if U lost election, violative)

Phil's Food Market, Inc. JD-(SF)-108-85
(threatening strikers with discharge, violative)

Phil's Food Market, Inc. JD-(SF)-105-85
(E's letter to strikers enclosing accrued vacation and sick leave paychecks and wishing them luck in their new endeavor held threat of loss of employment and of reinstatement rights)

Eastman Machine Company and its wholly owned subsidiary, Cutting Room Appliances Corp. JD-(NY)-42-85
(threats of bumping by other Ees if U was voted in, held veiled threat of discharge)

Vax Gas, Inc. JD-(SF)-33-85
(supervisor informing Ee, in reply to Ee's inquiry as to whether change in sick leave policy which had adverse impact on ees was instituted because of U organizing, that there had been a morale problem with company and it was going to get better or there were going to be major changes and that he had interviewed prospective new Ees, unlawful, absent evidence of legitimate objective for statement, or relationship that would remove coercive impact)

Harry Rosenblatt & Sons JD-(SF)-30-85
(E's stating w/i Ee's hearing range that leading U activist was being discharged for trying to change E found unlawful threat that other Ees would meet his fate if they engaged in protected activities)

M.F. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Gopher Restaurant JD-417-84
(E informing Ees it would refuse to bargain with its chosen bargaining agent, that it would file for bankruptcy, thereby endangering Ees' jobs, and that if Ees persisted in their U adherence, it would hire non-U Ees to replace them, unlawful)

N.L.R.B. v. Eli Gordon, Gerald Tillinger and Seymour Tillinger, a Copartnership d/b/a Balsam Village Management Company 792 F.2d 29 (C.A. 2, May 1986)
[threatening to discharge and discharging Ees for refusing to renounce U, violations]

N.L.R.B. v. Nueva Engineering, Inc. 761 F.2d 961 (C.A. 4, May 1985)
(supervisor informing Ee that he did not like Us, asking Ee how he felt about Us and when Ees replied that he supported U, informing Ee that if Ees voted for U representation alternative would be to convert to prototype shop-which required much less Ees-and institute big layoff, violative; additionally, interrogation and threat took place in E's vice president's office and purpose of questioning not explained)

Baker Manufacturing Company v. N.L.R.B. 759 F.2d 1219 (C.A. 5, May 1985)
(general manager telling Ee who was wearing U badge that if he would repent his sins he would have peace of mind found threat that Ee would keep his job only if he ceased U activities where E had discharged other U supporters and laid off Ee next day)

Turnbull Cone Baking Company of Tennessee v. N.L.R.B. 778 F.2d 8 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1985)

N.L.R.B. v. Norbar, Inc. 752 F.2d 235 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)
(threatening Ee by saying that taking job as U steward could cost him his job with E, violative)

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)
[plant superintendent's asking one Ee about another Ee's U activities, requesting information about them, and saying we'll take care of second Ee's activities, insufficient, in isolation, to support finding of threat of discipline or discharge, but substantially supportive of finding of request to engage in surveillance, especially where manager asked another Ee what he had heard about U activity and requested that he keep his ears open]

N.L.R.B. v. Chicago Metallic Corporation 794 F.2d 527 (C.A. 9, July 1986)
[threats of discharge and warnings for campaigning on company time, violative, notwithstanding threats were directed at Ee who was perceived by other Ees as supervisor, where he was not supervisor for purposes of 8(a)(1) claim]

5036-8312-5000 Directed at supervisors

Reeves Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 153
[E's statement to group of supervisory leadmen, in accusing them of starting U campaign, that I can assure you when this whole thing is over, the very ones that started it will be somewhere else, not violative, notwithstanding contention that statement was intended for repetition to rank-and-file Ees, where discharge threat was not overheard by Ees nor did E instruct supervisors to carry message back to their crews; consistent with its holding in Parker-Robb, 262 NLRB 402, Bd did not infer harmful secondary effects on Ees' statutory rights from threats]

5036-8314 Issuance of, or change in, absenteeism rule

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's implied threat to Ees that if U's organizing campaign succeeded U would oblige E to discharge Ees who were absent from work for 3 consecutive days held unlawful warning of imposition of harsher policies if Ees voted for U]

5036-8315 File for bankruptcy

Tomco Carburetor Company 275 NLRB No. 001

Abe Ocks, An Individual, d/b/a Kingform Cap Company JD-188-85
(threatening to file bankruptcy proceedings if Ees chose U, violative)

5036-8317 Change in meal and/or other break period practices

N.L.R.B. v. E. I. DuPont De Nemours 750 F.2d 524 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)
(supervisors' telling Ees that their open support of U stood in the way of their becoming supervisors, violative)

5036-8321 Loans

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[threat to Ee who was recipient of E loan that, if U won recognition, E would stop informal policy of making loans to Ees, unlawful]

5036-8322 Less favorable treatment

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[threat to withdraw liberal leave policy in cases of emergency if U won election, violative]

Ro-Lab Rubber Co., Inc. 279 NLRB No. 057
[E's president's telling Ees that if U came in, E's lenient policy regarding attendance would be discontinued, violative]

Decasper Corporation 278 NLRB No. 022
[asking E why she wanted U while in same conversation reminding Ee she had recently had two days off to participate in arts and crafts fair with implication that such favors might be imperialed by her U adherence, unlawful and warranted setting aside of election]

5036-8325 Lockout

Gatliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 060

5036-8327 Loss of opportunities for advancement

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(telling Ees that they had forfeited chances of advancement by engaging in U activities, violation and interference)

American Federation of State, County & Municipal Employees JD-131-85
(threat to successful grievant that, if he were given contested position, he would stay down there for the rest of his life, violative)

5036-8328 Oppose employee's unemployment compensation claim

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[implying to Ee that, if he did not cooperate and support E in election, E would contest unemployment benefits in event of Ee's layoff, unlawful]

Hadaya Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 093
(E's statement to Ee that E would not give her unemployment compensation because of her activities on behalf of rival U, violative)

Browning-Ferris Industries of Pennsylvania, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 021
(E's statement to U steward that if he could come into shop and handle U business while out on disability he could lose his workmen's compensation, not unlawful, since remark standing alone as passing wisecrack was too ambiguous under the circumstances to constitute threat or otherwise interfere either with steward's own rights under Act or his capacity to act for others as steward)

N.L.R.B. v. Norbar, Inc. 752 F.2d 235 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)
(telling Ees that it was not a goood idea to file for unemployment compensation benefits and that he should withdraw his claim, violative)

5036-8329 Loss of benefits

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[supervisor's statement to Ee that negotiations would start from scratch and that there was possibility E would not want to agree with everything U asked for, not unlawful, where thrust of remarks was not that Ees would automatically lose benefits if they selected U, but rather, in context of all of supervisor's remarks, he was expressing permissible opinion which could not reasonably be interpreted as threat to deliberately extend bargaining]

Lynn-Edwards Corp. 282 NLRB No. 007
[E's statements that Ees covered by U-negotiated contracts could not participate in Ee stock ownership plan, and E's maintenance of such restrictive provisions in the plan's governing document, violation and election interference]

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer 281 NLRB No. 161
[E's announcement prior to election, that it could no longer consider changing medical insurance carriers because of pending R ptn, violative; further, E's subsequent announced change in insurance carriers, not violative, since E was simply righting the wrong of withholding a change and to hold otherwise would place employers in the untenable position of being barred from any corrective action once a wrong step was taken during pendency of a R case matter]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018
[telling Ees that they would not be permitted to participate in E's retirement plan because they had signed U authorization cards, unlawful]

Beverly Enterprises - Indiana, Inc. d/b/a Fountainview Place 281 NLRB No. 008
[informing Ees that, if U got in, bargaining starts out fresh - you don't start with what's in handbook, while waving Ee handbook which included among other items Ee benefits, unlawful, since conveyed impression that E would require Ees to give up existing Ee benefits, rather than merely description of realities of collective bargaining process, that U cannot compel concessions, nor guarantee retention of all present benefits]

Beverly Enterprises - Indiana, Inc. d/b/a Fountainview Place 281 NLRB No. 008
[no violation, where in response to Ee's question, whether Ees would lose credit union if U voted in, E's administrator replied there is possibility because all benefits must be negotiated, since statement merely explanation of what could happen as result of collective bargaining negotiations]

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[E's supervisor telling Ee that if U got in conditions would be the same but if they didn't get in conditions would improve, violative and held a promise of benefit only and not an additional prediction of loss of benefits]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's remarks to Ees about U and bargaining from scratch, unlawful, since remarks carried express threat that bargaining from scratch would start only after Ees had been reduced to minimum wage and all their benefits taken away, thereby threatening loss of existing benefits not necessarily as result of good faith bargaining]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[telling Ees that after bargaining their benefits might not be what they presently had, not violation where E expressed legal position that E did not have to start bargaining from present level of benefits and what Ees might expect as result w/o threatening to take away benefits]

Histacount Corp., A Subsidiary of S.C.M. Corporation 278 NLRB No. 104
[statements that bargaining can take weeks, months, or even years, E is legally entitled to bargain from ground zero, and there is no guarantee that E's existing benefits will survive bargaining, not unlawful, where they were made in context indicating that bargaining is process in which each side makes its own proposals, that it requires mutual agreement, and existing benefits may be traded away; and statements do not relay message that E would unilaterally discontinue existing benefits if Ees selected U, but rather that benefits may be lost as result of bargaining]

Precision Founders, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 084
[telling Ees that if U came in pension plan would no longer be in effect, unlawful threat of loss of benefits]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[E statements that bargaining means putting everything on the table including present benefits and that ct decision had upheld E's right to inform Ees that E need not agree to continue existing wages and benefits, found accurate reflection of obligations and possibilities of bargaining process rather than unlawful and objectionable implied threat to take away benefits or bargain regressively if U won]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[asking Ee how he was going to vote, whether voting for U was right thing, and whether Ee knew that, if U won, he could lose his benefits, violation, notwithstanding Ee was known active U supporter]

Evans St. Clair, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 065
[threatening that Ees would be deprived of benefits for one year if U came in, violation]

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[supervisor suggesting that Ee think over whether to support U because if U came in Ees could lose benefits, and stating that E knew about problems, but they could not be solved immediately, not unlawful threat, since no evidence of coercion, but was simply statement of what might result from U representation, and could not be construed as implied promise of benefit for voting against U; however, supervisor's subsequent remarks that best thing that could happen would be for U to lose election because problems would then be solved and leaders of U movement would be fired, constituted unlawful promise of benefit if U were defeated

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(threats of loss of benefits if U was elected, violation and interference)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(threatening that Ees would lose their free uniforms, insurance, Christmas bonuses, weekly tanks of gas and other benefits if they voted for U or U got in, violative and objectionable)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(E's asking Ee if U had told him Ees could lose benefits if U came in held not coercive since, while it is true Ees can lose benefits in process of collective bargaining, and while E suggested such conclusion w/o explaining whole process by which it could come about, such omission in itself was not coercive)

Stovall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(threat of loss of Christmas bonus due to selecting U, violative)

Electrical Workers, Local Union No. 596 (Lylloth G. Woodall, an Individual) 274 NLRB No. 196
(threatening reduction of U adherent's benefits because of her involvement in U handbilling, violative, notwithstnading she was in single-Ee unit, where her involvement in handbilling was form of assistance to labor organization protected by Sec. 7)

5036-8329—Cont.

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86
[supervisor informing Ee that if U came in Ee would probably not offer more than 50 cent per hour increase and that Ees would lose everything anyway, including holiday pay and vacations, constituted unlawful threats of loss of benefits and futility of selecting U representation]

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86
[E's management showing Ees blank piece of paper and informing Ees that blank paper represented what Ees would start with if U got in, and that legally E could start off bargaining with only minimum wage, that E's could lose benefits because U would give up everything to get checkoff]

5036-8333 Overtime work, loss of; consequences for refusing to perform

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[E's statement to Ee, before Ee initiated U organizing activities, that E would start cracking down on people who did not want to work overtime, and threatening loss of job for even talking about U, unlawful where, contrary to E's assertion that remarks were not taken seriously, Ee took E's attitude on overtime seriously enough to repeat E's remarks to other Ees; in any event, law proscribes threats of retaliation w/o regard to subjective view of Ees]

Tomco Carburetor Company 275 NLRB No. 001
(threatening Ee with loss of overtime because of his U activities, violative)

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198
(telling Ee that if U negotiates contract overtime provision E will hire more Ees rather than pay overtime, not unlawful, since this was not situation where E's statements equating unionization per se with loss of overtime or other work which have consistently been held to constitute unlawful threats; rather, E's statement was based on objective fact of overtime provision proposed by U; E may in nondiscriminatory manner, absent contractual restriction, hire more Ees to avoid impact of contractual overtime provision)

5036-8334 Loss of jobs

Air Express International USA, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 127
[threat by supervisor of closure of facility and loss of jobs if U came in, made in presence of statutory supervisor, not unlawful, since remarks directed at another supervisor and outside presence of any statutory Ee]

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[E's statement to Ee, before Ee initiated U organizing activities, that E would start cracking down on people who did not want to work overtime, and threatening loss of job for even talking about U, unlawful where, contrary to E's assertion that remarks were not taken seriously, Ee took E's attitude on overtime seriously enough to repeat E's remarks to other Ees; in any event, law proscribes threats of retaliation w/o regard to subjective view of Ees]

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[E's statement to Ee that there were long-time Ees who could lose their jobs because of U held unlawful threat of retaliation against Ees for supporting U; E's suggestion of loss of jobs was not based on any economic considerations or matters outside E's control; E's accompanying remark that he did not like idea of U made it clear it was his own attitude toward U which would cause loss of jobs; and E, as owner and president, had power to implement his suggestion]

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[E's president's memorandum to Ees informing them that w/o customers we are all doomed to look for other jobs and let's be careful that we do not vote ourselves into a new situation, violative and not protected by 8(c) where such statement was not linked to E's business but rather was linked to Ees' voting and statements were not based on objective facts regarding E's business situation or customers and thus, were not merely projected statements of opinion]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[suggesting to Ee that fellow Ee's employment would be in jeopardy if latter was involved in U activity held unlawful as implicit threat to Ee herein]

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110
[supervisor's conduct during U's campaign in approaching Ee wearing U hat and asking if Ee was satisfied with company, to which Ee responded affirmatively, and then stating Well, I don't know, if you're satisfied or not because you're wearing a funny hat around the company held not unlawful, since supervisor's statement did not reasonably convey threat of job loss in view of totality of circumstances, including Ee's open organizing activity and absence of any other statements reasonably tending to coerce Ee]

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[threats of loss of work, violation and interference]

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/c Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 067

Midwestern Mining & Reclamation, Inc., A Subsidiary of Midwestern Fuels Systems, Inc., etc. 277 NLRB No. 001
(threatening Ees with loss of employment if U, competing against U favored by E, became Ee representative)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(E's interrogating Ee about his intentions with respect to U, accompanied by statements that E had heard Ee was siding with U, that E considered U a cancer, and that everyone siding with it would be eliminated, unlawful, in view of E's extreme opposition to U as illustrated by his reference to it as cancer, and numerous other acts of unlawful threats and interrogation, thereby showing pervasive pattern of such acts)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(violation, where Ee told supervisor Ees who were gathered and discussing how to get out of U, that he was worrying about his job and wished supervisor would talk with Ees, and supervisor answered well, I understand you have kids and all, since reply to Ee implied that in his opinion unionization of E could be of such economic impact that Ees' job would be jeopardized, especially where supervisor's relationship with management would infer opinion based on inside knowledge of E's economic position)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(E's statement to Ees that if Ees became unionized and if E and negotiated higher labor costs, and if E suffered loss of work, Ees might be laid off, not coercive and hence not violative, since not prediction of inevitable events under E's control, but reminder of economic facts of life i.e. negotiated wage and benefit increases sometimes have debilitating effect on ability to compete)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(supervisor's remarks to Ee that Ee might be endangered, made in connection with references to joining U, not unlawful, where remarks were too vague, disjointed, and incomplete to substantiate finding that supervisor unlawfully threatened Ee; threatening connotation was word endanger, but it was not clear what was endangered, and it would be speculative to conclude that supervisor was implicitly threatening Ee with loss of job or other reprisals)

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(E's president informing Ee that if Ee did not stop rousing up Ees, that Ees would be out of jobs, and Ee should give Ees credit for having their own convictions, unlawful, in context of Ee's public opposition to E's contract proposals, and reasonably calculated to lead Ee to believe it was threat aimed at dissuading him from continuing to express his opposition to E's contract proposals)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(threat of job loss for Ee's wife due to U campaign, violative)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105
(cumulative effect of E's literature and consultant's speech, not unlawful threat of job loss and objectionable conduct; Ee's letter describing post-unionization layoffs due to higher wages was personal experience; lawfully posted newspaper article describing strikers' hardships not support for broader violation; trade journal article about store closings and Ees' letter asking help in keeping jobs merely described economic conditions; Ee's letter about U focused on Ee-U relations not store closings; and consultant's speech about store closings and striking stated economic realities)

Ausable Communications, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 166
(threatening Ees with loss of stock ownership, loss of seniority, subcontracting out work and loss of jobs if U came in, unlawful)

Steffer Brothers JD-269-86
[E's statement to Ees gathered together, made immediately after tally of votes in election, that E had won and everybody had their jobs back and everybody worked next day, unlawful, since E's statement was, by implication, threat that no one would have their jobs had E lost election or should lose any subsequent one, thereby effectively discouraging Ee support of U]

Steffer Brothers JD-269-86
[statement by company official, overheard by Ee, that any person who brought U in was going to be eliminated, unlawful, even absent evidence that official intended statement to be overheard by Ees, since statement's necessary effect was to discourage Ee from engaging in U activities at risk of losing his job]

B & W Machine & Welding Company JD-(SF)-107-86
[E's statement to Ee that before he would go U he would hire scabs off the street held unlawful threat to replace Ees with individuals who did not support U]

Morning Star International, Inc. JD-209-86
[E's conduct, in anticipation of U demand for recognition, in converting attendance checking procedure into unprecedented production reviews held unlawful threat to Ees' employment, since Ees knew that E was using his powers of appraisal to demonstrate dramatically dangerous position in which their tenure of employment lay]

5036-8334—Cont.

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86

[telling unlawfully locked out U adherents that E could not afford U and that if U got in certain number of Ees would have to be fired or laid off and that only few of locked out Ees would be taken back, unlawful]

N.L.R.B. v. Norbar, Inc. 752 F.2d 235 (C.A. 6, Jan. 1985)

(telling Ees that, if U were elected or there was a strike, they could, or would, be out of work, violative)

Lemon Drop Inn, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 752 F.2d 323 (C.A. 8, Jan. 1985)

(E restaurant manager's threat to waitress that if he heard further talk of Ee organization, he would close restaurant and fire Ees, violative)

5036-8335 Harsher working conditions

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026

[supervisor's implied threat to Ee that if U's organizing campaign succeeded, E would adopt more stringent policy requiring Ees to stand, instead of sitting at their work places, held unlawful imposition of harsher policies if Ees voted for U]

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047

(E's owner informing Ee he was going to lower Ee complement, but would do it legally by seniority, and stated he didn't know what we all are going to get out of this i.e., U campaign, but that if we wanted to play hard ball he was going to play hard ball, unlawful, inasmuch as hard ball belies earlier reference to doing everything legally, and Ee could reasonably conclude that conditions would be harsher)

Workroom For Designers, Inc. and Sidney H. Sisselman, an Individual 274 NLRB No. 115

(threatening returning strikers with more onerous or intolerable working conditions so that they would quit, violative)

5036-8337 Loss of seniority

Stop N' Go Inc. 279 NLRB No. 052

Aussie Communications, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 166

(threatening Ees with loss of stock ownership, loss of seniority, subcontracting out work and loss of jobs if U came in, unlawful)

5036-8338 Working hours

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079

[supervisor's telling Ee that if U came in E would have to adhere to posted work schedules and would not be able to give Ees days off as it presently did because it would be out of E's hands held unlawful threat of change in working conditions adverse to Ees if U succeeded, and implying that onus for such change would rest with U]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144

(E's agent's threatening part-time Ees with loss of flexibility as to days and hours when they could work, violation and interference)

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105

(no violation or objectionable conduct by E's distributing to its Ees a letter in which another E's Ee recounted his past personal experience with unionization; E's apprising Ees of others' experience and opinions did not predict or threaten retaliatory conduct by E and was intended to enable Ees to make informed decision)

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86

[threatening to reduce work hours of U supporters to harass them into quitting, violation]

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86

[threatening to reduce Ee's shifts because he participated in Bd proceeding, violation]

5036-8339 Loss of access to management

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076

[supervisor telling Ees that if U won election, the intercession of steward would be necessary before Ees could have one-on-one meeting with him to discuss personal problems in contrast to present open-door policy, not violative, as statement was explanation that Ees' relationship with management would change so that they would have to deal with management indirectly]

Beverly Enterprises - Indiana, Inc. d/b/a Fountainview Place 281 NLRB No. 060

[no violation, even accepting GC's version of statements by E's officials, that if U voted in relationship between E and Ees would change and U would speak for Ees, since no threat explicit or implicit, in statement which explains to Ees, that when they select U to represent them, relationship that existed between Ees and E will not be as before. Section 9(a) of Act contemplates change in manner in which E and Ee deal with each other, and for E to tell Ees about this in course of U election campaign cannot be characterized as objectionable retaliatory threat]

Port Plastics, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 080

[E president's statement to Ees that he had been able to speak on a one-to-one basis to ees, but would no longer be able to do so if U came in, not violative, since statement simply explicates one of the changes which occur between E and Ees when a statutory representative is chosen and thus, is not coercive]

Michael's Markets of Canterbury, Inc., and Michael's Markets of Jewett City, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 105

(no unlawful threat of Ees' loss of right to speak directly with management upon unionization or objectionable conduct by E's distributing to Ees another E's Ee's letter recounting his past personal experience with and opinion about unionization in which he stated that, once a U came in, it did the talking whereas now Ees could discuss differences with management on one-to-one basis)

5036-8341 Withdrawal of privileges

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137

(violation, where after interrogation of Ees about U organizing, supervisor threatened to eliminate smoking and drinking at work areas, reduce hours of work and take away Ees' tables and chairs)

5036-8344 Closer supervision

Olympic Limousine Service, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 133

[telling Ee who was active U supporter that if U won election, E would follow Ee around with pen and pad all day, violative]

Timet, A Division of Titanium Metals Corporation of America 274 NLRB No. 180

(E's foreman's threat to Ee, acting in capacity of U representative, that he would watch Ee's work very closely and straighten out Ee, violative where foreman threatened Ee because he was displeased with Ee's words spoken on behalf of Ee he was representing)

5036-8345 Withholding of promotion

Precision Founders, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 004

[disparaging Ee's involvement in U activities and impliedly threatening lack of future promotions due to Ee's U activities, violation]

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 098

(threatening not to promote Ees if U won election, violation and interference)

5036-8348 No wage increase

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144

(threatening Ees with loss of scheduled wage increase, violation and interference)

5036-8349 Financial loss

Toyota of San Francisco 280 NLRB No. 093

[E informing Ees that they owed E reimbursement for overpaid commissions in view of most favored nation provision in multi-E agreement which had recently been triggered by U granting more favorable terms to another E, violative, since U was effort to undermine U's position at bargaining table, by going directly to Ees to get Ees to influence U's stance at bargaining table]

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148

[manager's telling Ee that his approval of customer's credit application and, therefore, Ee's receipt of sales commission would depend on how Ee intended to vote in election, violation]

Gatliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 060

(threat of economic reprisal by E's owner when he said that he would not invest more money in company to keep it going when it was experiencing financial difficulty but would use money that he had as an escape fund to start another company, violative)

5036-8350 Reduction in pay

Stop N' Go Inc. 279 NLRB No. 082

[threat to reduce pay to minimum wage or less, violation]

5036-8353 Change in method of compensation

Goodman Holding Company, Inc., and Its Wholly-Owned Subsidiaries, Goodman Manufacturing Corp., etc. 276 NLRB No. 098
(E's telling group of Ees during critical period that a proposed individual incentive pay plan would be subject to negotiation if U was certified, not violative or objectionable, since E's statement was an accurate reflection of E's duty to bargain in good faith with a successful U and there was no evidence E threatened to freeze wages or conditioned pay plan upon defeat of the U)

5036-8354 Reduction in work or in number of employees on job

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(violation, where after interrogation of Ees about U organizing, supervisor threatened to eliminate smoking and drinking at work areas, reduce hours of work and take away Ees' tables and chairs)

Okun Brothers Shoe Store, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 145
(supervisor's threatening Ees with reduction of hours if they voted U in, violative and objectionable)

Starrett Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(contrary to ALJ, Bd found that E did not threaten Ees with declining orders because of U campaign; E's alleged statement that, since U campaign began work orders had declined and warehouses were getting stockpiled, if made, was statement of fact, not threat of reprisal, and Ees' other alleged version of statement, that U stuff was slowing things down so that E could not get things out, described an incidental effect of campaign, not a threat, and was too obscure and vague to be a threat)

5036-8355 Issuing warnings

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's implied threat to Ees that if U's organizing campaign succeeded U would oblige E to discharge Ees who were absent from work for 3 consecutive days held unlawful warning of imposition of harsher policies if Ees voted for U]

Grance, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(issuance of written warning to Ee for failure to report for work as scheduled, not unlawful, where Ee took permission to be off from work to participate in foot race as blanket permission to absent himself from work for subsequent races, but which was not so construed by E; warning was not related to Ee's U activity but was directed at Ee's attempt to adjust his schedule to accomodate his participation in races w/o E's permission; and original permission was given on condition E kept up with his work but which he failed to do)

5036-8357 Stricter enforcement of rules

Polymer Prints Ltd. Formerly Known as Subliflex, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 068
[threatening Ee with imposition of stricter work rules if U came in, unlawful]

5036-8358 Refusal to reinstate strikers

Dayton Auto Electric, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 080
[E sending mailgram to ULP strikers that stated that if strikers did not report to work by certain date they would be terminated, unlawful; E's subsequent mailgram informing strikers that they would be replaced not terminated did not effectively repudiate earlier mailgram]

Bezzato's, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 100
(threatening Ees with job loss if they went on strike, violation, since it constituted threatening potential ULP strikers with job loss)

SCA Services of Georgia, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 120
(threat, unlawful)

Workroom For Designers, Inc. and Sidney H. Sisselman, an Individual 274 NLRB No. 115
(E's throwing strikers' personal belongings out of plant, telling them that if they did not return by certain date that respondents would assume that they had quit, that E was sorry he had hired them, and that they would never come back to work for him, violative as threats of loss of employment)

Phil's Food Market, Inc. JD-(SF)-105-85
(threatening loss of reinstatement rights because of strike participation, violative)

Phil's Food Market, Inc. JD-(SF)-105-85
(E's letter to strikers enclosing accrued vacation and sick leave paychecks and wishing them luck in their new endeavor held threat of loss of employment and of reinstatement rights)

5036-8359 Refusal to recall laid off employees

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[saying that laid off Ees were only hurting themselves and should get the message to get other jobs, violation where, given E's U animus and discriminatory layoff, import was that as long as laid off Ees supported U, they should look for work elsewhere; E was not stating rule requiring Ees' mitigation of backpay, and fact statement might mirror such rule was irrelevant]

5036-8360 Installation of time clocks

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003
[E threatening to install timeclock if U won election, unlawful]

5036-8366 Shut down or removal of plant to new location

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[supervisor's statement to Ee that plant will never have a U, they will close this plant first, you'll all be out of jobs held single violation rather than separate violations of threat of plant closure and threat of discharge, since supervisor's reference to Ees being out of jobs, in context, was clearly reference to what situation would be if E closed plant]

H. Treffinger Repair Service, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 085
[threats made to Ee that U would put E out of business or that E would pull out if U got in, unlawful, where E did not state why U's advent would result in threatened consequences, and therefore threats did not constitute predictions]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 011
[threat to Ees that if they selected U E would relocate its plant held unlawful threat of plant closure and not prediction based on objective facts from which E could have conveyed reasonable belief to Ees as to demonstratable probable consequences of unionization]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor's telling Ee that she was afraid that if U came in plant would close, not unlawful, where Ee initiated casual conversation with supervisor who clearly phrased her response in terms of her personal opinion, not as spokesperson for E]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor's statement to Ee that plant would close if U came in, unlawful and not expression of supervisor's personal opinion, where Ee believed that supervisor was expressing more than his personal opinion and was repeating something which came from higher up because otherwise supervisor would not have known whether plant would close; and supervisor did not offer any objective basis for his prediction that plant would close nor explain that decision to do so would be sole result of economic considerations]

Kawasaki Motors Manufacturing Corporation, U.S.A. 280 NLRB No. 053
[no threat of plant closure where supervisors presented to Ees during meeting 3 days before scheduled R election information on plant's losses, layoffs, payroll decreases, shortened workweek, and overstocked inventory. Officials clearly created impression that any decision to close plant would be based on its profitability and competitive status in world markets. Their prediction of possible closure was not based on reasons unrelated to economic necessities]

Independent Stave Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 089
[threatening to close plant rather than put new job in U, violation as threat to close if grievance was filed over refusal to recognize U as representative of Ee filling new job]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statement referring to job security and plant closure, not violation or conduct interfering with election where they were not made in context of threats of loss of benefits, inevitability of strikes and futility of electing U]

Quality Aluminum Products, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 049
[threats of plant closure, violation]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[E's remarks to Ees containing prediction of plant closure, unlawful, where prediction was not carefully phrased on basis of objective fact to convey E's belief as to demonstrably probable consequences beyond his control, or to convey management decision already arrived at to close plant in case of unionization; instead, E's language strongly suggested that it had already decided to remove machinery from plant and possibly relocate outside state if U's organizing effort succeeded]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[E's remarks to Ees, presenting figures showing its operating losses and offered as prelude to relocating E's plant outside state held unlawful threat of retaliation if Ees voted for U representation, where point of E's conduct was that financial difficulty had not yet dampened E's determination to operate presently located plant, but that U victory in pending election would cause E to close plant]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[E's remarks to Ees during U organizing drive that E's customers were anxious for us to get back to normal, and that if Ees voted against U it would be message to customers that you're behind me held not unlawful, since remarks did not carry suggestion of plant closing; rather, E's remarks raised

5036-8366—Cont.

customer dissatisfcation with interruptions in production and increased costs as possible effect of U's compaign; consequently, E's threat that it would impose any economic burden on Ees because of loss of customers was protected by 8(c)]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's statement to pro-U Ee that supervisior knew that E would close shop if U came in, unlawful, since Ee was likely to conclude that supervisor, as second level supervisor, was authoritative source conveying E's expressed intent]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's response to Ee who approached him during U organizing compaign that, if supervisor were E I'd shut plant down because it's not big enough for U, not unlawful, since remark was protected by 8(c) inasmuch as it was expression of supervisor's personal attitude toward U, and Ee could readily discern that supervisor was not speaking for E, but for himself]

American Stores Packing Company, A Division of Acme Markets, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 190
[E's informing Ees that if they did not accept concessions that it had proposed to U, plant would close or would probably close, not violative where E was merely communicating in noncoercive terms with Ees about proposals it had already made to U and telling Ees its version of status of negotiations]

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124
(Ee's pre-election statement to Ee that men that had gone U had cut off their nose to spite their face, and that E was going to shut its doors held to constitute unlawful threats of discharge and placlosure)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(E's threatening to close plants if U won election, violation and interfeence where, rather than pointing to objective facts likely to result from unionization that would cause unprofitability, E noted that its plants were uncompetitive and could easily be relocated if U won where five E's officials had threatened to close plants and relocate to another state)

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant 276 NLRB No. 087
(E's remarks at meeting with Ees that if Ees selected U as their representative E would close his business because he could not afford a U operation held lawful prediction, where E provided objective support for prediction by emphasizing his previous experience with U, by pointing to decline in business, and by telling Ees he could not afford U previously when it represented Ees before being decertified even though business was better then than it was now)

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86
[telling unlawfully locked out U adherents that they were wasting their time and that E could claim bankruptcy whenever he wished, unlawful, since statement was comparable to threat of plant closure]

N.L.R.B. v. J. Coty Messenger Service, Inc. ——F.2d——
(C.A. 2, May 1985)
[threat to close company if U came in, unlawful]

5036-8370 Replacement of strikers

Benmit Division, U.S. Tubular, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 083
[threatening to hire permanent replacements, violation]

Dayton Auto Electric, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 080
[E sending mailgram to ULP strikers that stated that if strikers did not report to work by certain date they would be terminated, unlawful; E's subsequent mailgram informing strikers that they would be replaced not terminated did not effectively repudiate earlier mailgram]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements referring to permanent replacement of strikes, not unlawful threats of discharge where they were not made in context of unlawful statements about inevitability of strikes and futility of U organization]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[interrogating found violative, notwithstanding it was of U supporter, where it was done in context of coercive statements of E's readiness to hire replacements in event of strike and of unlawful threat to make examples of Ees at this plant]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements made in response to Ee's question that U could not give wages and benefits E did not want to give, that if Ees went on strike they could be replaced, and subsequent interrogation as to whether Ee thought that E needed U and if U could give Ee more benefits, violative where Ee was not active U adherent, and repeated questioning was coercive; statements were not found unlawful threats of discharge or of futility of selecting U, however]

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(threatening that all strikers, ULP as well as economic strikers, could be replaced, violation and interference)

Heck's Inc. 277 NLRB No. 098
(E president's remarks to meeting of department managers in which he threatened closure if U won election, threatened discharge if Ees went on strike, and informed them E would never sign contract, unlawful, where one of the department managers was held not supervisor at time of meeting)

Reichhold Chemicals, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 073
(supervisor's statement during period of negotiations that E would never sign contract and that Ees would lose their jobs if they went out on strike, unlawful)

Workroom For Designers, Inc. and Sidney H. Sisselman, an Individual 274 NLRB No. 115

5036-8370-5000 Prior to strike

G. W. Galloway Company 281 NLRB No. 038
[threat to terminate striking Ees who refused to return to work, unlawful, since this was not case where E has attempted truthfully to explain to Ees its legal prerogative to hire replacements w/o fully detailing protections accorded to strikers as enumerated in Laidlaw Corp., 171 NLRB 1366; here, threat to terminate non-returning strikers may be understood as direct threat of reprisal against Ees for striking; nor was coercive impact of E's remarks tempered in any way by E's pronouncement that terminated Ees would be replaced]

Marion Center Supply, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 026
(threat to force a strike and replace the strikers)

Gaso Pumps, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 076
(no violation by E informing Ees that in event of strike they may be permanently replaced w/o at same time informing them of their preferential reinstatement rights unless statement may be fairly understood as threat of reprisal or is explicitly coupled with such threats)

5036-8379 Shutdown or liquidation of business

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084
[supervisor's calling Ee who was not open, active U adherent into his office, discussing personal matters, then giving his opinions on U, violation where accompanied by interrogation as to why Ees wanted U and thinly veiled threats concerning consequences of unionization, such as unionized Es going out of business due to high wages]

Unico Replacement Parts, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 046
[E's comment to Ee that, if discriminatee called OSHA to report unsafe working conditions, We would close the doors, put on our coveralls and keep working held unlawful threat of plant closure; while discriminatee's OSHA call would not be protected absent evidence that he acted in concert with other Ees, threat was made with ler of people around and could reasonably have been construed that complaints to OSHA, whether made by one or several Ees together, would result in plant closure, thereby restraining Ees in acting in concert in reporting to OSHA]

Bo-Ed Inc. d/b/a Golden Fan Inn 281 NLRB No. 035
[E's attorney telling Ees in group meetings that a unionized restaurant in the State was not doing well and two other unionized restaurants had closed but that he did not know whether the restaurants' business problems had anything to do with the U, not violative and protected by 8(c); E's attorney's comments were lawful statements of fact and attorney expresaly stated he did not know whether the U had caused business problems and GC did not challenge the accuracy or truthfulness of the statements]

Armon Company 279 NLRB No. 158
[office manager's telling Ee that E's president wasn't going to put up with U and would close down before . . . he let a U in, that U had a bad reputation, its apparent head was ruthless, that manager knew of a warehouse that was firebombed during U campaign, and president would shut down before he let that happen, violation, rather than lawful remark about closure in response to U violence, since manager stated w/o qualification that E would close before tolerating unionization, and his subsequent references to alleged U violence did not suggest that it, rather than E's desires, would cause closure]

Palmas Del Mar Company 277 NLRB No. 011
(E's telling Ees in remarks, speech, letters, and notice in their paycheck that if they voted for disfavored U, interested purchaser would not buy the business, E would have to close it, and they would lose their jobs found unlawful and objectionable election conduct)

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(telling Ee that if U got in E would not have to bargain with it and would close the plant, thus giving Ee impression that organizing would be futile, violative and objectionable)

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(in finding bargaining order warranted, Bd held threats of closure of E's operation and discharge of leading U activists were particular violations which were likely to have lasting inhibitive effect on substantial percentage of work force)

5036-8379—Cont.

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates — 276 NLRB No. 137
(supervisor asking Ee what is going on as far as you and U, and subsequently stating if you go ahead with U then E will have to go out of business, unlawful)

Engineered Control Systems, Inc. — 274 NLRB No. 191
(E's president stating he would not sign new contract with U since could not then compete with non-U manufacturers, and if he signed U contract result would be closing plant doors, unlawful, since comments not limited to consequences of agreeing to any particular contract or contract language, rather in context of bypassing U, he implied that any agreement with U would cause him to close business)

Fan-Sy Productions, Inc. — JD-(NY)-49-85
(E asking Ee to sign a statement declaring he did not wish to be represented by U which was involved in organizing campaign at E's plant, violative)

5036-8380 Closure of department, facility, etc.

Kokomo Tube Company — 280 NLRB No. 035
[supervisor's statement to Ee I guarantee E will shut down if U comes in, unlawful, in view of supervisor's interrogation of same Ee and fact threat of closingwas unconditional]

Times Wire & Cable Company — 280 NLRB No. 003
[E's posting of picture by timeclock which depicted a halfway constructed plant, violative, where posting of picture was accompanied by E's explanations that the plant depicted was under construction until owners learned it may be union and then stopped construction and moved to another state]

Stop N' Go Inc. — 279 NLRB No. 052
[supervisor's telling Ees that, if U came in, store would close for 30 days, and U card signers would not be rehired, violation]

Pottsville Bleaching and Dyeing Company — 277 NLRB No. 106
(supervisor in meeting with Ees saying he did not want any labor problems from outside or we'll lock the doors, held threat to close plant if U selected as representative for Ees)

N.L.R.B. v. E. I. DuPont De Nemours — 750 F.2d 524 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)
(telling Ees that, if U called a strike over wages and benefits, a significant portion of plant would never reopen, violative) 5036-8381

Transfer to another job, shift or plant

La-Z-Boy — 281 NLRB No. 054
[personnel manager's and superintendent's telling open U supporter at gripe session, where he had asked about benefits at E's unionized plant and begun to dominate meeting, that if he liked unionized plant so much they would give him opportunity to transfer and guessed that several in meeting would help him pack, not violation in absence of threats]

Dresser Industries, Inc. — 281 NLRB No. 023
[supervisor's threatening to transfer leadman to another department because of his filing grievance against supervisor, violation]

Eskaton Sunrise Community — 279 NLRB No. 012
[telling Ees that they would not be assigned to shifts they desired to obtain because of their U activities, unlawful, notwithstanding E's contention reason for non-assignment of shifts was other Ees' higher seniority]

Eastman Machine Company and its wholly owned subsidiary, Cutting Foam Appliances Corp. — JD-(NY)-42-85
(violation by attempting to induce Ees to transfer to other jobs out of department that they worked in because of U organizational activity taking place in department)

5036-8383 Transfer to less desirable job

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. — 282 NLRB No. 066
[supervisor's threat to assign Ee to more onerous and hazardous duty, accompanied by statement that Ee was troublemaker when Ee protested assignment, unlawful, where Ee was known leading U adherent who had been subjected to ULPs by supervisors; absent evidence to the contrary, characterizing Ee as troublemaker could only be reference to her U activities; and while threat, standing alone, was not of much consequence, it constituted violation when considered in conjunction with other ULPs]

5036-8384 Subcontracting

Ausable Communications, Inc. — 273 NLRB No. 166
(threatening Ees with loss of stock ownership, loss of seniority, subcontracting out work and loss of jobs if U came in, unlawful)

5036-8385 Savings and stock ownership plan

Lynn-Edwards Corp. — 282 NLRB No. 007
[E's statements that Ees covered by U-negotiated contracts could not participate in Ee stock ownership plan, and E's maintenance of such restrictive provisions in the plan's governing document, violation and election interference]

Ausable Communications, Inc. — 273 NLRB No. 166
(threatening Ees with loss of stock ownership, loss of seniority, subcontracting out work and loss of jobs if U came in, unlawful)

5036-8387 Transfer of work elsewhere

Kohler Company — 273 NLRB No. 195
(E's proposal to transfer unit work to another of E's plants if acceptable wage rates were not negotiated, not unlawful threat to remove unit work, as alleged, where by agreeing to broad management rights clause in contract U had waived its right to bargain over such unilateral removal)

Ballou Brick Company v. N.L.R.B. — 798 F.2d 339 (C.A. 8, July 1986)
[supervisor's telling laid-off Ee that chief operating officer had told him that Ees were laid off for U activities and plant would be closed and operations transferred to another facility if U came in, violation]

5036-8391 Implied or veiled threats

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer — 281 NLRB No. 161
[Ee's remarking to other Ees that E's CEO was a cheap son of a bitch, held protected concerted activity where comment was addressed to other Ees, Ee made it while Ees were on break and statement was not accompanied by any threat; further, Ee's supervisor telling Ee sometime after this comment, that he understood Ee was unhappy and if supervisor was that unhappy he would leave, violative, since remark was implied threat of retaliation for either Ee's comment about CEO or for signing a U card, both of which constituted protected activity]

Baddour, Inc. — 281 NLRB No. 084
[supervisor's calling Ee who was not open, active U adherent into his office, discussing personal matters, then giving his opinions on U, violation where accompanied by interrogation as to why Ees wanted U and thinly veiled threats concerning consequences of unionization, such as unionized Es going out of business due to high wages]

Wayne W. Sell Corporation — 281 NLRB No. 082
[E's vice-president informing Ee that if Ee continued to stick his nose into everybody's business, referring to Ee's filing grievances sooner or later somebody's going to put it all over his face, unlawful, since constituted thinly veiled threat of physical harm for protected activity of filing grievances]

Unico Replacement Parts, Inc. — 281 NLRB No. 046
[telling Ee that fellow Ee would be screwing himself up by going through with grievance to U, unlawful]

Central Broadcast Company — 280 NLRB No. 056
[telling Ee that E's counsel had said that E would have to do whatever was necessary to solve ugly problem of unionism]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation — 280 NLRB No. 046
[supervisor's statement to Ee engaged in U activities that supervisor would not brook this union stuff, coupled with remark that things were about to get nasty, held not so thinly veiled threat of unspecified reprisals for U activities]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation — 280 NLRB No. 046
[suggesting to Ee that fellow Ee's employment would be in jeopardy if latter was involved in U activity held unlawful as implicit threat to Ee herein]

Clark Equipment Company — 278 NLRB No. 085
[E statements that bargaining means putting everything on the table including present benefits and that ct decision had upheld E's right to inform Ees that E need not agree to continue existing wages and benefits, found accurate reflection of obligations and possibilities of bargaining process rather than unlawful and objectionable implied threat to take away benefits or bargain regressively if U won]

Rood Industries, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's implied threat to Ee that if U's organizing campaign succeeded, E would adopt more stringent policy requiring Ees to stand, instead of sitting at their work places, held unlawful imposition of harsher policies if Ees voted for U]

Rood Industries, Inc. — 278 NLRB No. 026
[supervisor's implied threat to Ees that if U's organizing campaign succeeded U would oblige E to discharge Ees who were absent from work for 3 consecutive days held unlawful warning of imposition of harsher policies if Ees voted for U]

Kona 60 Minute Photo — 277 NLRB No. 092
(posted notice referring to matter of U representation and possible dismissal of some and/or all Ees held clearly implied threat of discharge for U activities, notwithstanding E's contention that such statement merely expressed E's intention to oppose U only w/i limits of law because statement noted that matter of U representation and dismissal had been turned over to E's legal department; rather, statement clearly connected seeking U representation with dismissal which belied E's strained and unrealistic interpretation of statement)

Kona 60 Minute Photo — 277 NLRB No. 092
(coercive effect of E's threat to hire new Ees if Ees struck held, in context of E's refusal to bargain in good faith, analogous to that of threat to bargain in bad faith so as to force a strike, and amounted to veiled threat of discharge)

5036-8391—Cont.

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(supervisor's remarks to Ee that Ee might be endangered, made in connection with references to joining U, not unlawful, where remarks were too vague, disjointed, and incomplete to substantiate finding that supervisor unlawfully threatened Ee; threatening connotation was word endanger, but it was not clear what was endangered, and it would be speculative to conclude that supervisor was implicitly threatening Ee with loss of job or other reprisals)

Pioneer Hotel and Gambling Hall, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 072
(supervisor impliedly threatened to discharge Ee because of his U activities by telling Ee that he would have been discharged if supervisor had not vouched for him and that Ee be careful whom he talked to about U)

Pioneer Hotel and Gambling Hall, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 072
(supervisor's telling Ees that fellow worker was discharged because he was distributing U cards held unlawful implied threat to discharge other Ees if they engaged in U activity)

Steffer Brothers JD-269-86
[E's statement to Ees gathered together, made immediately after tally of votes in election, that E had won and everybody had their jobs back and everybody worked next day, unlawful, since E's statement was, by implication, threat that no one would have their jobs had E lost election or should lose any subsequent one, thereby effectively discouraging Ee support of U]

Cassidy Cleaning, Inc. JD-239-86
[suggesting to Ees that turncoat who started U activities had been discharged held unlawful implied threat to discharge U activists]

Eastman Machine Company and its wholly owned subsidiary, Cutting Room Appliances Corp. JD-(NY)-42-85
(threats of bumping by other Ees if U was voted in, held veiled threat of discharge)

Mobile Concrete, Inc. JD-453-84
(plant superintendent's telling Ee that he knew exactly how many U authorization cards were signed, who had signed them, and that he hoped they would be taken care of, violative)

Coal Systems, Inc. and W. Julian Scalf Engineering & Construction Co., Inc. JD-452-84
(supervisor's telling Ees that their work had been assigned to another company, found alter ego to E herein, and that their seniority had been changed because Ees had filed grievances against E, violative)

5036-8395 Limitation on or withholding of bonus or pay raise

Shore Pointe Associates, Inc., d/b/a Americare Convalescent Center 280 NLRB No. 130
[E official's statement to Ees that if the U came in she would not be able to give Ees recognition or bonuses for excellent work held unlawful threat of reprisal rather than promise of benefit]

Gatliff Business Products, Inc. and RBD Service Corporation 276 NLRB No. 060
(threat that bonus plan would be stopped if U came in, violative)

5036-8399 Other

Sahara Datsun, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 148
[manager's telling Ee that his approval of customer's credit application and, therefore, Ee's receipt of sales commission would depend on how Ee intended to vote in election, violation]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144
(threats to not grant Ee a reference, violation and interference)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(threatening Ees with stricter job classifications and denial of interdepartmental transfers if U became bargaining representative, violation and interference)

Churchill's Catering Corporation d/b/a Churchill's Restaurant 276 NLRB No. 087
(telling Ee that he should stop talking about U during worktime or he was going to have trouble with E held unlawful threat, in view of E's disparate enforcement of its no-solicitation rule)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(threatening Ee that it would be hard for him to get rid of U label and that Ee's tracks were wide and deep, violative)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(threatening that Ee would lose his family unless he abandoned U, violative)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(threat to put out false, derogatory information about Ee violative)

Browning-Ferris Industries of Pennsylvania, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 021
(E's statement to U steward that if he could come into shop and handle U business while out on disability he could lose his workmen's compensation, not unlawful, since remark standing alone as passing wisecrack was too ambiguous under the circumstances to constitute threat or otherwise interfere either with steward's own rights under Act or his capacity to act for others as steward)

Medallion Kitchens, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 008
(threatening Ees that if they went on strike, U would not be coming back, violative)

5042 FORMS OF BENEFITS IN CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT, OR PROMISES THEREOF

5042-0100 Generally

5042-0116 Coercive impact of benefits to dissuade employees from unionization

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[supervisor at nursing home informing Ee, in response to Ee's question about unionized nursing homes, that after U at another one of E's facilities had been decertified Ees at that facility had received raises, not unlawful, since essentially merely observation made by supervisor in response to Ee's question, and any coercive implication dissipated by supervisor subsequently informing Ee that this was one example and not representation that same thing would happen at facility at which Ee worked]

Bronal Electric, Inc. JD-(NY)-21-84
[violation, where E after receiving U's demand for recognition and bargaining, asked Ees what they wanted, solicited grievances, promised Ees substantial improvements in working conditions, including wage increases and insurance, if they would withdraw support from U, then threatened to close rather than deal with U]

5042-0133 Timing

5042-0133-1100 During union organizing period

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[discontinuance of rule under which Ees took off from work w/o pay when there was low work load, and announcement of rule's discontinuance, unlawful, where E's action took place in midst of election campaign and was taken to induce Ees to refrain from supporting U]

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[announcing and implementing every other weekend off policy, unlawful, where E's prior position for not giving weekends off because of insufficient staffing suddenly changed w/o any increase in staffing; such change came about through E's programs unlawfully soliciting and remedying E complaints and grievances; and benefit was granted during election campaign with no adequate showing of business justification]

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[hiring additional receptionists at higher than normal starting pay and adjusting pay of all receptionists upward after new receptionists completed probationary period which was 6 weeks before election, not violative, since pay raises was part and parcel of legitimate business decision to hire additional Ees and to commensurately upgrade rate of pay in existing job classification to bring it in line with other receptionist classifications at E, and these decisions made month before R ptn filed]

Resistance Technology, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 117
[rescission of warning letters concerning new absenteeism policy in midst of U organizing campaign, violative where purpose of E's action was to undermine Ees' U activity]

Delta Data Systems Corp. 279 NLRB No. 169
[preelection grant of benefits including relaxed lateness policy, no use of timeclock at lunch time, and establishment of Ee grievance committee, violative and interfered with election, notwithstanding E claim that changes had been under consideration prior to U campaign, where changes were not scheduled or implemented until after U drive began and were announced at meeting during which E president expressed anti-U animus]

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(implementation of small group meetings viewpoint with plant manager where Ees could voice their grievances, unlawful, as this was grant of benefit to Ees to discourage their resort to unionization as means of obtaining more effective labor-management communications, notwithstanding E held monthly production meetings where questions were raised since viewpoint meetings differed in format and objective, resulted in changes to working conditions and initiated after start of U campaign; however, charge of solicitation of grievances at viewpoint meetings dismissed as this was in keeping with established practice at production meetings)

5042-0133-1300 During critical preelection period

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003
[E's announcement of wage increases and other benefits after 1st election, and 10 days prior to 2nd election, unlawful]

Playboy Elsinor Associates, t/a Playboy Hotel & Casino 281 NLRB No. 159

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035
[grant of across board wage increase, unlawful, since granted to undermine U campaign, where announced 1 day after E had obtained knowledge of U

5042-0133-1300—Cont.

activity based on more than rumors, increase received by Ees after U had filed R ptn, and where previouse increases had been tied to E's profits whereas these raises wee not justified by profits]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085

[announcement and implementation of new job evaluation system resulting in wage increase and institution of new wage rate on election day, not violation or conduct interfering with election where implementation was already planned and Ees informed of its imminent announcement when U filed request to proceed]

Southern Maryland Hospital Center v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 666 (C.A. 4, Sept. 1986)

[reinstitution of Ee of the Month award and offering $100 to winner each month during pre-election period not violative in view of both length of U's (approximately 13 months) organizational drive and large number of hospital Ees (approximately 1300). Designation of one individual as Ee of month can not reasonably be said to be so significant as to influence in any way attitude of Ees or outcome of election]

5042-0133-2500 After election while objections or challenges are pending

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079

[E's post-election conduct in promising Ee benefits in response to their previous complaints, unlawful, since election proceeding was then in progress with qcr still existing with objections to election pending, and E acted at its risk in promising benefits before outcome of election was certain]

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079

[announcement of part-time Ee benefits, unlawful, where announcement, deliberately delayed until almost immediately after election unfavorable to U while objections to election were pending, was reasonably calculated to convey to Ees that E would treat Ees better w/o U than with it, and that Ee was giving them reward for voting against U; E's defense that announcement was delayed because it was trying to avoid ULP charge, rejected, since Ees were never so advised but were told delay was caused by election]

Southland Frozen Foods, Inc. JD-(NY)-78-86

[E's conduct, at time when qcr was pending because of unresolved objections to election, in improving its restroom and cafeteria facilities held not to constitute unlawful granting of benefits, since they were not granted to influence Ee sentiment concerning U representation, in view of absence of active U campaign for considerable period and of any ULP, indefinite period of time before objections to election could be finally adjudicated, and relatively insubstantial nature of benefit]

5042-0133-3700 After election before expiration of time for filing objections

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003

[E's announcement of wage increases and other benefits after 1st election, and 10 days prior to 2nd election, unlawful]

5042-0167 Practice of similar changes

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 035

[grant of across board wage increase, unlawful, since granted to undermine U campaign, where announced 1 day after E had obtained knowledge of U activity based on more than rumors, increase received by Ees after U had filed R ptn, and where previouse increases had been tied to E's profits whereas these raises wee not justified by profits]

5042-0175 Announcement or grant of benefits

Resistance Technology, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 117

[rescission of warning letters concerning new absenteeism policy in midst of U organizing campaign, violative where purpose of E's action was to undermine Ees' U activity]

Gull, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 127

[E's institution of open-door policy constituting major change from prior policy of scheduled meetings with small group of Ees chosen by E, accompanied by requests for questions from Ees and by statements telling them of extra few dollars in their paychecks in lieu of dental plan, and possibility of additional equipment, as well as sending managers to classes to improve their communication with Ees held unlawful grant of benefits designed to undermine Ee support for U, rather than solicitation of grievances; in that respect, policy was in effect implied promise that further grievances would be remedied w/o U representation]

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137

(E granting Ees pay raises a few days later or earlier than would have been granted pursuant to E's announced policy, not unlawful, since granting was in substantial accord with pre-announced policy to such extent as to negate any reasonable inference it was motivated by anti-U considerations)

Adams Super Markets Corp. 274 NLRB No. 194

(no violation, where E distributed 3 weeks prior to election Ee handbook which had been as announced as in progress 5 weeks previously, and was under consideration for over a year, in which new policy regarding leave, jury pay, and broader definition of full-time Ees were announced, since handbook outdated, thus long planned changes made for legitimate business reasons)

Adams Super Markets Corp. 274 NLRB No. 194

(E announcing medical insurance plan revision 10 days before election, not unlawful, since business justification for not delaying announcement of plan until after election where new plan placed cap on E's liability; further, plan under consideration, with Ees knowledge, for year)

5042-0183 Solicitation of grievances implies promise of benefits by correction

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079

[implementation of programs for E-Ee communication through meetings or written submissions by Ees held unlawful solicitation of grievances; even accepting E's contention that programs were continuation of E's prior efforts, through annual Ee meetings and other methods to solicit and remedy Ee complaints, violation would still be found since E's letter to Ees announcing program accurately characterized them as new, and they were substantially different from E's prior practices]

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079

[fact that E's programs for E-Ee communication applied to all Ees, including Ees other than U activists, held no defense to finding that implementation of programs constituted unlawful solicitation of Ee grievances]

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066

[E's promise to Ees, during meeting with Ees for purpose of soliciting grievances, to correct maintenance problems with restrooms, shortly after advent of U campaign, unlawful]

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066

[E's comments during meeting with Ees for purpose of soliciting grievances concerning implementation of dental plan held not unlawful promise of benefit where E's reaffirmation of dental plans, announced to Ees months before advent of U campaign, did not constitute assurance to Ees that grievances would be corrected in order to discourage Ees from obtaining U representation]

Air Express International USA, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 127

[E's regional manager, on visit to facility after learing of U activity at that facility, unlawfully solicited Ee grievances and impliedly promised to remedy them, and promised benefits, where he told Ee he was there to find out what problems were and try to solve them, and told Ee that Ee deserved promotion to supervisor with raise]

The Standard Products Company, Rocky Mount Division 281 NLRB No. 018

[E's solicitation of grievances and complaints at meetings with Ees with subsequent correction thereof held unlawful effort to discourage Ee U activity, notwithstanding E's claims that meetings were direct result of Ee survey conducted prior to U campaign where, by time U activity began, E had completed action it planned to take in response to survey, and once E learned of U activity, it initiated Ee meetings for purpose of soliciting additional grievances and complaints from Ees]

Resistance Technology, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 117

Sealectro Corporation 280 NLRB No. 015

[during meeting E asking assembled Ees what the problems are and Ee replying layout, pension plans, profit sharing, and a credit union, to which E responded there was no reason why E could not have pension plan or credit union, violative, as conduct involved solicitation of grievances during U organizational campaign]

Gull, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 127

[E's institution of open-door policy constituting major change from prior policy of scheduled meetings with small group of Ees chosen by E, accompanied by requests for questions from Ees and by statements telling them of extra few dollars in their paychecks in lieu of dental plan, and possibility of additional equipment, as well as sending managers to classes to improve their communication with Ees held unlawful grant of benefits designed to undermine Ee support for U, rather than solicitation of grievances; in that respect, policy was in effect implied promise that further grievances would be remedied w/o U representation]

Dandridge Textile, Inc., Ronald W. Woods, Individually and As Officer and Managing Agent 279 NLRB No. 015

[E's announcement of institution of program of soliciting Ee views and concerns on individual basis with indication E would be more receptive to complaints, violative where E knew of U campaign at time of announcement]

Woodline Motor Freight, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 152

[E's actual remedying of grievance is not necessary element of violation, provided there is U issue before Ees as when occuring in circumstances of organizational effort, and/or upcoming election, there may be implied promise of benefit, which is rebuttable]

United Cloth Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 088

[supervisor's request to Ee to have Ees come to her regarding problems and she would see what she could do, held not to constitute unspecified promises of benefits; however, her remarks did constitute unlawful solicitation of grievances to discourage U activity, since statement clearly reflected intent to remedy problems which were reason for U organizing drive]

5042-0183—Cont.

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[distributing survey questionnaire to Ees, not violation, since there was no express promise to remedy grievances, and no promise could be implied where E had practice of conducting surveys, however different from survey herein, and survey was made eleven months after election when nothing but instant litigation was pending]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[promise to remedy grievances disclosed by E's solicitation of grievances may be implied when there has been no previous solicitation, and solicitation occurs in context of organizational campaign]

Larry Chapman, A Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Farm Boy Food Mart 278 NLRB No. 058
[soliciting Ees' complaints about benefits and impliedly promising to resolve them during U organization drive, violation]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(E's use of Ee committee formed and dominated by E for purpose of soliciting grievances, and correction of grievances pursuant to suggestions received, unlawful)

Long-Airdox Company, A Division of Marmon Group, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 124
(Ee meeting called by top E official and held in his office to determine Ee complaints that prompted them to seek U representation, unlawful, where E did not have established practice of soliciting grievances, and E's inquiry was accompanied by implied and/or explicit promises to respond to complaints as evidenced by E's inquiry of Ees what it would take to keep the U out)

Mid-State Distributing Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 172
(E's pre-election survey asking Ees to state their views about management and conditions of employment, unlawful, where survey's form and substance established that grievances and complaints were being solicited from Ees under circumstances implying promise of favorable resolution of at least some of Ee grievances, and one major, longstanding grievance was in fact subsequently remedied; and solicitation of grievances was not negated by any clear expression from E that no promises were being made)

Mid-State Distributing Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 172
(E's pre-election speech to Ees referring to prior survey which was found to have unlawfully solicited Ee grievances with implicit promise to resolve them, unlawful, where E's disclaimer of not promising anything did not alter message that surveyed grievances were going to be positively addressed and that undermining of U was underlying motivating purpose; and fact that operative motives may include a benign one, did not detract from effect of unlawful one)

Lionel G. Sullivan and Ralph A. Fattore, A Partnership d/b/a Downtown Toyota 276 NLRB No. 106

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(survey allegedly to ascertain Ee grievances, thereby implicitly promising to resolve them, not unlawful, where there was precedent for survey; its timing during U campaign was of no great significance since it would have been reasonable for E to conduct survey prior to U's filing of ptn when E already was aware of U activity; in reporting on survey to Ees, E's reference to open door policy showed it previously existed, making it improbable E would promise new policy; and E made no promise of any particular change to correct E-Ee communication problem)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(E's remarks that Ees, through conduct of U campaign, had captured his attention so that it was not necessary to further underscore such attention by voting for U, not unlawful, since such admission by E is neither tantamount to, nor indicative of, promise to take remedial action on Ee complaints particularly where, as here, E repeatedly disavowed any implications of promise of benefit)

Ednor Home Care, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 042
(violation where E's owner solicited grievances and promised benefits, told Ees they could resolve problems between themselves w/o U, and proposed establishment of grievance committee, notwithstanding E's owner did not tell Ees it would be futile to bring in U)

Riverview 5 P's, Inc., t/a Riverview Inn JD-54-86
[urging Ee to get Ees together as a team and telling her that if Ees had come to E before going to U E would have taken care of it held unlawful solicitation of grievances of Ee and fellow Ees in effort to dissuade them from voting for U]

Collins Industries, Inc. JD-33-86
[where E solicits grievances there is at least implied promise to remedy them which is unlawful unless there is past practice of solicitation such that implied promise to remedy grievance is not change and not grant of new benefit; moreover, such conduct can affect election and, occurring between time ptn was filed and election, is basis for setting aside election]

Northline Bus Center, Inc. JD-(ATL)-41-85
(E's urging Ees to bring their and other Ees' problems to him, unlawful, since complaint or grievance solicitation in midst of U campaign was implied promise to remedy Ees' grievances; and E's actions amounted to more than implied promise to take such remedial steps, since E took action on at least 1 of Ees' problems and announced that it had done so)

Benson Associates JD-101-85
(supervisor's soliciting Ee to seek supervisor's help with any problems, rather than going to U, unlawful, since solicitation was inducement to vote against U by indicating that U representation was unnecessary and that supervisor would be problem-solver resulting in increased benefits and improved terms and conditions of employment)

5042-3300 Forms of benefits

5042-3305 Commissions

Lionel G. Sullivan and Ralph A. Fattore, A Partnership d/b/a Downtown Toyota 276 NLRB No. 106
(grant of greater draw against commissions in response to unlawfully solicited grievances during U organizing campaign, violative)

5042-3319 Employee handbook

Adams Super Markets Corp. 274 NLRB No. 194
(no violation, where E distributed 3 weeks prior to election Ee handbook which had been as announced as in progress 5 weeks previously, and was under consideration for over a year, in which new policy regarding leave, jury pay, and broader definition of full-time Ees were announced, since handbook outdated, thus long planned changes made for legitimate business reasons)

5042-3320 Insurance

Alaska Cummins Services, Inc. d/b/a Groves Truck and Trailer 281 NLRB No. 161
[E's announcement prior to election, that it could no longer consider changing medical insurance carriers because of pending R ptn, violative; further, E's subsequent announced change in insurance carriers, not violative, since E was simply righting the wrong of withholding a change and to hold otherwise would place employers in the untenable position of being barred from any corrective action once a wrong step was taken during pendency of a R case matter]

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(E's directly announcing to Ees that it would soon implement life insurance program for Ees during decertification election campaign, violative)

Adams Super Markets Corp. 274 NLRB No. 194
(E announcing medical insurance plan revision 10 days before election, not unlawful, since business justification for not delaying announcement of plan until after election where new plan placed cap on E's liability; further, plan under consideration, with Ees knowledge, for year)

5042-3335 Improvement of plant facility

Southland Frozen Foods, Inc. JD-(NY)-78-86
[E's conduct, at time when qcr was pending because of unresolved objections to election, in improving its restroom and cafeteria facilities held not to constitute unlawful granting of benefits, since they were not granted to influence Ee sentiment concerning U representation, in view of absence of active U campaign for considerable period and of any ULP, indefinite period of time before objections to election could be finally adjudicated, and relatively insubstantial nature of benefit]

5042-3340 Promotion

Jean Foust, Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Regency Manor Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 171
(promoting several Ees in small unit to supervisory positions during critical period, assertedly to comply with state law, violative and objectionable, since real reason was to disenfranchise active U supporters, where state law did not in fact support E's position and even though job descriptions of Ees promoted would indicate supervisory status, those promoted did not in fact exercise any supervisory duties but rather performed same job as in the past)

United Artists Eastern Theatres, Operating Valentine Theatre 275 NLRB No. 025
(telling Ee who was active U supporter that a promotion could be arranged if he would drop everything with the U, violative)

County Respiratory Products, Inc. JD-(NY)-107-85
(offering Ee promotion to deter him from supporting U, violative)

5042-3350 Bonus

Freedom WLNE-TV, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 167
[E's conditioning payment of Christmas bonus upon contract ratification, violative]

5042-3350—Cont.

Lionel G. Sullivan and Ralph A. Fattore, A Partnership d/b/a Downtown Toyota 276 NLRB No. 106
(grants of new monthly bonus and new Christmas bonus as result of solicitation of Ee grievances in context of U organizing campaign, violative)

Brocal Corp. d/b/a Alert Medical Transport 276 NLRB No. 066
(giving Ees turkeys shortly before election (held December 30), violative; contention that turkeys were Christmas bonus as was past practice, rejected, as E did not have such past practice)

Budget Rent A Car of Washington, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 032
(E's restructuring bonus system for its Ees at airport location, assertedly to stem tide of unionization, not violative where anticipated increase in sales required E to adjust bonus eligibility quota so that Ees as group would not reap windfall relative to Ees in other locations not enjoying similar increase in profits; likewise, increase in personnel required E to reformulate percentage of above-quota profits to be shared by individual Ees)

5042-3353 Achievement awards, production incentive systems, etc.

Southern Maryland Hospital Center 276 NLRB No. 153
(institution of Employee of the Month award with a $100 cash prize during critical period, violative)

Southern Maryland Hospital Center v. N.L.R.B. 801 F.2d 666 (C.A. 4, Sept. 1986)
[reinstitution of Ee of the Month award and offering $100 to winner each month during pre-election period not violative in view of both length of U's (approximately 13 months) organizational drive and large number of hospital Ees (approximately 1300). Designation of one individual as Ee of month can not reasonably be said to be so significant as to influence in any way attitude of Ees or outcome of election]

5042-3362 Expenses

Reeves Brothers, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 153
[conferring additional uniform allowance on Ees, not violative, notwithstanding contention that purpose of increased benefit was to discourage Ees from supporting U, where subsidy was nominal and did not rise to level of benefit to influence Ees' freedom of choice in election]

5042-3365 Leave; sick, maternity/paternity, funeral, etc.

Electronic Data Systems International Corporation 278 NLRB No. 014
[granting Ees, during U campaign, payment for maternity and funeral leave benefits which had been denied them when they actually took such leaves, unlawful]

5042-3369 Change in meal and/or other break period practices

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121
(promising that someone would be available to sign paychecks and that Ees would not be held to one-half hour lunch period to remedy Ee grievances, violative)

5042-3370 Increased holiday and vacation benefits

Stop N' Go Inc. 279 NLRB No. 052
[grant of vacation pay to induce abandonment of U support, violation]

Studio S.J.T., Limited 277 NLRB No. 126
(implementing addition of paid holidays in effort to dissuade Ees from unionizing, violative)

Lionel G. Sullivan and Ralph A. Fattore, A Partnership d/b/a Downtown Toyota 276 NLRB No. 106
(granting paid vacations in response to grievances unlawfully solicited during U organizing campaign, violative)

Barnes and Noble Bookstores, Inc. 237 NLRB No. 196
(announcement during U campaign, of vacation policy benefit that was in accordance with E's established practice and would have been announced anyway, not unlawful)

5042-3379 Redress of grievances

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[establishment of grievance committee and new grievance procedure, violation and interference]

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(E's use of Ee committee formed and dominated by E for purpose of soliciting grievances, and correction of grievances pursuant to suggestions received, unlawful)

5042-3380 Wage increase

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[announcement updating and increasing cost-of-living base rate, unlawful, where following several years of unremedied Ee complaints about cost-of-living rate, announcement was made immediately after E received Ee complaints unlawfully solicited through programs designed to solicit and promise remedies for Ee concerns, and E attributed increase in part or entirely to concerns expressed by Ees through programs]

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 080
[E's announcement of wage increases and other benefits after 1st election, and 10 days prior to 2nd election, unlawful]

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[hiring additional receptionists at higher than normal starting pay and adjusting pay of all receptionists upward after new receptionists completed probationary period which was 6 weeks before election, not violative, since pay raises was part and parcel of legitimate business decision to hire additional Ees and to commensurately upgrade rate of pay in existing job classification to bring it in line with other receptionist classifications at E, and these decisions made month before R ptn filed]

Kokomo Tube Company 280 NLRB No. 038
[grant of across board wage increase, unlawful, since granted to undermine U campaign, where announced 1 day after E had obtained knowledge of U activity based on more than rumors, increase received by Ees after U had filed R ptn, and where previouse increases had been tied to E's profits whereas these raises wee not justified by profits]

Woodcliff Lake Hilton Inn, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 146
[granting wage increase soon after inception of U campaign, violative where announcement of increase contained reference to U campaign and E's asserted business reason discredited]

Dandridge Textile, Inc., Ronald W. Woods, Individually and As Officer and Managing Agent 279 NLRB No. 015
[E's unprecedented wage increase during U organizational campaign, violative]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[announcement and implementation of new job evaluation system resulting in wage increase and institution of new wage rate on election day, not violation or conduct interfering with election where implementation was already planned and Ees informed of its imminent announcement when U filed request to proceed]

Studio S.J.T., Limited 277 NLRB No. 126
(implementing new merit and wage classification systems in effort to dissuade Ees from unionizing, violative)

BASF Wyandotte Corporation 276 NLRB No. 175
(E's foreman's discussing merits of salaried versus hourly benefits with Ee, not violative where discussions were essentially factual and foreman did not make any promises to Ee about benefits or suggest that Ee disavow U)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(E granting Ees pay raises a few days later or earlier than would have been granted pursuant to E's announced policy, not unlawful, since granting was in substantial accord with pre-announced policy to such extent as to negate any reasonable inference it was motivated by anti-U considerations)

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(unilaterally promulgating and implementing improvements in wages and working conditions, violative where done prior to issuance of certification of results of decertification election that U lost)

Mor Warehouse & Accessory 275 NLRB No. 165
(E selectively granting wage increases and promising benefits to Ees to discourage support for U, two months after R ptn had been filed, unlawful, particularly in view of E's other ULPs)

Workroom For Designers, Inc. and Sidney H. Sinselman, an Individual 274 NLRB No. 115
(advertising for strike replacements at higher wages than those previously paid strikers, violative)

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85
(granting wage increase which appeared in Ees' paychecks immediately following U organizing meeting, not unlawful, absent evidence of E's knowledge of U activity and E's justification that some of its Ees had received raises upon receiving journeymen electrician status and raises were necessary to prevent wage compression among journeymen)

5042-3388 More favorable working hours

Lionel G. Sullivan and Ralph A. Fattore, A Partnership d/b/a Downtown Toyota 276 NLRB No. 106
(grant of split work shift in response to grievances unlawfully solicited due to U organizing campaign, violative)

5042-3394 Parties, etc

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85
(Christmas party after R ptn filed not violative where party was not first party given on E's premises, party was planned, organized and paid for by Ees of E and Ees of E next door to E, rather than by E)

5042-3399 Miscellaneous benefits

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[announcement of part-time Ee benefits, unlawful, where announcement, deliberately delayed until almost immediately after election unfavorable to U while objections to election were pending, was reasonably calculated to convey to Ees that E would treat Ees better w/o U than with it, and that Ee was giving them reward for voting against U; E's defense that announcement was delayed because it was trying to avoid ULP charge, rejected, since Ees were never so advised but were told delay was caused by election]

5042-3399—Cont.

Without Reservation 280 NLRB No. 165
[promising to take care of Ee for not signing U authorization card, violation]

La Salle Investment Co., Ltd., d/b/a Cafe La Salle 280 NLRB No. 043
[granting benefits to Ees in form of complimentary entertainment coupons as part of promotional program, unlawful where, unlike in past promotions, Ees benefited directly herein; and, although coupon booklets were not delivered until after election, Ees were informed of new benefit just few days before election; and assuming absence of u animus, ALJ held it was irrelevant to issue of whether E violated 8(a)(1)]

Delta Data Systems Corp. 279 NLRB No. 169
[preelection grant of benefits including relaxed lateness policy, no use of timeclock at lunch time, and establishment of Ee grievance committee, violative and interfered with election, notwithstanding E claim that changes had been under consideration prior to U campaign, where changes were not scheduled or implemented until after U drive began and were announced at meeting during which E president expressed anti-U animus]

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(distributing discount coupons to Ees to create impression of providing benefits and dissuade Ees from supporting U, violation and interference)

5042-6700 Promises or offers of benefits

5042-6702 Nonspecific promise of benefit

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[supervisor's statements during question-and-answer sessions following speeches to Ees held too vague to rise to level of unlawful promises of benefits, where her statements, that she was not unpopular former supervisor she had replaced, and she would make changes if given a chance, were made in response to questions raising Ee complaints about specific working conditions; and supervisor's speeches preceding question-and-answer sessions were free of unlawful comments, and nothing else she said during such sessions was alleged to have violated Act]

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[E's post-election conduct in promising Ee benefits in response to their previous complaints, unlawful, since election proceeding was then in progress with qcr still existing with objections to election pending, and E acted at its risk in promising benefits before outcome of election was certain]

Bay State Ambulance and Hospital Rental, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 122
[E's supervisor telling Ee that if U got in conditions would be the same but if they didn't get in conditions would improve, violative and held a promise of benefit only and not an additional prediction of loss of benefits]

United Cloth Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 088
[supervisor's request to Ee to have Ees come to her regarding problems and she would see what she could do, held not to constitute unspecified promises of benefits; however, her remarks did constitute unlawful solicitation of grievances to discourage U activity, since statement clearly reflected intent to remedy problems which were reason for U organizing drive]

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(E's asking Ees for another chance and more time, held too vague to rise to level of illegal promise of benefits or objectionable conduct where E made no specific promise but merely expressed general desire to do better)

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(violation, where E promised, prior to decertification election, improved money and benefits w/o U together with its assurance that all non-U facilities would be treated same and its iteration of superior benefits available at non-U facility)

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(E's posting memorandum to Ees that stated that improvements in wages and benefits and other privileges had resulted from E's regular reviews of its non-U facilities, not violative where memorandum promised only that, absent U, Ee's facility would be reviewed in manner similar to that employed at E's other non-U facilities)

Naral Color Corporation 276 NLRB No. 061
(telling Ee that things would get better after U's contract expired, not violative, where statement was unaccompanied by any promise of benefit and was thus a general opinion protected by 8(c))

Joan Faust, Sole Proprietor, d/b/a Regency Manor Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 171
(telling Ees during U campaign that E would do more for Ees after the building mortgage was paid off in 10 years, violative and objectionable)

5042-6703 Implied promises

Shore Pointe Associates, Inc., d/b/a Americare Convalescent Center 280 NLRB No. 130
[where at Ee meeting E failed to respond to Ees' complaints regarding minimal benefits and holidays, no promise could be implied from E's silent smile when complaints were made, and no ULP arose from it]

Boaz Carpet Yarns, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 094
[E's notice that E could make no changes absent good faith doubt or proof of U's loss of majority status where E's efforts to get election to prove Ees' disaffection with U, as shown by their ptn, had been blocked by U's ULP charges, followed by notice of poll of Ees' opinion about U, not promise of benefit absent mention of Ee benefits or gain from decertification]

Ro-Lab Rubber Co., Inc. 279 NLRB No. 057
[E's president's stating that if U were not voted in, changes will be made, violative since statement constituted implied promise of benefit]

Woodline Motor Freight, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 152
[E's actual remedying of grievance is not necessary element of violation, provided there is U issue before Ees as when occuring in circumstances of organizational effort, and/or upcoming election, there may be implied promise of benefit, which is rebuttable]

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085
[statements that E building management team and had developed program to improve conditions found permissible reminder of existing good conditions and of improvements started before election campaign and appeal for Ees' confidence, rather than unlawful and objectionable promise of improved benefits if Ees rejected U]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[implied promise of improvements in attendance point system, and implementation of such promise, unlawful, in view of E's hostility to U, timing of announcement when U's representation was still pending; beneficial aspects of improvements to Ees and fact that E's conduct was designed to suggest to Ees that source of benefits conferred was also source from which future benefits must flow and which may dry up if not obliged, and that Ees were unlikely to understand that E was holding out promise as inducement for them to reject U]

Midwestern Mining & Reclamation, Inc., A Subsidiary of Midwestern Fuels Systems, Inc., etc. 277 NLRB No. 001
(E's implicit promise of benefit to Ees expressing opposition to U competing against U favored by E, unlawful, since conduct demonstrated that E was prepared to reward Ees opposing disfavored U and, by implication, to punish its supporters)

National Council of Young Israel d/b/a Shalom Nursing Home 276 NLRB No. 118
(E's administrator did not unlawfully impliedly promise benefits to Ees to induce them to vote against U, where he told Ees repeatedly during preelection meetings about terms and conditions of employment, but told Ees he would be fair, and gave as example of how he dealt with Ees, wage increases and bonuses received by non-U Ees, but reinterated he was not making any promises)

Bonanza Sirloin Pit 275 NLRB No. 54
(attempting to secure Ee's support in pending Bd election by implied offer of job to Ee's husband, violative)

Wells Fargo Armored Service Corp. JD-(SF)-19-86
[remarks to Ees designed to cause them to discontinue U activity at branch by providing opportunity to transfer to unionized branch at higher pay, violation]

5042-6710 Improved working conditions

United Artists Theatre Circuit, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 015
(supervisor's newly imposed warning system and promise of new furnishings, not violative where supervisor was recently hired and such suggestions could well come from such new supervisor and be implemented)

5042-6712 Training employees for better job

T & T Machine Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 139
[supervisor calling Ee into his office, where in presence of three supervisors Ee was asked how he felt about U, and upon Ee's reply he didn't like Us, he was cautioned not to associate with U supporters, promising Ee he would have training to enhance his skill level above that of U supporters that E planned to get rid of, and informing Ee if he would report his errors directly to those supervisors, his record would be clean, but errors of U supporters would be recorded, unlawful]

5042-6715 Promotion

Air Express International USA, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 127
[E's regional manager, on visit to facility after learing of U activity at that facility, unlawfully solicited Ee grievances and impliedly promised to remedy them, and promised benefits, where he told Ee he was there to find out what problems were and try to solve them, and told Ee that Ee deserved promotion to supervisor with raise]

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(changes in job grading plan based on E's decision as to which Ees should be upgraded, not unlawful, where department were filled according to established published procedure which would not limit those eligible to Ees in department in which upgraded jobs located)

5042-6715—Cont.

Benson Associates JD-101-85
(promising to grant Ee promotion based on his rejection of U, unlawful)

5042-6720 Job protection

T & T Machine Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 139
[supervisor calling Ee into his office, where in presence of three supervisors Ee was asked how he felt about U, and upon Ee's reply he didn't like Us, he was cautioned not to associate with U supporters, promising Ee he would have training to enhance his skill level above that of U supporters that E planned to get rid of, and informing Ee if he would report his errors directly to those supervisors, his record would be clean, but errors of U supporters would be recorded, unlawful]

T & T Machine Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 139
[asking Ee who had called U? and offering to meet Ee anywhere at anytime to receive information about U organizing drive, adding that such information would enable Ee to keep his job, unlawful]

Pillod of Mississippi, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 117
(E did not neutralize effects of prior threats of plant closure and retaliation by giving Ees last minute job guarantees 1 day before election and assurances of continued employment where guarantee was ambiguous, statement did not specifically and unambiguously disavow E's prior conduct found unlawful and no assurances were given to Ees that in the future, E would not interfere in exercise of Ees' Section 7)

5042-6725 Change in workweek

Noral Color Corporation 276 NLRB No. 061
(telling Ees during decertification campaign in response to Ee questions, that there was a possibility E would go to a 40-hour week and such workweek would add $4,000.00 per year to Ees' paychecks if E was non-U, not violative, since remark was couched in terms of a possibility and thus was a hypothetical situation and a proper reflection of what might happen if U's contract restrictions on overtime pay and workweek were removed)

5042-6732 Implementation of contract negotiated elsewhere

H. A. Satin Co., Inc. JD-(ATL)-2-86
[E's president informing Ees at non-unionized facility of cost of U dues, and initiation fees, stating that he saw no reason for Ees to begin working for U as they would receive same benefits as Ees at E's unionized facility w/o joining or voting in U, unlawful]

5042-6735 Transfer

Wells Fargo Armored Service Corp. JD-(SF)-19-86
[remarks to Ees designed to cause them to discontinue U activity at branch by providing opportunity to transfer to unionized branch at higher pay, violation]

5042-6740 Profit-sharing plan

Noral Color Corporation 276 NLRB No. 061
(telling Ees at group meetings prior to decertification election that they would be eligible for E's stock-option-program if they were non-U and U was opposing such plan for unit Ees at the bargaining table, not violative, since E was simply pointing out an existing benefit its non-U Ees enjoyed which would be available to unit Ees if they were non-U)

5042-6745 Pension plan

Weiner Optical Company 274 NLRB No. 143
(supervisor's telling Ees during meeting that E could look into several different pension and health plans in the event of decertification, not violative, since Ees were never promised increased benefits where Ees were told there were no guarantees in life and E was merely informing Ees of alternatives available to it in event of decertification w/o making reference to the level of benefits under alternative plans; further, such statements did not amount to soliciting Ees to bypass U or individual bargaining since statements were all in reference to what may occur subsequently in the absence of U representation)

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86
[telling unlawfully locked out U adherents that E did not want U, and offering to revoke 10% pay cut, to look into pension plan, and to give raises to some lower paid Ees, unlawful]

5042-6750 Insurance benefits

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[E's comments during meeting with Ees for purpose of soliciting grievances concerning implementation of dental plan held not unlawful promise of benefit where E's reaffirmation of dental plans, announced to Ees months before advent of U campaign, did not constitute assurance to Ees that grievances would be corrected in order to discourage Ees from obtaining U representation]

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121
(E's president's statement, prior to election, that he would look into increased health coverage found not to be unlawful promise, especially where there was no other evidence that he promised or even discussed increased health care benefits; evidence of additional health benefits given over 4 months after election also did not support finding of unlawful promise)

Mor Warehouse & Accessory 275 NLRB No. 168
(E selectively granting wage increases and promising benefits to Ees to discourage support for U, two months after R ptn had been filed, unlawful, particularly in view of E's other ULPs)

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(E informing Ees that E was suffering from serious financial problems, asking Ees for suggestions as to how E could save money, urging Ees to persuade U to move off a dime on E's bargaining proposals, and informed Ees that if Ees went non-U E would give pay increases, equal or better health benefits than U offering, financial assistance to Ees who wished to purchase own trucks, but if U refused to accept E's proposals, E would operate non-U, unlawful; statements not predictions of economic consequences protected by Sec. 8(c) inasmuch as E did not substantiate financial losses and in view of other contemporaneous illegal statements)

Weiner Optical Company 274 NLRB No. 143
(supervisor's telling Ees during meeting that E could look into several different pension and health plans in the event of decertification, not violative, since Ees were never promised increased benefits where Ees were told there were no guarantees in life and E was merely informing Ees of alternatives available to it in event of decertification w/o making reference to the level of benefits under alternative plans; further, such statements did not amount to soliciting Ees to bypass U or individual bargaining since statements were all in reference to what may occur subsequently in the absence of U representation)

5042-6775 Bonus

Robert W. Wise, d/b/a Robert W. Wise Cabinetry JD-(SF)-157-85

5042-6780 Wage increase

Airport Distributors, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 091
[asking Ee what it would take to discourage his support for U, whether he desired raise of $1 per hour, and would Ee go out on strike with U, accompanied by denigration of Ee with obscenity when Ee indicated he probably would go out on strike held not only act of coercive interrogation but also unlawful promise of wage increase for purpose of dissuading Ee from supporting U]

Products Unlimited Corp. 280 NLRB No. 041
[supervisor informing Ees that E would not agree to U wage and benefit demands, and at same time promised to try to obtain raise for Ees as inducement to not vote for U, unlawful]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[supervisor at nursing home informing Ee, in response to Ee's question about unionized nursing homes, that after U at another one of E's facilities had been decertified Ees at that facility had received raises, not unlawful, since essentially merely observation made by supervisor in response to Ee's question, and any coercive implication dissipated by supervisor subsequently informing Ee that this was one example and not representation that same thing would happen at facility at which Ee worked]

United Electrical & Mechanical, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 034
[promising Ees pay raises to influence their vote in election, violative]

Fox-Art Theatres, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 115
[offer of raise in wage rate, to discourage Ees participation in anticipated strike resulting from recent reduction in wages, unlawful]

Orval Kent Food Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 057
[E's promising Ees that when U was voted out, they could get raise, violative]

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121
(E found not to have made unlawful promise of wage increases by making general remark that wage increase was good idea and further stating that he could not promise anything; nor was wage increase given over 4 months later sufficient to bolster finding that E had promised to increase wages)

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(E's promising its Ees increased wages and benefits, violative, notwithstanding U first raised issue of benefits available to E's non-U Ees and E was clearly entitled to answer questions posed by its Ees, since E was not entitled to do so in such way as to convey message that it was willing to do more for unrepresented Ees than it was for Ees who were represented by U; E's repeated self-serving assertions that it could make no promises did not detract from what was otherwise promise of benefits)

Angelica Corporation 276 NLRB No. 038
(E's posting memorandum to Ees that stated that improvements in wages and benefits and other privileges had resulted from E's regular reviews of its non-U facilities, not violative where memorandum promised only that, absent U, Ee's facility would be reviewed in manner similar to that employed at E's other non-U facilities)

5042-6780—Cont.

Norsl Color Corporation 276 NLRB No. 061
(telling Ees during decertification campaign in response to Ee questions, that there was a possibility E would go to a 40-hour week and such workweek would add $4,000.00 per year to Ees' paychecks if E was non-U, not violative, since remark was couched in terms of a possibility and thus was a hypothetical situation and a proper reflection of what might happen if U's contract restrictions on overtime pay and workweek were removed)

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(E informing Ees that E was suffering from serious financial problems, asking Ees for suggestions as to how E could save money, urging Ees to persuade U to move off a dime on E's bargaining proposals, and informed Ees that if Ees went non-U E would give pay increases, equal or better health benefits than U offering, financial assistance to Ees who wished to purchase own trucks, but if U refused to accept E's proposals, E would operate non-U, unlawful; statements not predictions of economic consequences protected by Sec. 8(c) inasmuch as E did not substantiate financial losses and in view of other contemporaneous illegal statements)

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86
[supervisor's promise of wage increase if Ees did not resign U cards following finding that original cards had been tainted by supervisory involvement, unlawful]

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86
[E's personnel manager's statements that she had surveyed other Es in area and that E's wage scale was possibly dollar behind and that she could not promise Ees as much as dollar increase, constituted unlawful promise of wage increase to diminish U support and statement was not neutralized by statement she could not promise dollar]

John's Lumber & Hardware Company JD-199-86
[E offering directly to Ees wage increase, and more valuable total package than it had implemented after expiration of contract if Ees would petition to decertify U, w/o offering increase to U, unlawful]

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86
[telling unlawfully locked out U adherents that E did not want U, and offering to revoke 10% pay cut, to look into pension plan, and to give raises to some lower paid Ees, unlawful]

Collins Industries, Inc. JD-33-86
[E's response to Ee's query about his failure to receive wage increase Ee thought he was entitled to, that E would look into it, unlawful; while there may not have been direct promise of granting wage increase to Ee, under circumstances herein and in view of nature of E's anti-U campaign, E's response sufficiently tended to be promise of benefit]

Abe Ochs, An Individual, d/b/a Kingform Cap Company JD-188-85
(offering Ee wage increase and sum of money in attempt to induce her to drop this case, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. E. I. DuPont De Nemours 750 F.2d 524 (C.A. 6, Dec. 1984)
(promise that if U did not win election, E would provide substantial cost of living increase, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Del Rey Tortilleria, Inc. 787 F.2d 1118 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)
[promising Ees wage increase or to pay them for any time they had lost if they would abandon or renounce U, and telling Ee that if he would get rid of U, E would give him check in any amount, unlawful]

5042-6785 Loans

Link Manufacturing Co. 281 NLRB No. 028
[telling Ee that E's loan to Ee would not have to be repaid if he refused to vote in election held unlawful promise of benefit based on U considerations]

5042-6788 Vacations

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121
(promising personal days for all Ees, and increased vacation benefits, in order to discourage them from voting for U, violative)

5042-6795 Plant improvements

Cartridge Actuated Devices, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 066
[E's promise to Ees, during meeting with Ees for purpose of soliciting grievances, to correct maintenance problems with restrooms, shortly after advent of U campaign, unlawful]

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(E's promise of additional parking areas and guards for parking areas, not unlawful, since promise not motivated by desire to influence Ees in their exercise of Section 7 rights, where plans for improved parking areas made before U appeared on scene, and in view of business reason of anticipated growth)

5042-6798 Redress of grievances

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121
(promising that someone would be available to sign paychecks and that Ees would not be held to one-half hour lunch period to remedy Ee grievances, violative)

Radio Broadcasting Co. 277 NLRB No. 121
(impliedly promising to recognize and deal with Ee grievance committee if U lost election, violative)

5042-6799 Other promises

United States Aviex Company 279 NLRB No. 110
[promising Ee, who was father of son in layoff status, that E would recall son to work if father voted for company, unlawful]

Woodline Motor Freight, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 152
[supervisor's statement to Ee that terminal isn't closed yet and it's not too late to do anything, coercive and constituted unlawful promise of benefit]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[implied promise of improvements in attendance point system, and implementation of such promise, unlawful, in view of E's hostility to U, timing of announcement when U's representation was still pending; beneficial aspects of improvements to Ees and fact that E's conduct was designed to suggest to Ees that source of benefits conferred was also source from which future benefits must flow and which may dry up if not obliged, and that Ees were unlikely to understand that E was holding out promise as inducement for them to reject U]

Grunco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
(asking Ee if he remembered date he signed U card and promising Ee a dinner if Ee found out date he signed card, unlawful)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(E's remarks that Ees, through conduct of U campaign, had captured his attention so that it was not necessary to further underscore such attention by voting for U, not unlawful, since such admission by E is neither tantamount to, nor indicative of, promise to take remedial action on Ee complaints particularly where, as here, E repeatedly disavowed any implications of promise of benefit)

5042-8300 Offer to pay union's fine, dues or initiation fees

KBMS, Inc., A Subsidiary of Century Broadcasting Corporation 278 NLRB No. 118
[promising to speak to general manager about obtaining reimbursement for Ee's initiation fee, violation]

Greyhound Lines, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 166
(no violation where E offered to pay initiation fees to Ees after they crossed picket line as offer not made as inducement to get these Ees to come back to work but rather because E felt that supervisors may have mislead these Ees into believing that they would not need to pay initiation fees or rejoin U)

5042-8500 Offer of money

Premier Maintenance, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 003
[E's promise to pay Ee, who was scheduled to be on vacation on day of election, to stay and vote, unlawful]

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(E's telling Ee that he would pay money to keep U from organizing its Ees, violative)

Storall Manufacturing Company, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 039
(promising Ees financial rewards if they ceased their U activities, violative)

Abe Ochs, An Individual, d/b/a Kingform Cap Company JD-188-85
(offering Ee wage increase and sum of money in attempt to induce her to drop this case, violative)

5045 EMPLOYER-SPONSORED MEETINGS WITH EMPLOYEES

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(implementation of small group meetings viewpoint with plant manager where Ees could voice their grievances, unlawful, as this was grant of benefit to Ees to discourage their resort to unionization as means of obtaining more effective labor-management communications, notwithstanding E held monthly production meetings where questions were raised since viewpoint meetings differed in format and objective, resulted in changes to working conditions and initiated after start of U campaign; however, charge of solicitation of grievances at viewpoint meetings dismissed as this was in keeping with established practice at production meetings)

Herrick & Smith 275 NLRB No. 062
(where reason for poor evaluation and subsequent discharge (poor work performance and attitude) by supervisor found pretextual, and that evaluation based on only 1 week's work permits inference to be drawn that supervisor was trying to build case for Ee'sdischarge in retaliation for Ee organizing meeting with managing partner and other Ees in which complaints against supervisor were aired)

5045—Cont.

5048 EMPLOYER-SPONSORED POLLS, ELECTIONS, ETC.

5048-0100 Generally

5048-0140 Not unlawful per se

N.L.R.B. v. L & B Cooling, Inc. 757 F.2d 236 (C.A. 10, Mar. 1985)

(majority status (of Ee bargaining representative) can be established by means other than NLRB-conducted election such as informal-election in instant case where with E present and consent, Ees secretly marked ballot yes or no and put ballot in hat)

5048-0160 Safeguards for polls to ascertain majority in respect to request to recognize

5048-0160-1700 Purpose to determine truth of union's claim of majority

American Mirror Company, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 179

[polling Ees as to their U sentiments, following signed rejections from 42 of 108 unit Ees and 4 separate oral reports that U no longer enjoyed majority support, not unlawful]

5048-0160-1900 Purpose to solicit grievances about working conditions

Clark Equipment Company 278 NLRB No. 085

[distributing survey questionnaire to Ees, not violation, since there was no express promise to remedy grievances, and no promise could be implied where E had practice of conducting surveys, however different from survey herein, and survey was made eleven months after election when nothing but instant litigation was pending]

Southland Frozen Foods, Inc. JD-(NY)-78-86

[survey of Ees conducted for E by outside consulting firm and having primary purpose of soliciting Ee grievances not construed as interrogation and Bd's usual protective requirements not applicable, where there was no question in survey which sought to ascertain Ees' U sentiment; at any rate, in view of procedure in conducting survey and absence of other ULPs, survey was not coercive]

Southland Frozen Foods, Inc. JD-(NY)-78-86

[survey of Ees, having primary purpose of eliciting Ee grievances and conducted when qcr was pending because of unresolved objections to election, held not unlawful, where survey was administered during postelection period when active campaigning had long ceased and was conducted in context free of ULPs; in these circumstances, it cannot be concluded that survey had purpose of eroding Ee support for U]

5048-0160-5800 Assurances against reprisal given

Boaz Carpet Yarns, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 004

[poll to provide proof of Ees' disaffection with U, not violation where it was result of Ee ptn, an independent objective basis for doubting U's majority status, its purpose of ascertaining truth of Ees' own claim was communicated to them, Ees were assured of no reprisal, and poll was conducted by secret ballot; E's failure to notify U had de minimis impact, and processing of E's ptn for election had placed U on notice of Ees' disaffection a month before]

5048-0160-6700 Poll by secret ballot

S.M.S. Automotive Products, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 006

[E's conducting a private secret ballot election among Ees, violative, where at time election was conducted, E had unlawfully entered into contract with U that did not enjoy majority support and E did nothing to repudiate the unlawful contract prior to election; further, E's granting recognition to another U that won election and that U's acceptance of recognition, unlawful, since by conducting the unlawful election, U could not have represented an uncoerced majority of Ees]

5048-0160-8300 Employer has not engaged in ULP's or otherwise created coercive atmosphere

S.M.S. Automotive Products, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 006

[E's conducting a private secret ballot election among Ees, violative, where at time election was conducted, E had unlawfully entered into contract with U that did not enjoy majority support and E did nothing to repudiate the unlawful contract prior to election; further, E's granting recognition to another U that won election and that U's acceptance of recognition, unlawful, since by conducting the unlawful election, U could not have represented an uncoerced majority of Ees]

5048-3300 Method employed

5048-3320 Elections

S.M.S. Automotive Products, Inc. 282 NLRB No. 006

[E's conducting a private secret ballot election among Ees, violative, where at time election was conducted, E had unlawfully entered into contract with U that did not enjoy majority support and E did nothing to repudiate the unlawful contract prior to election; further, E's granting recognition to another U that won election and that U's acceptance of recognition, unlawful, since by conducting the unlawful election, U could not have represented an uncoerced majority of Ees]

N.L.R.B. v. L & B Cooling, Inc. 757 F.2d 236 (C.A. 10, Mar. 1985)

(majority status (of Ee bargaining representative) can be established by means other than NLRB-conducted election such as informal-election in instant case where with E present and consent, Ees secretly marked ballot yes or no and put ballot in hat)

5048-3340 Petitions, cards, etc., distributed for signature

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164

[petition urging Ees to vote against U, distributed among Ees at E's grocery store for their signature, and thereby polling Ees in such manner as to reveal their individual sentiments with respect to U, unlawful, where E adopted ptn as its own by store manager's statement to Ee that store was going around to pass around ptn for Ees who were against U to sign, and by presenting ptn to Ee and telling him that with 2 more signatures E could win election]

5048-3360 Polling or surveying employees

Tri-State Culvert Manufacturing, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 007

[poll to ascertain whether Ees desired representation by U which E had voluntarily recognized, not unlawful, where at time of recognition U lacked majority support of Ees]

Tri-State Culvert Manufacturing, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 007

[poll to ascertain whether Ees desired U representation, conducted after Ee majority signed ptn renouncing support for U, not unlawful, where there was no evidence that E encouraged or suggested that anti-U Ee circulate ptn, and evidence did not support finding that such Ee's activities were carried out with either acquiescence, knowledge, or support of E; while circumstances surrounding anti-U ee's activities created suspicion about E's improper involvement, mere suspicion or suggestion of impropriety cannot substitute for evidence]

Mid-State Distributing Co., Inc. 276 NLRB No. 172

(E's pre-election survey asking Ees to state their views about management and conditions of employment, unlawful, where survey's form and substance established that grievances and complaints were being solicited from Ees under circumstances implying promise of favorable resolution of at least some of Ee grievances, and one major, longstanding grievance was in fact subsequently remedied; and solicitation of grievances was not negated by any clear expression from E that no promises were being made)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136

(survey allegedly to ascertain Ee grievances, thereby implicitly promising to resolve them, not unlawful, where there was precedent for survey; its timing during U campaign was of no great significance since it would have been reasonable for E to conduct survey prior to U's filing of ptn when E already was aware of U activity; in reporting on survey to Ees, E's reference to open door policy showed it previously existed, making it improbable E would promise new policy; and E made no promise of any particular change to correct E-Ee communication problem)

Crest Industries Corp. 276 NLRB No. 067

(upon demand for recognition, and U's assertion that majority of Ees signed cards, E's president's asking is this what you want, not violative where U's representatives were present when poll was conducted, U agent had authorization cards in his hand and immediately offered to show them to E's president to confirm Ees' affirmative response to poll, and U agent's purpose in having Ees accompany him when he made demand for bargaining was to enable Ees to answer any questions E might have)

Southland Frozen Foods, Inc. JD-(NY)-78-86

[survey of Ees conducted for E by outside consulting firm and having primary purpose of soliciting Ee grievances not construed as interrogation and Bd's usual protective requirements not applicable, where there was no question in survey which sought to ascertain Ees' U sentiment; at any rate, in view of procedure in conducting survey and absence of other ULPs, survey was not coercive]

Southland Frozen Foods, Inc. JD-(NY)-78-86

[survey of Ees, having primary purpose of eliciting Ee grievances and conducted when qcr was pending because of unresolved objections to election, held not unlawful, where survey was administered during postelection period when active campaigning had long ceased and was conducted in context free of ULPs; in these circumstances, it cannot be concluded that survey had purpose of eroding Ee support for U]

Landmark International Trucks, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 775 F.2d 148 (C.A. 6, Oct. 1985)

[E's otherwise noncoercive letter not rendered coercive by inclusion of E's request that it be notified of Ees' resignation from U, notwithstanding Bd's finding that E's request served no legitimate purpose]

5048-5000 Objective basis for doubting union's majority

5048-5000—Cont.

Tri-State Culvert Manufacturing, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 087
[poll to ascertain whether Ees desired U representation, conducted after Ee majority signed ptn renouncing support for U, not unlawful, where there was no evidence that E encouraged or suggested that anti-U Ee circulate ptn, and evidence did not support finding that such Ee's activities were carried out with either acquiescence, knowledge, or support of E; while circumstances surrounding anti-U Ee's activities created suspicion about E's improper involvement, mere suspicion or suggestion of impropriety cannot substitute for evidence]

Buez Carpet Yarns, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 004
[poll to provide proof of Ees' disaffection with U, not violation where it was result of Ee ptn, an independent objective basis for doubting U's majority status, its purpose of ascertaining truth of Ees' own claim was communicated to them, Ees were assured of no reprisal, and poll was conducted by secret ballot; E's failure to notify U had de minimis impact, and processing of E's ptn for election had placed U on notice of Ees' disaffection a month before]

5048-6700 Responsibility of employer shown by

5048-6740 Supervisors' participation in distribution or collection

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
]petition urging Ees to vote against U, distributed among Ees at E's grocery store for their signature, and thereby polling Ees in such manner as to reveal their individual sentiments with respect to U, unlawful, where E adopted ptn as its own by store manager's statement to Ee that store was going around to pass around ptn for Ees who were against U to sign, and by presenting ptn to Ee and telling him that with 2 more signatures E could win election)

5048-6780 Timing of employer canvass

5048-6780-1300 During organization campaign

Granco, Inc., d/b/a Thriftway Supermarket; et al. 276 NLRB No. 164
]petition urging Ees to vote against U, distributed among Ees at E's grocery store for their signature, and thereby polling Ees in such manner as to reveal their individual sentiments with respect to U, unlawful, where E adopted ptn as its own by store manager's statement to Ee that store was going around to pass around ptn for Ees who were against U to sign, and by presenting ptn to Ee and telling him that with 2 more signatures E could win election)

5048-6780-3700 After election while objections or challenges are pending

Southland Frozen Foods, Inc. JD-(NY)-78-86
[survey of Ees, having primary purpose of eliciting Ee grievances and conducted when qcr was pending because of unresolved objections to election, held not unlawful, where survey was administered during postelection period when active campaigning had long ceased and was conducted in context free of ULPs; in these circumstances, it cannot be concluded that survey had purpose of eroding Ee support for U]

5051 ACTIONS BASED UPON RACIAL OR OTHER MINORITY GROUP CONSIDERATIONS

5051-0100 Generally

N.L.R.B. v. Vought Corporation - MLRS Systems Division 788 F.2d 1378 (C.A. 8, Apr. 1986)
[E warning Ee regarding his passing rumor to other black Ees that white Ee was being groomed for supervisory position over recently promoted black Ee and suggesting that black Ees meet with management regarding situation, unlawful, since Ee's remarks constituted protected concerted activity inasmuch related to group action concerning possible racial discrimination; thus Ee's motives irrelevant, and absent evidence his discussions disrupted production]

5054 AVOIDANCE OR ABANDONMENT OF RESORT TO ACT URGED OR REQUIRED BY EMPLOYER

5054-1300 Conditioning reinstatement on employee's not presenting grievances

Springfield Hospital 281 NLRB No. 076
[supervisor's threat to get even with Ee because he had engaged in protected concerted activity by signing petitions, violative]

Educational Broadcasting Corporation d/b/a WNET/Thirteen JD-(NY)-125-85
[violation]

5054-2500 Conditioning bargaining on withdrawal of charges

John Wanamaker Philadelphia 279 NLRB No. 140
[E's refusing to sign any agreement with U until U withdrew ULP charges, violative; further, E's informing Ees it would not sign a contract with U until ULP charges were withdrawn, violative]

5054-4300 Conditioning employment on refraining from attempting to enforce contract

Jo-Vin Dress Company, Inc. and Villa Fashions, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 073
[Ees who refused to go to work for company which had purchased E were unlawfully constructively discharged, where E had refused to bargain with U, declared it was going to go non-U, and Ees would lose benefits, since their employment conditioned on abandonment of their rights guaranteed by Act]

5054-4700 Conditioning employment on informing about union activities

T & T Machine Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 139
[asking Ee who had called U? and offering to meet Ee anywhere at anytime to receive information about U organizing drive, adding that such information would enable Ee to keep his job, unlawful]

5054-6300 Conditioning continued employment on refraining from engaging in union activities

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[E's administrator informing Ees during decertification ptn drive that their contined employment was conditioned upon their resigning from U, unlawful]

Jo-Vin Dress Company, Inc. and Villa Fashions, Inc. 279 NLRB No. 073
[Ees who refused to go to work for company which had purchased E were unlawfully constructively discharged, where E had refused to bargain with U, declared it was going to go non-U, and Ees would lose benefits, since their employment conditioned on abandonment of their rights guaranteed by Act]

5054-6500 Conditioning employment on promise not to engage in protected activities

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[telling laid-off U supporter that new hiring policy conditioned employment on applicant's agreement not to become involved in U activity, violation]

Montgomery Elevator Company 278 NLRB No. 122
[E's superintendent informing nonmember Ee that U had met with officials of E and that U was challenging right to work law and specifically challenging Ee's job and that Ee getting out of U would cost Ee his job, unlawful]

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(asking applicant for employment about his feelings on unionization at initial interview, informing applicant there was U organizing drive going on but not to pay any attention to solicitors, and subsequently asking applicant how he would vote in election to determine whether there would be U representation, and upon his reply that he would vote No, informing applicant he was hired, violative)

5060 AVOIDANCE OR REPUDIATION OF UNION URGED OR REQUIRED BY EMPLOYER

5060-0800 Inducing abandonment of strike

Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital 280 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor unlawfully solicited striking Ees' resignations from U since his conversations with Ees went beyond providing information regarding avoiding fines by resigning and conditioned return to work on resignation from U, and where supervisor evidenced continuing interest in knowing whether or not nurses intended to resign and return to work, and in some instances offered assistance in effecting resignation that was not merely ministerial]

Fox-Art Theatres, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 115
[offer of raise in wage rate, to discourage Ees participation in anticipated strike resulting from recent reduction in wages, unlawful]

Government Employees (Office Employees, Local No. 2) 278 NLRB No. 055
[offer to Ee of ability to use current year's leave and advance of subsequent year's leave as inducement to abandon strike, violative]

Workroom For Designers, Inc. and Sidney H. Sisselman, an Individual 274 NLRB No. 115
(promising strikers better benefits if they returned to work and helped E complete his contract, violative)

5060-1600 Abandonment of incumbent union for membership in rival union

Hydro-Air Equipment, Inc. d/b/a Lanco 277 NLRB No. 012
(threatening Ees with discharge if Ees did not sign U authorization cards for U, unlawful)

5060-2000 Abandonment of outside union

Food Concepts, Inc. JD-(NY)-36-85
(when E closed down one of its 2 locations, each represented by different U, and transferred those Ees to remaining location, a merger of units occurred and qcr existed. E violated Act when he recognized and applied contract of U that represented original Ees at location to the newly moved Ees, and also when supervisor threatened transferred Ees with discharge if they did not join other U)

5060-2500 Assistance in effecting resignation

Williamson Piggly Wiggly, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 125
[no violation where E's manager in response to request by Ee for aid in getting her U authorization card back from U gave her paper and envelope and instructed her to see another Ee, who helped her compose letter to U, not unlawful, since aid was minimal and at Ee's request and manager did not follow up to ascertain if Ee requested card back]

Mississippi Chemical Corporation 280 NLRB No. 046
[Ee's execution of memo drafted by supervisor renouncing Ee's U support, not unlawful, where Ee voluntarily w/o any kind of solicitation decided to renounce U; supervisor's suggestion that Ee's decision be put into writing was not a demand; and supervisor's willingness to make changes in drafted document demonstrated both its voluntary nature and absence of any design by supervisor to utilize specific language (no exceptions)]

Eastern States Optical Co., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 058
(E's attorney did not render unlawful assistance to Ees in preparation of decertification ptn where Ees contacted attorney after ptn initiated, neither attorney nor E played any role in Ees' decision to initiate ptn and E did not solicit any signatures. Attorney supplying Ees with unit description, names of E's officials necessary to complete Bd ptn, and statement that 6 signatures probably sufficient for Bd's ptn was nothing more than editorial or ministerial aid)

5060-3300 Inducing abandonment of union by granting benefits or making concessions

Middletown Hospital Association 282 NLRB No. 079
[discontinuance of rule under which Ees took off from work w/o pay when there was low work load, and announcement of rule's discontinuance, unlawful, where E's action took place in midst of election campaign and was taken to induce Ees to refrain from supporting U]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[radio station program director's telling one announcer that sales manager had recommended that he be givne back his morning show and a little raise and sales manager's asking another announcer what it would take to get things back to normal, whether it was a matter of money, violations in view of U activity going on]

Stop N' Go Inc. 279 NLRB No. 052
[grant of vacation pay to induce abandonment of U support, violation]

Rood Industries, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 026
[implied promise of improvements in attendance point system, and implementation of such promise, unlawful, in view of E's hostility to U, timing of announcement when U's representation was still pending; beneficial aspects of improvements to Ees and fact that E's conduct was designed to suggest to Ees that source of benefits conferred was also source from which future benefits must flow and which may dry up if not obliged, and that Ees were unlikely to understand that E was holding out promise as inducement for them to reject U]

Ednor Home Care, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 042
(violation where E's owner solicited grievances and promised benefits, told Ees they could resolve problems between themselves w/o U, and proposed establishment of grievance committee, notwithstanding E's owner did not tell Ees it would be futile to bring in U)

Budget Rent A Car of Washington, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 032
(giving Ees assurances that their complaints and grievances would be redressed in order to derail U organization, violative)

N.L.R.B. v. Chaim Babad, Bernard Steinmetz and Emanuel Steinmetz, A Co-Partnership d/b/a J.R.R. Realty Co. 785 F.2d 46 (C.A. 2, Mar. 1986)
[successor's attempt to induce U members to forego protections of U contract by renouncing membership in U and releasing successor from any claims of U or its members against it, violation]

5060-4100 Benefits conditioned on abandonment of union

Toyota of San Francisco 280 NLRB No. 093
[language in brochure describing E's health plan that stated plan was available to any Ee of group who was not in occupation classification represented by U, violative of Section 8(a)(1) since it penalizes represented Ees, notwithstanding plan actually available to represented Ees]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[supervisor at nursing home informing Ee, in response to Ee's question about unionized nursing homes, that after U at another one of E's facilities had been decertified Ees at that facility had received raises, not unlawful, since essentially merely observation made by supervisor in response to Ee's question, and any coercive implication dissipated by supervisor subsequently informing Ee that this was one example and not representation that same thing would happen at facility at which Ee worked]

Central Washington Health Services Association d/b/a Central Washing Hospital 279 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor informing Ees that if Ees were to get rid of U, they would be able to get better deal with E on their own, and informing Ee that ptn was being circulated to decertify U, unlawful, since constituted promise of benefits if Ees would reject U]

United Artists Eastern Theatres, Operating Valentine Theatre 275 NLRB No. 025
(telling Ee who was active U supporter that a promotion could be arranged if he would drop everything with the U, violative)

Tomco Carburetor Company 275 NLRB No. 001
(promising Ees health insurance coverage if they abandoned U, violative)

Tennessee Cold & Dry Storage, A Division of Conagra, Inc. JD-(ATL)-61-86
[supervisor's promise of wage increase if Ees did not resign U cards following finding that original cards had been tainted by supervisory involvement, unlawful]

John's Lumber & Hardware Company JD-199-86
[E offering directly to Ees wage increase, and more valuable total package than it had implemented after expiration of contract if Ees would petition to decertify U, w/o offering increase to U, unlawful]

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86
[asking unlawfully locked out U adherent if he would forget U if E retracted recently made 10% pay cut, unlawful]

N.L.R.B. v. Del Rey Tortilleria, Inc. 787 F.2d 1118 (C.A. 7, Apr. 1986)
[promising Ees wage increase or to pay them for any time they had lost if they would abandon or renounce U, and telling Ee that if he would get rid of U, E would give him check in any amount, unlawful]

Medallion Kitchens, Inc. v. N.L.R.B. 806 F.2d 185 (C.A. 8, Nov. 1986)
[E's statements that it could give Ees raises if it were not for U, not unlawful, since statements vague, were not made with intent to coerce Ees, and further, qualified with condition that Ees perform well, and raises not conditioned on Ees' refusal to support U]

5060-4400 Benefits conditioned on not joining strike

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[supervisor asking nurses aide if she intended to strike not coercive and unlawful, since necessary to adequately staff facility during strike, but supervisor following question by suggesting to nurses aide that she would be discharged if she went out on strike, especially in view of her probationary status, unlawful]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[telling Ees if they went out on strike and later wanted to return to work or if they continued towork during anticipated strike, it would be necessary for them to first resign from U, violative]

Fox-Art Theatres, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 115
[offer of raise in wage rate, to discourage Ees participation in anticipated strike resulting from recent reduction in wages, unlawful]

5060-4700 Continued employment conditioned on abandonment of union

Bridgeway Oldsmobile, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 165
[telling applicant for employment that E was going to be non-U, requesting that applicant withdraw from U and show withdrawal card to E and after hiring applicant, readvising applicant that if he intended to remain with E, he had to obtain withdrawal card and show it to E, violative]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[E's administrator informing Ees during decetification ptn drive that their contined employment was conditioned upon their resigning from U, unlawful]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[telling Ees if they went out on strike and later wanted to return to work or if they continued towork during anticipated strike, it would be necessary for them to first resign from U, violative]

5060-4700—Cont.

Dasal Caring Centers, Inc., d/b/a Lemay Caring Center and Dasal Caring Centers, Inc., d/b/a Walton Caring Center 280 NLRB No. 007
[telling Ees of predecessor E that if they got a withdrawal card from U they would be guaranteed a job with successor E, violative]

5060-5000 Reemployment conditioned on abandonment of union

Bridgeway Oldsmobile, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 165
[telling applicant for employment that E was going to be non-U, requesting that applicant withdraw from U and show withdrawal card to E and after hiring applicant, readvising applicant that if he intended to remain with E, he had to obtain withdrawal card and show it to E, violative]

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[telling laid-off U supporter that new hiring policy conditioned employment on applicant's agreement not to become involved in U activity, violation]

Dasal Caring Centers, Inc., d/b/a Lemay Caring Center and Dasal Caring Centers, Inc., d/b/a Walton Caring Center 280 NLRB No. 007
[telling Ees of predecessor E that if they got a withdrawal card from U they would be guaranteed a job with successor E, violative]

The Gateway Theatre Corporation d/b/a Senator Threatre, Capitol Hill Cinemas 277 NLRB No. 186
[informing Ee due to your U brother, you no longer have a job. You and (another Ee) are two good people. I could use you outside U, unlawful since E is conditioning reemployment on resignation from U]

Mattiace Petrochemical Company A Division of Mattiace Industries Inc., and Petro Chemical Haulers Co., Inc. JD-(NY)-34-86
[telling unlawfully locked out U adherents that they could get back to work if they signed paper disavowing U, unlawful]

Abe Ocks, An Individual, d/b/a Kingform Cap Company JD-188-85
(conditioning offers of employment upon Ees' refusal to join or support the U, violative)

5060-5200 Employment conditioned on applicant's or employee's lack of union sentiments

Central Broadcast Company 280 NLRB No. 056
[telling laid-off U supporter that new hiring policy conditioned employment on applicant's agreement not to become involved in U activity, violation]

Jones Plumbing Co., Inc.; et al. d/b/a Instant Plumbing Company 277 NLRB No. 047
(asking applicant for employment about his feelings on unionization at initial interview, informing applicant there was U organizing drive going on but not to pay any attention to solicitors, and subsequently asking applicant how he would vote in election to determine whether there would be U representation, and upon his reply that he would vote No, informing applicant he was hired, violative)

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(telling Ee that to keep his job as assistant to manager he would have to be all company, and if he was going to be all U he would have to go back to his former job held unlawful ultimatum where Ee's job as assistant manager was not supervisory)

5060-6300 Solicitation of grievances

Baddour, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 084
[supervisor's offer of assistance to Ee, not violation, notwithstanding supervisor's unlawful interrogation of Ee about his feelings about U, where offer was made following inquiry as to how Ee's daughter was doing and appeared in that context to have been offer of personal assistance rather than solicitation of work-related grievances]

Soulectro Corporation 280 NLRB No. 015
[during meeting E asking assembled Ees what the problems are and Ee replying layout, pension plans, profit sharing, and a credit union, to which E responded there was no reason why E could not have pension plan or credit union, violative, as conduct involved solicitation of grievances during U organizational campaign]

Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc., et al., A Joint Venture Known as Tenn-Tom Constructors 279 NLRB No. 068
[E's foreman telling group of Ees he was disappointed they took their complaints to U steward because it was a morale problem, steward could not help them and from then on, they should bring their problems to him, violative]

Stop N' Go Inc. 279 NLRB No. 052

Fiber Glass Systems, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 154
[solicitation of grievances, violation and interference]

Uniontown Hospital Association 277 NLRB No. 144

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(E's use of Ee committee formed and dominated by E for purpose of soliciting grievances, and correction of grievances pursuant to suggestions received, unlawful)

National Micronetics, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 095
(soliciting Ee grievances during campaign so as to adjust them, violation and interference)

Westinghouse Electric Corporation 277 NLRB No. 016
(implementation of small group meetings viewpoint with plant manager where Ees could voice their grievances, unlawful, as this was grant of benefit to Ees to discourage their resort to unionization as means of obtaining more effective labor-management communications, notwithstanding E held monthly production meetings where questions were raised since viewpoint meetings differed in format and objective, resulted in changes to working conditions and initiated after start of U campaign; however, charge of solicitation of grievances at viewpoint meetings dismissed as this was in keeping with established practice at production meetings)

Bell Halter, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 136
(survey allegedly to ascertain Ee grievances, thereby implicitly promising to resolve them, not unlawful, where there was precedent for survey; its timing during U campaign was of no great significance since it would have been reasonable for E to conduct survey prior to U's filing of ptn when E already was aware of U activity; in reporting on survey to Ees, E's reference to open door policy showed it previously existed, making it improbable E would promise new policy; and E made no promise of any particular change to correct E-Ee communication problem)

Budget Rent A Car of Washington, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 032

PYA/Monarch, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 167
(no violation, where during U campaign vice-president asked Ees if they had any problems impeding production, and in response Ees expressed need for various new supplies and equipment, and E subsequently supplied equipment a month before schedule as purchases of equipment underway before U campaign started)

Okun Brothers Shoe Store, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 145
(questioning of Ees about their problems by members of consulting firm hired by E in response to U campaign, unlawful and objectionable solicitation of grievance where it carried inference of implicit promise to correct problems, and consultants suggested Ee handbook as specific solution to problems)

University of Richmond 274 NLRB No. 182
(supervisor's telling Ee that she had heard that Ee was upset and was concerned and wanted to know what was wrong, not unlawful solicitation of grievances with promise of redress where Ee testified that supervisor made no promises and expressed only an inability to help)

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[soliciting Ee grievances and impliedly promising to remedy them by soliciting Ees to form Ee negotiation committee to draft contract for E's approval, appointing representative to negotiate with committee, then refusing to sign contract because committee had failed to prevent holding of U representation election, violation]

Robert W. Wise, d/b/a Robert W. Wise Cabinetry JD-(SF)-157-85
(asking Ees to write down what they thought they were worth and stating that they would probably be receiving that amount, violative)

Easthampton Electrical Services, Inc. JD-85-85
(E's president asking Ee who had arrived late for general meeting of Ees if Ee had any problems with job materials, trucks or anything else, where such inquiry had been made at meeting and E's past practice had been to hold regular twice-a-year meetings for purpose of soliciting Ee grievances)

5060-6900 Solicitation of expression of opposition to union

PYA/Monarch, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 167
(general manager unlawfully solicited Ee to encourage other Ees to vote against U, notwithstanding Ee went to manager's office on his own initiative to discuss U, Ee did not initiate discussion on campaigning for E, nor did he volunteer to campaign)

Fan-Sy Productions, Inc. JD-(NY)-49-85
(E asking Ee to sign a statement declaring he did not wish to be represented by U which was involved in organizing campaign at E's plant, violative)

5060-7500 Solicitation of repudiation of union

Texas Bus Lines, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 075
(encouraging Ees to form an Ee committee and soliciting them to disassociate themselves from their exclusive representative, violation)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(E gave no unlawful assistance or support to Ees in filing anti-U ptn letter and E merely advised Ees to communicate with NLRB and did not assist in any way with formulation of ptn; nor was E's permitting Ees to deliberate and prepare ptn on work time, providing assistance in communicating with absent Ees and transportation to NLRB office, unlawful, since no more work time given for this effort than for other solicitations, and all such assistance was merely ministerial)

5060-7500—Cont.

5060-7550 Decertification petition

Inner City Broadcasting Corporation 281 NLRB No. 162
[encouraging Ee to seek to decertify U, unlawful]

Architectural Woodwork Corporation 280 NLRB No. 108
[telling Ees that it was up to them to file decertification ptn, in wake of Bd's dismissal of E's RM ptn, and offering to supply Bd agent's telephone number, violation where E had previously told them that it was losing contracts to non-U Es and it would not bargain with U and implicated that some Ees would have their wages reduced by U contract]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[E's administrator informing Ees during decetification ptn drive that their contined employment was conditioned upon their resigning from U, unlawful]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[notwithstanding E's no solicitation rule, rule not applied disparately by allowing decertification ptn to circulate as E also allowed solicitations among Ees for charitable and private business purposes. Further, ptn not tainted either as E did not assist in formulation and circulation of ptn]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[U decertification ptn tainted and E's withdrawal of recognition and unilateral changes in conditions of employment in reliance thereon, unlawful, where e had made statements informing Ees that in order to keep working during anticipated strike they would have to resign from U, and in view of small majority of Ees who signed decertification ptn]

Central Washington Health Services Association d/b/a Central Washing Hospital 279 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor asking Ee how she felt about communications between herself and U, speaking of E's side regarding U representation and referring to circulation of anti-U ptn, unlawful]

Central Washington Health Services Association d/b/a Central Washing Hospital 279 NLRB No. 011
[E unlawfully involved itself with decertification ptn beyond permissible bounds, where E's attorney informed Ee who had expressed dissatisfaction with U what must be done if one wanted to circulate decertification ptn, thereby instigating ptn, giving Ee NLRB's telephone number, supervisor committed E to keeping names on ptn confidential, read over proposed ptn and indicated his approval, permitted use of E's equipment to copy ptn, and circulation of ptn on E's premises and time, and concurrently E unlawfully interrogated Ees and promised Ees benefits if they rejected U]

Central Washington Health Services Association d/b/a Central Washing Hospital 279 NLRB No. 011
[Ministerial acts by E that help Ees in processing decertification ptn do not necessarily violate Act. However, even ministerial acts can be unlawful where they are done in context which is not free of coercive conduct. Where E instigates and promotes decertification ptn, or another U repudiation document, it interferes with rights of Ees under Section 7 of Act]

Eastern States Optical Co., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 058
(E's attorney did not render unlawful assistance to Ees in preparation of decertification ptn where Ees contacted attorney after ptn initiated, neither attorney nor E played any role in Ees' decision to initiate ptn and E did not solicit any signatures. Attorney supplying Ees with unit description, names of E's officials necessary to complete Bd ptn, and statement that 6 signatures probably sufficient for Bd's ptn was nothing more than editorial or ministerial aid)

Browning-Ferris Industries of Pennsylvania, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 021
(manager's introduction, during discussion with Ee in manager's office about Ee morale, subject of U's decertification to explain how it could be done and what the effects would be, unlawful, since E had no prior knowledge of any decertification activity going on, it was not stuff of innocuous conversation but rather, in light of parties, context, subject matter, and text of conversation, conveyed implication that E was using his leverage to influence Ee on question of U representation, and thereby constituted both unlawful interrogation and solicitation)

Browning-Ferris Industries of Pennsylvania, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 021
(E's statements to U stewards telling them he was not in favor of Us and referring to value of dealing directly with Ees and company U and bringing up matter of U decertification held unlawful solicitation to abandon U and to lead Ees to believe continued support of U was futile)

Engineered Control Systems, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 191
(E's president suggesting Ee file decertification ptn, unlawful, where suggestion made at same time they were discussing Ee's new wage rates, and Ee was subsequently made supervisor and given wage increase, and in view of fact E had given unlawful support to earlier untimely filed decertification ptn)

Amar-Cal Industries, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 148
(E's furnishing Ee with blank decertification ptn for Ee at Ee's request and giving Ee address where completed ptn should be mailed, not violative)

Weisser Optical Company 274 NLRB No. 143
(supervisor's telling Ee that it was getting close to this time referring to Bd's open period when decertification ptn can be filed, telling Ee that E's president was trying to get things started and informing Ees during a meeting that he thought Ees were mature enough to work out differences w/o a third party, held unlawful encouragement of decertification ptn and withdrawal of recognition based on ptn violative; E's unsolicited involvement with ptn was far more than ministerial aid since idea of ptn was implanted in Ees' mind by E, thus tainting ptn and E's good-faith doubt of U's majority status)

Choctawhatchee Electric Cooperative, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 084
(E's supervisor's encouragement of circulation of ptn among its Ees to decertify U by unlawfully interrogating and threatening Ee and promising raises to Ees, violative)

John's Lumber & Hardware Company JD-199-86
[E offering directly to Ees wage increase, and more valuable total package than it had implemented after expiration of contract if Ees would petition to decertify U, w/o offering increase to U, unlawful]

Duct-O-Wire Company JD-(ATL)-3-86
[E did not render unlawful assistance to Ees in preparation of decertification ptn where E played no role in Ees' decision to initiate ptn and E did not solicit any signatures; E's actions in supplying Ees with 4-page package discussing rights on decertification were nothing more than ministerial aid]

New Galax Mirror Corporation JD-475-84
(E's telling Ees it would be in their best interest not to have anything to do with the U and to sign a decertification ptn, violative)

5060-7575 Deauthorization petition

Southern Illinois Petrol, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 017
(soliciting Ee to organize and get Ees to sign a ptn to keep the U out and stop the Bd election, vioaltive)

Lionel G. Sullivan and Ralph A. Fattore, A Partnership d/b/a Downtown Toyota 276 NLRB No. 106
(solicitation of Ees' drafting and signing document which stated that they would resolve their own problems w/o the U and would ask the U to beg out from its demand for recognition, violative)

5060-8300 Solicitation of resignation from union

Toyota of San Francisco 280 NLRB No. 093
[violation, where in reply to Ee's question as to what Ees could do to avoid strike, E's president replied that Ee could resign from U or consult attorney about process of resigning from U, since he was not merely advising Ees of statutory right, but suggesting resignation]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[E's administrator informing Ees during decetification ptn drive that their contined employment was conditioned upon their resigning from U, unlawful]

Beverly Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Parkview Gardens Care Center 280 NLRB No. 005
[telling Ees if they went out on strike and later wanted to return to work or if they continued towork during anticipated strike, it would be necessary for them to first resign from U, violative]

Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital 280 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor unlawfully solicited striking Ees' resignations from U since his conversations with Ees went beyond providing information regarding avoiding fines by resigning and conditioned return to work on resignation from U, and where supervisor evidenced continuing interest in knowing whether or not nurses intended to resign and return to work, and in some instances offered assistance in effecting resignation that was not merely ministerial]

Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital 280 NLRB No. 011
[E does not violate Act merely by providing ees with information on how to resign from U as long as E makes no attempt to ascertain whether Ees will avail themselves of this right nor offers any assistance or otherwise creates situation where ees would tend to feel peril in refraining from such revocation]

Peoples Gas System, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 075
(E's sending letters to Ees requesting that they inform E of decisions to revoke dues-checkoff authorizations and to resign from U, not violative where bargaining agreements provided for short annual escape period during which Ees could revoke checkoff authorizations and required that notice of revocation must be given to both E and U; further, letters assured Ees that whether they remained U members or resigned would make no difference in terms and conditions of employment; and E was actually responding to Ee inquiries in providing them with information about U resignation)

5060-8300—Cont.

Eastern States Optical Co., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 058
(no violation where E vice president allowed Ee to sign decertification ptn; vice president did nothing more than accede to Ee's voluntary request to sign ptn lawfully in his possession which had already served as basis for withdrawal of recognition from U)

Eastern States Optical Co., Inc. 275 NLRB No. 058
(no violation where E vice president allowed Ee to sign decertification pta; vice president did nothing more than accede to Ee's voluntary request to sign ptn lawfully in his possession which had already served as basis for withdrawal of recognition from U)

5060-8500 Advising Ees not to sign authorization cards

Adco Metals, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 172
[E informing Ees in writing that they could expect to be subpoenaed as witnesses in Federal proceeding if they signed U authorization cards, unlawful, since deemed coercive as was threat that identity of signers would be disclosed, and absent any issues likely to be litigated concerning signing of U cards; neither U animus nor falsity of statement not prerequisite for finding of violation]

Williamson Piggly Wiggly, Inc. 280 NLRB No. 125
[violation, where E's manager asked Ee's grandfather-in-law to ask Ee not to sign U card, and when Ee in response to his request informed her grandfather-in-law that she had already signed card, he informed Ee that E would never let U in and she might as well start looking for another job. Since Ee's grandfather-in-law was agent of E acting on E's express behest]

Southwire Company 277 NLRB No. 043
(E's speeches and notices stating that U authorization cards might be disclosed to it and admonishing Ees not to sign cards unless they knew what it would mean to them, their families and fellow Ees, violative where speeches and notices were made against background of E's history of violating Act and in immediate context of pervasive violations in instant case. In T3context, E's comments are a rather pointed hint that it would similarly retaliate against Ees who signed cards)

Offshore Shipbuilding, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 077
(E distributing document which advised Ees not to sign U cards unless they were sure they understood what it meant and its effect on them, and stated that, after Bd certification of U, company must deal only with U concerning wages, hours, and working conditions of all Ees, regardless of whether Ee had singed card or joined U, not unlawful, since statements made concerning self-representation were nothing more than lawful reminder of principle of majority rule which is central to national policy of fostering collective bargaining)

5060-8700 Solicitation of revocation of dues checkoff authorizations

Peoples Gas System, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 075
(E's sending letters to Ees requesting that they inform E of decisions to revoke dues-checkoff authorizations and to resign from U, not violative where bargaining agreements provided for short annual escape period during which Ees could revoke checkoff authorizations and required that notice of revocation must be given to both E and U; further, letters assured Ees that whether they remained U members or resigned would make no difference in terms and conditions of employment; and E was actually responding to Ee inquiries in providing them with information about U resignation)

United Technologies Corporation 274 NLRB No. 087
(E's issuing written notifications to Ees, setting forth in accurate manner, contractual rights of Ees to revoke their dues checkoff authorizations during escape periods and their concomitant right to terminate their U membership, not violative, notwithstanding E stated its preference for open shop, where notifications to Ees as well as to supervisors did not contain any threats or promises and were therefore non-coercive on their face; communications expressly stated that Ees was free to choose whether to retain their U membership and their dues checkoff authorizations)

5060-8900 Solicitation of formation of employee grievance or bargaining committee

Hunter Douglas, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 123
(violation, where E's manager suggested formation of Ee committee, during U campaign, to discuss problems and remedies, meetings of committee were held on company time in company cafeteria, with agenda set by manager)

Texas Bus Lines, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 075
(encouraging Ees to form an Ee committee and soliciting them to disassociate themselves from their exclusive representative, violation)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(violation, where E encouraged Ees to form grievance committee after U demand for recognition and had also solicited complaints, promised pay raise, improved medical insurance, sick leave, and holiday benefits, notwithstanding E stated he could make no promises as to medical insurance, where he made no disclaimer with regard to grievance committee)

Walter Garson, Jr & Associates 276 NLRB No. 137
(grievance committee meeting not unlawful notwithstanding encouragement of grievance committee formation held unlawful, where only meeting of committee held and no intimation given E would remedy any complaints)

Edner Home Care, Inc. 276 NLRB No. 042
(violation where E's owner solicited grievances and promised benefits, told Ees they could resolve problems between themselves w/o U, and proposed establishment of grievance committee, notwithstanding E's owner did not tell Ees it would be futile to bring in U)

Nick Gryfakis and Han Nyunt, A Partnership d/b/a N & H Enterprises d/b/a Abernathy's Restaurant JD-(SF)-33-86
[soliciting Ee grievances and impliedly promising to remedy them by soliciting Ees to form Ee negotiation committee to draft contract for E's approval, appointing representative to negotiate with committee, then refusing to sign contract because committee had failed to prevent holding of U representation election, violation]

5060-9100 Solicitation of withdrawal of union designation cards

H. Treffinger Repair Services, Inc. 281 NLRB No. 085
[supervisor's request that Ee give him his unsigned authorization card, unlawful, where, except for E, supervisor held top position at plant and sought information that could be used against Ee, and E had history of hostility to U]

Rockwell International Corp. 278 NLRB No. 013
[E merely giving Ees sample letter to use for purpose of revoking their U authorization cards, not unlawful, since E may lawfully inform Ees of their right to revoke authorization cards even if Ees have not solicited such information as long as E makes no attempt to ascertain whether Ees avail themselves of this right or offers any assistance or otherwise creates impression that Ees are in peril by refraining from revoking their cards]

Marion Center Supply, Inc. 277 NLRB No. 026

University of Richmond 274 NLRB No. 182
(E's conducting meeting of Ees and furnishing them with letters to RD requesting return of their authorization cards, not unlawful solicitation to withdraw authorization cards where Ees initiated idea of withdrawal w/o suggestion from E, and E told them that they could do as they wished with the letters, and E would not monitor their actions)

5062 REFUSAL TO RECOGNIZE AND/OR BARGAIN

Sierra Hospital Foundation 274 NLRB No. 056
(E unlawfully threatened to refuse to bargain in good faith when supervisor stated that hospital administrator would not agree to anything U asked for in negotiations, and that there would be a strike)

Dextra Industries, Inc. 273 NLRB No. 204
(violation where E refused to negotiate new agreement with U and thereafter terminated its shop Ees to avoid its bargaining obligation with U)

5066 GOING OVER HEADS OF REPRESENTATIVES

5066-6300 Denying plant access to union

G.M. Trimming, Inc., et al., Debtor-In-Possession, and George Marks 279 NLRB No. 121
[E's refusal to admit U representative to plant and on another occasion ordering her off premises and following her around plant and making abusive remarks, unlawful]

5066-7000 Undermining authority of representatives

5066-7025 Bargaining directly with employees

Transport Service Company 282 NLRB No. 011
[E's meeting directly with its Ees w/o notice to U to convince unit members to accept mid-term concessions under contract, violation]

Toyota of San Francisco 280 NLRB No. 093
[E suggesting to Ee that if Ees forfeited coverage under U health and welfare programs, E would open IRAs, unlawful, since amounted to attempt to deal directly with Ees, thereby bypassing U, even if it did not constitute unlawful promise of benefit]

M & C Vending Co., Inc. and Its Wholly Owned Subsidiary Ada Automatic Sales Company, Inc. 278 NLRB No. 047
[violation, where E bypassed U and dealt directly with Ees by soliciting Ees' opinions regarding pension fund, since E may not seek to determine for himself the degree of support, or lack thereof, which exists for stated position of Ees' bargaining agent]

Alamo Cement Company 277 NLRB No. 034
(E's telling two individuals found Ees herein in spite of E's having changed their job title to supervisor that, if they wanted to become part of bargaining unit, E could arrange it, too vague to constitute direct dealing with Ees, as alleged, in absence of specific promises of change or negotiation or follow-up on conversation by any of the parties)

5066-7025—Cont.

Bay Area-Los Angeles Express, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 152
(E informing Ees that E was suffering from serious financial problems, asking Ees for suggestions as to how E could save money, urging Ees to persuade U to move off a dime on E's bargaining proposals, and informed Ees that if Ees went non-U E would give pay increases, equal or better health benefits than U offering, financial assistance to Ees who wished to purchase own trucks, but if U refused to accept E's proposals, E would operate non-U, unlawful; statements not predictions of economic consequences protected by Sec. 8(c) inasmuch as E did not substantiate financial losses and in view of other contemporaneous illegal statements)

Engineered Control Systems, Inc. 274 NLRB No. 191
(E's president informing Ees he would be willing to subcontract with them if U were decerrtified, showing Ee decertification ptn and seeking to induce Ee to decertify U, unlawful, notwithstanding Ee originated idea of subcontracting)

Hawthorn Mellody, Inc. 275 NLRB No. 055
(no unlawful bypassing of U and dealing directly with Ees where E met with Ees for purpose of getting acquainted with E's new general manager and only after Ee raised issue of overtime did E discuss it)

John's Lumber & Hardware Company JD-199-86
[E offering directly to Ees wage increase, and more valuable total package than it had implemented after expiration of contract if Ees would petition to decertify U, w/o offering increase to U, unlawful]

5066-7050 Offering employees better terms than offered to union

Central Washington Health Services Association d/b/a Central Washing Hospital 279 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor informing Ees that if Ees were to get rid of U, they would be able to get better deal with E on their own, and informing Ee that ptn was being circulated to decertify U, unlawful, since constituted promise of benefits if Ees would reject U]

Central Washington Health Services Association d/b/a Central Washing Hospital 279 NLRB No. 011
[supervisor informing Ee that E was ready to talk with them about wages and working conditions, that Ees were foolish to continue to let U represent them, that E was ready to give Ees better deal than U was trying to get for them, unlawful]

John's Lumber & Hardware Company JD-199-86
[E offering directly to Ees wage increase, and more valuable total package than it had implemented after expiration of contract if Ees would petition to decertify U, w/o offering increase to U, unlawful]

5066-7077 Failure to checkoff and remit dues and fees

Redway Carriers, Inc./Cardinal Leasing, Inc., A Joint Employer 274 NLRB No. 198
(E's failure and refusal to forward dues withheld from Ee pay checks to U in violation of contract, unlawful)

M.F. Enterprises, Inc. d/b/a Gopher Restaurant JD-417-84
(E's failing to deduct U dues and forward to U, unlawful)

5066-8400 Where initiative is employee's

AAL, Inc., d/b/a River Oaks Nursing Home 275 NLRB No. 012
(discharge of 2 (U) unit Ees because of their walkout over E's staffing proposals not violative, since facts establish walkout occurred w/o prior U knowledge and was not in support of policies and actions theretofore taken by U since U had decided against proffering contract proposal for specific staffing of aides, and U agent did not avail himself of opportunity at meeting to discuss walkout to join in with demands of dischargees for specific staffing of aides)

5072 INTERFERENCE WITH UNION OR COLLECTIVE ACTIVITIES

5072-0200 Interference with access to union

Tom Wignall, Jr. and Billie Williams d/b/a Lovilia Coal Company 275 NLRB No. 186
(prohibiting Ees from talking with U organizers or with each other about U, or even frequenting bars where U Ees drank unlawful)

Tomco Carburetor Company 275 NLRB No. 001
(threatening to discharge Ee for seeking U's help in obtaining health insurance, violative)

Borden Inc. JD-(SF)-007-86
[it is tendency to interfere with Ee receipt of U literature which is coercive rather than actual effect of such conduct]

Northline Bus Center, Inc. JD-(ATL)-41-85
(news bulletin to Ees edited, reviewed, and printed by E, unlawful, where bulletin raised question whether Ees would be fired for attending U meeting and then clearly conveyed message to Ees that any Ee seeking assistance from U would be considered disloyal to E and implicitly threatened Ees with discharge if they engaged in U activities)

5072-0400 Ordering union representative out of plant or off jobsite

Fairmont Hotel Company d/b/a The Fairmont Hotel 282 NLRB No. 027
